MIDLANDERS TO JUAREZ RODEO

By DORRIS WEAVER
JUAREZ.—Belief that the rodeo to be staged May 4-7, in connection with the Fiesta de la Revolucion in Juarez, Chihuahua, will attract a greater number of cowboys and girls to the border city than any rodeo held in El Paso previously is held by W. R. McKay, general manager of the rodeo committee.

McKay, who promoted and managed the rodeo and ranchman's reunion produced in El Paso in 1928 and 1929 by the old El Paso Commercial club, has been promoting the Fort Stockton rodeos for the past six years.

Internationally known cowboys will compete with Mexico's famous charros in Juarez. In Mexico, Crosby, the world's time holder of the Roosevelt trophy, Everett Bowman, world's champion calf roper, and Pete Knight, Canada's all northwestern champion, all have signified their intention of taking part in the events.

Wild steers from the Sousa, Chih., country will be used in the riding and roping events. Arrangements have been made to have the noted fleet-footed Brahma calves for the roping. The string of famous McCarty bucking horses from Wyoming are being transported for these events of the country, including the ones at Madison Square Garden, Cheyenne, Fort Worth, and Pendleton, Oregon.

dependent. The rates graduate from one per cent on incomes in excess of $11,000. The corporation rate is from two per cent on the first $1,000 to six per cent on incomes in excess of $6,000. Passage by the senate is regarded as doubtful.

The senate has passed the four major appropriation bills. The house has passed three and is yet to act on the educational appropriations. The judiciary appropriation bill has passed both branches of the legislature and has been signed by the governor. The eleemosynary and departmental bills are in the hands of free conference committees to adjust differences between house and senate measures. The appropriation bills call for reductions from 25 to 35 per cent below figures of the past two years.

A bill is pending in the house raising the scholastic age from six to seven years. Its adoption would reduce the number of claimants on state school funds by about 133,000 and would result in savings of $2,000,000, depending on the amount of the state apportionment. This would be in addition to savings in local funds through the resultant decrease in school enrollment. The measure is house bill No. 243.

The constitutional amendment limiting total state expenditures to $2250 per capita per biennium, already approved by the senate, has been reported favorably in the house. This is a very important measure. If approved, it would be impossible for the legislature to continue increasing state expenditures. The authority of the legislature to increase appropriations is limited only by the ability to find sources of taxation. The amendment would provide an absolute limit, where there is now virtually none.

The general economy program depends upon what is done within the last few weeks of the session. With a weary legislature, anxious to finish its work and go home, some measures may win approval that earlier in the session would have had no chance of adoption. Those citizens who wish to obtain substantial reductions in their tax bill would do well to watch the proceedings closely and not hesitate to let their representatives know their wishes. A good start has been made in the direction of economy, but this can be quickly offset in a last-minute stampede. If this doesn't come it will not be due to lack of effort on the part of tax consumers. They are on the job and will not quit until adjournment is taken.

The income tax bill follows many provisions of the federal income tax. As amended it exempts $2,500 of the income of married persons and permits an exemption of $500 for each

CHAPTER ONE
Police Headquarters was pregnant with rumors. Thatcher Colt was going away! Thatcher Colt, Police Commissioner, was going away—and nobody knew where! Reporters surrounded his secretary, Miss Kelly, firing a deluge of questions at her capable head.

"Is it true he's leaving for Europe to study continental police methods?"

"Scotland Yard—the Surete-of-cera?"

"Nix. I've got a tip he's had a nervous breakdown—leaving under the orders of his physician."

"Miss Kelly, what's all the shooting about?"

"What made the Comish blow out all of a sudden?"

"The truth of the matter is—"

"Miss Kelly became impatient. The truth of the matter is he's left town to get away from you leeches for a while. When a man's been on the job for six years without a day off, he rates a couple of weeks of private life."

"Now, listen, Kelly—"

"Not. I'm deaf—and dumb—and busy! The department is in charge of Rogan. Go and see Rogan. He likes Police reporters—he used to be one himself."

"She showed the men out the door. Go on—vamosé! Exit laughing!"

The door slammed shut. Miss Kelly made a grimace and walked quickly to the door labeled "Police Commissioner." She entered the office.

"I got rid of them."

Thatcher Colt smiled. "So I see. You're unquestionably the greatest expert on getting rid of people in the world."

"I still don't see why you want to make such a secret of a vacation."

"That's it. It's because I want to be a vacation." He whistled a few bars of a popular song, then turned to Miss Kelly again. "It's really more than a vacation. It's a chance to store up my batteries. I'm sick of misdemeanors—disorderly conduct—felony—arson—fraud—larceny—embezzlement—black-mail—manslaughter—and murder in the first, second and third degrees. I want to go some place where I can get away from them."

"There ain't no such place—unless you believe in Heaven."

