WORKERS TO MEET TUESDAY

Luncheon at Noon to Be Part of Local Entertainment

Preparations for entertaining more than 100 visiting Baptists and a large number of local members of that church at the workers' conference of the Big Spring Baptist association here Tuesday were under way today by committees of women.

It was expected that the conference would draw a larger crowd than usual, at this season, and a constructive meeting was expected.

The conference opens at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist church. The monthly conference sermon and reports of committees are expected to take up most of the morning session.

Hospitals, missions, Mexican mission work and other special subjects will be discussed. A special program of women's work will be given.

At noon, a luncheon will be served to the visiting Baptists and to local members of the church, at the church building. Local committees said today that all Baptists of Midland are urged to attend the luncheon and all of the meetings.

The Big Spring Baptist association comprises Howard, Martin, Glasscock and Midland counties.

May Start Engines Unless Wind Blows

Ranchmen Sunday were preparing to go out and start gasoline engines if comparatively still weather prevailed. Late last week there was little wind and in some instances water was getting low in ground tanks.

Considerable attention was focused on Mr. Proctor at the Stamford meeting. He was the oldest oldtimer there and showed that he can still sit in the saddle with the best of them.

Youthful Leo Brady, Defending Champion of the West Texas Net Tourney, Loses First Set to Veteran from Denton

The steady placement game of Thomas McCarty of Denton appeared at 10 o'clock this morning to be in a fair way to win in singles finals of the West Texas Tennis tournament here over the flashy and youthful Leo Brady, defending champion from Abilene.

The first set had gone 8-6 for the Denton player and he appeared to have a slight edge on the breaks of the match.

Doubles in Afternoon

Women's finals were decided Sunday afternoon, Miss King of Carlsbad winning the singles, 7-5, 6-0, from Miss Lanham of Midland, and Miss King paired with Miss Neely of Winters in the doubles winning over Mrs. George T. Abell and Mrs. Bill Blackman of Midland, 6-4, 6-4.

Midland Puncher Honored by Group

L. C. Proctor, prominent Midland cattleman, was elected vice president of the Old Time Cowpunchers organization at its meeting June 25, 26 and 27 at Stamford, Texas.

This organization is composed of men 50 years and older and is a permanent institution. A kindred organization was formed at Stamford by younger cattlemen for the purpose of "filling in" when the ranks of the older men become depleted.

SAFE BLOWERS GET $12,000 IN PARIS ROBBERY

PARIS, July 5, (UP)—With local officers in hot pursuit, two safe-blowers this morning escaped with $12,000 taken from the safe of the Pete Humphries grocery store here. More than half was cash, the rest being checks and jewelry.

Passing officers saw men leaving the building and chased them out of town, exchanging shots, but the men escaped. Officers returned and found the door blown from the safe with nitroglycerin.

Former Midlander Dies at Arlington

Mrs. Lucy Cross, aged 87, passed away Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Horton, in Arlington, and was buried there Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Cross lived in Midland for more than 30 years, moving to Arlington with the Horton family about eight years ago. They lived for many years on the old Cross ranch, south of the present Scharbauer Cattle company No. 1 place, about 15 miles southwest of Midland.

While riding a horse on his New Mexico ranch near Carrizozo, J. V. Stokes Sr. was thrown and suffered a broken arm.

Psychology and the almost perfect iron game of J. Ellis Cowden, Midland's No. 1 golfer, beat Dick Harrison, near sensational mashie wielder of Fort Stockton and San Angelo, in the championship flight finals of the First Annual Midland Country Club tourney here Sunday afternoon.

When Cowden drew his tee shot on the first hole of the 18-hole match to the sand trap in the left rough and then hit a No. 4 shot 100 yards and parred the hole, then sank a 145-yard 6-iron shot on the second for an eagle three, Harrison was beat—without knowing it. While he played sensational golf in spots, he was able to par only two holes on the first round, and came to the turn four down on the Midland golfer. Cowden, on the other hand, parred five holes and took one eagle on the outgoing nine.

One the home nine, it appeared Harrison had overcome the psychology. Cowden took the tenth hole, but Harrison came back to halve the eleventh, take the twelfth and thirteenth and halve the fourteenth. On the next hole, however, he was in the traps in his second shot and, before he could hole out, had taken a seven, which restored Cowden to a medal lead of five strokes.

Aside from the unusual first and second hole play of Cowden, play up to the turn was just good play, with Cowden shooting a 38 and Harrison holing out on the ninth in 42. Wind of the sensational shots of the first round got around, and the gallery increased for the in round.

