Trial of Ardmere Deputy on Slaying Charges Is Opened

FRANCE AND ITALY ACCEPT MORATORIUM PLAN IN PRINCIPLE

FRENCH CABINET ADAMANT

Italy, too, Insists Upon Abrogation Of Treaty

WASHINGTON, June 24. (UP).—France and Italy accepted in principle today President Hoover's proposal for a year's holiday from war debts reparations payments.

The French cabinet insisted that Germany's unconditional payments must continue, though willing money may return to Germany if the Bank of International Settlements thinks she needs it.

The French parliament expected a defeat by the cabinet on the proposal.

Italy's acceptance was contingent upon abrogation of the German-Austrian customs union.

Other nations have already accepted the Hoover plan.

France Watched

Great Britain, Germany, Austria and Italy had accepted President Hoover's proposal for a one-year suspension of war debt payments and the world has been waiting upon France, whose attitude was not to be determined.

In a radio address broadcast through Germany Chancellor Bruening made a frank bid for a Franco-German conference at which the difficulties bequeathed by the war might be straightened out and the two nations begin working together for their mutual salvation.

Ambassador Edge, in a conference with Premier Laval of France, was understood to have received an indication of the nature of the forthcoming French reply to the President's offer although the premier has said his government would take no definite stand until it has consulted the parliament regarding the effects of a one-year moratorium of the Young plan.

Secretary of State Stimson, who was to have spoken over a radio network covering the United States cancelled his address at the late moment and at the state department it was said that the "delicacy" of the situation was responsible for the cancellation.

The Berlin stock market and other markets across the world remained firm with slight advances followed the boom which came on the heels of the president's announcement.

In Washington, Hoover and Secretary Stimson were devoting their entire energies to development of the president's offer. Members of the congress were being polled as to their sentiments and the secretary has reiterated his assertion that the success of the plan depends upon quick action without bargaining.

LAST OF POTASH TESTS DRILLING IN NEW MEXICO

The last of twenty three holes to be drilled by the federal government under a five year potash program in New Mexico and West Texas are now being drilled.

The over-burden is being spudded in one hole on the James ranch and another on the San Simon ranch. Another test was completed recently near the Getty oil pool.

The hole near the Getty is below 900 feet deep and a well-cut core came from it. The tests at the James and San Simon ranches are below 250 feet deep.

Completion of the two wells being drilled will make a total of 23 holes. (See POTASH TESTS page 6)

Man Thought Deranged, Is Dead After Shooting Child

Movies Want Starr Faithfull's Sister

The movies and several Broadway night clubs have been bidding for the services of Sylvia Tucker Faithfull, 18-year-old sister of Starr Faithfull, New York beauty who met death under sensational mysterious circumstances. Tucker, who is shown above in an exclusive picture posed in her home, has spurned the offers as she directs her energies to an effort to substantiate her conviction that Starr was murdered.

Daniel Concludes a Big Deal With Local Interests

The biggest real estate deal made in Midland in more than a year, so far as records show, was closed when I. E. Daniel, owner of Hotel Pharmacy, purchased from the Hogan interests, the Hogan administration or apartment building, five business lots, the White House boarding house, and 65 acres of land.

Daniel, acquired in the deal all of the business lots on Texas avenue between the Petroleum building and M-System No. 2, the lot between the West Texas Gas company building and Bill Blackman's filling station, Mrs. Wright's White House, and the 65 acres adjoining Country club on the west. Daniels said he would put the 65 acres in farm land till another boom, which he expects inside of two years, comes to Midland, when he hopes to see the land become a fashionable city addition. The drug store owner says he has unbought faith in Midland's future.

GET YOUR CARDS
Bumper cards to advertise July 4 may be had by anyone calling at chamber of commerce office. People going out of town, particularly urged to get one of these cards. There are 400 of these cards available and all boosters are urged to call for a card. They tie on the bumper and may be removed merely by cutting the string.

RAILWAY PLANE HERE
A Buhl plane operated by the Missouri & Pacific railway lines stopped at Sloan field for a brief visit this morning. W. T. Brewster, pilot, was en route El Paso from St. Louis.

HOUSTON MAN IS SHOT BY FATHER ON CITY STREET

HOUSTON, June 24. (UP).—W. Dorman Strebeck, 23, was shot and probably wounded by his father, W. H. Strebeck, 46, in front of his father's downtown barber shop here today.

The youth was shot four times in the stomach. Witnesses said there was talk of a double cross. Neither principal would tell the cause of the shooting.

RESTS AFTER OPERATION

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jackson was resting quietly this afternoon at the Mid-West clinic-hospital following a tonsil operation there this morning.

FEED ON EXHIBIT

An exhibit of alfalfa and oats grown at the city water farm and garnered by Lynn Butler and John P. Howe was placed in the display window of the chamber of commerce office this morning.

SMITH IS CLOWN

Hyson Smith will be a clown July 4. Smith has clowned in Midland before and is a funny boy, as well as a good athlete, those who have watched his antics say. He is performing as his contribution to help people enjoy the day.

AMARILLO, June 24.—With her head and face battered with blows from the butt of a rifle and a bullet lodged in her right jaw, Josephine Loden, 13, was still unable this morning to recount what happened in the family residence here when her stepfather, Ray Loden, 30, attacked her, then took his own life with a revolver.

Victim to Recover
Although the girl was in a critical condition, physicians said she probably would recover. Her scalp was cut in several places and her face was scared, perhaps permanently, from the beating which her stepfather administered before firing at her. The lacerations were so severe, it was believed at first that an axe was used.

The one bullet that struck her—no one knows whether it was fired from the rifle or the revolver—hit back of her right ear and lodged in her jaw. After Josephine had fallen on the front doorstep, Loden shot himself through the head with a revolver, dying instantly.

Lillian, 16, who was selling soda water from an improvised stand in front of the house, did not know that anything was wrong until she saw her sister collapse on the doorstep. Mrs. Loden had gone to work at a home laundry, taking two small children with her.

No Witness
Josephine went into the house to change her dress, Lillian said. She was gone only a few minutes. No one saw what happened inside. J. W. Lindsey Jr., 7, said he saw the girl try to break through a rear window, her face and head bleeding. Mrs. Loden expressed the belief that her husband, dependent over not having a job and a recent liquor law conviction, had become deranged and was preparing to commit suicide when surprised by the girl. The step-daughters said Loden worked until 10 o'clock cleaning his guns.

Loden, who formerly was a telephone lineman, had been out of work about four months. He was recently fined $500 in federal court for violating the liquor laws, but took a pauper's oath after serving 30 days and was released last Wednesday.

Phillipus Chief Of Trades Day

George Phillipus is the new Trades day program chief.

Phillipus was appointed by the chamber of commerce president to succeed John Bonner, who has moved to Borger. The store manager has been chief assistant at Trades day programs since the big Midland money making event was started, and has devoted much time to helping with the work. He will hereafter have complete charge of the big programs each first Saturday at 2 o'clock.

Fabulous Gold Mine Reported

JUAREZ, Mex. (UP).—A story of fabulous wealth in placer gold in the El Tambor, Sinaloa district, has been brought back by Victor L. Ochoa, southwestern mining engineer.

His report was made after a survey of the properties in that district held by Manuel Llantada, Juarez and Tia Juana gambling concessionaire.

There is $135,000,000 worth of unrecovered gold, Ochoa reported, in the strip of territory he covered seven miles long and averaging 50 yards in width. It is all a placer proposition, and the dirt will average $50 per cubic yard, he said.

After working the district for seven weeks, however, operations were stopped and the mine returned to the citizens because of a typhoid epidemic. Much of the lumber bought for the operations was used instead to build coffins for the dead. (See FABULOUS GOLD page 6)

CHARGED IN DEATH MEXICANS

Twelve Prospective Jurors in Box at Early Stage

ARDMORE, June 24. (UP).—Selection of a jury proceeded rapidly today in the trial of William E. Guess, former deputy sheriff, charged in the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio and Manuel Garcia Gomez Rubio, nephew of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico.

