THREE RACE PLANES CRACK UP

No Formal Currency Stabilization Agreement Planned

JAKE THE BARBER KIDNAPED UNDER GUNS OF HIS ESCORT

SWINDLER'S SON ONLY RECENTLY WAS ABDUCTED

$200,000 Ransom Is Reported Asked By Hoodlums

CHICAGO, July 1. (UP)—John (Jackie the Barber) Factor, known on two continents as a multimillionaire stock broker and super swindler, was kidnaped while returning from a night club with his wife and his son, Jerome, early today. Attorney A. L. Epstein and others looked on. Police believed the famed Touhy gang to be his abductors, the most vigorous racketeers since Capone, who were reported to be demanding ransom of $200,000. The thugs were riding in three cars, surrounded by Factor automobiles. They yanked Factor out from under protection of guns and fled. Capone aids who worked to free Jerome Factor from his abductors two months ago were mysteriously missing. Gale Gilbert, Factor attorney, was known to be checking for securities as possible ransom made.

PUBLISHER TO REPRESENT WT CC AT CAPITAL

Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and a man of vast influence in Washington, will represent the West Texas chamber of commerce in pleas of county officials, cotton control committees, chambers of commerce and farmers for the privilege of controlling cotton acreage in the dry counties of West Texas. Carter will join C. T. Watson, Senator Arthur P. Duggan, and A. B. Davis in the petition to Secretary Wallace to include the counties of West Texas in the crop acreage abandonment plan.

NEGRO ADMITS SHOOTING GIRL

DALLAS, July 1. (UP)—R. T. Bennett, 25, negro, confessed shooting Sam G. Lanford, policeman, Thursday night, as the December 1 slaying of Mrs. H. K. Buchanan, pretty blonde film exchange official, as well as to be delivered at the postoffice in Midland for two cents instead of three. However, mail going further than Midland will still take three cents.

Postal Rates for County Changed

Letters mailed in Midland to be delivered on the Midland county rural route will cost only two cents for postage instead of three. Postmaster John P. Howe said Saturday. Rural route people may mail a letter to be delivered at the postoffice in Midland for two cents instead of three. However, mail going further than Midland will still take three cents.

SULPHUR PRODUCTIONS

Sulphur production at the rate of 150 tons daily is expected to begin shortly in Sandoval county, N. M., on deposits near the Jemez river. The New Mexico Acid company was organized to develop the deposits and a new refinery is planned. The plant will employ from 40 to 80 men.

Col. True Back In This Paper

Col. True, the journalist who plays in the hinterland around the truth, but who, after all, is responsible for the world's realization in these bad times that opportunity lies on every hand, and so do a lot of people, makes his return today to the editorial page of The Reporter-Telegram, with which newspaper he is associated. The journalist is Duard E. Scott and his column, which will be run each Sunday, is being syndicated in three states. Write your "vars" to him and see how he publishes them above the more inflated ones he tells. He will send you a card that makes you a member of his Amalgamated Society of Bull Testers.

Street Parade Advertises Lions July 4th Race Meet

Elsie Larsen is moviedom's latest Cinderella. A waitress in a popular rendezvous of film folks, she was noticed by a director, given a screen test. Now she's right in the Hollywood swim.

TWO WOMEN SLUGGED, THROWN FROM A CAR

Thrown from an automobile, apparently after being slugged, an unknown woman lies gravely injured in a Midland hospital, and another woman, too hysterical to shed any light on their identities, where they live or the names of their assailants, was also admitted to emergency. (See WOMEN SLUGGED, Page 6)

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE SELECTS MIDLAND TO CENTER NEW DISTRICT

Tentative plans for establishing Midland as the center of a new district for district eliminations for the interscholastic league of Texas, were approved Saturday when Henderson & Bedichek company, as they are known throughout the league, came to Midland for a conference with Supp. W. W. Lackey, superintendent of the Midland system. Upon the revised plans, Martin, Andrews, Ector, Winkler, Loving, Crane, Upton, Reagan, Glasscock and Midland counties will meet here for all interscholastic events with the exception of basketball, for which Midland is not equipped. Midland's lack of a gymnasium brought the only criticism of the school system from the state officials one of which is head of the league, the other head of the athletic division of it. When told plans for a $75,000 gymnasium are being considered here, the proposed building to be erected on a self-liquidating basis

A street parade Saturday afternoon—a motley assembly made up of a 30-piece band under direction of Thomas Inman, pretty girls, racing and roping mounts and a long string of automobiles—wound through Midland streets and brought cheer to large street crowds. The fact that the July 4th program at Cowboy park will be the finest planned here in several years. Few of the racing and roping horses were in the parade, owners of racing stock, especially, desiring to keep them off the pavement. The parade was formed in front of The Reporter-Telegram office, stock assembled at the Town Quack hitching rack. The band played several numbers and a crowd quickly assembled. The parade was continually being halted so the band might play numbers where the crowds blocked the street and sidewalk. Two other parades will be held Tuesday, a concert will be played at 10:30 that morning on the court house lawn, and one on the streets at one o'clock that afternoon.

TRIM FULLY FIXATES MUCH ATTENTION

Interest in the quarter mile race was increased when bystanders saw Leonard Huff's bay mare, Boots, in the parade Saturday afternoon. Ridden by Jockey D. Mayfield, the trim pony drew comment and approval from all sides. Huff plans to run the mare in both the quarter and the three eighths races. If her condition continues favorable. Goat ropers who appeared in the parade Saturday went on to Cowboy park where workouts are held morning and afternoon each day. Arthur Holder's time of 13 seconds for roping and tying a goat Friday afternoon indicated that he will be a strong contender for the money Tuesday afternoon. He is a younger brother of Allen Holder who competes with world champions.

