

BIG HIJACKING RING DISCOVERED

40-YEAR TERM FOR ALLEN IS RULED TODAY

Technicality Is Cause For Reaffirming The Sentence

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (UP)—The court of criminal appeals ruled today that John S. Allen must serve a 40-year sentence for murder because his conviction was nullified by a previous reversal of the case.

Allen was convicted in Gregg county in connection with the killing of Roy King, December 1, 1932. King was Allen's landlord.

The appellate court in a former opinion held that a statement made by King after he was shot and before his death was improperly admitted at the trial.

The court today granted the state's rehearing and affirmed the sentence. The record was certified by Judge W. C. Morrow said bills of exception appeared to have been filed 104 days after the appeal notice was entered, while the statute provides a 90-day limit.

Liability of farmers owing Sherrill's office to pay cotton loans over in full may be avoided by signing the 1934 cotton acreage contracts, Sherrill said.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. (UP)—Secretary today turned control of production under the oil code a new economic adventure of the "first magnitude."

Legionnaires Go To Snyder Nov. 4

SNYDER—A program that includes such notables as Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt, and entertainment that includes dancing and feasts, has already been arranged for the 18th district American Legion convention, which convenes in Snyder November 4 and 5.

The smallest city that has ever entertained the veterans of this prodigious district, Commander Lee T. Stinson and other members of the local post declare that it will be one of the most successful sessions on the records. All Snyder is making plans to parade, to decorate, to entertain and to perform in order that her guests might go home pleased.

Among legion notables who are making plans to be present for the two-day session are: L. Van Perkins of Cameron, department commander; George E. Hughes of Abilene, department adjutant; A. Garland Adair of McCamey, department historian; George E. Broome of Amarillo, alternate national committee man; M. J. Benefield of Brantley, division commander; O. Spear of Childress, 18th district executive committeeman.

Since Snyder is on the extreme southern tip of the district, many legionnaires are planning to attend from adjoining districts. The host city is not far from the center of West Texas, 80 miles from Lubbock and Abilene, 40 miles from Sweetwater, 65 miles from Big Spring, 120 miles from San Angelo. Three state highways and one national highway meet here, and the Santa Fe and R. S. & P. railroads traverse the city limits.

A number of reservations have already been made at local hotels. The housing committee reports that many homes have already been offered for use of delegates, and they are anticipating no trouble in handling the expected crowd of 700 to 1,000 visitors.

Montreal Arguments Once More Revived

MONTREAL (UP)—The old question of whether or not Montreal is the fifth largest city in the North American continent has been revived by newspapers here.

One newspaper claims that Greater Montreal, with a population this year of 1,333,396, is smaller than New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit, Chicago.

Another maintains that there are at least three other cities—Boston, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh—that have a larger population than Montreal, and adds that there are several more that probably rank as equal to or greater than Montreal, including Cleveland, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Coach Tries To Live Down Old Rumor

CHIPPewa Falls, Wis. (UP)—Bill Zorn, football coach at Eau Claire Teachers College, still is attempting to live down a football blunder he never committed.

Eleven years ago while playing football with the University of Chicago against Princeton, a substitute center got his signals mixed and passed the ball to Zorn instead of the quarterback. Zorn, who made a touchdown. That play demoralized the Chicago team and Princeton won, 21 to 18.

Zorn is blamed for the miscue after the game, but Coach Amos Alozo Stag vindicated the fullback in his book, "Touchdown." Zorn, however, still bears the time he lost a game for Chicago.

Whisky Destroying Mechanism Fails

McPHERSON, Kan. (UP)—Failure of Vaughn Duncan's mechanism for destroying liquor cost him $131.70 today when his filling station was raided for liquor.

Duncan had dug a foot-square shaft 12 feet into the ground in front of his station. Over it he placed his desk, with two trap doors and an arrangement for tipping a truck and dumping bottles of whisky into the hole.

Police entered. Duncan sprung the trap door.

The liquor crashed to the bottom of the hole, but only six of 10 bottles broke, leaving four for evidence. The fine followed.

The Pecos Eagles are favorites, having defeated both Marfa and Fort Stockton by top-heavy scores, while Stanton has lost its first conference game to Wink, 12 to 0.

District 3's north half now has three chief contenders for the championship, Pecos, Wink, (both undefeated teams), and Midland, playing its first conference tilt against Wink Saturday at Wink.

Marfa, rallying from her 20 to 6 defeat at the hands of Pecos, retaliated by winning over Odessa, 10 to 0.

