Embalming Fluid Cocktails to Blame for Prison Death

ONE DEAD 3 OTHERS ARE SICK

Fluid Stolen From a Morgue Inside The Walls

HUNTSVILLE, July 1, (UP)—Embalming fluid cocktails, drunk within prison walls, were blamed today for the death of one convict, blinding of two others and serious illness of a fourth.

The cocktail party occurred Sunday behind the prison blacksmith shop. Ernest Hamilton, 23, of Mingus, died Monday in convulsions. Aubrey Charles of Nocona and William Duncan of McKinney were blind. Robert Stewart of Monroe, La., was ill.

Steal From Morgue

Warden W. W. Waid said the men went on a spree with embalming fluid with high alcoholic content stolen from the prison morgue.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

The origin of the alcohol was a mystery to prison officials late Tuesday and reported they had questioned about 20 prisoners in an attempt to find out how it was smuggled behind the walls.

Mingus Man Dies

The dead convict was Ernest Hamilton, 23, of Mingus, Texas, who was serving a five-year term on a liquor conviction in Palo Pinto county. He died after being in the hospital several hours.

Justice of the Peace R. J. Camp of Huntsville, who conducted an inquest, returned a verdict of death due to alcoholic poisoning.

The men blinded were Aubrey Charles, 26, of Nocona, Texas, serving two years for forgery from Hale county, and William Duncan, 30, of McKinney, Texas, serving four years for theft of over $50 in Erath county.

Warden W. W. Waid said the two blinded probably would die.

The fourth man stricken was Robert Stewart, 22, of Monroe, La., serving two years, for felony theft from Harris county. He was seriously ill, Warden Waid said.

Investigation Opened

An investigation was started by the prison authorities.

Midland Student Highly Praised

DENTON, July 1.—Miss Mary Belle Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Pratt of Midland, recently received a letter from Dean E. V. White of Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) congratulating her for the excellent scholastic record maintained in all her academic subjects during the past year at the college.

Miss Pratt was among the upper 10 per cent of the student body to receive this honor.

She was a freshman student doing major work in the department of English and minoring in Latin.

Longview Hotel Proud of Mark

LONGVIEW, (UP)—A bullet hole in the frame wall of the old Magnolia hotel today serves as a memento of the visit of Bob Dalton, famous outlaw in the southwest, to Longview in 1894.

The slug bored through the pine one summer day when Dalton and his band galloped into what is now the East Texas oil capital to rob a bank. Citizens opened fire and a pitched battle followed.

The engagement ended when Dalton and his men fled.

Another boast of the Magnolia hotel is that its rates today are the same as they were in 1911. Even the East Texas oil boom has failed to increase them.

MUSICIANS NOTICE

All musicians of the city are asked to meet with the scout band at 8 o'clock for discussion of ways and means for making up a good ensemble for the Fourth of July.

The meeting is called by Wallace Wimberly for 8 o'clock, at the scout headquarters in the court house.

Cattlemen of Wide Area Invited to Attend City Breeder-Feeder Meeting

Champ Again

Another Jeffries is a champion now. Meet John Jeffries of Greenville, Ky., who wears the national marble crown by virtue of his defeat of other entries in the Scripps-Howard national tournament at Ocean City, N. J.

Cattlemen throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico have been invited to attend the Breeder-Feeder meeting at Midland July 4 at 11 a. m. The meeting will be held at the barbecue pits off West Kansas street.

Midland cattlemen expect to be present practically 100 per cent strong to confer with Frank P. Holland of Dallas, recognized as the foremost authority in the southwest on Breeder-Feeder movement. Holland will be accompanied to Midland by E. W. Nicodemus, Ft. Worth banker, and John Simpson, beef cattle specialist of the T. & P. Railway Co. These men are being brought to Midland by the chamber of commerce to assist in what many cattlemen say will be the next big development in the cattle industry—the feeding of Texas cattle in Texas.

RAIN NEEDED BY GREAT AREAS IN THE SOUTHWEST

TOPEKA, July 1, (UP)—Corn is at a critical stage in the southwest and unless it gets a rain soon will be greatly damaged, the agricultural department of the Santa Fe lines said today in a crop report.

The crisis is particularly noticeable in Kansas and Nebraska where the wheat crop soon will be laid by. Despite generally favorable weather, the report said that most cotton in Texas remains from two to four weeks late. It is said the ranges had held up fairly well but were needing rain, particularly in parts of Texas.

CLOVERDALE TO GET KID'S POOL; LAND DONATED

Lion Howard Peters, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, gave a short patriotic address to the Lions club at noon today at the regular luncheon hour. This address followed one-minute speeches by Lions M. R. Hill, C. W. Post, R. D. Scruggs, Harry L. Haight, M. E. Miller, M. F. Peters and Curtis Bond.

Definite arrangement was made at the club for the building of the kiddies' wading pool at Cloverdale.

The city donated sufficient land space to the Lions club for this project and a modern wading pool for the children of Midland will be built.

