BROKER'S TIP IS DERBY WINNER

Peggy McMath Kidnapers Held and Ransom Recovered

MASSACHUSETTS BROTHERS WILL BE TRIED MON.

Steady Questioning Of Father Made In Afternoon

HARWICH, Mass., May 6. (UP).—A $60,000 ransom paid for Peggy McMath, daughter of Neil McMath, Eastern financier, was recovered as the home of Kenneth Buck, who with his brothers, Cyril, is under arrest charged with kidnaping, extortion and being an accessory after the fact.

Arraignment will be made Monday in district court. Police say Kenneth made a confession implicating his brother but Cyril denies participation.

Important developments in the case were expected before nightfall, General Dannel Needham, state public safety commissioner, said as he and associates temporarily terminated questioning of Neil McMath, father of the child, and three other men earlier in the afternoon.

During the sixteen hour inquiry, William Lee, associate of the girl's father, became hysterical.

MEXICAN FOLK ENJOY HOLIDAY

Friday—Cinco de Mayo—was Fourth of July for people of Mexican extraction.

Not unlike their American neighbors, Mexicans observe the day with gala celebration, speech making, parades, dances, string instrument concerts, etc.

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, local Mexicans started their day of celebration with a morning rally. Many colorful events resulted, including a baseball game, speeches, and a battle dance.

Election of General D. Portirio Diaz in 1876 as president of Mexico was signal for intolerant government. General Diaz justified his "iron rule" by the claim it was necessary for good of the country and there could be no prosperity unless the people were so ruled.

In 1910 General Francisco Madero, father of the modern revolution, forced Diaz to resign. He was elected president but lost favor of the people he sought to aid because of his lenient policy. In a revolution headed by Felix Diaz he was deposed, imprisoned and finally assassinated.

General Huerta assumed title of president but his government got no recognition. Venustiano Carranza and Pancho Villa, calling themselves constitutionalists, murdered matters worse with a counter revolt.

Arrest of United States marines in Tampico in 1914, led Huerta into a controversy with America which resulted in occupation of Vera Cruz by marines. Mediators were agreed upon arbitration, but success of Carranza forced Diaz to flee.

Carranza was in turn unable or unwilling to stop depredations by Villa along the United States border, and President Wilson sent an expedition into Mexico after the elusive Pancho Carranza, however, was re-elected Mexican president and there was a growing conviction his government was increasing in solidity, when suddenly it crumbled.

Audacious control of spring elections in 1920 led General Obregon to march on the capital. Fear stricken Carranza fled on May 5. He refused escort from the country and was subsequently slain when his party was attacked by revolutionary bands.

Mexican congress appointed de la Huerta to head the government until Obregon was elected in the balloting of the same year.

Although engaging in lively controversies with other nations, Obregon had a fairly successful administration and secured recognition by United States, France and Great Britain.

CHILDREN NEED HELP

Children on charity are in dire need of school clothing and arrangements have been made to have a box placed in the Texas Electric Service company office so that anyone coming to town may deliver clothing at a minimum of effort.

TAME CATFISH

"Feeding the fishes" has been given a new meaning at the A. C. Francis place, south of Midland.

For the benefit of the incredulous, it may be explained that a 29-pound catfish swims to the surface of a ground tank and eats clabber milk from a spoon held by any member of the Stickey family.

The fish is believed to be the only domesticated one in the country.

Negroes' Attempt to Drive Spirits out Of Slain Negress' Room Starts Checkup

Newnie Ellis, mortuary surgeon, was checking up Saturday afternoon to see if any of his surgical instruments were missing, following a story that leaked out from Darktown's efforts to "drive the spirits" from the room where I. B. Sims, negress, was slain recently by her common law husband, Ed King.

Negroes went in a body to Ellis' mortuary to ask for a needle he uses to sew shrouds, explaining that it when hung in the room where the negress died the "hants would leave."

"I been trying to rent that room ever since I. B. Sims was cut to death," one negro said, "but every body is skeered of it."

"I wouldn't live in that room for nothin'," another negro said, "with the winders rattlin' and the blinds floppin'."

The quiet that overnight settled on the superstition-ridden quarters led to a story the needle was hanging in the room. Which precipitated Ellis' search

MIDLAND OPENS LEAGUE SEASON AT WINK TODAY

Midland opens the Permian Basin Baseball league this afternoon in a game with the Wink Oilers in the old Southern Crude park there.

Midland, despite the Indians' allowing the Sons of Montezuma Red Horses to deadlock a decision played here on Cinco de Mayo, does not appear to be the sluggish club that allowed Wink to wallop them 21-0 recently.

Manager G. O. Ragland, Wink skipper, says his outfit is satisfied with its improvement, however, and sees numerous chances of winning the pennant this year. He predicts a win for Wink this afternoon.

The ball will be tossed out at 3:30. Big Lake plays at Crane and Iran at McCamey this afternoon, completing the setup for the six-team league.

Pvotte invaded Wink last Sunday, but was sent home with a 10-1 defeat plastered to its hopes, Wink getting off with four runs in each of the first two innings, and chasing in two more in the sixth. The rest of the game was well contested.

Bill Mayfield, working on the mound the first six innings for Wink, allowed one hit and struck out nine batsmen. Lybrand, another hurler, finished and also allowed one hit.

Lewis and Lewis, brothers, worked for Pvotte.

Only one error marked Wink's day.

