DALLAS MAN IS KILLED IN RIOT AT ROAD HOUSE

Shooting Follow an Attack on Woman By a Man

DALLAS, Nov. 9. (UP)—Don Douglas, 22, was fatally shot in the head during a road house scuffle with two other men here today. Douglas was scheduled to have been tried today on three indictments of burglary. Deputy Weston Wells said his gun accidentally discharged. Wells and Deputy Homer Sealey, night patrolmen, took a woman, who stopped them, to the road house to use the telephone. On arrival, a man dragged the woman from the car and began beating her. Others participated and the shooting followed. Four were placed in the county jail.

THREE SUSPENDED SENTENCES GIVEN

Assessment of a five year suspended sentence by the jury in the case of the state against Johnnie V. Brown, negro, charged with assault with intent to kill, set a precedent late yesterday which resulted in similar verdicts in two other cases today. Eddie Moore and Flat Top Hut-ton, under similar charges, chose to plead guilty before District Judge Klapproth, without jury trial. Evidence was presented to bear out facts concerning the charges which involved lights and knife wounds. Judge Klapproth asked if the attorneys desired to argue the cases. "I recommend the five year suspended sentence," said District Attorney R. W. Hamilton. "No argument," said G. W. Dunaway, defense attorney. The sentences were passed, the judge finding from the evidence that the defendants had not been convicted of felonies previously. The defendants were "finger-printed" and released. Jurors were instructed to be present Monday morning for the special venire in two murder cases and one involving a statutory offense. A jury was selected before noon to try a civil case this afternoon.

TRAVELOGUE, SONG ON ROTE PROGRAM

Incidents of a recent trip to the world's fair, Niagara Falls and Caudwell points were related in a "travelogue" by E. H. Barron at the Rotary club today. Stanley Young, son of Carl Young, sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. DeLo Douglas. Stanley is a recent voice "find" of Midland high school. Percy Bridgewater gave the first of a series of five radio historical talks on members of the club. The Rev. E. Harrison was voted to membership in the club under the classification of Catholic clergy.

WEDDING OF MAJ. SHEPARD IS TOLD

DENVER, Nov. 9.—Disclosure of his elopement and secret wedding in Russell Springs, Kas., last July 4 to Mrs. Alan J. West, Denver widow, was made by Major Charles A. Shepard, who was granted a retrial this week by the U. S. supreme court of his conviction and life sentence as the slayer of his second wife, Mrs. Zenana Shepard. The Fitzsimons hospital army surgeon and his bride were married by Winnie Sletz, woman probate judge, they said today. The only witnesses were Charles L. Kagey, of Wichita, Kas., attorney for Shepard, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Howbert, of Denver, close friends of the couple. The Shepard's said they had kept their marriage secret at the request of Attorney Kagey, who was preparing to argue a petition for a new trial for Shepard before the supreme court. Mrs. Shepard is well-known in Denver social circles.

FORMER MIDLAND GIRL NOT MENTIONED

Miss Grace Brandon, former Midland girl, testified in earlier trials that Maj. Shepard had devoted himself to her, that he had presented her with gifts and that he had made proposals of marriage. Her name apparently has ceased to be linked with the case, no recent dispatch having mentioned her. She was living at San Antonio at the time she was called first to testify.

WINK TICKETS GOOD

The Stanton game Saturday takes place of the Wink game and tickets for the Wink game printed in season books will be accepted, according to an announcement made today by Supt. W. W. Lackey.

Important Clues Found In Van Horn Murder Case

EL PASO, Nov. 9. (UP)—Officers are seeking two men in an automobile with a California license for questioning in connection with the murder of a young woman whose nude body was found Tuesday near Van Horn. The men were reported as last seen with the woman tentatively identified as Ramona "Warren," "Warnock" or "Warren" of Los Angeles.

Gangstress

Married in haste to a gangster, Edna White, 19-year-old blond beauty, will have years to repent. She lived through a honeymoon of five terror-packed days of banditry, then was a widow, headed for prison. Convicted in Los Angeles on 11 counts of assault and robbery as aide of Thomas White, slain after an orgy of crime, she is pictured here, awaiting sentence of five years to life.

