Only one run-off in the Midland county political race was left from Saturday's balloting, the electorate getting its heads together and voting clear-cut wins in every case except that of county attorney.

Walter K. Wilson lead Joseph A. Seymour in this race 848 to 517, with Sam K. Wasaff bringing up third with 466. Wilson thus lacked 135 votes of polling the strength of Seymour and Wasaff combined.

Completion of the Precinct 1, city of Midland, count was announced Sunday afternoon.

Only two Midland county races were uncontested: those for county clerk, county surveyor, and one precinct race, that of Commissioner of Precinct 3.

The district race of B. Frank Haag for representative could not be determined, Haag's office being closed termined, Haag's office being closed termined, Haag's office being closed in the county, G. G. Toler, incluming the property of the Midland was intensely interested in the congressman race from this district. A telegram from the El Paso Herald-Post said no count by counties was available early this afternoon, but that Ewing Thomason had been elected. For senator from this district, Ken Regan and Benjamin Franklin Berkley probably will be in a run-off.

The El Paso county report read: For Thomason 10,131; for Jackson 4,240; for Regan 6,027; for Berkely 3,491; for Fuller 2,462; for Stewart 1,389.

McKinnon and Seth Pike in the run-off for constable. Lowrie Fletcher led for county commissioner of Precinct 4 over J. B. Sneed, incumbent.

A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater won for district judge of the 37th judicial district over James T. Brooks and C. P. Rogers, both of Big Spring. Sheriff Jess Slaughter was relected to his third term, winning over Miller Nichols 2466 to 880.

Anderson Bailey was reelected over J. Black for tax assessor, 1893 to 561.

HAAG LEADS COTTEN IN LEGISLATIVE RACE

Although incomplete reports indicated that B. Frank Haag was well in the lead of the four candidates for representative of the 88th legislative district, a run-off between lative district, a run-off between Haag and J. B. Cotten of Crane appeared necessary.

Final figures were not available today, although Haag had carried Midland, Ector, Reeves, and Martin counties, the bulk of the vote. J. B. Cotten claimed to have carried Crane, Andrews, Upton, Loving and Winkler counties, and expected final results to show him in the lead in Ward county. The district is composed of 13 counties.

W. E. Reid of Fort Stockton car-posed of 13 counties.

W. E. Reid of Fort Stockton carried Pecos county, with Cotten second, he taking the greater vote at Iraan, Cotten said this afternoon by telephone. Bill Granger carried Presidio and Jeff Davis counties.

Counties in which returns were obtained showed the following for the leaders:

Midland: Haag 1175, Cotten 376. Ector: Haag 343, Cotten 190. Crane: Haag 169, Cotten 327.

Bread and Bonds

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (UP) — A STATE DEPARTMENT shabbily dressed man went begging from door to door, asking for bread, or anything the housewife might give him to eat. To officers who questioned him, he said his name was Fred Butze, hitch-hiking his way across the country.

He was carrying with him a metal box, and one of the officers examined it. In the box were three loaves of bread—and $1,000 in bonds, postal savings certificates and cash.

Indian Maid's Plan Of Elopement Foiled

Searching parties, hunted through the woods, in nearby buildings, in fields on the family farm. District and state police were called. A state-wide broadcast was sent out.

Eight hours later two of the searchers passed a hay mow on the Varner farm. They decided to give it a careful scrutiny. Buried deep in the hay they found Orpha fast asleep.

It seems doubtful that Hitler's in the Reichstag, but if the Nationalists and other conservative and anti-republican forces join them the Nazis can rule that body.

Then, assuming that Hitler could bring his allies to support him, he would have the right to demand that President Hindenberg call upon him and his friends to form a new cabinet. This doubtless would mean that Hitler himself would be the new chancellor.

Washington seems to be in progress, and few Americans will regret it. But while the break-up of the embattled bonus marchers goes forward, it is worth while to toss a bouquet, and a good big one at that, to the Washington police force for its wise handling of a very difficult problem.

The bonus marchers presented the police of the national capital with a ticklish situation. Here were several thousand men, all of them deeply disgruntled, practically all of them broke, all of them determined to impress their will on the national government. Radical elements were doing their best to stir up trouble. Had the police of certain the same the same takes have been in effect for several weeks, but it is probable even now that many persons do not realize the multitude of ways in which they claim toll from American pocketbooks every day. The reason for this is that many of the new levies are "manufacturers' sales taxes," in which the tax must be paid originally by the manufacturer and is therefore concealed in an increased sale price for the article.

