DRY LAW REPEAL IS NOT ENOUGH

Unless all the signs are wrong, the prohibition amendment is on the way out.

And while this will be the cue for most of us to rejoice or to weep, depending on our individual attitudes, it would be a very fine thing if we sat down quietly, while there is still time, and figured out just what is going to come next.

We have set our faces toward repeal, apparently, and we have done it because the prohibition amendment hasn't worked out nearly as well as we expected it would. In trying to abolish one set of abuses we saddled ourselves with a new set, and it begins to look as if we weren't going to put up with this new set very much longer.

But while we're getting rid of them, we want to make perfectly sure that we don't revive the old set.

The old-time saloon wasn't a great deal like the speakeasy, but it created evils just as real as those which the speakeasy has created. It made a sore spot in the neighborhood which women actually feared to pass. It periodically disgorged frowsy drunks in such a way that it was unwise for women to appear unescorted on the streets at night. It was a festering breeding spot for rotten politics.

Now there is no sense in our forgetting those facts and pretending that anything at all will be better than the present era of bootleggers, rum-runners, crooked cops and shady speakeasies.

We ought to be intelligent enough to find a system that would do away with the evils of the present regime without restoring the evils of the past.

We shan't do it if we try to kid ourselves into thinking that the evils of the past really didn't amount to much.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

"Surely not the first to pay?" the man asked.

"No, the first to say you'd like to."

An obese woman here in town is working on a formula for a diet which will enable her to eat a ton of food a month and lose ten pounds a week.

Pete Flanagan wrote his girl a letter, ending with this statement, evidently in an effort to show her he was sincere: "Believe me, darling, when I state that this is not a circular letter."

Every woman needs to cry now and then, and should be allowed to have it out. And every man needs to cuss now and then, so he should not be molested.

A headline said: "Counterfeit Five Dollar Bills Are Being Circulated." Well, there is some optimism in the fact that they were being circulated. Some kind of money ought to be in circulation.

The reason there are not more successful men these days is that fewer rich uncles are dying and leaving estates of $100,000.

I see where some town had a "go to church Sunday" campaign. These campaigns are all right, but it always makes the next Sunday look like the people have left town.

This happened along in December. A man went to the tax collector's window and said, "I'd like to pay my auto license tax."

"You're the first," said the collector.

it was paralysis.
Dee McCormick was told by his doctor to open two windows in his room at night. Dee told him the next day that he had only one window but he opened it twice.

Amelia Earhart Putnam predicts that in the next war women will be flying combat planes. If they fly like they drive cars they ought to baffle the enemy.

Sometimes a man who is being given charity relief applies the butter-fat test to the milk of human kindness.

Reporter: I've got the perfect story.
Editor: Man bite a dog?
Reporter: No, a bull threw a public speaker.

Road Engineer: Does the foreman know the trench has fallen in?
Worker: We are just digging him out to tell him.

Signs of spring: An urchin's cracked knuckles, bulging pockets, and a nicked glassie.

Henry Ford says he still believes in high wages. So do a lot of the rest of us, although we don't get 'em.

Many a woman who believes her husband isn't worth thirty cents would sue for a million if some other woman ran off with him.

To be a kingfish, Huey Long does a lot of carping.

However, I used to know a man named Stone who had a lot of brass.

Bankers may not have much time to get out on the streets, but they seem to be no practically everyone.

The five ages of man, according to an Oklahoma paper, are pitch, poker, bridge, rummy and solitaire.

The height of foolishness: the lady who was rescued from an upstairs room in a burning building and kept crawling back up the ladder because she enjoyed falling into the net.

"Lucky Devils," Thrilling RKO-Radio Picture Presents Perilous Careers Of Hollywood Stunting Daredevils

It is estimated that of the approximate 150 adventurers who came to Hollywood to make thrills when films and serials were born, only a scant dozen remain. Five of these—Bob Rose, Duke Green, Dick Dickenson, Harvey Perry, Buddy Mason—appear in the RKO-Radio Picture, "Lucky Devils," a thrilling action film of the stunt men, opening at the Yucca theatre with Bill Boyd, William Gargan, Dorothy Wilson, and Roscoe Ates.

The majority of the movie stunt men, who laugh at death to thrill picture fans, died that movie-goers may be thrilled. Because these men lead unostentatious lives, receding in their quest for fame and glory, accurate figures on the actual toll are unavailable. All fatalities, however, did not result from their calling. The air service attracted many; popular expeditions claimed a few, and a number died in jungle forays and big game hunts.

How Locklear Died
The generally revered names among adventurers and soldiers of fortune are those of Omar Locklear, internationally famous aviator Jean Perkins, Dick Curwood and "Red" Thompson. Locklear was killed in an airplane crash near Hollywood. During the production of a picture, he threw his machine into a tailspin, endeavoring to fall sufficiently close so that the stunt could be illumined by sun arcs and photographed from the ground.

Other Tragedies
Perkins was killed near Riverside California. He attempted to change from an airplane to a speeding freight train, but misjudged timing and fell.

Tremendous Star Cast Enacts Unusual Drama in "If I Had a Million," Ritz Production Showing Here Two Days

Have you been looking for something new in pictures? If you have, you'd better pay a visit to the Ritz theatre, where "If I Had a Million," a tremendous film drama with a cast including more than fifteen stars, begins its local engagement today.

