Dreiser Case May Bring Bitter Fight in Courts

A Remarkable Case

Theodore Dreiser, above, and John W. Davis, below, author and attorney respectively in famous syndicalism case of Kentucky coal fields. The author is one of the most famous in America, and Davis was once the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

New Mexico Potash Is Declared Rich

Potash deposits in New Mexico exceed in richness those of Germany, Sterling B. Talmage, professor of geology at the New Mexico School of Mines declared in an address before the New Mexico Association of Science. Specimens of halite and silvite found in a 7-foot stratum in eastern New Mexico were exhibited. Similar statements have been made by Texas scientists regarding the enormous Midland county deposit.

Sentence Given Here Affirmed

AUSTIN, Nov. 25. (UP)—The court of criminal appeals affirmed the sentence of R. Giles from Midland county today. Giles was convicted on a liquor charge.

By DEXTER H. TEED, NEA Service Writer. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.) NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The indictment of Theodore Dreiser, one of America's foremost novelists, and other members of the committee that investigated conditions in the Kentucky coal fields on a charge of criminal syndicalism has developed into a critical situation that may result in a show down on such laws in particular and free speech in general.

When formal request is made by Bell county authorities for extradition of Dreiser and the others, the decision will be up to Governor Roosevelt, himself a potential presidential candidate.

No one can foretell what Roosevelt will do in this unquestionably ticklish situation. Three years ago he refused extradition of Fred G. Bientenkapp and Paul Crouch to Massachusetts. These men were wanted in Massachusetts on somewhat similar charges to those now facing Dreiser.

Governor Roosevelt refused on the ground that the accused had not been molested while in Massachusetts, and had been sought only after they had left the state; therefore they were not fugitives from justice in the Federal sense.

"Never Made a Speech" Of the charges that he tried to inflame the miners by addressing them, he says this: "I never made a speech in my life."

Explains Charity Donation His answer to these questions is that they merely sought to discredit the committee investigation and to prevent the true facts of horrible distress among the miners from being published.

FAITH IN HUMANITY

Civilization, says Professor Kenneth S. Latourette of Yale, may be on the verge of a new "dark ages." Within a few years, or even a few months, he says, society may collapse and its fragments may be drawn into a whirlpool of misery and chaos unparalleled in modern history.

What makes his prediction so ominous is the fact that this scholar is not alone in his pessimism. Some of the wisest men of our time, looking to the future, can see nothing but disaster. Any thinking man must have moments in which everything ahead seems exceedingly gloomy.

The only comfort is that things are hardly ever quite as bad as they seem. Human beings, somehow, have a way of seeing destruction lying in wait just around the corner. They also, without realizing it, have a way of muddling through, a way of surviving when survival seems highly improbable.

And one reason why the darkest prophecies so seldom come true is probably that most of us, deep in our hearts, do not really believe in them. Deeply embedded in man's consciousness, illogical but enduring, is the unspoken conviction that he is on earth, as the phrase used to go, for a purpose; that he is slowly and painfully moving upward, and will continue to do so, not because he is wise and far-seeing but simply because he is riding a current that wells up from the very fountains of the universe.

We seldom talk about that feeling. It is seldom expressed in public speeches, in newspaper articles, in books or in magazines—and, when it is, the intellectuals promptly laugh it to scorn. Yet the feeling persists. No age has entirely lacked it. We are confident of our destiny.

And that confidence, in its turn, breeds courage; the courage which enables the race to live through its world wars, its financial breakdowns, its disillusionments and its black catastrophes. The abyss may lie just ahead, but beyond it there is a new slope to surmount, on which the light will be clearer.

That, or something like it, is what most of us believe. We may be wrong—but the belief at least keeps us from panic.

DANGER OF LYE

One of the most excellent bits of advice ever issued for the housewife comes from Dr. Chevalier Jackson, the famous specialist of the Temple University Medical Center in Philadelphia. It has to do with lye—that useful household compound which can be, on occasions, extremely dangerous.

"Very few mothers," says Dr. Jackson, "realize that lye looks like sugar and is very tempting to a baby. If he sees it he is almost certain to put some in his mouth; and when this happens the child's throat is fearfully burned. Ulcers follow the burns; when the burns heal they leave scars that close the throat. The child will then die of starvation unless treatment is promptly instituted—and the treatment will take many months, sometimes a year or more."