Bill Brown likely will get the twirling role for Midland, with Johnny Woody catching. Illness of Eob Estes likely will keep the big gun out of the lineup.

MIDLAND HORSE FIRST AT JUAREZ

Spence Jewell's bay thoroughbred stallion, Memorial Day, won the second race of the Juarez meet Friday afternoon, paying $4.40 to win, $2.70 to place and $2.20 to show.

El Paso newspapers said Saturday. Distance and time of the race were not given. Second winner was Florida Gold and third was Scotch Lassie.

Reports that George Keith, thoroughbred-owned by Gerald Bloss of Midland, had won first in a six furlong race Wednesday were not verified, as the meet was called off Wednesday and Thursday. The Midland gelding had been entered in the race, to carry 115 pounds.

SAND BELTERS 14 PTS. AHEAD

Odessa's Sand Belt Golf association card went to Big Spring the latter part of the week marked 16 points, to 24 for Sweetwater, which makes Midland 14 points ahead of the second-place Nolan county club, in case the cards are found correct.

Odessa won three individual matches and one law ball. Spot Forney, Myers and Will Henderson were the Odessa players who edged out the invaders.

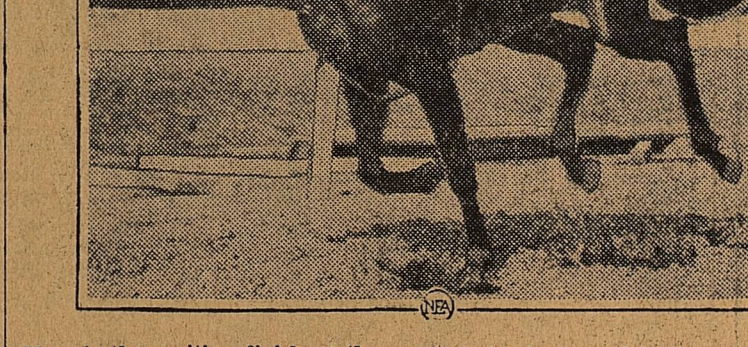

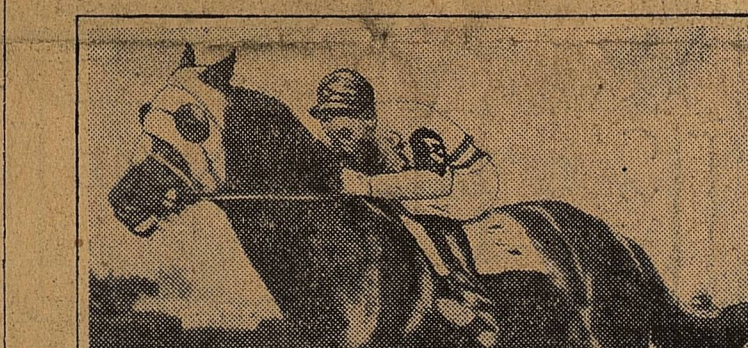

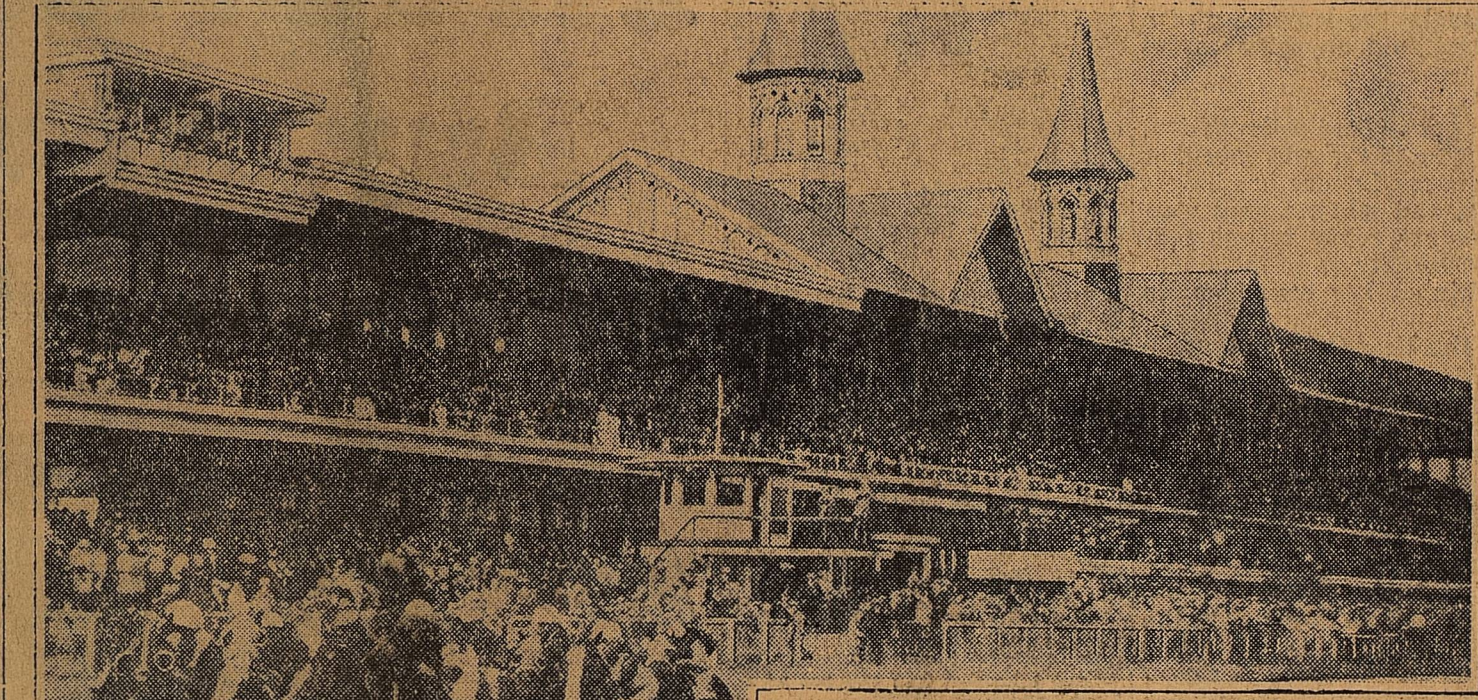

The revised standings thus stand:

Table with 2 columns: Team, Points. Midland 110, Sweetwater 96, Big Spring 94, Colorado 90, Lamesa 82, Snyder 82, Stanton 52, Odessa 40.

No Reforestation; Road Work Urged

Directors of the Midland chamber of commerce will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday night at 7:30. A resolution petitioning the congressmen from this district to use his influence to have part of the reforestation appropriation designated for road work in Texas, due to the slight need for reforestation in this state will be introduced. President M. C. Ulmer said Saturday if the directors came at 7:30 the meeting could be adjourned at 8 p. m.

Bradley Horse Wins the Derby

Here is the exciting finish of the mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby, the 59th running having been staged Saturday afternoon before 60,000 fans. Broker's Tip, the entry of Col. E. R. Bradley, kept the honors in Kentucky and paid 8 to 1 to his backers, while the W. R. Coe entry, Ladysman, failed to come to the front. Running almost head and head at the finish, Broker's Tip, Head Play and Charley O finished in the order named. Meet above, the new king of the turf, Col. E. R. Bradley's Broker's Tip, who won the Kentucky Derby Saturday afternoon in 2:06 4-5, the first race in

MISS HARRISON WILL BE FETED

Miss Dorris Harrison, Miss Midland, at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention in Big Spring next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, received letters Sunday from Miss West Texas and Miss Big Spring inviting her to a round of social affairs.

Miss Harrison plans to go to Big Spring Thursday morning to attend various social affairs of the day, and on Friday she plans to join the Midland chamber of commerce motortocade which will leave here at 1:30 p. m. The young ladies who represent the various West Texas cities are to be guests at teas, luncheons, dances, horse back rides and receptions.