As fine a cast as has been assembled for "If I Had a Million" is a guarantee in itself of fine performances. Gary Cooper, Jack Oakie, and Roscoe Karns as three dumb marines who never tumble to the fact that the millionaire isn't kidding them; Gene Raymond as the boy condemned to death, and Frances Dee as his young wife; Alison Skipworth as Emily, who only a few years before had been known to the vaudeville stage as Emily and Her Educated Birds, and W. C. Fields as Rollo, now a chef in Emily's tea room, but once the Great Rollo, the juggler. Wynne Gibson as Mabel Smith, a prostitute, whose idea of luxury is an expensive hotel room all to herself; Charlie Ruggles as the timid Henry Peabody, who carries china for a boss named Bullwinkle, and dreams of the day when he can buy a rabbit farm, and Mary Boland as his wife and helmate; George Raft as a notorious forger, to whom the million comes a few hours too late, and May Robson, as Grandma Walker, a belligerent old lady who has her own idea about how an old lady's home ought to be conducted—all give performances that are no less than brilliant.

A "Better Toilet" Campaign Starts

A campaign directed at building of sanitary pit toilets where sewer connections are not available and replacing the common outdoor toilet with less offensive types perfected by government men, will begin in Midland this week when Frank Grimes, representative of the state department of health, comes to Midland for supervising construction. The project will be conducted under the auspices of the Midland county health board and partly defrayed with RFC work aid funds. The welfare association will supply laborers. The work is being cited as extremely necessary because of the unsanitary condition of whole residential areas in the outskirts of the city, and particularly timely inasmuch as summer is near, with attendant dangers of typhoid and other maladies resulting from unhygienic conditions. Rural people can get assistance, as well as townspeople, by application to W. B. Simpson, welfare head, or at the city hall, county judge's office or the chamber of commerce.

TEXAS LEGISLATOR BELIEVES NEW CONGRESS MORE SOUND ECONOMICALLY

AUSTIN—The new congress that will probably convene in special session soon after the presidential inauguration on March 4 may be expected to approach international economic problems with a more open mind and with greater vigor than was true of the outgoing congress. It is stated by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas bureau of business research in his monthly analysis of business conditions.

"It is the opportunity of the new congress to develop and enact a constructive program involving international and domestic policies," Dr. Buechel said. "Moreover, there seems to be a growing disposition to grant the new president unusual powers as the economic crisis presses with increasing weight upon all classes of people, and the need for prompt, non-partisan action becomes imperative."

"Already there are indications on both sides of the Atlantic that parliamentary bodies will respond to the popular demand for removal of barriers to international trade and commerce and that there is a new interpretation of public opinion by congress concerning tariff revision, war debts, and our general relation to world economic affairs. The breaking of the impasse in the international situation appears to be the one solution which clearly gives promise of relief that will be both positive and cumulative in its effect. It will also pave the way for and ameliorate many adjustments that inevitably must be made in our domestic business institutions."

"That many leading officials and economists on both sides of the Atlantic have long considered, at least tacitly, the danger of the course of action taken in the past with regard to international payments is clearly indicated in the records of the foreign debts commission created in 1922 and in other public documents issued since that time. At a meeting of the debt commission in Washington, January 8, 1923, to which British representatives were invited, Mr. Baldwin, then chancellor of the exchequer, in a brief speech, said in part:

"This debt is not a debt of dollars sent to Europe. The money was all expended here, in the form of cotton, wheat, food products, and munitions of war. Every cent used for the purchase of these goods was spent in America; American labor received the wages; American capitalists the profits; the United States treasury the taxation on these profits."

"At the time these goods were bought we were associated in a great war. Out of $7,000,000,000 worth of goods bought after the United States came into the war, we paid for three billions, leaving four billions which were supplied on credit. Now, seeing that the debt is a debt for goods supplied which not repay with goods."

"Those goods were supplied in war time at war prices. Prices have fallen so far that thus to repay four billion dollars Great Britain would have to send to America a far greater bulk of goods than we originally purchased with the money loaned, and laying aside all considerations of the tariff barriers, would it be possible for America to accept repayment in coal, steel, iron, manufactured cotton goods and so forth, a method of repayment which would affect the employment of her people for years to come?"

"We intend to pay—but how best can international credits be made liquid when the creditor nation is unwilling to permit liquidation through the direct delivery of goods, and is also unwilling to see the current sale of her products to the debtor nations interrupted, and when the debtor nation is unwilling to be put in the position of being unable to buy the products of the creditor nation?"

"During the course of the debt discussion in 1923 Secretary Mellon, who presided at the meeting, stated: 'The entire foreign debt is not worth as much to the American people in dollars and cents as a prosperous Europe as a customer."

"Much is now being said and written about economic self-sufficiency. The idea of economic self-sufficiency not only for the United States but even for the state and local communities possesses attractions so natural that it is not surprising to find it widely entertained. But in recent months the conviction has been growing that a country cannot be self-sufficient and, at the same time expect to receive vast payments over a long period of years from foreign debtors. If it insists upon collecting its foreign claims it must make arrangements whereby these claims can be met. The gateway must be open for the reception of foreign goods or foreign services; otherwise, the stream of foreign payments must from necessity dry up since further importation of gold, the only remaining alternative of payment, in the nature of the case, must soon cease."