Lion Haight, chairman of the pool committee, said that work would be started at once on that part of land that lies west of the residence at Cloverdale and south of the reservoir.

Odessa Man to Speak in Arkansas

Judge Henry E. Webb, former state representative of this district and now Ector county judge at Odessa, will be the main speaker at a big home coming celebration at County Line, Ark. The West Texan will make his address at the Arkansas gathering on July 4. Judge Webb's grandfather helped found the County Line community, and the Odessa man was born near the settlement.

One Killed, Three Hurt in Wreck

FAIRFIELD, July 1, (UP)—H. T. Felty, 25, of Flint, was instantly killed; Virgil Strichfield, 26, of Kosse, and Vergil Meek, 17, of Flint, were injured when their automobile crashed into a parked pipe truck near here this morning.

PLAYGROUND GAME

A playground ball game a la femme will be played Thursday afternoon, 7 o'clock, Scharbauer diamond, between the Business girls of Mrs. Evelyn Herrington and Mrs. Ivy Mitchell and the high school girls of George Phillipus.

DRIVER BETTER

Ben Driver, seriously stabbed recently, is doing well at the Mid-West clinic-hospital, according to physician's report this afternoon.

DARKNESS SHROUDS KILLING

No New Development Announced Today By Sheriff

Tonight at midnight, the clock will have sounded five days since the murder of Mrs. Lillie May Buckelew, and still a staggering weight of mystery surrounds the case.

Each day dawns with the same lack of information for the press. Each night darkens with a man still held in the county jail, with no additional arrests having been made.

Each press hour finds the same, "No new developments" report.

It is believed that District Attorney W. R. Smith is waiting his time before making another arrest, one that will clear the case, but the belief could not be confirmed.

Mrs. Buckelew, pretty waitress, 25 years old and mother of two small children, was shot in the right side as she dressed at her mother's apartment shortly before midnight Friday, a shotgun charge passing through a latched screen door. The woman was divorced from her husband. Another man waited for her on the outside of the house.

One person, Miss Mildred Tinnin, daughter of E. L. Tinnin, living next door to the apartment where the murder was committed, was the only witness to what followed the shot, except the mother who saw the daughter fall dead. She saw someone cross the street in a run, but could not tell who it was. The figure ran with a peculiar stride, bent over as though not used to running.

Mrs. Buckelew was buried Monday afternoon.

MEMORANDUM FROM HOOVER IS DELIVERED

PARIS, July 1, (UP)—The memorandum from President Hoover which it was hoped might save the French-American negotiations over the war debt plan, was presented to the French today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Premier Pierre Laval announced suspension of negotiations until tomorrow to permit a study of the memorandum.

Morning Dance at Club House Fourth

Announcement was made today that a morning dance, for members and guests, will be given July 4 by the Midland Country club, beginning at 4:30.

Good orchestra music has been provided, according to Aubrey S. Legg. Those attending are advised that men are not to wear coats.

Singing Class Organized Here

Midland people interested in singing are invited to attend a singing class which meets each Friday night at 8:15 in the Church of Christ auditorium.

The class was organized in preparation for the Martin-Midland counties singing convention which meets here the fifth Sunday in August at the First Baptist church.

High School Lad Gets Share Calves

John, Jr. Nobles is proving to be one of the champion calf gatherers for the July 4 barbecue. The high school youth had collected 11 calves up to Tuesday night and was out on a truck again early Wednesday morning. John, Jr. is making a cow man of himself and is devoting most of his time this week to gathering the calves as his contribution to making the big celebration a success. The complete list of all who have assisted with trucks will be published when the work is completed.

Lions Jockey, Weighing 213, Announces "Ready" to Go

Lion Ed Calhoun, known on the pulpit and in his life's work as the Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun, will appear as Jockey Ed when the Jelly Bean handicap is run Friday and Saturday afternoons. It was learned at the Lions luncheon today.

Jockey Ed, on being elected, accepted with enthusiasm, if not with gusto, and went to work at once to arrange for stables, trainers, stable boys and everything from a 100-yard dash horse to a relay string. Ed will be prepared.

Ed weighs in at 213. It is reported, giving a slight edge to Jim Noland who weighs only 190. Dr. W. E. Ryan, riding for the Rotary club, tips the scales at approximately 210. Other jockeys have not announced their weights.

Bob's Horse Sets a Modern Track Loss Record, Running Five and Losing Five

McCUE, JIM'S MISCUE, BEARS A BLINKIN' BURRO! FLOYD SCANDALIZED

Bob Preston has furnished the sensations of the race track for 24 hours. He brought in his long sorrel with white spots, named Spot, having a cowboy lops the horse in from a distance of 14 miles.

An hour after the horse had arrived, he had run two races. By 9:30 this morning he had run three more. When asked if he shouldn't give the horse a rest, Bob said he brought him to town to run and he was going to run him. At the end of the fifth race, Spot had a straight record of losses. However, those who watched him are not expecting the losses to last much longer because Spot seems to have the right blood in him and is beginning to realize what it is all about.

