Japs Dely League and World Opinion; Vote Withdrawal

Sharp Clashes Give Little Ground To Either

GENEVA, Feb. 24. (UP)—The Japanese delegation, defying world opinion, withdrawal from the League of Nations today after the assembly adopted the report blaming Japan for events in Manchuria.

The assembly voted 41 to one for withdrawal of Japanese from Manchuria and for restoration of Chinese sovereignty.

The assembly voted 41 to one for withdrawal of Japanese from Manchuria and for restoration of Chinese sovereignty.

Yosuke Matsuoka declared that the delegation will not come back.

CHINESE GAMELY FIGHT BACK

PEIPING, Feb. 24. (UP)—Chinese stubbornly fought against the Japanese invasion of Jehol today.

New lines at Chaoyang were formed after the battle resulting in heavy casualties for both sides.

A short retreat was termed a strategic withdrawal to consolidate the lines.

The Japanese denied their main offensive had started.

It was expected that a determined Chaoyang onslaught would be made.

TROOPS MOVE IN SUB-ZERO WEATHER

The big Japanese drive to conquer the province of Jehol is under way.

Despite a heavy snowstorm and temperatures running around 10 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, two columns of troops began to advance on the northeastern boundary of the province Thursday.

One of these columns, composed of the sixth Japanese infantry division and the fourth cavalry brigade, set out from Tungling, which is about 45 miles from the Jehol border of Manchuria.

The other columns, composed of troops of the government of Manchukuo, moved on the northeastern Jehol frontier behind a screen of cavalrymen, a Changchun dispatch said.

The Chinese defenders of the province of Jehol have turned to the mountainous terrain of their country as an ally in their efforts to stop the invading Japanese.

Jehol's governor, Tang Yu-Lin, announced his troops had withdrawn from the Nanling-Peipiao area after a Japanese force of 30,000 men, supported by artillery, tanks and aircraft, a new defense line is being established at Chaoyang along the hills overlooking a valley through which the invaders must pass.

Japan served an ultimatum on China demanding evacuation of Chinese troops in Jehol.

The Japanese ultimatum threatened if China's troops are not removed from Jehol the combined armies of Japan and Manchukuo will drive them out.

At headquarters of Chang Hsiao-Ling a spokesman for the marshal indicated Chang would not be deterred from his campaign of resistance in Jehol.

The Japanese already appear to have launched an attack on Jehol," he said. "It doesn't make any difference now whether they present an ultimatum or not. We haven't received any word from any Japanese spokesman, and if we do we'll ignore it."

Midland's "City of the Dead" Being Put In Model Condition Through Agency of RFC Work Funds; Shrubbery Planted

Midland's "City of the Dead," unofficially estimated to be greater in population than Midland proper, is being beautified through the agency of RFC work aid funds.

Hundreds of yards of clay are being spread over the hill-top section of the 10 acres, 140 trees have been added to the 565 planted last year and concrete curbing is being laid around several private plots.

More than 2,500 cubic yards of clay have been placed from one pit, and another excavation has been started. Individuals are beginning to cooperate by planting shrubbery.

"There is no 'potter's field' in the Midland plot, there has never been such a burial place in Midland, according to some of the oldest inhabitants.

FIRST BURIAL HERE

It was more than 50 years ago that the first burial was made in the cemetery. The body of a man was removed from a lonely grave near the site of the old college building west of the city and reburied in the spot that marks the present location.

The oldest inscription that can be read shows a burial date of 1886, the grave's occupant being M. V. Nash. The name of George McManus, buried in 1888, appears to be the second oldest from the standpoint of legible identification.

PILOT DIES OF PISTOL WOUND WHILE FLYING

Youth Kills Self as He Survives the Accident

SAN BENITO, Feb. 24. (UP)—Efforts were made today to link the murder of Lehman Nelson, aviation instructor here, 1,000 feet in the air last night, and the subsequent suicide of a student, Edin McCall, with the investigation of an international liquor smuggling ring.

McCall shot Nelson in the back of the head soon after a takeoff for a regular flying lesson. He landed the plane, ran a short distance and killed himself.

Officers probed alleged attempts to steal gasoline for a flight to Honduras.