That warning ought to be tacked up in every kitchen. If you have lye in the house, be sure that it is always kept where no child can reach it.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW

A recent well-publicized shooting has raised anew the question of the "unwritten law," by which a brother is held justified in killing a man who has betrayed his sister; and the comments of Judge Ben B. Lindsey are, perhaps, worth a little of your consideration.

"I have never yet," says Judge Lindsey, "seen a case of that sort which could not be settled around the dinner table, or before some persons who could act as advisor. The girl might be persuaded to discontinue her associations with the man; if she loves him, or will not stop seeing him, the couple should marry. But there's never an excuse for gunplay in a problem of that kind."

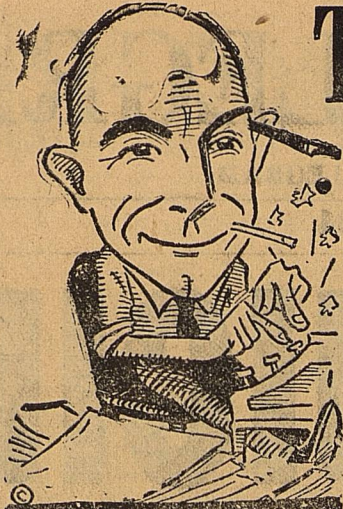

This, it seems to us, is a neat little dose of common sense for a situation that is very seldom discussed calmly or rationally.

Side Glances . . . . . by Clark

"And I'd like for you boys in the orchestra to give me a few more laughs at today's matinee—can'tcha?"

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

The editor told me to be on the watch for day time programs from a new short wave station and to advise him if I found out where the programs were coming from. He said he heard it was on 960 cycles, but, as he is famous for not knowing much about radio tuning, that advice may be all wet. Anyway, between 10 and 12 every morning and 4 and 6 in the afternoon, I'm going to try to pick it up.

It is said that when Eddie Cantor testified in a court case recently, laughter shook the rafters of the building. Just another case of Eddie's bringing the house down.

They say that soccer has become one of the most important international sports. I guess if Japan doesn't fall in line, some of the sportsmen from over the world will want to soccer.

Did you hear about the cow-puncher who went to the dance and didn't know anybody. By way of starting conversation, he claimed that his brother could jump 25 feet, backwards, uphill and against the wind. Now you tell one.

Present standing of teams in the district: Sweetwater, won 4, lost 0; Big Spring and San Angelo, won 3, lost 1; Midland, won 2, lost 2; McCamey and Colorado, won 0, lost 4. After this week end, here will be the standing: Sweetwater, won 4, lost 1; Big Spring, won 4, lost 1; San Angelo, won 3, lost 2; Midland, won 3, lost 2; McCamey, won 1, lost 4; Colorado won 0, lost 5. You see that would pit Sweetwater and Big Spring in first place, Midland and San Angelo in second place, McCamey in third and Colorado in fourth. Pardon me for indulging too greatly in sports. SOCIETY

Midland Meets the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Coleman at Reception Tuesday Evening At Presbyterian Church; Many Attend

One of the loveliest parties to introduce a new minister and wife to Midland society was given at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening when the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Coleman were received by church members and guests.

Informality reigned in both the program and social hours of the evening. Women of the church were hostesses, arranging the decorations, programs and tea service.

The altar of the auditorium was gorgeously decorated with huge shaggy chrysanthemums of all colors and profusions of other fall blooms.

Mr. Frank Stubbeman, presiding as master of ceremonies, was entertaining in his introduction of participants of the program. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Howard Peters and was followed by a beautiful solo by Mrs. Jack Hawkins.

Miss Lucille McMullan, reader, was another splendid entertainer, presenting a reading. The official church welcome to the Rev. and Mrs. Coleman was given by Mr. Stubbeman. Mr. Coleman responded.

A piano solo by the church pianist, Mrs. Emily Kannon, was enjoyed. Talks filled with witty expressions were by Mr. Peters and the Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun.

Mrs. Arthur Stout and Mrs. L. H. McBride sang a sacred duet. Mr. Calhoun delivered the closing prayer. Tea plates were passed by the women to approximately 100 guests.

New ladies' dresses daily at McMullan's.

Y. W. A. Members Study Chapters Of Mission Book

Chapters seven and eight of "Signal Fires on the Mountain" were covered in a study by the Young Women's auxiliary at the Baptist church Tuesday night. Mrs. L. A. Grantham, teacher, conducted the study.

