Scouts' Carrier Pigeon Arrives But Note Lost

Carrier pigeons used by boy scouts at Camp Nueces to deliver mail to Midland have not proved satisfactory.

The only pigeon out of three that were turned loose prior to this morning, arrived at its cot at the home of the Rev. Winston P. Borum Monday, but a message tied to its leg had been lost. It was believed scouts were afraid to go long distances. That to arrive Monday had flown only 50 miles in tests. Another pigeon was to be loosed this morning at the scout camp, the minister said.

The two birds that did not return are believed to have been, or been caught by hawks or eagles. The rough country between here and the Nueces river is infested with plenty of both. The two pigeons had not flown except around Midland, and were not strong enough to go long distances. That to arrive Monday had flown only 50 miles in tests. Another pigeon was to be loosed this morning at the scout camp, the minister said.

The distance to the encampment is about 225 miles.

Big Spring's victory over Lamesans prompted the champions to a battle with Sweetwater. Midland players threw up their chance by losing a week ago to Stanton 24 to 16.

'UNDEVELOPED' IS SHORT WORD BUT IT MAY MEAN 2 MILLION TO TURNER

The word "undeveloped" contains only 11 letters, but they may prove to be the most expensive letters ever written on the statutes books of the State of Texas as far as they concern bright young men who work upon the theory that the surveyors had laid out the section lines in this great "undeveloped" state were often careless.

Fred Turner of Midland won 531 acres of land in the middle of the Yates county. He held in Pecos county. It looked like he had a couple of millions in his pocket—but like a lot of money—it is still just one lawsuit away.

Out in Fort Stockton one Guy Holcomb will endeavor to get a jury to agree with him that there is a vacancy between sections 61 and 60 on the river side of the Yates pool. It looked like he had a couple of millions in his pocket—but like a lot of money—it is still just one lawsuit away.

Sign of Recovery

Soon you will see this badge in red and blue, reproduced in shop windows, on factories, on the labels of goods, on letterheads. It means that the proprietors of the factory or shop displaying the sign, or makers of goods bearing it, are co-operating with the National Recovery Administration by adopting the working conditions which the administration believes necessary for recovery. The president himself has urged that organizations displaying this label be patronized rather than others that have refused to co-operate.

"Will you take the initiative to direct a campaign of education and organization which is to be a part of a national movement to speed the return of prosperity through the expansion of consumer purchasing power in accordance with the principles set forth in the national recovery act."

"I will communicate with you covering the further steps in this campaign upon receipt of your reply."

"It is an inspiring thing to be a part of a great national movement to restore economic security to our people and I appeal to you to marshal all the forces of your community in the united effort to get rid of unemployment."

Big Lake Remains In Permian Basin

McCAMEY.—After having received the Big Lake baseball club's notice of withdrawal from the Permian Basin league, Bill Collins, the league secretary, was advised late Friday that the Big Lake entry had been reorganized and would remain in the circuit, going ahead with the present schedule. According to information received by the secretary, a Mr. Taylor is replacing S. M. Erskine as manager of the club. Several new players have been added and the club is out to annex a few games.

S. M. Erskine had filed Big Lake's notice of withdrawal last Wednesday. Financial difficulties and lack of support were given as the reasons for checking out.

PRESIDENT GETTING THOUSANDS OF WIRES

WASHINGTON, July 25. (UP)—Pledges of allegiance approaching wartime fervor poured into the government today as Americans answered President Roosevelt's call for a united, immediate offensive against the depression.

An official of one telegraph company recalled that there had been no such response to such a presidential appeal since President Wilson's call in 1917, summoned the nation to a different kind of war.

"It will be done," was the slogan of thousands of messages to the White House.

The essence of the president's nation wide appeal was: "If all employers act together to shorten hours and raise wages they can put people back to work. No employer will suffer because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable number lags or shirks the great opportunity will pass and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen."

The president called upon all employers in the nation to put into immediate effect the voluntary code of shorter working hours and elevate wage levels.

Summons the country to a quick attack upon the depression, Mr. Roosevelt in a talk to the people over the radio announced his purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town a roll of honor of all those who join with me.

Honor Rolls "I ask" he said, "that even before the dates set in agreement which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellow and the little fellow—shall at once write or telegraph me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plans. And it is my purpose to keep in the postoffice of every town, a roll of honor of all those who join with me."

