CONTRACT FOR LIGHTING SLOAN FIELD IS LET THIS WEEK

NIGHT FLYING COMING

Beacon, Obstruction, Boundary Lights Are Included

Contract for lighting Sloan field was let this week, Harvey Sloan, manager, said today. This was done in accordance with plans along the route to provide night flying facilities. Heretofore, planes along the SAFE have been maintaining day flying service only, but, within a limited time the route will be streaked with night flying craft, officials of the company say.

The contract provides for beacon, boundary and obstruction lights. No flood lights are necessary as planes of the SAFE carry their own landing lights. All fields between Big Spring and El Paso will be ready to accommodate night flying planes within three months. On the other section of the route, that from Fort Worth to Big Spring, lights will be ready by Feb. 15, when the night flying is scheduled to begin on the straight run.

Work in installation of the light system is to begin at once here. Crouse-Hinds of Dallas was awarded the contract. Traffic Manager Wood of SAFE said pilots on the line have said repeatedly that Midland and Los Angeles have the best ports on the entire flight from Atlanta to the west coast.

Hold Spotlight in Russia's Queer Trial

While foreign observers strive to separate truth from falsehood in the amazing story of a great European "conspiracy" to make war on Soviet Russia, brought out at the trial in Moscow of eight leaders of the Russian "Industrial Party," citizens of Russia held great parades and demanded their execution. This layout shows pictures of the prominent foreigners named in the "confessions" of some of the accused men as leaders in the "plot" against Russia. No. 1 is the public prosecutor, Nikola Krilenko, who is demanding the death penalty for the Russian prisoners. The others are: No. 2, Colonel T. E. Lawrence of England, famous for his work in Arabia during the war; No. 3, Winston Churchill of England, former cabinet member; No. 4, ex-President Raymond Poincare of France; No. 5, Sir Henri Deterding, head of the great Dutch Shell oil company.

BULL DOGS ARE CHALLENGED

MANIAC ASSISTS FIVE TO ESCAPE INSANE ASYLUM

BEACON, N. Y., Dec. 4. (UP).—An escaped inmate of the Matteawan State hospital for the criminally insane reappeared suddenly at the institution with two associates today, overpowered five guards and attendants and successfully engineered the escape of half a dozen other inmates.

The leader of the plot was said to be William Nelson, burglar for whom the state police has been searching since he disappeared recently.

The Matteawan hospital houses 1,071 inmates and many are considered violent. It is believed that some of the latter are among those who escaped.

The escaped patients included Harry Gordon, Rochester's mad butcher who killed two of his business rivals and injured two more before he was adjudged insane, Frank Danberkeylen, Joseph Kaylor, John Bangill, John Bigins and Anthony Elloy.

Undeclared Midland 11 in Demand by Other Clubs

Following publicity about Midland's undefeated football record and subsequent loss of the district championship through eligibility rulings, challenges for games with the Bull Dogs have come from representative towns in widely separated parts of the state.

Eastland has accepted a game here for Saturday afternoon at 2:30. This is one of the outstanding Class A teams of the Oil Belt loop.

Others who have challenged Midland are Lamesa, McCamey, Grandview, Mineola, Hillsboro and Alpine.

The Grandview team, although from a small town, has won outstanding recognition by defeating some of the larger central Texas Class A eleven. The Mineola team also has a strong record and challenges Midland to come to Fort Worth or Dallas for a game.

These offers are being considered, with possibility of arranging either one more inter-sectional game or with a strong team in this area after the Eastland grid tussle Saturday.

Freakish Calf Born Near Here

Description of a freak of nature seen at Colorado yesterday was given The Reporter-Telegram today by a traveling salesman. A calf, having two heads and two sets of fore feet, was brought in from the Tom Hughes ranch near Colorado. The calf was abnormally large and its delivery was aided by a rope, the mother cow being tied to a post. As a result the calf was dead when born. The owner plans to have a taxidermist mount the odd animal. From the shoulders to the posterior extremities, the calf was of normal shape.

If the usual winter increases are maintained, the number will be increased 50 per cent by February, William Green, president of the federation estimated.

"Unemployment is already as high as in the worst month last winter. The increase from October to November was normal and the change this year about the same as usual," Green said.

PARADE TO START AT 4 O'CLOCK

Trophy Chase Lasts From 7 to 10 in The Evening

The Christmas committee of the Midland chamber of commerce received a letter Thursday from the North Pole reading as follows:

"North Pole, Dec. 4, 1930. 'Messrs. W. Ily Pratt, 'Aubrey S. Legg, 'George Phillipus, 'George D. McCormick. 'Gentlemen:

"I have completed all arrangements to be in Midland county Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock to distribute a small gift to every child in Midland. It pleases me to know that you are to have a big parade. I sure hope all the boys and girls in Midland and other nearby towns in West Texas will be there. I am anxious to see what West Texas boys and girls look like, and I'm so cold up here at the North Pole, I want to get down there in Texas where it's warm. I'll see you tomorrow at 4 o'clock.

"Yours truly, 'Santa Claus."

