Senate Committee Gets Beer Resolution of the House

MAY REACH THE SENATE FLOOR TUES. MORNING

Auto Tax Retirement Of Road Bonds Is Protested

AUSTIN, April 17. (UP)—The senate referred the house resolution for a vote on legalization of beer August 26 to the committee on constitutional amendments today. It was expected to reach the senate floor tomorrow morning and its passage was forecast.

Senator Pace of Tyler led the opposition to the bill requiring counties to pay half of the automobile license receipts to retirement of outstanding road bonds. Under the bill, proposed by Senator Moore of Greenville, counties would retain all of the first $75,000 collected in licenses and half of the amount between $75,000 and $175,000 would go to the state for use in retirement of road and bridge bonds.

A joint resolution was introduced in the senate for $20,000,000 of state bonds for relief work. Senator Woodall was author.

ANGELO POLOISTS WIN OVER LAMESA

SAN ANGELO—Lea Aldwell's 10 goal San Angelo Rainbows nosed out Lamesa's No. 1 polo combination, 15 to 13, Saturday afternoon at the Head of the River ranch at Christoval in the first of a series of week-end combats. Lamesa is a no-goal handicap quartet.

Taylor Rowe's Ramblers of San Angelo defeated Lamesa No. 2 by a score of 4 to 2 in three chukkers. The field is located on Aldwell's plant three miles south of Christoval on the Eldorado road and about two miles to the left, which is east.

This series is the first of the year locally for the San Angelo riders. Some of the Concho clouters played on the Pacific coast in the recent championship tournament run, but yesterday was the first time out for the home guard in Tom Green county.

The big shots of the opening tilt yesterday were the four-goal man, Alf House, and the five-goal Earl Shaw, a spectacular veteran of the game. The venerable Aldwell played a jam-up game at No. 4.

The Ramblers were composed of Rowe at No. 1, Shorty Vick No. 2, Rex Henderson at 3 and Banks Stocks at back. Henderson scored two of the Ramblers' four goals. This club played a well-balanced game all the way with the exception that the wild-riding Rowe allowed most run over several of the Lamesa athletes and a couple of the members of his own club.

Both Lamesa teams played hard and consistent as well as sporting games. The Lamesa No. 2 team was composed of the line men, A. C. Woodward, Col Cleveland Jr. and Lynn Patterson, with Spencer Barrow as alternate.

Woodward is the generalissimo of both clubs.

Early Test of Cowden Slatéd

Coring early Saturday evening at 4,002 feet, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company and others' No. 1 Elliott F. Cowden in southeastern Ector county was scheduled to core only to 4,010, where, after being reamed out, the hole will be unloaded and tested.

The end of a core barrel recovered at 3,987 feet contained hard blue lime showing no oil. No. 1 Cowden has had many cores showing oil and gas, beginning at 3,794 to 3,801 feet, the most saturated being between 3,920 and 3,935 feet. Production is believed certain, as the test is a north offset to L. C. Harrison and others' No. 1 F. V. Addis estate, which came in last fall, indicating Ector county's third pool.

Stanolind No. 1 Cowden is 330 feet from the south line and 1,320 feet from the west line of section 26, block 43, township 2 south, T & P. Ry. Co. survey.

Former Pro Gets Course in Order

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Auchterlonie are getting Westwood course, Carlsbad, N. M., into ritzzy condition, according to a letter received by The Reporter-Telegram.

The nine-hole course is due to become by the end of the summer one of the finest in the Southwest, Auchterlonie believes. He is flooding it with water from the government canal, throwing up numerous traps, enlarging the greens and drawing plans for a model, but small, club house.

The Carlsbad course will be similar to that of Midland as far as physical and topographical layout is concerned, but will be planted luxuriantly in grass, shrubs and trees.

The former Midland pro has a large class of golfers taking instruction, and the membership is around 55, including blanket memberships of two hotels and the potash company.

Members of the Midland high school band will be at one program this year without having to play! The organization is inviting family members and a few friends to its annual picnic supper Tuesday evening at Cloverdale, invitations being in the mail today.

The supper is not a school affair, but strictly handled by band members themselves.

SAN ANTONIO. (P)—What is claimed to be the longest hole-in-one ever made was the work of John Reynolds of San Antonio over the Hillcrest country club course here. With a brisk wind at his back, he "shot the corker" of a 340-yard dog-leg hole and the ball rolled in the cup. With him were E. F. Heeson and J. Progrim.

Show-Down on Shaw

Evidently there's one cameraman who thinks we've looked up to George Bernard Shaw long enough. And this is his view of the Irish playwright and satirist who is always expounding his views of others. The photographer took this slant as Shaw strolled on deck of the S. S. Empress of Britain which bore him home from New York after the speech in which he urged Americans to scrap the Constitution, wipe off war debts and provide the leadership from ruin.

