MACDONALD IS OPTIMISTIC FOR PARLEY SUCCESS

Thinks Benefit for Entire World to Be a Result

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 15. (UP).—Prime Minister MacDonald sailed for America today, confident that the Roosevelt conference would result in good for the world. He believed fair weather was a good omen. MacDonald praised Roosevelt's "courage and sincerity which already had won him the confidence of his people."

SAYS LEGISLATION NOT SO FAVORABLE

Ellis Howell returned home Friday from Austin, where he has been for the past four weeks in interest of pink boll worm legislation. Howell said he was not as optimistic now as he was ten days ago over getting the bill passed, as so many legislators have determined to oppose any measure calling for additional expenditures.

The pink boll worm bill is on the calendar to come up Tuesday or Wednesday, and hot debate is expected, Howell said. He declared all efforts possible should be made now in behalf of the bill. The Midland man praised Representative B. Frank Haag for his work on the bill. "Judge Haag is easily one of the most prominent of the new house members and Midland should be proud of him as its representative and the representative of this district," Howell said, in expressing his personal appreciation for Haag's courtesies, and his leadership in the pink boll worm bill fight.

LEGIONNAIRES TO B. S. CONVENTION

About 15 American legion members and 10 members of the women's auxiliary planned to attend the sixteenth district convention of the legion at Big Spring at its opening session Saturday, according to Maj. Harry Johnson and Mrs. Orlis Kelly, heads of the two departments. Several planned to go Sunday, also. Carl Nesbit, state commander, and Mrs. E. G. Roach, state president of the auxiliary, were to be among the high officials to appear on the program.

Col. Bill Easterwood, Dallas, national vice commander will be one of the principal speakers Sunday afternoon when the general public is invited to hear a group of talented legion orators. Lamesa, although in another district, notified local post officials it would send a group to the convention. Sweetwater said a motorcade bearing 100 people would leave that city Saturday morning, bringing her famed chuck wagon in addition to the legion band.

Estimates of local legionnaires place the number expected to attend the affair Sunday at 800 buddies and members of the auxiliary. An official legion dance was held at the Settles hotel Saturday evening. There also was a dance at the Casino Saturday night. Registered delegates were admitted to the Ritz theatre during Saturday.

A parade at 6 p. m. Saturday was a colorful affair. Many of the legionnaires were in uniform, all wearing their overseas caps. The Sweetwater legion band furnished music, and the Lions club sponsored Mexican Boy Scout drum and bugle corps. The boys were furnished drums and bugles by the Big Spring legion post, while Lions paid for instruction and purchasing uniforms.

Dogs Killed When They Act Strangely

Dogs owned by A. B. Pou and B. Roller were killed by the owners Saturday when it was believed one of them had shown signs of being infected with rabies. Pou heard his dog acting strangely Friday night and decided to kill the animal. When he brought this to the attention of Roller, whose dog had been running with the first animal, Roller decided on the same action. They pointed out that hydrophobia had broken out among animals all over the country and they were acting in the interest of public safety.

Lions Club Stages Fourth Annual Easter Egg Hunt

Forecast of Warm Easter Recalls Day 5 Years Ago

An ideal day for sporting that new Spring suit or costume today, the weather man said Saturday. "Fair and warmer," he opined. Merchants reported a lively closing Saturday evening, with a rather large volume of spring apparel cleared. Saturday night brought the second consecutive appearance of ice, and the temperature fell to 27 degrees early in the morning. The minimum for Friday night was 31, for Thursday night 49. As chilly as it was, the spell did not compare with that of five years ago Saturday and today. At that time a sand storm arose with fury and made visibility a thing of only a few feet.

The fourth annual Easter egg hunt of the Lions club will begin promptly at 2:30 this afternoon at the pasture just north of the J. E. Hill residence on West Illinois. Two other hunts, one for negroes and one for Mexicans will begin at 2 o'clock, places of the hunts being near the schools of those respective races. The principal hunt the high school band will play, beginning at 2 o'clock. A total of 130 dozen eggs, including prize eggs, will be hidden by the committee in charge to meet at the grounds at 12:30 in order to get the eggs hidden in time. All grounds will be divided into zones for larger and for smaller children, insuring all having the same chance in the hunt. The greatest hunt during the 4-year period was in 1930, when approximately 1200 children participated. From 500 to 600 are expected today. Merchants and establishments who have offered prize eggs follow: (Prize eggs must be kept and turned in next week to the establishment marked on the prize eggs.) Adams-Wesley Supply, Magnolia Service station No. 478, United Dry Goods company, Perty Bros. variety store, City Dry Goods company, City Drug company, Midland Hardware & Furniture company, Baker variety store, Piggy Wigly, Hokus-Pokus, Ritz theatre (25 passes), Yucca theatre (25 passes), Midland Drug store, Jolly Boot shop, West Texas Gas company, Mims & Cyane Albert Oresk, Conner Brothers, Petroleum pharmacy, Barrow Furniture company, De Luxe Barber shop, C. George, Ever Ready Auto Service, Palace Drug store, West Texas Office Supply. Members of the Lions egg committee are C. C. Day, A. C. Caswell, and Sgt. Joseph Capriota.

