The identification was made by Carl Losey, criminal investigator for the Indiana state police and George Adams, attached to the office of Roche, special investigator for the state's attorney in Chicago. Fingerprints at Louisville also tally with those of Geisking.

FOREIGN RELATIONS WINS GEORGETOWN RACE WEDNESDAY

Foreign Relations won his seventeenth race, at Georgetown last Wednesday.

Gerrald Bloss, nephew of Dr. Wm. Bloss, veteran trainer and jockey, received a letter which said the horse got away from the barrier "on top," took the rail and came down the stretch with enough lead that he ran hardly faster than a canter at the finish.

The race was the rich handicapper run there each year. Seven other Midland horses were at the race meeting, but no information was received as to how they ran.

The horses will be shipped to San Angelo for four days of racing during the West Texas exposition that begins Sept. 22.

Man Needed; Can You Qualify?

The little theatre is in need of a young man to play a role in its forthcoming production of Lonsdale's "Aren't We All?"

"He should be between the ages of twenty-four and thirty, blonde if possible and able to adopt a modified English accent," Mrs. George Abell, play director, said.

"We are not only interested in such a man calling me at once, but are asking that everyone who knows someone who could play such a part call also."

With this exception, the group has selected a strong cast.

Earlier today rumors said that Morrow had been injured in an accident, possibly killed. Rejoicing followed his appearance dispelling the rumor.

The case, which was tried Monday in district court, resulted in a $25 fine for the defendant.

Whitley, formerly elevator boy for a Midland hotel, said he was cut by a knife in the hands of the defendant, and the plaintiff was counter charged with hitting the defendant with a bottle.

FUHRMAN TEST AWAITS ARRIVAL OF CASING TODAY

Arrival of casing within the next few days at the Fuhrman No. 1 Ford test in Southern Andrews county will bring renewed activity at the well which has been shut down several days. Tools are being prepared for running of 5 3-16 inch casing.

Gauges at the Southern Crude No. 1-A Cowden in Ector county showed the well to have flowed 272 barrels during the 24 hours up to 7 o'clock this morning. A small increase on the gauges has been shown each day.

Fuhrman No. 1 Ford, 2,200 feet from the west line and 440 feet from the south line of section 16, block A-43, public school land, and six miles south of production in the Ogdin pool, has been inactive more than a week while operators mudded off 26,000,000 cubic feet of gas which prevented drilling below 4,155 feet.

The Cowden test is 2,310 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of section 26, block 43, township 1 north, T & P. R. survey, and is 24 miles south of production in the Ogdin pool of Andrews County.

ILLINOIS ATTORNEY IS DENIED

CHICAGO, Sept. 16. (AP).—The Senate campaign funds committee denied O. E. Carlstrom, Illinois attorney general, the privilege of presenting the state "defense of the honor and dignity of Ruth Hanna McCormick" today, and returned to the main line of inquiry into campaign expenditures.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman, opened the hearing with a statement denying that the committee had spied on the private affairs or pilfered in Mrs. McCormick's records.

She had charged the committee operatives with wire tapping.

Bromley Criticised for Turning Back

MIDLAND-EL PASO GRID TICKETS TO SELL WEDNESDAY

El Paso special train ticket sales will open Wednesday of this week and will close Saturday night of this week.

Midland people who expect to ride the special train sponsored by the chamber of commerce to the Midland high school Bulldogs' game with Austin high school of El Paso, will have to buy their tickets by Saturday evening if the train is operated.

The schools will begin ticket sales Wednesday under direction of Supt. W. W. Lackey and tickets will be offered Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It is now planned to open a downtown booth for benefit of Midland people. Tickets may be had at these booths or at the office of the chamber of commerce.

No promises to pay will be accepted. The Texas & Pacific Railway Co. operates on a cash basis, and tickets will be sold for cash only. The name of every person who buys a ticket will be taken, so that if anything should happen to prevent the train going, his $6.15 will be refunded. This means that people are absolutely safe in buying tickets in advance, as their names will be on record. There will be no excuses for waiting to buy a ticket at the last minute, and it is necessary to sell 150 tickets at $6.15 each this week if the train is to be chartered.

The schedule is: leave Midland at 5 a. m. Sept. 27, arrive El Paso 12:30 p. m.; leave El Paso 7:20 p. m. Sept. 28, arrive Midland 9 p. m. This gives two full half days and a night in El Paso.

CONFESSES HE WAS MURDERER OF SEAMAN

HOUSTON, Sept. 16. (UP).—Clifton Kenney, 21, New Orleans seaman, confessed late last night that he killed his companion, H. M. Myhars, Thursday night in a quarrel. The statement was made to officers after his sister, Mrs. Robert Langford of New Orleans, had visited him.

At the time of the shooting Kenney told officers that he and Myhars had been held up and Myhars kidnapped and killed. He said the killing followed after a quarrel whether they would stop on the road for the night or continue to Houston.

Ministers Good Entertainers

The Rev. Thomas D. Murphy has been sentenced to death. "To hang by the neck until he is dead," ran the verdict passed down Monday at the high school.

The students who made up the hangman's jury were led into the scheme, however, after a suggestion by the Rev. Howard Peters.

Students are always glad to see the ministers of the city on the platform. They realize that there is never a drab hour in assembly when the ministers charge and counter-charge each other there.

Attendance Good At Sunday Schools

Midland churches reported good crowds at Sunday school Sunday morning. The Presbyterian church had 106 present, the Christian church 112, Baptist 320 and Methodist 370.

These churches are working hard to get the enrollment at Sunday school hour liked.

Several Oil Towns of Area Visited; All Turn Out Big

Thirty goodwill ambassadors from Midland were received with unusual courtesy by towns in the oil belt today, large crowds turning out to hear the speeches of welcome and the response of Midland men.

McCamey was reached at 1:30, about an hour later than had been expected and most of the crowd that had gathered had dispersed, believing that motor trouble had delayed the arrival of the visitors; but more than 500 gathered soon after the big Cotton Belt bus roared into the oil town and luncheon was quickly put out for the ambassadors.