"I do." Colt was enthusiastic. "My idea of Heaven's a place where nobody can get you on the phone—where nobody knows you—where nobody can reach you. As soon as I leave town, I'm going to stop being Thatcher Colt. For a couple of weeks I'm going to be a guy named Smith."

LAY CONVENTION PLANS

Reunion Grounds Being Improved

STAMFORD—An extensive program of improvements including the doubling of the grandstand seating capacity of the rodeo arena, is nearing completion at the Texas Cowboy reunion grounds here. More attractive grounds and a more orderly system of handling the crowds will greet the cowboys and other visitors who attend the fourth annual reunion here July 3, 4 and 5.

Congestion which resulted last year when 30,000 people flocked to Stamford for the picturesque gathering of cowhands from the improved and adjoining states made the improvements necessary.

The new covered grandstands already have been completed, making it possible to seat twice as many people in the shade as last year. Bleachers on the east side of the natural amphitheatre in which the arena is located also are being improved.

Work is now under way on a new four-gate automobile entrance to the grounds from highway 30 which is expected to relieve the congestion in traffic which occurred on the opening day last year. Captain Koonsman of the Texas highway patrol, who assists with the traffic each year, has worked out a new system of parking which will be put into effect.

A dam has been built on the grounds, impounding a small lake which will add attractiveness and convenience to the grounds. When filled, the lake will cover several acres of ground and the water will stand about 15 feet deep. Sixty shade trees have been planted on the grounds. Nine hundred feet of new water lines have been laid for watering the trees and providing water for the chuck wagon area. Adjacent to the rodeo arena, one new corral 48 by 60 feet has been built and two others have been enlarged. The size of the judges' stand also will be increased.

Biography of "KING KONG"

"King Kong" was born some seven million years or more ago, on Skull Island, located somewhere off the Malay Peninsula. His amazing career was climaxed melodramatically by a plunge from the highest skyscraper in New York.

He was rather a large baby, weighing something over a ton at birth. He soon became an orphan, his parents being killed in a terrific battle with a tyrannosaurus weighing nearly thirty tons.

Kong was the last of his race. In shifting for himself battling for existence, he narrowly escaped death many times. When only about 200 years old he had an adventure with a pterodactyl, a gigantic flying reptile, that might have ended his life; but he was lucky and clever, and not only killed the soaring monster, but gathered the pterodactyl's eggs for his breakfast.

As millions of years went by he grew huge and strong and king of his domain—king among the few surviving monsters and of the savage human beings who came and settled on his island.

Then, in A. D. 1933, a party of motion picture adventurers invaded his domain to make a film. With this expedition was a beautiful, fair-haired American girl. He captured her. He held the tiny thing, no larger in his paw than a beetle in the hand of man, and marveled.

From this point Kong's incredible adventure became united with those of Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot, playing the leads in "King Kong," RKO-Radio Picture showing next Sunday at the Yucca theatre. It's a Merian C. Cooper-Ernest B. Schoedsack production.

Two-Pound Lemon Raised in Idaho

ST. ANTHONY, Idaho. (UP)—Way up here in this snow-clad Idaho town, a lemon weighing two pounds, three ounces, was grown. Blossoms on the 10-foot tree opened daily for nearly a month, attendants said. Then, when lemons began forming, they grew so large that gauze bags were made to hold them on the stem. The tree is 10 years old.

Wife of George Arliss Plays in His Current Film

Florence Arliss, wife of the famous stage and screen star, George Arliss, plays opposite her husband as his queen, in his latest Warner Bros. picture, "The King's Vacation," which opens at the Ritz theatre tomorrow for three days.

This is the third time his wife has appeared before in "Disraeli" and "The Millionaire." She will not consent to play any role in his pictures except that of his wife and in a love story that has a happy ending. When the role calls for some other ending or another sort of characterization, another actress is invariably engaged for the part.

Mrs. Arliss appeared frequently with her husband on the stage, but only three times on the screen. Before her marriage, she played on the stage independently as Florence Montgomery, "the girl with the nice arms," as Mr. Arliss describes her in his autobiography.

"The King's Vacation" is an unusually pleasing modern comedy drama with a delightful romance, written by Ernest Pascal, author of "The Marriage Bed." Mr. Pascal also adapted it to the screen in collaboration with Maude T. Howell.

There is an excellent cast, other players being Dick Powell, Patricia Ellis, udey Digges, O. P. Heggie, Marjorie Gateson, Vernon Steete, James Bell and Maude Leslie. The picture was directed by John Adolfi, who has directed most of Mr. Arliss' pictures.

The Baron Now Animal Trainer

That internationally renowned animal man, Baron Munchausen, better known as Jack Pearl, will be heard from Chicago over a nationwide NBC network Thursday evening, May 4th, at 10 o'clock (EDST) during the Magic Carpet program in a discourse on the methods of tracking down big game in the dark corners of the world.