EMPLOYES GET WAGES RAISED

WASHINGTON, May 6. (UP).—More than 2,000 employees of one leading men's wear manufacturing concern with four plants in New York state received an immediate salary increase of ten per cent today as result of President Roosevelt's recent appeal to the United States chamber of commerce, the White House announced.

NEW OFFENSIVE PLANNED BY JAPS

PEIPING, May 6. (UP).—Official sources, including Japanese, American and Chinese predicted today that a well organized spectacular offensive within a week by the Japanese army against Peiping, Kalgan and Tientsin, all inside the Great Wall, was planned.

The Chinese had completed the best possible defense and were awaiting the attack. Heavy fighting was in progress inside the Great Wall today near Shenhochen.

FLASHES TO WIN IN SENSATIONAL FINISH SPURT

Is Fourth Time Col. Bradley Has Won The Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6. (UP).—Broker's Tip, Colonel E. R. Bradley's three year old which never before had been entered in a race, won the 59th running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday afternoon as 60,000 fans cheered, getting the $50,450 purse and paying his backers eight to one.

Head Play, bought for $550 by Mrs. William Crump and trained by her husband to the extent that he was sold yesterday for $30,000 cash, plus fifteen per cent of the Derby winnings, was second.

Mrs. Robert M. Eastman's Charley O, beautiful black thoroughbred, was third and the future book favorite, W. R. Coe's Ladysman, was fourth.

Broker's Tip had been bred, trained and schooled for the derby by Col. Bradley, Kentucky's veteran Derby winner. The colonel had sent his Boiler Maker into earlier races but had withheld Broker's Tip from the limelight, only to let him flash before the stands in the world's great mile and a quarter event, placing his name on the lips of the nation. Time was 2:06 4-5.

Head Play, only a nose behind, had been sold yesterday to Mrs. Silas Mason of Kentucky.

Broker's Tip was ridden by Jockey D. Meade. Head Play by H. W. Fische, Charley O by Jockey Corbett and Ladysman by Sonny Workman, outstanding jockey who was riding his first mount in the Derby.

Field Well in Hand

The fourteen horses were brought from the saddling enclosure to the extreme end of the grandstand, then visible to the 60,000 spectators over a distance of a quarter mile. For the most part they walked quietly and easily, the best behaved group of Derby contenders seen in years.

Broker's Tip danced lightly and showed slight signs of nervousness as he passed the stands. When the horses, Charley O in front and Mr. Khayyam in the rear, marched single file in the order of their post positions past the crowds, several became more nervous as they passed a section in which music was being played.

However, they reached the starting stalls well in hand. They became more hot and excited as they reached the barrier and were led into the stalls, however.

Head Play Bolts

Head Play was first to bolt, jumping through the barrier and becoming fractious. Mr. Khayyam, on the extreme outside, was slow to go into his stall, and Dark Winter and Strideaway became somewhat fractious. Spicson also acted up.