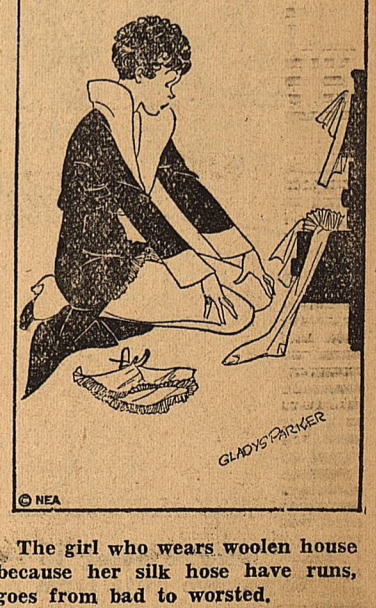

Other committeemen, Kenneth E. Ambrose, Harry L. Haight, Homer Epley, A. B. Anderson, R. D. Scruggs, Marion M. Seymour, Russell E. Schroeder, and John Bonner have finished all plans for the big parade at 4 o'clock and for the trophy chase at 7 o'clock to 10 in the evening. It is hoped that every man and woman, boy and girl will get a trophy number. One was delivered Wednesday to all houses, and another is going out today in The Reporter-Telegram. Additional numbers may be obtained at various stores or the chamber of commerce office by those who have failed to get a number.

Stores will remain open for shopping Friday night to 10 o'clock. A good time is promised for all, as people will be in a holiday mood, and will have plenty of nosemakers.

It is believed between 3,000 and 4,000 people will be on the streets tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. Everybody who can walk wants to join the big crowds to celebrate Christmas season.

The big parade will be headed by the Midland high school band, then will come old Santa Claus, after him the new automobiles, and after them advertising floats or cars, and the stunt cars.

SOMETHING FOR MIDLAND TO ENJOY

Sunday marked the beginning of enjoyment by Midland people of a new post office, a complete new building with new and up-to-date fixtures, large enough to care for the city's postal needs for several years until necessary steps can be gone through to secure here a federal building.

On Saturday of this week, or only six days later, there will be opened formally Midland county's new $300,000 court house, one of the most magnificent and one of the best arranged structures in the state.

What two buildings are more important to the public at large than the post office and the court house? It was merely a coincidence that the two should be completed and opened for use within the same week, but it gives Midland two major events to celebrate and two institutions to enjoy.

With a school plant to compare favorably with any city of the same size in the state, with a city hall and fire station of unusual architectural beauty and usefulness, and now with a new post office and a new court house, Midland has achieved what scores of larger cities or towns would like to be able to within the next ten years. Midland people have something to enjoy.

