POSSE SHOOTS FOUR NEGROES WHILE ON HUNT

SENATOBIA, Miss., Oct. 17. (UP)—The bodies of four negroes, shot to death by a posse, were found today on a highway south of here.

The posse was searching for Jesse Williams, 45, negro, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Jeff Williams, and went to the home where he was reported to be hiding.

Members of the posse reported that the negroes resisted search and were shot.

Former Resident Killed in Crash

Fatally injured Saturday night when the automobile in which he was riding overturned on a highway near here, Jeff Bingham, 28, of Wink, and who formerly worked for Harry Tolbert of Midland, will be buried probably at Gladewater on Tuesday.

Jewel J. Taylor, 28, also of Wink, was injured seriously. Harold Snyder, driver of the car, received minor hurts, and three other occupants were not injured.

The car left the highway and overturned twice when Snyder was blinded by lights of a passing automobile.

The party was en route to a dance at Monahans.

Funeral arrangements were being completed today, following the arrival of Gladewater parents.

Former Midlander Is RFC Attorney

Judge Chas. Gibbs, former Midland district judge and now an attorney of San Angelo, has been named attorney for the newly created San Angelo branch of the Regional Agricultural Credit corporation, it was announced Saturday.

The appointment was made in Washington where the names of three legal firms were sent two weeks ago for the legal department of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make its selection according to the San Angelo Standard-Times.

Judge Gibbs, veteran West Texas jurist, moved to San Angelo from Midland six years ago after retiring from a long period as district judge, prior to division of the district in which Midland is located.

He formed a partnership with W. A. Wright of San Angelo and later with Glenn Lewis, the latter firm being dissolved when Lewis was elected district attorney there.

300 Attend Big Class Barbecue

More than 300 people had a big day Sunday at E. B. Dickenson's barbecue at his super-fine ranch in Martin county. There was enough of beans and meat left to feed another 100.

Dickenson gave the barbecue in honor of the Men's class of Hotel Scharbauer of which he is a member and he had families of his members as his guests. The ranchman not only provided the dinner which included barbecued beef and kid, son-of-a-gun, beans, blackberry and peach cobbler, beet, pickles, coffee, lemonade and iced tea, but he had arranged long lines of tables and even had a table with seats for convenience. The women guests, The Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun, Methodist pastor, pronounced the invocation after being presented by Harry L. Haight, class president.

The ranch, which is said to be the best situated place in all this area of West Texas, was shown to the guests by Dickenson and by Mr. and Mrs. Avery Loving, who have been on the place since 1910 and have helped develop it into a model place. The visitors also saw a part of Dickenson's pure bred herd of Hereford, grass fat enough to kill for beef.

Virgil C. Ray was said by the guests to have never done a better job at barbecuing and Tom Grammar added to his already well known reputation as a cook of beans, son-of-a-gun and pot pudding. Bob Preston, J. R. Sale and J. C. Sale assisted Dickenson in making arrangements for handling the crowds and others assisted with the cutting and serving. Many guests said it was the most enjoyable barbecue they ever attended.

500,000 Cowboys Still on Ranges

Contrary to popular belief in the east, the cowboy did not pass out of the western scene with the Indian and the buffalo.

This is revealed in a United States department of agriculture census, which shows that there still are 500,000 cowboys in West Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

The census does not include the movie cowboy with his wrist watch and silk shirt, but the good-hearted, plug-ugly ranch hand who serves as a nurse maid for stray calves and gets up before the break of dawn.

The last federal census shows the following number of cows and calves in the western states: Texas, 6,127,000; Kansas, 3,892,000; Nebraska, 3,104,000; Oklahoma, 2,151,000; South Dakota, 1,907,000; California, 1,866,000; North Dakota, 1,545,000; Colorado, 1,541,000; Montana, 1,250,000; New Mexico, 1,114,000, and Arizona, 851,000.

Turns Back on a Million

Dolores Ray, movie player, turned her back on a million dollars when she left Larry Funk, orchestra leader, revealed in a divorce action in Cleveland. His petition said his wife was "money-mad and wouldn't go with anyone unless he had a million dollars." Then Funk revealed that his wife lacked foresight, for he had inherited "enough to put me in the millionaire class," he said. Miss Ray and the back she turned are shown above.

INVESTIGATION OF STATE CHECK GRAFT IS MADE

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (UP)—A reported boast that there was no need to work hard when money came easy, which was carried to state officers from Fort Worth, has led to the investigation of liquidation checks of the state banking department cashed there.