Ladysman, the book favorite, Inlander, Good Advice and Charley O were quiet, stealthily watching for the barrier to be sprung. Dark Winter continued to be unruly and was placed on the outside by the starter. Charley O then jumped through. Mr. Khayyam quieted down and the entire field became comparatively quiet.

They're Off

"They're off!" The starter gave the signal, the barrier was sprung and the fourteen thoroughbreds clamored for the lead.

Good Advice and Isalah shot to the front and were setting the early pace, neck and neck. Ladysman was back. Kerry Patch began to move up and was third. Head Play was (See KENTUCKY DERBY, page 6)

CONSERVATIVES ISSUE STATEMENTS ONCE CONSIDERED AS REVOLUTIONARY

By T. S. HOGAN

WASHINGTON.—The hearing on the matter of an alcohol blend with gasoline, which was scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow.

These days are so crowded with measures of sweeping importance that it is impossible to keep up with the procession.

If one had the time he could attend interesting hearings from morning well into the night. In the hotels down town important conferences are the order of the day.

The town is full of the leaders of nearly every industry. There is universal recognition of the fact that the future of all business enterprises hinges on congressional action.

Today, among others, Walter Teagle of the Standard of New Jersey appeared before the committee on labor of the house in a hearing on the six-hour day. If you have any doubt of the great change in the spirit of the times you should listen in on some of the hearings. Views which used to brand the men who expressed them as dangerous radicals are now expressed and even enlarged on by the most conservative business leaders.

While Mr. Teagle had some minor objections to the six-hour day and thirty-hour week he was in general agreement with the proposed legislation. He favored a 32 hour week with enough flexibility in its enforcement so that in industries where there are rush seasons there might be a temporary increase in the hours. He suggested that an emergency be allowed to brand the legislation over a six month period provided the total of hours worked in each 26 weeks period did not exceed 32 hours per week, or a total of 832.

He also favored a minimum wage. He, in common with many other in-

AMERICA'S NEWEST WAR VESSEL

Nothing that a government can do is ever much more impressive than the launching of a great warship.

The accounts written by people who saw the new U. S. cruiser New Orleans put into the water at the Brooklyn navy yard recently all agree on that point. Pacifist and militarist alike confessed to a thrill of excitement at the mere sight of the great ship. Beauty and strength, grace and grim menace, combined in one black hull—such an occasion expresses the might and majesty of a nation as few things can.

Considered purely as a spectacle, the launching of a warship is one of the most striking affairs any government can put on.

And such a spectacle, too, is apt to lead a thoughtful man to muse on the uses of a navy, and the odd fate that attends most warships. For the years of peace are longer nowadays than the years of war, and when a new warship takes the water the chances are many to one that she will live out her career and eventually go to the scrapheap without once meeting a ship of her own class in actual battle.

Indeed, one writer who saw the New Orleans launched pointed out that in all our history no American line-of-battle ship has ever matched blows with a foreign battleship. In the war of 1812 it was the cruisers and gunboats that saw action; in the Civil War the fighting was largely with gunboats and shore forts; in the Spanish War the few American battleships that let off their guns let them off against cruisers; in the World War the American warships had nothing but submarines to fight.

But the queer part of it all is that this does not in the least mean that building these great warships is a waste of time. A navy that seldom fights can be quite as useful as one that fights all the time. It is a form of insurance; its mere existence prevents fights that might occur if it were small and weak.

The New Orleans may never fight. Even the least pacifistic of citizens probably hopes she never will. But she will serve the purpose for which we built her even if she doesn't. Simply because she exists, and is afloat and ready, she helps to defend us.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When the bank holiday and the electric current bills arrived simultaneously at Dighton, Kan., the situation was met by inviting patrons to call at the city clerk's office and have the bills marked "paid." The municipally owned plant had accumulated a surplus that made this gift possible. Thus Dighton probably is not only the first town to use the "electric dollar" in lieu of money, but also the first to have saved it up for a rainy day.

Whereas the average "life" of the modern dollar bill is from eight to nine months, a London collector has a bank note, on mulberry silk paper, issued by Kubla Khan 700 years ago. Just another bit of evidence that in the "good old days" money lasted much longer than it does now.

Among the other highly encouraging signs is the fact that many ex-service men have apparently come to the conclusion that they have mistakenly been placing the accent on the "ex."

Depression Brought Odd Advertisements

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UP).—Maybe it's the "depresshun." Anyway, the following appeared in the want-ad columns of a local daily: "Will swap rowing machine exerciser for wicker baby buggy." "Fuller brush set for baby scales."

Prices are advancing. Every day we receive notices of higher prices but in the face of this advancing market, Marshall Field & Co., the biggest merchandising organization in the world, is putting on, through more than three thousand retail stores in the United States, a Progress of Value sale that will feature Field Quality merchandise at prices that we sincerely believe you will never see again. The Town Quack

"band heah nevah."

You've all heard the old yarn about the fellow who was selling a mule and the mule accidentally walked into a post.

"That mule is blind," said the prospective buyer.

"No, he ain't blind. He just don't give a dern," said the seller.

Well, I heard the other day about a Midland farmer who bought a blind mule, knowing the mule was blind.

"Why did you do that?" asked a neighbor.

