INDEPENDENCE DAY'S TOLL

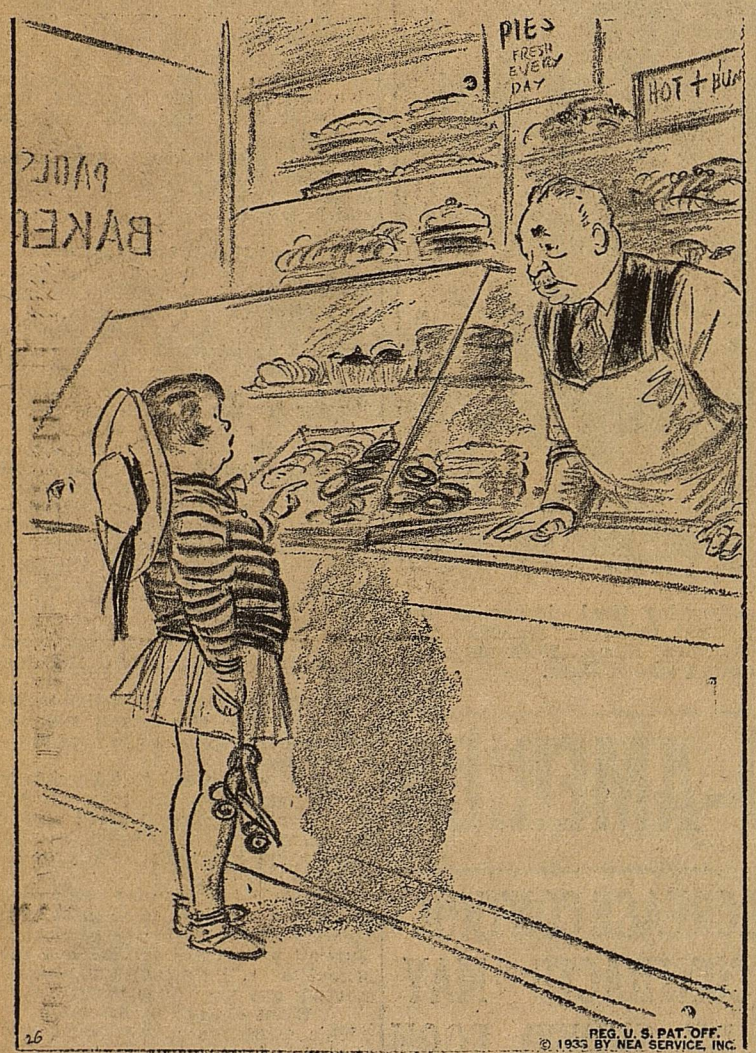

On the morning of July 5, unless this year differs from all previous ones, American newspapers will tell their readers of several scores of fatal accidents which took place on the Independence day holiday. A certain number of people will be killed by fireworks; more will be accidentally drowned; a very large number will die under the wheels of automobiles.

Today, each of these persons is alive, well and unsuspecting of his fate. Each one knows, if he thinks about it at all, that July Fourth will bring a number of fatalities to the country; but not one has the slightest notion that his own death will be on the list.

And because none of us can imagine that these accidents can touch us personally, there isn't much hope that this year's toll will be smaller than usual. That extra bit of caution that prevents accidents won't get used in a certain number of cases; and a certain number of us, as a result, will not see the sun rise on the fifth of July.

There seems to be a general feeling that if inflation is allowed to practice on commodity prices it may be able to do some really important lifting when it gets along to wages and incomes.

The Town Quack

The other day a lady and her little son were passengers on his train. "Lady, isn't that boy old enough to pay full fare?" the conductor asked. "He wasn't when the train started, but he probably is now," said the lady. And since then the conductor has been biting his finger nails. You can be a goose without having quills. "Dear, can you tell me the difference between your mouth and the depot door?" asked the husband. "No I can't," snapped the wife. "Dear, there is no difference—the depot door is never locked." When a local woman was poor, we all called her red head. Now that she is wealthy, she is referred to as a beautiful lady with a luxuriance of auburn hair. Yes dollars make a difference. How queer is our language! "You should get rid of your temper," means the same thing as, "you should keep your temper." Scotty Gemmill is always an optimist. One day, while looking at a desert, he exclaimed, "What a perfect baseball park that would make!" You yourself manufactured most of the thorns bearing down on your brow. If you have a hired girl, you may depend on it that she talks about you about as saucily as you talk about her. Newspaper reporter become tiresome, just like other people do. If you don't care to be introduced to the devil, cross crossings cautiously.