The Baron, who has spent several years of his life in the densest jungles, will unfold his story of how he stalked a twenty-two hundred pound lion, and finally caged it without resorting to firearms or weapons of any sort. It was only by rare good fortune and skill that he has survived hand to hand encounters with many of the wild beasts that prowled the jungles.

During the intervals, Ted Weems and his orchestra, will also be heard displaying their musical wares with their inimitable fashion.

Fisherman's Lost Fish Won a Prize

ABERDEEN, Wash. (UP)—Here's a prize tough luck fishing yarn.

Claire Freeth is the main victim. Recently he hooked a big steelhead but before he landed it, his line tangled in brush and broke, leaving the big fish hooked to the brush. Unable to reach the spot, he lost his fish.

Next day another fisherman saw the fish struggling to free itself, got a boat, untangled the line, landed the fish, entered it in a fish contest and won a prize.

HAS 22ND BIRTHDAY

SCARBORO, Me. (UP)—Gilly, C. M. Whitman's house cat, has observed its 22nd birthday anniversary. Though a centenarian, judged by feline standards of longevity, Gilly is still remarkably spry.

Zoo Watchman Has Loneliest Position

HOUSTON (UP)—When people remark to Ed Reagan that he is the spookiest, loneliest job in Houston, he laughs, shrugs his fee, says "aw!" and blishes.

In June he will round out his fourth year as night watchman at the municipal zoo in Hermann Park. From 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. he is the sole human in the big animal enclosure.

Each night he makes nine complete rounds of the cages, punching his watchman's clock at nine stations in the scattered menagerie.

While he is working Reagan resembles an African big game hunter. In addition to wearing a .45-calibre pistol, he carries a .22 rifle and often a shotgun. A flashlight is fitted to his hat.

He wears heavy boots to protect him from snakes and rats.

At night the zoo is a strange place. It is filled with weird sounds of the jungle and with eyes that gleam red in the dark.

Shooting rats—a constant menace to the zoo's feed supply—is a "regular" part of his job, hence the .22 rifle. He is considered a sharpshooter, killing rats with ordinary "22" shorts.

Spring nights are the worst in the zoo, he says. The lions are more restless then. The lions roar, the hyenas howl, the owls hoot, and the darkness is filled with all kinds of snorts and rustlings.

Once a fox dug his way out of a cage and met Reagan as he was making his rounds. When his eyes flashed in the light, Reagan drew his pistol. The fox died as he tasted of liberty.

The biggest scare Reagan ever had was the night the zoo elephants, Hans and Nellie, broke loose. The first warning he had was when a raccoon cage turned over and Nellie stepped out of the wreckage.

Reagan retreated to a service building and telephoned for Zoo-keeper Hans Nagel. He pacified the elephants with apples and oranges fed through the window until Nagel arrived and took charge.

Squirrel Won Bout With a Newspaper

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (UP)—A battle between a pet gray squirrel and a newspaper, with a strong wind favoring the newspaper, was won by the squirrel while more than a hundred persons watched and cheered, recently.

"Billy," as the pet in Court-house Park is known, spied a newspaper on the terrace and decided it was just the thing with which to build a nest in the hollow of a tall maple tree nearby.

Three times he took the paper up the tree and endeavored to cram it into the hole, and as many times the wind tore the paper from his teeth.

Not to be daunted, Billy climbed down the tree the fourth time and stood calmly surveying the paper. Then he jumped onto it, tore it to shreds, and carried it, piece by piece, up the tree.

The Pacific coastline of the United States is 1,366 miles in length.

Town to Have Its Own Circus

GAINESVILLE (UP)—Preparations are going forward for the opening of the fourth season of the Gainesville Community circus, a 100 per cent home talent organization.

Opening dates will be played in Gainesville May 4, 5 and 6, to be followed by an engagement at Denison May 18 and 19. Contracts have also been signed for performances in other cities in North Texas and southern Oklahoma at later dates.

The community circus is sponsored by the Gainesville little theatre. The 150 people taking part donate their services. Nevertheless the entire performance, from the grand entry pageant to the final hippodrome races, is put on in true professional style.

Sixty big acts in three rings, with forty performing animals, 50 clowns, acrobats, gymnasts, contortionists, tumblers, bareback riders, wire walkers, and other features are included under the regular circus tent, which seats 3,000 persons.

This year a sound picture camera-man will be in hand to cover the opening performance for theatre news reel films.

TIME IS CHAINED

CLEBURNE (UP)—To make certain that Stephens County court house clock keeps up with time's flight, commissioners court here has ordered a huge chain nearly 200 feet long.

It will be substituted for the huge clock's pendulum chain, which has carried a 750 pound weight for 15 years. Constant service had caused the chain to stretch 30 inches at the links.

SPANISH GOLD FOUND

GOLD BEACH, Ore. (UP)—Spanish gold coins, dated 1700, 1712 and 1734 were found by a placer miner under eight feet of sand here. It is thought the coins were lost by Spaniards who prospected into Oregon during the days when California was a Spanish territory.