DISTRICT COMPETITIVE SHOWING OF HIGH SCHOOL MAY SET STATE RECORD

What is believed to be close to a state record was established by the Midland schools in the past two months through winning nine first places in various interscholastic contests. The nine first places won include: senior boys declamation, senior girls declamation, senior team in Latin tournament, second year and senior individual in Latin tournament, one-act play and individual boy in one-act play, trans-Pecos typing contest, district interscholastic league typing contest at Alpine. Midland school students also won three second and three third places in interscholastic league district contests in addition to the nine first places. Individual winners of first places and team members were: Merwin Haag, Melba Lee, Rutin Pratt, John Ed Crabb, Neil Wayne Carlisle, Ernestine Holder, Helen Dunagan and Elizabeth Payne. Second place winners were: Lowell Webb, Marjinal Summerhill, Nell Wayne Carlisle. Third place winners were: Fred Gordon Middleton, Mary Margaret Mann and Roberta Dunagan. Midland will have a number of entrants in the state finals at Austin in May. The various contests in detail are as follows:

OIL BILLS SET LOBBY GROUP A-FIGHTING AGAIN

A vote against House Bill 213 is a vote for higher taxes, in the opinions of a bloc of Midland oil men. The oil industry, taxed already beyond endurance, faces insurmountable tax burdens if the bill fails to become a law, they further believe. From Austin comes information that the capital city has seldom witnessed more turmoil than that which is provided by lobbyist partisans of two bills, that seeking to place a graduated tax on oil and that which would provide for a new oil commission to be appointed by the governor. Some authorities believe the fight could more easily be settled were it not for one bloc's opposition to a Ferguson-espoused bill; inasmuch as political enemies of the governor are assiduously about to confuse personal and political issues. Midlanders favoring the new commission bill believe that unless support is given the Ferguson approved bill Jim Ferguson will turn his influence towards passage of the other bill. Each bill has been engrossed in the house. Failure of house bill 213 to pass would mean irrevocable injury, perhaps ruin, to the oil industry of Texas, they say.

MIDLAND OIL MEN GO TO AUSTIN

It is possible that several oil men will go to Austin this week to watch action taken by the legislature on oil legislation. Harry Adams and James S. Noland were at the capital last week. Noland expected to be among those who leave today. Other winners This Season One-act play: Midland won first place with the cast, first place for boy actor, John Ed Crabb, and third place for girls with Roberta Dunagan. Latin tournament: Midland won senior and second year cups, and first place in senior individual. Nell Wayne Carlisle and Ernestine Holder were the senior team, and Helen Dunagan and Elizabeth Payne were the second year team. Nell Wayne Carlisle won first year for senior individual. In addition to these winnings, Midland won the Trans-Pecos typing tournament at McCreary.

ARMY FLYERS LAND

Captain G. Woodruff of Wright field landed on route El Paso to Dallas, at Sloan field Saturday afternoon. He expected to fly from Dallas to Muskogee if visibility in a reported rain allowed. He flew an army BT-2. Lieut. X. Schlatter from Randolph field, flying west, also landed in an army plane.

INFLATIONISTS JOIN FOES OF THE FARM BILL

Join Republicans to Block Request of Sen. Robinson

WASHINGTON, April 15. (UP).—Proponents of currency inflation joined senate republicans to block the request of Democratic floor leader Robinson to limit debate on the farm bill. An attempt to curtail speeches which held the measure stationary for a week was made after Borah demanded action to enable the senate to "see its way through" for a vote. Robinson asked that speeches be limited to fifteen minutes, beginning Monday, on any amendments or bills. Senator Long of Louisiana objected, wanting unlimited discussion on his silver purchasing amendment and one by Thomas of Oklahoma to expand the currency.

MIDLAND LIONS DELEGATION TO AMARILLO TODAY

Following is an article appearing in this morning's Amarillo Daily News: Program for the model Lions club luncheon to be conducted by the Midland Lions club at 12:15 p. m. Monday at the Capitol hotel, was completed this week by the program committee composed of James S. Noland, Marion M. Seymour, and Marvin C. Ulmer. The program by the Midlanders to which all Lions delegates are invited will start with a novel cattle brand drawing by Frances Lowe Peters. The 5-year old child will rapidly sketch cattle brands with chalk as they are called out to her by her father, Marion F. Peters, candidate for governor of District Two-T and a nationally known collector of cattle brands. Paul T. Vickers will make an address on "The Value of Humor in Service Club Programs." Mrs. Creola R. Vickers will give a reading and the Midland Lions quartet, composed of M. M. Seymour, G. E. Hallman, De Lo Douglas and Dan Gabbert, will sing several selections. Marion F. Peters will be toastmaster. Mrs. De Lo Douglas will play the accompaniment for the quartet. Roy Parks, niece of the late O. P. Jones, will be with the Midland party, and will sing at the country club dinner dance for the Lions. Mrs. Parks is a widely known West Texas soloist, wife of a prominent Midland rancher.