James Shaw, state banking commissioner, said that three such checks, totaling less than $400, were under investigation at present. Peace Justice Frank Tannehill said he expected to call an examining trial tomorrow on a complaint charging W. E. Stiles, clerk in the liquidating department, with defrauding the department of $108.

Funeral Rites for Dead Stenographer

MEXIA, Oct. 17. (UP)—Funeral services were held at Woodville today for Gloria Wheat, 23, stenographer in the state office at Austin, who was found dying of poisoning at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. W. Hopson, near here yesterday. Miss Wheat had come for a weekend visit. A carbolic acid bottle was found beside her. The coroner's verdict was suicide.

TAX NOTICES MAILED

Mailing of about 3,000 tax notices to Midland county tax payers will be completed some time this week, according to the tax collector.

Contrary to the practice of numerous Texas counties, Midland is saving money this year through the mailing of notices on postal cards, rather than letters.

REPUBLICANS LOOKING WITH CONCERN ON A GRADUAL DRIFT TO DEMOCRACY

WASHINGTON.—It would seem that the trend of the presidential campaign is so completely in the direction of the democratic nominees that there is no longer any serious differences of opinion among newspaper observers or politicians, except those of the latter who are beholden to the Hoover administration for jobs or special favors or other means of livelihood. Democratic leaders from Chairman Farley down have not hesitated to claim a sweeping victory for Governor Roosevelt and his running mate, Speaker Garner, based upon an intimate knowledge of conditions in every section of the country. Governor Roosevelt himself, as reported in the press from time to time,

21 ARMY CRAFT LAND AT SLOAN FIELD SUNDAY

Twenty-one army planes, pursuits and transports, landed at Sloan field over Sunday, en route from the abandoned Mather field flying post at Sacramento, Calif., to their new base at Barksdale field, Shreveport.

They will make up a new unit under charge of Major Carl Spatz. The major led four P-12 pursuits to Midland at 10:30 Sunday. Lieut. Dawson landed ahead of six, Lieut. Graves landed six. They were followed by three transports, a Fokker tri-motor and two Fokker Universals. Lieut. Crostwaite landed his P-12 late in the evening and spent the night. Lieut. PROHIBITIONIST MAKES LECTURES HERE ON SUNDAY

Continuing the prohibition drive set in motion here last week by Dr. Van Valkenburgh, Dr. Atticus Webb, warhorse for the Anti-Saloon league for many years, spoke at two Midland churches Sunday and plans speaking at the First Baptist church Thursday evening at 7:30 when he returns from a round of speeches over this immediate area.

The prohibitionist spoke at the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock, the First Baptist church in the evening. Dr. Van Valkenburgh spoke the Sunday before at the First Methodist church.

Dr. Webb, when interviewed this morning, said he would like to get just one message over to the public now. "The justification for prohibition," he plans giving, "in other interviews later in the week, he cited the words of Dr. W. D. Eradfield of Dallas, Methodist minister and a professor in SMU, as best answering the justification angle.

"The only justification for prohibiting the traffic of intoxicating liquor must be found in the nature of the liquor. If it is harmless there should be neither regulation nor prohibition.

"Alcohol is that content of all these drinks liquor. Alcohol is not a medicine. The best physicians of today do not prescribe it. Were I to list their names here there would be no exceptions. Neither is it a stimulant, but the opposite—a narcotic. It is classed with opium; chloroform is made from it. Our government prohibits the traffic in opium.

"Alcohol is also a deadly poison. It paralyzes the nerve centers controlling the respiratory organs of the heart. Death ensues instantly. It is a reliable method of determining our deaths from so-called 'poison liquor' is from liquor containing no other poison than alcohol.

"It is also a slow poison. As a slow poison it damages the cells of physical existence and vitality. Hence the poison is in direct proportion to the amount taken. It may be in moderate doses not causing drunkenness, yet, if regularly taken, stores up death against the day of a crisis in health, as an accident or disease being the determining cause whether the patient shall live or die.

"It will be noticed that this country for years of our history has had a moderate use of regular, as under the saloon regime. During pre-Prohibition days, a distinguished actuary, Mr. E. B. Phelps, after a thorough investigation reported that 66,000 of our people died annually from liquor, or 7.7 per cent of all the deaths.

"The question is: Should our government license the sale in such a manner as to protect it, it must necessarily protect it and tacitly recommend it. Can our government be bribed for the tax it may collect, thus to sponsor the traffic and use its endorsement to encourage our people to drink it?"