OKLAHOMA WELLS FLOW WIDE TODAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 17. (UP)—Twenty oil gushers were opened this morning for 12 hours uncontrolled flow, opening a "new deal" in civil production in the Oklahoma fields. Twenty more were to be opened this afternoon.

The output will form the basis of a proration order controlling 1,000 wells in Oklahoma fields. Empire Carl Giles will replace Cicero Murray as field chief. Troops were going out under legislative orders.

Dude Ranch Will Guarantee Success For Lion Hunters

AUSTIN. (UP)—For Denver Wright and other big hunters, Rufus Van Zandt, dude rancher, offers lion hunts with a guarantee.

On his extensive ranch about 75 miles from here, Van Zandt has bred a pack of dogs, large brutes trained to hunt only bears and lions. It has never taken the pack longer than five days to locate a wild cat, panther, catamount, or Mexican lion.

Last season 77 lions died before the onslaught of his dogs and hunting parties. Forty-six bears were killed. But lion hunts are favored by Van Zandt, for the big cats multiply rapidly and kill the deer and other game on his preserves.

Fifteen years ago Van Zandt hunted Germans. Germans also hunted Van Zandt. When peace came he left the army suffering from effects of poison gas and bullets.

He ventured west to hunt for health and found a livelihood in the operation of what is now one of the largest dude ranches in the Southwest.

Farm Bill Disrupts Democratic Unity

By T. S. HOGAN

WASHINGTON, April 12.—In the senate debate on the farm bill such wide divergence of opinion has developed among the democrats that it threatens to break the administration's control over congress. Those differences of opinion are so deep seated that compromise is difficult. Numerous amendments have been offered and some of them accepted so that when the bill finally does emerge from the senate it may not be acceptable to the administration.

Today the battle between the democrats threatened to wreck the bill until Senator Norris came to its rescue and vigorously supported its main features.

The whole situation in regard to this very important bill is that it was sent to the floor of the senate from the agricultural committee, of which Senator Smith of South Carolina is chairman, with the com-

Frenchman to Assist With Fervor in New Plans

(Copyright United Press)

ABOARD ILE DE FRANCE, Le-Havre, April 17. (UP)—Former Premier Herriot was cheered today as he boarded his ship, bound for Washington. He expressed determination to collaborate "to the utmost" with President Roosevelt and Premier MacDonald "to terminate abnormal sufferings in the world."

He outlined the French position on reciprocal tariff adjustments, to encourage universal return to the gold standard, reiterated a desire for disarmament, provided security is guaranteed; drastic revision of international war debts, and declared tinkering with present European boundaries is dangerous.

WASHINGTON CURIOUS ABOUT THIRD VISIT

PASHINGTON, April 15.—People here look forward with great curiosity and interest to the forthcoming visit of James Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister. He has been in America three times before. Each time he has been a different MacDonald—a MacDonald at a new phase of his spectacular and varied career.

Almost 40 years ago Ramsay MacDonald first came to the United States, in the summer of 1897. It was a honeymoon. MacDonald had just married the gifted Margaret Gladstone, niece of Lord Kelvin. It was a wonderful tour for the poor Scots lad, born amid the humblest surroundings, who was entering socialist politics in London.

There was no public acclaim for the MacDonalds on that visit. In Concord, Mass., they were the guests of Miss L. S. W. Perkins for a time. Thirty years later, MacDonald made a pious pilgrimage to Concord and lunched with his former hostess, then nearing 87.

From that honeymoon, MacDonald returned to London and fame. He was to forge the independent labor party into a powerful force and eventually to see his organization become a dominating factor in British life.