Plans were started for a program to be given December 2 as an observance of the week of prayer, which is next week.

Miss Lucille McMullan, presiding hostess, served candies after the business and program. Members present were Annie Faye Dunagan, Lois Walker, Leola and Ruby Kerby, Evelyn Adams, Marguerite Grantham, Lucille McMullan, Mrs. W. A. Hyatt and Mrs. Grantham.

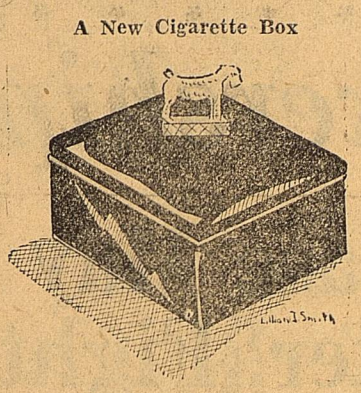

Study of Holy Spirit Is Continued

Continuing the study of "The Work of the Holy Spirit in Conversion," members of the Bible class of the Church of Christ met at the church Tuesday afternoon. The lesson lecture was given by the Rev. J. A. McCall.

Those in attendance were Mmes. J. L. Bonner, W. F. Carroll, A. G. Bohannon, Paul Jones, Lewis Bewley, J. J. Mills, Joe Pyron, H. H. Hines, Harris, Paul Jackson, O. L. Jones, Gertrude Cantelon, J. A. McCall, Goodpasture and W. F. Hejl.

Santa Suggests—

By LILLIAN If you are pondering over what to give Jack, Walter or Peter, there is nothing more collegiate than just the right smoking accessories.

Something chic, snappy and designed to give class to any low table or desk it adorns is a new black metal cigarette box, cedar lined, with a snappy little dog standing guard on the cover who is useful as well as decorative, for he lifts the lid.

This dog may come in crystal in any color or he may be carved jade, depending on your pocketbook.

New ladies' hats daily at McMullan's.

Women Conduct Annual Mission Study at Church

"Home Missions Imperative" was the mission book reviewed in the annual study of the Women's auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon.

Divisions of the book were covered in papers prepared by Mmes. J. M. Caldwell, J. M. De Armond, W. J. Coleman, W. P. Knight, Andrew Fasken and Hayden Miles.

Mrs. Jack Hawkins entertained following the program with a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Emily Kannon at the piano.

In the dining room which was prettily decorated with flowers, the hostesses, Mrs. R. C. Crabb and Mrs. T. R. Wilson, served salads.

Royal Ambassadors Are Guests of Fred Gordon Middleton

Royal Ambassadors met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Fred Gordon Middleton at 4 o'clock with nine members present.

James Grantham, Ambassador-in-chief, was in charge of the meeting which was opened with a song, "The King's Business." Loron Grantham told a story of "Thanksgiving Secrets." James also told the story of "Eric, the Stamp Collector."

The Ambassador commission, which is a requirement of the position of page in the organization, was studied by the members. Delicious refreshments were served by the host and his mother, Mrs. Fred Middleton.

ON YER WAY, SAM, AN' DONT GUM IT UP!
SUDDENLY SAM TAKES A PASS AND STARTS LIKE A GREASED PIG TOWARD THE GOAL POSTS --
HE WORMS HIS WAY PAST ELEVEN OPPONENTS, TRIED, BUT NOT SO TRUE, WITH A CLEAR FIELD AHEAD OF HIM -- ("TWENTY GRAND" WAS LEFT AT TH' POST)
WHERE'S DAT GHOST?
I GOT IT!
G'WAN, YOU!
THEN, OUT OF A CLEAR SKY, HE STOPS, HESITATES, AND TURNS AROUND AND BEATS IT THE OTHER WAY!
MY GOSH! WHAT FOR?

Football history may be written into local athletic annals Thursday afternoon when eight men of Midland high school's starting eleven against the great Mustang team from Sweetwater don their helmets, jerseys and moleskins for their last official game under the Purple and Gold.

The very bone and sinew of the remarkably light but deceptive and swift pigskin aggregation is to be graduated—eight men, Captain Loyd Burris, Frank Midkiff, G. B. Hallman, "Bull" McCall, "Ham" Pinnell, H. L. Straughan, George Booth and L. Hawkins.