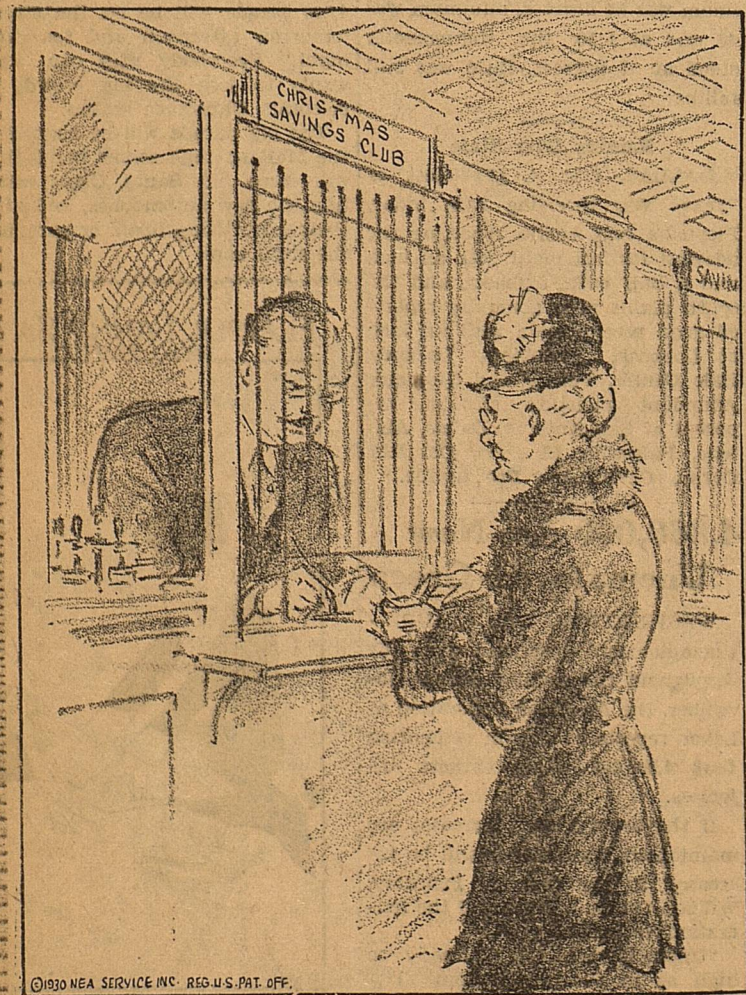

RECOGNIZING STATES' RIGHT

Twice within the week at Washington has that ancient and honorable, though sadly neglected, doctrine of States' rights received invigorating new recognition. When the supreme court ruled that husbands and wives might make separate income tax returns in States with community property laws which divide income and property acquired after marriage equally between the marriage partners, is, set a new precedent of compelling the Federal government to respect State laws. And when President Hoover declared the Federal government would not assume the task of cleaning up Chicago's gangland, declaring it was the function of the State to suppress crime, he likewise espoused the principle of the rights of the States to order their own affairs. The President made it clear he believed it would be an unwarranted intrusion upon the domain of the States for the Federal government to assume leadership in a war on offenders against State laws. At the same time, it is worth nothing, Mr. Hoover stressed the high importance of the States living up to their responsibilities in this matter. He emphasized more the duty of the State than the right of the State. And he put his finger on the key to the solution of the crime problem when he urged the great mass of decent citizenry of the States to co-operate with and back up wholeheartedly their State officers in the latter's efforts to enforce the criminal laws. In every plea for State's rights, there should be incorporated a plea for the performance of State's duties. The two are bound together closely. Most of the rights that have been lost disappeared because of non-performance of some duty.

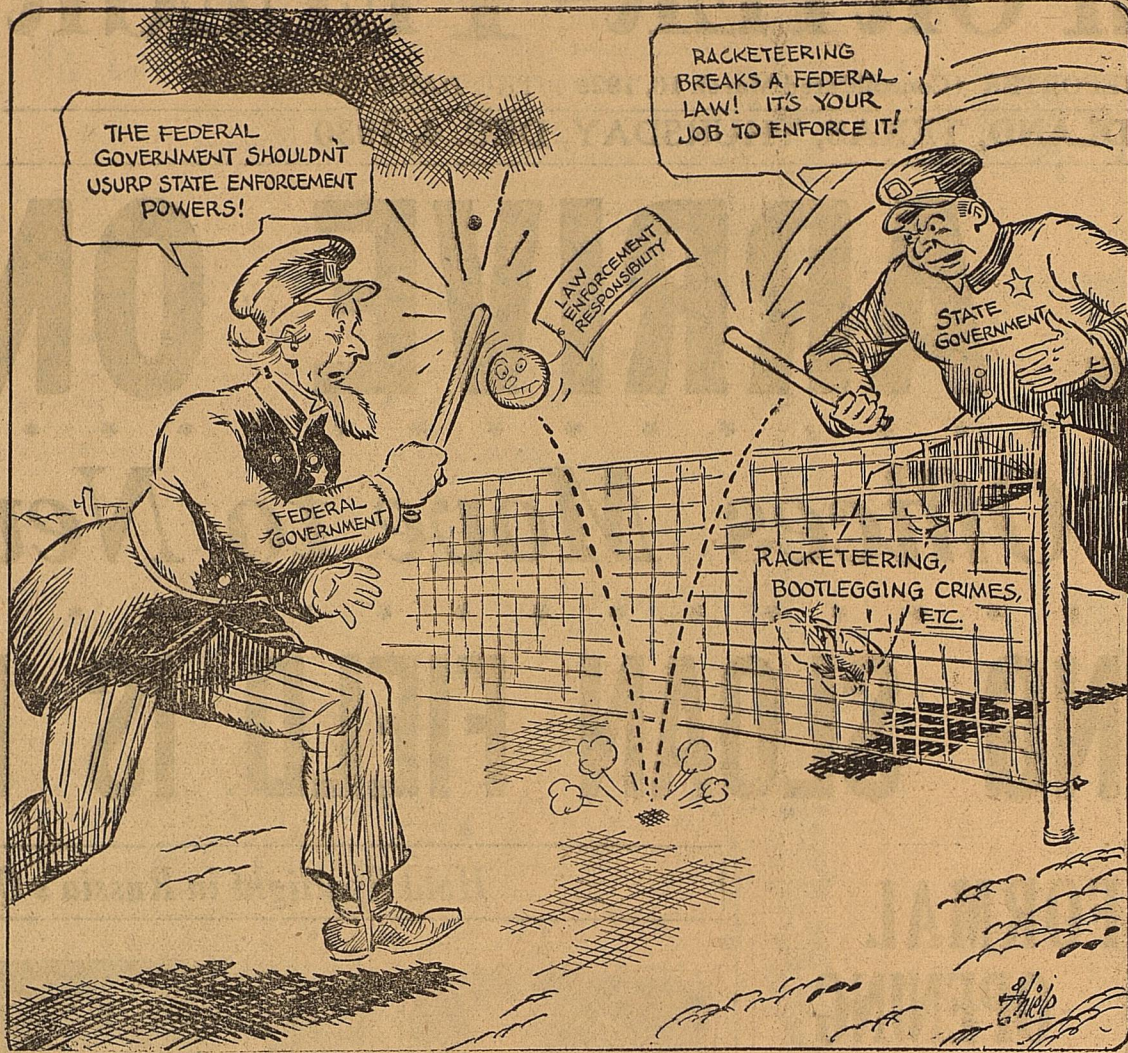

DEBATING THE TARIFF

The debate over the tariff is apparently endless. On one side are the high-protection zealots, who advocate tariff walls that will keep almost all foreign products out of the American market. On the other side are the "free-traders," who advocate a prompt leveling of all duties to allow foreign and domestic producers to compete here and abroad. The trouble with the latter viewpoint is that it overlooks the vast difference between American wages and living standards and those in foreign countries. The trouble with the former is that, once the principle was adopted, the buying public would be forced, in many instances, to pay an exorbitant price for commodities, and interchange of products between nations would suffer a death blow. Wisdom dictates a middle course. By all means protect American workers and industries. But, at the same time, we must remember that now, more than ever before, foreign trade is vital to prosperity.