Cowden started the in round with a drive straight down the fairway. Harrison sliced his shot badly to the rough. Cowden topped his brassie shot straight towards the flag, but Harrison pulled his shot to the opposite rough. Cowden's approach shot was ironed to within two feet of the pin, and Harrison got his approach shot almost to the edge of the green. He was on in four and two-putted, giving Cowden the hole with a par five.

On his tee shot on the eleventh, Cowden hooked to the rough, the ball stopping in the high grass 200 yards down. Harrison hit his ball 250 straight up the fairway. Cowden made a nice recovery shot with his two iron. His third shot was green high, in the trap, but he used his niblick to good advantage, approaching to within a foot of the cup, holing out with a five, to halve the hole with Harrison, whose second shot was pulled to the rough and whose third shot, a pitch to the green, rolled off the treacherous hills.

Both players pulled to the rough near the 200-yard stake on the next hole. Cowden's iron shot was not longer than 25 yards, the ball clipping the tops of the grass and weeds to barely reach the fairway. Not bothered by the pressure, however, he dropped his spoon shot so close and straight to the green that it rolled on and stayed. Harrison's second wood shot was 50 feet short of the green, his third, a seven iron, was inches short of the green. He holed out in a five. Cowden three-putted, however, to lose the hole with a six.

Both kept their tee shots on the thirteenth hole down the center of the fairway. Harrison getting 250 yards, Cowden 100 yards less. Cowden's iron shot landed and stuck in the top of a bunker the locks of the green, but Harrison was within a yard of the cup with his second shot. Cowden lost when it required him two putts to hole out, while Harrison holed out in a birdie three.

The fourteenth, 150 yards, was halved, with a couple of par-threes. Harrison's mashie shot was high and straight. It fell on the green (See GOLF TOURNEY page 4)

COWDEN MEDAL WINNER

70 in the Qualifying Rounds; Yearly Affair Seen

Midland golfers won team play at the First Annual Midland Country Club Golf tourney, and J. Ellis Cowden, Midland's first ranking player, won the championship in medal play from the Fort Stockton sensation, Dick Harrison.

Midland team players were Ellis Cowden, Billy Moran, H. S. Ferguson and C. L. Jackson. A big trophy was won and will be kept on display at the club house.

The tournament was a decided success. Forty-four golfers were in the finals, arranged in four flights. They were paired according to qualification medal play on Saturday. Midland golfers qualified, for the most part, Thursday and Friday of last week, in order to leave the course to visiting golfers who wanted to qualify in large numbers. A total of 70 qualified.

Officials of the country club are pleased with the prospect of continuing the tournament each year over the Fourth of July, several said in interviews late Sunday evening. Plans will be made earlier next year with expectations of an even greater number of visiting golfers. It was pointed out that the Abilene tournament kept many from coming here this year, that and the fact that invitations were sent out rather late.

Final flights, with the championship flight included, together with scores for the qualifying 18 holes and the 18 holes of medal play (which were added) follow:

Proposal That Mellon Be Impeached Put to Legion Convention Held in City

E. E. (Pat) Murphy, San Angelo who opened the executive session of the Sixteenth District American Legion convention in the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer with an effective speech, Sunday, suggested that the attitude of Secretary of the class led by Paul T. Vickers. Devotional services were conducted for the veterans at the First Methodist church where Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun gave "the boys" a real message to be remembered.

A dinner was served to the legionnaires and auxiliary members by Scharbauer Hotel Coffee Shop at 12:30 which was attended by the entire delegation present numbering some 150 legionnaires and auxiliary members.

Goodman Welcomes

Mayor Leon Goodman, a prominent legionnaire, delivered the address of welcome and Buddy Grigg, of El Paso, made an appropriate response. "Wild Tom" Sarber, adjutant of the legion post of El Paso, invited the Sixteenth district to attend the department convention to be held in his city August 24-26.

He emphasized the fact that during the state convention the Rio Grande would be boarded over so no semblance of a river would be apparent and El Paso and Juarez would appear as one. Legionnaires were given the assurance that the governor of Chihuahua would extend the hands of welcome to all of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces.

To Organize Women

Miss Florence Kline, district executive committee-woman called a meeting of the legion auxiliary and gave instructions for completing organization of the local auxiliary post for which a charter has just been recently received. Miss Kline also outlined the purposes of the auxiliary, particularly in reference to the hospitalization of disabled veterans and the care of war orphans. The absence of Midland women at this meeting was quite noticeable. The reason for this failure in attendance was explained and Midland promises one of the strongest auxiliary posts in the district.

