THAT MIDLAND HIGH SCHOOL BAND

To anyone who wanders about the country in the fall of the year, dropping in here and there on football games, ones of the most notable features of American civilization today must seem to be the development of the brass band, such as that heard at games here.

Of course, there have always been bands. But did they ever flourish as they do today? From the smallest country high school to the biggest university there are bands—big ones and little ones, good ones and bad ones, some of them gay in bright uniforms and some of them dressed just any old way, all tooting their lungs out every Saturday afternoon from September to mid-November.

And these bands, for some reason, don't get the attention they deserve. For they represent, even more than the game of football itself, the spirit of youth—the spirit that flames on a thousand athletic fields from one end of the country to another, the spirit that packs the stands and brings forth thunderous cheers and makes young faces bright with the light of excited anticipation.

Who can watch these high school and college bands without being profoundly moved? They stand for something more than just a loud and pleasing noise. Expectant youth, eternally eager, keeps step with them. It will follow the drumbeat and the bugle call across a football field, or—if we adults wish it—it will follow them to the ends of the earth, and die on distant battle fields, and waste itself with a glad prodigality; for youth asks for nothing except a cause that it can grow enthusiastic over, and the blaring bands of the football fields express this up-surging spirit as nothing else in all American life can hope to express it.

And then, too, there is the note of melancholy that these bands always provide when they settle themselves to play the "alma mater." This tune, as often as not, is quite uninspiring, but it hangs pleasantly on the autumn air, with silver cornet notes drifting across the hazy field, and it plaintively reminds the adult listener that youth is splendid, romantic and tragically brief. And the shrill trumpets awaken echoes, for those of us whose youth is quite gone, and we get, surprisingly enough, a little moment in which old hopes and dead dreams are revived.

And Midland has one of the best of these bands.

HOBBIES AND FOIBLES

It is always interesting to read about the fads and hobbies of great men; and it is pleasant, somehow, to learn that Dr. Dayton C. Miller, the physicist who is world famous for his studies of ether drift, makes a hobby of collecting flutes.

Dr. Miller recently returned from Europe. He did this and that while in Europe, and talked with various famous people; but what seemed to please him most was the fact that he had been able to acquire 54 new flutes for his collection, including two rare ones made of glass.

Now if an ordinary mortal should take to buying glass flutes on that scale his neighbors would wag their heads and look meaningly at the booby hatch. But great scientists are entitled to their foibles; and this collection of flutes by a man who ranks not far behind Einstein adds a likable human touch to his portrait.

BIGGER DIRIGIBLES COMING

Although the navy's dirigible Akron seems like a veritable giant of the air, Lieut.-Com. Charles E. Rosendahl, her skipper, believes that in the near future she will look like a mere pigmy.

In a speech at Cleveland the other day the Akron's commander remarked that the day would come when ships twice and three times the size of the Akron will be built; and if he is correct, it would seem that commercial airship lines ought to emerge shortly from the realm of things projected into the realm of actualities.

For the dirigible's commercial possibilities seem to increase with her size. The small airship cannot carry enough of a pay load to pay a profit. A ship the size of the Akron could probably come very close to paying dividends; and with twice the Akron's carrying capacity ought to do it very nicely.

Washington

By Rodney Dutcher Letter

There Are More Police in the Capital Than You Can Shake a Stick at for Washington Has Been Influenced by Such Things as Unpaid Soldiers and French Revolution.

WASHINGTON.—Washington, if it is not the best policed city in America, is certainly the most policed.

First, there's a Metropolitan police force of 1341 men and this corresponds to the regular force in any other city, policing the District of Columbia in general. This force has a superintendent with the title of major and he is really responsible to President Hoover because he is named by three district commissioners who are presidential appointees. President Wilson was once credited with having dictated the appointment to the superintendency of a cop who had attracted favorable attention of the official family.

Entirely separate is the Capitol police force, 30 strong, directly under the control of Congress and responsible to the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate and House. They patrol the Capitol, the congressional office buildings and attached grounds and direct traffic in that territory. Congress created this force remembering what happened when the capital was at Philadelphia. Unpaid soldiers besieged it and entered on the floors of both houses, the local gendarmes being unable or unwilling to stop them. So Congress established a force for its protection. The Capitol cops, most of them appointed through politics, are considered the have the softest and nicest of the local police jobs. They have no contact with speak-easies, slums, or bums. And only an occasional crank. If Communists try to riot on the Capitol steps they call on the Metropolitan cops to squirt tear gas and do the black-jacking. Many of the Capitol cops are students, working their way through college or law school here.

There are 47 men on the White House police force, most of them former service men carefully picked from the Metropolitan ranks. They are under command of a captain and subject to orders from the Secret Service officers. They wear a snappy black uniform with gold trimmings.

You find the 75 men on the Park Police all over town. They work directly under Colonel U. S. Grant III, director of public buildings and parks, and indirectly under the secretary of war. They police the public park, which comprise such a large part of the District of Columbia area, many small parkways and circles. For instance, streets and avenues run off Dupont or Thomas Circle in eight directions, streets up and down and avenues diagonally. In the center the Park Police are on guard. Control over such circles was retained by the War Department when it thought of the French Revolution mobs and the way they barricaded and controlled the streets. Nobody has worried about it for a long time, but the idea was that, owing to the peculiar layout of Washington, small groups could control the whole city from these strategic islands which look down the length of so many arteries of traffic.

The Public Building Guards, with 304 men, is still another police force. This is also under Colonel Grant, and patrols 41 buildings and their grounds with full police authority on federal property. In and around some of the buildings they handle traffic.

The Treasury and Agriculture departments, Veterans' Affairs and Smithsonian are among other departments and bureaus which have policemen of their own. Agriculture, for instance, has a force of 90 men.

And this is not to mention the forces of detectives, investigators, and other enforcement officers maintained by the Treasury, especially secret service and bureau of internal revenue, Justice department, Prohibition bureau, Immigration Service, Customs, Postoffice Department, Coast Guard and so on. Most of those officers are out in the field.