Mare Gets Footgear

Jim Noland, the only jockey in the Jelly Bean handicap that has put in a week of workouts, has had silver plates put on his race mare, the well-known Floyd "Miss McCue." When he decided to have the mare shod, he said she deserved the best of footwear.

They tell a story about when Jay Floyd bought the McCue mare. She was heavy with colt, Jay told his dad, Timberline Floyd, that they would get a great colt, because in the first place the mare had good breeding and in the second place the sire of the colt had world records back of him. Imagine Jay's chagrin when Timberline rode in from the pasture one day with news that Miss McCue had brought the ranch a burro colt. Timber says the mare is heavy with colt again, but it was noticeable this morning that under Noland's jockeying she ran the eighth-mile in little more than nothing flat.

Floydada Going Good

Spence Jowell is giving the stands an eye full with his registered three year old mare, Floydada. They are mentioning her name promiscuously in the same conversations in which Tom Cat figures. Some say the three-eighths in which the two are expected to run is going to be the feature of the two-day meet here. Booger Bryant's Piccolo Pete and two three year old mares, a brown and a sorrel, are creating talk in this event.

Scharbauers have a two year old sorrel colt, Doc Bloss, who bids fair to give Timberline Floyd's Daniel Boone and Fatima, as well as Spence Jowell's Teco and Bud Young's Miss Crane, a run for the money. The Pat Barber roan two year old was being looked over today. He has plenty of speed, but will he stay with the rail? Another nice pony is Jim Rowe's three year old Molly Malone, a nice little mare from the Bryant stock.

Ready for Entries

Lee Haynes has his programs, with purse division, in circulation today and is expecting the entries to be coming in by tomorrow at least.

It was decided today to put the Jelly Bean handicap, in which heads of Vets, Rotary, Lions, Chamber of commerce and men's Bible class will run for an eighth or perhaps 300 yards, between the second and third race. It is believed that the coffee guzzling type of jockey will be a drawing card whether he creates much of a race or not, and the Vets are counting on this feature to help bring out the crowds Friday and Saturday.

The races begin promptly at 3 o'clock on both days, July 3 and 4. Only twenty minutes will be allowed between races, thereby keeping the program worked off as rapidly as possible for the benefit of the spectators.

Other Ocean Flyers Ready

They will not tell where they are going—but it is reported that Russell Boardman, wealthy Boston aviator shown in the cockpit of his plane, and John Polando, co-pilot shown on strut, will fly for Constantinople when they take off from Roosevelt Field.

A detached crowd of several thousand broke police lines and sped toward the far side of the field, about 1,000 yards from the hangar, where the "Winnie Mae" came to rest.

Having traversed approximately 13,500 miles of their 16,000-mile route, the airmen appeared in need of rest and first were uncertain when they would continue their flight.

Tractor Used in Mud

They were not too tired, however, to supervise closely the operation of a tractor which was required to tow their plane through ankle-deep mud to shelter. The flyers also declined to enter a limousine to carry them to a hotel until their plane was berthed.

The pair left Fairbanks at 3:24 a. m. (7:24 a. m., C.S.T.) Tuesday, fighting rains and murky skies to complete the Edmonton leg in approximately 10 hours.

"We're very glad to be near home again where we don't have to make signs," said Gatty as radio announcers, photographers and newspapermen gathered around the aviators.

"Yes, and where we don't have to eat black bread," interposed Post.

No Money Made

NEW YORK, July 1, (UP)—F. C. Hall, Oklahoma City backer of the Post-Gatty flight, denied Tuesday evening that there are cash prizes from him awaiting Wiley Post and Harold Gatty when their airplane, Winnie Mae, alights here after circling the globe.

ARMY PLANES AT PORT

Three Douglas army planes from the west coast landed at Sloan field this morning for a few hours.

Capt. G. W. McIntyre, flying from Los Angeles to Boston, was in command of the first ship and Lt. C. M. Cummins, going from Los Angeles to Ohio, was the second to land. The third pilot failed to register.

A GREAT WELCOME WAITING

On Way to Cleveland After Takeoff at Edmonton

EDMONTON, Alberta, July 1, (UP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, nearing the end of the swiftest round-the-world journey, left here at 4:39 this morning in the final phase of the flight back to New York.

The flyers indicated that they would stop at Cleveland for refueling, arriving at New York shortly after dark this afternoon.

New York Set

New York was ready with the biggest celebration in history, surpassing even Col. Lindbergh's.

Mrs. Harold Gatty left Amarillo this morning by plane for New York to meet her husband. She was en route from Los Angeles.

Rain-Soaked Field

The globe-girdling American birdmen brought their monoplane down on rain-soaked Blatchford field at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, at 4:35 p. m. (M.S.T.), (5:35 p. m., C.S.T.) Tuesday, concluding a 1,450-mile flight from Fairbanks, Alaska.

