Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Cake and pie are two of the principal desserts that every housewife must be able to cook. Angel food cake is truly a favorite but for a change try a yellow angel food cake...

- Yellow Angel Food: 6 whole eggs, 1-4 cup of sugar, 1-2 teaspoon of salt, 1 cup of flour, 1 teaspoon of cream of tartar, 2 tablespoons of cornstarch, 1 tablespoon of cold water, 1 teaspoon of flavoring. Mix cornstarch with the flour. Add salt to the egg whites and beat stiff, add sugar and water into which has been mixed the flavoring. Add flour and egg yolks which have been beaten light last. Bake from 40 to 60 minutes.

My Trip to the A&M Short Course... By Mrs. C. B. Collier

Editor's Note: Articles are being written by Midland county delegates of the trip to the recent Short Course at A. & M. College. The first of these appears today written by Mrs. C. B. Collier of the Stokes community.

I am just starting. That is the feeling I have about my Home Demonstration club work now that I have returned from my trip to the Short Course at A. & M. College. I heard made me more determined than ever that I would accomplish certain things. On June 25 the Stokes Women's Home Demonstration Club decided to send a delegate to the Farmer's Short Course at A. & M. and I was chosen as the representative. We had only two weeks to raise the required money, so we planned a cream supper and candidates' speaker's bureau.

Thursday was our visiting day. In the morning we visited the Animal Husbandry Department. Here we saw the famous mule, Old Beck, and her family consisting of her two sons, a horse and a mule and two grandsons. There were many other interesting animals, some of them beautiful, some of them unusual. Our visit to the cotton textile mill on Thursday afternoon was truly educational. We saw the actual weaving of Texas-raised cotton into Texas-made cloth. I liked the make-in-Texas idea so much that I brought home enough of the Texas-made material for draperies for my bedroom. On Thursday night came the chief entertainment feature of the week—the pageant, "Texas the Magnificent," portraying the rise and present greatness of the state. It is useless to try to give an account of the pageant for there was too much to admire and too much to laugh over and enjoy. Various counties took part in the different scenes. The Bull Fight put on by Llano county was a thing to keep me laughing over the memory of it. The Sand Hill Kitchen Band was another popular feature. I had always ways known that children could make a lot of noise on a tub or dishpan but I never dreamed that music could be made on them. The women in this band used household utensils altogether for musical instruments—a tub for a drum, a wash board for guitar, devil's food cake pans for horns, and so on. Friday morning we inspect the zoo, poultry farm and other departments interesting to us who farm. Then came the club accomplishments meeting where we heard accounts of the interesting things done by club members all over the state. At 4:30 Friday afternoon we attended President Walton's lawn party. This was really a get-acquainted party and I found it especially enjoyable. We all resolved to get some rest before time came to leave early Saturday morning. Of course, those resolves vanished just like the ones made at New Year and there was a mad scramble to pack and catch the train. We all caught it safely, however, and after a nice trip and some pleasant hours spent in Fort Worth we reached home in due time. When I think back over the Short Course now, I realize that it was not only enjoyable but it gave me some practical ideas and a determination to do certain things to improve my home and my community. Because the trip meant so much to me, I appreciate the kindness of those who made it possible for me to go. They have given me one of the most instructive and inspiring weeks of my life.

Painted Canvas Is Inferior to Woven Material

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN Author of "The Shopping Book" Written for NEA Service

There are two kinds of beach chairs—painted canvas and woven canvas. The latter are regarded as the better because there is no paint to come off and to get on clothes. A painted canvas chair can be distinguished from the woven variety by the fact that the color shows only on one side of the canvas in the painted product. By moistening the handkerchief, the paint usually will be transmitted to the handkerchief. The shopper should note the construction of a beach chair, regardless of the type. Good beach chairs always have washers between the different joints. Look at the finish. See if the surfaces are smooth or rough. See whether the chair itself is painted or lacquered. The better chairs, naturally, are lacquered.

SERVICE QUALITY VALUE

Recognition of the Master Farm Homemakers and a visit to the textile mill filled the day. In the evening we attended a community singing led by Mr. Kirkpatrick and heard an address by Dr. Gus W. Dyer. Our Tuesday's program was an interesting one. At 7:30 in the morning we started on a campus tour to the Veterinary Science building and the museum. Later in the morning we heard a lecture by E. R. Rainey on septic tanks. This was followed by an address by E. N. Holmgren on "Cutting Poultry Costs." "There is no such thing as bad luck; it is bad management," Mr. Holmgren said in speaking of losses in poultry raising and he proved his statement by giving examples from the experiences of poultry raisers. In the afternoon we attended what I thought was one of the most interesting affairs of the whole week. This was a lecture on "Style Trends in Cotton Materials" by Miss Catherine Cleveland of the Cotton-Textile Institute, New York City. Every kind of costume from party dress to pajama suit was demonstrated on living models. All fashions shown, including shoes and hose, were of cotton. "Cotton is to the front," Miss Cleveland said in her talk. She stressed the fashion for cotton in material and buttons in trimming. Another feature of Tuesday's program was an enjoyable lecture on "Texas Legends" by Mrs. E. E. Davis, wife of the president of North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington. Mrs. Davis repeated several legends, among them those of the "Enchanted Rock" and the Texas bluebonnets. She told us, too, of her own experience with the legendary music of the Menard river. On Wednesday we attended another lecture which gave us some practical ideas. This address, by Mrs. Kate Lee Daugherty, was on Home Demonstration work in two New England states. Mrs. Daugherty discussed color schemes for the kitchen. She called our attention to the fact that climate should have an influence on the color of our kitchen walls. In Texas where it is warm, Mrs. Daugherty said, such cool colors as blue and gray are appropriate for kitchens. But in New England warmer colors such as rose are better. She also warned housewives against arranging china in cabinets with the purpose of displaying the beauty of the dishes rather than having them where they can be conveniently reached by the cook.