Now for a Showdown!

Japan and China Explain Own Sides of Controversy

Long the battle ground of ambitious nations in the Far East, Manchuria now threatens to replace the Balkan peninsula of Europe as the powder keg of the world.

The present Manchurian crisis, which threatens to precipitate a war which would involve more than 500,000,000 of the world's population, is a direct outgrowth of the Chinese Nationalist party's "pro-China" policy, which the Japanese government interprets as an anti-Japanese policy.

The series of recent incidents which resulted in Japan's newest occupation of important points in Manchuria included rioting by Chinese soldiers and students in several cities, in which Japanese lives and property were endangered. Japanese officials claim that Chinese soldiers have no control over their rioting and that they joined in the rioting after they had been ordered to stop it. That was the spark that touched off the present trouble and sent Japanese troops into China.

Japanese subjects have been attacked and in some instances killed in Manchuria. A notable case was the massacre at Kirin of some 600 Koreans, who are Japanese subjects, by Chinese soldiers under Vice Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, Chinese war lord of Manchuria.

These incidents were followed by skirmishing between Japanese and Chinese troops and the occupation of Mukden by the Japanese. Mukden is an important stronghold in Manchuria and was then the capital of the province.

Japan's policy of insistent notes given the Nanking government of China has declared it must protect its nationals in Manchuria, and has repeatedly demanded that China immediately cancel its boycott of Japanese goods.

What Japan Claims

Here's the story from the Japanese viewpoint:

1. Manchuria, both because of its geographical location and its great natural resources, must always be of vital concern to Japan. Japanese money has helped develop this country, and this investment is not one that Japan is willing to watch fall into the hands of soldiers but one step removed from banditry.

2. The lives of Japanese subjects in Manchuria are in immediate danger because of the hostile attitude of the Nanking government and the extreme anti-Japanese policy of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, war lord of Manchuria. As proof, the Japanese point to the Kirin "cuttings" in which they claim hundreds of their subjects were slaughtered by Chinese soldier-bandits.

Japanese occupation of Manchuria is necessary to maintain law and order.

3. Japan will under no circumstances permit the return of Chang Hsueh-liang to power in Manchuria. His anti-Japanese feeling is too well known and his inability to safeguard Japanese lives and property is already proven.

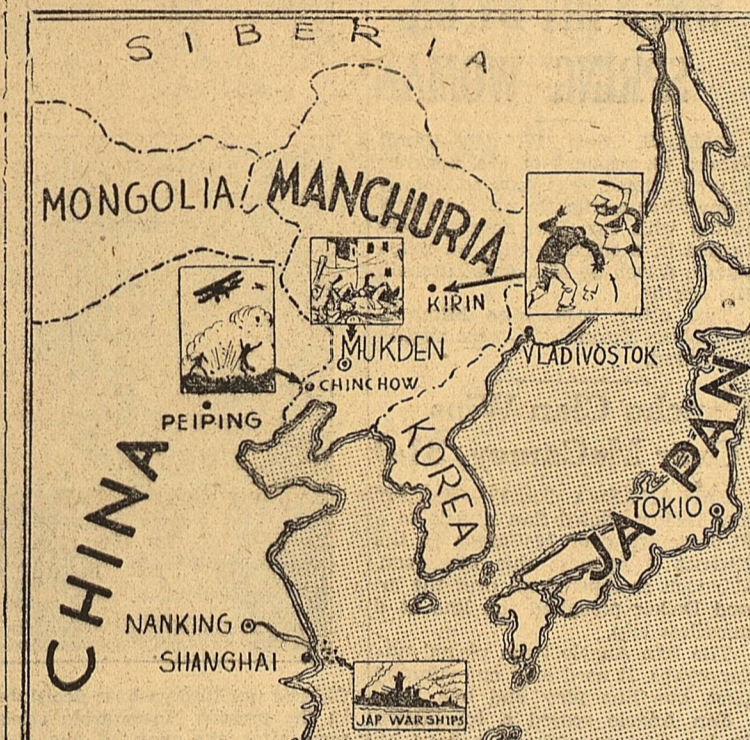

4. Japanese troops have fired only in self-defense or in reprisal for Chinese aggression during the present trouble. The bombing of Chinchow, Chang Hsueh-liang's present headquarters, came only after the planes had been fired upon by Chinese troops.

What China Claims

The picture from the Chinese viewpoint is an entirely different one. Here are their answers to the Japanese claims:

1. Manchuria has long been the apple of the ancient Japanese empire's eye, and the present move is but another in the long chain meant for Japanese rule over this area of 369,000 square miles and 30,000,000 population. Japan does not want good Chinese government in Manchuria any more than it wants a Chinese bandit government. It wants Japanese control there.

2. The Nanking government is willing to take full responsibility for the safety of Japanese subjects if Japanese troops are withdrawn from Manchuria and Shanghai and if Japanese warships are taken from Chinese waters. But "will in no circumstances undertake to suppress lawful patriotic movements," as the Japanese minister to China has been informed. The Kirin incident and other demonstrations against Chinese intervention are brought on by Japan's "Big Stick" policy in China, Nanking says.

This graphic picture-map shows the area of the Sino-Japanese controversy. It started when 600 Korean Japanese subjects, were massacred at Kirin. Japan then sent troops against Mukden and bombed Chinchow with planes. Behind it all, claim the Chinese, is the aim of Japanese imperialists to annex Manchuria for the expansion of their crowded little nation.

3. Japanese occupation of Manchuria makes the task of the Nanking government to maintain law and order in China all the harder because of the intense anti-Japanese feeling brought about by this action.

4. Japan is trying to make Manchuria either an independent nation, or a Japanese protectorate. Japanese have supplied Mongolian rebels with guns and ammunition from the Chinese arsenal at Mukden. These rebels are trying to set up a dummy Mongolian government with Japanese protection.

5. The bombing of Chinchow and similar incidents during the present trouble in Manchuria have been entirely without excuse. Many women and children were killed and public buildings were destroyed.