Liquor smugglers were reported active along the border. An eighteen-year-old boy here admitted ownership of the gun used by McCall. It was not missed until after the shooting.

It was expected that the inquiry board's verdict will not be reached for several days.

SAN BENITO, Feb. 24.—Two men were shot and killed late Thursday as the plane in which they were flying crashed on a landing field in the outskirts of San Benito.

Watchers at the field declared they heard a shot while the plane still was in the air. As it spiraled downward, a pistol was fired from the cockpit of the plane.

McCall, who was business manager of the high school football team at San Benito last year, undertook flying instruction with Nelson several weeks ago and had accumulated nine hours of flying time.

Thursday, they had been practicing landings. Nelson made his headquarters at the Harlingen airport and had been a licensed pilot several years.

The crowd of horrified watchers rushed toward the plane as it hurtled to the field, one group of them running to the wreckage, where Nelson's body was found, and others toward McCall. He was dead before they could reach him.

Earl Dodson, roommate of McCall, said the youthful flying student recently had been seriously ill and had appeared depressed. McCall was graduated from high school only a few months ago and since that time had not been employed. He leaves two brothers, Archie and Lanier McCall, of San Benito. Nelson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nelson of Harlingen.

Justice Frank Roberts began a coroner's inquest immediately after the tragedy and was questioning watchers on the ground who saw the crash.

One witness testified at the hearing that he heard a shot while the plane was in the air as it spiraled uncertainly toward the ground, straightened out and nosed over as its wheels struck in plowed ground.

KEEP UP THE GUARD

Americans have got used to the sight of secret service men guarding the president. Wherever the occupant of the White House goes, one or more alert-looking men in civilian suits are sure to be found, unobtrusive but ready for trouble; and now and then some of us have felt that there really was no need for such painstaking care—that the chance of anything happening to a president was really pretty remote.

What happened at Miami forces us to realize that these precautions are wise, after all. For the president—or, as in this case, the president-elect—is by the very nature of things a target for cranks. Every homicidal maniac who nurses a grievance, every dim-witted theorist who imagines himself commissioned to right the world's wrongs, is bound to think of the president, sooner or later; and once in a while it is inevitable that such a man will get a gun and go on a rampage. We must continue to hedge our presidents around with elaborate safeguards.

The Town Quack

The merchants certainly are coming in to this Inaugural Days event in great style. Our printers are working nights to set the ads for Sunday's paper. The edition is going to be circulated in towns all over the area adjacent to Midland, and many a human will be here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday to join in the three day bargain and entertainment events. Midland has had a reputation ever since I can remember of never doing a job half way, and the Inaugural event will be no exception. Watch for the big issue Sunday. Our ad men are pushed to get around for all the copy, so if they miss you, call 'em up. How many men did you hear make this statement Thursday? "What a day to go fishing." If business were as bad as a lot of us have been pretending, we might all close up and go fishing, but it isn't. Most of us have enough to do that we want to be right here on the job, looking after our business. Here's the kind of statement that writers use to make people dissatisfied: Congressmen are the only Americans who receive full pay while on vacations. I don't like that sort of propaganda. We have been saying that our lawmakers and executives should get better pay, so better men would be attracted to the jobs. Congressmen get pretty good pay, so it's our own fault if we don't have the right men in office. People who sit around and criticize the lawmakers continually in mind me of a speaker recently who said, "What we need is a practical plan." But, did he offer one? No, land yesterday. C. N. Snow has returned to his home at Abilene after transacting business here. R. E. Whalen of Pecos was a business visitor here Thursday. Four-fifths, or 87 per cent of cow's milk is water. SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter: "Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market. My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN, but I give such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN. If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed." Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa. Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

New Way Ends Body Odor At Its Source

Famous chemists have discovered the effective answer for body odor—deep-pore cleansing. A new kind of bathing made possible by Kirk's Coco Castile soap.
Ordinary soaps, with their thick, sluggish lathers, are being rapidly replaced by this 100% pure vegetable oil soap, made by America's largest soap makers. Even in hard water, Kirk's Coco Castile breaks instantly into a searching lather that cleans deep into the pores, actually removes stale perspiration beyond reach of ordinary soaps, then rinses out in a flash. This body odor is ended in the only effective way—by removing the cause.
Kirk's Coco Castile is delightful to use and stimulating to the skin. Free from offensive M. S. (medicine smell), it ends body odor the odorless way. A big bargain, 50 per cent larger than ordinary toilet soaps, it is sold everywhere at the lowest price in history. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

Indians Offer a Slump Solution

LOS ANGELES. (UP)—The American Indian's wisdom and spirit of civilization, not Communism, nor Socialism, nor Technocracy, provides the solution to America's economic and social ills, according to Ernest Thompson Seton, noted authority on wild life, and author.

