Stores to Remain

Open on Armistice

Business houses in Midland, as in practically every other town in the country, will remain open Saturday, even though it is Armistice day. Merchants said that due to so many farmers bringing produce to town and that people came to Midland to trade from as far away as Gaines country and Let county, N. M., it would be a hardship on them to find stores here closed.

Many merchants are arraging to see the football game or let part of their employes off to see the game at 2:30.

The rest of the county lives on the distant ranches along windmill the distant ranches about two feet high. There is a four teacher school of which White of Pyote is the superintendent. Water is a problem, most of it coming from Balmorhea or from water is a problem, most of it coming from town and selling at 50 to 75 cents a barrel. The home wells are known as the Randau wells.

The biggest rancham in the section is Dr. W.

Goes to Funeral

Of Truck Victim

J. D. Hicks, night clerk at Hotel Scharbauer, is at San Angelo today attending the funeral of his cousin, Millard King of that city, who died from injuries received in an automobile-truck crash Wednesday right six miles from Ballinger.

King and C. T. Matthews, also of San Angelo, were killed instantly when they were pinned under the wreckage. O. C. Abernathy of Sterling City, driver of the truck, was thrown 20 yards into a ditch and John Pierson, also of Sterling City, and Abernathy's companion, died in a Ballinger hospital four hours after the crash.

C. W. Smith, owner of the truck, who was driving just ahead of it, discovered the accident. He waited at Ballinger a short time for the truck to appear and when it failed for oil while geologists was founded old Porterville, down on the banks of the Pecos three miles away, moved here. Site of old Porterville is easily recograzed by the rank growth of mesquite trees and salt cedars, found here on the river in abundance. It was once a prosperous irrigation district but today there is not a farm in the county though some farms will be established as the waters of the Red Bluff dam up the river become available. One of the best roads in the country is the old Butterheid trail laid out nearly 100 years ago. People still travel it on the east side of Pecos, and it crosses the Pecos about 15 miles from here. It's smooth road that leads to the Guad alupe mountains. Old Roy Bear and Jif Spears, the father of Walter Spears of San Angelo, used to drive up that trail, one hears here spears used to wear ar armor and drive up that trail, one hears here. Spears used to wear ar armor and when Indians attacked, got out, tied his mules and fought it out.

Thirty-five miles up the river is the crumbling adobe houses that mark the site of old Fort Pope, where Indians massacred the soldiers about 100 years ago. Treasure hunters look for the payroll supposed to have been buried by the paymsatre at that time. History says little of Fort Pope, but there are legends here that you hear in the starlight as you sit by the chuckwagons after suppertime.

The department of commerce maintains an airport here in charge of Sergeant E. R. Nicholson, who put in 30 years in the army and then retired. "He did not kill a soul while he was in there," taunted one of his friends in good humor. Answered the sergeant: "I went in there to retire and not to kill."

There is also a golf course here—it was laid off before they built the courthouse. There are three miles of paved highway, one postoffice, ore school, no railway, though the Santa Fe has a stop about five miles away, and the town has no electric lights. It has gas 'however run by E. G. Langley of Odessa with about 75 customers. At one edge of the town there is the location of an old Indian village about three miles long and two miles wide. There people still pick up arrow heads, heads and other relics. Fences in the country are four wire but there are not as many miles as you find in the ordinary ranch country.

the home? The Foods I class as just completed a study of the prevention of food spoilage and of the storage of foods.

You might ask, "What causes food to spoil?" There are three micro-organisms which cause food to spoil. They are mold, bacteria, and yeast. Molds grow mostly on carbohydrate foods. Bacteria develops in foods such as milk, meats, and canned foods. Yeast also grows on car-bohydrate foods. To prevent these micro-organisms from growing on foods, we must have a storage space that is clean, free from darkness,

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter: "I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child — 9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which over-come constipation: "Bulk" to ex-ercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Pequots, now New London County Taxes were increased and increased An Old Story interest in preparation for other wars was noted. The leaders the fighting wrote their memoirs, and altercations arose as to who won the stores.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP).—The bonus for former warriors is as old as the Indian wars of the early settlers, according to Howard Bradstreet, who reviews the fight between the English settlers in Connecticut with the Pequots, which in Connecticut, had subjugated the other Indians and the determination of the white settlers on a war, though they were inexperienced in Indian fighting, was a "remarkable action to take," Bradstreet writes.

The General Court decided on the war at Hartford, May 1, 1637, and by July 13, the same year, the Indian power had been broken. The white men struck quickly, killing men, women and children as they drove the Indians from the state, Bradstreet relates. Then came the aftermath, just as it has in modern days.

FAMOUS PITT COACH H OLDING, according to the football code of the rules committee, is unfair and eliminates skill. "The slowest man in the world could make a 40-yard run on every play, if the rest of his teammates would hold their opponents

long enough," the code says. There are many ways the underhanded lineman can hold his opponent out of play with little chance of being seen. One of these is to circle the side of the opponent with the arm that is away from the referee, letting the other hang in a legal position, as shown in sketch. Another is to grasp a charging opponent underneath the thigh as he charges through, holding him just long enough to slow him up, and then letting him free. These are only a few instances of holding, but they are probably the two most likely to be over-looked by the busy referee.

the Purple and Gold.

The coffee odds are nil—and you pick your own club.

Midland coaches have watched Stanton in two contests, against Wink and against Fort Stockton. In the former contest, Wink was so decidedly stronger that Stanton had to punt every time the Buffs got that, all other factors being equal, the ball. But punt the Buffs did—so well that Pecos could cross the Stanton pay dit only twice while will win. Stanton pay dirt only twice while ringing up a grand total of more than 400 yards gained from scrim-mage. In the Fort Stockton game, though Stanton won by the bare margin of a point converted after its only touchdown, the Buffs seem-proved Fort Stockton eleven. A rehash of what each club has done against representative competition: Stanton lost to Pecos 25-0, Midland lost to Pecos 20-6; Stan-Midland lost to Fecos 20-6, Stanton lost to Wink 12-0, Midland lost to Wink 33-0: Midland beat Fort Stockton 19-6: Stanton won from Fort Stockton 7-6.