RACE ENTRIES TO CLOSE TUESDAY MORNING

Entries in the races will close Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, according to the secretaries, George Underwood, Joe D. Chambers and Harry L. Haight. A program will be issued immediately afterward for the convenience of spectators. Goat ropers also will pay their entrance fees to Underwood prior to that hour, receiving passes to the gate. Bronc riders are requested to see their Marshal Lee Haynes for details, the committee secretary.

Probable starters in the first race, a quarter mile free for all, were given Saturday as Netherlin's Moonshine, Huff's Boots, Barber's Blue, Cook's Clara Bow, Crabbs' hot mare; two entries from Big Spring, Christian's Churney and Cole's Barney, also a paint mare owned by Dub Hull of Stanton.

The next event will be the quarter mile race for kid ponies. Entrance fees in the race will be divided according to agreement of riders. Those desiring to enter are asked to report at The Reporter-Telegram Monday.

HALF MILE RACE CAUSES INTEREST

The half mile free for all race, the longest event on the program, throws two well-known horses in the field, L. E. Cook's Blue, Cook's Clara Bow, Crabbs' hot mare, owned by Webb Christian of Big Spring. Final decision to bring Quickstick here had not been announced Saturday but it was expected. T. Paul Barron's Pasajero and Ben Netherlin's Schoolgirl also (See HORSE RACES, Page 6)

THE PROGRAM

- Do you know a bargain when you see one? Consider then the attraction at Cowboy park Tuesday afternoon, proceeds of which go to the Lions club fund for eye glasses for children who cannot afford to buy them. Pay 50 cents for a seat in the grandstand, help the cause and enjoy the program which, intermixed with humorous events, follows:
  - 2 p. m.—Goat roping and bronc riding.
  - 3 p. m.—Races.
  - 1. Quarter mile free for all. Feature race—clowns.
  - 2. Kid pony race—quarter mile.
  - 3. Clown musical ride.
  - 3. Half mile event free for all.
  - 3. 20-minute donkey polo game between Lions and Rotarians.
  - 4. 300-yard Jolly Bean race.
  - 100-yard special matched burro race between Frank Stubbeman and Offie Walker.
  - 5. Three-eighths free for all.

ROOSEVELT IS INTERESTED IN EXCHANGE PLAN

Banks May Restrict Fluctuation on Exchange

COMPOBELLO Island, July 1. (UP)—President Roosevelt emphasized today that the United States had declined to enter any formal currency stabilization agreement at the world economic conference, although it was understood that the president does not object to action by central banks to restrict exchange fluctuations. The president was said to be considering the immediate problem of international exchange as one for central banks rather than for governments to settle. He said before boarding the U. S. S. Indianapolis for Washington that no formal agreement had been entered at London after communicating with American delegates. He changed his plans to arrive at Washington Tuesday.

TELEGRAMS PLEAD COTTON SUPPORT

Telegrams were sent Henry C. Wallace, United States secretary of agriculture, Saturday by a group of farmers and by the Midland chamber of commerce, county control committee, and John S. Andrews, field supervisor of the crop production loan office, asking for a good hearing for the committee set by 15 dry Texas counties, in Washington Monday. The wires from Midland pleaded for relief for the farmers through permitting them to plow up acreage, which many will plant as late as July 15.

Salt Works Mgr. Here on Business

Max Omo, manager of the Crane salt works was in Midland Saturday seeing ranchers. Omo says he is taking salt by evaporation process on the salt lake 15 miles southwest of Crane City. He built terraces and pumps the salt water into these to evaporate by a solar process. He says the salt is about 98 per cent pure sodium chloride.

Highway Confusion Cleared at B'Spring

BIG SPRING—Minor points of confusion existing between the county commissioners court and the highway department have been cleared. Both the commissioners and the highway dept. have been cleared, to the attitude of the other on the route taken by highway No. 1 east and west, especially the former.

Mild protests by the commissioners were interrupted by the department as hospitality to the route. Judge H. P. Deady and the court explained their attitude was one of watching out for taxpayers interest, but which would want the highway in the final analysis.

ROTARIANS AND LIONS TO PUT THE CROWNING TOUCH ON JULY 4 FETES

Rotarians say they will score 30 runs in their playground ball game with the Lions Tuesday evening, a game that is planned to top off the July 4th program here. A check-up shows that is one run for each Rotarian—and the check-up evidently shows that is what is intended for every Rotarian will play, according to Co-Captains Joe Fyron and Coffey Hiett. The Lions heard of the arrangement, and have arranged to do likewise, juggle the lineup by innings so that every member will be required to play. The Rotary club will fine each member 25 cents if he is not on the grounds and ready to go. Proceeds, as in the case of the race meeting sponsored by the Lions, will go to the Lions fund for paying for eye glasses supplied poor children.

Italo Balbo . . . 'Hard Man'

WHO is Gen Italo Balbo who's leading Italy's air armada of 24 seaplanes from Rome to the World Fair at Chicago? . . . He's only 37. . . He is regarded as "right-hand man" to Dictator Benito Mussolini. . . With Mussolini he was one of the four founders of the present Fascist party in Italy. . . With Mussolini he led the famous march on Rome. . . Balbo is feared and respected as one of Europe's "hard men." . . . He is the potent boss in his local district, Ferrara. . . His air exploits, particularly group distance flights, have won him so much prestige that he is looked upon as Mussolini's possible successor should anything happen to the dictator. . . Chosen by Il Duce to make Italy airplane-minded, General Balbo has developed the nation's air force into one of Europe's finest, both in equipment and personnel. . . His group flights to European points was climaxed by the flight on 11 planes to Brazil. . . Balbo leading 115 men to America in the most ambitious mass flight yet attempted. . . He's an expert mechanic. likes to get his flying suit greasy, is adored by his men.