"The white man's civilization has crumbled," asserted the 72-year-old writer. "Mankind has learned during the last few years that accumulation of material wealth is not all that matters in living the good life.

"For more than 400 years after we in America refused to accept the Indian's plan of living, we are coming to realize that the principles they adhered to are what we need in our present emergency, namely, the spirit of service to humanity. This must replace the more material viewpoint which has been in general acceptance."

As a part of his attempts to inculcate an appreciation of the nature of the American Indian, Seton has founded a new national chief of the Woodcraft Rangers of America.

"The members of the Woodcraft Rangers are not made to dress or act like Indians," he said, "but to gain an understanding of the Indian's infinite wisdom and sincere appreciation of matters spiritual and philosophical."

Fair on Rails Tours France

BORDEAUX. (UP)—The Fair on Wheels started off today on a three-month tour of France.

Under the auspices of the ministries of commerce and public works, the exposition train will pass through all the principal cities with the hope of acquainting each district thoroughly with the trade of the others and of encouraging business in general.

This is not the first time that the plan has been tried. At one time, when the fish industry was particularly dull, a Fish Train toured the nation with beneficial results. At another time a Cereal Train purged and whistled new health into the grain industry.

The rolling fair consists of 18 Pullmans and a restaurant car. Each car is divided into small compartments, where stands have been set up by representatives of virtually every major branch of industry and commerce in France.

The compartments were rented by the exhibitors, who are supplied, however, with free electricity for lighting and for electrically operated feature exhibits. The railroads also will benefit by the trip, each car having been loaned for the fair by a different railway company.

FROGS EXPECT TOUGH GAMES FOR WEEK END

FORT WORTH—All pepped up over their 42-26 victory over the league-leading Texas University Longhorns, the Horace Prog cagers settled down to work Tuesday to prepare for their coming games with the Texas Aggies and Rice Owls. They meet the Aggies in College Station tonight and then jump over to Houston to tilt with the Longhorns with the Feathered Tribe Saturday night.

The splendid showing of Richard "Speedy" Allison, former Dallas cage star who has been serving as an understudy for both the forward and center position, brought a smile of delight to the face of Coach Francis A. Schmidt Monday night. Allison, scoring three gave the Frogs an early lead which the Longhorns were unable to overcome. He was high scorer of the melee, with 15 points.

Due to the fact that Texas started an extra tall guard, the Purple mentor decided to start Allison so that the Texas crew would not have the next advantage. The tall Texas guard was soon ousted from the affair by the personal foul route and Coach Schmidt was so well pleased with the work of Allison that he let him in the game. Albert "Flash" Walker played less during the Texas tilt than he has since he started his basketball career in conference competition last year. It was not because Walker was off or unable to play his usual game, but because the Steer cagers seemed unable to stop Allison.

The shining work of Wallace "Hec-Call" Myers was also an outstanding factor in the Frogs' victory in Austin Jack Gray, sensational sophomore Longhorn forward who is leading the conference's scoring race, got past Myers to score 16 points. Last night the effective guarding of Myers held the Texas ace to two field goals. Besides having Gray under control, Myers slipped through the Longhorn defense to score 7 points. Capt. Brannon, Sumner and Kinzy played their best defensive games of the season.

The Frogs will encounter one of the toughest teams in the loop when they meet the Cadets tonight. The Farmers gave the Frogs one of their hardest battles of the season in Fort Worth and the Purple mentor is expecting to find a strong and stubborn Aggie defense. Besides having Toads, the same is true of the Rice crew. Coach Jimmy Kitts, serving his first year as coach of a Southwest conference team, has a young and inexperienced quintet this year but as the season has aged in experience so has his ball club. The Owls lost a close contest to the Longhorns last week and are waiting for revenge on the Toads, who defeated them at home last month.