Dr. Webb said none of the speakers in the campaign, nor any of the public matters dealt with, would be offensive to logical thinking voters.

VAST POWER OF PRESIDENT SEEN SINCE CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON.—President Hoover's boasts of achievement and the tendency of the voters to make him almost the sole issue of the campaign again bear out the truth of the assertion that the president of the United States is always the most powerful man in the world.

The current argument is as to how well the president has performed under the depression—whether he has helped avert a serious crisis or whether he has done a 100 per cent job in fighting it. The saving us from worse consequences.

AMENDMENTS IN ELECTION HAVE TEXAS INTEREST

AUSTIN, (UP)—Elimination of one constitutional officer in counties under 20,000 population is the purpose of one of the constitutional amendments to be voted upon Nov. 8.

It is sought to accomplish this by combining the offices of tax assessor and tax collector. Considerable confusion has arisen when such a combination would become effective. The amendment is adopted. Secretary Bob Barker of the state senate has made a check of the various stages of the joint resolution submitting the amendment to the legislature. The change would become effective in 1935. The combined assessor and collector would be elected in 1934 and take office in 1935.

ONE OF VICTIMS SERIOUSLY HURT BY THE ASSAULT

Motive of Houston Mother Is Not Established

HOUSTON, Oct. 17. (UP)—Mrs. Alice Kostas, 35, today attacked her two children with a hammer, slashed them with a razor and then took her own life by inhaling gas. Officers who broke down the door of her house found her lying on the bathroom floor with the gas jet open. A few minutes earlier her children, Ben, 14, and Helen, 10, ran from the home with blood streaming from their heads. The boy was said to be in a critical condition. Mrs. Kostas died soon after she was found.

ALL TEAMS OF DISTRICT THREE PLAY THIS WEEK

SAN ANGELO.—District 3 football teams square off next weekend for the championship trophy proper with San Angelo at McCamey, Sweetwater at Big Spring and Colorado at Midland.

The Sweetwater-Big Spring and Colorado-Midland contests are scheduled Friday afternoon, the San Angelo-McCamey battle Saturday. The Sweetwater team further installed itself as district favorite Saturday with a 54-0 win over Midland in the first district tilt for both clubs. The Ponies are expected to take Big Spring by a healthy score, but hardly by 54 points.

Colorado 21-to-winner over McCamey week before last, is favored to score its second district victory when it engages Midland. The San Angelo team, ranked by some of the doers as the No. 2 favorite of the circuit, is expected to find the McCamey entry very stubborn. This match comes under the grade-classification. The Badgers may not beat anybody else, but they certainly will be in there trying to scalp the San Angelo boys. The Upton county club has been "having" for the most of nearly 12 months, thinking of only one game, not caring for the rest. The charges of Clyde Park and Leonard Hill will fight their hearts out to beat San Angelo.

The McCamey team played no game the past week. San Angelo, Coach Taylor permitting his regulars to get most of their action from the sideline, beat the class B Winters team 13 to 0. The Bobcats are in comparatively good physical condition except that Curt Hays, big halfback who was scheduled to do a goodly portion of the blocking and passing, is sick in bed and will be in no shape to go. It is doubtful if Hays will play to considerably at McCamey. Scores of games in which district 3 teams have participated: Sweetwater 24; Abilene 0; Sweetwater 24; Lubbock 7; Sweetwater 54; Midland 0.

San Angelo 13; Ballinger 0; San Angelo 0; Abilene 9; San Angelo 13; Winters 0.

Big Spring 0; Lamesa 0; Big Spring 24; Roscoe 0; Big Spring 6; Amarillo 25; Big Spring 38; Stanton 0.

McCamey 13; Pecos 0; McCamey 6; Colorado 21; Colorado 33; Roby 0; Colorado 21; McCamey 6; Colorado 6; Roscoe 0.

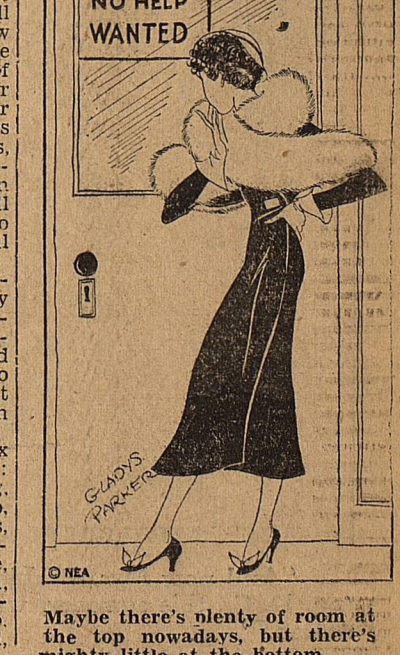

Midland 20; Stanton 0; Midland 41; Odessa 0; Midland 0; Sweetwater 54.