TRAGEDY RIDES TAIL OF ITALIAN ARMADA, AND ONE PLANE CRASHES IN LANDING; ONE MECHANIC DEAD

AMSTERDAM, July 1. (UP)—Italy's giant air armada of 24 planes landed after the first leg of its flight today with one mishap.

The Reporter-Telegram was informed by Mackey radio, through courtesy of Postal Telegraph, that the seaplane Undini capsized in an attempted landing. The pilot and commander, badly injured, were saved by two Dutch marine cadets, along with the crew, with the exception of a mechanic, whose body has not been discovered. He presumably suffocated in mud and shallow water of approximately one foot depth. He was in the lower part of the plane when it struck water.

It was announced that departure of the armada from here will be postponed until after the funeral for the mechanic.

The Italian squadron, under command of General Balbo took off from Orbetello, near Rome, at 5:40 (Italian time). After two hours and 15 minutes of regular navigation, they reached the Spilza pass. From there they went to Basile, Switzerland. From Basile, they crossed the Rhine, reaching here at 11:40.

The first part of the cruise was characterized by good weather and a cloudless sky. The Alps were crossed by compass because they were obscured. The last part of the cruise down the Rhine from Coblenz to Amsterdam was marked by low clouds and a moving atmosphere.

RENEWED DRILLING

Renewed drilling activity in the Loving county area is seen in announcement of a new location 1650 feet from the west line and 330 feet from the south line of section 92, block 1, W. & N. M. survey. This well, the Bill Little No. 1, Reagan and McElvain has a contract depth of 4,300 feet.

Two Etex Fields Says Geologist

AUSTIN, July 1. (UP)—J. Earl Erown of Fort Worth, petroleum geologist, declared before the railroad commission today that East Texas actually has two fields. In supporting the application of the Wemack Oil corporation, the plea said the southern part of Rusk should be a separate field. The pool would include 2,000 acres, free from production restrictions of the East Texas field. Lon A. Smith, commissioner, indicated that there would be no decision today.

Dallas Visitors Here Saturday

J. Ben Critz, executive vice president and general manager of the Dallas chamber of commerce, and Henry W. Stanley, manager of the trade extension division, visited Midland friends while en route to El Paso for a few days visit. Critz will address a meeting of the Juarez chamber of commerce, Stanley is doing some work in interest of the Southwestern School for Secretaries to open in Dallas July 23.

ROSCOE TURNER LEADS WEDDELL TO ALBUQUERQUE

Amelia Earhart Only Contestant in Women's Class

By United Press Colonel Roscoe Turner was leading the Bendix air race from New York to Los Angeles today after refusing in a forced landing east of Indianapolis. Trailing him was Jimmy Weddell who refused in four and a half minutes at Wichita, Kas., and streaked westward to possible non-stop. Russell Scarborough, trans-Atlantic flyer, was seriously injured, with possible skull fracture, when his plane crashed from fifty feet at Indianapolis. Lee Gehlbach of Patterson, La., was out when his plane wrecked in a forced landing east of Indianapolis. An hour earlier Russell Thaw, son of the famous Harry Thaw, crippled his ship by wrecking a wing in landing at Indianapolis, thus grounding three of five contestants. Amelia Earhart, only woman contestant in the ladies division, cleared St. Louis before 9 o'clock this morning saying she was not refueling until her gas was low. All flyers cleared New York this morning expecting to cross the country in 12 hours.

BUSINESS WILL SHUT DOWN FOR TUESDAY RACES

All business houses of the city will be closed Tuesday to celebrate the July 4 cruise conducted Saturday showed. Most business men and their clerks plan to celebrate the day by attending the big horse races at Cowboy park. Some few will go to other cities, but the big bargain of events at Midland has induced most of them to remain at home, as a better home show, they say, is offered for the money than anywhere else within 150 miles of Midland. Housewives will be busy Monday laying in supplies of groceries, meats, etc., in preparation for the one-day close-down.

Pollution from Pits Is Ended

Cooperation of oil companies in those areas of the Permian basin where slush pits drain into streams has completely ended water pollution with the consequent killing of fish, according to T. E. Sammons, game warden with headquarters at Midland.

The oil companies have gone to extra expense to build dams in Howard, Winkler, Upton and other counties whose overflow waters go into the Conchos and Pecos rivers, to end the liability of stream pollution, Sammons says. In some cases, the oil companies have drilled holes in the bottom of slush pits, so the oil would flow through subterranean strata, purging itself before entering surface streams.

LOW COST FARM RELIEF

Mr. Average Citizen will doubtless hope that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was right when he said that the maximum processing taxes on wheat, called for under the government's current acreage reduction plans, should not increase the retail price of bread by more than a half a cent a loaf.

Secretary Wallace is quite right in pointing out that bread costs do not always follow the price of grain. A loaf of bread, as he remarks, often costs more when wheat prices are low than it does when they are high.

If the government is able to increase the price received by the farmer for his wheat without at the same time making the ordinary citizen pay more for his bread, it would seem the biggest single obstacle in the way of the new farm relief plan will have been removed.

OUR NEW DIPLOMACY

Action of the government and revolutionary factions in Cuba in agreeing to accept U. S. Ambassador Sumner Welles as a mediator of Cuban political difficulties indicates that there are more ways than one of intervening in a troubled Latin-American situation.

For many months it has been common knowledge that the Cuban situation was highly explosive, and that some sort of outside action would be necessary before the trouble could be smoothed out.

The traditional way to settle things would have been to send down a cruiser or two, land a flock of marines, throw all protesting Cubans in the jug—and, incidentally, arouse a lot of Latin-American ill will.

This way seems to be just as effective and lots pleasanter. One ambassador, empowered to take decisive action and gifted with a bit of tact and insight, seems about as good as a battalion of marines.