Lack of Aggressive Leader and Constant, Centralized Warfare in Behalf of Prohibition Is Causing Dissension Among Drys—Fight to Reach Climax in December Convention

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The organized drys, who have watched the Republicans and Democrats parties torn by disagreement about prohibition, also find themselves in a state of dissension and discord. Angry at a lack of able leadership in their movement and the failure to combat the recent wet trend with vigor, prominent drys are coming in December with fire in their eyes. There will be a strong, organized attempt to produce a dry generalissimo comparable in stature to the late Wayne B. Wheeler. The dissatisfied lieutenants in the dry army also hope for a federated agency of their various organizations which will carry on a constant, centralized warfare in defense of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment.

James Cannon of Virginia was to become the recognized spokesman and leader of all drys. But now Cannon lies broken in health, prestige and influence. Few men have collapsed so quickly and completely after rising to what seemed to be heights of power. The malcontents in the dry ranks who now demand genuine leadership and aggressive action include some of the ablest workers for the cause, among them certain state superintendents of the league. Unless drys really unite and fight, they declare, they can consider themselves badly licked. The recent election results, although no cause for despair, they nevertheless believe to have presented a problem as serious as any the drys have faced in the past.

Cattalo--Half Cow, Half Buffalo--Is Developed

By NEA Service TORONTO, Dec. 4.—Cattalo, a hybrid animal resulting from the cross-breeding of buffalo and domestic cattle, promises to become a reliable source of meat in northern Canada where domestic cattle, because of severe climatic conditions, have found it hard to exist. Possessing some of the characteristics of both cow and buffalo, the new type of animal has the meat qualities of beef cattle, and, like its buffalo forbears, is hardy enough to find its own food even in the coldest weather. The latter quality is highly desirable in cattle for the far north. By hunting their own food, the cattalo save settlers the labor of feeding them hay all winter. They can be left out to graze without fear of their becoming lost in the heavy snows. The cattalo is the work of years of experimenting by the Canadian government. Owing to increased population in northern parts of the country, cattle for meat became necessary. And, because ordinary beef animals couldn't withstand rigors of a northern winter, cross-breeding was started with buffalo and cows. Difficult to Breed At first, the direct breeding between buffalo sire and domestic cow involved a number of difficulties. The buffaloes showed a dislike for mixing with cows, and oftentimes, when breeding was successful, the calves were born dead, or males born were found to be sterile. This difficulty necessitated bringing into the picture an animal closely akin to both buffalo and domestic cattle. This is the yak, from the steppes of Siberia and Tibet. The yak acts as the intermediate stage in the progress of developing cattalo. The hide of the cattle is somewhat similar to that of the buffalo. It is heavily-haired and durable, making a warm cover. It is believed that the hide of this new animal will be used to take the place of buffalo robes which have almost become extinct during passing years. A great percentage of meat is carried in the hump of the cattalo, like that of the buffalo, although the hump of the former is not so pronounced as that on the latter. Yet Only an Experiment While the raising of cattalo is not yet an industry on the same scale as that of cattle raising, experiments are going ahead by the government, notably at Wainwright, Alberta, on the large buffalo park there. It takes a number of years for results.

Not a cow, not a buffalo . . . a cattalo

Whether or not there are public fireworks, Dr. McBride will be severely criticized by some delegates to the various conventions. McBride is recognized as sincere and earnest, but his critics say that he is the rural clergyman type, not quite fitted to command a militant dry movement. Friends of the late Wheeler say McBride was made general superintendent by Wheeler so that the latter, holding the post of legislative superintendent, could hold complete control of the dry movement while McBride remained in contented obscurity.

Offended Hoover After his death, they add, McBride insisted on taking over both jobs so that no new legislative superintendent might rise to overshadow him. McBride is said in some way to have offended President Hoover during or near the time of the 1923 campaign, so that relations between the White House and the league—once so close—are now scarcely existent. Recently a movement began to place Congressman Franklin Fort of New Jersey, the dry candidate defeated by Dwight Morrow in the senatorial primary, at the head of a new centralized dry organization. Fort is said to be agreeable, but the movement probably will fall.

Dr. Wilson is also said to hope to command the whole dry cause, but he also has influential enemies, especially in the league. His publicity methods are criticized and some drys object to his "narrowness" in respect to cigarettes, movies and other "evils." Thus far on one man has been put forward by the rebellious group as one fitted for high command. But the sentiments of this group may find strong support among the Protestant churches. Church journals, including some of the most influential, have been critical of the lack of able leadership. May Bolt G. O. P. The Association of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment—there are 31 of them and the association will convene here along with the others—is "dead," according to the insurgents. With no money, no office and no staff, the complaint is, it hasn't done anything. Its most active officer has been P. H. Callahan of Louisville. There will be much excited but private discussion of President Hoover's future attitude toward prohibition. The best informed drys, who still maintain certain White House contacts, believe that Hoover will not associate himself with any modification or repeal movement. But they concede that he may veer somewhat if it seems politically wise late in 1931 or early in 1932.