Sunday Busy Day

Sunday, the second and final day of the convention, was a busy period for legionnaires. The day opened at 9:45 a. m. when the delegates attended Midland's famous Men's Bible

SENTENCING SCARFACE

Al Capone's lawyer has carefully explained to Federal Judge Wilkerson in Chicago that it would be beyond all precedent for Capone to get more than three years in prison on his income tax and prohibition law indictments.

Under the law, the judge could impose a maximum sentence of 32 years. But, as Capone's lawyer has pointed out, no one who pleaded guilty to an income tax violation has ever been sentenced to more than 18 months, and that term is also close to the maximum ever imposed following a plea of guilty to violation of the liquor law.

Consequently, the judge was told, it would be terribly unfair if Capone were to get more than about three years altogether.

This makes a perfectly sound argument, as far as it goes. The only trouble with it is that there are exceptions to all rules; and Capone is one of the most striking exceptions that the federal courts will ever be asked to deal with.

Capone has become more than just a law breaker, more than just another gang leader. He has become the personification of organized crime in the United States. For nearly a decade his name has stood for desperate, insolent lawlessness. By his very existence he has served notice on the rest of the country that organized government in a large American city can come perilously close to a complete breakdown.

Nor is that all. Capone has stood for more than organized crime. He has been the supreme exponent of the "fix." He has had enormous political power in Chicago. His influence has reached into high places. If that were not so he could not have carried on his activities for six months.

Now, for the first time in his life, the law has struck him a body blow. Some of the best defective work ever seen on the continent has landed him at the bar of justice. The federal government itself has stepped in to end his career.

Suppose, though, that he escapes with a short sentence. Every gangster in Chicago—and a whole host of honest citizens as well—will assume, rightly or wrongly, that the power of the "fix" is still with him. It will be taken for granted that his influence reaches not only the authorities at Chicago but the power of the United States government as well.

The damage that such a development could do would be almost incalculable.

Which is why the argument of the scarface's expensive lawyer is a little bit less than convincing.

ALFONSO HAS A GOOD TIME

Some of the recent news photographers lead one to suspect that ex-King Alfonso of Spain doesn't feel nearly as unhappy over the revolution as might have been imagined.

The newspapers the other day printed a picture showing Alfonso on the sidelines at a polo match in London. One of the players had just been hurt and was slumping down in a chair, and Alfonso, last of the Bourbons, was bustling around eagerly ministering to him and lighting for him, with own formerly royal hands, a cigaret.

This is a very little thing; yet, when you consider that a king could never, under any circumstances, light a cigaret for anyone else, it must have been rather funny. Alfonso, freed of the restrictions of a crown, seems to be having a very good time. He is actually free to wait on someone else if he wants to!

It was funny Saturday afternoon, to see the difference in the way the horses were handled after the races. Until that time, each time a horse was used either for a race or for a workout, when he was unsaddled there would be a lengthy cooling out process. Saturday, when a horse was through for the day, the trainer or whoever took him to the barn would turn him loose and hit him with the bridle.

We are getting out early today so we can observe a holiday with the rest of the town. We took part of a holiday Saturday and all we had to do was to work a good part of Saturday night to catch up.

There are all sorts of tricks to getting out a newspaper, just as there are in horse racing.

When I went to work early this morning, it was generally reported that there wouldn't be any horse races this afternoon. They had hoped to get up a good program of races for the benefit of clerks who couldn't get off Friday and Saturday, but it seems that too many of the horses were gone Sunday morning when some of the boys went to make up the program. They said it was pretty hard to run horse races if you didn't have any horses and I guess they were right.

Two days of races were run on the streets and in the hotel lobbies yesterday and were getting off to a good start early this morning.

I am asked by the editor, who won the Jelly Bean handicap both days, to advise the public that he will not give up the newspaper business.

Cotton Wrappers For Cotton Now

AUSTIN.—Farmers may obtain cotton wrappers for their bales this year without penalizing themselves as a result of efforts of the association for the Increased Use of Cotton.

J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture and vice president of the national association, reported today that cotton mills of the south are "lining up enthusiastically" behind the proposal that they allow seven pounds extra weight to be added to all bales wrapped in standard 100 per cent cotton bagging, the added weight to offset the difference in weight between the jute and cotton bagging. This weight difference has been the principal barrier to the substitution of cotton for jute in making bagging.