The Town Quack
(Reserve the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)
Well, I'll modify that statement by saying that he doesn't stand any chance at all.
A local man was urged to quit smoking, but he said he thought it was better for him to go on smoking and being happy than to be cross with his wife and children.
A columnist asks, "What has become of the old fashioned teacher who looked cross as she walked along?"
Answer: She has been replaced by the stylish school teacher who looks long as she walks across.

HAIL HINDENBURG!
Those shouting thousands of Germans who trooped down the streets in Berlin to shout birthday greetings for President Von Hindenburg represented, when you stop to think about it, one of the most encouraging factors in the entire European situation today.
Their celebration was an expression of the profound loyalty and respect which the average German feels for the aging warrior; and that sentiment is, perhaps, about as good a bulwark as Europe today possesses against disaster.
Germany is being pulled about sorely these days. Revolution is hardly more than a hand's breadth distant. Hitler, the Hohenzollerns, the Communists—all are watching their chance, all have strong public support, all would seize power tomorrow if conditions were just a little bit more favorable. And no one needs to be told what such an event could mean to the peace of Europe.

Dear Colonel:
I used to hunt tigers in Africa. I would go out at night, set the down near a trail to a water hole, and wait. Presently, animals of one kind and another would start coming down the trail to the water. When I saw a pair of green eyes shining, I knew it was a tiger, and would aim carefully between the two spots of light. I got a tiger every time, but one night I failed. I knew my aim was good, so I examined my cartridges and tested my gun. Everything seemed to be all right, but the next night I missed again. The third night I took a powerful flashlight with me and turned it on when I saw the two green eyes looming in the path. And what do you suppose I discovered? All the tigers thereabouts had got onto my system, and they always came down to water, two abreast, each with one eye shut. When I fired, the bullet went between them.
HAP CORRIGAN.
Sir: Tiger hunting is great sport, and I have done a lot of it myself. But for thrills and excitement, I prefer the pursuit of tins wild pig. The pig is a most extraordinary animal, built somewhat on the specifications of a rhinoceros, but with many special features. He is, like many humans, two-faced; with a head on each side. He has a row of eyes along each side of his body like the porpoises on a ship. The most remarkable characteristic of this creature, however, is his enormous size. A full-grown pilerius stands two feet higher than a tree, and it is a hard day's ride on a horse from one end of him to the other.
Being two-headed, the pilerius can travel either forward or backward with equal facility. Having two brains, which work in 12-hour shifts, he is never caught asleep.
I was observing the progress of a young pilerius across the jungle one day when suddenly he sneezed. The sneeze of the blast created such a vacuum near him that a herd of elephants exploded like an arm load of balloons.
I saw this same pilerius on one of the rare occasions when both his brains were awake at the same time. One head swallowed a huge lion, and about the same time the other head swallowed a equally large tiger.
When the two animals met inside they engaged in a battle that badly disorganized the pilerius' interior. He suffered much pain for several days, and at last I took pity on him. I sent to the blatt created such a vacuum near him that a herd of elephants exploded like an arm load of balloons.

JUAREZ TRAP IN AMERICA
EL PASO. (UP)—Harry Mitchell, proprietor of the famous mint bar in Juarez, across the Rio Grande, and host at one time or another to most of the world's drinking notables, today rejoiced in the fact that trap No. 34, that of the mint, is the largest trap of international bar traps in the Western hemisphere.
With 4,221 "flies" enrolled, Trap No. 34 is exceeded in enrollment only by Trap No. 1, Harry McElhone's New York bar in Paris.
The Paris bar west its superiority to the enrolling there of a couple of divisions of the American Expeditionary force, partisans of the Juarez trap charge.
The organization, which describes itself as "a secret and sacred fraternal organization devoted to the uplift and downfall of serious drinkers," now boasts 77 traps throughout the Western hemisphere, a high sign of other equipment.
Some of the rules, now neatly bound in an illustrated red cloth-bound booklet, follow:
"Any members of the I. B. E. caught cutting out paper dolls after a bad night must hand in their resignations.
"Those who come to the trap at 5 a. m. and are able to play a ukulele without a rehearsal are eligible for life membership.
"Members bumping their chin on the edge of the deck of falling are suspended for ten days.
"Those seeing kerise cats with purple eyes should keep it to themselves. Traps are not zoological gardens."
It is estimated that Canada's gold production this year will total about $50,000,000.