Jap Warships Ready

In addition to answering the Japanese claims, the Chinese present several of their own.

- One is that Japanese warships are continually in Chinese waters, ready to attack and destroy Chinese ports. These warships have, besides their regular crews, marines aboard for land duty.

The situation in Manchuria is one which interests the United States from a financial standpoint as well as for political reasons. Imports to the United States from Manchuria in 1929 totaled more than $5,000,000 and exports were $12,000,000. Approximately 250 American citizens live in the disputed area.

Russia's Attitude Is Puzzle Soviet Russia's attitude during the present squabble is one of mystery. Reported concentrations of Russian troops on the Manchurian border have alarmed Japanese officials, but no word has been forthcoming from Moscow regarding Russia's probable course of action in the event of a war between China and Japan for Manchuria.

Autumn and Hallow'en Furuish Gay Features for Parties

Hallow'en Luncheon and Bridge for Bien Amigos Club; Mrs. Mix Hostess At Mexican Luncheon; 1912 Club Party

The past week has found some of the prettiest parties of the autumn season given for clubs. Vivid fall hues and the Hallow'en motif were favored in the appointments of these functions.

Yellow cosmos and Hallow'en novelties were used by Mrs. E. D. Ruse in decorating her home for the Bien Amigos club luncheon and bridge affair on Thursday.

Luncheon was served at a table lighted with orange tapers held in silver holders. The centerpiece was a silver bowl filled with yellow cosmos. Guests found their places by original pumpkin cards.

In the rooms where bridge was played, drapes were decorated with witches, cats and pumpkins while the lamps were shaded by clever dark covers.

Attractive table appointments included pencils topped with a tiny pumpkin novelty and pumpkin design tallies.

Prizes for the games which were black glassware, were won by Mrs. F. F. Winger, high scorer, and Mrs. C. A. Mix, high cut.

Others playing were Meses Bedford Taylor, C. D. Hodges, H. W. Mathews, J. M. Haygood, T. B. Flood, and J. D. Chambers.

Mrs. Mix Gives Mexican Luncheon

An attractively appointed Mexican luncheon and bridge party was entertained for guests of Mrs. C. A. Mix on Wednesday.

Furnishing a color note of red and black, red blossoms potted in green containers were centered for the luncheon tables. Favors were novel Mexican hats filled with candies.

Guests recorded their scores on tallies on Mexican scenes.

Playing high were Mrs. R. H. Morse, first, and Mrs. J. G. Gemmill, second. Table cut awards were won by Mrs. William Simpson, Mrs. Fred Winger, Mrs. Hugh Burchfield and Mrs. Morse.

Those attending were Meses J. D. Chambers, W. E. Whitcomb, William Simpson, Fred Winger, J. G. Gemmill, A. P. Loskamp, Bill Blackman, I. E. Daniel, Hugh Burchfield, Fred Wright, E. H. Morse, Joe Hemphill, George Clingman, H. W. Mathews, T. B. Flood and Allen Hargrave.

Bridge for Members Of 1912 Club

An informal afternoon of bridge was enjoyed by members of the 1912 club who were guests of Mrs. C. A. Goldsmith on Thursday afternoon.

Those seated for the games were Meses Terry Elkin, Will Elkin, Gene Cowden, Ida Wolcott, T. S. Patten, W. C. Cochran, Tom White, E. N. Snodgrass, A. Harry Anderson, C. C. Watson and Addison Wadley.

Mrs. Pemberton Is Honoree at Birthday Party

A surprise party was given for Mrs. Brooks Pemberton by a group of close friends on Thursday afternoon.

The party called at the honoree's home, bringing with them a shower of gifts and eats for a supper.

The attractive feature of the supper was a pretty decorated birthday cake prepared by Mrs. Leonard Pemberton.

Those honoring Mrs. Pemberton were Meses Henry Butler, Kleobol, Mary S. Ray, A. B. Coleman, Margaret Rohlfing, A. Klapproth, Fred Middleton, Leonard Pemberton, Miss Theresa Klapproth and Fred Gordon Middleton.

Fall Music Festival in Abilene Will Present Clare Clairbert, Doris Kenyon, And Mary Garden November 2, 3, and 6

Three world famous stars, with distinguished assisting artists, will be heard in Abilene during the first week in November, in the first annual Fall Music festival. It is expected that many Midland music-lovers will attend.

Clare Clairbert, the sensational new coloratura soprano of the Royal Opera in Brussels, with Carl Achatz, the great flutist, will open the festival with a recital on November 2. On November 3, lovely Doris Kenyon, well-known as a motion picture star, and San-Malo, one of the great violinists of the day, will appear. The course closes with a performance by Mary Garden on the evening of Nov. 6.

The Civic Auditorium association has been formed to handle this important affair, which brings to that city the greatest array of world-celebrated artists ever offered in one week in any American city.

Clairbert comes from Europe with one of the greatest and most brilliant coloratura voices of the generation. She is said to have great personal beauty, and has for five years been a favorite on the continent.

Doris Kenyon has millions of friends who know her as one of the most beautiful and lovable of the screen stars. Her recitals in costume allow her to display a $20,000 wardrobe.

Mary Garden's concert appearances are so rare as to be events of the first importance. For many years the most vital and colorful prima donna, Mary Garden is always front page news. She comes to Texas from a summer of swimming and taking sun baths and should be in great form for her concert.

All three artists are managed by Charles L. Wagner, that distinguished New York impresario who has given the world such sterling artists as John McCormack, Galli Curci, Mary Garden, Frances Alda, Doris Kenyon, Gieseking, Harald Kreutzberg, etc., and who took Will Rogers out of the Follies and started him on his career as an international humorist and philosopher.

Season tickets for the three great evenings $4 and $3, and mail orders should be sent to Civic Auditorium Association, Abilene, Texas.

Party Is Celebration On Birthday of Charles Kelly

Mrs. O. A. Kelly entertained with an informal party on Friday afternoon to compliment her son, Chas., who celebrated his seventh birthday on that day.