The association first presented the matter of the seven pounds allowance to Cason J. Calloway, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers association. Mr. Calloway not only agreed to make the allowance at mills with which he was connected, but sent a letter to all cotton mills in the south, requesting that they do likewise.

McDonald was informed today by Harold C. Booker, Columbia, S. C., secretary of the association, that enough mills have reported their willingness to grant this extra weight to assure success of the plan. "It is now squarely up to the farmers to demand that their cotton be wrapped in cotton bagging," McDonald said, "and thus use up many thousand bales of cotton this fall which have been helping to depress the market. It is very conservatively estimated that 65,000,000 pounds of additional cotton will be consumed of this type of bagging, is generally adopted and used. Surely everyone in the South can see that this will have its effect on the market."

COSTLY BUSINESS

LONDON.—Prof. C. Delisle Burns has delivered a report which has caused no little concern in England. He says that this country is spending $1,000,000 a year in preparation of poisons and gases for a new war. Two hundred of the best chemists of the United States are also engaged in this report, he informs. He cites figures of the Earl of Lytton which show that the world is spending more than $4,500,000 a year on armaments.

'T WAS ALL IN FUN DELAWARE, Ohio—Students of Ohio Wesleyan university were treated to a colorful pajama parade by hundreds of the school's co-eds. In return, male members of the school donned their best "p. j's" and trooped up to the girls' dormitories. They were met at the door by a night watchman and a stream of water from a fire hose. They succeeded in overpowering the waterman, however, gave him a drizzling and went on with their parade.

Frijoles Favorite Dish of Texas Housewives

Frijoles are the State of Texas favorite dish, according to information obtained from 2,004 Texas housewives by Ralph Hitz, managing director of the Hotel New Yorker in New York City.

The New Yorker Bureau of Food Research, founded by Mr. Hitz, to advance the cause of American cookery, obtained the favorite recipes of more than 100,000 women in a nation-wide survey to discover the dishes that tempt American appetites. The favorite dishes are being prepared in the New Yorker testing kitchens and the recipes adapted to volume production.

The favorite recipes of Texas housewives for Frijoles is as follows: Boil four cups of dry red beans until almost done (you can test by piercing); then add one small can of tomatoes and a dash of chili powder. After cooking for several hours until completely done, slice and fry two large onions until slightly brown, add to beans and serve. No accessories go along with Frijoles, unless a dry steamed rice might be liked. All Texans count this one of the best dishes in the world, according to the comments attached to the recipes. Canned red kidney beans may be substituted and save the time of cooking the dry beans, although the flavor will never be the same.

"It is a lamentable fact that only a few American dishes have become world-famous," says Mr. Hitz. "Virtually every well-known American hotel and restaurant is manned by French or German cooks, while the United States has not produced a single famous cook. This is due, perhaps, to the fact that we consider cooking merely as a trade, a means of making a living, while in France, for instance, the great cooks are heroes, as highly regarded by the populace as we look upon Babe Ruth or Lindbergh."

Cause of Child's Misbehavior Is Asked by Nurse

Do you ever stop to ask yourself if you are to blame for your child's misbehavior?

This is a question asked parents by Miss Bredemeier, county nurse, who is spending much of her time in conference with parents on the problems of their children.

Miss Bredemeier asks the following questions of parents whose children misbehave:

Do you lose your temper when your child misbehaves? Perhaps his temper is a reflection of yours.

When you are angry, do you shout at him endlessly, Stop, Don't, Be Quiet, Come here or Get down?

Perhaps you talk before your child or his fearful temper and his naughtiness.

Do you encourage clinging, dependent attitude in your child so that he has a tantrum when you leave him?

Do you scold today for what you allowed yesterday?

Do you refuse a child's wish without explanation or punish the child without his knowing why?

The Story Behind the Story of the World Flight; Post a Fearless Man

BY DEXTER H. TEED
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, July 6.—Wiley Post the iron-nerved Oklahoman who piloted the Winnie Mae on her epochal world-girdling flight, is a fatalist.

He fears nothing—not even death. Face to face with the grim reality of pushing forward across the bleak and almost uncharted wastes of land and water of the northern Pacific, he was not afraid. His philosophy is that it was all determined in advance. If he failed—he failed. If he died—he died. So be it.