ARMISTICE DAY IN SCHOOLS IS OBSERVED HERE

Armistice day, which has been officially designated as a national holiday, will be observed with fitting patriotic ceremonies throughout the Midland schools Friday afternoon, the program beginning at 2 o'clock. The program at the high school will consist of patriotic songs and brief talks, while those in the junior high school and the grade schools, being more formal and elaborate, are given below. It is possible the high school band and pep squad will go to Stanton to enter a pep rally prior to the Armistice day game here with Stanton on Saturday. The grade school programs are given below:

She said that she was on her way to Ft. Worth from Los Angeles to visit her mother. She said that she left Los Angeles Saturday and rode to Ysleta in an automobile, arriving there Sunday. She received a black eye when she fell against a screw nut on the windshield, she said. Mrs. F. T. Bailey said the dead woman answers the description of a woman who stopped at her Valley Inn tourist camp at Ysleta Sunday night and checked out Monday morning. The woman told Mrs. Bailey's daughter that she was hitch-hiking to Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Bailey said. The woman was walking toward the Fabens Motor Co. with her suitcase in her hand when Fernandez and Soto came out of the store and they did not see her again, they said. The woman had a black eye, they said. G. Talmage told Sheriff Fox that he was sitting near the Fabens Motor Co. about 3:15 p. m. Monday when he saw a woman walking toward the Fabens Motor Co. with her suitcase in her hand and a man who appeared to be an American. He said the man took a suitcase from her and walked over to a Ford car, hearing a California license plate and put the suitcase in the trunk of the car. Talmage said a smaller man, who appeared to be an American, got into the automobile and drove off. He said the man who appeared to be an American, got into the automobile and drove off. ## "Foreign" Missionary Working Here Among Mexicans Few Midland people know that what is particularly foreign missionary work is going on within the city limits of Midland. This paradoxical situation has a paradoxical missionary. She is Miss Annie Lee King, a home town young woman, doing "foreign missionary work at home." The main difference between Miss King, daughter of John King, prominent rancher-farmer, and a teacher in the Midland public schools, is that a foreign missionary on foreign fields gets a salary, whereas Miss King gets nothing. In fact, she gets such little support that she often has to help her own funds to carry on her work. Miss King conducts a Mexican mission. Each Sunday and Tuesday she conducts Bible study, assisted by the Rev. Federico Marmalejo and his wife, Anita. Between times, Miss King visits the sick and cheers the despondent Mexican people, now weighted down by poverty. Enrollment in the Sunday school is about 30. This service lasts an hour each Sunday and on Tuesday afternoon at 4. Miss King and the Mexican missionary and his wife lead the Mexicans in Bible study and a song service. They frequently go to houses of sick Mexicans and sing for them. Miss King faces many difficulties in her work. Last Sunday no service could be held because it was too cold and there was no money to buy a stove for the building used as a church. But the young woman carried on and makes no complaint. It was by accident, a newspaper man learned of her work and obtained the facts for this story.

Angelo Ranchman Hurt in Mishap

SAN ANGELO, C. T. Lake, San Angelo ranchman, injured in an automobile-wagon collision near Ballinger Tuesday night, remained in a critical condition at a local hospital last night. An operator on Lake was performed early Wednesday by a Fort Worth specialist to relieve pressure on the brain resulting from a fracture of the forehead. A club superior to Midland in experience will represent Stanton in the annual Midland-Stanton grid battle Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Captain Epley, quarter, O'Connor, end; Hogue, end; Bridges, full; Hall, tackle; and S. Reid, guard. All have lettered with the Buffs. Epley and O'Connor having lettered two years. Midland has only one letterman back this season, Gordon Jones, Midland quarter. The clubs stack up about equal in weight. While Stanton has six lettermen in the lineup, Midland has a decided advantage in reserve strength and division of labor on the coaching staff. Whereas Coach Ratushy has the entire burden of tutoring his club, Head Coach L. E. Barry has two able assistants, Bry-an C. Henderson and Charles A. Lingo. This advantage is a great one and; coupled with the fact Midland catches the Buffs on its own bermuda backyard, Midland should win. Close students of football see no valid reason for presupposing a victory of the Buffs, yet recall that upsets for Midland-Stanton play have established a sort of vogue over the past few years. Both elevens are set for the Armistice day scrap, and neither foots it will have an alibi afterward. This matter of fact announcement has created the impression that both mentors expect to win, and has been one of the greatest influences in overcoming the inertia of a public which, at best, has become lukewarm in its desire to watch either club in action. It is even predicted, because of the closeness of score indicated, that the best crowd of the year will be seated in Lackey field when the kickoff whistle blows.