A clear way to show the multiplicity of these new federal taxes (but by no means all of them) is to take an average day in the life of an average man. You will see that he may be called on to pay taxes to Uncle Sam twenty-five times a day:

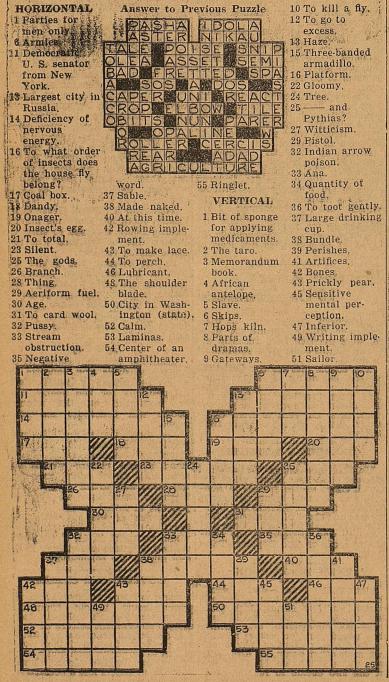

1.—He arises and takes his mornthem with the hard-boiled attitude that police of certain other cities have displayed in the face of demonstrations by the unemployed, a disastrous clash would have been almost inevitable.

That such a clash never materialized speaks volumes for the intelligence and patience of the Washington po-

Milady's furs also are taxed.

A night club party cannot prorate the check so as to dodge the tax by increasing the exemption, for Uncle Sam's law prohibits this. But if a man goes to a night club, eats his meal and leaves before the show begins—or is seated where he can neither see nor hear the entertainers, he does not have to pay the tax on amusements.

The dead negro was a drummer with Frenchy's orchestra. Witnesses said the woman shot him over the heart with a pistol, took a shot at Wright Beatty, another negro who tried to take her gun, that Richard Brown, negro, stepped on her hand and tried to take the gun away from her. Another negro, Henry Beatty, took the gun and she rushed him with a knife, forcing him to throw the gun at her, whereupon she caught up the revolver again and "cleared" the house.

She was arrested by Sheriff A. C. Francis soon after the shooting.

Beautiful Sidney

And Fred at Yucca

Cleo Lucas' popular novel, "I, Jerry, Take Thee, Joan," has been dramatized and now becomes the costarring vehicle for Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March, two of Hollywood's younger favorites.

Paramount assigned to Edwin Justus Mayer the task of converting Miss Lucas' story into dramatic form, which is now presented under the paradoxical title of "Merrily We Go to Hell," at the Yucca today for the last showing.

Mayer, an accomplished scenarist and playwright, realizing the popularity of social dramas depicting fashionable life and the escapades of modern irresponsible youth, adheres closely to the trend of the original story. His professional touch is revealed however in the dramatic settings and forceful action he has given to the play.

In the picture, March becomes Jerry, a brilliant but irresponsible tourt.

Each couple pays a dollar. They usually work throughout the hunt two couples to the car, and the winning party—that is, the first four some that solves the clues and gets back first—takes the pot.

With the hunters assembled before him, one of the hosts reads out the first clue. It will be something easy, such as "A Pearl before Swine." There is a rush toward automobiles and the hunters are off.

Miss Sidney, as Joan, a daughter of wealthy parents, falls for March, who is affable and charming even when in his cups. Later she marrieshim in spite of family objections.

She then finds that she has to check her own headstrong course to keep Jerry from utter dissolution.

She is helped in this direction, somewhat, when March loses his job. Sober, he writes a play which is a great success. But March can't stand success. He celebrates so disgracefully that she leaves him and returns to her home in Chicago. A later reconsiliation is utterly destroyed when March, quite "biffed," is caught by Sylvia affectionately kissing Adrianne Allen, who was his former college sweetheart.

JAPAN IS BEST FITTED TO RULE MANCHURIA, SAYS

Hartland, Conservative members of Parliament for Norwich, a student of Far Easten Affairs since he visited the Far Easten Affairs since he visited the Far East, as long ago as 1908.

"As far back as 1908." he said, "one could almost 'feel' the difference in control when traveling from Russia under the Czars into Japanese spheres of control. I can still remember scenes at the rails yas stations en route. In Russia, pandemonium, so to speak, reigned everywhere. Officials rushed neer and there, getting in and out of trains. Passengers got in cars, then hurriedly stepped out, obviously uncertain as to the destination of the train they had been told to enter."

"What a difference," he continued, "to see the small but efficient Japanese officials direct their pepple quickly, quietly and in perfect harmony. The difference in system was obvious. One did not have to consult signboards to find out whether one was in one country or another."