TRADES DAY HERE IS NEXT SATURDAY

Next Saturday is Trades day in Midland. Ten stores have already said they will present. The gift-giving program will be at 3 p. m. on the vacant lots across the street from the Ritz theatre. Business men will be expected to start giving opportunities for these presents on Thursday and give them away on Thursday, Friday and Saturday up to 2:45, when they will go to the vacant lots for the free present program. An extra large crowd is expected, as the Trades day has been publicized by the Midland chamber of commerce in every farm home in Midland and many in Martin, Taylor and Andrews counties. Several Midland stores will have special sales events. Any merchant in Midland wishing to participate in Trades days can get full particulars from the chamber of commerce, and all stores participating will be provided with coupons free by that organization.

Just What Is the Business Outlook?

Editor's Note: Opinions expressed below are strictly those of Mr. Hogan who, because of his advantageous position in Washington, is close to the maze of legislation being undertaken in the congressional houses. The Reporter-Telegram publishes this letter as his opinion gleaned from numerous conferences in the capital city.

By T. S. HOGAN WASHINGTON, April 11.—I would say to the editor if you fear the consequences don't publish this, and to the reader if you are afraid of the cars or have a weak heart don't read it. No man who tells the truth can make a cheerful bedtime story out of the business outlook.

It is the question on every tongue and so many letters ask an answer that a reply seems warranted. Let us ignore the stock market quotations, for after all the owners of roulette wheels were never the best advisers on business conditions. Let us also ignore those self-hypnotized believers in fairy tales who still believe that we can fake ourselves into prosperity even after

Easter Has Played a Great Part in History of World

Easter Sunday, the most sacred date in the calendar of the Christian church, also has played an important part in the world's history. The story of centuries is dotted with major events that have occurred on this day—events far removed from those of a religious nature. It was on Easter Sunday in the year 1513 that Ponce de Leon, Spanish explorer, discovered Florida while searching for the fabled "fountain of eternal youth." He named this balmy and flowering area from the Spanish, Pascua Florida, or "Easter flower."

BRIGHT SPOTS

PITTSBURGH, April 15. (UP).—The steel industry is recovering, plants are expanding and thousands have been employed, a survey by the United Press showed today. Two west coast bridges ordered $44,000,000 worth of material, the Erie railroad 25,000 tons of rails and the Sun Oil and Pure Oil companies 4,000 tons of pipe.

BILL'S AUTHOR SUGGESTS AUG. 6 FOR ISSUES

Brew Issue Would Be Up at Same Time, Suggestion

AUSTIN, April 15. (UP).—Representative P. L. Anderson, author of the beer bill passed in the house yesterday, was advocating today a triple vote August 26 to decide ratification of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the state beer amendment and repeal of the state prohibition laws. He said it was satisfactory to consider ratification and the beer amendment the same day as it would dispose of the whole liquor question at one time. The house ratification bill now calls for a vote in November to seek an agreement. It appeared certain today that Texas will know definitely within a week when, if and how to vote on the beer question.

$3,000,000 FROM BEER GOES TO TREASURY

CHICAGO, April 15. (UP).—Legal beer gave the federal treasury $3,000,000 the first week and a day, an unofficial survey by the United Press showed. The states also profited. Other millions were paid the federal government through licenses for breweries.

RECOMMEND THAT SCHOOLS NOT BE MONEY STARVED

Recommendations urging emphasis upon collection of taxes in order that the legal state apportionment of $1750 per school capita may be maintained, and other recommendations were made in the form of resolutions Saturday, when a regional conference was held at Big Spring. Twenty-seven from Midland attended. Resolutions, signed by the committee composed of Carl Rountree, president, and J. E. Watson, secretary, follow: "We urge that special emphasis and effort be placed upon the collection of taxes, already assessed; that definite steps be taken to make difficult the evasion of tax payment, also that suspension of penalties be eliminated. "2. That we are convinced that our public school system is so essential to our general welfare that the present legal state apportionment of $1750 must be maintained for 1933-34 even to the sacrifice, temporarily of other departments of our state government. "3. That we recommend that an additional tax be provided until the foregoing recommendations shall have been put into effect. This additional tax to be temporary and as an emergency relief. Luxury sales tax and graduated income tax be used as a source of additional revenue. "4. Larger economic units of public school administration; thus reduce (See SCHOOLS, page 6)

ENDING A RACKET

A New York legislator has introduced a bill which would abolish suits to collect damages for breach of promise to marry. It provides that "no court shall entertain any suit with respect to a contract entered into by virtue of mutual promise to marry"; and it would seem that every state in the Union could profitably copy this proposed law.