STANTON HAS SLIGHT EDGE IN MEN OF EXPERIENCE; CLOSE GAME SEEN

Trenches De Luxe Bar Foes From French Soil

FOR a 200-mile stretch north of the Vosges, France's border is defended by the Maginot Line, a system of permanent fortifications. Like a glorified underground trench system with all modern improvements, the above drawing, though not intended to be exact in detail, or to show any particular fortification, gives a graphic idea of the magnitude of the work.

- 1—Main entrance to works, reached by sunken road.
- 2—Air chamber or lock enabling high atmospheric pressure to be built up inside, as gas defense.
- 3—Village. Inhabitants, specially trained to man nearby defenses.
- 4—Series of "bulkheads" in passage as defense if entrance is invaded.
- 5—Casemate, or "pillbox fort" projecting above ground.
- 6—Elevator and stairs in tower, giving access to casemate.
- 7—Casemate.
- 8—Widened assembly chamber in gallery.
- 9—Steel partition doors.
- 10—Central kitchen.
- 11—Sleeping quarters.
- 12—Magazine.
- 13—Control room, governing air pressure, heat, electrical wiring, etc.
- 14—Power plant.
- 15—Steel partition doors.
- 16—Gallery leading to casemate tower.
- 17—Casemate of concrete overlaid with steel armorplate, and containing quick-firing guns.
- 18—Ammunition hoist.
- 19—Miniature railroad to transport ammunition.
- 20—Casemate.

GREAT DEFENSE ATTORNEY RUMORED TO OPPOSE SMITH IN MURRELL CASE

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 9.—Continued reports were circulated here that one of the greatest criminal lawyers of all time would soon step into the defensive wall thrown up by counsel about Lieut. John H. Murrell, Fort Sam Houston officer charged with attack on Blanche Falls. A brilliant young attorney, W. R. Smith Jr., lately appointed U. S. district attorney for the western district of Texas, with his corps of legal assistants, is prosecuting the case. Dist. Atty. Smith, suave, soft-spoken and handsome, firmly presses prosecution of the once, famous football star of the U. S. military academy at West Point. The latest to join in the legal battle is Capt. J. F. Reynolds, chief of the Eighth Corps area, judge advocate general's department, who has become aligned with the defense attorneys. Captain Scott was designated to assist in conducting the defense for Lieut. Murrell at the latter's request, it was pointed out in the order designating the captain to join the defense forces. The order was issued by Maj. Gen. John H. Hagoood, commanding general of the Eighth Corps area. "Second Lieut. J. H. Murrell, Ninth infantry, now in the hands of the civil authorities and charged with attack, has asked for your services to assist in the defense of his case before the federal court," the order declared. "In order that this officer may have the benefit of military counsel and in order that the interests of the army may be safeguarded, you are hereby designated to assist in this defense for the purpose above outlined, but at the forthwith coming trial your activities in court will not include examination of witnesses. That matter will be left to the civilian counsel." Captain Scott returned recently from Denver, where he conducted a court-martial. He was the trial judge advocate at the court-martial for Lieut. Herbert C. Lichtenberger, Randolph field officer who was given 10 years in federal penitentiary for the robbery of the Schertz State bank.

Only One Hour Given As Respite for Rebel Force

HAVANA, Nov. 9. (UP)—The government agreed to an hour's truce at noon today after 700 rebels at Atares fortress were bombed following a machine gun battle. The government barred reporters from the area. President Sainmartin sent a message to the rebels that he hoped for an agreement. Truckloads of soldiers scoured Havana, making looters return articles taken in the Dragons barracks neighborhood. Two hundred were known to have been injured.

GYM CASE NEARS EARLY DECISION

All documents to be used in application of the Midland public schools board for a gymnasium are completed and will be presented Friday by the West Texas chamber of commerce to the Texas committee of the regional public works board at Fort Worth, officials of the regional chamber telephoned Supt. W. W. Lackey Thursday. The legal department of the West Texas chamber has passed on the briefs submitted by Lackey and the Midland school board and has approved them. Engineer's blue prints are also completed. School authorities here were ready to go to Fort Worth to assist in presentation of the application for the gymnasium loan, but the West Texas chamber officials said they had other applications to present also and could handle the presentation without a trip from Midland being necessary.

Visiting Artist at San Angelo Recalls How He Quit Painting Houses Years Ago

SAN ANGELO—When Frank L. Lamont, artist now visiting San Angelo, quit painting houses a half century ago and painted a picture of the old Texas state capitol, he laid the foundation for an interesting career.