Guests participated in a gay round of games for which prizes were awarded to winners.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Mead and Mrs. C. H. Davis, served party refreshments to Julian and Lillian Unger, Joe Wimbish Haygood, Howard and Frances Palmer, Jimmie Nolan, Billy Davis, R. E. Mead Jr., Jack Reid, Odie Kelly and the honor guest.

Rhoden Boy Appears

Jesse Houston Rhoden, young reader, who recently moved to Midland from Odessa, will appear before the Boone class this morning at the Ritz theatre. His reading will be "Be a Friend."

On S. S. Program

Mary Sue Cowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Cowden, who is popular on expression recitals, will read at the opening of the adult and senior department of the First Baptist church this morning. She is representing the Althean class, sponsor of the program.

BOVINES TRAMPLE BULLDOGS IN RUTHLESS DISPLAY OF STRENGTH

DENNIS, HEBISON ET AL RUN UP SCORING TO 39 POINTS, KEEPING THEIR OWN GOAL LINE INVIOLEATE

Big Spring's crack football team changed its cries overnight Friday—from "Westward Ho!" to "Championship Ho!"—after the heavy Steer machine destroyed all doubts in a 39-0 win over Midland that the more than 200 points stacked up against Class B teams earlier in the season were made at the expense of set-ups.

There was never a doubt, from starting gun to closing gun, that Oble Bristow's men constituted a vastly superior team. Behind a nearly perfect line, speedy and powerful backs punted and ran their way about as they liked, making six touchdowns and converting three tries for extra point. Defensively, the club was just as strong, letting Midland drive into Big Spring territory only once, and then only to a five-yard penetration when Midland passed.

Only one other time did Midland carry the ball into Steer territory when Hallman, crack Midland back, intercepted a Big Spring pass and loped 51 yards to the Big Spring 9-yard line. But the Barrymen did not have the power required for making a sustained march and a desperate attempt to advance did nothing but lose ground.

Tack Dennis was mainly responsible for the Big Spring success. Beyond scoring two touchdowns and making neat gains to place the ball in easy striking distance for three more, he kept Midland deep in Bulldog territory most of the time through sheer efficiency of his powerful, well-placed punts.

Oscar Brinson, who is remembered with a grimace as being in Midland about two seasons ago, was the hardest Steer to stop. The big fullback was given the honor of carrying the ball first against his former affiliation, and responded with a 10-yard crash over left tackle. A few minutes later, with a few yards sandwiched in for continued interest, he again broke over tackle, racing 33 yards to put the ball on the Midland 10-yard line. Just before Flowers made the first score of the game, Hebison carried the ball to striking distance for him. He divided scoring honors with Dennis for the day, crashing across two markers.

Captain Flowers scored on an 18-yard run, and David Hopper, big Steer linesman, blocked a punt and ran 37 yards for a touchdown for the other counter. The yardage un-reeled in the touchdown runs and dives aggregated 77 yards, an average of almost 13 yards.

Big Spring scored 20 points in the first half on three touchdowns and two extra points bootied by Captain Flowers. Flowers ran 19 yards for the first marker, Dennis 10 for the second and Hebison dived three for the third. Hopper ran 37 for the touchdown he made in the third quarter, Hebison two for his second counter, and Dennis seven for his second marker, which was scored in the last period.

Big Spring stuck towards annexing a district championship took a distinct rise and, save for a glaring weakness in the aerial game, is rated formidable opposition for Sweetwater when the two clubs play Armistice day in Sweetwater.

Expectancy that Midland would join in a marathon race with Colorado for a cellar position in District 4 was increased with the showing of the Bulldogs, scribes and scouts said in their notes. The lighter club was completely worn out by the charges of their heavier adversaries.

Chicago Fire
Cow Cleared
CHICAGO, Oct. 17. (UP)—Justice finally has been done to Mrs. O'Leary's cow, John P. Keefe declares, and if so a middle western American folk tale has been shattered.

The children of the middle westerners for three-score years have been growing up believing, as implicitly as the Washington cherry tree story, that on Oct. 9, 1871, a certain Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over her mistress' lantern and precipitated the great Chicago fire.

Mrs. O'Leary's cow became a symbol. The drama in the tableau of a cow as the agent of a force which reduced Chicago to the ruins upon which a glorious new city was built was too obvious to be missed.

Now comes John P. Keefe with a story about a group of boys, a hay loft and a clay pipe.

"Back in 1886," said Keefe, who was fifteen at the time of the fire, "I met a man who said he and three other boys started the fire. I can't remember his name now. The story was told even in those days that even if Mrs. O'Leary's cow had kicked over the lantern that didn't start the fire.

"This fellow said he and the other boys were hiding in Mrs. O'Leary's hay loft and saw her milk the cow. When they left they got out their clay pipe to steal a smoke. Sparks from the pipe started the great Chicago fire."

ACH! DEPRESSION!
BERLIN.—Beer consumption in Germany clearly illustrates the present depression. Only 1,280,000,000 gallons of beer were consumed in this country last year. This represents a decrease of 16.5 per cent over the consumption of 1929. Before the war more than 2,000,000,000 gallons a year were consumed in Germany.

SPORTS REPORTS

By R. C. HANKINS

Big Spring rode over in a special and floated back on pleasant memories, not to mention an occasional glide on anticipation of what the Steers will do to Sweetwater on Armistice day. Bristow's Steers did more monkey business in Lackey field than the four Marx brothers, Groucho, Zeppo, Chico and Harpo ever did on the screen.

We did hate to see the Bulldogs cussed out by the head mentor, however. Irrespective of whether the boys played like they were coached, there was just too much thrown against them. The Steers are powerful enough to play any team in the state without getting hurt too badly. As a matter of fact, it might have been better had Bristow played some college team a week ago then journeyed over to Midland packing a bunch of men on the hospital list. The game might have been better.

