Peters Narrowly Defeated for Governorship of Lions

MIDLAND LIONS MOST ACTIVE OF ALL IN DISTRICT

Eighteen From Here Attend Amarillo Convention

Lions from Midland, who with their wives and friends were a party of 18, returned home Tuesday night without having gained the specific object for which they went—the election of Marion F. Peters as district governor—but having gained another objective which was unexpectedly successful—the characterization of Lions officials as having been the most prominent club at the convention through the two days.

"Peters will be elected district governor next year when the convention of District Two-T is held at Colorado." This was the statement made by numbers of delegates. Dell Herrington, prominent Lion and citizen of El Paso was elected. Delegates frankly stated that since Herrington ran last year and was defeated, they believed he should be elected this year, despite the fact that Marion Peters was much better publicized and was highly popular personally.

The Midlanders were intensely active throughout the convention. The quartet composed of Marion M. Seymour, G. B. Hallman, D. E. Gabbert and De Lo Douglas sang in the competition for quartets, broadcast their "Fetor" campaign song over the hotel loud speaker, and made a hit with two numbers at the County Club dinner dance. Mrs. Douglas was their accompanist.

Mrs. Roy Parks sang beautifully at the Country Club program and was vociferously encored. These numbers were presented by Frank Stubbeman.

Marion Seymour, head of the Midland campaign for Peters, was an indefatigable worker. He had his campaign signs up Sunday in the most conspicuous places, and he assisted by Joe D. Chambers and Paul F. Vickers, put an attractive campaign placard, designed by himself, on every delegate present, then placed them at each plate at the final luncheon. Seymour and others conducted a vigorous campaign.

The Midland model luncheon, attended by International President Hatton was pronounced by that leading Lion as indeed a model in luncheon management and program.

The main campaign speech for Peters was made by Dr. Jeter of Childress. It was an eloquent and effective address, the best by far heard at the convention, and he made for any candidate. He was followed by James Key of McCamery who "opened it on" in a fine speech. Frank Stubbeman concluded in an eloquent appeal for the Midland candidate.

Midlanders at the convention were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Gabbert, Mr. and Mrs. De Lo Douglas, Mrs. Roy Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers, Mrs. Lowe, Frances Lowe Peters and Marion F. Peters, G. B. Hallman, Mrs. Holt Jowell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stubbeman.

The Amarillo Daily News had the following to say:

President Marion F. Peters of the Midland club, introduced Frank Stubbeman, vice president, who presented a short program featuring vocal numbers by Mrs. Roy Parks, accompanied by Mrs. Holt Jowell, and the Midland quartet. The quartet was De Lo Douglas, D. E. Gabbert, G. B. Hallman and M. M. Seymour, accompanied by Mrs. De Lo Douglas.

Marion F. Peters, president of the Midland club, was toastmaster at the Midland model luncheon given at the Capitol Hotel. His 5-year-old daughter, Frances Lowe, exhibited an uncanny knowledge of cattle brands by drawing on a blackboard any brand asked for by spectators. Paul Vickers, manager of the Midland chamber of commerce, in a 15-minute humorous talk kept the audience in an uproar. He said humor must not be overlooked by service clubs if they are to be successful. He urged individual members and clubs to stress it in their programs. Mrs. Vickers also appeared on the program, offering a group of readings which were warmly applauded. International President Hatton attended the Midland program. The El Paso Spanish orchestra and the Brownfield girls' quartet furnished musical features which added gaiety and color to the occasion.

DOLLAR DECLINE BELIEVED TO BE ONLY TEMPORARY

Believe Clever Move Toward Return to Gold Standard

By UNITED PRESS
The value of the dollar dropped drastically in the world's foreign exchange today as it became known that the government would not support the dollar abroad.

The British pound was up five cents. European currencies rose 10 to 25 points.

It was explained at Washington by the decision of the government to raise commodity prices in the United States was only temporary. The president was hopeful of eventual return of all nations to the gold standard.

Foreign countries believed the action was a clever move to emphasize the gold standard's return, at the coming Washington conferences.

American markets climbed as a result. Stocks were up one to five points. Grain reached new highs, silver rose, the limit and cotton was up a dollar and a half a bale.

Band Members Hosts At Annual Picnic

Midland high school band members were hosts Tuesday evening to a large crowd of band friends at a delightful and well organized picnic supper. The band picnic is being made into an annual affair and will be repeated every year.

The work and expenses of the supper were given by the band members. Each band member invited guests. Each member also was assigned certain duties to be carried out to make up the whole job of both the preparation and the serving of the supper, which consisted of the following: sandwiches, mince-dish, chicken salad, plimonto cheese, and peanut butter-banana; deviled eggs; potato salad, iced tea, ice cream.

The band members were prepared to serve 160 people and the affair was attended by 125 to 150. The food left over was given to the welfare association.

Select Calves Here For Mason Feeders

R. B. Tate, county farm agent of Mason was in Midland Wednesday to select four calves for 4-H club boys and girls of his area. He bought two calves from John M. Gist and Gist made a present of a calf each to the boy and girl of Mason who won the grand championship steer calf prize at Houston and the grand championship steer prize at San Angelo and Fort Worth.

Club boys and girls trained by Tate won the grand championship at both Fort Worth and Houston on cars of steer calves, and these championships were won on two different cars sent to the exhibitions. Total prizes for the 4-H club boys and girls were $1,680.

A radio dispatch from army headquarters was received at the local army station late yesterday, advising that the main body of the Akron had been found by navy vessels, about sixty miles from Barnegat light. Similar dispatches were sent out yesterday by the United Press.