As things stand now, most breach of promise suits are little better than a legal kind of blackmail.

To be sure, the man who promises to marry a girl and then changes his mind inflicts a grave psychic wound; but it is not a wound which money can assuage. The deeper the hurt, the less likely is the person who has been hurt to take the affair into court. That, most of the time, is left for the racketeer. Society as a whole would be better off if this racket were abolished.

LET'S HAVE THE FACTS

As preparations are made for an investigation into the loss of the dirigible Akron, a remark made by Capt. Anton F. Heinan, the Zeppelin constructor who taught the navy how to fly dirigibles, is worth thinking about.

Captain Heinan indicated his belief that the Akron was wrecked in much the same way as the Shenandoah, "from causes well recognized which could and should be avoided"; and he added:

"If there had not been a whitewash of the Shenandoah investigation, the Akron might be safe and her crew alive."

The Shenandoah investigation a whitewash? Most of us hadn't heard that charge before; but Captain Heinan's remarks made inescapably clear the necessity of a thoroughgoing investigation into this latest crash which shall bring out all of the facts without fear or favor. Let's have all the facts, even if a few important toes do get stepped on.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mrs. Charley Tidd Cole, relief worker in Missouri, invades the mining district of Jasper County, where no relief has been reaching. She is able to bring food, clothing and supplies to 4000 persons in 1100 desperately needy families. Better still, she gets the men at work cutting firewood and building roads, the women to making wool-lined blankets and sheepskin rugs, after finding the bunds to buy unclipped sheep and goat hides as a source of material supply. One determined woman breaks her way into the mountains of desolation—and a whole community rises to work again and to sing.

The Indianapolis housewife who, in addition to operating her husband's filling station in the daytime and doing all the housework and laundry for a family of five in the mornings and evenings, is reported to have found time during a recent eight weeks' period to make ninety-six garments for the needy seems to be of the type that is too busy to answer the requests of her children with "Run along, now; mother hasn't time."

Complaint is made against the proposed slogan, "Buy American," that it would include articles produced anywhere between northern Canada and the Argentine. So the suggestion is made that the slogan read, "Buy United States." But another strong element is developing which seems to feel that all the good purposes will be served if the slogan be abbreviated to a single word, "Buy!"

Mr. Paul D. Cravath makes an interesting point in asking that public support come to the aid of private capital in perpetuating the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York City. Broadcasting has enormously widened the field of popular interest in opera, says Mr. Cravath, and nothing can so make the people appreciate their new culture and entertainment as coming financially to its assistance.

April 1 Crop Report in Texas

The condition of Texas wheat on April 1, 1933, was 50 percent of normal compared with 76 percent a year ago and 78.3 the 10-year average (1921-1930). The condition is the lowest April 1 condition since 1925. The crop started under unfavorable conditions. Soils were dry at planting time, December freezes caused some damage, and dry winter weather and February freezes caused additional damage. Rain is needed in practically all wheat areas. While it is too early to make an accurate forecast of production, present conditions indicate that the crop will be about 18,815,000 bushels which compares with 29,580,000 bushels produced in 1932, and 56,045,000 bushels produced in 1931. Heavy abandonment of acreage has already occurred, and it is likely that more acreage will be abandoned unless rains come soon. For the United States the April 1 condition of winter wheat is reported at 59.4 percent of normal, compared with 75.8 a year ago, and 79.4 the 10-year average (1921-1930) on April 1. The forecast production for 1933 is 334,087,000 bushels compared with 462,151,000 bushels last year, and 589,000,000 bushels the 5-year average (1926-1930). It is estimated that 10 percent or 2,958,000 bushels of the 1932 Texas wheat crop remained on farms on April 1, 1933, compared with 11 percent or 6,165,000 bushels last year, and 5 percent on farms in the United States on April 1, 1933 are 24.5 percent of the 193222 production or 178,354,000 bushels, compared with 18.4 percent a year ago, 13.6 percent two years ago, and 15.9 percent three years ago. Stocks or corn on Texas farms amount to 30 percent of the 1932 production of 30,008,000 bushels compared with 33 percent or 447,000 bushels a year ago, 28 percent or 19,891,000 bushels two years ago, and 24 percent or 16,141,000 bushels three years ago. For the United States 44.9 percent of last year's corn production or 1,126,616,000 bushels remained on farms on April 1, compared with 41.0 percent a year ago, 35.1 percent two years ago, and 35.1 percent three years ago. Oat stocks on Texas farms on April 1, 1933 are 28 percent of last year's production or 11,753,000 bushels, compared with 28 percent or 16,489,000 bushels a year ago, 22 percent or 6,674,000 bushels two years ago, and 19 percent or 6,079,000 bushels three years ago. Stocks of oats on farms in the United States on April 1 were 467,048,000 bushels, or 37.6 percent of last year's production, compared with 32.5 percent a year ago, 33.7 percent two years ago, and 33.0 percent three years ago. The condition of Texas early Irish potatoes on April 1, 1933, was 72 percent of normal compared with 60 percent a year ago and 77.4 the 7-year average (1924-1930) on April 1. The condition of Early Irish potatoes in the ten Southern states on April 1 was 72.5 percent of normal, compared with 63.4 last year, and 79.3 the 7-year average. The condition of Texas peaches is rated at 90 percent of normal, compared with 23 percent a year ago and 69.6 percent the 7-year average (1924-1930). The condition of the peach crop in the ten Southern states on April 1 was 47.2 percent, compared with 33.4 a year ago, and 70.6 the 7-year average.