Plane Deaths

he saw Nelson's head hanging over the side of the front cockpit and blood on the fuselage. He said Nelson had been shot in the back of the head.

Other witnesses who testified at the hearing declared they saw McCall climb out of the rear cockpit, pull to his temple and fire. He was dead before they could reach him. Three shots had been fired from the pistol and investigators were unable to account for the third shot, as Nelson's body bore only the one wound and McCall's only one.

Pistol Identified

Earl Dodson, McCall's roommate, identified the pistol as one he (Dodson) owned. He testified he did not know McCall had taken it from their room. He said the former football team member recently told him, he had contracted a serious disease, and appeared depressed.

They took off from the Harlingen flying field operated by Bill Williams at 5 p. m., flying toward San Benito in the light biplane. They landed at the San Benito airport at 5:30 p. m. McCall apparently piloting the ship to practice landings. They took off almost immediately and had been circling about the town only a short time when the crash occurred.

Friends declared they knew of no difficulties between McCall and Nelson.

Biggest Star Cast Assembled to Make Millionaire Drama

Fifteen stars are cast together in "If I Had a Million," film drama opening at the Ritz theatre with a preview Saturday night and running through Sunday and Monday. Together they make the most important array of cinema talent which has ever been seen in a single production.

The stars are Gary Cooper, George Raft, Wynne Gibson, Charles Laughton, Jack Oakie, Frances Dee, Charlie Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields, Mary Boland, Roscoe Karns, May Robson, Gene Raymond, Lucien Littlefield and Richard Bennett.

They play in the story of an eccentric old millionaire, who distributes his fortune among nine persons whose names he chooses at random from a telephone directory. One of the beneficiaries is an ex-vaudeville actress; another, a lady of dubious past; a third, a rowdy Marine; another, a young husband; another, an abused clerk in a china shop; another, a condemned murderer; another, a young Irishman who marries a faithless girl and finds his life blasted when he discovers her in the arms of his enemy since childhood. His passionate crime sends him to the Hell of a prison chain gang whose foreman is the brother of the man he has killed. The brutalities of these penal organizations, as recently exposed in the newspapers, are graphically portrayed as the foreman attempts to make life more miserable for the killer of his brother. Interest is heightened when the prisoner makes a break for life, and his efforts to evade the reaches of the law provide the tense film with unlimited suspense.

Old Guard

disgustedly refused to have anything to do with the nomination of a "fourth rate senator" for president in 1920, but labored vigorously to elect him.

Some of the old standpatters are close friends of some of the progressives. They used to think there was plenty of room in the party for both kinds of conservatives. But since so many Republican progressives bolted to the Democratic Roosevelt in the last campaign they have shaken their party. The "new deal" returned to Congress as a representative of the party candidate is the worst of sins.

Will They Come Back?

Is the philosophy of the Old Guard completely out of date for all time and does it perish now? Not in the opinion of millions of Republicans and of innumerable hard-shelled business men. The "new deal" of the progressive elect Roosevelt is a complete repudiation of the Old Guard idea.

Whether the "new deal" works out, and if not, whether the country tries to return to more radical or more conservative are matters for speculation. Watson, for instance, thinks we are drifting toward dictatorship.

The departing Old Guard, it is interesting to note, cast its eyes to the only one of their old contingent who had any luck at all in the last election.

That man is James Wadsworth of New York, former Republican senator, once a lame duck, who has been returned to Congress as a representative. Nearly everyone here has respect for Jim Wadsworth. And old conservative Republicans tell you to watch him.

SENATE TODAY CONSIDERS A RELIEF REFORM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24, (UP).—The senate today considered a program of simplification and reform designed to ease the pressure of unpayable debts on city workers and farmers.

The measure would halt farm foreclosures and bring readjustment of the nine billion dollar mortgage debt. It is designed to curtail business bankruptcies where debtors lose all and creditors realize little on claims.

It already has been approved in the house. Enactment before Mar. 4 was desired.

"Laughter in Hell" Offering at Yucca

The right kind of woman is the greatest gift of life, but the wrong kind makes "Laughter in Hell" a tragedy. Universal's powerful drama of that name which is playing an engagement at the Yucca theatre. It is impressive with its intense human theme and characterizations.