A detached crowd of several thousand broke police lines and sped toward the far side of the field, about 1,000 yards from the hangar, where the "Winnie Mae" came to rest.

THE RIGORS OF WRITING

Erich Maria Remarque, famous author of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Road Back," has not found the profession of letters an easy one.

"The public often believes that a book is written at one stroke in a kind of ecstasy, but I have to make extraordinary efforts to finish what I have begun.

All of this is more than ordinarily interesting to the reading public, chiefly because of the odd misconception that commonly exists concerning the writing of book.

Most people, as Herr Remarque says, believe that a book comes into being with a rush. There is glib talk of "getting an inspiration," as if the writer sat, moon-struck, until a divine afflatus filled his being and set him frantically to work writing down the words that welled up from within.

As a matter of fact, the job of writing—if one is trying to create anything with any pretensions to dignity—is one of the most arduous, soul-killing jobs a man can tackle.

For that reason it must be peculiarly discouraging to be an author. For the book that is brought into existence with so much trouble generally gets very cavalier treatment from the public.

Still, things are probably all for the best. Even as it is, too many books get published every year. If it were not for the weeding-out process that the difficulty of writing imposes on the ranks of the would-be authors the number would be simply overwhelming.

And the man who really has something to write which is worth writing never gets discouraged. He plugs along in spite of doubt, foredom and discouragement; and sometimes, as in the case of Herr Remarque, he has the satisfaction of knowing his book has worked mightily on the minds of people all over the world.

FAST THINKING IN THE AIR

The speed with which an aviator has to think sometimes is amply illustrated by the most recent misadventure of Major James H. Doolittle, who is one of America's most talented flyers.

Major Doolittle was speeding along at a 235-mile-an-hour clip over East St. Louis, Ill., the other day, traveling a bare 100 feet from the ground, when suddenly the fabric began to tear loose from the wings of his plane.

In a moment he had nosed the ship up to an altitude of 300 feet. Then, because the construction of its fuselage made it hard for him to jump out, he rolled it over on its back and dropped out upside down, letting his parachute get him down safely while the ship went on and crashed.

It all happened in a very few seconds. Major Doolittle is alive today because he can think with lightning speed—and act as fast as he thinks.

STICK TO THE JOB—HOW?

In the current issue of The Magazine of Wall Street, an influential New York financier was quoted as making the following remark:

"Pronounced improvement in business in this country, and the world over, will come if everybody will stick to work on his own job."

Moratorium? History Full Of Debt Delay Instances

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The world is going through a new experience as it prepares for an international moratorium, wrestles with the two-headed monster of war debts and war indemnity.

Yet it is not entirely a new experience after all. Few things are just such crises on a tiny scale dot pre-war history in profusion.

The unprecedented phase of the present situation is that which finds a great system of inter-governmental payments all based on indemnity charges again a single nation, and affecting the world's economic health to an extent where it is believed essential to suspend all payments for at least a year.

Government economists prefer to call the Hoover proposal a "suspension," but it will continue to be known as a moratorium just the same. A moratorium is a temporary, emergency measure invoked by governments so that debtors may legally postpone payments due for a certain period.

It is President Hoover's idea, in this case, that interest as well as payments on principal of inter-governmental obligation be shoved back a year so that both reparations and debt payments will be concluded a year later than provided by the present arrangements.

France Has Used Plan

France declared several moratoriums during the Franco-Prussian War of 1871 and at the outbreak of the World War in 1914 the warring governments and some neutrals invoked them, sometimes for months, in order to avoid bankruptcies from sudden liquidations and financial upsets.

There were few inter-governmental debts before the World War. But in the eighteenth century Great Britain adopted a habit of subsidizing her continental allies, considering it cheaper than sending troops to aid them and maintaining a standing army.

During the Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars she handed out 57,000,000 pounds. Some of it was paid for the hired Hessians who came to fight the American colonists.

KING LOUIS XVI

An Ax Canceled U. S. Debt to Him

on French wines. We did our part, but the French Chamber of Deputies for several sessions refused to appropriate indemnity payments. Jackson threatened reprisals against French property, and the Whigs in Congress under Henry Clay repudiated him.

There were few inter-governmental debts before the World War. But in the eighteenth century Great Britain adopted a habit of subsidizing her continental allies, considering it cheaper than sending troops to aid them and maintaining a standing army.

Between 1795 and 1816, however, Britain lent about 12,000,000 pounds to Austria. No pressure was brought for interest payment and the British Exchequer carried the charges. There wasn't even any great hope of getting the war debt paid, but in 1823, with the debt amounting to about 16,000,000 pounds, the Austrian Emperor agreed to pay 2,500,000 pounds and did, to the accompaniment of tart comment in the British parliament.

That was virtually the entire history of inter-governmental war loans until first Britain and then the United States began to pass out billions to help lick the Central Powers.