"Skule Daze" Dance Entertains Club Saturday Evening at The Scharbauer

"Skule Daze" were re-acted Saturday evening when members of the Minuet Dance club held a "kid" party in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. Little girls sucking lollypops arrived in groups, grimacing and squealing as little boys, wearing Eaton collars and Windsor ties, bucolic straw hats, black eyes and hayseed complaisance, followed them, pulling their pigtails. Entrance to the party was through a slide—some of the girls and boys must have felt like they were being wedged into three sixes too small. John Lochabay and his orchestra from San Angelo furnished the music, playing speciality numbers appropriate for the childish dancing displayed by some of the young people. Miss Gusta Clark Snyder of Dallas, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ashley, tapped a novelty dance number, showing much talent and grace for her age, an encore, she did a routine tap number. Children were not dancing, entertained themselves by sticking cigarettes (that they must have stolen from their parents, to the balloons that decorated the ballroom. Needless to say, the dancing was the most strict adherence to juvenile makeup and dress. Mrs. Joe Ballantrae dressed in a short butterfly dress with matching panties received the prize for girls. Judges declared it was particularly difficult to make the decision for women, but Hugh Corrigan's suit with the back as open as prohibition was easily the choice among the boys. Around midnight, the children grew tired of their play and, declaring that they were hungry, took their lunches and bicycled or roller-skated to the playground on the lawn of the Elliott Cowden home. The lunches were spread on tables arranged about the lawn. After eating, groups of children played ball, saw-sawed and went down the shute-the-shutes that were on the lawn. Search lights played on the lawn from the top of the home. School was dismissed during the early morning and children sleepily made their way home. Mmes. Joe L. Crump, Elliott F. Cowden and George T. Abell were hostesses at the affair. Members of the club attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Sam Ashley, George Abell, J. P. Butler, Preston Bridgewater, Harvey Conger, Clyde Cowden, Frank Cowden, Elliott Cowden, Joe Crump, I. E. Daniels, Sam Cummings, George Glass, Allan Hargrave, A. N. Hendrickson, C. A. Mix, Carl McAdams, H. J. Phillips, Paul Ryan, John Shipley, Allen Tolbert, W. T. Walsh, Fred Wright, Henry Wolcott, Joe Youngblood, Cam Fannin, Gentry Kidd, and R. E. Nelson and A. P. Luskamp. Guests included Mr. Dave Eblevins of Van Horn and Mr. and Mrs. John Howell of Bartlesville, Okla., guests of Mr. and Mrs. Crump. Mr. R. W. Hamilton of Stanton, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Abell, and Miss Snyder, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley.

Wheeler, Woolsey Burlesque Shows At Yucca Today

"Diplomacias," hailed as a hilarious burlesque on world problems of the present day, embroidered with musical numbers and nonsensical situations, is showing at the Yucca theatre today.

It is the first time the show has been based on the well-known ineffectualities of the Peace Conferences and the aggravated pomp of some of its less notable delegates.

Its outstanding cast in "Diplomacias" is headed by Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, whose irrefragable RKO-Radio picture comedies, "Marjorie White, featured comedienne of the late stage musical, "Hotcha," and Phyllis Barry, who recently scored sensational screen hits with Ronald Colman in "Cynara" and with Buster Keaton in "What! No Beer?" support the comical pair.

The appearance of such well-known comedians and stars as Hugh Herbert, Louis Calhern, Richard Carle, Charles Coleman and Neely Edwards, makes the supporting cast one of the most notable of the season.

The production is lavishly staged. Its backgrounds, rapidly shifting, take in an Indian reservation in Oklahoma, a liner at sea, Paris and its apocryphal rendezvous, as well as Geneva, Switzerland.

A group of 24 Hollywood beauties, selected and trained by Larry Ceballos, appears in spectacular ensembles.

Mystery, Comedy, Thrills Galore, in "Girl Missing"

Marriage may be a lottery, but when it threatens to become a tragedy within twenty-four hours after the honeymoon has begun, as it does in "Girl Missing," the Warner Bros. production which opens Tuesday for three days at the Ritz theatre, the lover of mystery tales can be certain of exciting entertainment before the finale is reached.

Palm Beach, the playground of wealth and beauty, and the hunting-ground for opportunities of both sexes, is the locale of the story, and for the central figure, the author, Carl Erickson and Don Mullaly employ a quick-witted chorus-girl, whose nimble mind solves a murder mystery that it still baffling the police of the Florida winter resort.

To explain just how Kay Curtis and her pretty companion, June Dale, expose the plottings of a "marriage racketeer" and his titian-haired decoy in time to save the life of the unsuspecting bridegroom, would be taking the edge off the mystery.

Suffice it to say that the amateur detective wins the plaudits of the police for her astuteness, and the wedding bells play a second and a very different tune for the on-lookers, who are reminded of the early scenes of the picture.

A genuine all-star cast is entrusted with the telling of the story. It is headed by Ben Lyon, Glenda Farrell, Mary Brian and Peggy Shannon, who are ably supported by such players as Helen Ware, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Guy Kibbee, Pat Collins, Edward Ellis, Lyle Talbot, Louise Beavers and Harold Huber.

Stubbemans Visit Several States

Frank Stubbeman and wife, who returned Saturday night from a trip to the world fair, "went places and saw things," spending only two days of a three weeks' vacation in Chicago.

Going up by way of St. Louis, they went on from Chicago to Detroit, crossed into Canada and saw Niagara Falls from the Canadian side, came back to Albany, N. Y., and down the Hudson to New York City. They went then to Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, visiting Mount Vernon, and then returned to Texas by way of eastern states. They visited the Natural Bridge in Virginia, came through Tennessee and Alabama, visiting Muscle Shoals and other points of interest.

All Cigarettes are not Alike

Different Kinds of Tobaccos Make a Difference in Taste and Aroma

... Take Chesterfields, for Instance

SOME cigarettes are made out of only one kind of tobacco... while others are made from several different kinds.

And everyone can understand that different tobaccos make a difference in taste and aroma. Chesterfields are a good example of this difference.

You see it's not easy to make Chesterfield's milder taste. It takes three distinct kinds of Domestic tobaccos. Then these must be seasoned with the right amount of Turkish. And they must be blended and cross-blended until their flavors are welded together... to make a cigarette that has character and yet is not too strong... to make a cigarette that's milder, a cigarette that tastes better.

Hogsheads of Domestic Tobaccos stored away for curing.

Choice Turkish Tobaccos come to Chesterfield warehouses in bales like these.

Chesterfield They Satisfy

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door.