Laid in a mining town in the South at the close of the 19th Century, the film traces the youth of a young Irishman who marries a faithless girl and finds his life blasted when he discovers her in the arms of his enemy since childhood. His passionate crime sends him to the Hell of a prison chain gang whose foreman is the brother of the man he has killed.

The brutalities of these penal organizations, as recently exposed in the newspapers, are graphically portrayed as the foreman attempts to make life more miserable for the killer of his brother. Interest is heightened when the prisoner makes a break for life, and his efforts to evade the reaches of the law provide the tense film with unlimited suspense.

A fascinating and entirely different background lends the film a unique atmosphere. The action was filmed for the most part in an old section of California which remained virtually unchanged since the days of its settlement and the odd fashions of the "Nineties" aid the picturesque mood the film boasts.

Pat O'Brien is authentically cast in "Laughter in Hell," as the young Irishman who pays for his passions in the fullest measure. Merna Kennedy gives a bewitching performance as the faithless wife who finds her flirtations lead to tragedy. Gloria Stuart, Bertie Churchill and Tom Brown are seen in the remaining featured roles.

College Freshmen Tock Wax Figure

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (UP).—"Cherokee Bill," a life size waxen figure of the notorious outlaw of Oklahoma who was hanged at Fort Smith, Ark., years ago, one of several outlaw figures, shown here recently, proved quite an attraction to two Arkansas Polytechnic College freshmen.

After the show left here having made a futile effort to locate "Cherokee Bill," the figure was found in the attic of a boy's dormitory at Arkansas Tech, where two freshmen are alleged to have hidden it.

COL. LINDBERGH GIVES MUSEUM MAP AND WATCH

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24, (UP).—A map and a watch that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh carried with him on his flight to Paris six years ago have been placed on display at Jefferson Memorial here.

The two articles, with a second watch that Lindbergh and his wife used for taking observations during their trans-continental flight in 1930, were sent here by the flier to be added to the 5,000 other articles among the Lindbergh exhibits.

In a letter to the Missouri Historical society, which has custody of the exhibits, Lindbergh explained the use to which the articles had been put. The letter follows:

Valued Possessions "We are sending by express three of the most valued possessions. We felt that they will be safer in the Jefferson Memorial than in our home."

"One is a map which I purchased in St. Louis in 1923 about the time of the National Air races there. I mounted it on wing covering with 'dope' (awning covering) and used it to record the various cross-country flights I made. The map was carried on many of the longer flights. Those of the Spirit of St. Louis are marked in red."

"The third is the watch we used for taking sun observations on our transcontinental flight in 1930. Anne used it in timing the observations she made while I flew."

"The red figures denote hour angle in arc and save the steps necessary to convert hour angle in time to hour angle in arc. We worked out this system in Los Angeles prior to the flight, and to the best of my knowledge was the first time readings had been taken directly in arc."

Red Bluff Dam Bids Received PECOS (UP).—Bids were received here for construction of the proposed Red Bluff dam and siphonic spillway near Pecos.

Large national contractors visited the site for the extensive irrigation project before submitting construction estimates to Vernon L. Sullivan, consulting engineer of El Paso who is in charge of the development.

Site for the proposed reservoir extends from near Angeles to within two miles of the New Mexico line. The great irrigation system as planned will include seven districts in the Red Bluff area. They are Arno, Cedarvale, Farmers' Independent, Imperial, Grandfalls, Pecos River and Victor.

Two sub-reservoirs will be a part of the system. Bids received today were accompanied by checks for two per cent of the contract price. Provision was stipulated for 800 working days on the dam and 300 working days on the spillway.

MIDLAND GROWN BEEF A Statement from Mr. Gist I believe that better beef can be grown and fed in Midland County than can be found anywhere—and fed Midland County feed, too. I have recently sold some calves to Conner Bros. Markets that were raised by T. O. Midkiff and fed out in my lots south of Midland for 110 days. No better beef can be bought and I personally suggest that my friends give this meat at Conner Bros. a thorough and fair trial. If you'll do that, you'll agree with me that Midland grown beef can't be beat.—John M. Gist. We are pleased to feature the EXCELLENT BEEF Sold to us by MR.
