TWENTY-ONE KILLED BY STORMS

'DEVIL KILLER' MURDER TRIAL GOES TO JURY

Insanity Charge Is Read; 21 Say Man Crazy

LINDEN, May 5. (UP).—The case of Paul Oakley, 20, self claimed faith healer, charged with murder as result of death at his hands of Bernice Clayton, 3, paralytic, in a weird healing rite, went to the jury today.

Judge Hicks Harvey charged the jury on insanity.

"If Oakley believed the laying on of hands could cure by divine power and intervention, and accidentally killed the child, acquit him," he said.

Twenty defense witnesses testified that Oakley was crazy.

OFFERS SELF TO ABDUCTORS AS A HOSTAGE

HARWICHPORT, Mass., May 5.—William Lee, Harwichport shipbuilder, told state police he would gladly give himself as hostage for the safe return of 10-year-old Margaret McMath.

A business associate of Neil McMath, father of the girl who was kidnaped Tuesday after being lured from her school classroom, Lee made the offer to add one more means of contact with the abductors.

A plea by the parents of the child that the state police withdraw from the case for 24 hours to give the kidnapers further leeway in negotiating with the McMath family was refused after General Daniel Needham, head of the state police, had conferred with Governor Ely.

General Needham expressed belief that the solution of the McMath kidnaping might lead to a solution of the Lindbergh case.

"There is nothing inconsistent in this crime with the possibility of its having been done by a very professional crowd," he said, "and it may be the same gang that operated in the Lindbergh case."

Further indication that police were considering this possibility came when a request was made that banks determine whether any of the money given by Colonel Lindbergh while attempting to gain the return of his son had been located in this section.

While the parents hoped contact might be made directly with them, they also turned additional hope in the direction of Detroit and Tyron, N. C., in the belief that the kidnapers might treat with wealthy grandparents of the girl in efforts to obtain ransom.

Although the McMath home received two telephone calls from a man identifying himself as J. A. Griffin, state police placed little credence in the calls and advised Mr. McMath not to comply with a request that he furnish the man passage from Columbus, Ohio, to Massachusetts.

The anguished parents sent out an appeal to their little girl to be "good." They also, through the press, thanked the hundreds of sympathizers who have deluged their home with messages since Peggy—as she was more familiarly known—vanished from sight.

Throughout the hours since the kidnaping, Lee has stood by their side. He has held conferences with the press daily and has set about doing everything that might bring about some contact with the kidnapers.

Through his instrumentality, the parents of the missing child named Aaron Davis, New York advertising man and uncle of Lee, an intermediary. Davis, however, has received no word from the kidnapers, but will keep himself in readiness for any contact the abductors might wish to establish.