Twelve prospective jurors were in the box shortly after the trial opened. County Attorney Marvin Schilling failed to qualify the death penalty. Fourteen were disqualified.

MEXICAN FARMERS KILL 19; ATTACK TOWN FOR GRUDGE

MEXICO CITY, June 24. (UP).—Nineteen persons were killed and three seriously wounded in an attack on the town of Parambarillo by uprising farmers, according to a dispatch to the newspaper Le Prensas today.

The farmers descended on the town to revenge an old grudge, the report said.

Kick by Mule Kills Brother of Hudman

J. C. Hudman and family left early today for Mount Enterprise, in East Texas, on receipt of news that his brother had been killed. A kick by a mule is reported to have been the cause of the death. Full details were not learned here prior to the departure of Hudman who is city secretary.

Teachers Guests of Lions Club Lunch

The Lions club was entertained at noon today by Misses Stella Maye Lanham and Leona McCormick, local speaking teachers. Each was honored after giving two numbers.

Lion Ned Watson entertained with two negro songs.

Lion President M. M. Seymour referred to the board of directors a wading pool and playgrounds plan for Midland children.

This movement for the children, it is said, will be one of the biggest recreational movements ever made by any body in the city.

Oil Fields Get 10 Cents a Dance Girls

LONGVIEW. (UP).—"Ten cents a dance."
The taxi dance, formerly peculiar to New York's Broadway, Chicago's Loop and other metropolitan hot spots, has come to the East Texas oil fields.

Within the sound of puffing rigs along Gladewater-Longview highway several long, low frame structures have sprung up, and here the oil man may dance for a dime.

Each establishment retains a re-time of hostesses, selected for their ability to guide even the most heavily-footed over the oaken floors.

Contrary to the popular conception of such dance halls, the proceedings here are extremely decorous. The customer buys as many tickets as he desires, dances solemnly with the lady of his choice, then retires to the sidelines to watch. Just to make sure that no "rough stuff" takes place, brawny "bouncers" are on duty.

ETEX OIL FLAME RISES 200 FEET; KINLEYS ARRIVE

OVERTON, June 24. (UP).—Scores of workmen were clearing red hot debris from around the blazing Tulsa Oil company No. 1 Quinn well here today as Myron M. and Floyd T. Kinley, famed oil well fire fighters, arrived from Tulsa by plane.

Two men were hurt when the 20,000-barrel well burst into flames yesterday. Today a pillar of fire 100 feet thick at the ground mounted 200 feet in the air and is roaring like a waterfall.

The Kinleys are expected to repeat their performance of two months ago when they extinguished the Sinclair well with 400 pounds of nitroglycerin.

Texas Favors Uniformed Cops

AUSTIN, June 24. (UP).—Increased public sentiment for the Texas law requiring officers making highway arrests to be in uniform is noticeable as a result of the killing of Emilio Cortes Rubio, relative of President Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico, and Manuel Garcia Gomez, by Oklahoma deputy sheriffs.

Salvador Rubio, who was with the other two students, says that they mistook the officers for bandits when their car was approached in Ardmore as they were motoring back to Mexico City from college.

For a time the Texas uniform law was in disrepute. The Court of Criminal Appeals even ridiculed it and declared it void. "Shall an officer, seeing a car speeding 75 miles an hour near a school, go home and get an appropriate uniform before (See UNIFORMED COPS page 6)

DANISH PAIR IS OVER SEA

Post's Plane Leaps Space Faster Than Other Attempts

HANOVER, Germany, June 24. (UP).—The monoplane bearing Wiley Post and Harold Gatty on their projected 10-day flight around the world landed here at 6:40 tonight and was expected to leave shortly for Berlin.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 24. (UP).—Although no word had been received for eight hours after the departure of Otto Hillig and Holger Horis from Harbor Grace, New Brunswick, air experts were confident this afternoon that they were well on their way across the Atlantic to Copenhagen.

The Danish flyers hopped off at 6 o'clock this morning. The plane has no wireless equipment.

Land Near Chester
LIVERPOOL, June 24. (UP).—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, after a successful flight across the Atlantic, landed their monoplane near Chester today.

After a brief halt, the flyers proceeded on their way around the world in an effort to beat the Graf Zeppelin record.

Flyers made the trip of 2,350 miles from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, in 16 hours and 33 minutes, an average speed of 160 miles an hour.

The total elapsed time from New York to Chester was 27 hours and four minutes.

The men were cheerful, confident and looked fit. They hope to make the trip to Moscow tonight.

Craft Is Fast

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 24. (UP).—The "Winnie Mae," sturdy craft took off from here for Germany at 4:57 daylight time Tuesday afternoon, three hours and 40 minutes after concluding a fast flight from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., to Harbor Grace.

The fliers had breakfast in New York and luncheon here. They took only sandwiches with them and hoped to have their next meal in Berlin.

They left Roosevelt Field at 3:55 (Eastern Standard Time) that morning and made the 1,200 mile hop here in six hours 52 minutes. This was an average of considerably more than 150 miles an hour they hope to maintain in order to realize their ambition of smashing the 32 day globe circling record of the Graf Zeppelin.

RECOMMENDS LINE FROM BIG SPRING NORTH TO LUBBOCK

WASHINGTON, June 24. (UP).—Examiner O. H. Weed recommended to the interstate commerce commission to allow the Texas & Pacific railway to build a 126-mile extension from Big Spring to Lubbock and Brownfield, urging the refusal of the Brownfield-Vega and Dimmitt-Amarillo lines.

Noted Scout Will Visit in Abilene

ABILENE, June 24. (UP).—Arrangements for entertaining Paul A. Siple, sea scout who accompanied Commander Richard E. Byrd on his expedition to the South Pole, will be completed by officials of the Chisholm Trail council, Boy Scouts of America, this week. It was announced yesterday by Area Executive Shumway.

Siple will be in Abilene July 3, as a guest of the council. He is visiting region 9 of the scout organization—comprising Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas—and Regional Executive James P. Fitch (See NOTED SCOUT page 6)

HOOVER'S MORATORIUM

Much editorial comment, pro and con, is beginning to grow and undergo changes each day as result of President Hoover's action of a few days ago, setting aside for a year the debt payments of other countries to the United States.

Many opinions will arise and will be broadcast without a great deal of investigation. An understanding of the moratorium should be the first thought. The following is a concise summary by the United States of the moratorium:

What is a moratorium? A moratorium is merely a period during which debts have a legal right to delay meeting payments otherwise due.

Pres. Hoover's proposed international moratorium on government debts, therefore, does not mean the loss of a single dollar, either to the allies or to the United States.

At the end of the year things would pick up right where they left off. It would be just like a year had dropped out of the calendar, so far as the debtors were concerned.

For the credits, it would be slightly different. During 1932 the U. S. should collect $246,566,806 from foreign governments on war debts.

Of this, $62,344,618 is for principal and would automatically go to retire our public debt.

The rest, of about $184,000,000 in interest, if not paid means that much less coming into the treasury and will have to be met either out of the nation's ordinary receipts or by borrowing.

At 3 per cent—the rate now paid by Uncle Sam—$184,000,000 for one year would cost $5,520,000.

FRANKLIN AND THE CROAKERS

"Croakers" are not a product of the present age. Benjamin Franklin ran into them and their pessimistic work back in his day and he gave out some interesting comment on his experience.

"There are croakers in every city, always boding its ruin. Such a one then lived in Philadelphia. This gentleman stopped one day at my door and asked me if I was the young man who had lately opened a new printing house. Being answered in the affirmative, he said he was sorry for me because it was an expensive undertaking, and the expense would be lost; for Philadelphia was a sinking place, the people already half-bankrupt, and he gave me such a detail of misfortune now existing, or that were soon to exist, that he left me half melancholy. This man continued to live in this decaying place, and to declaim in the same strain, refusing for many years to buy a house there, because all was going to destruction; and at last I had the pleasure of seeing him give five times as much for one as he might have bought it for when he first began his croaking."