As he and Harold Gatty zoomed away from Siberia over the seas where ships are almost never seen, Post had his plan all made. If fate decreed that the motor should die and force them to descend on the ocean, he knew exactly what his would do.

"If that should happen I am set to nose her down and end it all with a dive straight into the water," he had said. "None of this hours of struggling and living death for me. I know what it means to drop in the ocean there."

This unusual quirk in Post's make-up was revealed for the first time today by Stanley W. Kirsch of Meriden, Conn., mechanic who prepared the plane's Wasp engine for what has been the most grueling test in aviation history.

F. C. Hall

Men Behind the Scenes

F. C. Hall, wealthy Oklahoma oil operator who backed the flight, and Kirsch are the two men "behind the scenes" who played leading parts in making the world flight possible. Kirsch has known Post intimately for years.

Nothing worried Post. Not even before the flight. Gatty lost 15 pounds while waiting for the day of the take-off at Roosevelt Field. They lived in a hotel at Mineola, seldom going out except to visit the field. Post usually flopped down in a chair and rested and when other visitors suggested he go out and get some exercise Post shrugged his shoulders and said:

"What do I need of exercise? I'm tough enough now. All I want is plenty of rest and if I get that we'll go around the old globe all right." He is a man like that. As Kirsch was going over the Winnie Mae's motor one day, examining every part as carefully as a watchmaker examines the most expensive timepiece, he happened to find a slight defect in a magnet. He pointed it out to Post.

"Ye-ah," said the Oklahoman, "I see it. You found it O. K. and if you hadn't we might have taken a nose-dive into the ocean. It's fate you found it, but I appreciate it." He gripped Kirsch's hand.

Starter Removed
The accident at Solomon Beach, Alaska, in which Gatty was struck by a whirling propeller was directly related to preparing the plane for the flight, Kirsch explains. The starter was taken off to lighten the ship as much as possible and it was thus necessary to twirl the propeller by hand.

The plane in general had standard equipment. A directional gyro, operated by the motor, was installed to be used by Gatty, the expert navigator, in case compasses and other instruments failed to function properly.

A speaking tube from Gatty to Post was installed so they could converse while in the air. An auxiliary wire with an attachment for transferring notes between the two was put in to be used if the speaking tube got out of order.

There was no possible way Gatty could crawl into Post's cockpit in case of an emergency. Air roaring back from the propeller would have blown him off into space—and eternity—if he had attempted it. Anyway, Gatty, although considered one of the most expert navigators, has had practically no experience as a pilot. He hasn't even soloed.

Post, however, was confident that if the Winnie Mae was to stay aloft, he could do everything possible alone. In his years of flying he has piloted all kinds of cranes, some of them weaving, ramshackle ships that only an expert could have flown.

And when he was presented with the Lockheed-Vega monoplane by Hall with the comment "Go ahead, Wiley," he was supremely sure he would succeed. It was like being given a Rolls-Royce to drive after operating a rattling flivver for years. Kirsch explains that extra precautions were taken in greasing the motor. The valve accessories were given double-shots of grease and all moving parts, even those which moved slowly, were smeared with extra doses of lubrication. All oil lines were checked and rechecked to prevent possibility of a leak and the motor oil gauges were so attached the slightest fall in pressure would be recorded.

Utmost Care Taken
The gasoline tanks were even insulated at points of contact with the plane. This was done to eliminate the possibility of friction making a hole, with a resultant loss of precious gasoline.

Kirsch laughed at reports the motor was "overhauled" at different points along the route. He explains it was merely serviced, greased and spark plugs changed. Post, an expert mechanic himself, knew exactly how the motor was operating.

"Why, before he left, Wiley declared he wouldn't touch the motor as long as it was running all right," says Kirsch. "And what he did proves his judgment was right, doesn't it?"

Hall naturally is elated at the success of the flight. He gave Post his first real job as a flyer, driving his private plane, and since then has sunk $100,000 in endurance flights that haven't turned out very well, he admits. Of medium size and unassuming, Hall has been confident from the start that Post and Gatty would succeed. He never knew Gatty until Post insisted that that Gatty was the man for the job as navigator.

Hall admits now that Post "promoted" him into sponsoring the flight. The former oil well driller was so enthusiastic about beating all records around the globe, Hall at last yielded and bought the Winnie Mae. And the rest is history.

Death Toll--

Shooting Occurs

Jealousy was blamed for the deaths of two men and a woman at San Antonio. Mrs. Ramona Gonzalez, 31, her husband, Jesus Gonzalez, 49, and Jose Rodriguez, 33, were shot to death. Jose Rodriguez, 11, said his father became enraged because of attentions paid his wife by Rodriguez.