SUSPECT ARRESTED AFTER PHONE CALL

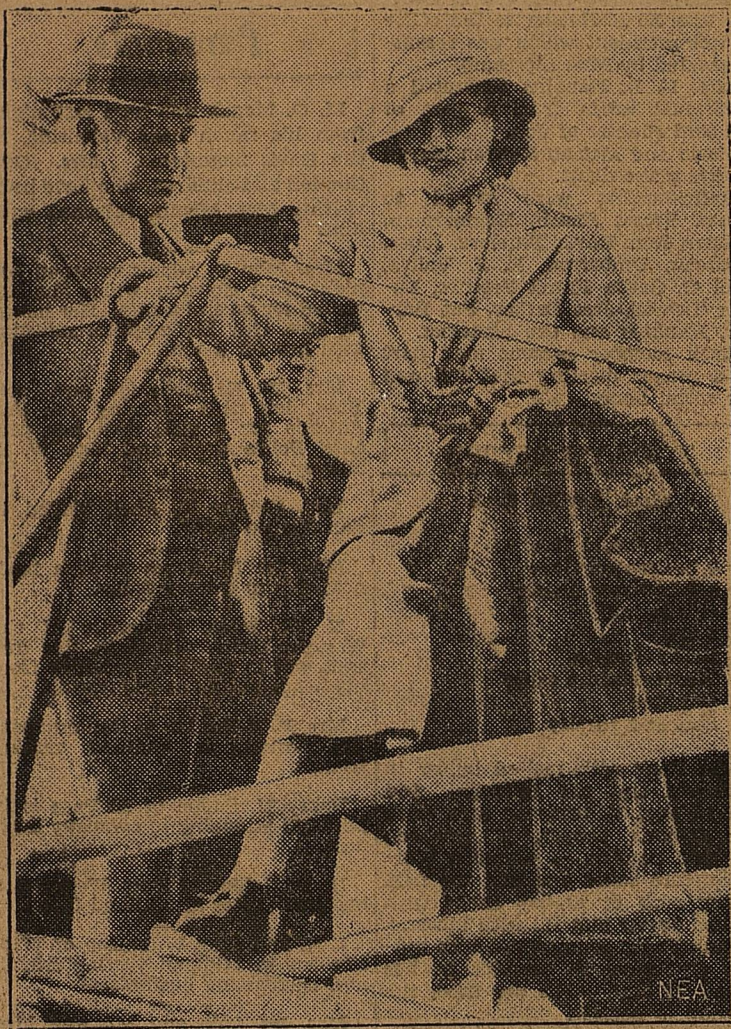

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5.—Police said James A. Griffin, 29, Clinton, Ind., salesman, was taken into custody here and that he admitted he had made a telephone call to the home of ten-year-old Margaret McMath in Harwichport, Mass.

While Massachusetts authorities placed little credence in the man's telephone statement, in which he indicated he knew where the kidnaped child is hidden, Columbus police held him pending further investigation and declined to reveal all he had told them.

8th Pursuit Group Pilots Land at Port During P. M.

ALPINE, May 5. (UP).—Army officials are investigating the deaths of Lieut. Wayne C. Gardner of Dallas, and Staff Sergeant Arthur R. Huntley, of the 19th attack squadron, Galveston.

Flying over Midland in perfect formation, 37 of the 39 pursuit ships of the 8th pursuit group of Barksdale field, Shreveport, La., landed at 2 o'clock, and planned to take off for El Paso in less than two hours.

Two of the planes landed ahead of the others, flying ahead to perform advance duties at the port.

Eight transports were on the way. The pursuit group was composed of P-12, P-6, and P-1's, all Boeing types. They flew from Shreveport this morning, in weather that was described as perfect, with a slight wind from the west blowing.

In the meantime, the tactical flight from Maxwell field, Ala., was expected to spend the night here or at Dallas. Lieut. Hadron, advance officer, had not learned definitely at 2 o'clock what arrangements had been made.

The 20th pursuit group, held here overnight Thursday, took off Friday for El Paso, where every ship landed without mishap.

Captain Deford and Lieut. Stocks flew here from Kelly field to arrange for disposal of Fokker C-14, 171, damaged in landing on the field Thursday. The pilot, Lieut. G. H. McHenry and two corporals were picked up by Lieut. Storey in a B-6 for being flown to March field, Calif., seat of the air corps exercises.

SAVE MONEY BY BUYING TICKET BOOK TO WEST TEXAS CHAMBER CONVENTION

Fifty West Texas chamber of commerce registration badges and a book of 14 tickets with each badge together with a program of the convention have been received by the Midland chamber of commerce from the Big Spring chamber of commerce.

The registration fee is $1. This entitles the holder to attend 14 different events. If bought separately these would cost over $11. Included in the book of tickets are tickets to all dances, including two old fashioned square dances and six other dances; a ticket to a boxing and wrestling bout; tickets to shows and a pageant at Municipal auditorium; privileges of the Country club, and, in fact, tickets to everything offered in connection with the convention except meals.

These tickets and badges were sent to the Midland chamber of commerce to sell in advance in order to save the Midland people the trouble of having to wait in line to register when they arrive at Big Spring. Two of these tickets were sold Thursday. It is pointed out that any Midland person who contemplates attending even one dance can save time by purchasing his ticket in advance. All of the money goes to the convention fund of the Big Spring chamber of commerce.

A few registrations have been made for the big motorcade to be conducted next Friday afternoon at 1:30 to Big Spring. Those who will go with the Midland party and help advertise the city are asked to notify the chamber of commerce at once so that bands or badges may be printed for them. It is not necessary to pay the $1 registration fee to get in this motorcade, as persons who merely wish to go to Big Spring to see the crowd of about 15,000 people may not wish to register. However, those who wish to attend events or even the four dances which will be in progress Friday night, or who wish to attend the "My Home Town" speaking contest or the auditorium show and pageant, can save money by paying the $1 registration fee.

It will cost nothing whatever to get into the motorcade as the Midland chamber of commerce will provide the badges, and there is no other expense involved.

He said the fact that major purchasers had been unable to get oil at a dime a barrel, and that some already were offering twenty five cents, was proof that the present order was not the reason for the severe price cut.

MINTER SHOWS SAUL'S CHANGE

Persons at the Methodist revival Thursday evening reported they had read a total of 157 chapters of the Bible since the Wednesday night service. The attendance showed a marked increase.

The Rev. Kenneth C. Minter, pastor who is conducting the revival, preached on Paul's conversion. He pictured Paul as the world's worst enemy of Christianity until his conversion when he became the world's greatest preacher for the religion of Christ.

