WHAT BOY SCOUTS ARE DOING

The rally of Boy Scouts in Midland today is a good time to consider what these boys are doing over the nation.

No better example presents itself than to look at the results of the Edison scholarship contest.

The five highest ranking boys in the contest had records of scout membership. The winner, Arthur O. Williams, is a star scout of troop 5, East Providence, Rhode Island. Three of the next five boys in order have similar records. Thirty of the 49 boys competing have records of scout membership. The fact that these boys have been selected on merit from each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia speaks for itself.

PROVING MIDLAND COUNTY FOR OIL

Midland county has had a number of oil tests, all of them being abandoned as dry although showings have been encountered prior to hitting the sulphur water in some.

With all of these tests, however, the county has not been well explored except in a few localities. Counties in all directions from Midland have oil. Perhaps there is no oil in paying quantities under Midland county, in which case citizens should be satisfied.

But as long as there is unexplored territory, and the greater part of the county comes under this classification, news or reports of pending oil tests will be watched with interest.

Reports that there will be a test approximately 14 miles south of Midland, and possibly another one to the south of that test, create a world of interest. If the tests are drilled, Midland citizens, as well as members of the great oil fraternity, will be "on their toes."

A HERO GOES WEST

Another good soldier has gone West. He has found his regiment and sits contentedly in some far land where barbed wire, gas, and bursting shells are no longer a tortured memory.

Old Cap or Captain, as he was called, was a wire-haired Griffon, who served with the French Red Cross, with distinction, during the World War. It was his task to find the wounded men who lay in the tangled wire and shell holes. Old Cap never faltered. Through the flames on where the gas clouds rolled, a mask over his nose and eyes, he ran.

Somehow he knew that it was duty. There were men, his comrades in the army, who needed help. And always he came.

"Cap will find me," one soldier in his outfit would murmur to another. "Don't worry. He'll be along 'most any minute."

All through the weary years Cap performed his duty. If he was scared, nobody ever knew it. His bright eyes would listen carefully to orders and he would obey them faithfully.

Then the war ended. An American soldier brought the dog home. Something must have told his heart that war was over. That his services were no longer required along the barbed wire.

When he had been needed he had never hesitated to go. Now that he wasn't, he stayed away from all wire fences. Nothing could coax him near. He remembered the sharp, sudden hail... the blood... the moans... black nights with mad red fire. The other day he died at Ware, Mass., at the ripe age of 15 years.

There is a lesson in the life of the soldier-dog who has passed through the western gates. He was never afraid to risk his life as long as he could be of service. But when he knew that he couldn't, he calmly refused to take an unnecessary risk.

Birthplace of Miniature Golf Idea is Scene of First National Championship

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 21.—The average miniature golf player "ain't seen nuthin'" until he comes to the original Tom Thumb course at Fairyland, atop historic old Lookout Mountain here. The best of the hundreds of thousands who indulge in the "putt-putt" pastime will have an opportunity to try their skill on this famous course Oct. 20, 21 and 22, when finals of the first national open miniature golf tournament will be played, with a prize of $5000 going to the national champion.

Natural rock formations that lend picturesque beauty as well as hazards of the first rank to Fairyland are its claim to distinctiveness, in addition to the fact that it is the forerunner of all miniature courses in the world.

The birth of this new game that threatens to become a major sport—or industry—is an interesting story in itself. Garnet Carter, Chattanooga capitalist, is the man to receive the credit—or the blame—for the thing.

Three years ago a guest at Carter's Fairyland inn protested his lack of opportunity to play golf and suggested to Carter that he construct a small putting green in front of the hotel for use by the guests. Carter agreed and began building the green himself. With some extra tile and sewer pipe lying about houses under construction nearby, Carter experimented and found it fairly easy to place the pipe so that the ball would have to roll through it, providing his guests with hazards along with putting.

The idea grew out of itself from then on. An 18-hole layout was planned. Large rocks and trees that at first were considered obstacles to be removed were utilized as additional hazards.

"I never did push the golf business; it pushed me," Carter said. "Personally, I never thought so much of the thing. However, if a fish wants worms, I usually take some along when I go fishing," he remarked to illustrate his attitude.

Carter soon learned that a preparation of cottonseed hulls made an excellent wearing greens. He carried through other experiments and soon installed one of the courses in a Chattanooga municipal park.

It was greeted with such success that miniature courses have been installed all over the United States and into foreign countries. A government survey recently estimated the number in this country at 25,000, representing an investment of $125,000,000.