Hogs Occupy old Fortress Once an Indian Outpost

NEWCASTLE, (UP).—Fort Belknap, once the gateway to the western frontier, has fallen before the onslaught of hogs and spiders. In 1851 the fort was built to repel the raids of Indian savages. Now hogs roll on the floor of its arsenal. Spider webs veil its masonry. A cotton patch creeps up to its very door.

Citizens of Newcastle are hopeful of recapturing the fort and of restoring the noted military post. But at present the hogs hold the victory. The fort was named for General William G. Belknap, who died the same year it was founded. In 1853 all federal forces from Fort Worth were centered there for Indian skirmishes.

During the birth of a nation various flags floated from its mast. General D. E. Twiggs surrendered it and all other military posts to Texas during the Civil war. It was re-occupied in 1865 when the Texas military department was re-established. In September, 1867, its flag was hauled down for the last time, and the fort abandoned.

Today Fort Belknap is little more than a pile of stones and rotting wood. The roof is nearly gone from the magazine. A hole has been knocked in its wall. The old arsenal is a pig-sty. Only three miles to the east the hole dug by General Robert E. Lee in search of water is filled with rubbish. A tree grows from the bottom.

But Newcastle residents have written Congressman W. D. McDonald and asked if federal assistance can be obtained in restoring what was once the back door of civilization.

April Livestock Report for Texas

Weather conditions during March were mostly favorable for ranges, and the condition is now rated at 81 per cent of normal, compared with 78 per cent a month ago, 78 per cent a year ago, and 83.8 per cent the 10-year average. Rains over the "High Plains" area during the latter part of March relieved the dry situation temporarily, but more moisture is needed to supply sub-soil moisture. Dry northerly winds during the last two weeks in March have depleted the surface moisture in many areas, and more moisture is needed to keep grass growing. In the east half of the state rains have been frequent and the new grass is "sappy" and does not contain much nutriment. Prospects are still fairly good for grazing during the next few weeks. However, warm weather and moisture are needed in the west half of the state. Cattle improved 1 point during the month, which is about the average improvement during March, and are now rated at 80 per cent of normal, compared with 79 per cent a month ago, 80 per cent a year ago, and 84.1 per cent the 10-year average. At present cattle are in good condition, and with warmer weather during the next two weeks they should put on considerable flesh. Range conditions and range prospects are such that there should be a considerable number of grass-fat cattle available for market during the next few months. Due to relatively favorable weather conditions during March the condition of sheep is now rated at 82 per cent of normal, compared with 77 per cent a month ago, 82 per cent a year ago, and 87.9 per cent the 10-year average. The lamb crop percentage is running high, however, the early lamb crop was short of a year ago. Sheep and goat ranges are reported at 82 per cent of normal, compared with 78 per cent a month ago, and 79 per cent a year ago. Sub-soil moisture is plentiful in most areas and with continued warm weather there will be an abundance of feed for some time. Grass and brush have started and have made sufficient growth to supply sheep feed. In all areas where weeds can be expected under favorable conditions, the weed crop is good. Feed on ranges in western range states has been slow in starting, except in southern areas, and old grass is short in the dry areas east of the main range. New range feed made slow growth during March in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, and Nevada, but later feed prospects are good with ample moisture. Range feed is only fair in California, with poor prospects for later feed except in high areas. The feed and moisture outlook is good in Montana, the western Dakotas, northern and western Wyoming, western Colorado, and parts of southern New Mexico, Southeastern Wyoming, eastern Colorado, southwestern Nebraska, western Kansas, western Oklahoma, and northeast-

FINDS OLD PAINTING

MISSION. (UP).—Returning to Mission for the first time in 23 years, Frank L. Lamont, itinerant painter, discovered in a store building here a scenic curtain he painted for the old Electric theatre here in 1910.

Lamont, who has been a world traveler since he was 15 years of age, spent the past winter in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Despite his 70 years, Lamont is still searching for new subjects and new scenes to transfer to canvas. He made several trips into Mexico last year.

Bees are the only insects ever domesticated by man.

Patient's Will Is Aid to Dan Cupid

LONDON. (UP).—After a romantic courtship lasting five years, Dr. Oswald B. Deiter, of Newark, N. J., who recently inherited $100,000 from a grateful patient, has announced his forthcoming marriage to Ellaline Macey, pretty organizer of society functions, whose father wrote the first true ever broadcast in Britain.