SAFER DRIVING IS NEEDED

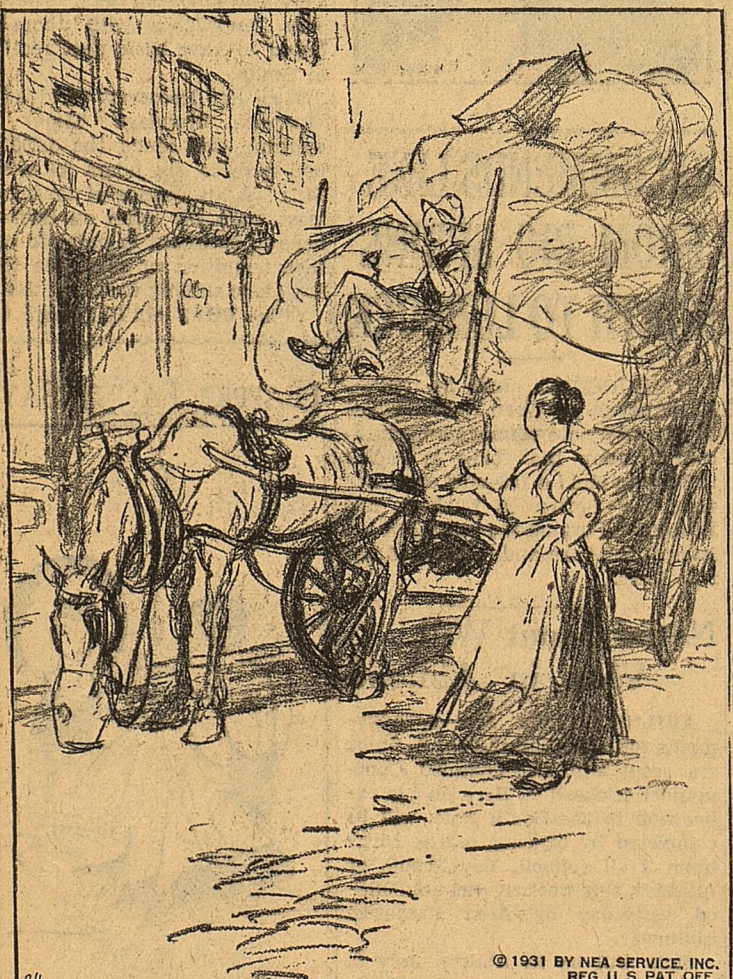

The pedestrian, apparently, is learning how to take care of himself in traffic much better than the motorist is.

The National Safety Council has just reported that while more than half of the persons killed in automobile accidents are pedestrians, deaths among drivers are increasing at a far more rapid rate. Since 1927, deaths to pedestrians have increased only 5 per cent; among drivers, in the same period, deaths have increased 35 per cent.

In other words, deaths among pedestrians are increasing only about as rapidly as the number of pedestrians increases; deaths among drivers are increasing more than twice as fast as the number of automobiles increases.

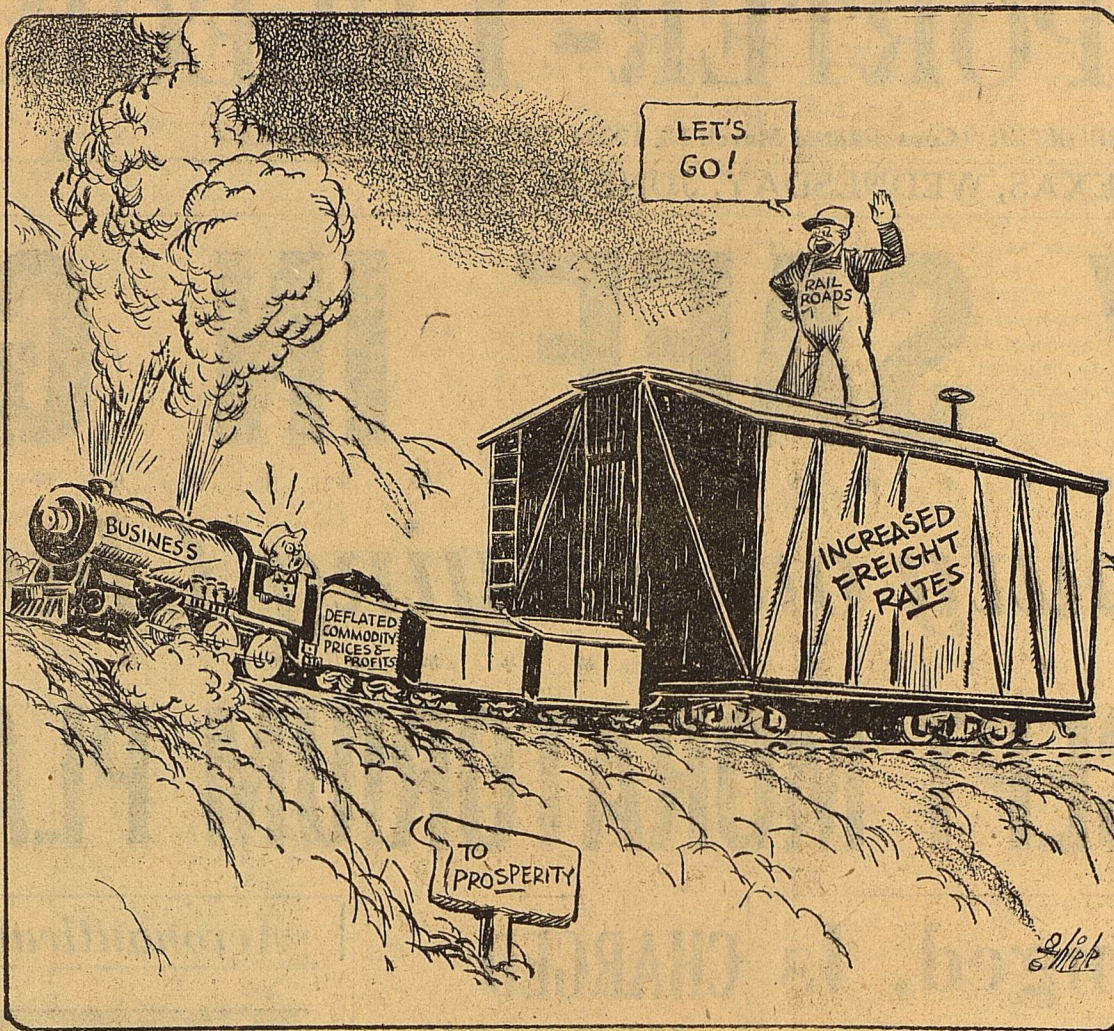

Evidently, we need "careful driving" campaigns much more than we need "don't jay-walk" campaigns.

Can It Make the Grade?

Corsets Sell Big While Radio City Is Held up

BY DEXTER H. TEED NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, June 24.—Like the remnant of a shelled cathedral, a five story brick building still stands in the "no-man's land" of demolition in West Fiftyth street where engines of destruction are clearing the way for the $250,000,000 "Radio City."

With a roar and a crash, great walls are toppling to earth nearby. Steam shovels tear great holes in the ground. Many men, armed with destroying implements, attack and raze old structures. The din is terrific. Within that remaining building, on the second floor, Madame Pierre corsetiere, holds the fort despite the bombardment without.

She's Unperturbed "You should wear a girdle, yes, like thees," she says calmly in her French accent as she fits "body gloves" to some round figure.

Outside, her "enemies" lay down a barrage that shakes the very foundations—as if in mockery. Madame Pierre is not perturbed. She won't move until her lease expires.

"No, no," she says excitedly. "My business, three years eet is here. Sometimes—you should see—the place ees filled. Many fine ladies come for fittings. Ah, eet is bad."

The construction company announces that Madame Pierre has been offered as much as $30,000 to move out, as the other tenants have, so that the building can be torn away. They say she demands $70,000. She says, however, that she would move for $40,000—if it were offered.