In dramatic words the minister showed how Paul was walking along the road to Damascus bent on putting to death other Christians. One second he was taking a step forward with a foot carrying him to evil, the next step forward and he saw a vision that saved his soul. The man who had been Saul of Tarsus determined to exterminate Christianity, through the marvels of Christ's redeeming grace became Paul, the future evangel of that same Christ whose followers he had sought to decimate.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS SOON HINTED

Vote on Securities Control Bill Rushed

WASHINGTON, May 5. (UP).—Speaker Rainey said today he was certain the house would conclude consideration of the president's legislative program by June 1 and be ready for adjournment.

The house began consideration of Roosevelt's securities control bill with democratic leaders determined to force final vote before tonight. The session started an hour earlier than usual.

AUSTIN, May 5. (UP).—The Independent Petroleum association of Texas called upon President Roosevelt today to block any effort to establish a federal oil dictator. The request said reports indicated Secretary of the Interior Ickes probably would suggest a federal conservator likely to draw the appointment.

"The association respectfully believes the situation not sufficiently serious to justify such a step," the statement added.

Senator Grady Woodruff of DeCatur and seven colleagues introduced a resolution in the legislature requesting Roosevelt to refrain from naming a dictator.

BANDIT SLAIN TWO HELD IN BANK LOOTING

PAMPA, May 5.—One man and one woman were under arrest here last night as suspects in the robbery that afternoon of the First State bank at Mobeetie, in which one bandit was slain and a second woman is being detained.

Sheriff C. E. Pipes, who, with his deputies, arrested the trio in a raid on a rooming house here, said the man is known as Jack Shields, who came here from Oklahoma about two weeks ago, and the woman suspect is Mrs. W. A. Triplett, wife of the slain bandit. Shields' wife is being detained.

The officers took about $800 in silver and currency in the rooming house.

Shields and Mrs. Triplett arrived at the rooming house in a taxicab, the sheriff said.

Two Mobeetie boys, Jack Love and Harry Kern, were forced to drive the fleeing bandits from Mobeetie to Denworth, about 12 miles away, after the two had abandoned their crippled car, were back home, they said the man and woman were met at Denworth, apparently by pre-arrangement, by a man in a small sedan. Then the two boys were released.

Officers believe the two then were driven to Pampa.

The slain man, identified from papers on his person as W. A. Triplett, fell under the gunfire of H. L. Flanagan, cashier, and Edgar L. Fry, assistant cashier who freed themselves from the bank vault with the use of a screw driver.

The second bandit, who escaped, was taken into the car by the woman, who first tried to enlist his aid in rescuing the wounded man. They drove west out of Mobeetie. Their car was found abandoned north of Mobeetie, where they kidnaped the two boys.

A hastily organized posse began searching for the second car.