MacDonald's Gethsemane

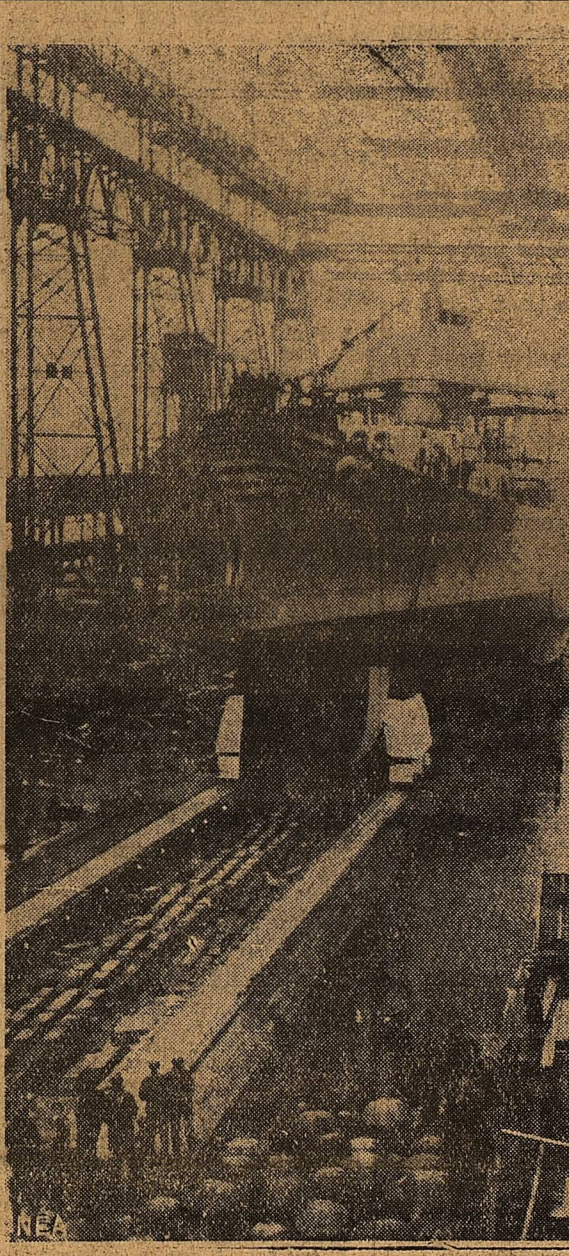

So times had changed when he returned to America in 1927. He had already been prime minister during one short-lived labor government. Before that, he had "gone into the wilderness" when Britain entered the World War and the labor party went along, too. MacDonald didn't. He resigned as party leader August 5, 1914. He was a pacifist and plain-spoken objector, just as he had been during the Boer war. MacDonald grimly hung on, almost friendless, without a party.

When MacDonald came to the United States in 1927, he came unofficially. His daughter Isabel came with him. MacDonald was still an unkept fiery rebel, making staid Americans slightly uncomfortable. His chief admirers here and those who entertained him were a few liberals of the stamp of Oswald Garrison Villard and Miss Lillian Wald of the Henry street settlement in New York, as well as trade unionists and socialist groups. Though the conservative press gave him a courteous welcome, America—his friends won't deny it—disappointed Ramsay MacDonald.

Smith's Kindly Call

In Washington MacDonald called on President Coolidge, whom he found "cordial, affable, and homely," carefully explaining that he used the word "homely" in the English sense as meaning unassuming and simple. But MacDonald was (See HERRIOTT, page 4)

CHAIRS SPROUT

BIG SPRING.—At the Robbins beauty parlor, 309 North Gregg street, a suite of furniture made of willow limbs and covered with two coats of enamel paint are sprouted.

Dozens of sprouts as long as six inches, many with leaves, have grown in the past few weeks, although the furniture has not been in the house for more than six weeks. The willow wood from which the furniture was made was brought from southwestern Texas. The limbs were sawed off squarely before being put together in the form of chairs, and the pieces covered thickly with orange paint.

The meeting will be held at 3:45 on the second floor of the court house.

Farm Meeting Is Set at Midland

Several hundred farm people are expected to attend.

IN HOSPITAL AFTER WRECK OF BIG AUTO

Both Unconscious, so Identification Is Tentative

AURORA, Mo., April 17. (UP)—Two men tentatively identified as Ivy and Clyde Barrow, the Barrow Texans sought in connection with the slaying of two Joplin officers, were unconscious in a hospital here today.

An injured man who brought them in and paid the hospital was sought. He gave the name of C. C. Cantrell of Springfield and disappeared as the sheriff went to investigate the scene of an automobile accident in which they were reported to have been hurt. He was believed to be a confederate.

Personal belongings were gone from the big car, which was wrecked. One of the injured men had a money order to Bob Walton, Teague, Texas.

The Barrows were wanted for questioning in connection with the killing of Constable McHerriman and Detective Harry McGinnis at Joplin last week.