At each town visited there were several speeches. Rankin was reached for the first stop and County Judge Latson made the welcoming address. John Bonner, presiding at the festivities, introduced Paul T. Vickers, T. Paul Barron, Clyde Barron, Albert Oreck, George Phillips and Thomas Inman; each of whom responded briefly to the cries for speeches.

A crowd of 100 met the Midland visitors at Rankin and this crowd was soon augmented by others who had delayed going to the meeting place until the last minute.

Five hundred were ready for the trippers when the bus halted in Iraan. Bonner, Vickers, J. R. Martin, K. E. Ambrose, W. F. Hejl and Claude O. Crane spoke at this place, described as one of the "cleanest oil towns in the producing area."

From Iraan, the party proceeded to Red Barn, a small oil town on the banks of the Pecos. The plan for seepage of oil into the river was studied, as well as the outfit of production. Derricks were mostly removed from producing wells, pumps having been installed in most every instance.

Crane was to be the next stop. T. Paul Barron, publisher of The Reporter-Telegram, said, speaking over long distance telephone while the remainder of the party was at lunch. The publisher said that the orderly and clean oil camps were especially interesting, those of the Mid-Kansas, Gulf and Illinois Pipeline company drawing most of the crowd for inspection.

In McCamey, the visitors found a bustling atmosphere, new pavement, big, modern schools and the big Humble refinery.

"Public speaking was not confined to visits to the various towns," Barron said, laughingly. "Vickers was (See GOODWILL TRIP page 6)

OUR SURPLUS ENERGIES

A 19-year-old South African girl swims the English channel, two Americans finish driving an automobile across the continent in reverse gear and a couple of chaps in Los Angeles are preparing to try to capture the airplane endurance record again; from which it appears that the human race, taken by and large, is not losing any of its energy, however much it may be deficient in horse sense.

A Midland man breaks the world record on continuous playing of peewee golf, and now two Fort Worth men are approaching this city, one pulling the other in a red wagon as result of an election bet.

Indeed, it is the energy involved in all of these contests that is the most striking thing about the whole business. A man who will drive an auto backwards for thousands of miles may have funny ideas, but at least he likes to be doing things. The girl who swims the English channel is not, whatever else she may be, anemic or spiritless.

Considering the fact that contests and stunts of this kind are thicker than the fallen leaves of autumn, the obvious conclusion is that the modern world does not provide people with enough outlets for their energy. In fact, one of the big problems of the next generation may be the search for suitable safety-valves through which active men and women can get rid of their excess vim.

The ordinary methods of earning a living nowadays do not always suffice. In the old days they did, and when all else failed a man could at least go exploring the African interior, or take to pioneering on the American frontier or in the Australian bush; but all the likely places have been explored now, and frontiers aren't what they used to be. Life doesn't drain us physically and spiritually as it did our ancestors.

This may seem a minor problem. Yet it would be quite possible to argue that it was this very reservoir of stored up, long-baked energy—this restlessness in a world from which so many hazards have been removed—that made the ordinary people of the world welcome the World War in 1914. For it is undeniable that they did actually, welcome it. Their rulers got them into it, and in a few months all hands would have liked to be out of it, but when it first came it was hailed with cheers.

It may be that we shall make games and sports serve as our safety valves. The tremendous popularity of all kinds of sport, both mass and professional, at the present time, seems to indicate a long step in that direction. Yet that sort of thing, after all, is a poor substitute. The grandsons of the men who had the hardihood to push the Oregon trail across the plains may be working off their extra spirits on the golf course, but a golfer, when all is said and done, is not quite as inspiring a figure as a trail-blazer of the old frontier.

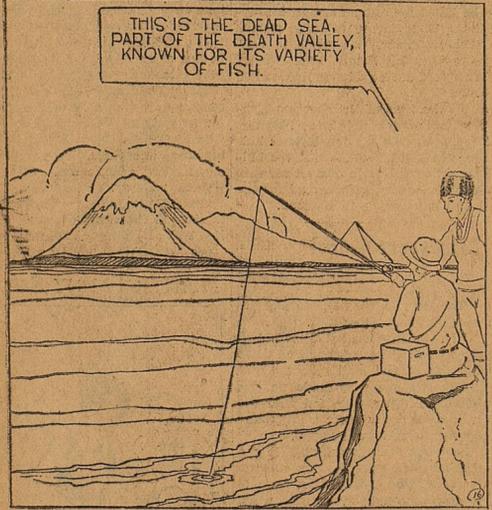

Of course, there is still a vast amount of hard, back-breaking work to be done, and there are still huge problems to be solved. If we learn how to apply ourselves to these things, our surplus energy will take care of itself. If not, these trick endurance contests will be with us for a long time.

IS A GUN-SELLER LIABLE?

In Chicago a storekeeper who has sold guns to gangsters is going to be brought to trial. A Chicago jurist has a theory that a man who sells a gun with which a criminal commits a murder can be tried as an accessory in that murder, and it is proposed that this theory be tested legally in the case of the storekeeper.

How the courts will dispose of this contention is something for the future to disclose; meanwhile, the case emphasizes the ease with which a criminal can equip himself with weapons in this country. No matter how this particular trial comes out, society ought to protect itself by throwing a few more restrictions about the sale and purchase of deadly weapons.

Serenading Under Difficulties!

Plans to Be a Real King Of a South Sea Island

By HELEN WELSHIMER, NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Some day the world will hear of King Alain. Sailors, voyaging for south, will bring back tales of a happy isle where all men do as they please, and traders never come.

An island of natives with a white king who lives in a bamboo palace except when the sea-urge grows too strong, and he goes wandering for a while.

For Alain Gerbault, famous young French author, adventurer and athlete is getting ready to make a dream come true.

Civilization has given him all that it can. He has written two books. He has seen "In Quest of Sun" proclaimed a best-seller in France last year. He was boy tennis champion before the war. He still plays in international matches. He was an aviator in the World War. And he has gone on long and lonely wandering over the seas of the world.