Maybe U. S. Repudiated a Few This country itself still theoretically owes an old war debt. King Louis XVI advanced nearly $2,000,000 to the Colonies between 1776 and 1781 which was not repaid, presumably due to the fact that the king was beheaded.

But there are heirs of Louis XVI alive and it is believed that under our arbitration treaty with France they might bring claims for payment.

The British Corporation of Foreign Bondholders was organized a few years ago to bring action for $60,000,000 alleged due British investors and heirs as a result of their unpaid Civil War loans to Southern Confederate states.

The great modern example of debt repudiation is Russia's wholesale repudiation of nearly $7,000,000,000 in private and foreign indebtedness. The Soviet took the position that the Russian people were not responsible for debts incurred by the Czarist regime.

Defaults on national debts to private security holders were not infrequent until recent years. The most spectacular defaults were those of Argentina, which about 1890 would have bankrupted the great firm of Baring Brothers of London with liabilities of $100,000,000 had not the Bank of England stepped in.

Why Loans Are Made It may be more or less appropriate to close this article with reference to what our country did about poor prostrate Austria.

Prison sentences are longer in the United States than for corresponding crimes in England.

from chaos" by a quick loan. Congress, in 1922, agreed to postpone payments until 1941 or 1943 providing the European lenders did the same, in these words:

"Whereas the economic structure of Austria is approaching collapse and great numbers of people are in consequence in immediate danger of starvation and threatened by diseases growing out of extreme privation and starvation and whereas the government wishes to cooperate in relieving Austria from the immediate burden created by her outstanding debts—"

Germany is not in an unhappy position as post-war Austria. But there was enough similarity to cause President Hoover to urge the one-year moratorium and if conditions grow worse in Germany instead of better the inference is obvious.

TOMORROW: Mr. Dutcher will tell what prospects arise from the moratorium if and when it becomes effective.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

As If War Costs Weren't Bad Enough, as Payne and Baruch Point Out, We Have to Reckon With a Period of Inflation Which Multiplies Burdens on the Backs of Future Generations.

WASHINGTON.—All the excitement over the debts-reparations moratorium proposal may incidentally impress the fact that big wars cost a lot of money and that the costs are likely to cause a lot of trouble in later years.

Thus, certain interesting though not especially comforting thoughts are inspired by the assertion of Bernard M. Baruch, who was chairman of our War Industries Board, that about half of our expenditure in the World War was unnecessary. That is, our war expenditures were nearly $40,000,000,000 and Baruch says that an efficient, comprehensive method of preventing inflation would reduce the cost of war at least 50 per cent.

Payne's Views Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne, addressing the National Association of Retail Credit Men at Boston, justified the army's extensive industrial war plans by citing Baruch's estimates as given to the War Policies Commission and implied that the war plans not only would provide success in war but would be a big aid in attaining subsequently prosperity.

"As we consider the general effect on present conditions in our country if we had saved some 10 to 15 million dollars of our expenditures in the late war," Payne said, "we are encouraged to intensify our efforts to insure efficient conduct of any possible 'next emergency.'"

Baruch proposed a drastic wartime "price-freezing" plan which has stirred up some controversy. It would give the president power to declare that all prices prevailing on a certain day should be effective until further notice.

"Inflation enormously increases the cost of war and multiplies burdens on the backs of generations yet to come," he explained. "The war debt of the nation is necessarily incurred in terms of debased dollar values. In the inevitable post-war deflation the debt, of course, remains at the inflated figure. Thus the bonds that our government sold in the World War for 50-cent dollars must be paid through the years by taxes levied on 100-cent dollars.

"For example, our total war expenditure was $39,000,000,000 incurred in terms of 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920 dollars. In terms of the purchasing power of 1913 dollars it probably would have been only $13,000,000,000 or in terms of 1930 dollars probably not more than $15,000,000,000.

Checking Inflation "Such a grotesque result would be almost unbelievable were the figures not living facts. If anything can be done to avoid this practical doubling of the economic burden of war, we should spare no effort to accomplish it. We did, in 1918, arrive at a method which checked the process of inflation in America and kept it in check until all controls were released in November, 1918. We have proved in practice a method to control inflation and that proof convinces me that it would also prevent inflation if applied at once upon the advent of war and before the inflationary process begins."

Attempts to check inflation after it begins are old in American history according to Baruch, who pointed to a New York law of the revolutionary period which "fixed manufacturers' profits, wages of mechanics and laborers and many commodity prices at a figure 'not to exceed twenty-fold of the prices paid in 1774.'" The figure measure the debasement of the Continental currency.