RUSSIA'S WAY AND OUR OWN

One of the most interesting bits of news from Russia this spring is the announcement that the government is prepared to get very hard-boiled toward workers who fail to work as hard as the government thinks they ought.
Recent legislation makes it possible for the government to deprive a workman and his family of a job, food and his house for a single day's unjustified absence from work.
Lenin himself urged that the dictatorship of the proletariat must not hesitate to use force against the proletariat itself when the occasion requires it. The working class in Russia, as a class, is exalted as never before in history; but the worker as an individual has perhaps less real freedom than any other worker in Europe or America.
And this odd contradiction emphasizes once more the strange and fascinating contrast between the things that are being attempted in Russia and the things that are being tried in America.
In each country, at this moment, the greater part of the thought and energy of the people is being devoted to an effort to fix things so that mankind's new productivity can be used so as to provide the ordinary man with a better, happier life. That is the avowed purpose of the Communist experiment; it is, fundamentally, what is back of our own attempt to end this depression and make a new one impossible.
Basically, then, we are seeking the same goal. But how differently we are going at it!
Iron discipline, a rigid regime in which the individual counts for nothing and freedom is a discarded word—these characterize the working-out of the Russian venture. To us they look like prices that are too high to pay.
We want the same things the Russians want, but we intend to get them in our own way. The individual worker may not be cock of the walk, in America, but he is absolute lord over his own life. Freedom, prosperity and happiness must begin with him if they are to mean anything.

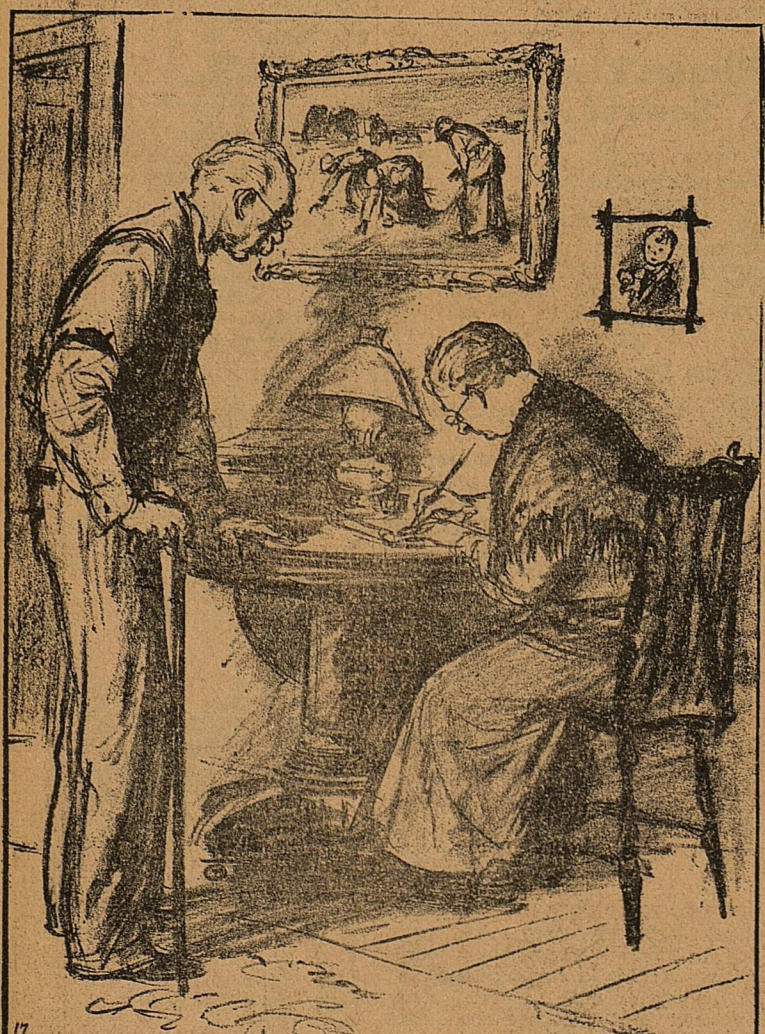

PRaise FROM A BRITON

Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords, made a fine impression during his recent tour of America. But he made an even finer one when he sailed for home with words of praise for American airways, American trains and the general sympathy and understanding of the American people.
English visitors don't usually say that sort of thing. They come over to collect such dollars as may be floating about loose, but they leave with the air of those who escape from a dreary desert, and as they leave they let us know, condescendingly, that we are a benighted and witless folk whose ways are outlandish and whose institutions are devilish odd.
Lord Marley is a refreshing exception. One trusts that he isn't deprived of his position in the House of Lords because of his break with the oldest of British traditions.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Disarmament Conference declines to adjourn to let the delegates of Britain, Italy, France and Germany go into a huddle over the Mussolini-MacDonald four-power plan. Refusal is by the same smaller powers which forced formation of the Lytton commission and later the action against Japan. Motorcade Will Stop Here 29th

A motorcade en route to El Paso for attendance at the Broadway of America Highway association meeting May 1 and 2, and made up of Bristol, Va., cars, expects to enlist cars along the road. Several Texas points have agreed to add to the caravan, among them Colorado, Sweetwater and Big Spring. Colorado will add 15 cars, according to J. H. Green, Sweetwater about five, and Big Spring five or 10.
The motorcade stops at Midland Saturday, April 29, at 8:50, and it is hoped that several cars will join the string. Several Midland people plan going to the association, particularly as the Juarez Fiesta is to be held in conjunction, but no one has signified going with the road caravan.