Praising the cooperation so far given to the attempt for American industry to spread work and increase wages, the president said he would not be satisfied until the country to thwart "this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage."

He noted there are adequate penalties in law to meet this but he urged instead a voluntary cooperation and announced this would be the only instrument used "in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

He urged instead a voluntary cooperation and announced this would be the only instrument used "in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

"But we shall use them to the limit," he stated, "to protect the willing from the laggard and make the plan succeed."

He expressed his belief that the people would mobilize the great resources of the nation behind the plan to divide work and to give all living wages.

"The essence of the plan," he explained, "is a universal limitation of hours of work per week for any individual by common consent, and a universal payment of wages above a minimum, also by common consent."

In his third talk to the nation since his inauguration, the president analyzed the full payment which congress gave him the power to carry through.

He said the credit of the nation had been maintained by balancing the budget. The credit of the individual, he said, was being maintained by restoring the purchasing power of the dollar and by the home loan act, the farm loan act and the bankruptcy act.

He assured there would be no "smell of the pork barrel" in public works program.

Turning to the task of building a "more lasting prosperity," he said "we cannot attain that in a nation half boom and half broke."

Two things, he declared, must be done to find better days: first, improvement of the prices of farm products; second, "bringing back industry along sound lines."

Mr. Roosevelt expressed confidence that farm conditions were improving and would continue so under operation of the farm act.

He then went into his appeal for wholehearted support for the national plan for shorter working hours and higher wages.

Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the industrial recovery act, was in the room in the White House with the president as he spoke.

Talking picture cameras lined the side of the oval room on the White House ground floor to record the scene.

Others present included Mrs. Johnson, Marvin H. McIntyre, one of the president's secretaries; Miss Marguerite Lehend and Miss Taula Tully of the White House secretarial staff; L. W. Robert, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Miss F. M. Robinson, secretary to Johnson.

Mr. Roosevelt directed his appeal particularly to the smaller employers, and said the great task depended upon these men who are in a position to hire from one to ten (See RECOVERY ACT, page 4)

GRAIN TRADE TOLD IT MUST HOUSE-CLEAN

WASHINGTON, July 25.—In a warning to put their own house in order or the government would reform grain market practices, the farm administration informed the grain trade Monday that it did not recognize that the present trading regime "has any divine right to handle the farmers' products."

George M. Peek, chief administrator of the farm act, issued the warning at a conference of representatives of the grain industry shortly before they took steps to explore the possibility of establishing a code of competition under which stringent regulations covering commodity marketing would be established.

Peek and other administrators, aroused over the recent sharp rise and fall in wheat, corn and other grain prices, expressed the intention of taking the initiative in "reforming grain marketing practices" unless the exchanges obtain results by mutual consent.

Commodities representing grain exchanges, terminal elevators and country elevators opened the effort to draft an agreement by beginning special studies to determine the possibilities of each for application of a code which would be submitted under either the farm adjustment act or national recovery act.

Three of the chief provisions considered for insertion in the code of proposed regulations to:

Establish permanent limits on the daily fluctuations in grain prices to prevent precipitous rises and falls in quotations.

Increase margin requirements of traders to discourage "speculation on a shooting star."

Setting maximum limits on the volume of grain involved in contracts for future delivery held by an individual, aimed to prevent what Secretary Wallcutter described as "manipulation of the market."

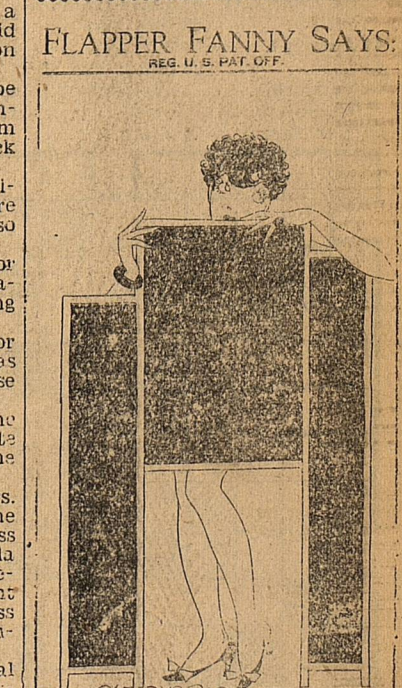

Peek held the position that the exchanges should take the initiative in any action to improve the methods of grain marketing, asserting "I want to emphasize to everyone connected with the grain trades the necessity that you put your own house in order, where it needs to be put in order."