SPANISH JUSTICE

It must have made an American a little bit melancholy to read the other day that Don Juan March Ordinas, the richest man in all Spain, has just completed a year in jail. This wealthy Spaniard, it develops, was a deputy of Cortes, and he was accused of bribing General Primo de Rivera, former dictator, to obtain Moroccan tobacco monopolies in 1926; and all his millions couldn't keep him out of jail.

Spain seems to have a different method of dealing with such folk than we have. In the United States when some wealthy man bribes a high government official, we do a lot of talking about it, and we even make the wealthy gentleman come into court—but we don't, ordinarily, even come close to sending him to prison. It might be worth our while to find out how Spain does it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

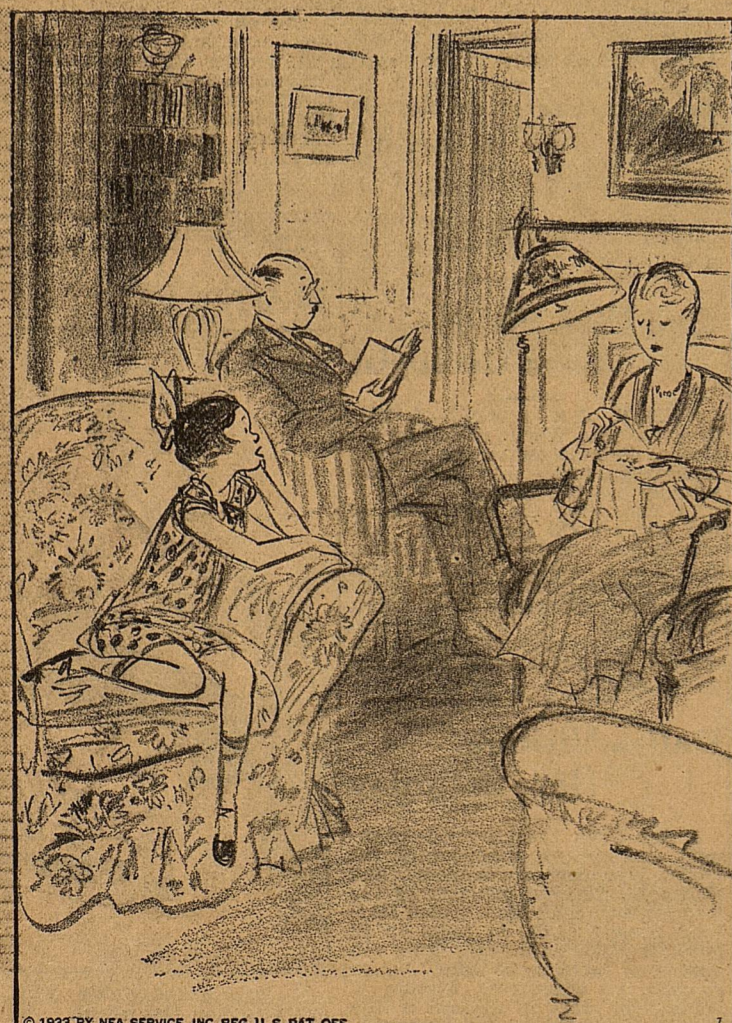

Of course, the Chicago "talking kitchen," that points out and explains the use of each piece of equipment was designed solely as an attention-arresting device. But how practical it would be for the man who, having sent his wife a-visiting, essays to prepare his own meals.

The mechanical cotton pickers now being sent into the northwest Texas area may do all that is expected of them, but the older inhabitants probably will miss the tuneful banjo picking that began when the cotton picking stopped.

Woodcraft, as practiced by the modern youth, includes the reintroduction of his father to Dame Nature in a manner so tactful that there shall be the least possible embarrassment on both sides.

One hopes that those who are undertaking to bring about the return of prosperity through "managed money" are fully aware of the distinction between management and manipulation.

Times Have Changed a Little

Yarns of Col. True

Colonel True invites readers of his stories to write to him and tell about some of their own remarkable experiences. No holds barred. Each person writing will receive a free membership card of the Amalgamated Association of Yarn Spinners. Address Colonel True, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Colonel True: I remember last fall you were telling about what a good shot you used to be with a revolver. Now you may be good, but I still think my grandfather was the world's champion. I know it to be a fact that he could shoot the baking powder out of a biscuit. BARNEY GREATHOUSE.

Sir: I'll have to admit that is remarkable shooting. In fact, it places your grandfather in the class of Buffalo Bill, Deadeye Dick, Wild Bill Hickock and myself. Did I ever tell you about my brother Ossie's left-handed double cousin from Arizona, Ebenezer? Eb was a two-gun man. On his left hip, for heavy work, he carried a specially made gun that took a shell eighteen inches long and four inches in diameter. The bullet weighed six pounds, and with this gun Ebenezer could split a toothpick lengthwise at a hundred yards on the darkest night, with his eyes shut.

On his right hip, for work requiring more finesse, Ebenezer wore a regular single action .45, using a rubber bullet. This rubber bullet was Eb's idea of humaneness. He figured that being killed with a rubber bullet was less than painful than when the usual lead bullet was used.

As I have had occasion to say at other times, however, I am quite an expert shot myself. I used to sit on the porch at night when I was a kid, and shoot lightning bugs on the wing.

When I was farming in Iowa I used to sit on the barn roof and plant corn with a six-shooter. And had the straightest rows of any corn field in the county. One year after I had planted my corn this way, it came up to a good stand and looked well except for some substance on the leaves that resembled rust. I rubbed off some of it and found it was gunpowder. Along in August we had an unusually hot spell and one afternoon the whole field blew up.