So now he is saying hail and farewell forever... unless he comes back for a week or two some time to see how people live in crowded cities again. He is heading for the South Seas.

Will Be King Gerbault sat in his apartment, at the top of a New York skyscraper, and outlined the plans of his new kingdom as naturally as most men make out their daily schedule at the office.

He doesn't know where his island kingdom will be. But he will start to find it when spring comes and his new boat is ready.

Over in France a 34-foot sail boat is being prepared. When the apple blossoms are a mass of bloom against the low green coast Gerbault will set out to sea—alone.

"I always go to sea alone," he said. "No one else understands and loves it as I do. I've been to the South Sea Islands many times. Now I'm going to stay."

"I shall find an island that I like. It may be large and it may be small. Then I shall populate it with my native friends and give each one a plot of ground. Every man will raise his own food. I'll be king. But there will be only one law. Every man may do as he pleases as long as he doesn't interfere with the rights of others. If he disobeys there will be no punishment, but he shall be removed from the island."

"I shall have a court, but that must be worked out later. No white men will be included in my island—just natives. And no traders will be allowed to come to the island. Sometimes I'll sail away, for I intend to study Egyptian, Sanskrit and other ancient languages as well as the native tongues and religions. I am going to live this way because it will give me time to do the things I want to do."

The place in which the king will receive his subjects will be made of bamboo-cane with a roof of thatched grass. If anyone wants advice Gerbault will give it, but life is to be so simple and natural that the future ruler expects few difficulties.

At night sailors will catch the gleam of crimson fires where the subjects of the island sing and dance together.

Sometimes a boat, venturing a little near, will see the shine of brown bodies in the water as the king supervises swimming meets. And, maybe, through a glass, passing mariners will notice games that strangely resemble American football.

For Gerbault, nationally known as an athlete, doesn't intend to neglect the sports angle on his kingdom in the sea.

Alain Gerbault, aviator, sailor, author and adventurer, is shown at left on the deck of his tiny yacht "Firecrest", in which he sailed around the world. Upper right, a more recent picture of Gerbault, who plans to return to the South Seas and establish a kingdom of his own.

The king will wear the loin cloth of the natives. He will eat from their wooden dishes. He will learn to speak their languages more fluently.

And he will try to forget that somewhere, far beyond, tall buildings, made by men, swing themselves in silhouette against the evening sky.

Gerbault is leaving his typewriter behind. His notes will be made in longhand and the books which he will write... although if writing interferes with his languor, he will give it up... will be in his own writing.

There will be no radios on the island. The wind in the trees and the pounding of the surf are music enough for the man who would be king. These and the native songs.

"I am taking no canned goods on my boat," Gerbault said. "Potatoes and rice and things of that sort will serve me until I find my island. I shall eat only what we raise when I do find it. Fruits and vegetables will be our fare."

There will be no queen when the island court assembles. Gerbault, who is unmarried, doesn't want one.

No Queen at Court "No woman would love the sea as I do. No woman would want to journey as I do," he explained. "Therefore, I shall go alone. I always cruise alone."

For his adventure is not new. He built another boat, "The Firecrest," and spent five years on a trip around the world. Only last year he crossed the Atlantic alone, fighting the sea for 101 days. "The Firecrest" in which he made his other adventure trips, was 39 feet long. Gerbault has no Viking ancestors who gave him a heritage of nomad dreams. He was reared in France and was graduate from the University of Paris.

"Nothing I learned there helps me now," he said. "It wasn't until after the war that I decided to go to sea. So I built a boat and went."

"Maybe I shall return for a little while some time. I don't know. If I do come back to New York I hope there will be a skyscraper with a 150th floor, so I shall be high above the city."

For there is something of Kipling in the sea-mellowed heart of the would-be king. Something that wants to be shipped somewhere east of Suez, although he has no yellow maid awaiting. Just the sea.

But even more than Kipling there is a little of Ulysses in him. That desire to sail beyond the sunset till he dies.

But above all, Alain Gerbault has kept the dream of a little boy, who wants to go away, all alone, and be king of some place or other!

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

U. S. TRADE WITH LATIN AMERICA SHOWS SLUMP FOR PAST YEAR; SOUTH AMERICA SHOWS BETTER TRADE BALANCES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Our Latin American customers below the Panama Canal seem to have maintained a much more satisfactory status in regard to their trade with the United States than the northerly group of republics which includes Mexico and the countries of Central America and the Caribbean.

The export and import figures comparing the year ended last June 30 with the previous year show that the 10 Republics of South America averaged an improvement in the balance of trade factor over 1929 whereas the other 10 Latin American states received a bad break.

They All Declined

Relative decline of our imports from and our exports to all of Latin America was practically the same—imports falling off about 14 per cent and exports about 13. Imports fell from $999,099,000 to $854,607,000 and exports from $912,335,000 to $790,130,000.

But whereas our exports to the South American countries fell off 2.89 per cent our imports from them were reduced only 9.06 per cent. Exports dropped from $551,300,000 to $436,500,000 and imports from $611,700,000 to $556,700,000. That is, we bought 90 per cent as much from South America as we did in the year before, but she only bought 3 per cent as much from us.

Now take the North American republics. Our imports from them fell off 22.91 per cent and our exports to them only 2.08 per cent. Imports dropped from $389,475,000 to $300,327,000 and exports merely from $363,400,000 to $355,900,000. We kept right on selling to this group at virtually the same old pace, but cut down our purchases almost one-fourth.

The figures in dollars are furnished by the Department of Commerce. The percentages used in this story were worked out at the headquarters of the Pan-American Union. They are especially interesting at this time because of current economic developments in Latin America—and their political consequences, the Latin American protests against our new tariff act and the fact that they throw some light on the facts in the world-wide business depression. It should be remembered, of course, that declines in values of imports and exports are frequently largely due to the general lowering of commodity prices.