Only Remaining Tenant The lease is due to expire in November. But meanwhile tearing down all the buildings in the three-square block area between 48th and 51st from Fifth to sixth avenues has gone forward at a tremendous pace. The brick structure in which Madame Pierre holds forth is the only oasis in the desert of debris.

Like other persons who have stubbornly resisted the encroachments of progress, she is utterly disdainful. She isn't afraid, she says, not even with the great name of Rockefeller and millions of dollars backing the project.

Watching her fight to remain, many have recalled that a Scotswoman wouldn't move when they laid out the city of Washington. Even the pleas of the Father of His Country could not change his mind. There have been more modern instances of those who would not be dispossessed. But this is different. "You see," says Madame Pierre, "all my life I learn this business. In France I study and—" she stops and greets a customer.

"Ah, come in. Eet ees a pleasure. Just what you want I have. Would you be slenderized? Yes. You would wear a swell-hipped gown, then have the tapering form. Yes, eet ees good. Just a moment." Shop Is "No Man's Land" And she goes on:

STICKERS

Alone in the midst of a large area of destruction, where all other buildings are being cleared away to make room for New York's great "Radio City," stands the five-story building shown in the center of this picture, where Mme. Pierre and her little corset shop are successfully defying the contractors.

From outside comes the shriek of a steamshovel whistle, like a shank hurrying through space over "no-man's land." A wall crumbles. A dust-cloud rises, obscuring the sun. Raucous shouts of workmen contrast with her fluent French and the frail feminine symbols hanging in bouidors of the reception sala. Madame Pierre resents the intrusion of rough men into the genteel surroundings.

She proves it with a gesture. Outside, on the entrance under "Madam Pierre, Corsetiere," is a sign reading: "No man allowed."

Collapse of Little Entente Seen If Hungary Joins Proposed Tariff Union With Austria and Germany

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Writer

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 24.—While French and Czech statesmen are concentrating on preparation for a battle against the proposed economic unions of Austria with Germany, they seem to have overlooked entirely an important factor in the situation—what Hungary will do.

Briefly, the German-Austrian situation is this: when the various peace treaties of the World War were drawn up and forced on the defeated central powers, the old Austro-Hungarian empire, (about the size of Texas), was carved up. The independent republic of Czechoslovakia was set up. By this Bohemia and Moravia were taken from Austria and Slovakia from Hungary. Some other slices were also taken from Hungary.

Saved by a Loan

Austria remained a tiny republic, mostly mountain country, with 6,000,000 people, of whom 2,000,000 dwell in Vienna. Hungary remained a small kingdom without a king, containing 8,000,000 people, of whom 1,000,000 dwell in Budapest. Hungary could not live. Austria nearly died and was only rescued by a loan under the auspices of the League of Nations. Even today Austria is the sick nation of Europe. Its natural fate would be a customs union with Germany, but this the big powers refuse to countenance, for it would set up in central Europe a German speaking nation of some 70,000,000 people. It would bring Germany to the borders of Italy. It would surround Czechoslovakia on the better part of two sides. But it would give Austria the markets its industries so badly need. As it is today, Vienna has a hard time making a living because all the succession states have set up tariff walls against her and are trying to develop their own industries.

The proposed economic union of Austria with Germany would solve many of Austria's problems. She would be inside Germany's tariff walls, instead of outside them. She would find in Germany a market for the wares in which she specializes. Certain of the powers big and little, led by France, are straining to prevent this union. They say it breaks treaty and loan obligations undertaken by Austria. They add an economic union, if permitted, would be followed inevitably by a political union.

Hungary Sure to Join

But so far they have not considered an even more serious problem. For it is a certainty that if the German-Austrian union is permitted, Hungary will shortly join it. Responsible Hungarian statesmen say the do not see how Hungary could avoid this step. To one's surprise, here in Budapest, one finds that the Hungarians are no great German lovers. People ordinarily think, because Hungary fought by the side of Germany that they are all for Germany. This is to overlook history. To the Hungarians for centuries the enemy was the German Austrian. They were brought into the Austrian empire against their will.

The Hungarians are still today a predominantly agricultural people. Hungary is today suffering, like the rest of the wheat-raising countries of the world.

It has been estimated that the Hungarian peasant, who is now getting about 14 pengos per quintal of wheat—or about $2.52—would under an economic union get double or treble that sum in Germany.

Threat to Triple Entente

Said one Hungarian statesman to your correspondent:

"Prime Minister Bethlen could say to the wheat-raising peasants that the country must not join a tariff union which would so enhance the income of the peasants."

Take another look at the map and you will see how grave this would be for political conditions in Europe. It would mean a tariff union of 78,000,000 people. Czechoslovakia would be surrounded on three sides by this union. Its nearest friendly neighbor would be Poland, whose frontier marches only a short distance with that of the Czechs. Moreover, it would mean the beginning of the break-up of the Little Entente composed of the Czechs, Yugoslavs and Rumanians. Yugoslavia and Rumania are also predominantly agricultural nations. Unlike Czechoslovakia, they have not developed great industries. Their best customer, too, is Germany and nations do not ordinarily quarrel with their best customer. They, too, would probably come to some sort of understanding with Germany.

my hands for service, I, R. D. Lee as Constable of Midland County, Texas, did, on the 4th day of May 1931, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Midland, Midland County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: All Fractional Part Block 107-A Original Town of Midland, Texas and levied upon as the property of George Wallace and that on the first Tuesday in July 1931, the same being the 7th day of said month, at the Court House door of Midland County,

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

And then there was the columnist's boy who got a licking for telling a lie. Later, he asked, "Dad, when will I cease to be whipped for telling yams and get paid for it like you do?"

MAYBE I'M RIGHT

Efficiency expert: The guy whose wife told him to bring home the correct time, stopped at the Western Union and discovered that he had left his watch at home, wrote the time on a piece of paper and took it with him.

I heard that a local man stood and watched the emancipation dance until he was black in the face and then he joined the rest of the dancers.

Heard on a Midland street: Well, I believe I'll go round to the bank and cool off.

Two girls seated themselves in a cafe. One asked, "Anybody looking?"

"Nobody else in here."

"That's fine, we won't have to smoke."

The best news I've heard lately is that the gate fee for the horse races will be only four bits. A lot of folks, including myself, have to stay at home when they charge a dollar, even if the show is worth it; but they can't keep us from going when the charge is down to the price of a haircut. We can go without a couple of shaves just to see the hoss races. Oil men can get in for the very low cost of two barrels of crude and farmers for about four dozen eggs.

That Men's Bible class at Hotel Scharbauer is growing like a city bank. I noticed in yesterday's account of election of officers that they have four vice presidents.

Now you may think the handwriting specimen below is a series of notes taken in shorthand by Miss Daisy Lindsey, baseball playing stenographer and secretary, but it isn't. I have yet to receive any sort of communication from her. This is merely a note from a friend over in China. He is writing in to tell how he enjoys the news of our approaching horse races. Wun Bum Start, Framed Half Mile, or whatever his name is, seems to be an ardent race fan and says he would enjoy coming over for the two-day meet July 3 and 4 if he could get his passports arranged in time. Now if you don't think that's what he said, read his letter and send in your translation. All criticisms openly defied.

Lovely Summer Appointed Breakfast-Bridge Is Compliment to Mrs. Guy Mitchell, Dallas, By Mmes. Proctor and Pelphrey on Tuesday

Festive during Tuesday morning was the lovely appointed breakfast-bridge given in honor of Mrs. Guy Mitchell of Dallas by Mrs. Foy Proctor, sister-in-law of the honoree, and Mrs. W. O. Pelphrey in the crystal room of Hotel Scharbauer.

Colorful summer motif in shades of orchid, green, yellow and pink was used in all the party details.

Tables for the three-course breakfast were attractive, laid in lace and linen and centered with green and pink shaded roses. Other bunches of roses and ferns graced the rooms.