"Scarcely in our history has there been such an enormous base for credit expansion as exists in the banks of the country today. In addition to the greater credit expansion which a given quantity of gold now permits as a result of our Federal Reserve system and of recent Federal legislation, the world output of new gold has increased rapidly during the past three years. In 1932 it is estimated to have reached $494,000,000, the highest on record compared with $470,000,000 in 1931, the previous record figure. Since 1930 almost $1,400,000,000 of new gold has been added to the gold stocks of the world. Moreover, much gold has been released from hoarding since 1930 because of its greatly increased purchasing power. In India alone several hundred millions of dollars are reported to have been so released."

"Gold as a basis for credit expansion is therefore not lacking. All that is now needed to set the wheels of industry in motion is the assurance of profitable markets, and this in turn depends in large measure upon the restoration of normal international relations."

"The bearing upon Texas of the forthcoming debt conference in Washington and the world economic conference in London a little later is therefore apparent. The solution of these broad international problems should have far reaching economic significance for Texas and the Southwest, since raw materials prices would be the first to respond to improvement in the world outlook."

"The Eagle's Gift" By Knud Rasmussen In Children's Library

Eskimos with their igloos and sleds and kayaks are a subject of interest to Midland school children. Judging by their requests at the library for something about these strange people of the Far North.

"The Eagle's Gift," by Knud Rasmussen is a collection of tales that the Eskimos of Alaska tell among themselves in their homes and feasts.

These are stories of magic and witch craft—stories of swallows turning into wolves and owls turning into men; the story of the skull that talked; the story of Misana whose eyelashes and beard and hair were whizzed off by the winds at the end of the world; and the strange adventures of the mighty hunter Wander-Hawk who did more marvelous things than did Hiawatha of the Indians.

A few of the best among the many stories given in this book are: "The Monster Mouse from Colville River and the Two Brothers Who Slew It"; "The Skull That Saved the Girl"; "The Story of Wolf"; "Misana Who Was Swept Away to the Land of Beads"; "Ermine Is Carried Off by the Young Eagle"; "The First Story in the Collection"; and several of the Wander-Hawk tales.

The stories resemble Indian tales but have more magic in them and are more inclined to teach something.

They give interesting customs of the Eskimos such as the big barbet feast of long ago, when people gathered to trade what they did not want for what they did want.

All these stories were written down in the Eskimo language by the white man to whom they were told and afterward translated. They are told in everyday speech with expressions very like those we hear in America. And at the end of the tale will be found the name of the Eskimo who told it.

Children who like books with pictures should enjoy "The Eagle's Gift" for the many illustrations, some in colors and some in black and white.

Grammar school boys and girls especially would be interested in the book.

"The Eagle's Gift" is in the children's room at the county library. —Kathleen Elland.

JUDGE BRADY GRANTED FULL RESTORATION

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (UP)—The governor granted today full restoration of citizenship to John W. Brady, former third court of civil appeals judge, sentenced to three years imprisonment for the slaying of Miss Lehlle Highsmith, former stenographer for the supreme court commission. He was released from prison last July 1 when his term was completed.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

At a board meeting of the Manhattan bank the other day, Howard Markel, vice president, absent-mindedly slipped into his pocket the five-dollar gold piece that every member gets for attending. Before the depression it was a $20 gold piece.

Leaving for lunch, Markel, who is on a diet, stepped onto a scale and hopefully set the hand at what he wished his weight might now be. Concentrating on that, he was horror-stricken to see that the coin he had inserted and which slipped into the machine quickly was the five-dollar gold piece, not a penny. Forgetting all about even looking to see what he weighed, his mind concentrating on how he was going to get back the gold piece, he stepped off hurriedly. There was a slight click and to his amazement, back came the coin. He had guessed his weight right!

Learned Golf As Women Laughed at Her Heavy Score

MIAMI, Fla.—Ten years ago the "most optimistic golfer in the United States" began to belt a ball about in Kansas City. She was Mrs. O. S. Hill, and she brought home a score of 142 in her first tournament. Her seven-year-old son and loyal husband enjoyed a laugh.

But that optimism that caused Mrs. Hill to continue golfing, after her name rested at the bottom of the tournament list with that 142 score, has won fame for her. This winter she has been cleaning up in the winter meets in Florida.

First Mrs. Hill won the Miami-Biltmore women's championship here. Then she went on to defeat Maureen Orcutt, Florida Women's defending champion, in a thrilling bit of golf at Palm Beach. All of which seems to indicate that the Kansas City golfer's dreams of perfect shots are being realized.

Her optimism is visual, she explains.

"I always have a vision of a perfect shot, and nothing else. They don't always turn out to be perfect, but the feeling of confidence this psychology induces is very helpful."

If Mrs. Hill's psychological feeling is any stronger this year, she is going to be one of the greatest feminine stars ever to drive down a railway. Last year, with the depression and everything, it was strong enough to win her the Western Women's championship and a place on the American women's team in the British matches.

Poor health forced Mrs. Hill out of doors. She took up golf on the advice of a physician, playing a month and entered her first tournament. It was in this match that she found her name at the bottom.