Lamont, now 71 years old, but still in good health, travels from town to town doing portraits in crayon and painting landscapes. He spent a couple of months in the Bray country and was at San Saba, Llano, Uvalde and other cities in that section. Recently, he said, he painted a picture of Vice-President Garner at Uvalde and has the picture here with him.

Studied in New York

When Lamont painted that picture of the capitol 50 years ago he was encouraged by his friends so he went to New York and studied for two summers under William A. Chase on Long Island, spent another summer as a student in the classes of the Chicago Art Institute at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, and then went to Berlin for six months to study in the Royal Art museum at Berlin.

After serving for some time as an illustrator for the Arkansas Democrat at Little Rock, he laughed upon his own career as a painter which carried him all over the United States and into Mexico and Puerto Rico and Cuba.

The aged painter, who speaks Spanish besides English, German and several other languages fluently, looks back with particular satisfaction to the 12 years he spent in Mexico, from 1888 to 1900. There he became intimately acquainted with former President Porfirio Diaz.

Mmes. J. C. Pye and L. L. Stewart of McCamey visited friends here today.

For Christmas—had you thought of a reproduction of that old daguerreotype or portrait of your mother when she was a girl? Bring them in at once to Prothro Studio. (Adv.)

—by Hays

iously," Lamont states. "I believe that it is true."

Another experience which would have cost him his life at sunrise at the hands of his former Mexican friends, was when Lamont spent six months in Cuba as the secretary and interpreter of his friend Arriago, a prominent Mexican civil engineer.

He had known Arriago in Mexico and met him again in 1915 in New Orleans. Arriago invited him to go with him to Cuba as his interpreter and made him captain of a boat which freighted lumber between New Orleans and Cuba and which Arriago owned.

After six months of a good time in Cuba at Lamont's expense, his friend Arriago, Lamont one day was confronted by several friends of the Carranza government sent to Cuba to investigate the activities of Arriago.

Raised the Commission

They Lamont found out the source of his friend's sudden wealth and lavish expenditures. He had been sent to the United States by the Carranza government to dispose of $400,000 worth of arms and ammunition which had been confiscated for the revolutionists by the United States government at New Orleans. Arriago, Lamont says, arranged with some agents in the United States for the sale of this material, but according to Carranza's investigators evidently raised his own commission so that the Mexican government got very little of the money. Arriago told the investigators that his living expenses were much higher than he anticipated, but the Mexican officers served notice that he would be shot if he returned to Mexico, and incidentally the same fate awaited Lamont, though innocent, had he returned to Mexico at that time. However, the government in Mexico changed and both men have gone back since then. Arriago is living there today.

In 1919 Lamont received an appointment from the U. S. Bureau of Education to teach in the schools in Puerto Rico. He spent 12 years on this little island teaching drawing and water colors. During that time he became thoroughly acquainted with Puerto Rican life, customs and beliefs of these people. He was rated as a "good plus" teacher by the department of education at San Juan, according to a recommendation which he carries with him.

World War Scenes Coming to Yucca

A picture of war scenes will be shown at the Yucca which is actually so realistic that a cameraman taking pictures during the World War was shot to death while operating his camera.

"The Big Drive" will be shown at the Yucca Nov. 21 and 22 by Manager Hal Grady as a benefit performance for the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Midland post, commanded by Charlie Nolan, will share substantially in the ticket sales receipts.

The picture is not an imaginary piece of fiction, but is made up of actual scenes taken from the military archives of the United States, France, Germany, Austria, and Italy. War in all its stark reality is shown. The picture has drawn enormous audiences of men, women and children in New York, Chicago and other large cities. It was so popular in one city that the heavy attendance paid off a mortgage on the theatre showing the film.

Soldiers of the World War say they can recognize themselves in some of the actual scenes. The "Big Drive" is an indictment of war, because it shows the horrors of war. Men, women and children who never saw a battle flock to see the "Big Drive" because they can really see the battles of the World War. Ex-service men flock to see the picture because it brings back old times to them. It is so real it is described as a "blast from hell."

The American continent was named by an obscure German professor, Waldsee-Muller, who was teaching in a French college at the time; he named it for an Italian navigator, Americus Vesputius, who was in the services of the king of Portugal.

CHAPTER VII

"Of course we have to consider the placing of a child very carefully. You Burns, and frankly the committee is a little out of your case. You've figured in the newspapers. And this morning's headlines were not too— Mrs. Ward hesitated and coughed gently.