Dear Colonel True: I know that with all the strange adventures that have befallen you there must have been times in your life when you were in great danger. I assume this to be true because during the many years I have roamed the world, I have escaped death by a narrow margin many times. What I consider the closest I ever came to The Great Adventure occurred in 1879 when I was exploring the jungles of South America. I had traveled for days through this almost impenetrable mass of trees and underbrush, using such native trails as I came upon. At about noon one day I was following one of these trails and came to a slightly wider space where another trail crossed. At this point I sat down to rest and fell asleep. Imagine my surprise and consternation, upon awakening, to find that wild boars had surrounded me and escape was cut off in every direction by these ferocious animals. Being armed only with a blackjack and a short length of gas pipe, I felt practically helpless. I began to review my past life with the idea of gauging my chances in the next world. But before I had gone very far in this direction the animals began to close in on me, so I climbed a tree. The boars started up the tree after me, and with great presence of mind I chopped off the tree below the limb upon which I sat, so they could not reach me, and stayed there until they got tired and went away. BUSTER HOWARD.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Sir: Destruction of Cotton Variety Sterilization, Limit Cotton Fumigation, Cotton Seed Sterilization and Curtailed Markets Under Federal and State Pink Bollworm, Quarantine Laws and Regulations, imposed upon the cotton farmers, farming under quarantine, in the states of Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana and Florida have cost these farmers many millions of dollars in protecting the cotton industry of the United States.

These unjust laws have cost a mere handful of farmers fifteen to twenty-five million dollars during the past sixteen years. By their effectively living up to these laws the same farmers have saved the cotton industry of the United States billions of dollars. At their own expense the quarantined farmers of some half million acres of cotton have furnished protection to the interests and associated interests of a multitude of farmers farming more than the correct and just, but at the same time protected the interests of factories, banks, railroads, steamship lines, cotton ginners, oil mills, compressors, cotton buyers, labor, mechanics, schools and the general welfare of the public of the United States.

Is not this a national question? A national problem concerning one of the largest industries in the United States? One to be looked upon in the same light and sense as that of nationally protecting the waterways, the delta farm lands and crops along the Mississippi river where millions of dollars are being expended annually and the expense borne by all the nation?

The Federal and State governments have paid (in most instances) the losses and costs to farmers in pink bollworm quarantine non-cotton growing zones. These expenditures were correct and just, but not more so than it would be correct and just to pay the cost and expense of the pink bollworm quarantine in the regulated and restricted cotton growing zones. Not when each is done for the same expressed intention and purpose of preventing the spread of the pest and thereby protecting the cotton industry of the entire United States.

Many organizations and individuals have made honest efforts, striving in vain, to obtain relief from further losses and expenses to these farmers and to secure a federal and state refund for actual losses sustained.

My brother Ossie once took. His wife made him take it because Ossie had a peculiar habit of forgetting he was married. After he received his diploma and had taken a post-graduate course from her, he never forgot again. His memory became so good, in fact, that he could not only remember everything that happened to the minutest detail, but he could also recall a great many things that did not happen at all.

With further training and practice, Ossie's memory developed into a truly remarkable faculty. In the course of time, however, his head became so crammed with things he remembered that surgeons had to remove his brain down to his stomach where there was room for it to expand.

Dear Colonel True: My husband, being justice of the peace, performed his first marriage ceremony June 8. In his excitement he forgot, until after the couple left, his privilege of kissing the beautiful and blushing bride. In a state of grievous regret, he grabbed his hat, went out and put his arms around the old Jersey cow, fervently kissed the old mule and now refuses to answer unless addressed as "Your Honor." What would you do in a case like that? MRS. LYNN WHITE, Stanton, Texas.

Madam: There is nothing you can do with a man whose memory is as bad as that. If he had merely forgotten to put on his pants some morning, or if he went to bed and forgot to go to sleep, you might possibly do something for him. But forgetting to kiss somebody else's bride when he had a chance proves beyond question that he is hopeless. If this were not the case, I might recommend a correspondence school course in memory development that

Andy Norwood started a little late to become a jockey. Fats Woods Junior took him on for an eighth at the track the other day and says he wants another race with him any time he can get it. Andy claimed Fats jockeyed on him.

If Webb Christian brings Quickstick over here to run the half won't do any good to bet on him against the field because the field probably will back out.

Clarence Scharbauer didn't even know he was on the donkey poov team until he saw it in the paper.

Offie Walker and Frank Stubbs stuck over here to run the half into matching that donkey race for 100 yards. Each one thought the other had made the challenge until they got together to talk it over.

Joe Pyron may be allowing a few extra hits in sock ball this week, saving up for the Rotary-Lions game the night of the fourth.

Also affect the growth and production of cotton grown from weak germination. Quarantine farmers plant 40 to 50 pounds of sterilized seed to the acre to insure a stand, whereas 20 pounds of unsterilized seed would be sufficient. If the quarantined farmer chooses to ship in planting seed he runs the risk of lowering his quality, changing the length of fiber, character, and general spinning value of all the cotton in his territory, upon which his market has been built. He is out in cash the difference between the price of (See LETTERS TO EDITOR, p. 4) maintained and for all expenses incurred by reason of the unjust federal and state quarantine regulations and restrictions imposed upon them for the protection of the United States cotton industry. The pink bollworm laws, both state and federal, are nothing short of special legislation assessed a tax, costs, losses and expenses against a few for the gain, protection and interest of the many. The many gain through the fact that they are getting protection without paying for it. They are protected because it is an acknowledged and published claim by both federal and state departments of agriculture that the quarantine has beyond any question proved effective. The multitude interests are safeguarded without loss to them. The farmers under quarantine represent the few who are forced by law and constituted authority to dig deep down into their pockets and pay the costs of fumigating all lint cotton, sterilizing their cotton seed and at the same time under the same laws and authority have their markets curtailed.