"I didn't know much about golf at the time," she relates, "but I knew that my name at the bottom of that list signified that I was the worst of the lot! I almost cried as I saw a group of women gathered

$8 PER CAPITA THREATENED TO TEXAS SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (UP)—Only $8 per capita will be available for the next scholastic year in the school fund unless new revenue measures are adopted, said H. W. Stillwell, president of the Texas State Teachers' association today. He based his statement on a report of the state auditor, estimating the per capita apportionment at $9.67.

MILLIONTH MILE PASSED

CLEVELAND. (UP)—Warren D. Williams, pilot on a New York to Cleveland air line, has completed more than a million miles in the air without injury to a passenger or a letter. His first flight was made in 1916 as a member of the First Aero Squadron on the Mexican expedition. He became an air mail pilot after the World war and has been piloting planes on the New York to Cleveland division since 1929.

PLANE FOR MONUMENT

HONOLULU. (UP)—The "Bird of Paradise" first airplane to make a successful flight from the United States to Hawaii, is to be placed near the main entrance of Wheeler field, Honolulu's airport, as a monument to that historic event. A small pavilion is to be built around the plane at the entrance to the field where Lieut. Maitland and Hegenberger landed it after their flight from Oakland, Calif., in 1927.

"Then and there I made a vow. I promised myself that if it was my last earthly deed I would learn how to play golf.

It appears that Mrs. Hill has learned.

Texas Grapefruit To Foreign Markets

McALLEN, (UP)—Texas grown grapefruit and bi-products, juice and canned fruit, will be widely marketed in continental Europe this year, it was announced here today. Thousands of gallons of grapefruit juice, several large shipments of fresh fruit and many thousands of cans of grapefruit and grapefruit hearts will go to the European markets this year. Four major shipping and packing companies in the lower Rio Grande valley, two of which are cooperative organizations, will be the principal exporters. The Rio Grande Valley Citrus exchange will equip at least one of its packing units with canning facilities before the opening of the 1932-34 season, it was announced. Other plant improvements and enlargements are anticipated. Shary Products company, headed by John H. Shary, Mission, president of the Texas Citrus Fruit Growers' Exchange, will distribute its products throughout the continent, according to Major C. Ross Palmer, company official. The concern has a plant with a capacity of 10,000 cases of grapefruit juice daily and was operated during the past season. Don E. Webb, head of the Webb Marketing company, announced his concern has orders for 100,000 gallons of grapefruit juice for delivery to England, France and Germany during the next season. The company will install special machinery in its Mission packing plant this summer, Webb said, and will be ready for operations by Oct. 1. Facilities call for 15 gallons of grapefruit pulp to each 35 gallons of juice, he said. The product will be used in England in the manufacture of a British carbonated drink known as "Grapefruit Squash", Webb stated. He estimated his plant will have a daily production of 500 to 1,000 gallons of juice daily. In addition to shipment of canned grapefruit and juices, Webb said, he would ship a solid carload of grapefruit from Mission to London this month. The shipment is routed to Houston by rail and from that port to London by boat. Each grapefruit will have the name "Texas" stamped upon it.

Webb said. Arrangements are also being completed for regular shipments of fresh fruit at the beginning of the next season. These will move by carload lots through Corpus Christi.

Webb pointed out that fruit shipments to England cost the shipper less money per box than mail shipments to Chicago. He said shippers paid 98 cents per box on citrus shipments to the midwest city and that the freight charges on the English shipment would be 83 cents per box. Riona Products company of McAllen pioneered in shipments of canned grapefruit juice and grapefruit hearts to Europe. The first commercial shipment was made in December, 1932, when 5,475 gallons of juice and 500 cases of canned grapefruit were shipped to London. The second shipment of 12,250 gallons of juice will leave McAllen in a short time. A third shipment is to leave McAllen about March 5. "The most important effect of the new juice-canning industry will be the use of cull and undesirable fruit, packers pointed out. It will rid the market of cull and second-grade fruit which sold in competition with fine fruit from the same section."

Burlington Has a Fingerprint Club

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UP)—Burlington has a fingerprint club composed of 20 members who meet at the Fleming museum every Saturday. A leading member is Professor H. P. Perkins, head of the zoology department of the University of Vermont, who advocates the fingerprinting of every citizen of the United States. "My aim and the aim of the many men in this country who are working for the popularizing of fingerprinting in America," says Professor Perkins, "is to arrive at the time when each family and state shall have a complete file. This would necessitate a cross index system where the individual fingerprint would be filed according to name and address and also according to type of fingerprints, of which there are eight main classifications and many smaller divisions."