The amount Baruch thinks we might have saved on the World War is, of course, much larger than the total of allied debts to this country which, with reparations, are now credited with causing so much trouble.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

"Peanut politics," Jimmie Noland said, "everything connected with this race is in the bag!" The commander of the Vets had gone to the park shortly after 5:30, thinking he might hide out in the grandstand and watch Paul Barron breeze his mount. Instead, Barron watched him boot one of the Floyd mares down the stretch and under the wire, then climbed aboard the hurricane deck of Fort Worth Dun and started a four-mile canter that grew monotonous to Jimmie and caused him to say things. The two, as you may have noticed in this learned one's observations from day to day, are jockeys in the Jellybean derby. Doc Ryan, Malcolm Meek and Oscar Seymour are the other victims. Report establishes the fact, however, that Oscar, wise that he is, has eloped with a fishing line to a trout stream, and that a dark horse may be entered for him today. As for Meek, he turns a bit paler the closer time approaches, and it is said Fred Turner will represent the chamber of commerce rather than the prey.

The relay horses continue to act up on the track like one who went late to bed after eating mince pie or onion. Timber Floyd and Spence Jewell sit in the stand and discuss horseflesh in general, their own mounts in particular. "Those d—n relay nags remind me of a tourist in France," Spence said right after Timber bit him on the right ear, "you can lead him to water, but you can't make him drink!"

Jay Floyd was changing mounts in the relay race Tuesday, and changed ends in the process. Due to the dust, one was a bit uncertain which end of the shaker he lit on. Stable boys thought the dashing Lochinvar was going to beat the offending nag, but were treated to a bit of unusual substitution when Les Floyd decided he couldn't wait any longer to laugh.

One of the jockeys, some say it was Gerald Bloss, wanted to know if an encyclical is something the pope rides around for exercise.

Pete Patterson asked him if he thought a papal bull had to be branded as a yearling.

Publisher Barron just will have his wisecracks. You know, railbirds are wisecracks of the first water. Well, he popped off something about getting up before Clarence Schaubauer and John Dublin and Bob Preston—even early enough to

The total public debt of the United States at present is about $16,000,000,000, which is more than $130 per capita. This money was borrowed from citizens and residents of the country, who receive interest on their bonds. The U. S. has no foreign debt.

less awe that bankers get in America, this may pass for a very weighty saying. Nevertheless, it may cause a little perplexity, if the nation at large tries to adopt it. There are approximately 6,000,000 Americans today who have no jobs to stick to. Just how are they going to follow this advice?

Social Hygiene in Schools

The subcommittee on social hygiene in schools of the President's White House conference on Child Health and Protection, headed by Dr. William F. Snow, has submitted a report to the officers of the American Social Hygiene association for comment.

The important points of the report are summed up as follows: A place of importance should be given to supplementary direct factual education in every age group with reference to human sex, as a corrective for the tendency in the past to teach young children sex wholly indirectly through biology and what amounts to allegory and story.

The importance of the parents, education and participation in giving sex instruction to their children should be stressed.

Sex instruction in school ought not to be given in "sex courses" or other courses introduced in order to get sex education into the curriculum.

Emphasis ought to be placed strongly upon the preservation of reticence, modesty, and other ideals of our civilization.

The necessity of informing both parents and teachers of the social-hygiene environmental and disease factors in child health and protection ought to be made clear; and the approach offered by social problems from the relations of the sexes in school should be pointed out as available for use by parents and teachers.

In order to promote the rapid application of these educational principles, adequate social-hygiene instruction should be provided for specialists capable of supervising teacher training, particularly in normal schools and colleges and in institutions for parental education.

More Powerful than Any Gasoline

ESSEO is a new kind of motor fuel—a power-fuel which develops up to 20% more energy in many modern motors.

A phenomenal success in 20 foreign countries, Esso was perfected in America by the world's leading petroleum technicians. It contains Ethyl—but it is far more than an ordinary Ethyl fuel. It is unlike any other fuel, as you can see from the chart. And on this chart Esso is compared with the leading premium-priced fuels.

From Esso's increased power comes faster "pickup"—especially in high-compression motors. In a test motor with a 7-to-1 compression ratio Esso showed from 13% to 74% faster acceleration when compared with the best of the premium gasolines now on the market.

But with any type of motor an entirely new "feel" comes from driving with Esso. A new smoothness—new get-away—actually an increase in usable horse-power.

Make a ten-day test of this new fuel. Find out for yourself what your car can do with Esso. Then change back to any other type of gasoline—if you can.

"Octane Rating" is the new, exact way of measuring the anti-knock quality of motor fuels. Note how far superior to all other premium fuels ESSO's Octane Rating is. (Samples of premium gasolines picked at random from roadside pumps.)

TEXAS ELECTRIC COPS IN FASTEST GAME OF YEAR; PHONES WIN

CHEWNING-GEMMILL DUEL ENDS IN A 4-1 VERDICT

When the Texas Electric Service company can get one more hit than a rival, it generally stretches out the tallying margin sufficient for a clean-cut win.

That is what happened last night in the fastest and most interesting playground ball game of the season. The boys, primed and cocked for the offerings of Scatty Gemmill, uncorked an offensive that clicked to the tune of a 4-1 decision.

Errors on the part of the News Mangers didn't help that club, but hits were bunched in the Electrician power house sufficient to win despite the errors contributed.