For the bridge games tables were appointed with gay covers of the rainbow tints and tallies and score books harmonizing.

Packages daintily wrapped in the party colors were won by Mrs. A. S. Legg, first high, Miss Lula Elkin, second high and Mrs. Homer W. Rowe, low cut.

The hostesses also honored Mrs. Mitchell with a lovely gift.

Included on the guest list were Mmes. Frank Elkin, J. M. Caldwell, Clarence Scharbauer, Elliott Cowden, O. B. Holt Jr., George Glass, Frank Cowden, George Abell, W. A. Yeager, Hollis Tyson, A. J. Gates, M. C. Ulmer, Homer Rowe, Henry Wolcott, Robert Fasken, Ray Veale, Roy Parks, Jack Holmsley, Charles Klapproth, John Dublin.

Miss Jones and Mr. Girdley Married Quietly Saturday

The marriage of Miss Juanita Jones and Mr. Fred Girdley, both of Midland, was solemnized in a quiet ceremony Saturday afternoon in Mineral Wells.

After a week's honeymoon visiting in Dallas, the couple will return to Midland to make their home.

Mrs. Girdley has lived in Midland several months, coming here with her mother from Fort Worth.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Girdley, is a member of one of West Texas' most prominent families. He is now employed in the wholesale department of the Gulf Production company.

Program and Picnic Entertainment for Methodist Circles

Meeting at the church first for a short program and business meeting, 25 members of the Bell Bennett and Mary Scharbauer circles of the Methodist auxiliary were the guests at a picnic lunch at noon Tuesday at the city park.

At the church, Mrs. J. M. Prothol led the devotional and Mrs. J. Holt Jewell read a story of "Women's New Day in China."

Mrs. Charles Coffee, president, took charge of the meeting and conducted various business matters.

Mrs. Myrick Gives Party at Park For Class

Mrs. Clint Myrick, teacher of the H. G. Bedford Senior class of young people of the First Christian church entertained members with an ice cream supper at Cloverdale Sunday evening.

Ice cream and soda water were served after games of indoor ball and races.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Myrick, Rev. and Mrs. Howard Peters, Misses Catherine and Lillian Dunaway, Zonelle Post, Velma Winborne, Virginia Garrett, Ada Driver, Mrs. John Henry Wallace; Messrs. Bush Elkins, Tom Potter, Howard Dunaway, Johnny Capp and Levi Driver.

Free Concert by Simmons Artists Week's Attraction

A brilliant concert of master compositions played by an outstanding violin artist, Christian Thaulow, accompanied by an eminent pianist, Josef Evans, both fine arts faculty members of Simmons university, will be the free attraction for Midland people tomorrow evening at 8:15 at the First Methodist church.

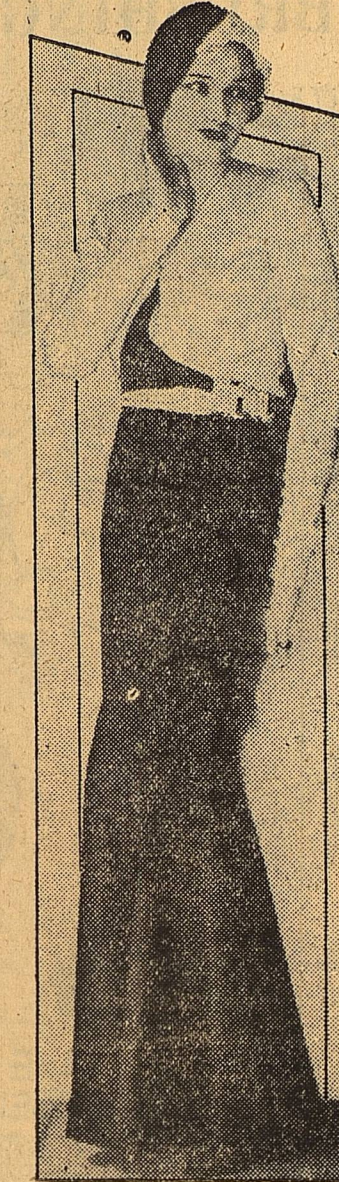

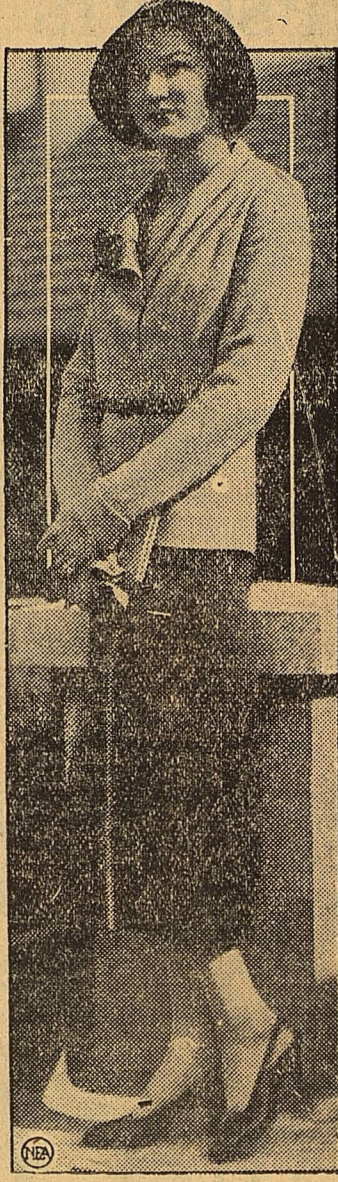

The program Mr. Thaulow will present follows: Violin Concerto (First movement)—Johannes Brahms, Cadenza by Fritz Kreisler.

Old Vienna—Godowsky-Thaulow. The Chase—Cartier-Kreisler. Liebesleid—Kreisler. Ave Maria—Schubert-Wilheljm. Romanza Andaluza—Sarasate. Gypsy Airs—Sarasate.

Miss Mabel Gamble of Dallas is in Midland this week as a house guest of Mrs. Alice Mason.

New Modes and Moods in Colors

A striking color combination is secured by these white crepe pajamas being worn with a maroon satin coat which is lined with orange.

On this navy blue satin dress, Jean Patou has placed a jacket of opaline green linen, making a bold contrast of color and fabric.

Black and white, perhaps the most favored of all combinations, is expressed in a very original and pleasing way in this Patou cocktail dress.

Choice Cooks' Corner

Curry of chicken is served in a border of rice with garnish of shredded coconut, currant jelly and chopped almonds.

Curry of Chicken: Three tablespoons butter, 1 small onion, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 scant teaspoon salt, 1 cup thin cream, 11-2 cups chicken stock, 3 cups diced chicken, 4 cups cooked rice, 1-2 cup shredded coconut, 4 tablespoons chopped almonds, 4 tablespoons currant jelly.

Melt butter and add onion finely minced. Cook over a low fire until onion is tender. Add flour, curry powder and salt mixed and sifted. Stir and cook until bubbling and frothy. Add cream and stock and cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Cook three minutes and add diced chicken. Cook over boiling water for ten minutes and serve in a border of rice. Arrange coconut in a band across the center of the curry, place a line of jelly on either side of coconut, and put the nuts in mounds at the ends, just inside the border.

Chicken snow is a combination of chicken and potatoes that is unusual and practical.

Big Stars Flash Unguessed Power In Potent Roles

At the peak of a new country-wide craze comes the third of the Josef von Sternberg-Marlene Dietrich smash sensations, "Dishonored," at the Ritz theatre today and Thursday.

Dietrich is the new craze—like a comet she burst on America in "Morocco" to create more interest, and discussion than has any other actress in the past decade; she soared to new heights in "The Blue Angel." Now, backed by an assured public interest and supported by all the resources of the Paramount studio, she bursts into real fame in this new picture.

Co-starring with the popular Victor McLaglen—Dietrich is here cast with a male star whose roistering portrayals in "What Price Glory?" "The Cock-Eyed World" and a score of other successful and outstanding pictures have made him one of the leading men of the screen. And, in "Dishonored," he has a role similar in character to those which won him fame—a reckless, mocking young officer playing dangerously at love.