CONNOLLY SEEKS ACTION ON BILL

WASHINGTON, April 15.—An effort to secure action soon on his bill to revitalize the gold dollar is being made by Senator Tom Connolly who introduced the measure last month. It is now pending before the senate banking and currency committee.
The bill provides that the gold content of the dollar be reduced to approximately two-thirds of its present content. It would also cause the discontinuance of mining gold coins, and all gold reserves and gold owned by the government would be retained in the treasury for the redemption of currency and gold certificates.
Extension of the order of President Roosevelt prohibiting gold hoarding and gold exports makes this an opportune time for the revaluation, Senator Connolly said.
"The present gold dollar," the senator said, "is not a sound dollar measured in the price of commodities which the people produce or measure in the debts which they owe and which were incurred at a time when commodities were at a higher level and gold was at a lower level. It is the price of commodities which the people produce or measure in the debts which they owe and which were incurred at a time when commodities were at a higher level and gold was at a lower level. Easter Musical Programs Are Well Attended

Special Easter song services drew packed houses Sunday, the two principal meetings being the sunrise service at the high school auditorium and the Sunday evening cantata at the First Methodist church.
Easter programs were given at most of the Sunday schools, at the First Christian church Sunday morning and at numerous Sunday school classes.
The Rev. Winston F. Borum, Baptist pastor, preached a brief sermon at the sunrise service in which the various churches and choirs participated. Anthems were sung by the high school chorus and united choirs and readings were given by the high school students. Special numbers rounded out the musical program.
The cantata at the Methodist church Sunday evening was in three parts, the prophecy, dawn and the resurrection and the dawn of the kingdom. Mrs. De Lo Douglas directed. Anthems, with solo parts, solos, duets and piano numbers made up the program. Other churches dismissed on account of the cantata. Capacity crowds attended each of the services, also the morning preaching services at the various churches.

Rage Meets New Version on Joan

PARIS. (UP)—Eighty-six enraged parents have withdrawn their children from a school near here because a teacher, M. Neully, taught their offspring a new story about Joan of Arc, telling them that she escaped from prison with a British soldier and became the mother of his children.

In the course of a history lesson, M. Neully remarked to his class that the story of the burning of Saint Joan at the stake was not universally accepted, and that according to another version of her story, accepted by certain ecclesiastic writers and set forth in the state archives of Loriet, she made a noteworthy escape and raised a family for the soldier aiding her.

The parents refuse to return their children to the school until the teacher is sent elsewhere, but the mayor of Neuville-sur-Sarthe, while admitting that it was unnecessary for M. Neully to go as far into history as he did, says he cannot see sufficient cause for dismissing him. The teacher refuses to ask that he be transferred to another school and the result is that a school moratorium has been declared. With no pupils, M. Neully cannot teach, and the 86 parents remain firm in their determination not to subject their children to the contamination of such information.

Raffles Was Once An Army Nuisance

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—Florida officers have the sympathy of R. W. Lankford, sergeant in the A. E. F. and who during his World War experience was jailed for Harry Sidmor, arrested and convicted at Miami, Fla., in connection with a half million dollar jewel theft.

"We had him in confinement on charges of desertion seven different times," recalled Lankford. "He was the smoothest individual I ever saw."

Lankford recognized Sidmor from pictures and newspaper accounts of $500,000 jewel robbery. He said Sidmor was taken into the army from New York, that once he broke a pair of handcuffs.

OWLS SHOW CLASS IN TAKING MEET

By BLONDY CROSS

SAN ANGELO.—The Reagan county independent school team (Big Lake Owls to you), sponsored by one Fladger Tannery and tutored by a gent known as Bob Nall, former Howard Payne College athletic star, figuratively arose to supreme heights Saturday afternoon in the annual district 18 track and field tournament staged on the San Angelo high school ward.

The Owls romped to a championship, the first district 18 title in the history of the Reagan county school. It was the second time in interscholastic league history that San Angelo had been beaten in a district track meet. They tell us that in the long ago, the Miles Bulldogs forged to a district 18 crown. The rest of the way San Angelo high school's Bobcats were the perennial leaders.

The Bobcats yesterday turned in a fair performance for the running events, but the Owls were tough in both track and field divisions.

Mr. Nall's Reagan county rambler ran up a total of 23 1/2 points on the field and 19 on the track for an aggregate of 42 1/2.

San Angelo finished second with a grand total of 32. The game Ballinger combination was third with 28 1/2.

Other team tabulations were Midland 13, Carlsbad 8, Lakeview 5, Winters 1, Eldorado 3, Sonora 3, Millsview 2, Paint Rock 2, Miles 2, Wall 2 and Veribest 1.