Earned runs were: Electricians 2, Reporter-Telegram 0. Chewning whiffed nine men, and six folded their timbers for Gemmill.

Pitching honors were about split, the Newsies collecting six off Chewning, the Electricians cracking out seven off Gemmill.

Simpson's two-base hit, in reality, did the work on the bases, while Chewning mowed down batsmen one after another to do the rest. The pitcher contributed his ory of hitting three for three. Gemmill and Simpson divided second place honors at the bat, hitting twice in three trips.

The game was played in 40 minutes flat, and several innings went to the symphonic melody of three men up, three men down. Fielding in spots was beautiful to watch.

McCall called a nice game, as did Chewning in the second offering of the night.

The second game, played between Bell Telephone company and Scruggs Buick, was good and had in spots. Two bad innings saw the Scruggsmen throwing the ball at everything but the ump's, and men scored at will.

Aside from this brief departure from social amenities, the affair was a howling success, with the base ump's coming in for their share occasionally.

Crawford hit for the circuit during one of the heated frames, and Miller contributed a triple and double. White bumped out a couple of two-base blows.

SPORTS REPORTS

BY R. C. HANKINS

Out where the breezes are cool and bright remarks are hot, where soft scented smells of feminine perfume dodge with agility the pungent perspiration from the batting and fielding men contingent—in short, out at Pagoda diamond—interesting things happen each night. Young men who waited for night with no other thought than to get our red date books and call some vital blonde thermometer now have a real avocation; older men who had once been young until that fatal day they smelled orange blossoms and realized in one hushed, breathless second they had trapped, have more to do than a figure with wrinkled brow misgiving the increase today over yesterday of their prominent paunches. The males are finding this playground ball racket a real tonic, a nostrum that gives them more power to utilize in beating their wives and bullying their kids. And a few extra-base blows a week give one more satisfaction when

The 20-gallon barrel contains the order. The 18 and 15-gallon barrels, totaling 33 gallons, were sold to one man and the 16, 19 and 31-gallon barrels, totaling twice 33, were sold to the other man.

friend wife asks for an increased budget or that new sports bonnet. The domineering male can glower under dark brows at the little wife who was such a threatening virago—nightmare—gargoyles-like Amazon before Scatty Gemmill dreamed a dream one night about the possibilities of hanging lights around the glowing north by west of Pagoda's park and pool.

The once peaceful countryside, known to those who knew it then as a virgin prairie dedicated once by the swearing of golfers who repaired there to a short lived driving course, and known later by the necking Don Juan and the necked Thais, has undergone a swift metamorphosis. Where once lights were turned on just when other lights approached, and with fear and trembling, they now go on publicly, thrown by a switch that plunges the entire city into light. And mama, bored pecurers, brings out Nan and Jack and Peg and Junior and the rest of the rooting section to yell for pop who has just scintillated in the lineup by working the pitcher for a free ride to first.

Tuesday night was no exception to the variety of thrills and humor offered the long suffering public. The Texas Electric Service company behind the balloon ascension delivery of "Indian Sign" Chewning and the backwash of chatter from "Old Folks It" Northington, coupled with timely hitting of mates and philanthropic erring of The Reporter-Telegram, won a fast game of exactly 40 minutes by the tight margin of 4-1. A close decision at the plate stopped what approached another run for the boys who scratched their heads and thump typewriters when editor is watching. A look at the box score shows how close the game really was, the Newsies getting just one hit less than the boys from Aubrey Legg's business establishment, but pulling about a couple of brace more boners. Scatty was bearing down, but lacked a bit of the support he needed at crucial moments. The game, to our way of squinting, was about the fastest played this season.

The crowd was tense, sitting on the very edge of benches and forgetting to remove grass burrs until the game was over. Then a respite followed by a hit and sprint affair that would have made Falstaff laugh. Scruggs Buick and the telephone company got together. For several minutes there was some lively hitting, but remarkable fielding kept down the tallying. And then scratch hits went for two base derbies and a high fly gave base runners carte blanche to make a steppe chase of the paths. Everybody laughed till it hurt, then looked up to ask neighbors how many more had scored.

If Claude Crane didn't wear that red peckerwood or jockey cap we would not have been able to identify him for this one, but as he did wear it, here goes one that was funny. A fly was hit directly at him. It was coasting along, occasionally banking a bit to the right then to the left, then straightening out on even keel. Claude watched it for a few seconds and decided he would have to do something or it would fall in his inhands. Accordingly, with the innate quick thinking of a good insurance man, he ran back four paces and let the ball land where he had been standing. With a easy, graceful movement, he took the ball on the first bounce and tossed it to the twirler's box. But, alas and alack! the solons had not written an auntsie over, first-bounce-is-out clause into the much-mulled-over rules of the Nooturne league!

Mrs. L. B. Lancaster calls out attention to something we had not noticed. When the women play at Scharbauer diamond they look like a bunch of school girls. But when the game is over they comb the crowds and grab a handful of babies and a husband or two and get on the paths for the domestic home run.