THREE ARE HELD AFTER CHARRED BODY UNEARTHED

SCHULENBERG, April 19. (UP).—Mrs. Anton Dach, her brother, Willie Sheik, and a farm hand, Joe Koessel, were questioned today regarding the death of Henry Stoeber whose charred body was disinterred from a crude grave at her farm yesterday.

Stoeber's brother said he received forged letters from the victim inquiring if he held Mrs. Dach, his employer, $650 worth of notes payable to him. The woman declared he suicided.

THREAT IS MADE AGAINST LIFE OF FRANCES PERKINS

PHILADELPHIA, April 19. (UP).—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was guarded last night against a threatened attempt upon her life. Two notes were received at the local office of the federal labor department before her arrival to speak to group of club women at Temple university.

Felix Stonehocker Doesn't Mind if He Is Publicly Addressed as a Dodo Bird

Felix Stonehocker drove his way to membership in the Dodds Motor afternoon, his drive on the No. 7, 170-yard hole, setting in the hole for an ace.

He used a driver. With him were M. D. Johnson and Johnson said the drive was high and that it went straight for the pin without deviating from its trajectory.

"Wasn't so hard, after all," Stonehocker grinned, picking up the ball. (Editor's Note: He played until night, but failed to make another hole-in-one.)

Stonehocker's feat is the first in several moons here. A hasty recheck shows that few Midland golfers have won the coveted honor of sticking out their chests and deservedly devoting themselves to play on the 19th green for the rest of their lives.

C. L. Jackson made the club twice in one month, holing out a 5-iron shot on No. 5 green (150 yards) on April 5, 1928, and skidding his 3-iron tee shot on No. 7 April 17. He laughs at this as being the most freakish shot he ever saw. The ball hit less than 100 yards from the tee box and in the rough. It developed a complex for running hog wild, started a slicing gambol for the green and plunked into the cup before the eyes of a startled foursome. They tell it that Jackson believed anything possible after that and was about to drive with his putter on No. 8.

Billy Moran was one of the latest to turn the ace trick, holing out in 1928. B. S. (Before Stonehocker), Harry Tolbert and Ray Hyatt joined into a negligible cross wind.

ed the roll earlier. Clyde Cowden has the distinction of being the only golfer to have sunk a tee shot on the old course, the one that was laid out near the old college building.

They tell it that Jackson almost fired point-blank into his third hole-in-one yesterday. On No. 7, his three-iron shot rolled gently against the pin, was diverted and came to rest about three or four inches from the hole. The tracks showed that the ball was running directly over the hole and might have stuck but for the pin. However, that's something else.

Parts for the mower must be ordered before the fairways at country club can be shorn of their profusion of spring grasses and flowers. The daisies and pansies on the fairway (this time the reference does not apply to the women) are beautiful until they hide a well-placed ball; then they might be devil claw and poison ivy, for all the names given them. An attempt was made to mow the fairways yesterday, but the mule was the only one showing traces of willingness. Golfers sincerely hope that mule is given enough work this summer to keep his voice stilled. A rascous bray is not recommended to help the patience-worn golfer addressing the ball.

Portugal's Association of Solderers makes a drive on the machine age, insisting that hereafter the soldering of sardine cans shall revert to the old hand method. But if fishermen insist that nets be discarded and the sardine be garnered by hook and line, what will happen to the bill-the ultimate consumer must foot? Or to the business of the solderers?

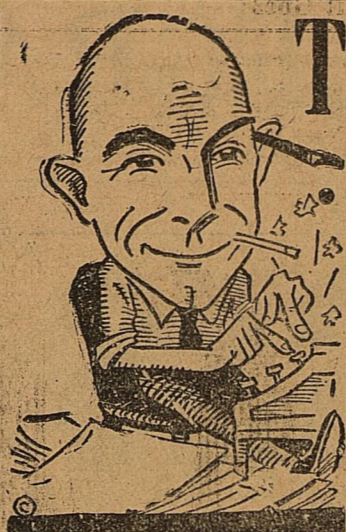

A recent "day" in the United States Senate lasted almost an entire month. Perhaps this juggling of time explains, to a certain extent, why the minutes of that group, as embodied in the Congressional Record, run to such length.

Mexico razes old Belen prison to make a playground for school children, being impelled, possibly, by an economy survey which disclosed that it cost $300 a year to keep a man in prison and only $100 a year to keep a boy in school.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

A writer named Esther Whipple, in a periodical named The Pathfinder, has paid tribute to the way Americans do things in this poem, entitled, "A Modern Tragedy":

The golden sun was slowly setting O'er the hilltops far away, Filling all the land with beauty

At the close of a winter day. But within one humble dwelling With its fireside warm and bright, Came this oft repeated murmur:

"This jig-saw must be done to-night!"

O'er the table bent two figures, Man and wife with visage pale, He with thoughtful brow so worried,

To make small pieces fit in night, Ever saying in soft-whispers: "This jig-saw must be done to-night."

On the street the children rambled, Shoes and clothes all worn and tore, And the house was in disorder,

Everything strewn round the floor. But a jig-saw bright and showy Was on the table in plain sight, While the couple ever murmured,

"This jig-saw must be done to-night."

Off to bed alone, unaided, The children finally wend their way; Grimy hands and dirty faces, And their clothes in sad array, And the old clock on the mantel,

Ticks the time with all its might, While this couple murmur faintly: "This jig-saw must be done to-night."

Twelve o'clock, the moon looks calmly, Down upon this sleeping pair; Dirty dishes in the kitchen, Clothing scattered everywhere, Yet with heads drooped on the table,

'Neath the light still burning bright, In their sleep we hear them mutter: "This jig-saw must be done to-