These men have sworn a holy vow, to beat the powerful invasion of district winners or be carried from the field feet first. Massed against them will be a club that averages more than 166 pounds to the man and boasts a startling array of reserve forwards and backs. Midland averages low in the 150-pound class and has practically nothing that might be termed reserves. But, while Sweetwater has been trampling everything in the dust that faced it on District 4 grids, and now must win under wraps if it keeps rival scouts' noses out of its family secrets, Midland has been humbled twice in the district and may flash everything in the category without being hurt. In that respect, the Doggies have some what of an advantage. Sweetwater is expected to play straight football, mixed with cross-backs and reverses pulled earlier in the season. The Hennigmen will not take a chance on opening up unless they are forced to it. Now that is just what Coaches Barry, Henderson and Lingo have undertaken to do—force Sweetwater to the limit. For the first time this season, except in the Colorado game, the coaching staff openly says it expects the game to be won by

DINNERS FOR HUNGRY

—CHICAGO, Nov. 25. (UP)—A United Press survey showed today that more than a million persons, who otherwise would go hungry, will be provided with Thanksgiving feasts tomorrow by fellow Americans.

The survey covered plans of organizations of welfare groups, churches, business houses and individuals in 27 cities ranging from less than 100,000 population to New York.

BIBLE CLASS STUDIES

Members of the Community Bible class met in the parlors of the First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon for a study of David taught by Mrs. Edwin C. Calhoun. Completion of Samuel was announced for the meeting next Tuesday.

Midland, if two touchdowns can win. A strong defense expects to hold Sweetwater to less than that number of markers.

In the past three games the Bulldogs have shown a power not understood even by their most ardent supporters. They have held San Angelo to a one-touchdown victory, beat McCamey and swamped completely Colorado.

Sweetwater is not unmindful of what may happen. A large delegation will be here, according to a telephone conversation this morning between upt. W. W. Lackey of Midland and Supt. B. A. McClain of Sweetwater. A 40-passenger bus will bring the team over early in the morning, and 200 automobiles will form a line and start the trek at 9 o'clock.

A parade will wind over Midland streets, beginning at 1:35, starting at the First Baptist church, proceeding south on Main to Wall, west on Wall to Colorado, north to Texas and west to the playing field. Midland and Sweetwater bands and pep squads will make up the parade. The Midland fire department will lead.

There will be no parade or bon fire this evening, due to the union Thanksgiving service at the First Presbyterian church, school authorities announced this morning.

School students distributed 2,000 circulars in Midland and surrounding towns this morning.

Officials for the game are: Pat Murphy, assistant coach of the Abilene high school and a former star for McMurry college, referee; J. N. Spikes, Texas University, Lamesa, umpire; W. C. Lynch, former sensation of Oak Cliff and SMU in the days of "Papa" Lumpkin, Dallas, headlinesman. Completion of arrangements for these officials was made this morning in a telephone conversation between rival Head Coaches Barry and Hennig.

BUFFALOES OF STANTON GET SECTION TITLE

By CURTIS BISHOP
STANTON, Nov. 25.—The Stanton high Buffaloes captured the grid championship of the northern half of District 8 by running rough-shod over the Odessa red-perseped club 25 to 0 in their last conference clash of the season here. Rufus Hyde's henchmen dominated play throughout the game, and with the exception of a hap-hazard, disorganized aerial attack that by some unknown magic functioned brilliantly at intervals halted the Odessa offensive threats at the line of scrimmage continuously.

Led by their great fullback, Woodrow Wilson, who stamped himself as a prominent candidate for an all-state B class berth with his offensive and defensive play, the Hydemen scored in each of the first three periods to cinch the championship of their portion of District 8 almost before the game had really begun. Stringer, half-back, Bloomer, end, and Metcalfe, center, did yeomen's service along with the spectacular Wilson while Graham was almost the whole show of the Odessa team. Chambers and Farmer stood out in the visitors' line.

Watson Represents Violin Institute

Ned Watson has signed a contract with the First National Institute of the Violin to teach students of that institute in Midland, he said. The institute has branches in most of the principal cities of the country, he said.

A plan is worked out whereby the student is furnished his instrument, which he owns at the conclusion of the course.

Wimberly on Faculty Of Chicago School

The Sherwood Music School of Chicago has selected Wallace Wimberly as a member of their faculty, according to a press letter from Mrs. M. Bishop, registrar, who was in Midland last week arranging the courses with Wimberly.