Personally, we didn't see any plays used by Midland that looked too hot. Against such an eleven as the Steers it seemed practically certain that the Barrymen would be opened up with plays calculated to shake Midkiff, Hallman or Burris loose on runs around the Big Spring forwards, to say the least.

They could then have taken their own chances against the secondary. And the passing game was not tricky in the least. We were disappointed. It looks like a hard winter, what with San Angelo coming Friday week and in succession thereafter, McCamey, Colorado and Sweetwater. One of the hardest games of the season has been played, but Sweetwater is yet to pummel ribs and sore backs in Lackey field. We'll have a whole year to rest after that game though.

Small, fast squads must have fast, shifty plays, with a lot of deception and good timing thrown in. Unless they have—well turn back to history. And, while you're turning, read the play-by-play accounts of the Friday game.

Anyway, as Ironhead observed, "we've got the better hand." We're not trying to discredit the Big Spring band, but are trying to reach a sort of conclusion, as one might alight.

At any rate, 1801 tickets were sold. Allowing the fact that many students were admitted to enter free because they had sold a couple of adult tickets, there must have been about 2,000 people in Lackey field. That would be the biggest crowd in the emporium's history. Each club, incidentally, cleared $416.70, or cleared $416.70 above incidentals. It doesn't matter which. The significance is found in the drawing power of a Midland-Big Spring game. We have our doubts about how many would have been out had they known how the game would result, however. It's too easy to stay at home and beat one's wife, if one's inclination runs that way.

Thirty Big Spring Lions sat in the bleachers in a body. We didn't hear whether they brought any patent medicine along. Doc Hardy led them over, so we fear the worst. And we did hear the special train emitting far too many toots to be running dry.

Odeesa lost Friday to Marfa, 27-0. Bed fellows, eh what? And Colorado, rated as a weak sister, has snapped out of it with another win. This time over the Pied Pipers of Hamlin town, and the score was 19-0. There may be no set-ups for Midland this year, after all.

Bobby Campbell, safe in distance at Breckenridge, keeps poking into District 4 affairs. His latest dry observation is in answer to Waco scribe's insistence that a certain San Angelo player was transferred from Ballinger. Campbell said the player in question never saw Ballinger, unless it was that a train window—and he wasn't sure that Ballinger has trains with windows in them.

Well, Big Spring turned the trick—about six times, and should be the only distinct threat against Sweetwater's already-claimed championship. Midland is made up of folk who wish the Steers luck. That's not so much concession, after all, when it is remembered that Big Spring sort of takes matters into her hands and bats along God speed or not.

PLAY BY PLAY

First Quarter

Big Spring's serious punt gathering started about four minutes past the first quarter. Hebison broke over tackle 33 yards. He was downed on the Midland 10-yard line. He made three more over line. Dennis picked up five at right end. Midland held Big Spring for downs on the 9-yard line and punted to the Midland 30-yard line. Flowers and Hebison advanced the ball to the Midland 18-yard line and Flowers scrambled off right tackle, cut back to the left and sprinted across the line for the first marker. Flowers converted the extra point by a well directed place kick. Score: 7-0.

Big Spring kicked off to the 25-yard line, and Swartz intercepted a Midland pass on the 40-yard line, returning four yards. Hebison went over left tackle for 12 yards. Dennis made 2 1-2 yards around right end. Hebison made nine at right end. Dennis made 11 at right end, placing the ball on the 3-yard line. Hebison went over for the touchdown and Flowers converted his try for the added point by placing the ball squarely between the posts. Score: 20-0.

At this juncture a parade of substitutes started coming in. Eight changes were made in three minutes. Big Spring kicked off to the one-yard line and Burris returned to the 15-yard line. A pass to Swartz glanced off four yards but Midland had to punt, the ball going out of bounds on the Big Spring 35-yard line. On the first play, Dennis kicked back to the Midland one-yard line and Midkiff returned 12 yards. Again the modified statue of Liberty play and another loss, this time of eight yards. Midland kicked, to the 49-yard line, and Swartz returned eight yards. Big Spring was set back five yards for offside. Dennis punted out of bounds on the Midland 9-yard line. Burris failed to gain at line and a pass to McCall failed. Midland punted to the Big Spring 45-yard line. Dennis punted back to the Midland 10-yard line and Midkiff made a 15-yard return to the 25-yard line. A Midland pass was intercepted by Little Swatz in the 45-yard line and the fleet quarter returned 10 yards. Midland was given the ball on a penalty and punted to the Big Spring 24-yard line, where Swatz returned 10 yards. Hebison ripped the line for eight yards then 11. Dennis punted out on the Midland 24-yard line. Hallman picked up three as the gun sounded. Score: 20-0.

Big Spring kicked to the one-yard line and Midkiff jarred his way on the return to the Midland 25-yard line. Line plays and passes failed to gain, and Sherrod punted to the 49-yard line. The play was called for holding. Hallman and Burris picked up six yards, then a pass was intercepted by Hildreth, substitute guard, on the Big Spring 47-yard line. Dennis picked up two yards. Hebison crashed his way 11 yards over right tackle. Dennis made six over right tackle. Dennis was run out of bounds on an end run to the right, making nine yards. Hebison made two and a half and a pass was intercepted by Booth, who returned four yards. Burris went around end for seven yards, placing the ball on the Midland 29-yard line. Hallman made five over left tackle. Midland failed to gain in three tries and, with the ball on the Midland 33-yard line, Sherrod dropped back to punt. David Hopper, giant Big Spring linesman, blocked the kick and, taking his own time about gathering it up, ran for a touchdown. Only one Midland man was heads-up at the moment, Burris speeding back for the tackle but he was cut down by Coburn. It was the fifth time of the season Hopper has blocked kicks that resulted in touchdowns. Pinnell was hurt just a minute or so before this and had to leave the game, from a cut over one of his eyes. The other eye was hurt in the El Paso game and became infected. Later Pinnell went back into the game. Score 26-0.