R. L. Roark, 56, federal reserve bank guard of Dallas, was found shot to death and apparently robbed near Dallas. A bullet had penetrated his heart.

Mrs. Lila Westbrook, 18, of San Angelo committed suicide at Breckenridge. Her act was believed to have been brought about by grief over a 90-day sentence given her husband, Eaney Westbrook, in connection with robbing mails.

Die of Poisoning
Alcoholic poisoning took the lives of two at Laredo, Domingo Barron dying after a party at a coal mine northwest of that city and Ignacio Rojas being found dead near his Dolores home.

R. L. Urquhart was shot to death on a Houston street. A statement made just before his death blamed a woman for the shooting.

W. J. Lucas, member of a hunting party near Lake Dallas, was shot to death accidentally.

Mrs. Blanche McCall of San Benito died from burns received when a cold storage plant exploded. Her son, Charles A. died last night from the same accident and her husband, C. A. McCall was injured seriously but was expected to recover.

the district, it was said by speakers. After the retirement of the auxiliary to its private session "Buddy" Joe Seymour turned the meeting over to Emmett D. Cox of San Angelo, district committeeman. George Hughes, assistant district adjutant, outlined the work of the legion during the past year in the Sixteenth district and made the encouraging statement that the district as to membership had ascended from last place to fourth place in the department. Heretofore, this district had been considered as the weakest in the state and was the brunt of jests at state conventions. At the next department convention in El Paso, August 24-26, this district can justifiably laugh at all of them, one departmental leader said. About 200 delegates were registered.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Happy in the thought that she has turned out three good pictures without a single "flop," Norma Shearer now is en route to Europe with her husband, Irving Thalberg.

But, when the star returns from her vacation somebody will have to figure out a new characterization for her. She has been the good little bad girl long enough. First she played such a role in "Divorcee," then in "Strangers May Kiss" and now in "A Free Soul."

Norma "clicked" beautifully in the first two films and probably will go over well in the third, largely because the picture itself is excellent. But a fourth one of the same nature might very easily prove to be a boomerang.

Splendid direction on the part of Clarence Brown and an excellent cast make "A Free Soul" what it is. No star can go very far wrong with a supporting cast which includes Lionel Barrymore, Leslie Howard, James Gleason and Clark Gable. Norma, however, isn't really the star. That position rightfully belongs to Barrymore, who just naturally wraps up the picture and walks away with it.

The story is that of a girl brought up by her wealthy father to do just about as she pleases and in so doing gets herself in a peck of trouble by falling for a gangster, a client of her father who is a prominent attorney. The affair ends by the girl's fiancé killing the gangster and the girl pulling her father out of a drunken orgy to defend her suit.

Barrymore is outstanding in his portrayal of Miss Shearer's father, the prominent attorney, Leslie Howard is good as usual but we would like to have seen his part built up a little more. Jimmy Gleason does his part by furnishing some hearty laughs. And Clark Gable, a newcomer to the screen, is a perfect gangster—but we're afraid he will die out simultaneously with gangster firms.

but rolled off. Cowden's five iron shot was low, striking the ground just inside the fairway, but having such good direction that it rolled on the green, within 15 feet of the hole.

It was on the fifteenth that Harrison lost two more strokes on the medal play, taking a seven. He got his tee shot down the left side of the fairway 200 yards, but his second shot was in the trap and the third failed to bring him out. The fourth was pitched to the green, but three putts were required for holing out.

It was there that Cowden got back the two strokes he had lost on the twelfth and thirteenth holes. His tee shot was 225 yards down the very center of the fairway. His iron shot was 10 feet short of the green and straight, and his third was within four feet of the cup. He took a four.

Harrison shaved off a stroke on the sixteenth, when his midiron shot was high and on the green to stick and Cowden's shot was 10 feet short of the green. His next iron was too hard, rolling 15 feet past the cup, and two putts were taken in holing out.

Cowden regained the stroke on the seventeenth, however, his drive shot running right up to the trap locked green, one of the finest shots seen on the country club links this year. He had no trouble in making a birdie three on this hole, while Harrison was having a bit of trouble. Harrison's tee shot was a hook to the deep rough. His recovery approach hit on the green but rolled off. The third shot was almost dead to the pin and he holed out in a four.