Clumsy Clothes Is Forecast of Experts

LONDON (UP)—Women's fashions are going to be clumsy this winter, say London dress experts.

Not only will there be all the top-heavy frills and furberlows of the Edwardian era, but modern touches will tend, by their incongruity, to make the fashionable women look slightly "Mrs. Grundy."

There are heavy evening cloaks, more fitting as a Moroccan sheik's burnous, high-cut backless frocks, and huge collars which have been nicknamed "suicide" because they obstruct their wearers' view.

The most fashionable color and material is prune velvet which was all the rage in the 90's.

Mannequins at recent shows here have been miming, or striding around overlaid with trucks and killed pleats and foamy frilled skirt hems and bodices.

Trimmings at the top and toes of dresses are a general trend—just those old dirt paths of the up-bowling past. The frocks are skin-tight except where the frills float and foam.

STATE-WIDE IN SCOPE, RING IS SAID POWERFUL

Twenty-five Jailed; Political Support Is Alleged

DALLAS, Oct. 25. (UP)—A well-organized merchandising hi-jacking ring, concentrated in North Texas but extending its lines throughout the state, was uncovered by five Rangers in an investigation here.

More than 25 persons were in various jails in the region.

Indications that leaders had political and official supporters was seen when news of the investigation leaked out and the ranger headquarters at Austin was swamped with demands that the investigators be removed.

Samuel J. Cohna said North Texas is a "little Chicago in merchandising hi-jacking." In Dallas alone more than $100,000 worth of merchandise has been stolen or handled in past years.

Grand jury action was probable as result of the investigation.

Asks B'Spring to Wichita Airline

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Senator T. P. Gore of Oklahoma asked the commerce department to light the airway between Tulsa and Kansas City at a probable cost of $12,000, and said afterward he was "not discouraged" by the department's attitude.

Gore also said he had opened negotiations by which he hoped an air line now connecting Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls, Texas, would be extended to Big Spring, Texas, and designated as an air mail route.

Broken Neck Was Not Fatal to Dog

BOSTON (UP)—Kim, a fox terrier owned by Dr. Newton Harvey of Princeton, N. J., has been successfully treated for a broken neck at Angell Memorial Hospital here.

Bible School Night At Chris. Revival

Special nights are attracting great crowds at the First Christian church revival, further announcements were made today by the Rev. E. B. Chancelor, pastor.

"In the revival at the First Christian church tonight the evangelist will preach on the subject of 'Godliness and the Profitableness of It.'" One of the high school girls will sing "How Sweet the Name." Miss Graves and Mrs. Cole will be heard in "Songs that Our Mothers Sang." This is assigned in the revival as "Bible school night," also as "Mothers' and Daughters' Night."

The big audience gathered last night and the service was most inspirational. Frank Carpenter was heard in two splendid numbers of song. Mrs. Cole sang "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" Excuses were the subject of the evangelist's message. Last night was in honor of "Fathers and Sons." The ordinance of Christian baptism was administered at the close of the invitation.

"Shame" Campaign To Assist NRA

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (UP)—The American legion post here started a campaign today to shame citizens into avoiding business institutions which ignore the NRA codes.

Major Stiles Decker, chairman of the compliance board, asked legionnaires to aid in a campaign probably to include picketing and erection of a huge bulletin board in a public place on which names of offenders would be "written in letters of shame."

Oklahoma Farm a Paradise for Snakes

WEATHERFORD, Okla. (UP)—A veritable snake's paradise where the reptiles live unmolested and feed on insects and mice in thick underbrush and grass has been established by J. M. Kroeker, a farmer living southwest of here.

None is permitted to disturb the reptiles in their retreat. For more than 3 years Kroeker has been driving all the snakes he finds on his quarter section of land into the small cottonwood grove.

He kills only rattlesnakes and will allow none of this variety to enter the retreat. Kroeker said the snakes are invaluable for destroying mice and insects on his farm and that this fact is his reason for encouraging their presence.

Visitors report that some of the reptiles, particularly the bull snakes, have attained immense size. Some are said to have been on the farm since Kroeker moved there 30 years ago.

STORES WILL NOT CLOSE ARMISTICE

Business men of Midland voted Tuesday to keep their stores open Armistice day. Several other towns in this area will also remain open.

They all said they wished to observe the day and always had, but as it comes on Saturday this year, the trade interference with people from the country and from distant points was too great.

A few wished to close a few hours in the afternoon, four voted to close all day, one wished to observe Monday as a holiday, but a majority of seven to four, with one not voted, wished to remain open Saturday.