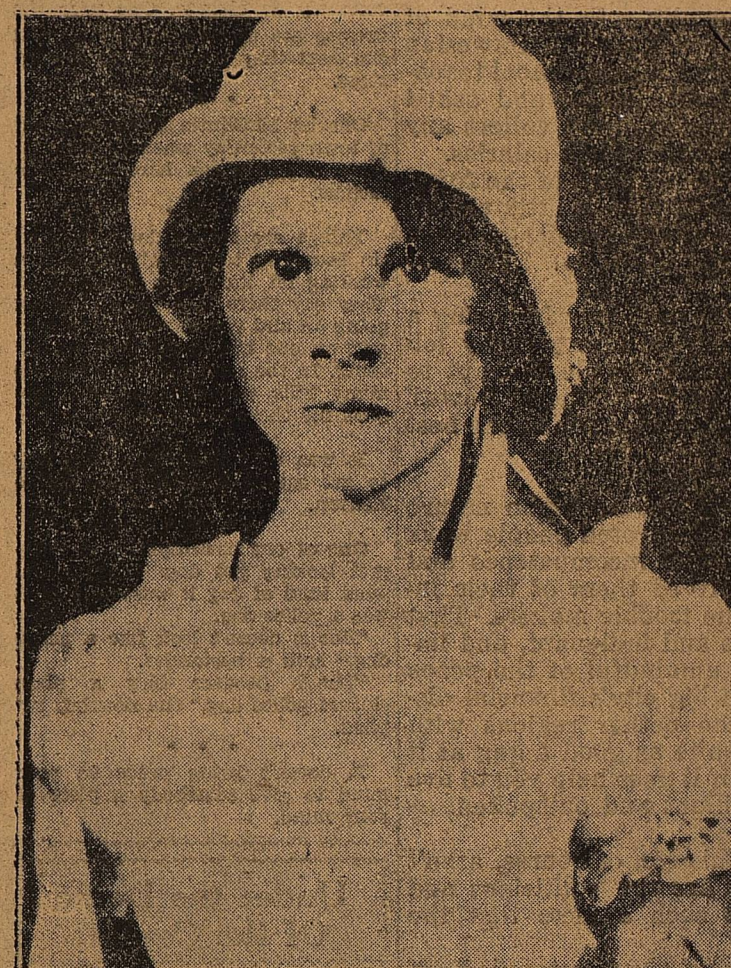

HOGAN DISCUSSES ADMINISTRATION OF CONGRESS' FARM LEGISLATION

By T. S. HOGAN
WASHINGTON, April 30.—Now that the far-reaching farm legislation is finally adopted the staggering task of putting it into practice must be tackled. The delay in its passage complicates the work for this year as much of the spring crops are already planned or arranged to be planted—arrangements made to plant—which cannot be changed without loss to the farmer.

Everyone is agreed that the plan could never have more than a very temporary success unless production can be measurably controlled. If unsalable surpluses of wheat, cotton, corn, hay, etc. accumulate in great quantities as a result of the increased price for the domestically consumed quotas then inevitably those increased supplies will render the maintenance of the increased domestic price difficult, if not impossible.

Those who will be charged with the responsibility of the administration of this law must have the cooperation of the farmers and should have the support of the general public.

THREE STATES STRUCK AGAIN BY HURRICANES

At Least 150 Hurt; a Large Property Damage

BIRMINGHAM, May 5. (UP).—Cyclones swirled across three southern states for the second time in a week, leaving hourly a mounting toll of dead and injured.

Relief crews in stricken Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama areas recovered 21 bodies and removed at least 150 injured persons to hospitals.

Wind apparently struck first near Tallulah, La., killing one and injuring 15. It dipped next near Lula, Miss., heavily damaging property. Nine were killed at Demopolis, Ala., and less than a half dozen buildings were left standing at Helena, Ala., where the wind struck as citizens were at breakfast. Eleven were killed.

ODDS CHANGE IN KENTUCKY CLASSIC

LOUISVILLE, May 5.—Instead of clearing the extraordinary uncertainty surrounding the 59th Kentucky derby, for benefit of the visiting vanguard of the turf faithful, developers mainly served to emphasize the chances of expert convictions that the prime eastern choice, William R. Coe's Ladysman, will be chief among the victims of an upset in the big classic Saturday at Churchill Downs.

Although the Coe entry of Ladysman and Pomponious rules a 2 to 1 favorite, after being at the top of the books nearly all winter a d spring, the prospects favor a wide-open race among no more than 19 and possibly only 15 starters. The third Coe horse Pomponious, is a doubtful starter, but insofar as the railbirds will admit any chances of a son of Pompey going the derby route of a mile and a quarter successfully, they consider Pomponious to have equally as good prospects as the more renowned Ladysman.

Ladysman's workout this morning while not calculated to furnish anything but exercise for the favorite, caused a number of observers to come away shaking their heads over the horse's behavior.

The reluctance of Kentuckians, as well as a good share of the other critics, to accept an eastern favorite at face value may be prompted by experience. Two years ago, Equipoise came to grief the very day of the derby and last year the highly-regarded Tick On, eastern choice, failed to place.

Nevertheless, Ladysman remains the horse to beat. The reinforcements to the press gallery failed to develop any agreement on what horse, if any, has the best chance to take the favorite's measure and lift the $50,000 prize of three-year-old racing.

The blue grass regions has pinned its hopes on Head Play, the colt owned by Mrs. William Crump of Nashville, trained by her husband, a former well known rider, and developed to the extent of being held at the short price of 4 to 1.

CHICAGO'S UNPAID TEACHERS

"To hell," says Gen. Charles G. Dawes, "with trouble makers." This sentiment, which occasionally roils the mind of humbler citizens, found utterance in typically Dawesian fashion when a few thousand unpaid Chicago school teachers marched into Chicago's financial district and asked General Dawes to explain why they couldn't collect any of the $29,000,000 the city owes them in back salaries.

For one of the perverse things about human nature is this: a lot of intelligent and devoted people work hard on their jobs and find that the incompetence and chicanery of their rulers has deprived them of their incomes, they are very apt to become trouble makers.

The real trouble makers in Chicago, of course, aren't the unpaid school teachers; they are the politicians and financiers who got Chicago into such a mess that the school teachers can't get paid.

A few of these gentlemen have already toppled off their pedestals. Others, however, remain securely placed. Chicago needs very much to have them all tossed out, and the indignation of her school teachers could be a very useful aid in that direction if someone would direct it properly.