While the average miniature course costs about $3,000, constant improvements at Fairyland have raised its cost to many times that figure. It covers considerably more ground than the average course, and because of its strategic position among natural hazards of rocks and trees, is recognized as by far the best miniature course in the world.

Although Carter now is entirely out of the business of constructing miniature courses—after clearing up more than $500,000 since May—he has agreed to serve as chairman of the board sponsoring the national tournament here.

City, district and state tournaments must be completed by Sept. 27. Following that, Fairyland course on Lookout Mountain will be the mecca for the nation's most skillful manipulators of the putter during the finals of the national affair.

Would Abolish Ad Valorem Tax Soon

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 21. (AP)—Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata, Red River county, will urge the submission of a constitutional amendment by the 42nd legislature to abolish in whole or in part, the state ad valorem tax and substitute new special taxes or increases on some of the special taxes now levied. The announcement was made during a visit to the state capitol.

Senator DeBerry said that property now is carrying more than its share of the tax burden and should have relief.

Discussing his plan, Senator DeBerry said: "I am in favor of abolishing the ad valorem tax because if we leave it and the special taxes the legislature gets millionaire dust in its eyes and appropriates both. I want substitution, not additional taxes. I sincerely hope that the personnel of the next legislature, both rural and urban, seeing the unemployment as it exists, noting the lowness of the commodity markets and the general business depression, will be very conservative in the expenditure of public funds. The only antidote that can be prescribed by our state government for the present wave of 'Hoover prosperity' is the practice of rigid economy in governmental expenditures."

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

That Fiery Campaigner, Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter, Is Doing His Best to Fool a Majority of the Impoverished Voters by Pointing Out How Much Worse Off They Could Be

WASHINGTON.— Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter is waging a hot campaign for renomination and re-election and if he is not returned by huge majorities it will be because his constituents are nowhere near as dumb as the senator thinks they are. He has a very impressive slogan, "McWhorter or Chaos!" and his strategy is based on the idea that whereas in most election years a candidate need only kid the voters along, this is a year requiring hard-headed resourcefulness because if the voters cannot actually be scared into voting for McWhorter they are likely to go off voting for someone else.

Most of the voters in the senator's state are farmers who have lots of work and no money and laboring men who haven't any work or any money either. McWhorter found when he got home would never be allowed to shave or take a bath.

"Think how small your own debts are as compared with the Germans who owe the rest of the world fifty billion dollars.

"In Italy the earthquakes would swallow you up and streams of molten lava would come down the hill to seal your tomb.

"Think of Others" "Be thankful you are not living in Rumania you are not living in Greenland, where you probably would freeze to death with your wives and families!" shouts McWhorter.

"Think how tough it would be to be a Japanese so that you would have to wear long robes instead of pants and probably would trip up and break a leg or something.

"Rejoice that you do not live in Spain, where the Mediterranean fruit flies would be likely to bite you to death.

"And just suppose you live in China, where you would be subject to yellow fever, famine and massacre.

"Or if you were Samoans you would not have any clothes to wear and as self-respecting citizens you would have to stay in the house all day.

"In Mexico or Central America the revolutionists would be killing you.

"In South America you would have to speak Spanish and you couldn't do that, so you probably would starve to death.

This speech is reported to have been making a great impression on Senator McWhorter's constituents because almost anybody has to bow before inexorable logic.

Two Kinds of Speeches Since the senator discovered the newspapers weren't printing his speeches, however, he has been making separate speeches to the farmers that the city people have got to pay more money for

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

Here I kept the letter I got from A Bach out of the paper because I wanted to protect the visiting girls from the violent ray, and in the afternoon a phone call came from a visiting girl who said she would depend upon me to tell her in today's paper how to get in touch with A Bach.

Meanwhile, A Bach writes me another letter saying that it doesn't look like I am going to give him much of a break, that he doesn't feel like I am treating his right, and that if I will reconsider and let him have my letters from the visiting girls, just to push the button.

Now the truth of the matter is this, A Bach just shoves his letters under the door and doesn't put his return address on them. This leaves me only one course and that is to refer the visiting girl to someone who will bill the bill, and the first fellow who pops into my mind is Bob Blevins at Taylor's Drug. I will now await developments, with the special request that if the visiting girl wants further information she will please leave her phone number next time she calls.