"Mrs. Ward," said Lola, quickly, "I had known the gentlemen you mean but a short time— merely a social friendship, and in trying to help him I found out what he really is. If you'll excuse me, we won't discuss it further."

"Certainly, dear," and little Miss Talley smiled sweetly.

"Just when did you decide to adopt a child?" asked Mrs. Ward.

"I'm going to be honest with you. It was just a whim at first, but, gosh, when I held that little fellow in my arms this afternoon, and knew he didn't have a home, and that I could give him one, and love him — why, it just seemed the only worthwhile thing in life."

talk from now on."

Brogan's jaw squared. "Listen Spumoni, who are you yelling at?"

"You, Mr. Brogan, you."

Lola stamped her foot furiously. "Get out of my house!"

"I won't contaminate myself much longer. I just want to inform you that I am filing suit for defamation of character."

Brogan stepped in front of him. "I've been annoyed with your face for a long time."

"Jim, wait," cried Lola, but he didn't wait. Brogan's fist landed on the Marquis' chin and he latter stumbled back against the door. Brogan pursued and landed another blow. The reporters, gathered listening outside the door, were split asunder as the door flew open and the Marquis came flying out, followed by his lawyer, Brogan and Lola.

The Marquis, who had rolled on the floor, was up in a flash, his cane raised to strike when Brogan closed with him. The fracas brought Pops, and Nellie, Brother's San Diego girl, and the Marquis' maid, and the Marquis ran to the ladies from the orphanage. "Don't pay any attention to this, please." Then she saw Space Hanlon and appealed to him: "Space, don't stand there! Do something! Pops, stop it! Call the police!"

"We can get a better view from in there," said Space, to the two ladies and they followed timidly for a little ways. Brogan and the Marquis were milling about the table which threatened to be upset.

Lola ran distractedly about crying: "You've got to listen to me! You've got to stop it, but nobody pay attention to her. She saw the tow ladies from the orphanage, edged over to them and declared: "I don't know any of these people, really! and quickly edged away as Brother came into the dining room wanting to know: "Who started this fight?"

You two janes married to them bust!" The two ladies started back in a hurry. Mrs. Ward seized Miss Talley by the arm and they struck out for the open.

Brogan got out from under the table, up on his feet and landed a blow that sent the Marquis sprawling on the floor. "Have you had enough?" he asked as the grateful cameraman rushed in for a take.

The lawyer ran in and helped his client to his feet. "There's assault and damages in this, plenty," he said.

"Listen, you little rat, just start suing me!"

"Get out of here, everybody!" cried Lola, running out into the hall. As they scrambled for the front door, Lola looked about for Mrs. Ward and Miss Talley. "Where are those ladies?" she asked, running up to Loreta.

"They's just gone home, Miss Lola." Loreta rolled her eyes towards the front door.

Chicago White Sox officials believe that altering the park will make Al Simmons, slugging outfielder, look better. They've changed the $2,000,000 baseball plant to suit the $100,000 ball player, moving home plate 14 feet closer to center field, and reconstructing the infield, as shown above.

FOOTBALL SKETCHES

By R. C. Hankins

We strongly suspect you could guess the identity of the one who left the following letter on our desk. The fellow we're thinking of uses an emery stone for a comb. It is clear to you? If not, we pass the tip that popular assayers place metallic compositions of his superstructure as 99.99% "torious pyrite" the letter:

"Was it in 1930 that a bunch of local supporters went over to the Martin county metropolis and paraded the town proclaiming that 'Money Talks' and that they were the loudest, mounted magpies in town? Without much ado, they were giving 14 points and taking Midland against the Buffaloes for the game that afternoon. When the game ended 0-0 none could talk above a very, very, weak whisper. Incidentally, one of the loudest of the loud, was looked up in, of all things, a milk wagon, by the Stanton law and order committee and forced to watch the game from one end zone through a small glass door.

"How many of you remember why a former Bulldogs erid was afraid to go to Peos to play the first year he was eligible? He still doesn't understand why the sheriff of the county could get so mad just because while feeling rather playful, he with some of his cronies tried to run him down with the car. "The Maria Sportsboms will be guests of the Bulldogs Nov. 18 and their appearance recalls the sensational game played in the baseball park out east of town. Midland finally won out when Red Johnson, an end shared a pass on his finger tips and managed to juggle it until he finally had crossed the goal line. It was the most sensational play we believe that we can remember for every time Red bounced the ball upwards several hundred hearts rose into throats.