The germination of cotton planting seeds is weakened or destroyed by the tremendous heat used in the required sterilization process which

County Library Has New Books by Eight Well-Known Authors

New fiction books at the county library are: "The History of Mr. Polly" by H. G. Wells. "This charming story is the finest example of the writing of H. G. Wells. It is a human piece of work with a wistfully endearing central figure describing, with whimsical humor, the revolt of a soul against its fate. A great book which will endure when other works of Wells have been forgotten."

"South Wind" by Norman Douglas. "When Mr. Heard, Bishop of Bambool in the equatorial regions, went to the Mediterranean island of Neperthe for a rest, he found many things that surprised him. For Mr. Heard, nurtured among the fogs of London and fresh from the misty heart of Africa, discovered that the clear pagan light of that Latin land was no conciliatory to the maintenance of a strictly Victorian sense of values. The reader who has not yet discovered this satirical masterpiece will find much that is amazing in the occurrences on the pagan island of Douglas' imagination."

"Education and the Good Life" by Bertrand Russell. "A stimulating book, simply written, full of common sense and practical advice. The first part deals with the postulates and aims of education; the second, with the education of character, discussing fear, play, selfishness, truthfulness, affection, sympathy and other intimate personal subjects. For this part the education of Mr. Russell's two children forms the basis. The third part deals with intellectual education to the end of the university years." Henry Hazlitt of the New York Sun said, "The finest and by all odds the most fascinating contemporary volume on education."

"This Earth of Ours" by Jean Henri Fabre. "This book gives a general account of the earth on which we live. It takes the dryness out of geography, and makes volcanoes, glaciers, seas, earthquakes and a thousand other tremendous things as interesting as they are important."

"The Island of Penguins," by Cherry Kearton. "The author and his wife camped for months on a rocky island which is the breeding place of the Blackfooted of Jackass penguins. Surrounded by some five million penguins, the naturalist made a study of the domestic af-airs, enemies and pleasures of these amusingly human birds. His sprightly book is well illustrated with photographs."

"Holland" by Marjorie Bowen. "A guide book and an adventure book as well, about the Land of the Wooden Shoes, its books, cities, and provinces, its colorful history, and essential atmosphere. 'Holland' is a book which you should by no means miss if you expect to visit the land, and it is a book which will provide an immense amount of exciting reading even if your traveling is conducted via your own arm chair."

"In Coldest Africa" by Carveth Wells. "Wells accompanied the Milneke museum expedition, which went to collect African animals. The object of the expedition was to dispel the popular idea that central equatorial Africa is a steaming jungle and to show that, on the contrary, it enjoys a delightful climate and is a wonderful place for winter sports, especially in the middle of August. Wells' party wore fur coats and almost lost their lives in a blizzard."

"The Last Frontier" by Zack T. Sutley. "This modestly told record of an old frontiersman's varied experiences is an authentic epic of a past phase of American life. Going west from a Pennsylvania college in 1867 he joined Buffalo Bill's party, commissioned to supply buffalo meat for railroad and army contractors; in the following twenty years he was trapper, freighter, guide for Custer, irrigation engineer for Brigham Young, founder of Pieterm and member of the South Dakota legislature. He has many enlightening anecdotes of famous western characters."

TODAY'S RECIPE

French Sandwich
Spread chopped raw round steak, seasoned with onion, salt, and pepper, between slices of bread. Press together firmly, and cut in half. Dip sandwich in egg-and-milk mixture (1 egg to 1-2 cup milk) and saute in hot fat until brown on both sides.
To frost a cake evenly to the very edge and prevent the icing from running down the sides, double a piece of stiff paper and pin it closely about the cake, letting the paper extend an inch above the top of cake. Spread icing, and do not remove paper until icing is set. Or, sprinkle a little flour or cornstarch around the edge of the top layer.
To soften butter for sandwiches, add a few drops of hot water and work in until soft.

WILSON DRY GOODS CO.

Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich.

In answer to a lady's letter

Henry Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why? By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy. As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent. As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:
On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.
That should answer a lot of questions.

June 30th, 1933

TITULAR PLAYOFF OF PAPOOSES AND HOKUS-POKUS TEAMS

TRIBE WINS WARM BOUT WITH ICE CONTINGENT

Overcoming a three-run lead piled up in the first inning, and one in the second, the Indian Babies Friday evening started piling up runs, four in the third, three in the fourth and two in the last frame, to win a 10-6 game from Southern Ice and to, unless the club loses to the Lindy's or the Icemen beat Hokus-Pokus Monday evening, clinch a playoff with Hokus for the first half pennant in the Nocturne league.

The Icemen got to Pyron easily in the first two innings, hitting him with everything but Dummy's peanut wagon, but proved ineffective thereafter.

Completing its last game of the first half schedule, Bill Blackman's boys edged out the Magnolia club with the help of recruited players. The big noise of these fellows was Jones, who hit a home run with two aboard, to bounce out the margin required for setting up the game. The win was the second the Blackmanmen have won during the half, and was staged over the heaviest hitting club of the circuit—seven Magnolia men clouting the apple for an average of .300 or above. Pitching difficulties kept the club down where it is.

Carnera Wins in Sixth Round With Knockout

Primo Carnera of Italy scored a knockout over Jack Sharkey, June 29, at the Madison Square Bowl, near New York City, and won the heavyweight championship of the world. The challenger showed a marked improvement in his boxing, and carried the fight to the champ throughout the six rounds before scoring the knockout.

planting seed and the price an oil mill is willing to pay for his home-grown seed, plus freight to the mill on his home grown seed and freight in on seed shipped in for planting purposes. He thereby gives the mill outside the quarantine zone a profit on planting seed which he should have grown himself and pays freight two ways. The average cost of planting seed shipped in runs from $80 to $100 per ton whereas the home grown seed average less than one-fourth that price at the designated oil mills. The seed shipped in was also protected against pink boll worm infestation at the expense of the planter under quarantine.