"I'd rather have a blind mule," he said. "He can't see how far he is traveling, consequently he never gets tired."

Over in San Angelo where the Concho runs, they have an ordinance against bathing within the city limits. John Howe, who attended the Rotary convention, didn't take a bath all time he was there.

I was always tender hearted, so you can imagine how I was put out one day when I saw Frank Roberts' suspenders break when he was running to catch a train.

This couldn't have happened in Midland, at least not in the stores which advertise in The Reporter-

Telegram. Most of them back up their advertising with good sales forces, thereby cashing in on the trade which is attracted to their stores. However, anybody can see the lesson from this clipping:

Over in Oklahoma, a publisher has been hearing a lot about hard times from his merchants. He decided to test the salesmanship of their clerks. So he gave $5 to each of his five employees and told them to go to the five stores and buy some small article. They were to buy a second article if the clerk suggested it, and to keep on buying until they had spent the $5, if the clerk kept making suggestions. The buyer made a leisurely round of examination and displayed his $5 bill in each instance, but the only one case out of the five did the clerk make any additional suggestions. The five purchasers returned $21.40 of the $25 they started out with.

Sent in: "I'm a housewife. And am I mad? I've got lots of work to do every day. Yesterday, my phone rang, and I had to listen to a spoken advertisement about cellophane prunes. And while I was listening to that chatter, the front door bell was rung by a man selling a combination can opener and sawmill. The next time a situation like that arises, I'm going to shoot two people, order my telephone disconnected, and buy three bulldogs. I'm sick and tired of being bothered that way."

Incessant Sentences Win Man Janitor Job

HELENA, Mont. (UP).—Jailed 24 times in less than a year, Ned Clark has decided to remain as a permanent occupant of the county jail, doing volunteer duty as a janitor.

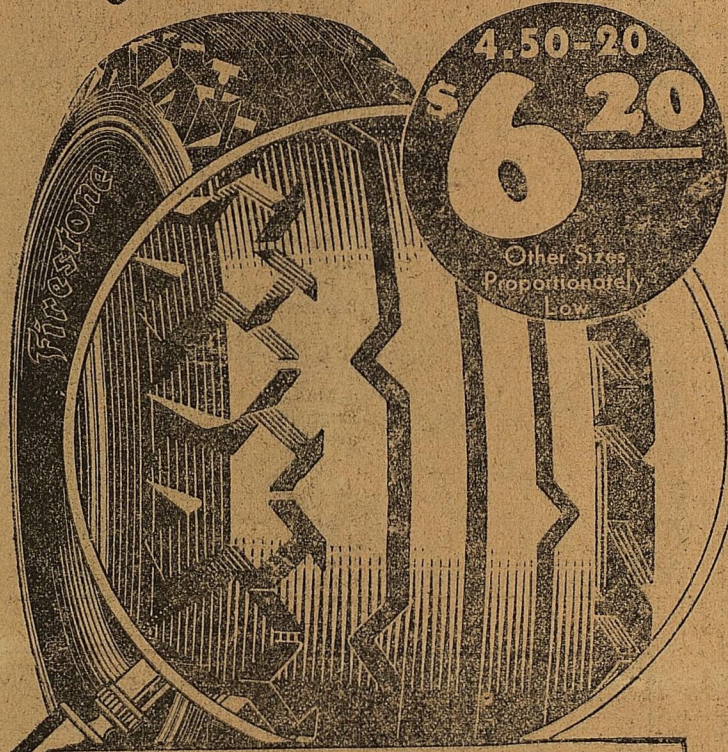

"I was born outside jail and raised inside—and the only thing better than honey is whiskey," Clark commented. "It's cold outside and the food inside is at least regular. I'd rather stay put."

The Vitamin C in strawberries is not destroyed by freezing.

More than fifty mills and special factories—making everything from Sheeting to Shirts and Hosiery to Hair Nets and the biggest merchandising organization in the world, Marshall Field & Co. is such an organization and beginning May 12th more than three thousand of the best stores in the United States are co-operating in a Century of Progress Sale featuring Field Quality Merchandise for the month of May. Ready-to-Serve League Planning Annual Banquet

The Ready-to-Serve Hi-League of the First Methodist church met last Tuesday night and made extensive plans for their annual banquet to be held at the assembly hall in the county court house on Friday, May 12th.

Ray Gwyn, sponsor of the league, reports that all committees have been appointed and are functioning very efficiently. Committees on program, menu, decoration, ticket preparation and sales were appointed.

Bessie Flournoy is president of the department and will be toastmistress of the banquet. Edwin Ferrell, vice-president; Betty Minter, secretary; Willie Mae Mercer, treasurer; Nell Hornsby, publicity director; Coren Stephenson, sergeant-at-arms; Melba Nixon, worship dept.; Buck West, missionary dept.; Doris Tidwell, recreation dept.; Mary Jane Walker, social service dept.; Ray Gwyn, sponsor.

The league has from two to three socials, either parties, picnics, hikes, kodaking parties or some other form of recreation, each month. They hold exceedingly interesting and instructive meetings each Sunday evening. The average attendance is twenty-five.

Plans are made to send at least three members to the annual assembly at Kerrville in July. Gwyn took two members last year.

SPRING AGAIN!

Get your Pontiac now and enjoy the thrill of a fine new car

Up out of the bog of stagnant business, pops Pontiac. Sales increasing every month. Ahead of last year.