How did I ever get into this sort of a deal anyway? You will remember that several months ago I was petitioned to start a matrimonial what they eat and the tells the city people that they are paying too darned much to eat and the occasions when he has spoken over the radio, however, he has confined himself mainly to the flag and what it means.

If need not be supposed, though that McWhorter has been lacking in constructive suggestions. For years he has labored for legislation on behalf of the farmers which would make the corn borers eat up all the boll weevils and the boll weevils eat up all the corn borers.

His latest proposal is to turn both the borers and the weevils loose on the wheat crop so as to eliminate the surplus which everyone wants to be rid of. "It's amazingly simple when you understand it," explains Senator McWhorter. "The cotton farmers will gladly donate the weevils and the corn raisers will surrender their borers. All we got to do is to persuade the little animals to eat wheat and that can be done easily enough by mixing the wheat with corn sirup and cottonseed oil."

WASHINGTON.— Other major problems of flying being solved, or partially solved, most of the attention of aviation circles now is being devoted to perfection of blind flying, or flying through fog. This is fast being solved through work being carried on by the U. S. Bureau of Aeronautics, Bureau of Standards, and Marine Corps, according to the U. S. Department of the Navy.

SOLVING AIR PROBLEM

ERRORGRAMS

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scramble by switching the letters around. A word below—and unscramble you bat.

Combination Furniture Is Ideal

A handsome four-in-one combination piece of furniture, especially good for a boy's room or a man's apartment, has a desk, radio, book and magazine shelves and a compartment for neckties, handkerchiefs and other things. It is made of fine walnut and so sleek is its design that it appears much smaller than it really is. (Designed by Donald Desky.)

MY TRIP TO A. & M.

MRS. S. H. GWYN

Editor's Note: The last part of Mrs. S. H. Gwyn's account of her trip to A. & M. college appears in this column today. From the lectures and demonstrations attended the reader is able to receive some conception of what the short course really is.

The short course was formally opened Monday morning, July 25, by an address by Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. After this came recognition of Master Farm Home makers. To hold such a position a woman must be the outstanding woman in her community in the way she manages her home, her children, and her part of the farm program. She must be selected by five of her neighbors.

Tuesday morning we visited the veterinary science building and museum. We saw bones of prehistoric Texas monsters of immense size and other sights too numerous to mention. But I must tell of the enormous horns, eight feet from tip to tip on the old time longhorn steer. What a contrast to the shorthorns of today.

The lecture on septic tanks and farm plumbing by Mr. E. E. Rainey was intensely interesting to me. Among other things he told us that a cement trap, two feet each way, just outside of the kitchen that the sink may again drain into before entering the soil pipe will prevent the soil pipe clogging with grease.

In Mr. Holmgreen's lecture on "cutting poultry costs," he stressed the fact that bad management and not "luck" is responsible for our failure. He cited as one example the man who was so afraid his chickens would not get sufficient water that he arranged a faucet so it would drip. Naturally he couldn't gauge the exact amount the chickens would consume, so the vessel ran over made a puddle out of which the chickens drank, and presently he had a flock badly infested with worms.

Tuesday afternoon's program was splendid. The clothes Miss Cleveland showed us were so lovely it is hardly possible to believe they were made of cotton. Mrs. E. E. Davis, wife of the president of North Texas Agricultural college discussed Texas legends. The evening was taken up by a trip to the Textile building and hearing a talk by Mrs. Kate Lee Daugherty former home demonstration agent of El Paso county.

The prizes for the state living room contest were awarded on Wednesday. We were glad to have a representative from our own county and club Mrs. P. P. Barber who won third in our district.

Wednesday afternoon, to me, the most interesting demonstration of the entire week was given when Miss Antoinette Ahlschier showed us how to care for the sick in the home. She showed us the best type of bed springs, mattress and pillows; how to make the bed so the sheet would not wrinkle; how to turn the patients and make them more comfortable by the use of pillows of various sizes, to remove stains; to raise the bed so as to be less fatiguing on the nurse and numerous other things about nursing.

Thursday's program consisted of two lectures by Miss Cora Mae Walton on child training.

Friday afternoon we heard of the wonderful home demonstration work done over the state and at 4:30 we were guests of the president's wife.

Mmes. Horst and Knight Entertain Mayfair Members and Husbands at Bridge

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Horst was the scene of a neat club party Wednesday evening with members of the Mayfair club and their husbands as guests. Hostesses for the evening occasion were Mrs. W. P. Knight and Mrs. Horst.

Attractive red and green decorations were chosen for the table markers, flowers and refreshment service.