Those who favored closing advanced that Armistice day was a national holiday and had always been observed here, and should be observed this year even though it comes on Saturday. They declared advanced warning would let people understand to shop on Friday.

Those who favored remaining open said farmers brought their produce on Saturdays; that Saturday is a farmer's day; that nearly 50 per cent of the week's business is done on Saturday and as business is poor merchants could not afford to miss this business, and that Midland draws trade from 65 to 85 miles away and that people coming to Midland from a distance would be done an injustice to come so far and not be able to buy what they need.

The meeting was in high good humor and all agreed to abide by a majority decision, though those favoring remaining open declared that it was perfectly agreeable with them for any merchants in any particular line who wished to act as a unit, to close for the day if they see fit.

The meeting was opened by a prayer and the meeting was presided over by George Philippus was elected chairman of the meeting.

Queer Requests For Loans Made

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Obtaining loans from Uncle Sam on public works projects seems to be a favorite pastime of dreamers, inventors and would-be billionaires.

Some of the ideas for putting to work the public works dollar rival those of Jules Verne. Here are a few made public by the northwest district FWA board.

One militarist suggested construction of a fleet of concrete battleships. Thousands of men would get work building the dreadnaughts, which the inventor guaranteed to float, and America would "rule the waves."

Another wanted to build a steel tower a mile high, containing 48 platforms each named after a state. A runway for motorists would lead to the top.

The owner of a broken-down circus wanted a government loan to refinance his tent show. He offered three elephants to Uncle Sam as security.

A mathematician wanted a rocket ship constructed for a trip to the moon. Much money could be spent, and science possibly benefited.

A town of 4,000 residents wanted a loan to build a maternity hospital equipped to handle 1,000 births a year.

GERMANY'S SHOWDOWN MAY AWAKEN EUROPE

There are two ways of looking at almost everything, and the current war scare in Europe is no exception.

If you like, you can consider Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations a calamitous step, a threat to the peace of the world and a harbinger of exceedingly stormy weather just ahead. It certainly looks like that, on the surface; certainly it has produced more war talk than anything that has happened since 1918.

But it is also possible to see in it one of those sudden shocks which occasionally jar a chemical solution into crystallization.

For there is this about it; into a meeting of statesmen who came to talk disarmament without having any very solid intention of doing anything concrete about it there stalked one man with nerve enough to toss a put-up-or-shut-up proposition on the table.

What Herr Hitler said, in effect, was simply this: We're here to discuss arms reduction, and under the Versailles treaty all hands are pledged to do a little reducing. Since you don't seem to be doing anything about this, Germany is out.

It was, in other words, something very like the calling of a bluff. Whether this was Hitler's motive in taking that step may not be clear; that, however, is what it seems to amount to.

If the Allied nations are shocked and worried by this drastic action, they have only themselves to blame.

They devised, in the Versailles treaty, a sure-fire means of keeping Germany's mind on the gains that could be had through a successful new war. They pledged themselves to cut their own armed forces, and then refused to do it. They held arms conference after arms conference and let each one fizzle out in a froth of empty words.

During the years since the war Germany had a succession of very "moderate" governments—governments which were devoted to keeping the peace. Concessions on treaty revision or arms reduction could have been made to those governments with safety. They were not made, although they were requested over and over again.

Now Germany has a jingoistic government which proposes to have a showdown. Menacing as the situation appears, it may be that this showdown will, in the long run, help to clear the air and remove the sense of unreality from the whole disarmament question.

MORE FLEXIBLE NRA

Reports from Washington to the effect that small employers in small towns presently may be exempted from the NRA re-employment agreement indicates that a much-needed flexibility is about to be injected into the program.

It already has been discovered that living up to an NRA agreement can be a terrific handicap for the little fellow—the small town man who runs a little restaurant, or a barber shop, or a filling station, or a little grocery store. A lot of such employers, with the best will in the world, simply cannot afford to comply with all Blue Eagle requirements.

The wise thing, probably, would be to ease up on them. For it is not, after all, the little employer who is most important in this program; it is the big fellow who needs jacking up the most. And if the government can devote more attention to him by letting some of the little fellows off, the whole NRA program is apt to go forward more effectively.

Inasmuch as his "office" will be located with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, 8810 miles south of Washington, it is not thought that one of the major duties of the newly appointed postmaster of "Little America" will be the sorting of incoming mail.