Cuba took the worst sock among those countries whose exports to the United States suffered—a drop of almost exactly 30 per cent from a 1929 export business of $214,105,000. Meanwhile, we sold Cuba all but 12.65 per cent as much in the fiscal year of 1930 as in 1929. Mexico's balance of trade fared considerably worse, for while our imports from her fell of 17.23 per cent we increased our exports to Mexico by 17.23 per cent.

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

Well, the goodwill bus trip started this morning and here I am at work as usual. Not wanting the boys to go all day without hearing from me, however, I sent along by the editor a bundle of cards with my picture on them, giving the goodwill trippers some advice. The cards were also distributed in towns along the route, giving me a chance to get acquainted with Rankin, Iraan, McCamey and Crane people even though I couldn't be there in person.

Besides giving the schedule of the trip, I issued a lot of free advice, the first paragraph being devoted to making arrangements with Audie if they wanted anything delivered to the road when his pasture was passed. This, of course, was a crude attempt at a joke, but Audie would care as he is a friend of mine. Here's the rest of what I told them:

If the bus develops motor trouble, look first in the dust pan. Charlie Culp, in a moment of excitement, may run under us with that Aus-

Cuba's trouble was sugar. The quantity of our purchases of that commodity fell from 8,217,000,000 pounds in 1928-29 to 5,516,000,000 pounds and the value from $169,000,000 to $101,000,000. The figure makes it quite easy to understand Cuba's terrific hollering at a further increase in our sugar tariff.

Only Two Bought More Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru all sold us more last year than the year before and bought less. Only Chile and Paraguay in South America sold us less and bought more. Brazil, Uruguay and Venezuela showed smaller declines in exports to us than in imports from us.

Our imports show these increases: Argentina 2.16 per cent, Bolivia 34.40, Colombia 15.35, Ecuador 0.71, Peru 11.83. And these decreases: Brazil 22.31, Chile 18.95, Paraguay 28.83, Uruguay 7.32, Venezuela 13.24.

tin car. On the other hand, Culo may have his car blown away by the bus' exhaust.

Tom Murphy has let his church work interfere with pleasure again. Instead of coming along, he went to Van Horn to the meeting of the Presbytery.

Midland may not have sheep and goats like Rankin, but we have one goat. If there's anything you don't find satisfactory on this trip, jump on Paul Vickers about it. He's used to it.

Midland may not have an oil field as close as Iraan has, but we have a daily newspaper, including the Quack column, and the unlimited flow may be increased or prorated (but not curtailed) as necessary.

Midland may not have an Humble refinery like McCamey, but we are humble and refined and like the people of McCamey.

Turn Your Home Into a Beach—and Keep on Swimming for Beauty's Sake!

By NINON
Written for NEA Service

To have—and to hold—beauty are two distinctly different things.

Now, when summer has gone and the rigors of busy winter begin to close in upon us, what shall we do to preserve that lithe grace, that luring spirit, that buoyant step, we had upon the beach?

"Keep on swimming" is an excellent motto. You do not even need water to do it. Dry swimming, upon a piano or kitchen stool, instead of the crest of a wave, will exercise every body muscle, keep your waistline sleek, your stomach flat and your backbone lithe.

Why not try it? And keep on trying it. Ten minutes of such exercise a day will keep summer's abundant energy surging within you.

TOP: Take the swimming position on your stomach and start the arm movement of the Australian crawl. Keep the shoulders straight, bring your right arm forward, over the head, down to your sides, bend your elbow slightly, push your arm back and up again, with your left arm starting the same motion as your right starts back. This is excellent for circulation and brings into play all those little muscles across your shoulders which, when knotted, give you a bad case of "nerves."

While your arms perform this rotary motion, keep your knees straight and pedal your feet up and down.

CENTER: The breast stroke is accomplished by swinging the arms from a position straight before the face to the sides, curving them back into place before the face. The foot movement consists in drawing up the knees and kicking the feet out. This is excellent for leg exercises.

BOTTOM: The back stroke is an excellent morning workout. Turn onto your back and use the overhead Australian crawl in reverse, pedaling the feet up and down. Be sure to keep your knees straight and stiff.

These exercises are not only excellent for preserving all the line and litheness you have achieved this summer, but they will do much to help a stout person lose a few pounds, and in the right places.

Monday Observed as Church Day by Midland Women; Five Denominations Represented at Auxiliary and Circle Afternoon Programs

Approximately a hundred Midland women attended their various church organization meetings Monday afternoon. The gatherings included socials, Bible studies, business and monthly programs.

The Walker auxiliary of the W. M. S. was in session at the home of Mrs. M. B. Robertson with eighteen present. Mrs. Robertson, the chairman, was in charge of the business meeting, at which time the secretary reported $100 donated to Mexican mission work in Midland and $50 sent to Buckner's Orphan home in Dallas. Appointment of standing committees was also made by the chairman.

Mrs. W. W. Wimberly taught a mission study lesson from the book, "In the Land of the Southern Cross." The devotional was read by Mrs. Alvin Hicks.

Several new members reported at the Rejehart circle meeting at the home of Mrs. E. E. Barton Monday afternoon. Former members also attended after summer vacations.

The Rev. Howard Peters taught the study taken from the 29th to the 31st chapter of Exodus.

Mrs. Barton, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Pennington, served refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Reagan Auxiliary
The election of Mrs. George Streeter as secretary and a discussion of other officers to be selected were business matters taken up at the meeting of the Reagan auxiliary at the home of Mrs. H. B. Dumagan.

Officers to Be Chosen
A committee including Mrs. M. R. Hill and Mrs. R. V. Lawrence was appointed to nominate new officers for the Lockett auxiliary which met with Mrs. George F. Brown at the parsonage.

After a business session a Bible class was conducted by Mrs. Brown. At tea time the hostess served iced watermelon the members attending.

Don't Judge a Turkish Towel by Appearance

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN
Author of "The Shopping Book"
Written for NEA Service

To buy a Turkish towel simply because it looks good is to open the way to bad buying. Good appearance certainly is to be desired, but when this is a towel's only virtue, then it is a poor bargain.