Midland chose to kick, and essayed an on-side boot. This went out of bounds, however, and on the next attempt kicked to the Big Spring 30-yard line, where Little Swatz was downed in his tracks. Dennis went around right end for 13 yards. Dennis went around left end for 18 yards. Big Spring received a five-yard penalty for offside. Dennis made 12 over left tackle. Flowers romped 12 over right tackle. Hebison and Flowers picked up four. Forrester, an end, came around to take an indirect pass and pamp 12 yards around the right end, placing the ball on the Midland 12-yard line. Flowers made four, Hebison five. Flowers made two and Hebison dived across for touchdown. Flowers kicked the added point. Score: 23-0.

Big Spring kicked off to the Midland five-yard line and Midkiff returned to the 23-yard stripe. Hallman and Burris worked the ball to the Midland 29-yard line where the ball was downed as the quarter gun fired.

Fourth Quarter
Midland punted to the 49-yard line and Little Swatz returned four. A Big Spring pass was intercepted by Hallman on the 40-yard line and the fleet half raced through a tossed sea for 51 yards before he was pulled down by Swatz, Hebison and Dennis. At the 30-yard line he was hit by three Steers, but waved his hips and used his straight arm to such an extent he took them off. The play was the most thrilling of the game. A pass to McCall failed and the modified statue of Liberty lost eight yards, placing the ball on the Big Spring 18 1-2-yard line. Burris passed to Straughan on the 14-yard line and the ball went over. Dennis punted to Midkiff on the Midland 40-yard line, and Midkiff returned five yards. A Midland pass was intercepted on the Big Spring 33-yard line. Flowers galloped 25 yards. Big Spring could not gain at the line or by passes, and Dennis punted out of bounds on the Midland 19-yard line. Midland punted back to the Midland 48-yard line and Swatz returned 12 yards. Flowers made 10 on two thrusts at the line. Dennis and Coburn failed to gain at the line and Big Spring lost five yards for offside. Dennis hit right tackle and reversed to gain 15 yards. He made five at right tackle. In two plays Flowers placed the ball on the Midland three-yard line. Hallman's savage tackle stopped Flowers for a four-yard loss, but Dennis ran through the Midland team standing up for seven yards and touchdown. The score was 39-0 and Flowers' kick failed.

Big Spring kicked over the Midland goal line and Midland took the ball and, the only time of the day when a drive carried into Big Spring territory, Hallman, aided by a 15-yard penalty assessed against Big Spring, worked to the Big Spring 45-yard line. A 10-yard crash of Hallman's over left tackle featuring, A pass, Burris to Parrott, placed the ball on the Big Spring 45-yard line. Then the modified statue of Liberty again and 11 yards were lost. The play was called four times during the afternoon, resulting in Midland losing the ball outright once and total loss of 26 yards of hard fought gains the other three times.

Grand Offers New
Note on the Screen
Smoking cars and upper berths, lunch at one with a buyer from Peoria... a letter to the wife and flowers for the blonde at the Biltmore-Plaza... flashes through hotel rooms with lingerie models such as the three salesmen forget their business... the morning after with a heavy head and a big order to land. That's "Traveling Husbands," now at the Grand theatre for three days; baring in whizzing sequences, reminiscent of "The Front Page" in sky-rocket action, hook and Big of the traveling man—the life the wife back home never learns of, but often worries about.

Recommendations Are Complied With

The recommendations of the American Bandmasters' association at its annual convention, held in Boston, Mass., April 9-12, and its committee on music and instrumentation are almost identical with the instrumentation that has been worked out as a pattern for the Midland high school band to be followed in building up a high class band organization.

For the past year the Midland high school band has tried to improve instrumentation according to identical policies with those given below. This confirmation of the correctness of the group policies is indicative that proper system is being adhered to by Director Shrader and his organization, band leaders say.

The following pieces are the recommendations of the American Bandmasters' association, headed by Edwin Franko Goldman, conductor of Goldman's band, New York City: John Philip Sousa, honorary president; and Victor Grabel, conductor of Chicago Symphonic band, vice president:

Conductor (3 or 4 staves); 1st flute in C; second flute in C (or C piccolo); 1st oboe; 2nd oboe (and English horn); E flat clarinet; 1st B flat clarinet; 2nd B flat clarinet; 3rd B flat clarinet; 4th B flat clarinet; alto clarinet; bass clarinet; 1st bassoon; 2nd bassoon; soprano saxophone in B flat (ad lib); mezzo soprano saxophone in F (ad lib); 1st alto saxophone in E flat; 2nd alto saxophone in E flat; tenor saxophone in B flat; baritone saxophone in E flat; bass saxophone in B flat (ad lib); 1st horn in F; 2nd horn in F; 3rd horn in F; 4th horn in F; 1st alto in E flat; 2nd alto in E flat; 3rd alto in E flat; 4th alto in E flat; 1st cornet in B flat; 2nd cornet in B flat; 1st trumpet in B flat; 2nd trumpet in B flat; 1st trombone in bass clef; 2nd trombone in bass clef; 3rd trombone in bass clef; 1st and 2nd trombones in treble clef; baritone in treble clef; euphonium in bass clef; 1st and 2nd basses in basses; tympani, (Xylophone, etc.); drums and traps.

That the teaching of the trombone and the euphonium in the treble clef be discontinued as soon as possible. That the parts in all editions be extensively cued, so as to be satisfactorily playable by small combinations. That the puzzer add more clarinet parts to the regular band copy. That the price of the extra, or separate parts be substantially reduced. That the best available arrangers of band music be employed in preparation of the new Standard A. B. A. Edition. The "I" poem written by Russell E. Shrader, director of the Midland high school band, for band masters, which recently appeared in The Reporter-Telegram, was published in The Baton, magazine for music supervisors, under a picture of the Midland man.

Finne called Tony first, had him deliver some liquor and arrested him on the delivery. A few days later Eastis called and arrested Tony. The first case cost him $100. WASH TUBBS

SUPREME COURT MAY INCREASE COST OF BOOZE

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 17. (UP)—The high cost of prohibition liquor may jump to new high levels.