GUARANTEEING BANK DEPOSITS

News that Congress and the White House have at last come to an agreement on a scheme for federal guarantee of bank deposits is sure to be hailed enthusiastically by bank depositors all over the country.

It is a truism that business won't recover until confidence is restored; and the very cornerstone of confidence must be complete trust in the soundness of one's bank account.

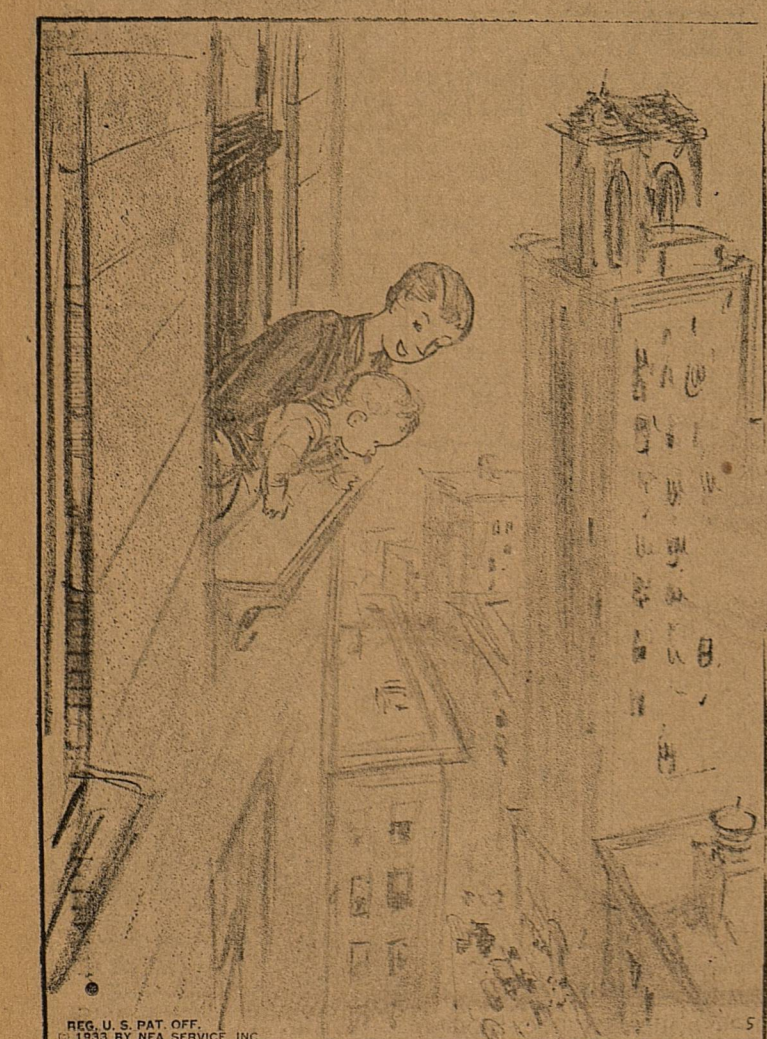

This new measure should restore that trust. Once let every depositor know that his money is safe, and we ought to get a restoration of confidence which would aid trade revival.

A guarantee of deposits, however, must be accompanied by more stringent supervision and regulation than in the past. The government cannot subsidize bad banking.

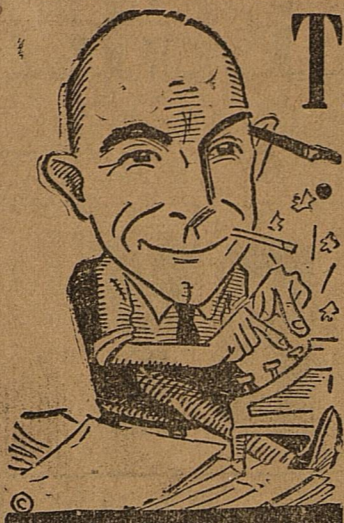

"In connection with the Sino-Japanese hostilities there is one great consolation," observes Punch of London. "So far neither side has claimed that they are doing it to make the world safe for democracy." And, happily, if it is "not war," it can hardly be called a war to end war.

Under the Dome Of the Capital

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—Coke Stevenson, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, seldom addressed the legislature when he was a member of previous sessions. He is patient with the legislators who want to air themselves before the microphone but occasionally his disapproval breaks out.

"Let's get on with the vote. There is no use of making speeches. There is no crowd in the gallery," he admonished a particularly long-talker. Speaker Stevenson also inaugurated the Garner announcement. "The gentlemen has expired," which supplants the old announcement that "the gentleman's time has expired."