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

The importance of the comma as a punctuation mark was brought out clearly in an article in the Stanton Maverick publication of the city school. It seems that the president of a school board somewhere or other made a visit to a classroom. The teacher was endeavoring to pound the use of the comma into the heads of the first year English class. One boy couldn't seem to get it. As the board president departed, he patted the boy on the shoulder, saying, "Never mind, sonny, commas don't amount to much anyway." Whereupon the teacher, who was red-headed anyway, blazed up and said, "Yeah?" Then she had the boy go to the board and write, "The president of the school board says the teacher is a fool." Then she continued, "and put a comma after 'board' and a comma after 'teacher.'"

STICKERS

Chicago is said to have 3,400,000,000 eggs in cold storage. When they start popping, there will be another racket in Chicago. Don't know whether the bad eggs we hear about there are included in the above number or not. I did a lot of popping off for a ver's future attitude toward prohibition. The best informed drys, who still maintain certain White House contacts, believe that Hoover will not associate himself with any modification or repeal movement. But they concede that he may veer somewhat if it seems politically wise late in 1931 or early in 1932.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

The choice recipe, which Mrs. W. B. Royer follows in making her delicious fruit cakes, is published for the use of Midland housewives. Take advantage of this splendid opportunity to have a delicious fruit cake for the holiday season. Mrs. Royer was an entrant in the recent Reporter-Telegram fruit cake contest.

White Fruit Cake or 'Imperial Cake'

1 lb. granulated sugar 3-4 lb. butter or other shortening 8 eggs beaten separately—they must be fresh since there is no rising used and the lightness of the cake depends on them) 1-2 lb. citron, chopped fine 1 lb. raisins, whole (seeded) 1 lb. almonds, whole (the lb. in the shell will give about 1-2 lb. when blanched) Grated rind (and one teaspoon of juice) of one lemon 1-2 glass of brandy (or whisky) 1 lb. of flour (no more — no less)

Order of mixing: butter and sugar creamed by hand, or with hand. Then use spoon for balance of mixing. To mixture, add first, the yolks of 8 eggs, and beat well. Add grated rind and juice and a bit of the flour, (use part of the flour to flour the fruit). Add the whisky alternately with the flour until all the whisky is in the batter. Add gradually the fruit with the remainder of the flour. This will be too stiff to stir into smoothness, but fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the 8 eggs till the whole mixture is well mixed.

Bake in funnel pans. The quantity will make quite a large cake or two very good sized small ones, taking from 3-4 of an hour to nearly 2 hours to bake, according to the size of the cake. Try the cake with a broom splint and do not remove from the oven till splint comes out dry for mtesting. When baked let stand out of the oven about 15 minutes before trying to remove from pan.

The cake should not be cut for about two weeks after baking or the almonds will pull out with the knife. After it is seasoned the knife slices through them.—Mrs. W. B. Royer.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Joe E. Brown, Screen Comedian, Doctor's Proverbial Pet

Some persons support musical comedies, they are called "angels"; others support prize fights, they are called promoters; some support doctors, and one of the most famous of these is Joe E. Brown. Brown estimates that if the doctors' bills he has paid during his twenty years on the stage, twenty years spent in being funny by throwing himself from the stage to the orchestra piano for a continuous run of fourteen months, Tuesday and Saturday matinees, would be placed one on top of each other and let down to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean it would have saved him a great amount of money.

During the filming of "Top Speed," First National's musical comedy coming to the Ritz theatre beginning tomorrow Joe E. Brown had the following injuries to prove that being funny was no fun at all.

A scraped nose, chin and forehead for diving deep in shallow water in a motorboat sequence. A turned ankle for jumping from a balustrade twenty feet above ground to get away from the amorous advances of Laura Lee.

Two square inches of necessary and important skin torn from his right shoulder during a shot depicting him fixing an automobile that's supposed to run away while he's still under it.

A bleeding nose from a higher dive than he'd like to have taken. A strained back from being folded up in the hood of a motorboat, a trouble he could have avoided if he knew Director Mervyn LeRoy was going to cut that scene out anyway.

And a tiny bit of a stomachache from eating location food. All of which tends to prove, as Joe E. Brown claims, that the A in S. P. C. A. stands for Actors.

BIG SPRING, Dec. 4.—More than 75 4-H club boys and girls attended the annual banquet here given by the Big Spring chamber of commerce which was held in the banquet room of the Settles hotel. The years work was reviewed by J. V. Bush, county agricultural agent and Mrs. Lucille Allgood, home demonstration agent. Fred E. Keating, member of the agricultural committee and superintendent of the federal experiment station opened the program and spoke on the value of such organizations to the county as a whole. P. D. Rogers, R-Bar club member expressed appreciation on behalf of the club boys and girls for the work done by the chamber of commerce in assisting with projects.

Women's Oil Co. Starting a Rush

HOUSTON, Dec. 4. (P)—The 10-year struggle of an oil company, owned almost entirely by two women, to find paying oil in western Hidalgo county, in the lower Rio Grande valley to all reports has brought bright prospects again after a series of misfortunes stretching back through all the years.