Just heard that things not only happened fast over there at Stauton yesterday, but that they positively whizzed. So far as this sleepy department knows, there has not been a triple play pulled off in the men's playground league this season, morning, noon or evening. But one of those occasional plays was slipped dexterously into the women's game without a bobble. Daisy Lindsey, who is by way of becoming a sort of Baby Ruth with the bat, if you know what we mean, smacked one in the next to the final inning that whistled a sweet, lullaby. Two runners were on base and Stanton was leading by a score or two. Out of the great nowhere that distinguished this flat country bobs up a Stanton girl who subs for mercury and goes after the ball like a winged Mercury with a bee in her bonnet. She pulls down the drive, doubles a Midland runner off base and, before you could saw Czeoslovakia 14 times, another runner was caught the same way. How's that for setting a mark for the men to slice at?

A bust of the Stanton fielder will be erected in the Stanton public park, and James Kelly and G. H. Shelburne will unveil it once a week for luck. Off hand, we'd say Stanton could understand, and would not think suspicious thoughts of them. Right now, things are equalized between the two teams. Each holds one decision over the other. The Petroleum girls have lost only one game this season. Being women, or leading the rest of us to think so, they will not be content until they have entertained again over here. Miss Lindsey, taking the matter over the telephone, said it was good for her team that it lost; it will likely play harder as a result. She is leaving Friday for two weeks vacation in Chihuahua, Mexico, and other places in the interior, but was convinced Mrs. George T. Abell would match a game with the Stanton club in the interim. "Stanton girls were perfect sports; we'd surely like to get that over," she said. "It's lovely to play them."

An afterthought: We'd certainly like to hear one of the men use the word "lovely" as regards other men. Wouldn't it be rich? But women will be women, just like ladies get stubborn and just will be ladies.

This fellow Holt who caught for the Scruggs Buick outfit last night is not only a catcher but a hitter. If he doesn't catch in the all-star game we miss our guess.

Simpson, besides busting out a couple of nice hits in the game with the Electricians, may go over the side with the silk blossom here on the Fourth of July. He has made 24 hops with the chute, and will make another if any of you fellows will wheel out your giros or low-wings. Right now the matter of a plane is the only thing that's chocking the affair.

Champions and near-champions are crowding in their names for the July Fourth and Fifth tennis tournaments. Latest mails show that Leo Brady of Abilene, champ of the state for a couple of years, will be here, paired with M. M. Ballard, tennis coach of Simmons university. Annie Maude King, state champion of New Mexico, and Earl Booth will arrive from Carlsbad, N. M. Rucy Smith of Big Spring, Edyth Mundhenke and Margaret Mahon of McCamey are other girls who will play W. S. Lanham and Leslie McClure are a couple more fellows from Abilene, while Big Spring players will not wait for the Fourth, but will be over this afternoon for a workout. They are Curtis Bishop, H. B. Dunagan Jr., Charles Weyer, George Dabney, Joe Davis, Bill McCarty and Harold Harvey.

We suspect that Bobby Campbell, Herald sports writer, will be over, petite and spouting patois as usual, to hold the racquets of his compatriots.

OIL SCHEDULE WAITS RETURN OF LON SMITH

AUSTIN, July 1, (UP)—Responsibility of fixing a new East Texas proration schedule by the railroad commission increased today with the return of Commissioner Lon A. Smith to Austin. He said it was expected that the order would be voted on after studying testimony of a hearing concluded yesterday. R. D. Baker, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division, said he expected a new order today. Chairman C. V. Terrell said the old order would continue effective in the event no order was issued today.

NEW POSTAL SERVICE

A new service known as the serial day letter, was inaugurated today by Postal Telegraph. It is a cumulative service which provides a new charge for messages sent during the same day by one individual or concern to the same addressee. This is accomplished by totaling the number of words in the several messages and by charging at the fifty word unit rate for day letters, plus twenty per cent. The service is being introduced on an experimental basis.

SCOTCHMAN DESERTS DOWNS FOR SUNNY CALIFORNIA

SAN DIEGO, Cal., (UP)—Here's a Scotchman who probably has saved a lot of money in 54 years of work, and now he's going to spend it in Southern California.

John Watson, with a burr that would trip a goat, arrived today from Glasgow on the Panama-Pacific liner Virginia. For 54 years he has been employed by one firm, the Hyde Park Locomotive Works, "and I have never taken a day's vacation or was off for sickness," he said. "All I've saved is to be turned into fireworks now."

OH, THESE RADIOS!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—A roomer in a private home here had a radio and was enjoying some unusually good crooning when he heard the report of a shotgun. Then he heard several more shots. He stepped out in the hall to investigate and found the landlora prancing up and down the hall shooting a gun. He didn't like the radio music and was taking this opportunity to show it. When the host appeared in court it was found he had been drinking.