Young members are the most prone to debate. High school oratorical contests may be responsible for a lot of the young members speaking. Frequently the address is ineffectual of such contents.

Congress is the goal of many members when they begin serving in the legislature. They might profit from the experience of Milton West, congressman. He said in congress last year before he made a speech. I represent the Garner district."

His last act in the Texas legislature was to introduce his successor, Augustin Celaya of Brownsville.

Former-Governor James E. Ferguson will make no stump speeches during the impending state prohibition campaign.

"I'm getting too old for campaigning," he said the other day. The campaign this time will miss many of the old leaders who spoke on either side. Cone Johnson of Tyler, one time anti-leader and later leading pro, died recently. Tom Ball, prohibition orator of earlier campaigns, was recently injured in an automobile accident and is not likely to be on the stump.

Rep. Weaver Moore and others of the young democrats who put the state democratic convention on record for submission, are speakers who can shine with the campaigners of earlier days.

Former-Governor Dan Moody, now devoting himself to law exclusively, may be brought on the stump by the prohibition forces. Former-Senator Tom Love will likely be on the platform too.

Rep. Robert W. Calvert, 27, member of the legislature, will probably stand out as giving the four star performance of the 43rd Legislature.

His speech in reply to Rep. T. H. McGregor on the proposed new state highway commission, has been the outstanding one of the session.

Calvert, whose home is in Hillsboro, worked his way through the University of Texas. Part of the time he operated an elevator in the State Capitol. When there were no elevator work, he pored over his law books, which he kept in the elevator with him.

He is a law partner of Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro. Report has it he will be drafted for district attorney when his legislature term ends.

Vardon's Book Tells Best Shot

LONDON (UP)—In a new book, "My Golfing Life," Harry Vardon, the veteran golfer, follows the example of so many stars and describes "the best shot he ever played."

Vardon thinks it was a shot on the 18th hole at Northwood Club house. He found himself stymied by the clubhouse, his ball within two yards of a building rising 30 feet, and hiding the green.

To play over the corner of the building instead of round it made an irresistible appeal. It meant an almost perpendicular rise with spin to carry the ball forward when the necessary height was reached.

"Actually," Vardon says, "it was necessary to execute a shot the flight of which would alter at a given point."

It came off, and the ball pulled up close to the hole.

Question "What Is Hollywood" Brings Different Answers

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—An interesting development of the recent motion picture pay cut holiday was the discovery that, to all practical purposes, Hollywood is composed of 1,600 persons. Although studio employees number into the thousands, those actually responsible for film production are confined to this group of actors, writers, directors and producers. If they moved out, there wouldn't be any more Hollywood—but a group of electricians, carpenters, clerks and stenographers, all of which leads to the question, "What is Hollywood?" A dozen persons will give as many answers, among them the following: Gary Cooper—"Hollywood is the promised land. Broken promises." Adrienne Ames—"An unending contest." Maurice Chevalier—"The most intense city in the world." Ricardo Cortez—"Hollywood is what you make it." Clive Brook—"A place of hero worship—and no heroes." Calidete Colbert—"A place where you can't keep a secret." Marlene Dietrich—"The world's most self-conscious city." Buster Crabbe—"Aw. It's all right." Bing Crosby—"Where they make big one out of little ones."

Jack La Rue—"I'll have to consult my attorney." Gall Patrick—"The nicest place I know." Gary Grant—"Hollywood's a burlesque show, with everybody trying to play ingenue." George Raft—"Hollywood is a town of two gestures: A slap on the back, a kick in the pants." Edward Sutherland—"The place of deferred hopes and payments." Peggy Hopkins Joyce—"Where Santa Claus lives." Mae West—"Where even the midgets get illusions of grandeur."

MAY BE CLUE TO MONEY GRANTS PASS, Ore. (UP)—A huge manzanita tree in the hills near here may be the clue to a buried loot obtained in a stage coach robbery years ago. The date 1890, the year of the robbery, is carved on the trunk, with the initials MLP and DBP, followed by the words "Go to Hell." The tree is located near where the robbery occurred and where the loot is supposed to be buried. All the robbers were slain by possemen.

A vial taken from a 2000-year-old tomb near the city of Luxemburg contained human tears, according to chemical analysis. Tears were once buried with the dead as a romantic expression of sympathy. THE CIRCUS QUEEN Murder
ADOLPHE MENJOU GRETA NISSEN
Serialization of a dramatic play with COLUMBIA PICTURES

Thatcher Colt, Police Commissioner, and his secretary Miss Kelly, are in Gilead, N. Y., for a vacation. There is a circus in town, the "Greater Rainey Show Circus," for which Dugan, a friend of Colt's, is press agent. Dugan asks Colt to investigate among the circus folk as trouble seems to be brewing. Colt and the star performers of the show receive threatening letters. Josie La Tour beautiful aerial acrobat of the circus, is in love with the Great Sebastian, another acrobat, though she is married to Flandrin, her partner. Flandrin is extremely jealous and threatens to kill them both. Then Flandrin disappears, and it appears as though the man has been murdered.