The Fernandez No. 5 is being cleaned out to its total depth of 4,026 feet and it looks according to reports, that oil is coming at last. The No. 5, drilled by the Dayle L. Smith company, controlled by Mrs. Dayle Smith of McAllen and her aunt, Mrs. A. A. Cornell, shook the countryside in January, 1930, with a mighty roar of gas for nearly four days before it was brought under control. Then came one of the "hard luck" incidents that had dogged the company so long. The driller left his charge and went away to sink a wild cat test. Now, ten months afterward, work has been resumed.

The first test, the Daskam No. 1, went down to 2,300 feet early in 1920 without difficulty. Just below that level a 32-foot oil and gas sand was struck. Here the driller announced that the well was ruined and that an offset must be tried. It, too, showed evidences of production—at 2,170 feet—but the jinx became active again. The bailer was lost, it was discovered that the casing had parted at 2,000 feet and could not be straightened. Finally, the derrick was blown down.

The story of the Fernandez No. 1, drilled along the same ridge as the Daskam, furnishes another example of ill fortune. At 2,300 feet a "showing" was encountered, but one morning after the crew had had the night off, a round chunk of iron or steel was found to have closed the hole 250 down. It could not be dislodged.

The Daskam No. 2 got a showing, too, but suddenly water appeared in the sand and the well was abandoned.

Thirteen wells have been tried in the 11 years, and 32 drillers have been employed. The operations have been within an area of 150 square miles.

Overrule Motions Murder Rehearings

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (UP)—The court of criminal appeals today overruled motions for rehearing of two murder cases. It refused Clyde Thompson, who was given the death verdict in Eastland county on a charge of killing A. L. Shook, and also Abraham Lincoln, Greer youth, who was given 99 years for the killing of Nathan Newman in Jefferson county.

NEW TOWN NEAR LAMESA

LAMESA, Texas, Dec. 3. (P)—"Doak" will be the name of a new town on the proposed Texas Pacific and Northern railway line located 19 miles northwest of here in Dawson county.

Citizens of three communities in that section, Pride, Lou and Shacktown, are interested in promoting the new town. The new townsite property is located in one of the best agricultural sections of the lower South Plains.

It was reported applications already have been received for the operating of grocery stores, drug store, lumber yard, gin, cafe and feed store.

Jimmy Smyth, Snyder newspaper editor, wrote Stanton that a 78-piece band from Snyder would be in Stanton, and that Snyder could cut up in various ways. A great automobile caravan is to make the jaunt. A great day in forecast.

Snyder more than a single touchdown better club than the Stanton eleven, however, and claim Stanton has a good chance to romp off with a tight game.

A big crowd from Midland is expected to attend the game in Stanton, as well as representatives from other towns nearby.

Cage Team Notes

That game Saturday night between the Southern Ice and the Methodist Sunday school may be more interesting than it appears in mere announcement form. Buster Howard of the Icemen says his team is a threat for the city championship and Marcos Williamson, who has the Methodists in tow, says he has the makings of the fastest quarter that ever opened Bibles on a Sunday.

Anyway, the Icemen are announcing their crew, but the Methodists are keeping something up the flowered sleeve. They won't say a word about their lineup. Here goes for the Ice crew: Dunn and H. Howard, forwards; B. Howard, center; Riggs and Craft, guards; Pou and S. Howard subs. Looks like a Howard club, at that.

The Reporter-Telegram will wade ahead in the commercial loop unless someone gets going in a hurry. The newsmen have recruited some fast men on the outside, some of them all-state men and letter men from schools that are well known. Other clubs are busy on the outside, as well. The loop may be faster than at first thought.

Hope to be able to see that Stanton-Snyder football game at Stanton Friday. Got a ticket this morning through the courtesy of Pink Robertson, former Stanton all-district man and now on The Stanton Reporter. Thank, Pink. Wishin' your team luck. Might also add that Clude Holly offered me a ticket and that the high school duplicated the offer this morning. They don't forget the scribes over in our neighborhood.

DEADLINE WILL BE SET FOR ENTRY OF CLUBS

Completion of organization of the Midland Industrial league at 7:30 tonight, in the office of the chamber of commerce, is likely to feature the entrance of four or five new teams, it is understood.

Seven teams entered the loop at a Tuesday night meeting. A schedule is to be made out and officials of an advisory council elected. It was pointed out this morning that other clubs can get into the league by being present tonight and making application. Not less than 10 clubs will be in the circuit, it appears. Any business establishment that wants to enter a team should send a representative to the meeting tonight. It is not necessary to recruit a team out of the establishment under which name the team plays; players can be picked up anywhere, just so they are qualified before the advisory board one week before starting of the regular season.

One of the teams, Southern Ice, starts practice games Saturday, in a tilt with the Methodist Sabbath studies. This latter club claims to be the strongest in the church loop and Southern Ice has made it known that the Icemen will have to be considered in the commercial circuit.

Tonight's meeting will begin on time and last less than an hour, if possible.

MIDLAND IS SLATED TO LOSE TO MAVERICKS

Tickets went on sale Wednesday afternoon for the Midland-Eastland football game to be played in Midland's grassy lot Saturday afternoon beginning at 2:30.