A young man named Guynes was somewhat the large gun in the Reagan attack. He knocked off a second in the 120-yard high hurdles (Clifton of Ballinger was first), took second in the pole vault (Bailey of Ballinger was first), nailed first in the broad jump, second in the high jump and was a member of the second-place relay quartet. His point total was 14 1/3 points.

White of Big Lake copped a first in the 220-yard low hurdles and a fourth in the pole vault.

Burke of Ballinger ran a neat mile race, taking the lead from the start and holding it all the way. He was threatened severely by Chudej of Wall on the next to last turn. Fries of Sonora, a quarter-miler running his first mile, was almost caught up. There is a possibility that had Fries started his sprint sooner the Ballinger boy would have lost out. Fries ran second. Fries, by the way, had tough luck in another event, being spiked and, so some of the grandstand tacticians said, being fouled. He didn't place in this number.

A Balanced Meet

The first hurdles were pretty well spread out. McMillan of Carlsbad took it in the 100-yard dash. The time was 10.2.

Delker of San Angelo won the 440 in 54.4. Delker captured the 220 sprint in 24 flat. He, also, ran the anchor with San Angelo's mile relay winning team.

McClothing of San Angelo socked away the 800 in 2:12.

Nelson of Big Lake pocketed the discus pitch with 115.3.

Jennings of Lakeview went up five feet 10 for the high jump laurels. The shot put went to Lee of Bethel with a 42.4 push.

Sherrod of Midland led the javelin tossers with 154 feet even.

120-yard high hurdles: Clifton (Ballinger), Guynes (Big Lake), Ervide (Millsview), Glover (Big Lake), 16.8.

100-yard dash: McMillan (Carlsbad), Nelson (Ballinger), Layne

(San Angelo), Coleman (Big Lake), 10.2.

Mile run: Burke (Ballinger), Fries (Sonora), Smith (Eldorado), Chudej (Wall), 4.59.

220-yard low hurdles: White (Big Lake), Bennett (Big Lake), Kincaid (Miles), Titus (San Angelo), 28.6.

440-yard dash: Delker (San Angelo), Nelson (Ballinger), Linthicum (San Angelo), Lee (Bethel), 54.4.

800-yard run: McClothing (San Angelo), Starke (Winters), Hardt (Paint Rock), Duncan (Big Lake), 2:12.

1200-yard dash: Delker (San Angelo), McMillan (Carlsbad), Bennett (Big Lake), Schuchard (San Angelo), 24.

1600-yard run: McClothing (San Angelo), Starke (Winters), Hardt (Paint Rock), Duncan (Big Lake), 2:12.

Mile relay: San Angelo (Schuchard, Hays, McClothing, Delker), Big Lake (Duncan, Bennett, Carr, Guynes), 3:40.6.

Discus throw: Nelson (Big Lake), Sherrod (Midland), Bambill (Big Lake), Bailey (Ballinger), 115.3.

High jump: Jennings (Lakeview), Guynes (Big Lake), Bailey (Ballinger), Glover (Big Lake), 5.10.

Respect Resolution Drawn up by Lodge

Resolutions of respect to a Brother Knight in the death of his father who died April the 7th A. D. 1933. Once again the Great Ruler of the Universe has called through death the father of our beloved Brother O. V. Kelley. He has finished his labors here on earth and gone to that beautiful Castle up above where pain nor sorrow shall come more. We all feel that his going was years ago and God in his wisdom knows best and has taken him to that beautiful home above.

Even death has a wonderful mission. Though it robs us of those we love it lifts our hearts from our surroundings. Too long for that meeting up above. He has taken his long journey On that beautiful ship called rest.

Away from this world of sorrow To a home of eternal rest.

Now therefore be it resolved that Midland Lodge No. 145 Knights of Pythias of this Grand Domain of Texas, in testimony of Brother O. V. Kelley's loss of his dear father, tender to him our sympathy and condolence in his sad hour and that he may look forward to the time when he is called to the river of death that he will meet his beloved one to part no more; and further be it resolved that we place a copy of these resolutions in his hands and a copy on our minutes of our next convention.

Tiffin Diagnoses Squeak in Machine Is Due to Rat with Tail Caught—He Once Repaired Machine for a Rebel

By BLONDY CROSS

A cash register developed a squeak, so the S. H. Kress company of El Paso sent for L. H. Tiffin, Midland "doctor of everything mechanical," and he found a mouse in the machine, his tail caught so that operation of the machine caused him a bit of exquisite agony.

That's one chapter in the life of one who has repaired typewriters, adding machines and other mechanical equipment, as well as being a locksmith and a gunsmith. Tiffin has plied his trades in Canada, the United States and Mexico.