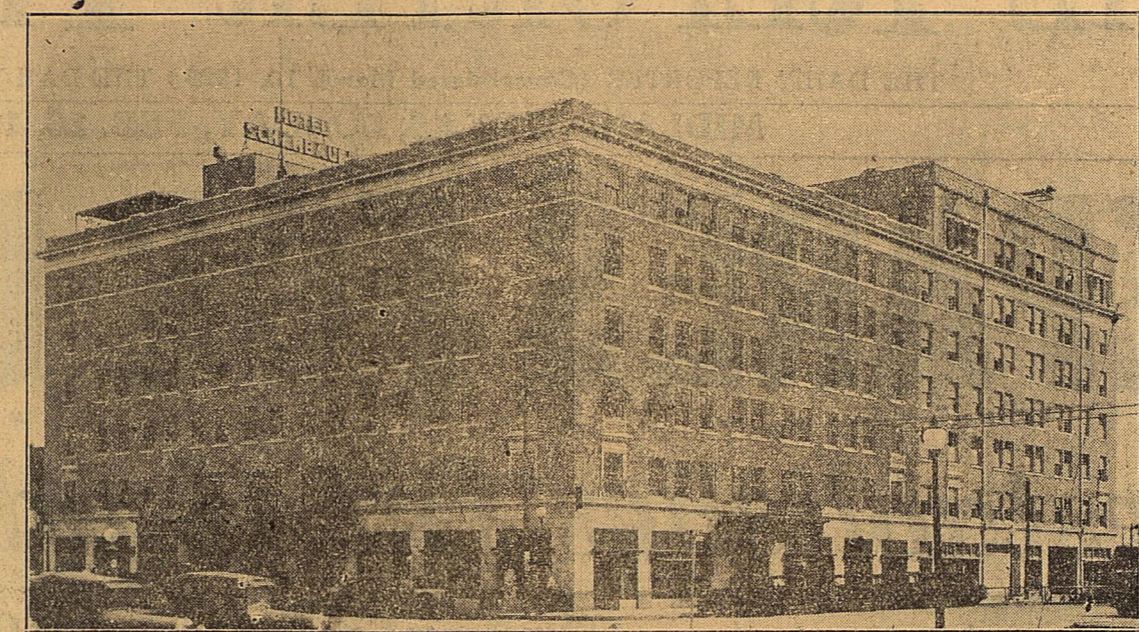

Flattery Saved Bandit's Victim

EL PASO, Texas, (UP)—George Millar of this city, thrice captured by Francisco (Pancho) Villa, Mexico's notorious bad man, has his own version of the Arabian Nights. He reserves the role of Queen Scheherazade in his modern enactment which is too real to be very amusing for him. Like the legendary queen who told stories for 1,001 nights to divert the Sultan's thoughts of strangling her, Millar flattered Villa for 10 days to escape a firing squad. As he faced Villa for the third time in 1920 as a captive mining engineer, Millar informed him no $50,000 would be paid by his company as previously. When advised to prepare to die, Millar mustered latent creative talent. When memory failed imagination supplied as Millar told the bandit chieftain of Napoleon, Caesar, Hannibal, Peter the Great, Alexander and the Great Khan. He proclaimed Villa an exact duplicate of each. At the close of the tenth day Villa, strutting a Napoleonic stride and assuming an expression of importance that would have shamed the Great Khan, released the mining engineer and swore eternal friendship.

IT LOOKED BAD

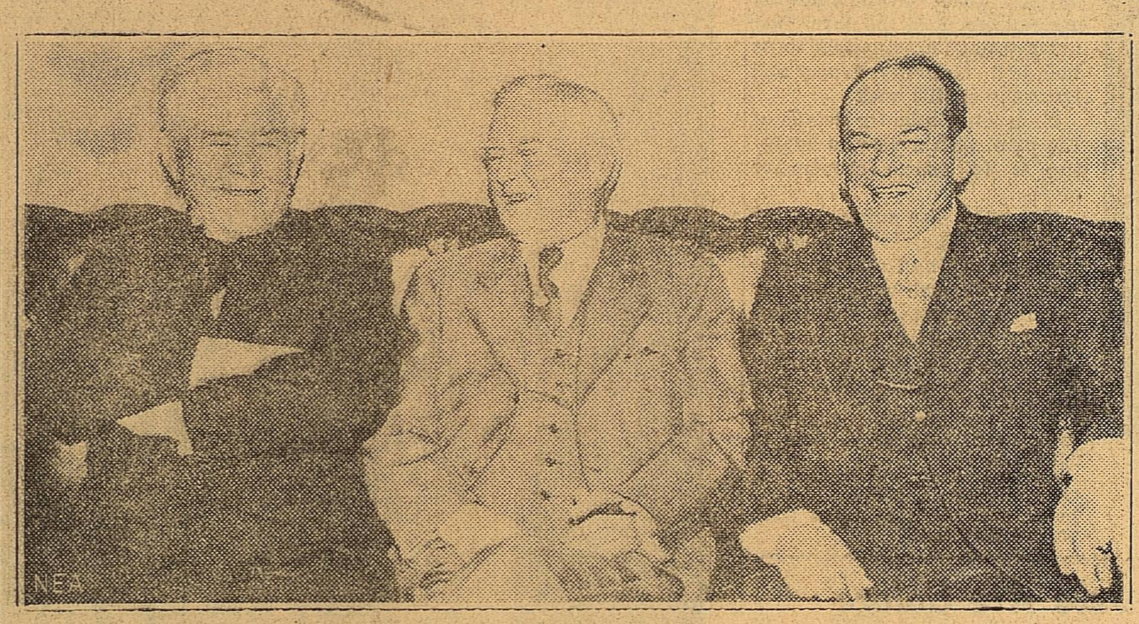

STOCKTON, Cal.—Spectators looking at the wrecked roadster, which lay beside the French Camp Turnpike, thought that at least six persons must have been killed. The car was literally drenched with blood, Louis Nesbitt, was the only one hurt, however, and his injury was a possible fracture of the skull. Nesbitt explained that he was returning from the slaughter house with a bucket of blood for making sausage when the car overturned and left the road and spilled the blood. A petition signed by a number of persons in a circular form is called a "round robin."