Nothing short of a miracle would have lost the match on the last hole for Cowden, and the miracle did not happen. His drive cleared the bunker and lay about 60 yards from the green, and was on the green and barely off in two. Harrison topped his drive, barely getting to the head of the fairway on the 325-yard hole. His spoon shot was short and to the right. His third shot was on the green, 12 feet from the pin, and he conceded the match, both players taking fours.

The match was one of exceptional interest. The cowpuncher golfer's brand of shots was better, however, than those of the oil man who holds membership at Fort Stockton, San Angelo and Tyler. It must be said, however, that Harrison's golf was

Ask Officials To Scout Meet

ROSWELL, N. M., July 6, (UP)—Governors of four states have been invited to attend the annual meeting of the Girl Scouts of the Cactus region, comprising the states of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona.

About a thousand visitors are expected to attend the meeting July 26 at Camp Mary White, 75 miles southwest of Roswell in the Sacramento mountains.

Governors Ross Sterling of Texas, W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, Arthur Seligman of New Mexico and G. W. P. Hunt of Arizona have been invited to attend.

Other prominent visitors invited to the convention are Mayors Ernest Thompson of Amarillo, R. E. Sherman of El Paso and Clyde Tingley of Albuquerque, U. S. Senators Sam G. Bratton and Bronson M. Cutting of New Mexico, former New Mexico Governors Herbert J. Hagerman, R. C. Dillon, Arthur T. Hannett, Geo. Curry, Miguel A. Otero Sr., James F. Hinkle and Merritt C. Mechem.

Good enough to beat most of those who play the game in this section of the state, and that the hull greens were a constant source of bother to him. On his short putting, especially, this was noticeable, as he three times missed putts ranging from a foot to a yard in distance. He shot the in round in 42, two strokes over his out round. Cowden shot the last nine in 38, one stroke under his score at the turn.

Up until the championship round, the two had been even on medalist honors. As there was a prize for medalist as well as for champion, the two decided to let the championship match decide the winner of medalist honor, as well. Cowden thus won not only the silver cocktail shaker and mugs set, but another silver service set as well.

Andrews High Is Given Affiliation

Affiliation for Andrews high school in the state department of education has been granted, according to J. A. Summerhill, superintendent, who spent the week end here. The school has been granted affiliation in eight units, three of which were in English. This is the maximum for English and was obtained within the one year of Supt. Summerhill's work there.

Former Pastor Is Pleased With City

"This is the first visit I have had back to 'big Midland' and I am astounded by the many changes and improvements," the Rev. O. J. Hull, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tahoka and former pastor here, said while spending the week end here. He commented at length upon the many paved streets, the handsome hotels and office buildings and the hundreds of new homes. He made the humorous remark that the only place he felt at home was in the churches.

100 Yards of Meat At Local Barbecue

A hundred yards of barbecue! That's a whole lot of meat, but E. W. Nicodemus and Frank P. Holland, here Saturday for the Breeder-Feeder meeting, measured the meat according to yardage instead of pounds.

The two rows of barbecue on the pits were 150 feet long each, making 300 feet of cooked meat, or 100 yards. "I never saw that much barbecue at one time before," Holland said, "and I've been to lots of barbecues."

The Dallas publisher of Farm and Ranch added that he never enjoyed a day more than he did the one here Saturday when approximately 10,000 persons gathered for the July fourth celebration.

Two Playground Ball Games on

Two playground ball games are scheduled for this evening at Pagoda diamond.

Reaxell stores and Midland Hardware company and Texas Electric at 8:15.

The clubs of the first game are in the second division in the standings, while the first two are in the first division.

Officers Commend Public Behavior

Officers of Midland reported that order prevailed July fourth and that there was a minimum of disturbance. Both Sheriff A. C. Francis and Police Chief A. J. Norwood complimented the people of Midland and the visitors for their cooperation and good behavior.

Two slight traffic accidents, with damage of not more than $5, were reported. A few instances of removing drunken people from the streets comprised the disturbances against the peace. No fights were reported. More than 10,000 persons were on the streets during the day, it was estimated.

Vets Commander Praises Workers

James S. Noland, commander of the Brooks W. Lee Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, authorized the Reporter-Telegram today to express the thanks of his organization to all committeemen, organizations and individuals who assisted in making the July Fourth celebration and race meet a success.

Noland declared that in all of his organization work he had not seen better cooperation among citizens. He expressed especial commendation for the work done by Lee Haynes, George Underwood and Neal Staton, heads of the racing committees.