"How many of you remember the club that Midland high had during the 27 season? On this team was Bill and Ronald Morgan, Harold and Whizel Whitmore, "Dad" King, Henry Padlock, "Big Ham" Pinnell, Alvie Sprawn et al. It won the district building and was barely beaten by Sweetwater in the district play off. And Sweetwater was turning out clubs then just as tough as the ones they now have. In the Alpine game that year Ronald Morgan recovered a punt behind the goal line and raced from 105 to 110 yards for a touchdown. We only mention that because we wonder if there is anyone on the team this year that could walk without interference and carry a football that far.

"If we remember correctly that was the year that the St. Louis Cardinals won the National league baseball pennant and then fired their manager. Not to be outdone the local powers that were winning the coaches of the winning eleven would not return as coaches the next season. Our opinion is the same as yours on how the change worked out.

"After Maria plays here Midland will wind up its season at Odessa. After watching the local county boys play this season a couple of times I fail to see Midland will not win by at least 40 points but one never knows just what Odessa might do. In 1927, after losing the championship aggregation by a very

REPEAL TO AID JOBLESS OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, (UP).—Employment for thousands is expected by government officials with repeal. Millions of dollars, it is estimated, will be put into the rehabilitation and construction of liquor plants and into the production of materials used in the industry.

Only seven distilleries are operating at present, providing jobs for only a few hundred men, but Dr. James M. Moran, Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol, already has received 200 applications for licenses to manufacture liquor, and he expects at least 50 distilleries will start operation immediately upon repeal.

In 1914 there were 434 distilleries, 312 wineries, and 92 breweries directly employing 72,646 workers.

Other thousands were provided jobs in allied lines, such as bottling.

Large quantities of grain were absorbed by the industry before prohibition, and repeal will re-open this outlet for portions of current surpluses.

In 1918, Department of Commerce records show a total of 2,770,644 pounds of malt was used in production of fermented liquors; 78,942,550 pounds of rice; 459,842,338 pounds of corn and corn products; 33,481,415 pounds of hops; 64,939,042 pounds of sugar; and 68,693,042 pounds of grits, wheat, bran and barley.

I. P. A. EXPECTS A CROWD AT TULSA

TULSA.—The largest attendance to ever register at an annual convention of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, is anticipated at the meeting this year on November 13, at Tulsa, according to predictions of C. E. Buchner, secretary of the organization.

This year's increased attendance is said to be due largely to the added optimism which has spread over the entire oil industry, retail business, and manufacturing. With the present price of oil having increased from 150 to 200 per cent in recent months, the oil men are extremely optimistic as to the future of the twelve billion dollar industry.

Buchner declared that he had received definite confirmation that James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and now President Roosevelt's appointee to the Planning and Coordinating board of the Petroleum code, would be in attendance.

Moffett, who is recognized as one of the nation's leaders in the industry today, probably has a closer insight to the government's oil program than any other member of the industry. It is said that Moffett, in his first trip to the oil districts of the Mid-Continent area since his appointment to the board, will explain in detail the working of the president's plan, and the government's expectations of the industry.

COUNTIES DRY IN NAME ONLY

SWEETWATER, (UP).—Texas counties which voted against sale of 3.2 beer, it appears, are to be dry in name only.

For those who want to buy beer and those who wish to sell it have found ways and means of circumventing the will of the people as expressed at the polls.

The beer vendor's immunity from prosecution even though the county be dry, arises from a magical word more potent than "abracadabra" and every bit as effective as "open sesame" when you place a certain connotation on the word "open."

The magic word is "jurisdiction." Merely to mutter it in this and other dry counties in Texas is to make conscientious prosecutors gnash their teeth and shred their clothing.

If a person is haled into county court on a misdemeanor charge of selling 3.2 beer, it was pointed out, the alleged buyer can testify the beer he bought and drank may have contained for all he knows more than 3.2 per cent alcohol.

In such a case all that remains, observers have said, is for the defense to prove dismissal on the grounds the county court would have jurisdiction if the buyer is stronger than 3.2, for their the offense would be a felony.

In district court, on the other hand, a chemical analysis would be necessary to prove where jurisdiction lay, and the beer, having been consumed, is hardly susceptible to analysis. More possession of beer, it has been ruled, is not an offense.

WARNED OF 'BEER BREATHS'

DALLAS, Tex. (UP).—Not intoxicated, but "beer breath," is the sin which City Manager John N. Eddy has warned municipal employees to beware of. Eddy's warning was found after several citizens protested that the mallow odor which came from several city employees was offensive. Nobody complained the employees were intoxicated, Eddy said.