Headquarters For The Permian Basin

The Scharbauer hotel, shown above, is one of the most modern hotels in Texas and is frequented by men of every occupation for miles around. More oil and cattle deals likely are made in its lobby than in the fields and over the ranch country. Change in management of the hotel was announced Saturday, Cam L. Farnin, popular manager of a large Dallas club, and former manager of a resort hotel at Marlin, arriving to take the place vacated a few days ago by Arthur G. Jury.

Rejoicing Over Repeal

Rejoicing over repeal, the Three Bucketers of the House are shown here immediately after the eighteenth amendment repealer had been passed by the House by 289 to 121. Democratic leaders in the fight against prohibition, left to right, are Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Speaker John Garner and Rep. John McDuffie of Alabama.

Bees Nearly Caused a Panic

BOISE, Idaho (UP)—Near panic resulted when a swarm of bees accidentally set free in a Boise hotel, stung everyone from their owner, Mrs. H. H. Keck, to several state legislators. The accident brought a stinging climax to the Honey Producers' Convention when a bell boy knocked the cage to the floor, freeing the bees. They swirled out, stinging the bell boy until he was forced to flee. Mrs. Keck was their next victim. Then they made for the open hotel lobby where state legislators were relaxing. Chairs were overturned and general chaos reigned for nearly an hour. Finally, R. W. Childs, hotel manager, leading a squadron of employees armed with fly swatters, drove the bees into another cage. The "rent-a-car, drive-it-yourself" service is gaining popularity. One rental company alone has agencies in 225 cities in the United States.

Diamond Mines Are Found in Arkansas

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (UP)—Arkansas is the only state that can boast of a diamond mine, or diamond deposits, yet little is known of this industry, even by residents. There are diamonds in Pike county, Arkansas, that blind the eye with their brilliance and beauty, and are as fine as those mined from the Kimberley in Africa. The largest stone to be taken from Arkansas soil weighed 48 carats. Thousands of the finest quality have been sold. As early as 1899 the Geological Survey of Arkansas published an article on the peridotite of Pike County. It was not taken seriously. In fact, the matter was laughed at. How, then, did two glittering pebbles from his farm near here and took them to Little Rock where they were examined by jewelers who pronounced them genuine diamonds, the Doubting Thomases began to die too. Later these stones were sent to New York, where they were cut and polished. They weighed approximately three carats. One company alone has marketed over 5,000 diamonds. They range as large in size as 2 1/2 carats. Besides diamonds, Arkansas has other valuable gems, chief among which are pearls. These are produced from the fresh water mollusks or mussels of White River and Black River and occasionally one is found in Little River.

A COLLECTOR HUNTS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Carl W. Schmidt, ice cream truck driver, may still be a gold coin collector, but he is also a gold coin hunter. Schmidt took off his coat and laid it on the running board of his truck while making a delivery. The coat contained four gold coins, additions to his collection, valued at $22.50. Forgetting the coat, Schmidt drove on. After making several stops he remembered the coat and coins, but when he looked on the running board they were gone.

Jap Imports To India Up

LONDON (UP)—Japanese imports into India increased by more than 50 per cent during the six months from April to September, 1932, compared with the same period during 1931. During this period in 1932 Japanese imports into India represented 15.4 per cent of India's total imports, compared with only 10.5 per cent in 1931. Exports from India into India also increased, but only to a small extent, her percentage of India's total imports rising from 33.8 per cent to 35.8 per cent. Imports of Japanese boots and shoes decreased slightly, but there were heavy increases in Japanese imports of the following articles: gray unbleached piece-goods, colored, printed or dyed piece-goods, white bleached piece-goods, cotton twist and yarn, hosiery, silk piece-goods, silk yarns, noils and wraps, glass and glassware. India bought less from the United States and less from Belgium. Japan's successes are attributed partly to the fact that the depreciation of the yen enabled her to undersell most of her competitors, and partly to the fact that the anti-British boycott still was effective to a certain extent.

FIRST AIRLINE TO OPEN

MANILA—Operation of the first regularly scheduled air line connecting Manila with Iloilo, second largest city of the Philippine islands, will start this month. Past transportation has been possible only by boats which required three days to make the trip. The planes will cover the same trip in two and a half hours and make round trip flights daily.

TIME EASILY READ

TYLER, (UP)—Learning the time of day will be easy in the new federal building for which construction contract has been let. The architect's plans included installation of 32 electric clocks. All these will be controlled automatically by a master clock in the postmaster's office.

Frenchman Leaves Farm for Castle

PARIS, (UP)—Pierre Laval is retiring from the life of a gentleman farmer and his prize cattle are going to the butcher. Torn between love for his beloved Auvergne and the green meadows of Normandy, the former premier made the difficult decision by selling his chateau and estates in Normandy and keeping the chateau which he acquired near his highland birthplace several years ago. There is a sentimental reason behind his choice, for as a boy Laval admired the castle which rose above the village of his birth. It served to stimulate his learning, for he had ambitions to own the place some day as the crowning accomplishment of his life. Reading Greek and studying the classics as a butcher's delivery boy, Laval became a serious scholar and graduated with the highest honors. Late in life he bought the castle of his youthful dreams. Other French premiers of the past have not been so fortunate and M. Laval is by far the wealthiest. Edouard Herriot does not own any land and lives in hotels or rented flats. Raymond Poincare has only the income from his writings, but since he is a prolific writer, his royalties are high. Andre Tardieu travels much when not in office, but has a certain income from his books. When Aristide Briand died, he was worth 3,000,000 francs, his life savings invested in Normandy farmland. Paul Painleve lives prudently on a small income, but Joseph Paul Boncour has a splendid income as a lawyer.