"Scarface" Thrills Ritz Audiences

Howard Hughes has delivered another great contribution to the screen in his United Artists picture, "Scarface," which had its first performance in this city yesterday at the Ritz theatre. It is one of the most examples of picture making seen here. From the standpoint of sheer melodrama, it is unsurpassed. Thrills follow thrills in rapid succession. It moves at a tremendous pace, and it builds logically and convincingly to a startling climax without a single false note to mar the tempo and finesse of its deftly constructed and brilliantly photographed plot. "Scarface" is no pink-tea affair, as can well be imagined, coming from Howard Hughes, famed for his film achievements. Paul Muni, who plays the gang leader, gives a great screen characterization. A Broadway stage star, renowned for his artistic impersonations, he is seen in his first outstanding film role in this picture. His portrayal of Tony Camonte assures him of definite star ranking. "Scarface" may be seen again at the Ritz today and tomorrow.

Limit to Love? "No"—Yucca Star

Is there any limit to what a woman will go through for love of a man? "No," says Irene Dunne—and the whole history of humanity seems to bear her out in her contention. Records of the past—and present—are filled with countless instances of the woman whose heart is filled with love. "I really feel," says Miss Dunne, "that my latest screen role in Fannie Hurst's domestic drama, 'Back Street,' represents an actual condition which is constantly before our eyes. In the story I give up position, wealth, respectability and friends, simply because Walter Saxel, played by John Boles, is a married man and must constantly maintain me in apartments in 'back streets.'" "And I think that this Universal picture portrays as no other which has gone before the tragedy, as well as the happiness, of such an association." John M. Stahl, famous as a producer of domestic drama, directed "Back Street," and the cast supporting Miss Dunne and Boles includes June Clyde, George Meeker, Zasu Pitts, Shirley Gray, William Bakewell, Doris Lloyd and Arletta Duncan. Vast Power-- good and bad things that happen to the country, the chief responsibility for that tendency probably rests with the succession of presidents who for decades have been arrogating a constantly increasing amount of power which long ago went far beyond the intent of the framers of the constitution. President Hoover has been the mightiest monarch of them all. Armed with billions of dollars in federal funds and credit, he has assumed a sort of shepherdship over the hundreds of billions of national wealth. He decides whether we shall stay on the gold standard, whether we shall risk danger of war with Japan over Manchuria, whether 12,000,000 unemployed and their dependents shall receive federal aid, whether 4,000,000 war veterans shall have their bonus, what the nation shall do to help its 10,000,000 farmers, whether Europe or our own banks and railroads shall be allowed to go to pot—and a lot of other little things like that. So, instead of just choosing between a couple of men, we are going to vote the retention or transference of an almost incredible amount of power. The greatest preview crowd, except two, since January saw, the power.

Congress and the supreme court have expanded their own powers far beyond that foreseen by the Founding Fathers, but the White House has far outstripped them both. Extension of the veto power to its widest possible limits and participation in legislation to the extent of framing and forcing through the president's own measures are the chief means by which the executive has become so nearly omnipotent, neither of which was contemplated by the constitution's framers. Use of the patronage power and arrogation of the power to remove appointive officials are added weapons. A hostile congress may partially balk a president, but a president can usually balk any congress with which he disagrees. The president was originally armed with the veto so that he might prevent congressional encroachments on his office and perhaps occasionally prevent bad or partisan laws. Early presidents vetoed solely on constitutional grounds. Jackson was the first to interpose his judgment on matters of personal policy, but there were only half a dozen such instances until the post-Civil war period. "Strong" presidents such as Cleveland and Roosevelt developed the prerogative. Today a president vetoes anything he doesn't think is a good idea—as Hoover has vetoed unemployment bills, relief bills, the democratic tariff measure, farm relief bills and others. Whereas presidents once merely

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The lesson-sermon subject was "Doctrine of Atonement" in all the Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 16. The golden text was from John 10:30—"I and my Father are one." As a part of the service the following from Joel 2:32 was read: "And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered: for in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call." The following citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were also read: "Waking to Christ's demand, mortals experience suffering. This causes them, even as drowning men, to make vigorous efforts to save themselves; and through Christ's precious love these efforts are crowned with success. . . . One sacrifice, however great, is insufficient to pay the debt of sin. The atonement requires constant self-immolation on the sinner's part."