POSSIBILITY OF ENDING OF TRI-COUNTY LEAGUE IS SEEN HERE

TWO CLUBS LEFT OUT OF SCHEDULE AND STANTON AND LENORAH ARE NOT EXPECTED TO CONTINUE IN CIRCLE

Reports going the rounds seem to point to cessation of activity in the Tri-County league. While there has been no confirmation of the rumors, credulous ears are not lacking among the fans.

It is definitely known that four clubs out of the eight that made up the patchwork of the first half quit are ready to go. They are the Bushers, Olers, Odessa and Penwell. Stanton is about ready to start football and fears that some of the high school boys on the club might find their baseball in the way of the more manlier push and tug game. Lenorah has been playing in tournaments at Lamesa, it is said, and might not be eligible for continued play in this league—though there has been no axiom quoted to show ineligibility.

When the new half schedule was drafted in Midland Monday night Pleasant Valley and Valley View were left high and dry out of the running. This further complicates matters of the present, and the fans are wondering what, why, when and a few other puzzling expressions.

The league, which ran as a well shod, well oiled unit during the first half, seems to have become a victim to its own apathy at last. Some rumors of the final trend have been bobbling up at intervals but little credence was given to them.

Fans point out that, if only four teams will remain in the league, that four teams might well carry out the program of entertainment that has been started. It could scarcely be harder for any given club to play in a four-corner league, as it would have to play only one game a Sunday.

Important announcements may be given out at any time. It is hinted by managers of ball clubs in the league.

Until that time the fans will wonder about next Sunday's games. It is probable an announcement will be officially made Friday about these.

In the TRI-COUNTY League

By R. C. Hankins

The head to this bit of drivel might or might not be recognized two weeks from now if it were employed to preface notes purporting to deal with activities of local baseball and baseball players. For the Tri-County league may have suffered its demise by that time and fallen into the limbo of past expressions.

This bearish slant at the local sports market is taken through the glasses of local soothsayers who have watched the tendency of the league to become disrupted over the past few weeks. It all started when information became rather general about Pleasant Valley and Valley View being dropped from the league during the second half. There were ardent supporters of these two clubs in Midland, and everyone wanted to see them continue. But the clubs themselves must have wanted to remove themselves from the lineup of names, for nothing has been heard by this newspaper from any of those shunted aside.

Stanton apparently has its glance fixated on another championship in the coming grid industry, for a report says Stanton doesn't want to stay in the Tri-County league another half because of having high school boys scattered around the diamond with that group. It appears the boys are dedicated to the noble succession of the Stanton club last year, the one that made monkeys out of more than one district representative for honors.

Well, one must let matters adjust themselves. The time is fast approaching when the singing midday breaths of September will be laden with the pungent odor of sweating football men, of grimy shoulder pads and other traps. But it is still baseball weather. We want to see the return of the pig skin racket, but hate to hear of the horsehide clatter being stamped. In considering ruefully the valediction of one there's a wave of reception for the debut of the other.

I have been doing something that is less cluttering to the convolutions of the old brain; taking a vacation in the country is as simple as it sounds. One gets up in the morning, takes his splash, keeps on his bathing suit most of the morning, reads most of the magazines in circulation, thinks as little as is humanly possible, eats like a Hedonist, thinks and sleeps during the sunny as well as the lunny hours. Strange enough, one is apt to shave while on such a vacation. If he gets out of bed at any hour that might be termed decent and gets a cold bath he feels a rebirth of sufficient energy to draw out a razor and playing barber for the moment. But he insists on wearing house shoes at dinner, and no one has the heart to gainsay him the privilege.

The most amazing discovery of the whole period, however, must have been the finding of a typographical error in one of the finest magazines published in this country. It was in the May issue, and on page 60. Without any names of the magazine, did you see it? The cowboy rides on his vacation, the motorman takes a street car, but the proof reader is certain to read. Watch yourself when you get loose on your vacation, and if you revert to your daily routine do with temperance. If you are a barber, to use an academic illustration, use your razor strap to sharpen your razor, not to beat your wife, etc. etc.

Notice how easy it is to employ the "etc. etc." in this piffle. That is one of the effects of a vacation. One gets geometrical to the extent of taking the shortest path between two points, only when the short path is the easier. It is easier to say "etc" than to think of other words.