The story of "Dishonored" is, without doubt, the best Dietrich has had so far. It is based on facts in the life of one of the war's most glamorous women spys. It bristles with menace, sparkles with brilliant settings and tense action throughout. Its dramatic situations are swell subjects for dramatic ad copy.

In selling "Dishonored" concentrate on Dietrich and the story, but don't overlook the bets with which Paramount has surrounded the star. McLaglen has millions of followers everywhere. His name is known. Von Sternberg is an advertising asset. "Morocco" and Dietrich brought him to the attention of the public more vividly than any other director in a long time. His name carries lots of weight and will bear exploitation, especially if tied up with "Morocco" and "The Blue Angel."

The supporting cast includes Lew Cody, for years a familiar and likable figure on the screen and Gustav von Seyffertitz, and experienced actor whose heavy roles have added weight to many a thrilling episode. Warner Oland, recently featured in his own right in the "Fu Manchu" pictures, and Barry Norton are also in the group.

Chicken Snow: Two cups hot rice, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup hot milk, 2 cups diced chicken, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

Beat egg until light and add with butter, salt and milk to potatoes. Beat hard and add chicken and parsley. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake 20 minutes in a modern oven. Serve with creamed peas and fruit salad.

REPORTER-TELEGRAM AND DE LUXE LAUNDRY TAKE LOOSE GAMES

Invitational Tournament Here July 4 and 5 Attracts Big Net List

NO GAMES CARDED UNTIL THURSDAY EVENING

In a procession of hits, runs and errors, The Reporter-Telegram and the De Luxe laundry managed to take games from Rexall stores and Cowden-Epley motors last night at Pagoda diamond.

The Reporter-Telegram and Rexall game resulted in a 16-10 score, the laundrymen and motor-men keeping down their tallies, 13-7. Twenty-eight errors were committed in the two games.

The newspaper-Soda Papa game was played faster than any early game of the season, ending several minutes before the flood lights were turned on.

Both games were loosely played, balls hitting players and taking extra-base hops. A large percentage of fly balls hit the ground and scoring was continuous.

Next games are Thursday evening, Cowden-Epley playing Midland Hardware and Rexall stores playing Bell Telephone.

SPORTS REPORTS

BY R. C. HANKINS

The women's playground ball racket has gone to the bow wows, apparently. Colonel, a large German police belonging to Irene Hemphill, romped out in left field for the Petroleum girls, took a fast rolling ball before the left fielder could recover it and carried the ball in a jiffy to Mrs. Hemphill at second base. A good crowd laughed at the antics of the dog and forgot to watch the game from there out.

It was a dog gone good play, at that, one of the fellow rail birds opined.

Jacque Kinkle, new recruit of the Petrol girls.

Incidentally, we get a couple of buzzes, one over Bob Hunter's intricate telephone system and the other at the horn button of a big automobile out front. "Announce that the Business Girls and Petroleum Girls play Thursday afternoon at 7 o'clock, Scharbauer diamond." The other message was ditto. We take it the girls want people to come out to their games. After watching one the other afternoon, we have decided to carry a box of sparring gloves for the sweet ones who can't control their temper, even remotely.

Miss Herb, inventor of a device that makes old cars last longer and now at work on a bib for eating July 4 barbecue in public, has been in to advise that a couple of errors charged against him a few nights ago should be corrected. He swears the second error was made when the ball, a rain raker, swept up against a light line. He is right, we saw the ball hit. Do we get the coco coco now? We saw the ball one other time that night, hearing it pass us on third base several times. Note to players who would like to stop making errors: turn your back to the

At any rate, the one cylinder doesn't suit any more. And it once was a good old wagon.

STRIBLING FREES SELF OF INJURY JINX FOR FIGHT

By CLAIRE BURCKY

NEA Service Sports Writer
GEAUGA LAKE PARK, O.—Aches and pains, wrenches and bruises—W. L. Stribling II might have been a world champion fighter long ago had he not been pursued by the injury jinx. But so far as I can learn, he hasn't a thing the matter with him at this stage of his preparation for the fight with Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling in Cleveland July 3.

Perhaps it's just as well for the champion that W. L. has only a hangnail on his thumb instead of a sprained hand like he had before the Von Porat fight. Pa Stribling might "hop up" his son with the same kind of stuff he injected in W. L.'s left prior to the Von Porat encounter—and the result might be curtains for Maxie in the first round. I don't know how far this sore thumb ailment has gone. Stribling didn't mention it. Herbert (Baby) Stribling, the challenger's 24-year-old brother, told me about it. Evidently it doesn't amount to much.

Ohio's branch of the Madison Square Garden corporation, as a means of guarding against Stribling's injury jinx, forbid him the use of his airplane or motor boat in the training camp. They let him have his big sedan, but urged that he obey the Ohio speed laws. All was fine—the challenger was taking care of his valuable arms and legs—until a motorcycle agency seeking publicity, presented him with one of their new machines. "You stay off that danged thing," cautioned Pa. "We can't have you getting a broken arm or leg with the fight coming on. Stay away from it—let it stand out in front of press headquarters."

But Pa went to Atlanta for a few days—and W. L. hopped on his new toy and took a whirl through the park. He craved speed and he got it—while Pa wasn't looking. "I'll have him in perfect shape for that fight," says Lake Russell, Lake is head football coach at Mercer.

University in Macon, Ga., but right now he's head man at the rubbing table in W. L.'s private dressing room. "He's feeling fine. He wants to work oftener than his prescribed four times a week in the ring."

Russell and I watched the handsome Georgian step a round of shallow boxing. Lake knows a couple of football coaches that I know, so we started talking football. "Could you use a man like that on your Mercer club?" I asked. "Could I use him!" burst out Russell. "What football team couldn't use a tackle that moves around as sprightly as W. L.? And wouldn't a halfback look good with a stiff arm as tough as his straight left? It's a shame he never played the game. I guess Pa and Ma both turned thumbs down on football."

From all the hub-bub raised last March in Miami, you might have thought Primo Carnera was the first who ever lost track of a rib. But Willie Stribling should be credited with that stunt. He misplaced one in Miami in 1929, beating Carnera by two full years. "It happened during a brisk work out a week before the fight," reminisced Pa Stribling. "W. L. let loose a long, overhand shot and immediately felt a twinge of pain high up on his side. After the round he complained. An examination showed that he had displaced an upper rib, about an eighth of an inch or so. It wasn't much, but it worried him. And to make matters worse, a slight attack of neuritis developed in his arm. We massaged him carefully—painfully to him. You may recall that there was talk of substituting Paolina against Sharkey. "That's the story of Young Stribling's sore shoulder. A year ago he developed a sore hand. It was only two days before his fight with Von Porat in Chicago. As soon as word of his injury came out, people started talking about alibis. "There were no bones broken but his hand was sprained," explained Baby Stribling. "We thought it was a recurrence of an injury he got about four months before. "The night of the fight, we got permission to deaden the pain in his hand with cocaine. Several of us had to hold him while he took seven shots in that left fist. "That left fist" was the one that exploded on Von Porat's chin in the first round. The challenger appears mentally alert and keyed to a higher pitch than he has been for previous fights. He apparently realizes that this is his last big chance—possibly his last chance.

In the ring he seems impatient, surly, eager to get going. Between rounds he stands in his corner, disdaining the stool placed there for him to sit on. If his sparmates hang on too long in clinches—and almost every one of them does at least once each round—he fairly snarls at Stribling impresses me as being eager for July 3 and Max Schmeling. One of his sparring partners told me the same "impression" jolted him "let loose."

GOLF as the STARS Play It by ART KRENZ

How do you execute short chip shots?

It is advisable to stand fairly erect with an open stance in making chip shots. A firm grip on the club should be maintained.

As in the putt, the backswing will vary according to the distance to be traversed. Usually it will be a short backswing, for the distance is nearly always short.