Students Get 10 Cent Meals

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UP)—In an effort to permit students, who might be forced to withdraw from school, to finish the year, authorities of the University of Kansas have announced a plan to serve meals to such students for 30 cents a day—10 cents a meal. Chancellor E. H. Lindley announced the plan, which will be called the "scholarship meal plan," and which will serve only students who show high scholastic standing and who establish that they really need assistance. Breakfast, luncheons and dinner will be served each day except Sunday in the university cafeteria. A sample menu, offered by Mrs. Ethel Evans, director of the cafeteria, included: Breakfast: hot cereal, cream, stewed fruit, milk. Luncheon: noodles, cabbage, bread and butter, fruit or fruit salad, tea or coffee. Dinner: meat pie, a vegetable, fruit, pie or pudding, tea or coffee. The menus will vary widely, Mrs. Evans said, and all will be of high nutritive value. Another plan is being worked out to enable students in need of help to obtain lodging at houses in Lawrence in return for services. Townspeople are co-operating in fine spirit, university officials said. Many contributed to the fund, which will permit starting the meal plan at this time.

Farms Return To Use of Oxen

ELYTHEVILLE, Ark. (UP)—After an absence of more than 30 years oxen are being used to replace tractors and mules. Oxen cost very little and it is claimed they can do as much work in a day as a mule and at a much cheaper cost. Several farmers are using them to clear new ground and for other purposes. Although oxen are not good hot weather workers they are said to be superior to mules and horses in working wet ground and around the stumps and in newly cultivated land. They can be used well in the fall and winter. W. W. Mann, who recently broke in a yoke of oxen for Theodore Randolph, well known planter, said he had had so many requests to break in oxen for others that he is thinking of going into the business.

Many British Types Hoboes

LONDON, (UP)—All manner of men are turning hoboes in Britain, forced into vagrancy by the severe unemployment. Many who recently have held good positions, have turned tramps, but not because they love "the road" like some intellectuals and professors in the United States. Absolute privation has driven them to tramp the roads, first in search of work, and failing that, in search of shelter. Here are some of the different types of men who have passed through the casual ward of the Lincoln Institution: A mining engineer who speaks eight languages. A man who has been in the Civil Service for seven years, and is now compelled to tramp the country because of staff reductions. A man, 66, who had been sales manager for a publishing firm. The Lincoln authorities are hard pressed to accommodate the increasing stream of vagrants. Between July and September the number was 2,089, compared with 1,561 during the same period of 1931.

RETAILERS RESPOND

DALLAS, (UP)—Retail merchants were responding well today to the buying incentive aroused during the three weeks of the Dallas spring market style show and display sponsored by the Wholesale Merchants Association. Mail orders were coming in to wholesalers here in what E. F. Anderson, association manager, said was "satisfactory" volume. He believed wholesalers would receive a great amount of business that was postponed during the display season because of inclement weather.

Bank Trend in Jan. Unfavorable

AUSTIN—Banking developments during the month of January were quite definitely unfavorable, Dr. J. C. Dolley of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research pointed out in his monthly survey of financial conditions.

"Since about the first of December, the number of bank failures has increased markedly. The American Banker reporting no less than 203 suspensions for the four weeks ending January 26," Dr. Dolley said. "Further, the average size of the failing banks has mounted rapidly, the figure for average deposits rising from $199,000 in October, to $451,000 in November, $544,000 in December, and to $650,000 for the first nineteen days of January. Coincident with this increase in bank failures has come a tremendous rise in the adjusted volume of currency in circulation. From December 31 to January 23, this rise has amounted to $359,000,000, thus offsetting about 75 per cent of the gradual decrease which had occurred during the preceding six months.

"The long continued inflow of monetary gold also was checked during the month. No metal was actually exported in January, but the federal reserve system sold $11,510,000 of its gold holdings in London to the Bank of England, and considerable gold was earmarked in New York for foreign accounts believed to be British. All told, the monetary gold stock decreased during the last week of the month by some $4,000,000. However, most of the foreign gold currencies continue to be weak in terms of dollars, and, barring renewed talk of inflation, moderate gold imports from abroad should continue.

"As was suggested in this section several months ago, the federal reserve system liquidated a portion of its open market holdings during the month. The net liquidation amounting to $38,574,000. However, this does not mean a reversal of the present easy money policy, as the federal reserve board has announced that it will adjust open market holdings so as to maintain member bank excess reserve balances at about a $500,000,000 level. This policy was further confirmed when the federal reserve system sold $11,510,000 of its gold holdings during the week ended February 8 made their first large scale purchase of government securities since last summer, amounting to $20,970,000. The excess reserve balances at the middle of the month were estimated at well over $600,000,000, but, as a result of reserve bank open market liquidation and a renewal of currency hoarding, had declined to about $500,000,000 by the end of the month.