FAIR SHOWED PROFIT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP).—Although the Brown county fair showed a profit of only $11.35 this year, officials are jubilant. In past years the fair lost money, but the black ink figures on the profit side of the ledger assure sponsors that the event will be held again next year. The fair cost $15,366.85, while receipts were $15,378.20.

Court Acquitted Dog in Trial for Death of Boy

DETROIT, (UP).—A court exonerated a dog of blame in the death of nine-year-old Harold Gardner, killed when run over by an automobile here recently.

William Gardner, the boy's father, was suing for $20,000 damages, contending that "Queenie" owned by Irving Bacon chased Harold under the car. A jury decided that the dog could not be blamed.

Wyoming Dry Clause Will Stick Until 1934 by Law

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP).—Wyoming wet leaders have abandoned hopes of removing the dry clause in the state constitution before the regular general election of November, 1934.

Predominant anti-prohibition sentiment was indicated in the overwhelming vote cast by the state for the repeal of the 18th Amendment. Wyoming was one of the first states to ratify the 21st Amendment.

The state constitution, however, provides that the legislature must initiate an amendment and the electorate must vote on it at a regular election.

Hence, with national repeal of prohibition near, Wyoming still will have prohibition, at least nominally, for almost a year.

The last regular session of the legislature, however, repealed all state enforcement laws so that the dry clause in the constitution is expected to have little actual effect.

BEER ENDS FAMED CAFE

JUAREZ, Mex. (UP).—Legalization of 3.2 beer and hard times have written finis to the history of the Popular Cabaret here. Grace Martinez, operator of the place which once headlined the Calle Diablo with more than 40 girl entertainers, said she planned to open a restaurant in New Mexico.

leading them to discount reports that she was a hitch-hiker. Roy Chilwood, district attorney's investigator, said the woman's manured finger nails, the shreds of expensive clothing and the clean condition of the body indicate that she was accustomed to working indoors.

Hair Dyed The woman was about 30 years old, weighed about 125 pounds, had grey-blue eyes, a small thin mouth, light brown hair touched with ash-burn that officers believe had been dyed, and a small scar that creased the tip of her nose.

Clothing Missing Sheriff Anderson said a search of the highway for 20 miles east of Van Horn today failed to reveal any trace of the slain woman's clothing. A scarred leather purse containing an expensive lipstick and powder puff was found two miles from the woman's body.

Special Mass Celebrates Rome's Mass Marriages

The wedding march was the popular tune of the day when 5,000 men and women were the principals in mass weddings throughout Italy, following the appeal of Premier Mussolini for more marriages and more children to repopulate the nation. In Rome 700 couples were married at their various parishes, and the brides and grooms here are pictured as they all assembled in the church of Santa Maria Degli Angeli for the celebration of a special mass.

Lindy Relives His Greatest Triumph

Noble Country Doctor Played by Barrymore

A friend in sickness, and a forgotten man when the health is good and the bills come in. That, too often, is the lot of the doctor, the country physician, city specialist, or famous surgeon. The butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker must have their money on time, but the doctor's bill can wait.

Lionel Barrymore, in his role of a rural practitioner in RKO-Radio Pictures' new drama, "One Man's Journey," at the Yucca theatre today and Friday, overcomes this human failing to a certain extent by accepting fees in farm produce. The only handicap to the system is the fact that he can't pay off his mortgage in turnips and potatoes.

By saving the life of the banker's son he meets that mortgage, however, and is in a position to salvage the happiness of a girl he loves as a daughter.

Dorothy Jordan plays that girl, and James Bush is the boy in her rear-traffic romance. Another love affair in the film features Joel McCrea and Frances Dee, while Barrymore has his own tender moments with May Robson, seen in the picture as his bustling housekeeper.

PASTOR CURES HORSES MILFORD, Pa. (UP)—The Rev. J. C. Hanby, whose pastorate is the Houston Methodist church, has gained wide prominence for his ability to cure horses suffering from a disease that has taken so great a toll that farmers were compelled to trade their stock for fall plowing.

The redhead duck often lays its eggs in the nests of other ducks; the incubation period of the redhead is short, and its youngsters get a head start over the rightful nestlings.

Tires Wear Less In Cold Weather

Automobile tires applied in the fall or early winter, average approximately 30 per cent longer wear than tires initiated into use during the spring or summer, according to Ralph Lowe, local Goodyear dealer.