Deiter is an osteopath, graduate of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, who came here in 1923 to stay a year. Then he met his fiancée and has remained here ever since.

In 1929 he was called upon to attend a woman who had been bedridden for 17 years. Deiter treated her and eventually enabled her to leave her bed and walk. In gratitude, the woman, Miss Elizabeth Talbot, a sister of Lady MacFarland, left the doctor her entire fortune. She died in 1932.

The will was contested by a relative of Miss Talbot, but was upheld in judgment which paid a tribute to the devotion of Deiter to his patient.

His fiancée is an attractive, dark-haired girl, known in society as the youngest professional organizer of charity functions in London.

GANDHI'S PROBLEM SOLVED

BOMBAY, India (UP).—One thing that used to worry Mahatma Gandhi was that, if he used honey, the bees, by the old method of extraction, had to die. It is a part of the Hindu's creed not to kill animal or insect life unless absolutely necessary. Now he need not worry for a new centrifugal extractor draws off the honey without killing the bees, or destroying the larvae.

OLD CLIPPING TELLS OF FARMING IN MIDLAND IN YEARS OF THE PAST

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story is not complete, but is the "jump" section continued from page 1 of the El Paso Herald years ago. It was mailed to the Reporter-Telegram by Mrs. Murphy Johnson, formerly Miss Gladys Vest. The story, the first of which is missing, goes into length to discuss Midland dry farming. It was found among scraps in the collection of Jim Johnson, former editor of the Alpine Avalanche and the father of Mrs. Johnson's husband. Mrs. Johnson worked for Sparks & Barron in Midland several years ago, and was married four years ago at Alpine. The author of the following is unknown.

Experiments have proved that the Midland country land will produce almost anything grown in the temperate zone when proper methods as to cultivation are pursued. For several years past the displays of agricultural products made by Midland at the Dallas and other fairs, grown though they were in a bit of miss way without regard to scientific cultivation, have been extremely creditable and have attracted wide attention. Cotton yielding from one half bale to one and one quarter bales to the acre has been raised with such cultivation as would be credited to the best of the old cotton states in the rain belt. Corn yielding 30 to 50 bushels to the acre has been grown under similar conditions. But those yields of cotton and corn have not been satisfactory at least to those who believe that with scientific methods involving proper plowing, conservation of moisture and assiduous cultivation during growing time to prevent hardening of the soil and consequent rapid evaporation the yields could be greatly increased.

Dry Farm Experiment Station In order to thoroughly test their theory H. W. Campbell, of dry farming fame, has been induced to establish just inside the corporate limits of Midland an experimental farm where his ideas of scientific soil cultivation and moisture conservation will be carried out to a degree of nicety hitherto unknown. It is believed the soil of the Midland country is particularly adapted to "dry farming" methods. It is for the most part a red sandy loam from 3 to 20 feet thick, easily cultivated but not loose enough to wash. It is sufficiently porous to allow for seepage to a clay or hardpan beneath and with proper surface treatment to prevent evaporation will take and hold enough moisture to start and mature a crop were the rainfall much less than it is.

Section of Land Donated It is to prove this theory that the citizens of Midland donated $7500 with which a section of land near town was purchased and placed at the disposal of Mr. Campbell and induced him to farm it in accordance with his methods for five years. During that time he must raise a half bale of cotton and 25 bushels of wheat, oats and corn to the acre and he must also raise alfalfa, milo maize, kafir corn and other forage crops. If the agreed average yields are reached each year for 5 years the land becomes the property of the Campbell Soil Culture Co. It is also agreed that the farm is to be open to visitors at all times in order that the visitors may learn from what the delivery of crops is the way of preparation. Farmers institutes are to be held at stated intervals during each year of the contract at which lectures on scientific soil culture and the delivery of crops by the farmers and any information in the power of Mr. Campbell or his assistants to give must at all times be freely given to residents of the Midland country.

Agricultural School The advantage of this experimental farm, which is in a sense an agricultural college, to the new comer to Midland who buys land for farming purposes can hardly be overestimated. This land was turned over to Mr. Campbell last year and he immediately began to prepare for this year's crop. Charles Lewis was installed as superintendent. One hundred acres were plowed. Of this 36 acres were sown to wheat on Nov. 26 last. No rain has fallen on the land since Aug. 4 when there was a fall of 1.5 inches, except for a very light shower on Aug. 17, yet the wheat is deemed, after the treatment it had received at the hands of superintendent Lewis fit to receive the seed and it was sown accordingly. On Nov. 23 there was a brisk shower and two weeks later the entire 36 acres was covered with a splendid growth of vigorous wheat plants.