"The month also featured senatorial debate on the Glass bill and the probable pre-empting of that legislation. Political opposition to branch banking continues to be too strong. Despite the fact that 10,738 bank suspensions have occurred in the United States during the twelve years ending December 31, 1932, it will apparently be necessary for some thousands more to fall before this political opposition can be overcome.

"The banking situation in the eleventh district showed but little change during January. Average weekly debits to individual accounts showed a slight seasonal increase. Total deposits were up slightly, but total loans declined sharply. The reporting banks retained out of debt to the reserve bank and increased their liquidity fractionally through some new purchasing of government securities."

Says Jesse James Collected Bounty For His Own Death

"How the people held their breath when they heard of Jesse's death and wondered how he came to die; For the big reward little Robert Ford Shot Jesse James on the sly." DUBLIN (UP).—Contradicting the old saloon-day refrain Uncle Bill Goodwin, 77, former peace officer and boyhood playmate of the James brothers, claims that Jesse James posed as his own slayer and collected the bounty which had been placed on his head. "It's all a mistake," said Goodwin. "What really happened was that when Jesse found Bob was plotting to kill him, Jesse killed Bob and sold Ford's body to the law, claiming it was that of Jesse James."

picturesque citizen under the name of the man he killed, the aging Goodwin declared. "How do I know?" Goodwin anticipated the inevitable question. "I saw Jesse and talked to him in Brownwood long after his funeral was held. He was a prosperous and respected business man at Brownwood." According to the version of his former playmate Jesse James died with his boots off in a lined bed at Brownwood in 1898. Goodwin is positive of the identity of the famous desperado. "Frank James, his brother, was with me at the time. We went to

New Rules to Govern Trucks

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP).—The new rules governing common carriers of property by motor vehicles, adopted by the Public Service Commission in November, became effective Jan. 1, with between 10,000 and 25,000 trucks in the state affected. Four classes of certificates were provided for. They are: transportation over definite routes or between fixed termini; transportation between points within a designated area; from a town to other points in the state upon calls; and special certificates. The Commission also made provision for issuing certificates without advertisement in the case of trucks confining their work within limits of a municipality and its environs. This exception applies to third class cities and all smaller municipalities.

German Towns Default Loan

BERLIN (UP).—Seven towns in the southwestern German provinces of Palatinat, Ludwigshafen, Kaiserslautern, Speyer, Frankenthal, Neustadt, Zweibruecken and Landau have declared their inability to pay the amortization installment of a $3,800,000 loan jointly contracted in the United States seven years ago. The towns paid the interest, amounting to $100,000 due Jan. 1. However, they defaulted payment of an amortization quota of $140,000. An unofficial communique announcing the default stated that prolonged unemployment depleted the towns' treasuries so that their debt payment could not be made. The towns appealed to the Reich for help, enabling them to pay their amortization quota. However, the Reich was not in a position to provide the sum. Negotiations for a moratorium have been opened.

Oldest Scoutmaster Is Awarded Order

ST. LOUIS (UP).—The order of the Silver Beagle, "for noteworthy service and exceptional character to boyhood," has been conferred on Lester M. Hall, 80, America's oldest active scoutmaster. Hall, lawyer and naturalist, has been a scoutmaster for 19 years. On his 80th birthday recently he received a letter from President Herbert Hoover, conveying "heartily congratulations, both upon your joyous youth of spirit and upon the joy you have brought to the spirits of so many others of our youth."

HOUSES FURNISH FUEL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Even the vacant houses of this city are keeping people warm. Police have been receiving numerous complaints from owners of vacant houses. The substance of the complaints is that these vacant houses are being raided and torn apart and the wood used for fuel to heat other dwellings.

Woman Makes City Autopsies

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal. (UP).—Dr. Louisa H. Bacon, a charming young lady, presides over a smelly laboratory at the San Bernardino County hospital as perhaps the only woman autopsy surgeon in California. Since becoming the head pathologist and director of the laboratory in 1930, Dr. Bacon has performed 393 autopsies, unpleasant assignments even for veteran surgeons. She has testified at one inquest an average of every 10 days and has appeared in court in connection with deaths about once a month. Dr. Bacon, explaining that "women do almost everything now," told how she happened to enter this type of work. "After graduating from the University of Chicago, I attended Rush Medical school and graduated from there in 1929," she said. "The pathological end of the study fascinated me and I decided to continue with that work."

Dr. Bacon conducts all autopsies for the county and for the coroner's office. She is married to a physician, Dr. Charles S. Bacon, who practices in Riverside. Brownwood for the very purpose of seeing Jesse. Besides, when I was a kid back in Clay county, Missouri, I played with Frank and Jesse. A Robin Hood code of ethics was one of the virtues of Goodwin in the most publicized highwaymen who ever held up a Southwestern stage coach. He recalled how the James brothers, touched by sight of a Weatherford widow's tears, inquired the cause of her sorrow and learned that a mortgage was to be foreclosed because she was unable to meet a $300 payment. Jesse, according to Goodwin, gave the widow money to pay the mortgage when the sheriff called, then lay in wait and robbed the officer. "How do I know?" asked Uncle Bill. "Well, I was somewhere thereabouts."

Goodwin has lived here 50 years, acting as marshal of the town through the '90s. During the Civil war his father was shot to death by Missouri bushwhackers. Goodwin set out to find the slayer. Was he successful? He prefers not to say, but he is no longer on the hunt.