Stop any Pontiac owner anywhere and ask him what he thinks of his Pontiac Economy Straight Eight. Ask any automobile man what the men in the business think of Pontiac.

Everywhere, there is the greatest enthusiasm ever accorded a Pontiac. Never in our history have so many owners written and phoned us to say how pleased they are with their new Pontiacs.

"Casey's Trial" Is Odessa Benefit

"Casey's Trial," a hilarious comedy with a variety of in-between-act song and dance specialties, is to be staged as a fireman's benefit at Odessa June 1 and 2.

Miss Ruth Norwood, representative of the producing company which staged the play at Midland and at Big Spring, will direct the presentation. Eugene Cody, fire marshal, and Morgan Neill, fire chief, are the Odessa men in charge.

"Casey's Trial" was recently presented in the Yucca theatre in Midland by the Women's Federated clubs to raise funds to entertain the district federation and the cast read like a Midland "Who's Who" with Clarence Scharbauer, W. W. Lackey, Addison Wadley, the Rev. Winston F. Borum, Judge Charles Klapproth, H. L. Haight, Judge Elliott Barron, Bob Preston, T. O. Midkiff, W. B. Elkin, Sam Preston, Walter Cowden, Claude Cowden, Roy Parks, Mrs. Paul Vickers, Mrs. De Lo Douglas and many others taking part.

Miss Norwood is a graduate of Simmons and the University of Texas and has had further study in the East. She has been engaged in directing amateur theatricals for the past three years, having worked two years in California, and also in the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Iowa. She will go to Odessa about the middle of May to start work on the production, bringing costumes and materials with her.

Intruder Held off By Gun Was Dummy

ABILENE, Texas (UP).—A bold intruder who dared to stand at the front gate of a farm home and stare while a farmer held him at bay with a gun turned out to be only a dummy when officers summoned by a frantic telephone call from the farmer's wife, investigated.

"Well, I'll be darned," said the man on the porch, "probably the one who put it there have robbed our smokehouse."

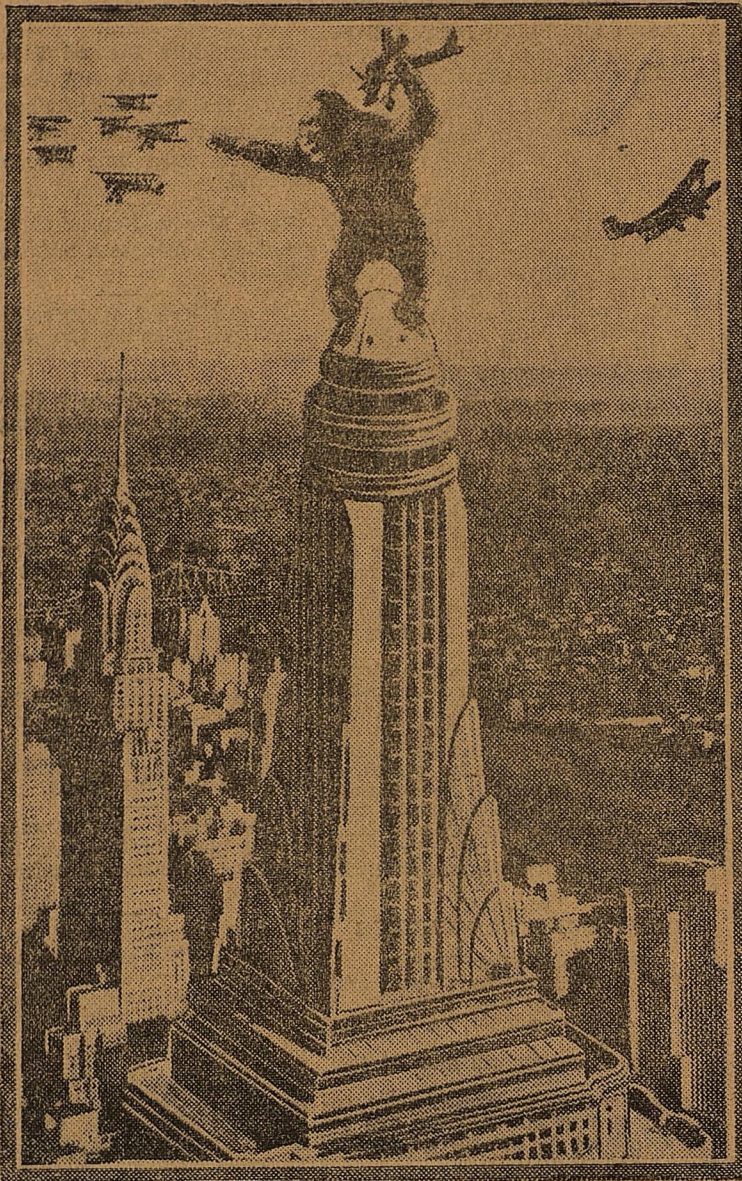

Nothing was missing.

At Bay Atop the Great Metropolis!

Epic climax from "King Kong," RKO-Radio melodramatic phantasy of a gigantic primitive ape which shows at the Yucca opening today. The picture is one of the most sensational ever to be released from film laboratories and is certain to thrill audiences.

A double quantity of meringue will result if a teaspoon of cold water is added to the white of an egg before beating.

Stains on ivory knife handles can be removed by rubbing with a cut lemon which has been dipped in table salt.