Packages wrapped in the favored colors went to Mrs. M. M. Seymour who was given a novel dough stou for holding high ladies score. To Mr. J. E. Adams, who received a tie for high men's score and Mr. Seymour who cut high for a colorful bath mat.

Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. D. E. Carter, F. C. Norwood, D. E. Adams, M. M. Seymour, J. P. Butler, W. C. Rutledge, Bill van Huss, Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Pemberton, and Messrs. Knight and Horst.

Work Being Started for Fall County Fair

More than thirty home visits have been made this week by Miss Genevieve Derryberry who is canvassing the homes in interest of the county fair which is to be held in September. Suggestions as to what entire should be made are being given by the agent. Fall gardens and how they should be cultivated are also topics being discussed on these visits.

One of the most interesting club meetings held this week was at Prairie Lee when new support was given the club by Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace who will assist in the completion of required work among the club girls.

Every night except Thursday we attended the fine community singings at Guion hall. We also heard splendid lectures there. After the singing and lectures we, who care to, attended a movie.

The pageant "Texas the Magnificent" was presented Thursday evening. It was a wonderful portrayal of the rise and development of Texas. The district changes in our living were displayed in parts of the play. We have lost the back woody look and our huddles have shed the "hay seed" from their hair. I believe the home demonstration work has had more to do with this change than anything else could have had.

We visited Miss Swift at the Extension building. She was very gracious and showed us canned goods, braided rugs, etc. We saw the 4-H club exhibit which was very interesting. Another visitor we saw was Mr. Atkins, our former agent, who asked to be remembered to his old fields and co-workers.

Our departure from the college was Friday evening, driving to Marlin for the night. Leaving Mrs. Driver in Waco and Mrs. Tyner in Itasca, the rest of our group drove to Cleburne where we spent the night and visited until Monday morning.

We saw so many interesting sights during our entire journey but space forbids me mentioning them. From the few mentioned facts probably you can tell just how worthwhile the short course really is and how very much assistance it gives the county women who attended.

Finest Leather Coats Are of Horsehide

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN
Author of "The Shopping Book"
Written for NEA Service

The better-grade leather coats and jackets are made of horsehide, which is highly regarded for this purpose because it is exceedingly tough, wears well, and will not chip or crack. These garments are lined with woolen fabrics in solid colors, plaid and other designs, or with sheepskin pelt with the wool on.

The jackets and coats of glove leather are not so satisfactory, perhaps, as those of horsehide because the leather has a tendency to crack and break. Excellent garments of this kind are also made of calfskin. Cowskin coats are heavy and bulky and are not so good in appearance as those of horsehide or calfskin.

Because all leather garments are worn over other clothing, they should be a size or two sizes larger than the clothing they cover. Amplitude of material and fullness of cut, giving ease and comfort, are important considerations in connection, of course, with the quality of the material.

Challenge to the C. C. Watson Campaign Committee

During yesterday and today there have been distributed circulars which stated that they were paid for and distributed by the C. C. Watson Campaign Committee. These circulars are headed "Figures Are Facts." They contain many false statements and insinuations concerning my private life and my administration as County Judge.

I challenge the C. C. Watson Campaign Committee to come out in the open and say who the personnel of the Committee is. If this Committee will come out in the open and say to the public who the members of the Committee are, I stand ready, able and willing to reply to their circular and will show that the statements and insinuations concerning my private life and my administration as County Judge are false.

If you are not ashamed of yourself and your circular, come out at once and identify yourself that the public and I might know you. Until you do identify yourselves, I do not care to reply to your circular. If you will identify yourselves, I will answer you as soon as you make your identity known.

MIDLAND in 1912

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Reporter-Telegram will run during the next few weeks a brief review of personalities, anecdotes, happenings and other features that happened in the year 1912. Afterward, other years will be taken up in the special feature.

Jim Flanigan became a summer "bachelor" when Mrs. Flanigan and children left for a visit in Kaufman. Mrs. Ella Youngblood made a trip to Toyah on business. The first account of the jeopardizing of lives through careless driving automobiles appeared in an article dated May 3. Children were warned in correct ways of crossing streets. "I hope that the people of Midland will stop such menacing conditions," said the writer of the article who subscribed himself "an observer," ending a column and a halt of reading matter.