That is the opinion of Butte bootleggers who are awaiting anxiously the decision of the United States Supreme Court on two appeal cases from this district.

The question is whether or not the government has a right to seize bar fixtures and other equipment in places where liquor is found.

How this decision—if the government's right to seize night club property is sustained—will cause the price of liquor to soar is simple common sense.

If a speakeasy backer can hire barkeepers to take the "rap," he still has the equipment to continue operations. In case the building is abated, he merely has to move.

But if the government destroys such bar equipment each time a raid is sustained by a conviction, then the cost of operating will go up, and bar equipment is expensive.

Married Teacher Has Advantages

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 17. (UP)—The married school teacher has a champion in Dr. Francis D. Curtis, of the University of Michigan educational board.

Speaking before 500 Oregon teachers, Dr. Curtis said the steadiest influence furnished pupils of adolescent age in public schools was by the married teacher group.

"They understand and sympathize with their students' problems," he believed.

Texans Fight To Keep Fort

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 17. (UP)—The gray embattlements of Fort Brown, bathed in blood the year of its birth, 1846, and once the headquarters of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant, may soon become the perch of owls and the home of tarantulas.

The historic fort has been included in the War department's economy program, calling for the abandonment of "unnecessary" military outposts. Citizens of Brownsville and South Texas are crusading to prevent its loss.

Shots fired in the War with Mexico plugged its earthen embankments in 1846. General Lee stayed there during his investigation of raids along the border. General U. S. Grant, while lieutenant in the army of General Zachary Taylor, received his first training there.

Agitation in the north caused Federal gunboats to anchor off the bar of the Brazos Santiago nearby in 1863. With a force of 7,000 men, Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks marched on the fort and drove the smaller Confederate army out.

During the present century blood was shed at the fort when negro soldiers stationed there mutinied in 1906. One American was killed. President Roosevelt's inquiry resulted in the entire command being mustered out.

In 1916, border bandit troubles became so acute a large force was placed within the barricade.

Adobe structures built in 1860 are still standing beside newer cantonments erected during the World War.

Mother Kills Her Babies Out of Pity

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 17. (UP)—Mrs. Lucille Ward, 38, today killed four children and herself because her husband could not provide the children with comforts and luxuries others had.

The bodies were found when the husband returned from his daily hunt for a job. Each was shot thru the head, the mother clutching a pistol.

Abilene Murder Trial October 1

ABILENE, Oct. 17. (UP)—Trial of Mrs. A. R. Franklin, Abilene, charged with murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Leslie Wilcoxson, has been set for Oct. 21.

The shooting took place Sept. 22 when Mrs. Franklin found her husband in Mrs. Wilcoxson's apartment. The slain woman was a former beauty parlor operator.

Mrs. Franklin is the mother of two children, the elder being 19 years old. She and Franklin had been married 20 years.

After the shooting, she telephoned the sheriff's office and informed officers: "I have just shot a woman and want to give up." When deputies reached her home a few moments later, she said: "I am the woman you are looking for."

cerned, the hotel people looked upon her as another survival of the mauve decade spending her last years in the quiet seclusion of her room.

Then, suddenly, a nephew appeared in the New York courts asking for the appointment of guardian.

It was said that she had a great fortune hidden about her person and her room. Other kin appeared with conflicting claims to the guardianship. And then the fantastic fortune hunt began.

It's Problem for Courts
Sure enough, she had $900,000 in cash and gems that included bracelets worn back in the nineties at the Infanta Eulalia ball in old Madison Square Garden. The remainder of the fortune has yet to be found, and the courts must yet decide upon the claims of various relatives.

Not since the Wendel sisters dwelt mysteriously in the heart of Fifth Avenue has Manhattan been so intrigued by the eccentricities of one of its oldest generations.

Historically speaking, Hetty Green was, perhaps, most famous of all the hoarders of millions. She lived in hall bedrooms, in every outward evidence of poverty. Hetty, however, was a woman of finance who made great men jump at the snap of her whip. Whatever her reputation for nickel-squeezing, her sharpness in business matters will remain historic.

The Wendels lived for generations in an atmosphere of lavender and old lace. A great city grew up about them, but they did not change their ways. Oil lamps and gas were to be seen in the shadow of Fifth Avenue skyscrapers. They seldom appeared in public; would have nothing to do with motors and almost never visited the big shops that were just next door to their residence.

A Legendary Family
One by one they died in the half-lighted memorial to an old-time elegance. Legends grew up around them—and, finally, there was none left but Miss Ella, who died about a year ago.

Today a dozen claimants to the Wendel millions appear in every section of the land, and for years court battles will rage over the various claims to kinship. Many relatives of the Woods also are preparing to enter claims.

Just how many city eremites are to be found behind the doors of old hotels and residences is conjectural. But there are said to be dozens, still inhaling the faint perfumes of another day.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Wood provides as strange a hidden treasure mystery as Manhattan has ever known. And those experts who follow the strange vagaries of the mind hope to pry from her the secret to the amazing cache.

A new bandit alarm for banks is operated by an employe lifting a lever with a toe and keeps sounding until switched off.

KILGORE, Oct. 17. (UP)—Military headquarters in the East Texas oil field martial law area reported today that production amounted to 389,900 barrels Friday from 2,378 wells. Thirty-four wells reported no production.

PHIL SCHARBAUER ILL

The condition of Phil Scharbauer, well known Midland capitalist, was said to be serious Saturday night. He had been suffering for days from a chronic stomach trouble and had been sinking for the past few days. He has been in ill health for several years but was able to be driven about in his automobile until the last few weeks.

Amarillo Fights Location Change

AMARILLO, Oct. 17. (UP)—A vigorous fight is being waged by the Amarillo chamber of commerce against the removal of the 1932 convention of the Texas State Medical Society from Amarillo to Waco.

A hearing before the board of directors of the medical association is demanded to learn why the directors had taken the action. An emergency had been declared by the directors because of conflicting dates, it was reported.