"So This Is Africa!" Best Wheeler Woolsey Comedy Playing at the Ritz

"So This Is Africa!" latest Wheeler-Woolsey contribution to the screen, is the African picture to end all African pictures. These merry gentlemen reveal more secrets about the great continent than the natives of said continent know themselves. And last night's preview audience at the Ritz theatre, where the picture is a three-day feature, just sat and roared at the nonchalant manner in which this famous laugh team invades the wilds for big "dame" hunting.

There has never appeared on any screen that this reviewer knows of a scene so funny, so utterly satirical and so entertaining as the picture of Wheeler and Woolsey (the latter disguised as a woman) trying to hide from a tribe of 100 stalwart Amazon women who are bent upon making one of these comedians marry her. If there were nothing more in "So This Is Africa!" to commend it to audiences, this one scene would justify a visit to the Ritz theatre.

As far as story goes, "So This Is Africa!" is imaginative, to say the least. What happens to Wheeler and Woolsey as they leave America and dissolve into the interior of the dark belt would be difficult to match in actual life. Which is well, for if Wheeler and Woolsey had the burden of an utterly realistic plot to carry along, the wild humor of "So This Is Africa!" would be completely lost.

Particularly pleasing are the side-swipes of satire that Columbia has delivered in this comedy against the succession of thrilling and adventurous wild animal pictures that have flooded our screens.

Raquel Torres looks more charming than ever she did in "Aloha" or "White Shadows of the South Seas." Henry Armetta, Eddie Clayton and Spencer Charters stand out for fine performances. The rest of the cast, Tarzans, Amazons, lions, and a chorus of beautiful girls make appropriate decoration.

Horse Thieves Get Sentences

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP).—The old days of horse thievery have returned to the Ozark region. The retribution of a "hoss thief" in by-gone years was hanging, but now justice gives jail sentences. Two young boys rode to a dance at a farm, tying their saddled steeds outside. On returning the boys found their mares had vanished.

A search resulted and three men were arrested and charged with grand larceny.

Haag Third in State Finals

Merwin Haag was third in the finals of state declamation for boys and Melba Lee lost after one judge had ranked his first and another second, according to a telegram Saturday from Capt. W. W. Lackey, in Austin with students competing in the State Interscholastic league.

Mary Margaret Mann was fourth of a total of 43 in typing, and only two schools were ahead of Midland in home economics showing, the superintendent's wire continued.

Midland was first in the state to win a Singer sewing machine, the highest honor possible in that competition, the wire concluded.

Mary Lou Turner and Elizabeth Lawrence, Abilene, winners respectively of the state interscholastic typing and shorthand contests, established new records in both events. Miss Turner averaged 76 words per minute in typing and Miss Lawrence scored 99 per cent on reception and transcription of dictation.

Dallas Editor Says Confidence Mounts

A gradual restoration of business confidence is being felt in the Southwest, according to John E. King, managing editor of The Dallas News, visiting with Mrs. King in Midland over Saturday.

Mrs. King is a sister to Mrs. M. E. Stolz, associated with the Mid-West clinic since April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. King will return to Dallas tonight.

The editor pointed out that clearings in Dallas two weeks exceeded by more than $2,000,000 the week before, and that confidence is daily expressed in the turnover of commodities and goods.

83 AIRPLANES LAND AT PORT OVER SATURDAY

Eighty-three government airplanes landed at Sloan field Saturday, to make for attendants the busiest day in the history of the port.

All were bound for the west coast and the spring exercises of the flying forces. The entire personnel had luncheon, ordered their ships to be serviced, then took off for the westward.

Only two planes reported trouble. Capt. Robinson, flying an A-3, having to set down outside Dallas and wait for a Hensley mechanic to repair his magneto; and a Keystone bomber landing at Fort Worth because of low oil pressure. Both planes came on to Midland after repairs.

Capt. Wood led seven transports of the 8th pursuit group from Langley field to Midland, flying here from Hensley field, Dallas, arriving at Midland at 1:15 and taking off for El Paso Bliss field, at 2:15. The flight was to spend the night there. Lieut Steel took off with two A-3's after being detained here with magneto trouble to one ship after landing Friday.

Capt. Johnson, commanding a flight of 30 B-6's (Keystone bombers) with 32 officers and 102 enlisted men, landed at 12:45 from Hensley field, Dallas, and departed for El Paso at 1:37.

Col. Curry, commanding the air corps tactical school at Maxwell field, Ala., led a flight of three bombers, 15 two place ships, three transports and 12 pursuit planes to Midland, landing at 10:15 a. m., and taking off for El Paso at 12:45.

Announcement was made that field attendants will dismantle the Fokker C-14 that crashed in landing last week, beginning Monday. All parts that can be salvaged will be saved. Disposition of the rest has not been ordered.

The total air craft to land at Midland since Wednesday is 154, exclusive of naval, commercial and private planes. All were serviced.

Services Continue During This Week

Revival services at the Assembly of God church will continue through this week, and will be held each night, according to Evangelist and Mrs. Bill Keller.

Some of the sermon subjects for this week are: "Signs of the Times," "The Early Coming of the Lord," "The Anti-Christ and Who He Is," "Mark of the Beast" and "Manifestations of God's Spirit in the World Today."

All subjects are dealt with carefully and with scriptural proof.

The church is located at 505 South Weatherford.

All are invited to attend.