As the club is taken back, the left knee bends only slightly, since the pivot is not great. The club head should be kept low and close to the ground, hitting the ball cleanly and accurately as it sweeps through. No turf is necessary. A player's tendency to raise his head is greater in this shot, so Keep Your Head Down.

Play Enacts Historic Struggle

UPSALA, Iowa. (UP)—Against a setting of ancient Viking burial mounds a colorful religious spectacle has been produced at Old Upsala, near here. Written by Ole Thunman, Swedish poet and artist, the play described the dramatic struggle between paganism and Christian faith. The actors and actresses were attired in costumes of that period.

Women Are Entering; Trophies Will Be Given

A great invitational tennis tourney will be played in Midland two days, July 4 and 5, it was announced today by W. Godbey, in charge of plans.

Players, men and women, will be here from as far away as El Paso, and six courts will be required for playing off matches in the time allotted. While acceptance of invitations are pouring in, eliminations will be held here Friday and Saturday. In the meantime, practice hours for contestants have been arranged. Women will practice on the Dr. Jno. B. Thomas court on West Wall any hour from early in the morning to six o'clock in the afternoon. "Any hours at this court," Mrs. George T. Abell, in charge of the woman entries, said.

Women who have entered are: Miss Stella Maye Lanham, Mrs. Bill Blackman, Mrs. Carl Covington, Miss Dora Evans, Mrs. Veale, Mrs. Tom Flood.

Courts to be used are: country club, Mrs. Abell's, B. Thomas', Earl Horst's, R. C. Crabb's.

HAVE YOU MET THE LADY WHO NEVER READS THE ADS?

GO INTO her kitchen. The shelves are filled with familiar brands of soup and foods of all sorts. Her electric iron and ice-box have been advertised regularly. So have her rugs and towels and table silver. Somebody must have been reading "the ads" . . . asking for known quality . . . buying the goods . . . giving them leadership.

Few women now are content to miss the marvelous comforts of the times. Almost every one is planning to make next year easier and pleasanter than this year. You read the advertisements with interest because in them you find the freshest news and the most practical ideas about keeping house—and about all other branches of the modern art of living.

Naturally, your interest and your confidence grow when you see the same product appearing over and over again. Improved . . . better now than ever, but an old friend anyway. Something you can rely on to meet a need, and do a job.

Follow the advertisement in this paper carefully. They are full of interesting facts and useful ideas. They will save you time and money . . . and bring you better things.

REUNION CROWDS AT STAMFORD ARE COMING IN FAST

STAMFORD, June 24.—The number of early arrivals of out of town people in Stamford during the first part of the week for the second annual program of the Texas Cowboy Reunion of Thursday, Friday and Saturday indicates that the attendance will be considerably larger than last year, officials of the organization declare.

Several ranch outfits were in and camped on the reunion grounds Tuesday and others were expected Wednesday morning. Camp fires at chuck wagons were glimmering over the prairie and the picket line of horses about the various camps were reminders that the cowboys were here.

Scores of cowboys who will enter the rodeo contests are in town; groups of pioneer cattlemen are to be seen on the streets and the general public is well represented about the town and on the reunion reservation.

All details for the opening of the affair Thursday morning are in good shape. W. G. Swenson, president and general manager of the association reports. The rodeo arena, corrals and chutes have been considerably improved since last year. The new arrangements will allow putting on the contests in a faster manner, he thinks. All the fences and buildings have been painted white and blue and the new grandstand is ready for use.

The open-air dance pavilion where the cowboy dances will be staged each evening after the close of the rodeo program is in shape. New lights have been provided to make the show in the evening, which will start at 8 p. m. as easy to see as the one in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. The initial feature of the affair will be the formal opening of the reunion with a public program at the Stamford City Auditorium at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. All men and women who saw actual service on the ranges prior to 1895 will be registered and provided with special badges which will entitle them to numerous courtesies.

man dirigible Graf Zeppelin. As they left they said they expected to cover the 2,860 miles between here and Berlin in 19 hours, three minutes.

Backed by Oil Man
The Winnie Mae is named for a daughter of F. C. Hall, of Chickasha, Oklahoma, a wealthy oil operator. Mrs. Hall, who died in September, 1930, suggested the flight and Hall assumed its financing to carry out her wish.

Post entered Hall's employ several years ago after a period of barnstorming. He learned to fly in 1924 going out solo after one hour and 40 minutes of instruction. His log now shows 3,100 hours of solo flying. He was a participant in the 1929 Ford air tour and later a Lockheed test pilot. Flying the same ship now winging the Atlantic, Post last September won the non-stop derby from Los Angeles to the national air forces at Chicago.

Post was born in Grand Prairie, Texas. He is 32 years old. His parents, William and May Post, now live in Maysville, Okla. He was married in June 1928, to Miss May Laine of Sweetwater, Texas. They have no children.

Gatty, trained in the Royal Australian naval college and in commercial shipping for six years, was with Harold Bromley in an attempted Japan-to-America flight last September. They had been up more than 25 hours and were 1,200 miles at sea when a broken exhaust ring forced them back. Gatty was in bed two months suffering from carbon monoxide gas poisoning.

'Twould Make Good Arno Cartoon

Just what happened in the wee small hours of that morning in Reno isn't exactly clear, but Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., lower right, through his attorney, says he became so incensed when he saw Mrs. Vanderbilt, upper right, and Peter Arno, left, divorce-seeking cartoonist, alight from an auto in front of the Vanderbilt home that he obtained a gun and started after the artist. Arno, who Vanderbilt accuses of paying "persistent attentions" to his wife, lives nearby and started walking toward his own home. Half way over to the Arno residence, Vanderbilt says he came to his senses and returned home. Then he discovered that the gun wasn't loaded! Arno denies knowledge of the event, but Reno's police chief says the artist complained that he had been threatened with bodily harm by Vanderbilt.

Trained Mrs. Lindbergh
He is regarded as one of the best navigators in the country and was Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's trainer. He has written several important textbooks on navigation, with collaborators, and independently has penned many magazine articles on marine and aerial observation.

Retiring from the sea in 1927 he opened a navigation school at Los Angeles with a branch in San Diego. A native of Australia, he is 28 and his home is in Los Angeles. His wife is the former Miss Vera McCulloch, of Sydney, and he has three sons. His parents live in Tasmania. The Gatty-Post plane is a Lockheed Vega, driven by Wasp engine of 425 horsepower and developing 590 with a 1-to-10 supercharger.

Texas Claims Post
West Texas lays claim to Wiley Post, who last night was speeding over the Atlantic to Berlin on a projected world-girdling flight against time. His wife, May Laine Post, whom he married in 1928, also is a West Texan.

Post, some 20 years ago when he was a barefoot lad, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Post, on a farm four miles south of Caps, this county, and May Laine, when a 16-year-old girl, moved with her parents from East Texas to the Divide community in Nolan county, 20-odd miles southeast of Sweetwater.

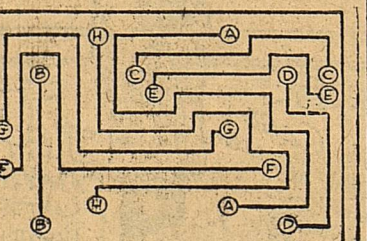

The Posts lived in the Caps community one year and Wiley attended the Caps school. Roy Quattlebaum, long-time Caps resident, said last night. Post, now thirty-two years of age, "was quite a small boy and just an ordinary youngster" when he lived in these parts, Mr. Quattlebaum said.

MAYSVILLE, Okla., June 24, (UP)—Confident that their son would succeed in his attempt to circle the globe in 10 days, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Post continued cutting hay on their farm near here today.

SWEETWATER, June 24, (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Laine, farmers near here, said they felt better today when informed that their son-in-law, Wiley Post, had completed the Atlantic leg of his around the world flight.