The pasteboards are to cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Complimentary tickets were mailed superintendents, principals and coaches of schools over the area.

Splendid weather appears likely for the meeting of the two teams. This would heighten Midland's chances of holding the mighty club of invaders to a lower score. Midland, by the dope, is slated to lose the contest. Eastland finished the Oil belt season in fourth place as regards the opinion of sports scribes, although actual figures rate the club in sixth place.

For the second time during the year, Midland goes into a game rated to lose. The other occasion was the Midland-Colorado game, and Midland scrapped to an even break with the Taylor-coached aggregation, emerging with a scoreless tie. Supporters here say the same thing can be done with the Mavericks from Eastland—but the odds are against such a conclusion.

into the coffee shop the word gets around in some manner no one except club members know, and here they come—almost in a body. Percy Mims, Fred Wemple, Aubrey Legg and Paul Barron get "stuck" more than anyone else in town.

These fellows work a system on the unsuspecting outsider. They shuffle the alphabet and deal themselves out a certain character. Three of them, for instance, may sit down and order coffee. "I'll take p," one will say. "M is good enough for me," another will answer. "Put me down for x," the third says, putting sugar in his coffee. Then they start going over the alphabet. The one who pays is the one who fails to get "hit" by his alphabetical character in the course of rotation. The system works out. One who sits at a given position may know what letters the rotation will result in, and he chooses accordingly.

You Don't Need Toys to Give 'Em

Families who have no children are buying Christmas toys to be distributed by the Midland Welfare association. The first big purchase was made Wednesday.

Bachelors, childless couples, old maids, anybody who wants to make some little heart glad can do it by purchasing toys and taking them to the chamber of commerce office or the Texas Electric Service company and the Welfare association will distribute them.

Eddie Sims, one of the proprietors of the coffee shop, says he has never worked in a town where so many fellows drink coffee during the day. "And I never saw such good fellowship. Fellows learn to drink coffee just so they can sit in on those innumerable sessions the guzzlers hold," he said. "A fellow can be tired out and blue, but if he watches the sly pranks of the guzzlers, watches them shift checks, listens to their jokes and so on, he will be laughing and feeling better in no time. The fellows in business here seem to drown their troubles in the well known extraction of the coffee berry."

Met Sumner Cragin on the streets and he told the best one of the day. "Speaking of the so-called business depression," he said, "one pick-pocket said to another: 'Bo, times is so hard that us in th' nimble fingered profession is takin' IOU's!'"

There goes a group of those girls who will meet at the chamber of commerce office this afternoon at 6 for organization of a women's basketball team. Boys are rated as basketball men on the way they "look." If there's a feminine counterpart to that Midland girls should be playing a regular season—and meeting some classy teams over the country.

We spoke yesterday about toys being brought to the chamber of commerce and Texas Electric Service company, these toys to be repaired and given poor children Christmas. Well, Mrs. R. L. York sent down the biggest bunch of all this morning. Chairs for babies, toys, and a little of everything else, from the looks of things. W. S. Blackman of the Simms Oil company added to the rapidly growing pyramid of cast-off toys by scattering a big bunch right on the top of the heap. There are several fellows who are putting in new toys. They have no babies, but want poor children to have Christmas, anyway.

Do you know J. P. Ferguson of the Texas Electric Service company? A fine fellow. You should meet him. The tip on how to get acquainted? Just call the service company and say you have some toys to donate to the Christmas fund for the poor. Ferguson's car will be at your door as fast as the speed laws will allow. He has done a great work for charity.

Clay Floyd got industrious and built a garage for the family car. But Clay must have read the wrong book on carpentry. His best friends say the author's name was a gentleman named Chick Sales. At any rate, the garage looked good but it was too short for the car. Wouldn't that slay you?

The Rotary club this morning decided it would really outfit a scout troop. A man will "adopt" a boy, give the boy work to pay out his uniform, etc. What could be better? When a club does a thing like that it impresses the public more than through any number of speeches that the club is a service rather than a luncheon gathering.

Waterfront Fire Damage $500,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (UP).—A spectacular waterfront oil fire starting with the explosion of a gigantic tank of the Pratt works of the Standard Oil company caused a $500,000 damage here today. Two-hundred thousand gallons of gasoline, crude oil, turpentine and 18 tanks were destroyed. Piers, fireboats, barges and a tanker in East river were damaged.

"BAD MAN" SAYS HE CAN CLEAN UP CHICAGO

ALBUQUERQUE. (UP).—Chicago can be cleaned up by one man—but Texas rangers can't do the job.

You can take the word of ElFego Baca for that. ElFego knows a lot about Texas. He once held 80 cowboys at bay for 48 or 59 hours of thereabouts, cooked himself a hearty meal in a fire enveloped jaal and got his regular sleep while keeping the Texas wolves from the door. In case you don't know your New Mexico history, you won't know ElFego. Historically speaking he is the last of New Mexico's bad men.

Mostly he was right when he was bad, he will tell you, but a bad man just the same. He had nine notches on his gun when he ran out of notch space. He was tried for murder so many times juries got into the habit of returning not guilty verdicts.

He knows little about Chicago, but lots about law enforcement, and like the contemporary bad man of his youth, "Billy the Kid," thinks a gun makes all men equal.