No Rain; Ample Moisture No rain has fallen since Nov. 23, yet today the field is "looking fine," the plants giving every evidence of being amply supplied with moisture from the storage made by the cultivation of the land during the summer. The remaining 64 acres of the 100 acres prepared last summer will be planted this spring to the various crops agreed upon in the contract. During the summer another 100 acres will be prepared and a like number of acres of new land will be brought under cultivation each year till the whole 640 acres are growing crops.

Because of the effect of Mr. Campbell's experiments upon the agricultural development of the Midland country all Midland is deeply interested in them and has given such attention to details that men and women who have never farmed and never intend to do so can discuss dry farming as glibly as though "no the manor born."

The Farming Difference As showing the difference between the old fashioned rain belt method of cultivation and the Campbell system in the matter of moisture conservation it is cited that to satisfy the curiosity on that subject of a number of home-seekers who were prospecting in the Midland country recently Judge J. W. Davidson, who is in season and out a persistent and consistent booster for Midland took them out to the experimental farm where holes were dug in the "prepared" land at points designated by the prospectors themselves. At 3 feet the ground was so moist as to feel the soil susceptible of being rolled into mud balls. And this was more than 3 months after any rain had fallen. Just 15 feet away from these holes another hole was dug on land on which a crop of cotton had been grown last season by old-fashioned rain belt methods of land preparation and cultivation and at 18 inches the ground was so dry and hard that a match rubbed against the soil at the bottom of the hole did not absorb enough moisture to prevent ignition when scratched. Cultivation Unnecessary Whatever the experiments may show, it has been demonstrated that paying crops may be grown with ordinary cultivation. The gin at Midland has turned out this season so far 1125 bales of cotton as against 235 bales for the whole season of 1927. And there is still more cotton in the country to be ginned. Notwithstanding the great increase shown this year it is said the acreage of 1928 will be more than doubled in 1929.

Cotton Grows Well Another thing that was demonstrated this year was that those growers of cotton who gave their ground the most careful cultivation got the greatest yield, were less injured by sharpshooters, probably through keeping the plants so vigorous through cultivation as to better resist the attack of the insect and were not caught by the frost probably because cultivation induced or forced greater growth earlier in the season, giving opportunity for earlier maturity of a greater number of bolls of heavier size.

The country for miles in every direction from Midland is rapidly being put under cultivation, not only by the new comers who take up the lands for no other purpose than to farm them, but by the veterans of the cattleman who are beginning to farm some of their large holdings. On the Schubarth ranch alone last year 15,000 tons of milo maize was grown for stock feed.

School Land Taken Up Every bit of school land in Midland county thus far relinquished by the cattleman who had held them under lease, has been taken up. This statement applies not merely to lands close to the city, but for 30 miles in every direction. And, as evidence of the demand for them and the prices prospective settlers are willing to pay for them it is cited that at least one bid of $1500 an acre for four section 40 miles from Midland and just as far from a railroad failed to get the land. The offer of the successful bidder has not yet been learned.

Price cartloads of immigrants' movables were unloaded at Midland this week. And that is about the average weekly movement of that class of freight at this station thus far this winter. Moving in Rapidly At Florey, a new town in Andrews county, about 50 miles from Midland, 22 families moved in in 32 days, which is believed to be a record. The settlement of Upton county which is comprised with Midland county for judicial purposes is equally rapid probably in anticipation of the building of the projected extension of the Santa Fe from Pecos to San Angelo.

An Auto Line Midland is connected by auto with Uplands in Upton county on the south and with Andrews, Seminole and Shafter Lake to the north. The Shafter Lake line is being extended to Carlsbad and when inaugurated will be the longest automobile daily mail and stage line in the United States or in the world. The distances is about 225 miles and was covered today in 11 hours and 12 minutes by Jack Homan and Elliott Cobb in a Chalmers 40, using 16 1-2 gallons of gasoline.

Midland has over 100 automobiles making a machine to every 40 or 50 inhabitants, another record which it is believed it will be hard to equal in the country. Many Windmills Without doubt the first characteristic of Midland to impress itself upon the mind of a person visiting the city for the first time would be the multiplicity of its windmills. Their presence presents in a sense a new quality. The windmills are buildings which line the business streets and the many fine homes in the residence section suggest water works with pipes, hydrants and other paraphernalia of up to date water supply. The windmills are rather than dependence upon the old time windmill and tank.

The matter of establishing municipal water and street lighting plants and installing a sewerage system has been under discussion for some time and plans therefore have been submitted to and approved by the city government. It is estimated that the three plants sufficiently large to supply the needs of the city for years to come will cost $100,000 and at its next meeting it is believed the council will order a special election at which the question of issuing bonds for that amount and those purposes will be submitted to the people.

It is believed the vote will be overwhelmingly in favor of the bond issue as a careful canvass of the neighborhood made by the official Examiner reveals the fact that they are almost unanimous in their belief that water works, street lights and sewers are necessary and that the bonds should issue.