Bill Would Alter Sessions Slightly

Rearrangement of judicial court districts in this section of the state has passed the senate at Austin. The bill has been sent to the house.

The redistricting bill changes the arrangements in the 70th, 32nd and 109th districts, and was introduced by Sen. Wilburn B. Collier.

Midland county, under the proposed changes, would have a four weeks term beginning on the eighth Monday after the first Monday in January; four weeks term beginning on the twenty-seventh Monday after first Monday in January; four weeks term beginning on sixth Monday after first Monday in September of each year.

Horses Beat Red Men Cinco de Mayo

The Mexican Red Horses continued their winning streak Friday in their Cinco de Mayo celebration by defeating the Midland Indians by a 9-8 score. The final score should have been called 9-9, due to the scorekeeper missing one of the Oiler runs; however, to save argument, all concerned agreed to call the game 9-8.

The Indians outbit the Horses 14-11 but their poor defensive play gave the game to the Mexicans in the fifth inning when the pepper-men made five hits count for seven runs. Again it was the Indian infield that was the main losing factor as they made no less than nine errors.

Roderick pitched the entire game for the losers while Chino and Long toiled for the winners. Cook for the Indians and Solomon for the Mexicans caught the whole game.

Attend Child Welfare Meet

The community's responsibility in the rehabilitation of the delinquent child with recourse to training institutions only as the last resort, was emphasized in a regional child welfare conference at San Angelo Friday.

Attending from Midland were the Rev. W. J. Coleman, former County Judge M. R. Hill, Mrs. George T. Abell, Mrs. Addison Young and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, county public health nurse.

Miss Alice Scott Nutt of the Children's bureau at Washington spoke on the country's obligation to the delinquent child.

Health Board to Meet on Monday

The Midland county health board will meet Monday evening to hear reports of a milk and butter survey committee which has spent several weeks in getting together data.

These reports were to have been given last week, but were delayed.

The Rev. W. J. Coleman is chairman of the committee.

Episcopal Church Services Tonight

Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, bishop of the North Texas Missionary District will come to Midland tonight at 8 o'clock to hold services at Trinity chapel. Reverend Seaman, whose headquarters are at Amarillo, has visited in Midland several times.

He will come here from Big Spring, where he will conduct a service this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Jno. P. Butler, Mrs. Joe L. Crump and David Blevins will attend from Midland.

CO2 Leases Sell For $39 Per Acre

Prices for carbon dioxide gas leases in Torrance county, N. M., are ranging as high as slightly above the $39 per acre. Addison and Sadie Wetherell sold the N 1-2 of sec. 80, 8-9 to the New Mexico Carbon Dioxide Development company for $125,000 and will receive annual rentals of $12,500. The company also agreed to begin the manufacture of dry ice within six months.

Hogan

dustrialists, recommended that the bill be extended beyond its present inter-state commerce limits and take in all labor except farming and domestic service.

He and other witnesses were asked the specific question: "Do you think the several industries can work this out by agreement among themselves or is legislation necessary to accomplish this purpose?" His answer was that there is no chance for industry to work it out by agreement and that legislation is absolutely necessary; that a small and unreasonable minority in any industry would defeat the efforts of the majority by unfair competition through employing their workers long hours at cheap wages.

Many other leaders testified to the same effect. The manager of the largest textile industry company in New England made a profound impression on the committee by his testimony concerning the type of competition which a liberal employer labor is forced to meet. His company pays the highest wages of any textile plant in the world and must meet in competition goods from plants working as much as 60 hours per week at cheap wages. He pointed out that it was impossible for the textile industry to get anything like unanimous agreement on short hours and reasonable wages and that the question could only be settled by legislation.

Incidentally, Mr. Teagle brought out a point not generally considered and that was that some millions of the unemployed are not laborers formerly employed in industrial plants, but are from such occupations as bank clerks, store employees, stenographers, nurses, professional people, etc.; that direct employment in industrial plants even if restored to normal would not absorb this type of workers. He therefore urged the shorter work day in all these occupations. His experience in connection with the spread-the-work movement of which he was chairman, convinced him of the need of government control.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, after a conference with the president, announced to the press that the six day legislation would not be acted on this session but would go over until next January. If that is correct it means that the administration has decided to ditch the measure permanently. It is also reported that an effort will be made to end this session of congress around June 1, so that the president can attend the World Economic Conference in London. That report has spread contention here as the great majority think such a course would be as disastrous as it was to Wilson.

Sensational Finish

Charley O began moving up. Broker's Tip swung into action. Down the back stretch they battled. Round the curve they held their positions. They reached the home stretch. Charley O and Head Play were battling it out. Broker's Tip moved up. He moved still further up. It was a breath taking finish, with Charley O, Head Play and Broker's Tip apparently running head and head, nose and nose. It was not until they passed the judges stand, that the result was known.

Broker's Tip had barely nosed out Head Play and the Crump horse was barely ahead of Charley O.

Bradley's Fourth

The stands, according to custom, went wild. Col. E. R. Bradley again was owner of the turf king, it being his fourth time to run a Derby winner. Last year when his Burgo King won the classic, Col. Bradley set a record as no previous owner had won the Derby more than twice.

"I expected Broker's Tip to win," was the colonel's brief statement when called to the microphone.

Jockey D. Meade then was presented the wreath and was called to the microphone.

"I am glad I won the derby and it was because I had the best horse," he said.