The farmers operating under the quarantine has had his market continuously torn up and has sustained untold loss because he has been forced by law to destroy his variety of cotton, the standard on which his market demand is built. Some of the standards destroyed had been built up over many years and at great expense. In shipping in planting seed, regardless of price paid or care exercised, many varieties showed up in the fields and when harvest time arrived the farmers loss was reflected in the prices received for his product. For this reason the quarantined cotton grower learned to take his loss at home by planting sterilized, weak, slow germinating seed, the cotton from which grows off slowly and gives less production; yet he knows what he is planting and is building up his one variety and standard on which his market is founded. He is doing so at a loss yet at a smaller loss than would result from shipping in many varieties to be mixed through polonization which would destroy his market.

Pink bollworm laws were passed by our federal government and have been amended from time to time. All pink bollworm legislation passed by the states was dictated by the federal department of agriculture officials. All these laws by both federal or state governments were enacted solely for the protection of the

Fireworks Cause Much Blindness

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Among frequent emergencies demanding prompt attention are injuries due to fireworks.

Twenty years ago hundreds of people were killed and injured in celebrating Independence day. Following campaigns of education this type of celebration has been largely displaced by pageants, plays and exhibits of fireworks under the control of experts.

Air rifles, BB guns, shot guns, and other small caliber rifles, blank cartridges and cap pistols, sling shots and rubber band flippers, arrows and stones, are responsible for one-third of the accidents resulting in loss of eye-sight to children. Firecrackers, torpedoes, bombs and various types of fireworks are responsible for one-fourth of the cases of blindness.

The germs of lockjaw develop in soil and on dirty clothing. Any time an injury occurs in which dirt is forced into a wound and sealed there is danger of lockjaw, that is the kind of accident that occurs in explosions of cannon-crackers, blank cartridges and toy cannons. The size of the wound is not significant. The tiniest puncture may permit the germs to enter the body.

Whenever an injury from fireworks occurs, get a doctor as soon as possible. He will open the wound, clean it and treat it with suitable antiseptics and in questionable cases inject the antitoxin against lockjaw to prevent that disease.

New laws against lockjaw develop. After the disease has developed it is one of the most serious affecting a human being. So serious is the possibility of lockjaw that in many cas-

RARE VOLUME

BALDWIN Kan. (UP)—A very rare edition of John Bunyan's "Good News for the Vilest of Men" has been presented to the Baker university library by former Governor George Hodges. The book came from an English press in 1715.

Dog World Cries Inflation

GLENDALE, Ore. (UP)—Here's a story about inflation as applied to the dog world. Duke, Merle McMullin's young hound pup, is the chief actor.

One day Duke came around looking like a balloon, his sides distended, but apparently in no pain. A veterinarian summoned to give him relief, punctured him and was greeted with an outrush of air like a tire with a nail in it.

Investigation followed. Duke was found to have snagged himself while running, puncturing a sizeable hole in one thigh close to the body. It was found that this hole opened and closed with the leg movement, drawing in air and sealing the opening again like a valve. So the faster Duke ran the tighter he got. Duke's wound has healed now and he is no longer an "inflationist."

thrust aside his ambition. His education had consisted primarily of the three R's, taught by his mother in their home in Shackelford county, where his father was a United States surveyor.

Always simmering in his mind was the desire to become a lawyer. Three years ago he was "let out" because he was "too old" to carry on the work of a traffic supervisor for a Fort Worth publishing house.

Instead of being glum at his retirement, Walsh was delighted. He enrolled immediately in a night law school. In June this year, at the age of 68, he received his Bachelor of Law degree.

RONALD COLMAN MAKES DEFINITE HIT IN "CYNARA," SHOWING AT THE RITZ

Yucca Theatre Will Have Preview Mon.

Manager Bill Blair of the Yucca theatre today announced that the Yucca would hold a special holiday preview Monday night at 11:15 for the benefit of those who like to start their celebration of the fourth early.

The picture for this occasion is a brand new musical show "Arizona to Broadway," which will have its first showing in the Southwest in Midland, having been released Saturday. James Dunn and Joan Bennett are the leading roles and are supported by Herbert Mundin, who was last seen as Bridges in "Cavalcade," and Sammy Cohen, the Jewish comedian that had such a prominent part in "Salvor's Luck."

"THE BARBARIAN" SHOWS AT YUCCA

"The Barbarian," with Ramon Novarro cast as an Egyptian guide whose interest in fair ladies makes the grand tour increases in proportion to the size of their pocket-books, opened last night at the Yucca theatre preview, and proved to be one of those fortunately conceived talking-picture efforts which combines thrilling episodes and a colorful romance with a generous helping of fresh, invigorating humor.

The picture, however, has been directed in so engaging a tongue-in-cheek manner by Sam Wood, the man who was responsible for so many of the Marie Dressler successes, and is enacted with an equally refreshing contempt for the conventional, that it stands head and heels above the usual "when East meets West theme."

The role of Jamil fits the versatile Novarro as though it were tailor-made, giving the star all the scope of his aptitude not only as a screen lover but also as a singer and comedian. His comedy scenes are exceptionally well done. He seems to have relished playing the part of the rascal whom wealthy dowagers find just too irresistible must to his financial advantage.

Myrna Loy is excellent as the English girl who finds herself irresistibly drawn to the Nile guide and the love scenes between Novarro and Miss Loy are gems of their kind. Reginald Denny plays the dull-witted Englishman as only he can play such a role, and Louise Closser Hale caps a long series of fine parts with a delicious portrayal of the elderly companion who is constantly agitated at the antics of her caravan camel. C. Aubrey Smith is a properly impressive uncle and the competent cast is rounded out by Edward Arnold, Blanche Frederick, Marcelle Corday, Hedda Hopper and Leni Stengel.