"Abuses exist in the grain trades. The trades, acting as the marketing medium for the farmers, should correct these abuses. If they do not succeed, then the government will act."

"We conceive it to be the government's function to protect any group which is unable to protect itself. I know of no industry other than farming which has nothing to say about the prices received for its product. I understand why this is true, but I do not understand why it should be allowed to remain true. Perhaps I should be enlightened."

RACING FOR RUSSIA'S TRADE

An interesting sidelight on the possibility that the United States may soon recognize Russia is to be found in the news that French and British industries are making hurried efforts to arrange for additional long-term credits for the Soviets in the hope that they can get some of the fat orders which American firms are expected to get if recognition is effected.

Russia is in the market for all kinds of things that American factories produce, and if diplomatic relations between the two governments are established there is every reason to believe that a lot of very welcome orders will result. The flurry produced by recognition talk among the French and British exporters indicates that foreign manufacturers appreciate the potential value of the Russian market, even if some Americans do not.

MARKED FIRST ICE LOSS AND 1ST LINDY WIN

There was plenty of monkey business afoot in the Nocturne last night with the tail-end Lindy's and the utmost nonchalance knocking over the first-place Southern Ice-men, 9-6, and Magnolia administering a crushing 21-8 win over Hokus Pokus, tossing the latter into the with Blackman's for next-to-cellar position.

The Lindy's made two runs in the first and six in the second and had the game won, without the margin of the other run. The Ice-men, who had not dropped a game this half, made four in the seventh in a game attempt to win, taking a walk, two hits and two errors to good advantage. Pierce and P. Cook collected seven of the eight hits the Ice-men garnered off Newton, Pierce hitting a double and two singles, and Heati a home run. Rodgers hit a triple and a single and Ramsey a double and a single for the Lindy's.

Hokus-Pokus took a three run lead in the first inning, but the Magnolia's made six in their frame. Varner hit a home run with the bases loaded. The Magnolia's scored in every inning except the second. Collum hit three singles and a double and Varner a home run, double and single out of four times at bat. Johnnie Sherrod also hit a home run.

more workers each.

He proposed that the "badge of honor"—the insignia of the industrial recovery act—be displayed by all those who enroll in the national campaign.

"It will be clear to you," he said, "as it is to me, that while the shirking employers may undersell his competitor, the saving he thus makes is made at the expense of his country's welfare."

"We are not going through another winter like the last," he asserted. "It is time for courageous action and the recovery bills give us the means to conquer unemployment with exactly the same weapon that we have used to strike down child labor."

THIEF WANTED TO JOIN ARMY

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (UP)—Here's another reason for joining the reforestation corps. William C. Corbin, charged with the theft of some coal, told the court he planned to enter the reforestation corps. The judge fined him $10 and sentenced him to 60 days in jail, offering a stay of execution if the prisoner carried out his intention of joining the work corps.

Killer Half Breed Escapes Hounds in An All-Night Hunt

A killer wolf that in the last few weeks has destroyed at least 80 turkeys and chickens and over the past four years has eaten an estimated $400 worth of poultry again eluded all plans of hunters, when he tired a pack of Monahans, Pyote and Midland hounds in an all-night hunt and chase Saturday.

Walker and July hounds were too fat to run down the rangy big wolf, who is reputed to be half coyote, half German shepherd.

The hounds picked up a cold scent east of town near the Brooks place, and ran the quarry to the Gulf tank farm. One wolf was caught, but the noted killer, which has been hunted four years unsuccessfully, made his escape for the fifth time this year.

On Thursday night, 15 turkeys were killed and the next night found four dead. Sam Wimberly, W. L. Jimmerson, J. M. Prothro and Fount Armstrong have been the heaviest losers.

The big wolf killed a milk goat a few nights ago. His mate and six pups were killed a few months ago, but he has mated again, the hunters say.

If anyone has any hounds that they believe can catch the animal the hunters ask that they get in touch with them so another hunt may be arranged.

B'Spring Netters Victorious Here

Big Spring's No. 1 team upset the hope to defeat the Odessa club 2 to 1 out of three matches on the Midland courts Sunday.

The local second string, which was doped to win handily, lost all of its matches to give Odessa the lead.