A Turkish towel must have capacity to absorb water. The speed of absorption is one of the determining factors of quality. And yet there are towels—a bit cheaper than the better grades—which take five times longer to absorb water than those which cost a few cents more.

Other points to be noted are its tensile strength and the ease with which the weave can be pulled apart; the easier the pulling, the poorer the quality.

TOMORROW: Testing laboratories.

Episcopal Auxiliary
General phases of the programs to be adopted by the Episcopal auxiliary were discussions at the initial meeting of the fall at the home of Mrs. John E. Adams. Mrs. I. E. Daniel, vice-president, presided during the business which also included plans for the coming election of several new officials.

"MAKING FRIENDS AND HOLDING THEM

—is the secret of success in business."

Says

GEN. SAMUEL McROBERTS

Chairman of the Board, Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company

Director, Armour & Co., American Sugar Refining Co., National Surety Co., Kansas City-Southern Railway; Brig. General, A. E. F.

"Making friends and holding them, by a friendly up-to-date usefulness, is the secret of success in business. This axiom has been the guiding force in the progress of the Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company. And it is obviously the guiding force in your business—as evidenced by your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos."

Samuel McRoberts

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

10 SPORTS WRITERS PICK ALL-STAR NATIONAL LEAGUE TEAM

Midland Team Goes Into Wednesday Texon Game Heavily Handicapped

RAY KREMER BEST HURLER IT IS FOUND OUT

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three articles on the all-star teams of the big leagues, as chosen by a jury of baseball writers. Tomorrow an American League team will be selected, and on the following day an all-star team for both leagues will be named.

ALL-STAR TEAM OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Frisch, St. Louis	2b
Lindstrom, New York	3b
Terry, New York	1b
Hack Wilson, Chicago	cf
Klein, Philadelphia	rf
Jackson, New York	ss
Hafey, St. Louis	p
Hartnett, Chicago	c
Lopez, Brooklyn	c
Kremer, Pittsburgh	p
Malone, Chicago	p
Collins, Philadelphia	p

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

Ten baseball writers in big league cities were asked to choose an All-Star National League team. The result is shown above.

The selections were not unanimous by any means. Only two members of the all-star team were nominated unanimously by the 10 writers. These were Hack Wilson, slugging center fielder of the Cubs, and Bill Terry, first baseman of the New York Giants.

ALL-STAR JURY

Baseball writers who selected NEA's All-Star National League team are:

- Stuart Bell, Cleveland Press.
- Daniel M. Daniel, New York Telegram.
- Ralph Davis, Pittsburgh Press.
- Bill Dooly, Philadelphia Record.
- Kenneth E. Fry, Chicago Post.
- Nick Flatty, Boston American.
- Sam Greene, Detroit News.
- Sid Krepper, St. Louis Star.
- Tom Swone, Cincinnati Post.
- John O'Rourke, Washington News.

Frisch received nine votes for the second base job, but there was a difference of opinion on nearly all of the other positions on the team. Lindstrom, for instance, was chosen by six of the jury, while the other four votes for the third base job went to Pie Traynor of the Pirates.

Jackson Just Makes It
Jackson got four votes for the shortstop's job, Glenn Wright of the Dodgers running a close second with three. Others named in the race were Gilbert of the Cardinals, who got two votes, and Rabbit Maranville of the Braves, with one.

The left field and right field jobs also were chosen by the slenderest of margins. Hafey won the nod on but three votes, the other ballots being divided up between O'Doul, P. Waner, Herman and Coromorsky. In right field, Klein got six votes, Cuyler four.

The vote on catchers and pitchers was interesting. Each of the 10 writers was asked to name two catchers and three pitchers. Four catchers were nominated, Hartnett coming out on top with seven votes. Al Lopez, the young Brooklyn catcher, got six choices. Hogan of the Giants was third and Jimmy Wilson of the Cards fourth.

Kremer Leads Hurlers
Ten pitchers were named but six of those named received but one vote each. Ray Kremer, the Pirates' star right hander, led the field with nine choices. Malone was second with eight. Phil Collins, pitching winning ball for the tail-end Phillies, was third with four nominations. Then came Dazzy Vance with two votes. Hubbell, Phelps, Root, Hallahan, Lucas and Kolp received one vote each.

Batting averages for the men named, according to a recent compilation of figures, are as follows: Frisch, .338; Lindstrom, .367; Terry, .407; Wilson, .349; Klein, .389; Jackson, .347; Hafey, .352; Hartnett, .351; Lopez, .328. Exclusive of the pitchers, the team's batting average would be .361. Recent averages showed the Giants leading the National League in hitting with a mark of .323; the A's leading the American League with an average of .307.

Three Giants Named
The choices substantiate the claim that the Giants' infield is the best in the league, three of the Giants being named for jobs, while the second base assignment was given to Frisch by a top-heavy vote.

TEXON PLANS HARD RIDING CLUB IN THE FUTURE

The Midland polo club goes to Texon Wednesday for the fourth match in two weeks with the green-striped club.

Two mounts taken from Myrl Jowell's stable and several from the Floyd ranch will augment the strength of the remuda, now numbering more than 20 horses that will be shipped to San Angelo directly after the game. The game Wednesday is first of all, practice for the two clubs. But it was given out in Texon Sunday that the club is working up a system of education for the area surrounding that place, trying to get the game more popularized and supported. Plans are on foot to make the Texon club one of the most feared in the Southwest and, judging from its strong play Sunday, it should have little difficulty in winning a number of games from various clubs.

With Nolke, Chaffin, Farrington and Griffith, the Texon outfit should build into a most formidable club. The game Wednesday will be a special handicap affair. It is likely that regulars and subs will be used by Texon. The Midland players will each be handicapped.

Midland Horses Better

It was not only adept handling of mallets that the Midland Cowboys rode down the Texon club Sunday to take the series, but the agency of a fast string of mounts.