MIDLAND in 1912

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Reporter-Telegram will run during the next few weeks a brief review of personalities, anecdotes, happenings and other features that happened in the year 1912. Afterward, other years will be taken up in the special feature.

Newspaper reports of 1912 record a peculiar traffic accident on the Midland streets. During a sandstorm a dray wagon was hauling a galvanized tank. The tank was blown from the wagon, scurrying eastward and "causing everyone to give it a wide berth." When it arrived opposite the Midland Mercantile company, it veered its mad career, leaping upon the sidewalk and crashed into the plate glass window, "making the occupants of the building think that the Seminole bank robbers were making a forcible entry."

The patent medicine advertisement, promising relief to pains and aches of the back, gave a testimonial of a Colorado, Texas, woman under the heading of "comforting words."

An article calling attention to a "pleasant meeting of the Mothers' club" featured a piano duet by Misses Gladys Holt and Eddie Taylor.

Ralph A. Dykstra and family, back in Midland after a year in Arkansas, admitted that it was a great joy to be back in Texas. Lon J. Roberts, "erstwhile young townsman," was in from his farm five miles east Midland and reported his land all prepared for a big crop.

Another real estate transaction of importance was reported J. Harvey Clark buying the residence of W. G. Graves, the consideration being $1,500. "Mr. and Mrs. Clark are now worshipping under their own vine and fig tree."

A new epidemic called the decorative fever was reported, Dr. Thomas was "having it bad," having varnished and decorated the interior of his office.

A bouncing ten pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Massey.

The public was invited to call and see a black Spanish jack, fifteen hands high, weight about 900 pounds at Stringer's wagon yard.

The grand jury adjourned after finding only three bills.

Plans for organization of a poultry association in connection with an exhibit at the county fair were under discussion.

T. S. Patterson, buyer for the Midland Mercantile, left for Chicago and St. Louis markets.

C. B. Haley of Roscoe, Texas, advertised that he would trade brick buildings, hotels or good farm lands for a farm or a ranch in the Midland section.

B. F. Ward, farmer, who had just arrived from Brady was welcomed as a new citizen of Midland county.

John Haley had just returned from a business trip to Austin.

Under the head of high school notes by Chachie Holloway reporter, a song, "Somewhere This Summer With You," was reported to have been rendered at the high school literary society by the Misses Beulah Graves, Loree McCormick, Ruth Epley, Minerva Towers and Hope Barron and the Messrs. Charles Klapproth, Sneed Dunagan, Floyd Barron and Frank Cowden.

Floyd Barron and Foy Proctor were pitted against Sneed Dunagan and Gilbert Brunson in a high school debate on the subject "Resolved: that March 2 is more important and should be more widely observed than April 21st."

Under the expert supervision of Mr. Nelson, high school baseball players were reported to be practicing and would soon be ready to play matched games.

CORPUS CHRISTI LADY GLAD TO PRAISE KONJOLA

Old Resident Eager To Tell What New Medicine Did For Her After Others Failed.

MRS. H. L. DYER

"I was badly run down and even the simplest foods brought on attacks of indigestion," said Mrs. H. L. Dyer, for more than fifty years a resident of Corpus Christi, Texas, residing at 1337 Ocean Drive in that city. "I bloated terribly after meals and suffered severe belching spells. Constipation was a source of constant worry and I had severe pains in my abdomen after meals. I was unable to sleep at night."

"I have taken Konjola but a week and I can say that every ache and pain in my stomach is gone. I can now rest well at night and eat what I wish without any of my former miseries. I have never used a medicine like Konjola and although I am 68 years of age I can do plenty of work. I am more than glad to pass my praise for this medicine on to others."

"This is not an exceptional case. Konjola does work quickly and none the less thoroughly. It is best in most cases to continue the treatment over a period of from six to eight weeks."

Konjola is sold in Midland at Mayes-Young Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. (Adv.)

Freedom From Stomach Distress

Mayes-Young Has the Remedy and Guarantees it to End Indigestion or Gastritis

You can get one bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and if after you take it you do not say it did you more good than anything you ever used before, your money will be waiting for you.

This delightful and effective elixir not only gives instant relief from gas, fullness, acid stomach and distress after eating, but taken regularly for a short time will turn your weak, run down stomach into a strong, healthy one able to perform its duties without help.

It ends indigestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach and does it in a surprisingly short period of time. Dr. Wm. W. Morgan, a prominent dentist of Bridgeton, N. J., writes: "After suffering severely with gastritis and other stomach troubles, a friend gave me a bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin. I had obtained little relief from other remedies, but four bottles entirely ended the trouble." Get it at Mayes-Young Drug Store and all regular druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

Smart buyers are getting bigger tire values now than ever before!

Competitive conditions are tightening up in the tire business.

When this happens, high-powered salesmanship usually takes on an extra head of steam.

But don't be confused when the tire dealer with something "special" to sell backs you into a corner.

Just remember the one fact — after years of experience, after testing this value and that, "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be a valid reason for this. There is: Goodyear Tires are definitely superior, in the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

These superiorities are not sales claims; they are real.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value.

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better — and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

Now is the time to get yours.