He is one of few who can open any safe or lock, and has to his credit more than a score of minor inventions.

Tiffin laughs at some of the jabs people get into with locks. He had to remove a bath room lock once so a woman could get out of her bath. At another time he worked about a day and a half getting into a large establishment's reinforced vault after the old time lock apparatus had stopped in the vault. The clocks were old and stopped simultaneously. Tiffin had to burn his way through a foot of steel with a torch. He explained that the area of operation on the exterior was one square foot and that when he burned through the vault the operation area had narrowed down to a square inch. Successfully he worked on new scales and finally got into the vault, where he repaired the clocks and got the safe opened.

Once a man went with his gun to his garage. He thought someone was after some cured household appliance there. He managed to bungle the picketers that the legislature had passed in Pennsylvania and New England the milk war is ready to break loose.

Before the congressional committee these farmers, under the very dome of the capitol, talk of open rebellion as their choice rather than give up their homes. A group of congressmen undertook to explain to them that under the house rules which these new leaders have now adopted that the farmers' friends are helpless in the house to even offer an amendment to a bill. A farmer spokesman answered, "We care nothing about your rules. Get us action or don't come back to our districts." That statement was uproariously applauded by every farmer and woman present.

Don't fool yourself into thinking that they are not in deadly earnest. There is, however, hope in the farm situation for under the farm price fixing bill now under violent debate in both houses of congress, the price of dairy products could be promptly fixed by the secretary of agriculture.

As to conditions in other industries nothing is new. The iron and steel business is dormant, transportation is undergoing a combination of reorganization and bankruptcy. The insurance business is enjoying the luxury of a moratorium, several thousand banks are still closed and the oil business—well, you know about it.

Now as to the factors which will change this situation. Expectations of the administration has caused a further deflation in the purchasing power of the people. The administration knows it, everyone with even a little horse sense knows it. The higher expenses of government necessarily means decreasing purchasing power.

When 400 millions is lopped off veterans' relief it means that merchants, doctors, dentists, restaurateurs lose less about that amount of current business and that money in circulation shrinks accordingly.

Take for instance this capital city which is probably, on account of the federal payroll and a big public building program, the most prosperous in the country. Fifty million dollars are frozen in thirteen closed banks, ten million dollars was stripped from the district appropriation, some thousands have been removed from the payrolls, fifteen thousands more will follow and the wages of all remaining will be reduced 15 per cent. That means a higher burden than the small business man who was barely getting by can stand.

These deflationary processes that reach all the country, but in a lesser degree than here, were the necessary in order to balance the budget and thereby enable the government to borrow money at a lower interest rate. In other words, to sell bonds at a low interest rate and use the proceeds to rehabilitate the business of the nation.

The things which will help are the employment of 250,000 men in reforestation, but that is partly offset by the fact that the 200 million would substitute the Frazier 3 per cent mortgage bill for the administration's 4 1/2 per cent mortgage bill. In addition to changing the interest rate this group of farm congressmen want to provide for the direct issue of money for these mortgages instead of the sale of government bonds.

Farm Bill

The farmers argue that their lands furnish better security for the issue of currency than was required of the banks for a like issue of currency under the emergency bank act.

From this it can be seen that there will be much difficulty in reaching any satisfactory compromise on the bill.

Senator Black's six-hour day law is now practically assured passage with an amendment that will give large discretionary powers to the secretary of labor in its application.

The bill was not a part of the Roosevelt program but today the announcement has come from the administration that with the amendment giving wide discretion to the secretary of labor the bill will have its official support.

It had previously been announced by the house leaders that its consideration would be delayed until the end of the session. Today's change assures its passage.

As the reports come to the members of congress from every quarter that business still languishes or grows worse the demand for some kind of money inflation becomes more emphatic. Even the secretary of the treasury is beginning to take note of the continued deflation. He recently invited the members of the house and senate who had silver bills pending to a dinner for the purpose of getting their views on the silver question.

It is believed by many that some legislation on silver will be proposed from the White House during this session.

Editor's Note: The following is continued from Sunday, when space limitations did not allow of carrying all Mr. Hogan's answer to the query "Just What is the Business Outlook?" Opinions expressed are those of the writer.

If those states had not passed bills fixing a fair price for milk in five more days a practical state of war would have existed. Yesterday morning thousands of gallons were dumped in New York in the early hours before word could be sent the

'Hello Everybody' Is Fine Offering At Ritz Theatre

By BLONDY CROSS

Kate Smith, "Queen of the Air," stepped out from behind her microphone and made her local debut as a full-fledged actress yesterday at the Ritz theatre in "Hello, Everybody," her first full-length motion picture, based on a story written for her by Fannie Hurst. The film proves that Kate Smith is an actress as well as a singer. And it also proves to be an unusually excellent piece of entertainment.