Time after time, the Midland defense ran down Texon riders who had trickled through and were headed for goal. The Midland horses were said by Texon to be quite the finest seen this season, both in condition and in knowledge of the game.

The Sunday game offered all the horse races one could wish. From the first chucker, when Myrl Jowell scored on a well aimed shot to the very last minute when Nolke swept up with a last frenzied effort to even the score, there were fast races. Someone was constantly stealing the ball, passing it to a mate and then watching that player start an exciting run for goal with defensive players riding hard against his shoulder or whipping at his tail.

Below are the line-up of mounts used in the Sunday game:

Midland
Myrl	Cowboy
1. Apronette	White Man
2. Lauralee	Billy
3. Marigold	Elmer Jones
4. Red Bird	White Man
5. Lauralee	Billy
6. Marigold	Red Hoy
7. Red Bird	E. Jones
8. Lauralee	White Man
	Bum
	Clay
1. Red Hoy	Fristo
2. Rainbow	Gray Boy
3. Brady	Bobcat
4. Jake Leg	Winnie
5. Dolly	Fristo
6. Rainbow	Gray Boy
7. Brady	Brownie
8. Jake Leg	Winnie
Texon
Nolke	Chaffin
1. Nigger	HoneyBoy
2. Sweet Child	Painted Doll
3. Socks	Louise
4. Dorothy	Red Man
5. Smokey	Brown Jug
6. Socks	Honey Boy
7. Dorothy	Louise
8. Smokey	Red Man
Farrington	Griffith
1. G. Dollar	Show Girl
2. Lady	Sissie
3. Margie	Socks
4. Man	Miss Miles
5. Mexican	Sissie
6. Man	Show Girl
7. Lady	Socks
8. Margie	Miss Miles

above was arranged by this writer. It is subject to criticism, of course. Perhaps, Terry, rather than Wilson, should be in the clean-up role. Wilson, however, leads the league in runs driven in, as he has for several seasons, even though his batting average is much lower than Terry's.

So much for the National League team. Tomorrow the same writers will select an American League all-star nine.

DECISIVE INTERSECTIONAL SERIES BEGINS TODAY; CUBS TAKE GIANTS AND ROBINS TACKLE BRIDGE CREW

The last two decisive intersectional series of the current baseball season start today.

The Chicago Cubs open against the New York Giants at the Polo grounds, while over the river in Brooklyn the Robins tackle the St. Louis Cardinals.

It has not often happened that a pennant race such as this year's in the National league produces such a spectacular finish with four teams still involved by mid-September.

Two teams and sometimes three have fought down to the wire, but here, in the last month of the season, all four clubs mentioned above have had chances to win the flag.

Each of the four clubs in the National League pennant fight has had its ups and downs.

For a time, it looked as though the Brooklyn Robins were going to produce a sensation by careening into in front to win the flag. A spectacular, irregular, irrational lot of ball players gathered by Uncle Robbie from strange highway and by-ways—the Dodgers of 1930 are the most picturesque if not the best club of the lot.

On their last western trip, however, the Dodger machine ran afoul of some stiff opposition, lost first place and seemed to lose heart as well.

The Uncertainties of Baseball
Then the Giants went climbing to the top, until they, too, ran up against the stout defenses of the west. One series with the Cubs in Chicago all but wrecked the Giants, and sent them skittering down into fourth place.

Next it was the turn of the Cubs to encounter misfortune and to falter. At a time when they might have been clinching the pennant, the Bruins were dropping games through sheer nervousness, or so it seemed.

A series of accidents partially crippled the club, but all the contenders have had to face that eventuality this season.

The Surprising Cards

Speaking of injuries, the Cardinals were the most crippled outfit of all earlier in the season, and had practically dropped out of the race. When they last appeared in the east, the odor of liniment preceded them by a full day.

Then, after Sam Breadon had spoken his mind on the subject, the Cards suddenly began to play the kind of ball which won the pennants for them in 1926 and 1928. They came from far behind with a rush and thrust themselves right into the thick of the fight for the flag in September.

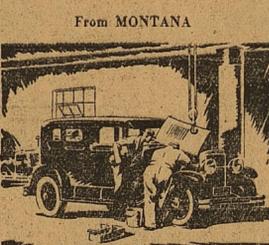

FROSTED LOOK

New worsteds have a frosted look, a gray tone over rich blue goods or soft silver over black. Other materials have a little flecking of silver that also creates the impression of touches of frost.

Motorists, too.... Confirm Conoco's Challenge

Now Your Fellow Motorists Tell of Their Experiences, and Urge that You Use This Revolutionary NEW GERM-PROCESSED OIL

... The Dollars and Cents Value of Penetrative Lubricity is Proved by Car Owners all Over the Country ... Day in and Day Out Users of Motor Oil Verify Every CONOCO Claim

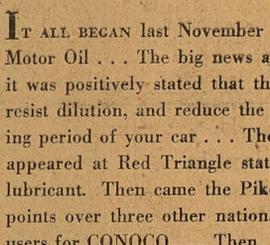

From MONTANA
From Helena, Montana, comes the story of a mechanic who couldn't remove the Germ-Processed film from the cylinder walls of a motor belonging to Mr. Harsh of that city. Neither gasoline nor naphtha could remove this metal-penetrating film, and now the mechanic recommends CONOCO motor oil to all his patrons.

From VIRGINIA
The speedometer said 3,681 miles when W. W. Wimborne, Jr., of La Crosse, Va., had the crankcase of his car filled with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. It said 5,156 miles before he drained it, and none was added. The motor was in perfect condition after running 1,475 miles on CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

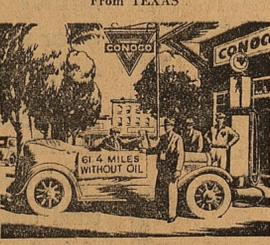

From MISSOURI
W. M. Happel, of Palmyra, Mo., double-disked and plowed 50 acres with his tractor in 95 hours running time. Tractors are usually drained daily, but Mr. Happel used just one fill of 8 quarts of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, added only 4 quarts. The tractor ran without heating.