CHAPTER FIVE

The next day dawned bright and clear, though an evil omen of tragedy seemed to hang pall-like over the circus grounds.

do it, Rainey." "You'd better not." La Tour's eyes blazed angrily. "The thing you've suggested is just what Flandrin's aiming at—that's his way of wrecking the circus. But I own part of the circus and I've got something to say about it. I'm not going to let a nut like that bluff me out of giving a show." "It's your own life you're risking," Colt shrugged. "La Tour was adamant. 'I'm giving a show!'" "I warn you, it may be your last one, Miss La Tour," Colt said. "La Tour was unaccountably gay. 'Think so? Well, if I've got to die, I'll die as well as before a full house.'" She grabbed Sebastian's arm and walked out. "Throng of humans were beginning to crowd the circus grounds, playing the games, gazing with open mouths at the side shows. Rainey pulled Dugan aside. 'Did you carry out Colt's orders?' he asked. 'Sure did. I've got a man on every entrance and exist in the place. Flandrin couldn't get in or out of this lot with a shoehorn.'" "Okay," Rainey walked into the Big Tent. "Colt and Miss Kelly sat in a box, on the side, where Colt could command a distinct view of every open spot in the tent. Rainey nodded to them as he passed by. The band started up its musical blare. The parade started. Clowns, the bare category of show entertainment passed in one long caravan. Josie La Tour, beautiful and prim on her snow-white horse, waved on her right fore-leg like a human being. Great Sebastian, grimed and worried, rode a black charger along side her. 'Attractive, isn't she?' said Miss Kelly to Colt. 'Exactly,' he replied. 'Enjoying the circus?' Colt was emphatic. 'No!'" "The cannibal troupe came by. Colt nodded, his forefinger marking the count. "Thirteen," he muttered. "The parade came to an end and the various acts took their positions to begin the show. Rainey, respondent in his riding master's habit, strode to the center ring, took his stand on a platform and began to announce the opening feat. 'Ladeze and enfelement,' his lusty voice bawled. 'We introduce the Great Sebastian, trapeze artist extraordinary, who will beguile you with his death defying routine in the air!'" Sebastian bowed, then ascended the long strand of rope to his high trapeze. He started his first swing and a hush fell over the crowd as though some giant hand had stilled the audience in death. The trapeze bar had slipped its joint! The muscles on Sebastian's body quivered and tensed. With a mighty heave, the acrobat swung himself back to the platform. "Colt shivered. Already the specter of Flandrin was making itself evident!" Sebastian finished his act safely and slid down the rope, while the crowd cheered his thrilling performance. Rainey mounted his wooden stand again. "Ladeze and gentlemen, I

Animals Run Cast Close Second for Laughs in Film

It's too bad about the man who wouldn't go to see "The Dark Horse" because he thought it was an animal picture, because when he sees "So This is Africa!" the latest Wheeler-Woolsey madcap-revelry, he's due for a lot more confusion. It is coming to the Ritz theatre, preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. When the picture was produced Columbia Studios had to find a donkey who could kneel down on his right fore-leg like a human being, a huge six-inch fly that wouldn't resent being bitten in the back by Woolsey, at St. Bernard dog willing, to have all his hair shaved off, a gorilla who liked to swing through the jungle, and six lions who had a much greater passion for chocolate than red meat. One hundred Amazon women and 100 Tarzan men hold a huge and violent conclave in the jungle where these strange beasts roam and where Wheeler and Woolsey in evening clothes proceed to discover new sources of comedy. Beautiful, dark Raquel Torres plays a vigorous and seductive role of an Amazon woman with Esther Muir, Henry Armetta, Eddie Clayton and many others in the supporting cast.

will be relatively easy to establish and maintain a fair price for that part of the crop consumed in the United States this year. The winter wheat crop will be away below normal due to unfavorable weather conditions. Unless all factors are especially favorable to the production of a large acreage yield of spring wheat there will be no large export surplus of wheat this year. The farm bill provides for paying the farmers the cost of production at the option of the secretary of agriculture. There are many reasons why that measure of payment should be used this year in the case of wheat. The diminished yield due to poor weather conditions should normally increase the price as it also increases the farmer's need for the increase. Then, too, an increase in the price of wheat adds less to the cost of goods to the consumer than does any of the other proposed increases. It is doubtful if the increase in the price of wheat will add to the price of bread, and certainly it would not have the honor to present the greatest aerial performer in the world—Miss Josie La Tour. La Tour stepped forward to the pianist's of the crowd. Her red velvet cloak fell to the ground revealing her beautiful, young figure in its white tights. She bowed and climbed to the high platform. The cannibal act began its routine at the same time. First, the large tom-toms began to beat in monotonous, terrifying rhythm, then the almost-naked savages began to play their thin reed pipes. Strangely enough, the pipes were all pointed upward—at the slim form of Josie La Tour outlined against the ten top.