Alfred Decries "Mud Slinging"

"I want to answer some of the regrettable mud-slinging charges that my opponent has leveled at me," declared James V. Alfred of Wichita Falls, candidate for attorney general in a speech here. He charges that I am the Ferguson candidate. I brand this as false. This is the same charge he made against Cecil Storey in the first primary. "R. L. Bobbitt knows that I own no allegiance to either Mrs. Ferguson, Jim Ferguson or Ross Sterling and that I will be subservient to neither when I am attorney general."

He charges that I made a trade with the head of the San Antonio machine. He knows this is false. He further knows and has never denied that he carried in the first primary every Mexican machine controlled county in Texas, including Bexar county by an overwhelming vote. He knows that in every one of these counties, marked ballots written in Spanish were made up and distributed in his favor among the ignorant Mexicans in the border counties. He further knows that if it had

Race Drivers DEMAND the TIRES WE SELL!

THE Indianapolis 500 Mile Endurance Race is famous as an endurance test and battle of tires for no driver can win this race who has tire trouble. He races over a hot brick track at a speed of 100 or more miles per hour. For eleven consecutive years Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have been on the winning cars.

FOR years the winner of the hazardous race of Pike's Peak climb—where a slip meant death—used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

1. THESE drivers do not simply choose Firestone Tires. They demand them. They know by experience that this tire never fails. It never fails because it is built not to fail by the special Firestone processes of tire building.

(a) Every fibre of cotton thread going into the making of the cord fabric, which is the foundation of the tire, is coated and cushioned in rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process.

(b) Under the tread is the Firestone patented Gum-Dipped Double Cord Breaker—which means not only two extra plies where most needed, but also sets the Firestone Tire apart as an all cord tire, while others are woven fabric and cord.

(c) Firestone Super High Speed Tires now have 32% more rubber in the tread, giving deeper grooves that will give you over 50% more non-skid wear before the tire is smooth.

2. THESE are not just features. They are basic differences in tire building proved by service on every kind of road and track.

3. YOU may never intend to race. You may never intend even to speed. You may never climb Pike's Peak. But, every day—whether you know it or not—your life depends upon your tires.

4. WE HAVE these Super High Speed Gum-Dipped Balloons for sale today. They are the same tires that the racing drivers demand—the premier tires of the world. Their first cost is low. Their cost per mile of service makes them cheaper today than even cheap tires. They are inexpensive, not only because the price of rubber is low, but because we have joined with Firestone to bring into the sale of tires the same degree of efficiency which goes into their manufacture. The benefit of all this is in the price to you.

5. DRIVE IN TODAY. We will examine your tires and make you an allowance for your unused mileage. We can equip your car with new Firestone Super High Speed Tires at a much lower cost than you ever expected. They will give you unequalled service and satisfaction.

TRADE IN YOUR USED TIRES TODAY!

"I AM FEELING BETTER THAN IN TEN YEARS"

Amarillo Lady of 73 Glad to Endorse Konjola, the New and Different Medicine.

MRS. NANNIE BRYANT

"For eight years I suffered from a complication of ailments and I tried many medicines and treatments, but never did I see anything like Konjola," said Mrs. Nannie Bryant, 615 East Eleventh Street, Amarillo. "I had rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder. The pain was terrible. I had stomach trouble; was constipated, and was always taking something to produce bowel action.

"A friend urged me to try Konjola, and I did. I began to improve in every way and soon the rheumatic pains began to leave. Today, I am feeling better than in ten years. I have regained normal weight and am doing my own housework. I can even walk uptown. I am certainly thankful for Konjola."

Thus does Konjola work, yet sufferers are urged to use a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles for best results.

Konjola is sold in Midland at Mayes-Young Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SAM R. PRESTON

Candidate for

County Commissioner

Precinct No. 1

A big taxpayer with all of his interests in Midland County.

Commissioner Preston has served the County faithfully and efficiently when the salary was from $60 to $75 a year. Why consider a change now that the salary is $100 a month?

A successful business man with experience in the proper administration of County affairs, a commissioner of proven ability, progressive, yet opposed to the waste of the people's money; the logical man for the important job as commissioner of the County's largest precinct.

Do your voting on a business basis. Consider the 350 miles of good County roads, the $50,000 reduction in annual taxes, the efficient system of road construction and maintenance, the enviable financial condition of Midland County as shown by the recent official audit!

This advertisement is paid for by friends of Sam R. Preston who believe he has been largely responsible for the sound and progressive administration of Midland County's business. With no personal reflection upon any candidate, we feel that the experience of Sam R. Preston merits his re-election.