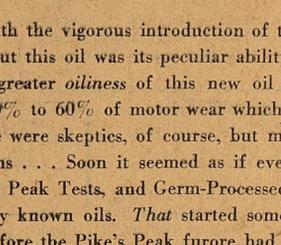

From WYOMING
Frontier, Wyo., coal miners ride 5 miles daily to their work. When the thermometer dropped to 20 below zero January 6, only two of twenty cars would start. Both were filled with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. The other miners switched to CONOCO, experienced quick starting all winter with this oil.

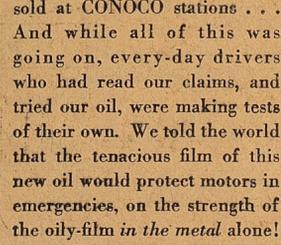

From TEXAS
The oldest car in Denton County, Texas, belongs to Fred Kelsay, and J. D. White-side. On April 2nd, after several months use of Germ-Processed oil, these men removed the drain plug and drove their 1917 Chevrolet 614 miles without oil. Affidavits of the owners and witnesses affirm the fact that no damage was done to this motor: Now they're boosters!

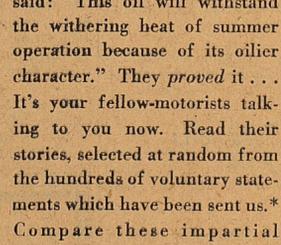

From OKLAHOMA
After he had run 1,000 miles on a fill of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, Alexander Leitch, of Ponca City, Okla., had a sample of it tested by a chemist. He writes, "Viscosity ... very high considering the service. Dilution ... low ... Sediment and cold tests favorable." Only 2 quarts were used by Mr. Leitch.

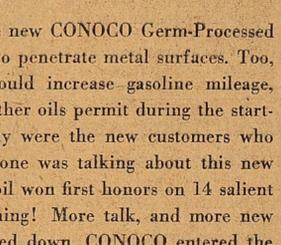

From NEBRASKA
Robert McFadden, of Provo, Utah, examined the CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in his Model A Ford after running 1,045 miles and found that it "looked and felt almost as good as new." He writes: "Germ-Processed Motor Oil is far ahead of any other oil I have ever used."

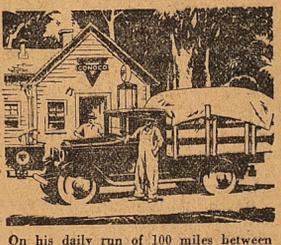

From COLORADO
Clyde Frazee, of Denver, Colo., filled his car with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, added half a pint at 500 miles and did not drain until 1,238 miles. "The CONOCO oil was still in good condition," he says. "Used during coldest weather—13 below zero... does not congeal... starts easier... body to it after a long, hard drive."

From NEW MEXICO
On his daily run of 100 miles between Mogollon and Silver City, N. M., Roy Henry's truck must climb 3,000 feet in 10 miles, mostly in low gear. "Used to change oil every 10 days," he writes, "CONOCO still in crankcase after 25 days ... still in good shape. Easy starting ... lasting qualities ... best ever."

From UTAH
Robert McFadden, of Provo, Utah, examined the CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in his Model A Ford after running 1,045 miles and found that it "looked and felt almost as good as new." He writes: "Germ-Processed Motor Oil is far ahead of any other oil I have ever used."

These voluntary and un-paid for statements and affidavits will be shown to anyone requesting eye-proof. All are on file at the CONOCO offices in Ponca City, Oklahoma.

In the Pike's Peak Tests, three other nationally known oils were tested side by side with CONOCO. More than ten thousand observations were made by the AAA Contest Board observers during these tests. After each oil was tested, all motors were torn down and inspected. Every motor part was micrometer measured. The results which were made public following the tests were startling and revolutionary. Fifteen points of excellence were granted CONOCO by the impartial authorities who supervised. Outstanding among these points was the fact that motor wear with Germ-Processed oil was reduced 76.4% over the average of the other three oils.

STONER RIGHT AS CATS BEAT SPUDS DECIDING SERIES

FORT WORTH, Sept. 16. (P).—The Fort Worth Panthers won the 1930 championship of the Texas League by defeating Wichita Falls, 3 to 2, in the fifth and deciding game of the playoff series. The game resolved itself into a pitchers' duel between Lil Stoner and Milton Steingrafe.

The victory was largely a personal triumph for the lion hearted Lil, who turned in a brilliant six hit game in spite of an injured right thumb and a swollen right wrist. He started with the bad thumb but the wrist injury was suffered in the second inning, when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Larry Cox came in for a large share of the glory by polling a home run over the right field stands in the fourth inning with Fowler on first.

Fowler also scored the winning run in the sixth when he singled, stole second and stepped home on Jack Tavener's clean hit to right. Steingrafe was pecked steadily all through the game, but he was usually tight in the pinches and with the aid of fine support gave Stoner a hard fight.

Jack Kloza scored one of the Wichita Falls runs with a home run. The other was counted when Fowler muffed a double play ball with Spudder on third and first.

The Cats will leave Tuesday night for Memphis, where Wednesday they open the Dixie series.

BURGLAR ELECTROCUTED

When mice continued to show desire to build nests in their shoes, Duard Scott, Sam Warren and Joe Warren decided to break up the impulse.

Rigging up electric wires, the men electrocuted one of the rats this morning and expected to get several more in the afternoon.

The men had been leaving their street clothes in their dressing room and the rats had found the shoes convenient for nests. Three families built in Joe's shoes at one time. Sam said.

The United States last year exported more spectacles, eye glasses and parts than ever before, the total value exceeding $2,780,000.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Humphrey left today for Sweetwater after visiting relatives in Midland.

Hickory Grove, S. C.—"I have recommended Cardui to a great many of my friends because my health improved so much after I took it," says Mrs. John Dover, of this place.

"For a long time, I was in bad health. I was weak and run-down. I suffered frequently from nervous headaches, and I could not sleep. I was thin and pale. I was so weak I could scarcely walk. It was an effort for me to do my household work, and I could not often venture out.