J. C. Burney was a business visitor in Odessa this week with B. A. Bates, Ben Dunn and J. D. Echols.

Next Season's Movies to Show Illicit Love

Because every new success starts a Hollywood "gold rush" of imitations, we may expect next season the strange combination of films featuring illicit love and films featuring children's comedies, predicts Robert E. Sherwood, pioneer critic. Tracing the history of previous fads, he tells what to expect next season, in McCall's for July:

"It is the fixed and immovable rule in the movie business that the unique successes of one season will become the monotonous repetitions of the next. Whenever some random prospector in Hollywood digs up a 'theme' that finds favor with the public, the entire industry indulges in a frantic, helter-skelter gold rush. Thus, Theda Bara's first triumph, A Fool There Was, promoted an avalanche of vampire dramas. The Covered Wagon was followed by innumerable epics of the old west. After What Price Glory? and The Big Parade every studio was jammed with carousing doughboys and acquiescent mademoiselles from Armentiers. In the wake of Flaming Youth came countless orgies of bobbed hair, short skirts, jazz and gin.

"Lately, following the success of The Doorway to Hell and Little Caesar, Hollywood and its patrons have been suffering from a congestion of gangsters. The Finger Points; Dance, Fools, Dance; The Public Enemy; Quick Millions—these and a host of others have been concerned with the activities of Chicago's most celebrated industry, and at the moment of writing, there are many more to come, including one called Put On the Spot and another bearing the brief but revelatory title, Scarface.

"Next season we may look forward to a superabundance of films of two distinct types: tales of illicit love and its bitter consequences, an imitation of The Easiest Way, Strangers May Kiss and Millie; and a vast number of sentimental comedies about children, designed by Tom Sawyer and Skippy.

"Sex-stuff and kid-stuff—as these technically known—will prevail on all programs in 1931. Surely a strange combination, but not astonishing to those who are accustomed to the fantastic trends of policy in Hollywood. Some years ago the industry decided to specialize in pictures dealing with big spiritual themes, like The Ten Commandments, and with hot romances of the burning sands, like The Sheik.

"Usually, the imitations of a colossal success prove nothing except that the masterpiece which inspired them was inimitable. We may Ochoa said. But Ochoa said he would return in several weeks to resume operations. "When I do," he said, "I am going to build concrete houses to keep out the fleas. You cannot sleep there for the hordes of fleas."

The entire Tambor district, Ochoa reported, comprises 50 square miles and there are other creeks and numerous arroyos, all of which are just as rich in gold as in the main Tambor creek vicinity. Ochoa further states that Llantada controls practically all of the area.

The El Tambor range, Ochoa relates, consists of three mountains so old they have reached the point of obliteration, considering what their original size must have been.

"Where these mountains have eroded," Ochoa said, "the gold has been left in dirt which is 50 yards thick on the top and sides of the mountains. The fill from these eroding mountains runs to the Pacific Ocean."

For centuries, Ochoa believes, the pack-road which runs by Tambor creek has been used from Guadalupe de los Reyes to San Ignacio as an outlet for the gold and silver, but no one ever thought of taking a look at the Tambor section. Alfred Alarcon and Hospicio Torres, Ochoa said, discovered the Tambor section about six months ago. Many men, women and children from Cosala then were attracted to the site and gathered gold.

Llantada, a former resident of Cosala, was appealed to by citizens of Cosala when the dispute with San Ignacio was at its peak. He agreed to help out the citizens and thereafter operate the mine on a 50-50 basis, Ochoa said.

testing the potash deposits of New Mexico and West Texas. The completion of the entire program to develop commercial deposits of potash in the United States will be brought about through the drilling of a 24th well in Utah as soon as the two wells now being drilled in New Mexico are completed. The Utah well will be the only test by the government outside New Mexico and West Texas. It is said that by means of the 23 test holes in the section of the country, the U. S. geological survey will be able to map the potash deposits in the southwest. The drilling of the test holes has been divided between the Sullivan Machinery company and the Pennsylvania Drilling company.

interfering?" asked the court. Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio risked contempt by denouncing the court opinion on the floor of the Texas senate.

The state now provides a force of 100 trained motor police, distinctively uniformed in gray, to patrol the roads. Besides their guns they carry first-aid kits for accidents.

Monday wired Shumway Siple would include Abilene in his itinerary. "The Chisholm Trail area should give Siple an enthusiastic greeting, in view of the fact that his short stay in the section limits his appearances, and he has selected Abilene as one of five stops. Leaders in the council hope every scout troop in the area's seven counties will attend the program to be held here honoring Siple. All scout workers, and school officials will be asked to attend.

Siple's schedule in the Southwest includes appearance at Oklahoma City June 30, Bartlesville July 1, Fort Worth July 2, Abilene July 3, and Dallas July 4. He will arrive here in the morning and depart late in the evening.

MEETING CLOSES

BIG SPRING.—The Humble Oil & Refining company's school closed here Saturday and 100 company agents were in session. The school was conducted by "Pop" Mabry and Tom Moore. Bob White, general sales manager, Dan Monroe, his assistant, E. W. Berry, district manager of western district and G. W. Gallette, district manager, Breckenridge district, were here for the meeting. Agents from Big Spring, Colorado, Sweetwater, Snyder, Lamesa, Milford, San Angelo, Eldorado and Odessa attended.

Wesley Shull and his mother, Mrs. J. E. Skinner spent the week end visiting in Roaring Springs. Mrs. Skinner later returned to her home in Louisiana after spending several weeks here.

A Detroit filling station was recently held up by a bandit riding a bicycle.

Hoboes Take to The Rails Again

The song of the rails is making a come-back among hoboes, brakemen on trains running through here say. While the unusual large number as found on freight trains during the winter months failed to make their appearance during the latter part of spring and so far this summer, the increase over the last few summers is noted, they say.

Whether the refusal of many motorists to pick-up highway travelers, or an increased number of drifters due to unemployment causes the numerous freight riders, is not determined. However, all agree a gradual return to the old hobo practice exists.

Very seldom an unexperienced traveler plants himself on a freight, the brakemen say. Apparently they prefer more safe means of transportation, seeking lifts of motorists along highways. A college youth returning home from his studies, via gratis routes, seldom selects box car accommodations.

A detected man invariably leaves his hiding place without argument, but swings the next train along and continues his traveling as though uninterrupted. In many cases they board the same freight as it gets underway.

Southwest Texas receives an alarming flood of hoboes, coming South, during the late fall and winter months, seeking warmer climates, the brakemen say. Where the average West Texans judge cold weather from flocks of ducks and geese flying southward, the railroad men forecast weather by the number of men endeavoring to work their way south aboard freights.

Many cities to the more extreme southern sections of the United States contain large hobo camps at their outskirts, requiring dispersing by local officers. An instance was cited where an entire carload were ordered from Del Rio during the last winter.

The inexperienced train bum is easily detected, the brakemen say, through his selection of hiding places. He often selects a coal car or box car and extends his head above the edge or around the door as an approach to each town is made.

Many personal affairs of the riders are listened to, while the greater portion are framed for sympathy in an extension of further transportation. Every hobo has his chosen

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—When the collection plate is passed in front of J. H. Anderson, member of the Southern Baptist church and the First Baptist church of Knoxville, every Sunday, he calmly drops in $750. This amount is toward Anderson's annual pledge to the church, in addition to special donations running from $10,000 to $50,000. Anderson, prominent business man, has been quoted as saying, in this regard: "This represents no sacrifice to me. I live comfortably and have plenty of money for my own needs. The people who should be honored are those who have little and yet through sacrifice contribute their tithes. "People doing most for the Kingdom are those who have the least left. POOLE, Eng., June 24, (UP)—Ten persons were killed in an explosion at the Royal Cordite factory at Holton Heath today.

Rescuers searched the ruins for other bodies.

WOMEN LEAD MEN

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—The women have the best of it here, in numbers, at least. Women outnumbered the men by 16,329, according to census figures announced June 3. There were 4,500 more females under the age of 21 than males.

There are 18,850 of mixed or foreign parentage in the city. This number is considerably lower than shown ten years ago.