Super-Thriller to Yucca Sunday When "King Kong" Comes

The much-discussed motion picture "King Kong," will make its first Midland appearance at the Yucca theatre Saturday night, preview, when it will be shown with the theatre in complete darkness. RKO-Radio company has soared grandly into the realms of imagination with this super-thriller featuring Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong, and Bruce Cabot. A motion picture company looking for location runs across an uncharted island inhabited by surviving members of several types of prehistoric animals, ruled over by a giant ape, "King Kong," standing more than fifty feet high. After a great deal of effort, the ape is transported to civilization—New York. Breaking loose, he tears through the streets where people, automobiles, street cars, elevated lines are like so many tin toys beneath his feet—where even the tallest building in the world is no more difficult to climb than a tree. He even snatches airplanes out of the air as they zoom at him pumping machine gun bullets into his tough hide. "King Kong" is a terror—the mightiest terror man, either in or out of fiction and of the movies, ever attempted to capture and subdue. The imagination of the story is something to marvel at, but the visualization of it—its production—is a miracle of modern science. It blends fancy with realism so magnificently that you question what is fact and what isn't. There is romance, too, in "King Kong." Bruce Cabot, in love with Fay Wray, finds the monster is his rival. It's a new angle on the Beat theme. The fragile, golden-haired heroine is the first in millions of years to touch a soft, tender spot in the heart of this beast, and for her he kills ten thousand weeks' havoc with mankind and its inventions. But this blundering idea of protection of course terrorizes the girl, and thrills the audience as well. Extravagant with its surprises and action, "King Kong" sweeps into a new realm of entertainment and leaves one with something to wonder at and talk about. In addition to the preview showings, the picture will run Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. There will be no advance in admission prices.

Regular Services At Baptist Church

Regular church services will be held by the Rev. Watson F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church, Sunday, a letter to The Reporter-Telegram from Nashville, Tenn., said. An orchestra concert will be given at the eight o'clock evening service and the Rev. Borum will preach on "Inheritance Tax." Goldsmith First For H. S. Speakers

Goldsmith won first in the finals of a "My Home Town" speaking contest at the high school today, earning the right to represent Midland at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention in that contest, which is open to speakers of the entire region. Bill Pratt was second. Others competing were Murray Fasken and A. B. Cooksey. Judges hesitated at length about selecting a winner, the contest having been singularly close. The speakers were coached by Mrs. L. K. Barry.

Vickers, who accompanied the two Midland school declaimers to Austin. The telegram continued: "House offered resolution to have Merwin succeed his dad. Hearty response followed." Merwin and Melba Lee will speak today in the state finals. Superintendent W. W. Lacey, Mrs. Haag, Merwin C. Ulmer and other Midlanders are in Austin for the various contests.

The Old Days in Cattle Business Were Better, Says

W. W. Evans, Hale county agent who recently bought a carload of feeder calves from the Scharbauer Cattle company for calf club members in Hale county, recalled the cattle feeding business of 20 years ago in which some C ranch Aberdeen Angus steers were concerned. "This is the third lot of Midland and Odessa feeder calves we have bought this year for Hale county. We have been feeding John Gist calves for four years," he said. "I am reminded of the change that has taken place in 20 years. In 1913 I bought three cars of Aberdeen Angus cattle in the Kansas City yards to take to Oklahoma A. & M. college to run a feeding test on ensilage. We branded these steers with a "C" as they came from the famous C ranch near Midland. "These black cattle weighed 960 pounds and were four years old. They were fed ensilage and grain and were finished out at about 1500 pounds and brought $6.65 per hundred. They were exhibited by packers after slaughter as prime carcasses from 5-year-old steers. This was close to a record price at that time for ensilage fed cattle. "The point is, such cattle, if they could be found now, are hardly salable. Today, we take the short age yearlings at $50 to 400 pounds and make finished beef at about 1000 to 1100 pounds in one-fourth of the time we took to finish the Aberdeen Angus cattle 20 years ago."