In addition to a fine performance by Miss Smith, the film is distinguished by excellent work on the part of Randolph Scott and Sally Blane as the romantic leads. The picture closes its run at the Ritz today.

Coming to the Ritz Tuesday for three days is the "Liberty" Magazine's sensational all star story "The Woman Accused" brought to the screen from the magic pens of the world's ten greatest authors: Rupert Hughes, Gertrude Atherton, Vicki Baum, J. P. McEvoy, Zane Grey, Ursula Parrott, Vina Delmar, Polcan Banks, Irvin S. Cobb, Sophie Kerr, with Nancy Carroll, Cary Grant, John Halliday.

stricken with a throat ailment, and was ill for several weeks. He recuperated only in time to catch the Berengaria for home late in May. It was a dismal finish to his tour. One thing cheered him up just before the boat sailed. Governor Smith made a trip to the dock to shake hands with the distinguished visitor, and to wish him well.

While the Berengaria was bearing MacDonald across the Atlantic, a plane was carrying another passenger in the same direction. It was "The Spirit of St. Louis," and its pilot was Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

Jamboree Rules Come to Scouts

Boy scouts of Midland are making plans to attend the annual jamboree of the Buffalo Trails council, to be held at Big Spring on May 5 and 6. Rules and regulations for the jamboree were received in a letter from regional Scout Executive A. C. Williamson.

Says the letter:

It is planned for the jamboree to begin at 4 p. m. Friday, May 5, at which time troops on the ground may draw for camp locations, and begin with the setting up of their camps. No troop will be allowed to do any work on its camp prior to 4 p. m. This regulation is made in order to give out-of-town troops even start with Big Spring troops.

"Each troop will come prepared to set up its own camp and to cook two meals—supper Friday and breakfast Saturday. At least one tent should be brought by each troop. It could rain. (Note: A troop will not be graded off if it does not have a tent, but we strongly recommend that one be brought and set up.)

"Friday night we will have a big campfire program at which time each troop will be expected to pull a stunt, not over 3 minutes in length. Saturday will be devoted to contests between troops in the evening. A bulletin board and a free bulletin, Saturday noon a free dinner will be served by scouts and citizens of Big Spring.

"As was the case last year, no prizes will be given for individual events. Each troop will be classified according to the total number of points won, and a suitable award made to the troop."

MEXICO ANGLER'S PARADISE

SAN ANGELO.—Claude Aikman, vice president of the Cardinal Oil company, here still was hoarse Sunday from shouting, his associates said, whenever he caught a bass that tugged on his line like one weighing over a pound. In one day's fishing, Tuesday, in Don Martin lake on the Sabinas river, in Mexico, Aikman and George McKee, president of the Cardinal, got 200 fish. They threw back the majority, bringing home 47, of which 10 weighed over four pounds.

A dam on the Sabinas river, forming a lake that covers approximately 15,000 acres and irrigates a large area, provides the best fishing they have ever experienced, the oil men said. They cast with a shimmy-wiggler and strikes were most frequent above submerged mesquite trees where the water was 20 feet deep.

The Summer Kitchen, where the San Angelenos stopped, is 125 miles southwest of Eagle Pass and is reached through Aliende Rosita and Sabinas in four hours driving. It is only 75 miles west of Laredo. The dust storm that swept West Texas Wednesday extended into Mexico.

Film First to Show Complete Woman's Prison

By BLONDY CROSS

There have been prison pictures before, but the Warner Bros. picture, "Ladies They Talk About," starring Barbara Stanwyck, which shows at the Yucca theatre today, is the first to reveal life in the women's section in all its interesting phases.

The prison depicted in Barbara Stanwyck's picture is the San Quentin penitentiary of California. The story presents the actual prison experiences of the co-author, Dorothy Mackaye, the actress who was sentenced to San Quentin after the mysterious death of her husband a few years ago.

The technical advisor employed, who had also served time, was a woman of unusual intelligence, now married into a prominent family who undertook the task only on condition that her name could not be revealed.

In addition to its revelation of prison life, there is a stirring romance involving the infatuation of an evangelist for an attractive though hard boiled inmate, who had been sentenced for a bank robbery. Miss Stanwyck appears in the bandit role with Preston S. Foster, as the evangelist. Others in the cast include Lyle Talbot, Dorothy Burgess, Lillian Roth, Maude Eburne, Harold Huber and Ruth Donnelly.

Carlton Miles is the co-author with Miss Mackaye on the play which was adapted for the screen by Sydney Sutherland and Brown Holmes. It was directed by Howard Bretherton and William Keighley.