Piano students may earn their credits, which are accepted by the state board of education in every state, together with teacher's certificates and diplomas without the expense of leaving Midland, he said. The course of music was received by Wimberly this week.

meeting in New York to discuss what may be done to help the unfortunate who he says are near death from hunger and living on nothing or starvation wages.

"We Didn't Run Away"
"The time has come for equity," he asserts with a flaming spirit that belies his almost shy nature. "This country has flirts with democracy and now we must see that the poor people have a chance."

And what will happen if he goes back to be tried? He isn't worrying

DREISER IN FAMED COMPANY

Theodore Dreiser is by no means the first of the world's famed literati to offer his talents, and even his liberty and some measure of public esteem, to the cause of those he considered oppressed.

Anatole France, braved the inflamed prejudice of his country by defending Alfred Dreyfus, a French military officer who was accused of espionage, convicted and imprisoned. After nine years, the writer was instrumental in establishing the innocence of Dreyfus, and the decision in the sensational case was hailed as a great triumph over militarism in France.

Charles Dickens, like Dreiser, a child of poverty, devoted many of his novels to the exposure of unjust social conditions. Sweatshops and city conditions that lead the poor into crime were targets of the English novelist's talents.

Victor Hugo, dramatist, novelist, Socialist and politician, furthered his beliefs in his writings. His political convictions, always daringly expressed, actually sent him into exile from France. He scored every offer of amnesty until the collapse of Second Empire brought him back to share in the terrible days of reconstruction.

about that. He isn't afraid of jail or violence, for, as he explains it, if reasons for going back outweigh those for remaining here and fighting while at liberty, he doesn't care about personal danger.

"Let this be clearly understood," he says, "The committee did not run away. None of us is a fugitive from justice. The officials made no attempt to hold us there and Governor Sampson even gave us an escort."

If he does eventually return to fight the case will John W. Davis defend him in court as he plans to do in the extradition hearing? That hasn't been decided yet. It won't be decided until the extradition matter is settled.

Ready for Show Down
But Dreiser, vigorous despite his 60 years, is making plans now for anything that may happen. The In-

Manager "Out" Is Found Gagged

DETROIT, Nov. 24. (UP)—Something in the demeanor of the strange grocery store "clerk" aroused Mrs. Mattie Scrimshire's suspicions.

"I want to see the manager," she said. She was told the manager was "out."

"Then," she said, "I'll wait."

While she waited the "clerk" served seven other customers. Then he left to "find the manager."

It was Mrs. Scrimshire, however, who found the manager—bound and gagged in a rear room.

Army Posts of Country Closed

WASHINGTON, (P)—Army post commanders at Forts D. A. Russell, Maria, Texas; Lincoln, North Dakota; Stephen D. Little, and Harry J. Jones, Arizona, have been instructed to prepare for evacuation of troops from the posts by June 30.

The four posts were among 52 scheduled for abandonment by Sec. Hurley to cut war department expenditures.

The First cavalry regiment will be moved from Maria to Camp Knox, Ky., where it will be motorized.

International Labor Defense, under whose sponsorship he went to Kentucky, is ready to take any necessary action.

That is the situation. With the distinguished Davis in the case, every lawyer, legislator, and voter will watch to see what happens. Europe will look towards America.

"America must be awakened," is Dreiser's final challenge. "As long as conditions like those in Harlan county exist, we must meet them with fairness and justice. I'm going to see this through to the bitter end."

SOLAR FURNACE

PASADENA, Cal.—Temperatures up to 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit are expected in a solar furnace being devised here by scientists of the California Institute of Technology. The heat will be obtained directly from the radiation of the sun and will be concentrated in the furnace. The temperature will be nearly as hot as that on the surface of the sun, it is said.

PROTECTS WHALES

GENEVA.—The helpless whale is now under the protection of the League of Nations. That body has adopted a proposal prohibiting the killing of certain species of whales and the hunting of calves and suckling females of others. In order to avoid waste, the League has ruled that the oil be extracted from the tongue, head and tail in a manner approved by it.

RIGHT, SENATOR!

WASHINGTON.—Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautic association, has the following to say of the development of aviation in the United States: "The future of aviation depends on how thoroughly we realize the limitations of scientific truth and the human personnel of flying. We have been developing machines faster than human beings. Humans must be developed in efficiency as rapidly as our machines in the future."