No Street Lights While Midland has an excellent electric light plant which furnishes lights for brilliantly lighting the stores, hotels, office buildings and buildings, the streets are left in darkness. The reason given for this is chiefly lack of funds. Midland has been incorporated not quite two years and inasmuch as it has had but one year's taxes—no city taxes were levied in 1927—the new city has had to go slow in the matter of expenditures. What money was available for public improvement was spent in grading and guttering the streets, something which was sorely needed and which has greatly improved the appearance of the business section at least. Street lights will come next year.

So far Midland has been without ice except that which has been imported from El Paso or Fort Worth or from Big Spring; when the plants at the latter place had any to spare. This lack will be supplied by the plant now being built at a cost of $15,000 by J. W. Turley of Independence, Iowa. Mr. Turley asked and was given a bond of $2000 which was raised by private subscription. The plant will have a capacity of 10 tons of ice daily which is more than enough to supply the needs of the city at present. It is supposed to provide cold storage too which will prove a boon to the market men and growers who handle butter and other perishables.

Social Life While not a multitude of the creature comforts so far as the provision of handsome and commodious homes and places of business is concerned, Midlanders are equally ardent in the matter of the cultivation of the social side of life and in providing for the spiritual and educational welfare of the community. The Midland club is the leading social organization of the city and is made up of the leading business and professional men of the town. Commodious and comfortable quarters, handsomely furnished, are maintained in the Elliott building on Abilene street. The entire second floor is occupied and cut up into library, lounging room and dancing hall. During the winter months the club rooms are the center of social gaiety. Dances are given weekly and the rooms are turned over to the ladies of the city every Friday for receptions, card parties and other functions in which there is a general participation and which require large space for the accommodation of the many who attend.

From the standpoint of attendance at or avowed allegiance to church Midland is probably one of the most, if not the most religious communities in all Texas. Almost one in every three of her population is an open professor of some religious faith while many of those not avowedly allied, are liberal contributors to the support of the churches. The Baptist, Methodist, and Christian congregations of Midland worship at each case in handsome and costly edifices that rank among the finest church buildings in the state from the standpoint of architecture, material of construction, location and furnishings. The Methodist congregation, which numbers about 400 souls, is the care of the Rev. Mr. Martin, under whose pastorate the new church building, dedicated with impressive ceremony this week, was erected at a cost of about $15,000.

Sometimes the herd gets onto the right-of-way. Invariably, it is said, when Billy sees an approaching train, or hears the whistle, he drives the herd to safety, then goes back to defy the train himself. Knowing how goat hair clutters up machinery, the engineers stop their trains and wait for Miss Roetzzel to coax Billy off the track with a leaf of tobacco. He is like a lamb when she feeds him tobacco. Miss Roetzzel raises goats, the Ozark breed, as a hobby and a business. She sells most of them to mine reserves, because they keep the undebriused neatly eaten away from the surface. Sometimes a team buys one for a mascot. There are 150 left in the herd.

The Golden Text is from I Timothy 2: "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." Included with other passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Hebrews 8: "For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord: I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts; and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people." The lesson-sermon will also include citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among these will be the following (p. 497): "We acknowledge Jesus' atonement as the evidence of divine, efficacious, Love, unfolding man's unity with God through Christ Jesus the Way-shower; and we acknowledge that man is saved through Christ, through Truth, Life, and Love, as demonstrated by the Galilean Prophet in healing the sick and overcoming sin and death."

Probable Roosevelt Kin a Real GOP BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Party loyalty means more to Frank M. DeLano, Buffalo laundry truck driver, than relationship.

He voted for Hoover, although he is pretty sure he is distant cousin of the President. "I haven't taken the time to look it up, but I guess I probably am related to the President through his mother," DeLano said.

"I voted for Hoover, all right, but I guess I was wrong. Still, I'm a good Republican and couldn't have done anything else."

Language Professor A Real Polyglot AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Miss Lila Casis, professor of romance languages at the University of Texas, has seen in her 40 years at the school the "craze" for different foreign language learning and has been able to teach them all.

Her father was the son of a French woman and a Spaniard, her mother a German, and the teacher was born and reared on the island of Jamaica, British West Indies. Miss Casis has taught French, German and Spanish, and she remembers when French was in demand because it was a "society asset," when young men wanted it because they anticipated service overseas during the World War.

Terrific Blast Shakes Environs Of Nearby Town

ODESSA.—A terrific blast, followed immediately by a burst of flame which quickly enveloped the entire store, almost completely destroyed the Sam McCown Grocery on the corner of Grant avenue and 4th street last week.

The blast, which occurred at around 8:30 Tuesday evening, about an hour after the store had closed, was of unknown origin, although all indications were that escaping gas was at least a contributory factor. The plate glass windows of the building were thrown out with great force and bits of glass scattered across the street in two directions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott Jr. were driving north on Grant avenue, near the store a moment before the blast. They turned east on the corner on which the store fronts and had just made the turn when the blast came. The force of the explosion shoved their car suddenly forward, giving the impression that some car had run against the rear bumper.