A visitor at the World's Fair at Chicago tried to get by with a ticket for the fair of 1893. Isn't it a pity that he didn't have a rain check?

ons. Now and then a hound would take in after a rabbit and follow him so far that he would be clear out of sight of the wagon. About that time he would sight a ranch house and would go there instead. Somebody around the place would give the hound some flour-and-water gravy or a bacon rind and he would spend the rest of his days there in gratitude.

Times have changed in a lot of ways. If I'm not mistaken, I've had to buy all the watermelons I have eaten for the past five years.

Things are more like old times in some ways, however. A few days ago I saw some jovial townsmen driving around with a trailer on the car. On the trailer was a keg and on the keg was a spigot. They would drive up in front of a friend's house, call him out and draw him a big stein of beer. After a brief social chat they would leave for another friend's house. That's what I call hospitality on wheels.

Educational note: Since President Roosevelt's Sunday night speech, the word "chiseler" has been officially advanced from a slang expression to one of colloquialism.

South Africa Is Hit by Drought

JOHANNESBURG (UP).—South Africa has just been through the worst drought in her history.

Harrowing tales have been reported from the native districts. Thousands of cattle are dead or dying, and thousands of natives have been near starvation.

A native in an outlying district of Basutoland was committed for trial on a charge of eating two of his children. He pleaded that he did it to save his life, for he was starving. It is estimated that a million sheep have died in Basutoland in 12 months. From Vryheid, Natal, it was reported that animals were walking skeletons, and were falling dead from thirst on the veldt, which resembled a desert.

At Wepener, in the Free State, heart-rendering scenes occurred as the farmers detoured their sheep after a vain search over a wide area for grazing. Many of the sheep died in the trucks. In one herd 200 fell dead during a five-mile trek. One big Natal colliery closed owing to lack of water, and others have been running with the aid of underground pumps, while the government ran water trains to supply residents. At Bloemhof, Transvaal, most of the wells and bore-holes dried, leaving the inhabitants almost waterless. The North-West, the Cape, and South West Africa also have been stricken badly. Vryburg was declared a drought-stricken area and obtained government relief.

SPIDER WHIPPED TARANTULA NILES, Calif. (UP).—Football season was just getting into full swing, but sports-minded residents of Niles had unusual tastes. Joe Michado and Frank Silva captured a tarantula. John Andrade captured a "mongrel" spider, only "pint size," but with plenty of hair on his chest. Tarantula and "mongrel" were pitted in a glass jar "arena" before 50 breathless spectators. The "mongrel" won the nod.

SOCIETY

Juvenile Study Club to Be Organized Here

The National Junior Shakespeare Story Telling club, through the assistance of Midland teachers, will soon form a branch of the association here.

The club is educational in purpose and designed to acquaint every grade school child with works of the famous bard, in such a way as to appear like play to the student who enrolls.

At the same time, the study prepares the student for high school English studies, and those who are not fortunate enough to advance beyond the grades will have a working knowledge of the classics.

The plan consists of story hours for the children. The groups will meet and tell Shakespearean stories in simplified form. Diplomas will be awarded each child who completes the prescribed course.

The national association now reaches into practically every state and has been immensely successful. Aside from the fact that members of the club are improving their education and mastery of English, there is a social feature. Parents and teachers have endorsed the plan with enthusiasm.

Mrs. J. R. Ashley, who will supervise the club's activities, says Shakespearean dances, songs, biographical study and regular election of officers will accompany the program.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medicinal discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package? May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

CLEAN FOOTBALL

JOCK SUTHERLAND

FAMOUS PITT COACH

ONE of the most unsportsmanlike stunts on the gridiron comes from the stone age of football. Despite the antiquity of this action, it is still practiced by some players. The deed is performed with malice aforethought, and generally by a blocker who has no thought for clean football. Running interference for a fellow back into the line, the player leaves his feet, does a body roll, and flings his feet into the air, hoping that his flying cleats will meet the face of some charging lineman. This is unfair football of the worst sort. They don't make penalties stiff enough for this type of play. Many an old-time gridiron great carries scars inflicted by just such sort of action. The sketch illustrates this example of poor sportsmanship.

Out of the SCRUGGS DAIRY MILK BOTTLE

COMES FOOD VALUE

The United States Labor Department suggests that if the food budget is limited twenty-five to thirty cents out of every dollar expended should go for milk or its equivalent. That is because milk contains practically every element necessary for health. And the milk should, for greatest return, be of the fine, unvarying quality in Scruggs Dairy milk.