These Chicago bad men one hears about can't be so bad, he thinks. Certainly no worse than the gunmen they had in New Mexico back in the days when he was sheriff of Socorro county.

And at that time ElFego didn't think they were bad. In fact he didn't even bother to go out and get his bad men. He wrote them a letter telling them to come in. Then if they didn't come he went after them.

Now ElFego has been reading of the Chicago-Texas controversy. "Poof," he says, regarding Texas claims that a Texas ranger and a few policemen could clean up Chicago.

He's certain that if it's a one man job—he's the man. For the past few years ElFego, now past 60, has been wasting away for excitement—the most he could get was to run for judge.

If Chicago wants a cleanup, ElFego will dust off his sixshooters and start it. The salary, he says, he will leave to Chicago, just whatever they think it is worth.

Marrs Rules City Pay County Salary

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (UP).—S. M. N. Marrs, state school superintendent, today ruled that city school districts must pay their proportionate share of county school superintendents.

The ruling was made in the case of the city of Austin and applies to all cities. The Austin case was a test.

The decision will be protested and placed before the state board of education. If the state board sustains Marrs, a court test will be made.

Cities contend that county superintendents have nothing to do with the city schools and that city school taxes cannot be used to help pay such salaries. Marrs claims that the schools are state institutions and must pay.

Intercedes; Gets Stabbed in Fight

RIO GRANDE CITY, Dec. 4. (P).—Mauricio Lopez, carpenter, was fatally stabbed with a hunting knife while attempting to separate two brothers who were fighting. A Robstown man is held in jail pending investigation.

Civil Case Not Decided by Noon

District court today was holding the Driesell vs Garza civil case before a jury. No decision had been reached early this afternoon.

A. L. Cope received a one-year penalty on a charge of liquor law violation by a jury Wednesday afternoon.

The R. C. Crabb vs. Pruitt case, which was slated for Wednesday, was continued until the February term.

Alup Denies Framed Poly Bank Robbery

DALLAS, Dec. 4. (P).—John Alup, former policeman, charged with killing two negroes to collect a dead bank bandit reward, today testified his denial to framing the robbery of the First State bank of Polytchnic, Fort Worth, in which the negroes were killed.

The present trial is on a charge of killing the negro, George Terrell. Alup was previously sentenced to 20 years on the charge of killing the other negro, Will Tate.

BASEBALL PREXY DIES

By treating ordinary bees with ultra-violet rays, the U. S. Department of Agriculture hopes to develop a new race of bigger and stronger honey gatherers.

Market Report

NEW YORK.—Cotton market displayed moderate rallying tendencies today following break yesterday of almost dollar per bale and prices firmed up around noon to gains of about 50 cents bale. Sentiment not as bearish as in previous session and early gains of about 5 points were extended. Many bears were of opinion that list had been hammered down to bottoms and selling from this faction slowed down local professionals covered for the bureau report on Monday Dec. 3, and gave list firm undertone.

NEW OCEANIC AIRMAIL LINE TO BE STARTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (P).—The postoffice department Saturday announced steps toward inauguration of a transatlantic airmail service, saying bids would be opened here Dec. 29, one month from Sat. for an airmail route from New York via Norfolk, Virginia, or Charleston, South Carolina, then Hamilton, Bermuda, and the Azores or some other practicable route to a point in Europe designated by Postmaster-general Brown, the contract to run 10 years, beginning June 1, 1931.

Favors a Cash Price on Crime

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 4. — C. W. Burr, former chaplain of the federal penitentiary has a unique prison punishment plan.

Burr would place a cash value on every crime, and make the criminals work it out.

For example: Burglary would cost the criminal $10,000. He would go to work at the state penitentiary and work it out on the basis of daily wages.

Murder would cost so much that the criminal could never work it out. Nevertheless he would have to go on working and the proceeds of his labor would be given to the relatives of victims or dependents.

The former chaplain feels that he also believes that the underlying and made 100 per cent productive. He also believe that the underlying theory of criminal punishment is wrong. Vengeance on wrongdoers is the prevailing thought now, whereas it should be restitution. Burr is emphatically opposed to the whipping post idea put forth by several noted criminologists.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH

JURIST'S WIFE DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 4. (AP).—Mrs. Duval West, wife of Federal Judge Duval West, died suddenly at their home here today. She had just returned from treatment in California.

DEPOSITS OLD MONEY

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Dec. 3. (P).—More than $1,000 in currency withdrawn from circulation when the owner started saving it at home, was deposited in a bank here recently, and caused much comment among the bankers handling it.

There were silver certificates, certificates of deposit, bank notes and treasury certificates. One $20 bill was issued by the San Angelo National bank and the number was 1509, indicating it was issued early after the bank was organized. The art work and pictures on the currency were those of a different day, some dating back to the seventies.

SUPER-SPEED PLANE

BERLIN.—A super-speed airplane is believed to be under construction in the plants of the Junkers Company. It is thought this plane will be capable of making more than 500 miles an hour at an altitude of 40,000 feet. The secret of the speed lies in the high altitude which will offer little resistance to the plane. Rumors are that the plane will attempt to make a Germany-U. S. flight in six hours.