A message was sent to Dr. Holman Taylor, of Dallas, secretary of the state society, pointing out that Amarillo had spent almost $1,000 in inviting the convention to Amarillo and in preparations for the three-day session scheduled for next June. Part of this expense was for freight on commercial exhibits sent here from Beaumont, and for storage which the local chamber is paying monthly.

Manager O. V. Vernon said the chamber of commerce would attach the exhibits if the directors did not rescind its action or refund the money already spent by the city. He stamped the act of the state body as a "political move."

The work of surveying the territory is underway and after the work of survey is completed, the parties will return to begin actual operations.

George Watkins, a number of years ago, discovered what he believed to be the long lost "Bowie mine" on the Harkey ranch. Preliminary excavations revealed some interesting discoveries—including an old metal pot, a strange dagger, or "Bowie knife," and many marks and symbols. The work of excavating jagged, however, through lack of funds.

The parties now leasing are reported to have plenty of money and all necessary development operations are expected to be made. Watkins will be associated with Parr and Moody in the work.

Two Face Trial On Murder Charge

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17. (UP)—William R. Bryan and George M. Scott, both 23 years old, will face trial for the murder of Erwin Canada, druggist who was slain near his store Oct. 4, in the 94th district court Oct. 26.

Canada, who was 24, and his wife were waiting for a bus the night of Oct. 4 when two bandits attempted to hold up the druggist, who resisted and was fatally shot. Two days later the two accused men were arrested, and six days after the killing, murder charges were filed against them.

$750,000 Suit Ruled Mistrial

A mistrial was declared in the $750,000 suit filed by Mary Astor, film star, as a result of the plane crash in which her husband, Kenneth Hawks, was killed. It was found that the husband of a jurywoman had tried to borrow money from the defendant.

Fabulous Mine Is Sought Again

SAN SABA, Oct. 17. (UP)—The search for the long lost "Bowie mine," famous in legend and story, is on again.

A contract has been signed between B. F. Harkey, of Wallace Creek, and Messrs. Parr and Moody, of Ballinger, by which the latter agree to develop the mining discoveries on the Harkey ranch.

The work of surveying the territory is underway and after the work of survey is completed, the parties will return to begin actual operations.

P. H. WILLIAMS DIES

SAN ANGELO, (UP)—Peter Harding Williams of San Angelo, 57, pioneer oil well driller, died here Thursday after a year's illness. His career included the extension in 1927 of the Powell field in Crockett county, which he sold for $500,000, and the completion, unaided, in Irion county last year of the worlds deepest test for oil drilled with cable tools No. 1 Ash Bros., 8,900 feet deep. It was dry.

ASKS MORATORIUM

EL PASO, (UP)—Rep. R. E. Thomason plans to ask the next session of congress to grant a moratorium on next year's construction cost payments from farmers in the Elephant Butte dam project and to extend the payments from the present 23 years to 40 years.

EL PASO CAMPAIGN

EL PASO, (UP)—A cotton handkerchief campaign as a means of consuming more cotton, may become a nationwide issue.

The McKesson-Kelly and Pollard company, wholesale druggists, is pushing the campaign among its stores in the southwest, using the slogan, "Don't holler, spend a dollar for cotton." Fourteen cotton handkerchiefs cost a dollar.

Sterling to Speak To County Judges

EL PASO, Oct. 17. (UP)—County problems will be discussed by state and county officials at the annual convention of the Association of County Judges and Commissioners of Texas Oct. 29, 30 and 31.

Gov. Ross Sterling is scheduled to speak the afternoon of October 29. W. R. Ely, chairman of the state highway commission, will speak Saturday, Oct. 31, on "The Unfinished System of Highways."

Officers will be elected Saturday, Oct. 31.

Other speakers listed are: Rep. R. E. Thomason, of El Paso; Jim Miller, county commissioner, Dallas; Oscar C. Dancy, county judge, Cameron county; Tom Eplen, county judge, Taylor county; P. H. Singleton, county judge, Walker county; G. C. Grider, county judge, Lynn county.

Canalization Has Unusual Outlook

DALLAS, Oct. 17. (UP)—A review of intracoastal canal projects, which will give waterways to Texas' largest exporting area as well as to its raw material producing territory, will be made by the Trinity Canal association here Oct. 23.

A week later the Intracoastal association holds its annual meeting at Corpus Christi.

During the last two years the task of creating streams into canals has made rapid progress after a quarter of a century of agitation. Work is now underway between the Sabine Lake and Morgan City at the Atchafalaya river, where the canal divides. One branch continues east to New Orleans, the other north to a connection with the Missouri at Plaquemine.

In Texas, dredging machines are working westward between Sabine Lake to a point in Chambers county. Contract for completion of the canal to Galveston will probably be let next month. Removal of 20,000,000 cubic yards of earth will be required for completion of this final segment of the waterways.

Engineers believe the entire Mississippi-Coastal system will be in operation within five years, giving the Southwest a tremendous advantage in trade with the American interior via the entire Mississippi basin.

The jailing of all members of the federal reserve was advocated by the former governor.

IS YOUR GAS EQUIPMENT READY FOR THE WINTER?

Summer is nearing its close and crisp evenings soon will begin to give warning of winter's approach.

The efficiency and economy of your gas-burning equipment will have much to do with your winter comfort and peace of mind.

Have you taken any steps to correct defects that appeared last winter? Is your furnace of the proper size and type? Are your burners of an efficient type and are they in proper adjustment?

Is your water heater in the bathroom, and if so, does it have a flue to carry away dangerous fumes that might result from an improperly adjusted burner or from a flame turned too high against a cold surface?

Or perhaps you are planning a new home. Do you know what type and size of furnace will give service with efficiency and economy? Do you know where the hot and cold air ducts or the radiators should be located, or what size they should be?

These are only a few of the heating problems which the Service Department is prepared to help you solve—and without cost to you. The department is manned by experts in gas appliances and their adjustment.

If you have a gas problem, get in touch with the Service Department.