COUGARS AT DOOR
HOOD RIVER, Ore. (UP)—Not only the wolves, but the cougars are at the door. Charles Sherrill, rancher, shot a cougar across the road from the country school near Barrett.

Worm passions surge through a haze of tender emotion... so real, so true, you'll say, as you wipe your tears away, "I have lived with all these people! What an experience it was!"
Directed by KING VIDOR

"Cynara," as the title might suggest, has nothing to do with Latin, Greek or any other foreign language. It's a modern, teeming story of human life and its everyday problems. "Cynara" is class entertainment that the masses will appreciate.

Roving the Reservation With the Indians

By R. CAESAR HANKINS

Back to the old-fashioned July 4th celebrations, says Lee Haynes, marshal of the Lions club race meeting. In fact, he would be in favor of people returning to red flannel underwear if the plan were not inadvisable, the people already being restless.

To Fred Middleton goes credit for getting up the July 4th band. They tell it on Fred that he was cured as a boy of criminal tendencies—he was about to become a jazz musician—by a surgeon's knife, only that nothing was gained inasmuch as he quit jazz and started talking about his operation.

Lots of nags that have one-track minds don't even have that in the right direction, said Dulch Mayfield to his boss.

One of the jockeys who ate three cakes of yeast says he hasn't got a raise yet.

In the parade Theo Cosper's feet got too hot against the pavement, so he wore the baggy topper to keep her stood on sack. And his sister, Kathryn, told Mike Connor that even if he did think cornets have souls there is one that sounds like the lost variety.

Modern women, who have been tried and found wanting—everything under the sun—have given up social affairs in order to attend the race meetings, so the society desk has learned. Which reminds us, when women sew on tiny garments, now they're their own.

One of the race toots said the dollar may not go as far as it did before the war, but that its acceleration is much better developed.

It was sort of broadcast round about that one of the girls in the parade Saturday rides a fast race. A long-legged sheep in the film-lays that is able to run 40 miles an hour is the kind of little lamb that should follow that Mary around.

Joe Pyron, one of the captains of the Rotary playground ball club, told us the modern girl, with a shingle, a cigarette and knickers make a lot of difference, but they don't fool a mouse.

Cotter Hielt, the other captain, said fashion took the hapn away from woman and left her with nothing but an automatic revolver with which to defend herself.

In our own case, after reading the papers and finding that woman is supposed to use pertunery to seduce her moods, we demoted, we know one that will have to smell like a firecracker a good deal of the time.

Big Spring Begins Local Tennis Club

BIG SPRING—Local net enthusiasts are attempting to arouse enough interest among local players to form a tennis club. The city, using R. F. C. labor, is constructing two very good clay courts in the city park. A net has been ordered which will be used by the club members to prevent its destruction if allowed to stay on the courts all of the time.

Kenneth Johnson and Theo Ferguson, two of Midland's leading players, have written to Big Spring fans to secure their entrance in a tennis league which they hope to get underway by July 9. Plans call for the league to be divided into two divisions, an east and west. The east would be composed of Lamesa, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa. The west composed of Fort Stockton, Pecos, Barstow and Wink.

The sponsors of the loop have submitted the following rules: Each town shall elect a captain of the team and these captains will settle all disputes arising during match play. They will also have the power to place their men according to their own judgment during match play.

The team play will be kept on a percentage basis as in baseball, the winners of the east playing the winners of the west in the finals. By the winners we mean the team having the highest percentage. In the finals of team play each member of the winning team will receive a silver loving cup about five inches high. The runner-up in team play will each receive a silver medal.

The singles player and doubles team having the highest percentage in each division will also play a program.

The July fourth program is being staged by the Lions club as a benefit meant to defray cost of eye glasses bought for needy Midland county children. Marion F. Peters, manager of the West Texas Gas company, is general chairman.

Admission to the entire program of rodeo and race events will be 50 cents.

TEXAS SCENIC BEAUTIES SKETCHED ON TRAVELAX ROUTE

Take the word of a widely known Texas artist, Guy F. Cahoon, the highways of the Lone Star State afford a variety of scenic beauties not excelled by any other section of these United States. Mr. Cahoon has made travel sketches illustrating many parts of the world, and finds sufficient subjects at home to make him especially enthusiastic regarding the natural beauties of his own state.

"In Western Texas the motorist vacationist and his family can revel in the inspiring grandeur of rugged mountains," says Mr. Cahoon. "In Northern Texas they find long stretches of straight, smooth highway to intrigue them onward, mile after mile, over level, picturesque plains. In East Texas the traveler thrills to the peace and beauty of the wooded country as he motors through stately pines. To the south he enjoys a wealth of luxuriant, sub-tropical plant life as he travels through the palm-bordered roads of South Texas and the Gulf Coast country. Truly, a variety of scenery as wide as the range of sports and interests to which they lead."

The above illustrations were sketched by Mr. Cahoon for the Portland Cement Association and show typical scenes along the Travelax Route. Maps showing concrete highways in Texas (The Travelax Route) are now being distributed by the Association and may be obtained by writing their offices at Dallas.

Burros Are Scarce; Peters Roams Afield

When news carries information race stock is being entered from out of town for a race meeting, it may be assumed success is in the offing.

Each town shall elect a captain of the team and these captains will settle all disputes arising during match play. They will also have the power to place their men according to their own judgment during match play.

Each match will be governed by Lawn Tennis rules. Each match between the players will be two out of three sets with the exception of the play-off between the winners of the east and west divisions which will be three out of five sets.