Rum Running Strikes Snag

EL PASO, July 6, (UP)—Rum running has shown a slump along the border during the past month and liquor smuggling seizures have decreased 50 per cent, Manuel B. Oero, U. S. customs collector, reported.

The decrease Otero attributes to the co-operation of Gen. Enrique Zertuche Martinez, in command of the soldier patrol of Mexico station along the border and "hard times." Otero claims that there is less liquor being purchased now. He reported El Paso bootleggers recently cut the price of whiskey from $2.50 to $2.25 a pint.

"The contraband is being brought over in small quantities," the collector said. "Practically no large loads are coming over so far as we have been able to learn."

Detachments of Mexican soldiers are stationed at Palomas, the Smelter, Cordova Island, San Lorenzo, San Augustin, Zaragoza, La Colorado, Tres Jacales, Guadalupe, San Ignacio and Bosque Bonito.

Visitors Here

Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Towns and daughter, Lottie Jo, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bucy this week end. Sunday guests in the Bucy home were Mr. and Mrs. Nib Shaw and son of Abilene.

Cigarette Tax Is Effective Aug. 22

AUSTIN, July 6, (UP)—State Treasurer Chas. Lockhart is getting "all set" to carry out the new state law placing a tax of 3 cents a package on cigarettes, which takes effect after midnight on August 22.

He has requested the state board of control to have 100,000,000 stamps printed. The state treasury will be custodian of these stamps and issue them to dealers. Lockhart says that after he issues the stamps and accounts for the proceeds, the duties of the treasury end. James Donnell of Austin will have charge of the cigarette tax division.

Enforcement of the provision that all cigarettes sold after the law takes effect must be stamped will rest with the state comptroller's department.

The tax is made payable by the first seller inside the state, in this way the attempt being made to put it on the wholesaler. The retailer, however, is liable to a fine if he sells cigarettes that have not been stamped.

"It will not do them any good to lay in a large advance supply," Lockhart pointed out, "for they will have to be stamped to be sold after the law takes effect, no matter when the retailer purchased them."

The stamp will have merely the official seal of Texas as its design with the wording indicating tax payment as required by the statute.

To Those Customers Who Know It Is Not Necessary to Say More Than—

Addison Wadley Co's,

JULY CLEARANCE SALE WILL BEGIN FRIDAY, JULY 17th.

Those customers know that a Clearance Sale at this store means bargains in seasonable merchandise not to be had anywhere else.

JULY CLEARANCE SALE AT THIS STORE means that Summer Merchandise of every description will be moved, regardless of price.

THIS STORE DOES NOT take a few staple items on which the price is reduced unreasonably low and use those few items as "baits."

In fact, we tell you frankly that we shall not lose money on staple merchandise but everything in the way of Summer Merchandise must move.

We positively will not carry it over to another season if price will sell it.

We can better afford to take a loss now, on this seasonable merchandise, convert it into cash, rather than carry it to next summer and perhaps take a bigger loss then.

In our Advertising, we try to be reasonable and we tell you; and always have said, that regardless of how cheap an item might be priced, unless you have a use for it, it is not a bargain.

OUR SALES CIRCULAR IS DIFFERENT, in that we endeavor to tell you what the merchandise offered is, the size, the quality, etc., so that you can have some idea of what is being sold and whether or not the item offered is something you can use to good advantage.

NOTHING GIVEN AWAY. We do not depend on sensational advertising stunts to attract business, and the customer who comes to this sale knows that he will buy merchandise at prices that are not to be had elsewhere or at any other time.

THE VALUES WE OFFER is what brings the crowds to ADDISON WADLEY'S CLEARANCE SALES.

Make a note of the date and save for this saving event.

Make it a point to pay us a visit during the next few days. For we are celebrating Frigidaire's fifteenth anniversary and have arranged a special program that you won't want to miss.

Among other things we are making a special Jubilee Offer to those who purchase now—an offer that will surprise you with its generosity. We are presenting an Anniversary Gift to all adults who visit our showroom. And we are giving a dramatic demonstration of the enduring qualities of Frigidaire Lifetime Porcelain.

We are also showing how the Cold Control speeds the freezing of ice and desserts—how the Hydrator makes even wilted vegetables fresh—how the Quickcube Ice Tray releases ice cubes with finger-tip pressure—one at a time or a whole trayful.

Come in today and receive your Anniversary Gift.

"Frigidaire will be installed in your home for a small down payment—the balance arranged to suit your convenience."