Davis, of Big Spring, was the outstanding player of the day, slanting his way to a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Turner of Odessa. Doctor Cook, Odessa star, played sweet tennis to shut out Bill Savage, 6-2, 6-0. With the match count one all, Savage and Davis drove and lobbed their way to a 6-2, 6-4 decision over Cook and Turner, reputedly the best doubles team in the league.

Jones and Frame played the tightest match of the day, with Frame finally winning 6-4, 6-3. Preston Sligh played Odessa No. 4 man and lost 6-2, 6-0. Sligh substituted for Felton Smith, who was unable to play because of an injury to his foot. Jones and Sligh, after a saw-saw battle, lost the doubles 6-3, 6-3.

Manchoukuo's Foreign Policy Is Like Topsy

By MILES W. VAUGHN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 (Copyright, 1933, by United Press)
 HSINKING, Manchoukuo, July 25. (UP)—Manchoukuo's foreign policy is developing much along the lines of an Asiatic "Topsy"—it is "just grown!"

Hsieh-hsih, bland Manchu foreign minister of the new Asiatic state, stroked his small moustache gently, as he made this admission.

The foreign minister received me in a bare room of the barrack-like structure which serves as his office here. He apologized, while a China boy poured flower tea, for the meagerness of his quarters and expressed a hope that soon a foreign office building will have been constructed.

Rubber Stamp

Foreign residents of Manchuria assert that Hsieh is little better than a rubber stamp and that the real executive of the foreign affairs department is stocky Chuichi Ohashi, former Japanese diplomat, who is vice-minister of the new state.

No Japanese minister was present at our interview. Hsieh speaks no English, and his remarks, in Chinese were translated by his secretary, Yu Shaolan.

"Our immediate concerns are largely domestic," he said. "As you know our foreign relations are established only with Japan. We wait, of course, the recognition of other nations—particularly Soviet Russia and China as well as the United States and the European powers—but this is a matter that can wait. Until we have cleaned up the bandits, and until we have consolidated our rule, it obviously is useless to worry about foreign questions."

Trading Point

"We will not make recognition a 'trading point.' I feel that once we demonstrate our ability to govern ourselves, and to fulfill the duties of a modern state, recognition will come automatically."

The minister said he was little concerned for the time being, with the Chinese Eastern railway controversy. He thought negotiations in Tokio for purchase of the Soviet Russia interest in the railway line would end successfully. The very fact Moscow has agreed to the negotiations, he thought, is ample proof that Russia recognizes, de facto, the existence of Manchoukuo.

"Open Door"

The minister asserted vigorously that the Manchoukuo regime will uphold the principles of the "open door" and "equal opportunity."

"We welcome the capitalists and business men of all nations," he said. "We need the aid of the American and European nations in the development of our country. It is a great mistake to believe that Manchoukuo is going to be a 'closed preserve' for Japanese economic exploitation."

Hsieh admitted, however, as did all Manchoukuo officials that Japan so far is getting a lion's share of Manchurian trade and likely will continue to do so for a long, long time.

During the last school year attendance at the school dropped very sharply, and recently the trustees ordered the school building moved to a more convenient location.

RAISES 44TH FIRST Bale of Cotton

RICHMOND, (UP)—For 44 years Nicholas Reyes had raised Fort Bend county's first bale of cotton each season, so it caused no surprise when he arrived at the gin with a load.

A few hours later the county's first bale of new crop cotton had been ginned and Reyes was to receive from $50 to $75 in premiums. The bale weighed 499 pounds and was classed strict middling. The cotton was grown on the Winston Bassett plantation near here.

6 average cars proved it!
Gulf-lube cuts oil costs 28½%!

HERE THEY ARE—the 6 average cars—old cars, new cars, ready for the test that made motor oil history

GULF

Lasts 28½% longer than other famous 25¢ oils

ON THE Indianapolis Speedway, Gulf-lube proved itself "the finest motor oil a quarter ever bought!"

Using 6 cars of different makes—old cars, new cars—the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association tested 4 leading 25c oils. For 4 days, they tried to "burn 'em up!"

And when the test was over, the average of the figures showed this . . . Gulf-lube lasted 28½% more miles per quart than its competitors. It saved 28½ cents out of every dollar!

If you want the surprise of your life, switch to Gulf-lube now. You'll buy less oil. And, because you get better lubrication, you'll spend less for repairs. Try it! At all Gulf Stations.