"I began to take Cardui on the recommendation of a friend. I heard about it and found that it had helped others who had suffered as I did.

"It wasn't very long until I saw that I was beginning to pick up. My strength gradually began to return. I rested better at night and was less nervous. I took several bottles of Cardui, and when I quit taking it I was in fine health, so I do not hesitate to tell others about this medicine."

OIL BOOM MAKES ODESSA FORGET DROUTH WEATHER

ODESSA, Tex., Sept. 16. (P).—The oil boom, brought on by the drilling in of Southern Crude Oil Purchasing company's new No. 1 Cowden and the opening of a new pool in northern Ector county, has made Odessans forget all about drought and low prices on ranch commodities. Business men and workers are preparing to take advantage of the increase in population which follows in the wake of all oil booms.

Dick Cowden, owner of the land upon which the new well was brought in, gave an old fashioned West Texas barbecue for Ector and Midland county citizens.

The chamber of commerce came forward with an offer to free industrial locations for any plants Southern Crude Oil Purchasing company may open here. Commissioners of Ector county plan to oil the short detours on the Andrews-Odessa road and the road from the highway to the new well. A new highway north from Odessa to the Andrews county line, 17 miles in length, will be rushed to completion. Concrete work will start this week. The commissioners have instructed that the road to the new field be kept in good condition. The new field is located 16 miles east of the city and the Crane field is 30 miles north.

Following the discovery of the well, the Mount Drilling company manager, S. T. Todd, moved his headquarters from Midland. The Atlas Supply company has started to enlarge its supply warehouse to care for additional trade. The Hendrick building has opened 16 new modern offices which are quickly being taken up. The Western Union plans to increase its working force immediately.

Was Dead But Had Not Died

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 16. (P).—The custom of a telegraph company in affixing two stars on envelopes containing death messages cost Joe Utay, football official of Dallas, a few breathless seconds.

Such an envelope was delivered to his office by a sympathetic messenger. Utay hesitated a few seconds in mustering up courage and then ripped open the telegram.

From E. K. Hall of New York, chairman of the national football rules committee, in reply to a request that new gridiron regulation be explained more clearly, the message read:

"Re (regarding) your telegram of yesterday stop Ball is dead."

NEW OKLAHOMA GRAIN GROWS IN DRY WEATHER

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 16. (UP).—A strange grain known as grohoma, a cross between kafir corn and ribbon cane, may revolutionize farming in midwestern agricultural sections often affected by droughts.

So successfully has Fred Groff a farmer living near here, raised grohoma the past five years that the U. S. department of agriculture is now making an intensive study of the crop with a view of determining its real value.

Groff said the "cross grain" has not reverted and that when other farm crops were ruined in Oklahoma this year because of the prolonged drought, grohoma continued growing and made an excellent yield, deep roots and yields from 100 bushels an acre during a dry season to more than 200 during a favorable year.

Groff has harvested two crops, one early and the other late, the past two years, he told state agriculture department officials. When the stalk is cut another crop grows. Grohoma is sensitive to frost but thrives in parched soil.

Tests made by the state agriculture department showed that grohoma contained 12.33 per cent protein, a greater amount than Indian corn, kafir, oats or wheat; 3.3 per cent fat greater than any of the other grains; 70.24 per cent nitrogen-free extract and but 2.5 per cent fiber, which is less than most other grains.

A large flour mill recently tested the ripe grain and announced it suitable for flour making. Samples will be milled this fall.

Grohoma also is said to contain sugar and may be utilized for making molasses or refining sugar.

Groff moved to Oklahoma about seven years ago and bought a farm. Dry seasons ruined his crops. He reasoned that sugar cane was a juicy annual plant and figured that kafir corn would grow better if it had more water. Groff grafted various grades of cane and kafir.

The outstanding development was a cross between ribbon cane and kafir which he called "grohoma," using the first part of his name and the last half of Oklahoma.

For five years he raised the crop. This season when his kafir corn failed to yield and his corn crop was burned to a crisp by the hot winds his grohoma continued to grow.

"I grew tired of starving to death so I did a little relief work of my own," said Groff in discussing his unusual crop.

JOWELL SAYS AN EXODUS TO START FOR BIG RODEO

Within a week thousands of rodeo fame will begin their trek toward El Paso for this border city's annual roundup and rodeo contests which are to be held Oct. 2, 4 and 5, according to Spence Jowell, Midland man who will judge the affair.

Topping the usual attractions of thrills and gold for these stars of the rodeo arena will be two days of wild steer roping for the world's championship in Juarez, Old Mexico, just two bucks on a bronc from El Paso. The steer roping, prohibited by laws in Texas, will be held Oct. 6 and 7, continuing the three days of El Paso rodeo contests.

Indications are that the steer roping events will prove to be the biggest public contest ever held. Arrangements are being made to permit at least 100 ropers to try their luck and skill during the two days of contests. One hundred and fifty of the most vicious steers obtainable have been gathered from ranches in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona and Montana. Under special dispensation of the Mexican government they will be permitted to enter Old Mexico for the contests.

W. D. Connell, president of the Southwest Range Stock show and Roundup, in charge of the annual gathering of cowboys and cowgirls for the world's championship in range sports, announced that nearly $15,000 in prize money and trophies will be available for winners of the rodeo contests. Ten thousand dollars of this money will be awarded at the El Paso rodeo and nearly $5,000 will be given winners of the Juarez contests.

W. T. Johnson of San Antonio, millionaire cattleman and rodeo enthusiast, is producing the rodeo events and steer roping contests. Most of the stock for the contests have been centered on his Van Horn ranch and will be shipped on into El Paso and Mexico during the next several days.

During the rodeo each year El Paso metamorphoses into a cow camp of the old range days. Everyone dresses in the regalia of the cowboy and the streets and stores carry out the general scheme by decorations of colorful mementoes of the days when cowpunchers came to town but once a month to "howl."