This surprising statement is based upon information resulting from a study by Goodyear technicians of the operation of tires on hundreds of buses in all parts of the United States.

The reason for the increased mileage is quite obvious when some of a tire's peculiarities are known. Tires' greatest enemy is heat. In the fall and winter seasons, however, rain, snow and cold definitely add to the life of tires by keeping them cool. Then, too, average driving speeds are lower during the winter months and this contributes further to increased life of tires.

The net result is that motorists who replace tires in the fall and winter have the advantage of safe, anti-skid traction when driving conditions are most hazardous and have tires practically as good as new for the summer months.

BALES OF BONDS NOW LADDER

BAYFIELD, Wis. (UP)—Bales of paper used by painters to stand on while painting the community house here were found to be bonds issued for a huge Bayfield harbor project in 1892. The harbor was to be the terminus of the Great Western Railroad and Bayfield was believed destined to become a great commercial city. The project fell through after part of the railroad was built.

Episcopal Society Plans Winter Work

The Episcopal auxiliary in a meeting this week outlined plans for future work.

Beginning at the next meeting, Nov. 20, members will study a series of lectures on the history of the church which are sent out by the national church.

As a winter project, layettes will be made out of remnants of material left in the welfare room.

Plans are being completed for a buffet supper to be given at the Frank Johnson home Saturday evening, Nov. 18, in honor of Bishop Straman and the Rev. W. H. Martin. Auxiliary members and their husbands will attend.

53,936 PIGS BOUGHT BY U. S.

DENVER, Col. (UP)—A total of 53,936 pigs and sows have passed through the Denver stockyards in the government's hog-buying program. A ratio short of the government's original plan of buying one sow to every four or five pigs, failed, however, with the total number of animals having passed into the government's hands including 1,083 sows.

Russia plans on building the world's "finest highway." The road will be laid a distance of 268 miles between Moscow and Nizhni Novgorod; all intersections will be underpasses and an average speed of 75 miles an hour will be possible.

FROGS, NODAKS

PLAY SATURDAY

FORT WORTH—Coach Jack West's North Dakota Sioux and Coach Francis Schmidt's Horned Frogs meet for the first time in the history of the two schools on the T. C. U. gridiron in Fort Worth next Saturday.

Both teams were outstanding in their particular sections last year. Neither team has gone anywhere in particular so far this season. Both coaches have small squads, with numerous injuries.

It would seem then, that the two teams should be about evenly matched and that the spectators will be treated to a real football battle.

The Christians, by virtue of their 7-10-0 defeat at the hands of the Baylor Bears, dropped back into a three-way tie for fourth place in the conference standings. T. C. U., Baylor and S. M. U. all have a percentage of 333. The tie will be broken up Saturday, however, for while Baylor is meeting Texas and the Methodists are playing the Aggies, the Frogs will be engaged in the non-conference tilt with North Dakota.

In the full season standings the Frogs rank third in the conference, with 5 victories, 2 losses and 1 tie. They are headed by Arkansas, with but one defeat, and A. & M., with two. There are no undefeated teams in the southwest conference in full season play.

The showing of Rex Clark, who alternated at halfback with Casper, was one of the bright spots for the Frogs in last week's defeat. Clark broke through the Baylor defense for sensational gains upon several occasions, and will undoubtedly get an opportunity to show what he can do against North Dakota.

This week's practice sessions will contain a lot of work on pass catching. In the Frogs' last two games—against Centenary and Baylor—"touchdown" passes have been dropped on at least three occasions.

Injuries are still causing the Christian coaches plenty of worry. Kline went into the Baylor fray with an injured hand and hurt it again. Casper has a charley horse as the result of a kick on the leg. Perkins played with a broken finger. Hill, out for a month with a broken ankle, is again out for practice, but won't be able to do much Saturday. Langston played Saturday with so many bandages he looked like a mummy. Jack is out for the season with a back injury.

Ancient races on tiny Easter Island, in the South Pacific, carved hundreds of giant stone images, and stood them up in groups, along the sloping shoreline. The enormous statues were rolled from the quarries and erected without the aid of lumber, since the island was entirely treeless.

"War horse" jackrabbits are reported by Kansas farmer-ranchers, who claim that, according to an old Indian legend, such invasions always mean a war is coming. The rabbits, big as dogs, drive out ordinary rabbits, attack coyotes, gnaw freshly painted woodwork and wreck tires of the farmers' trucks.
