Fear 5,000 Dead in Terrific Tampico, Mex., Hurricane

TAMPICO UNDER MARTIAL LAW AS ESTIMATES MADE

Loss of Life May Be Greatest Over Many Years

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 26. (UP).—Unauthentic reports from Tampico said the known hurricane dead toll has reached several hundred, and railway officials further inland estimated the eventual toll will be 5,000.

The German steamship Kiel in Tampico harbor said by wireless there is from 10 to 15 feet of water over great parts of the city.

GREAT AREA STRUCK BY HEAVY STORM

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 26.—Heavy losses of life, still officially uncounted, and tremendous property damage wrought in the oil port of Tampico by the hurricane were reported to the Mexican capital.

At the department of the interior, Secretary Eduardo Vasconcelos said the number of dead "cannot be stated exactly." From Tampico itself the military chief of the district reported by wireless that "three quarters" of the city was destroyed and "many" were dead and injured.

At the department of interior, official estimators feared the toll would run to thousands, perhaps 5,000. Meanwhile, from the S. E. Sabinero came an estimate of 200 dead and extensive property damage, with hundreds homeless.

The Sabinero, according to shipping records, sailed from New Orleans September 17 for Tampico and Barcelona, Spain.

The estimates of thousands dead were made by officials at the interior department in "unofficial" or "semi-official" capacity on the basis of information they had. Capital newspapers appeared with reports that 5,000 had been killed.

Vasconcelos was ordered by President Rodriguez to proceed immediately to the stricken city with several sanitary brigades, food and medical supplies.

The only direct official report from Tampico was from General Anselmo Macias, military chief of the district, who said the storm had caused a "tremendous catastrophe" and martial law had been declared.

The report of General Macias said: "More than three quarters of Tampico completely destroyed. Solid and wooden houses of all kinds were wrecked. Many dead and injured. Forces under my command are affording aid to an enormous number of people who are asking help. For the safety of the city I have declared martial law."

A message to General Vasconcelos said: "A majority of the port was destroyed and it is difficult to describe the ruin caused."

STORM MAY PROVE GREATEST IN YEARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—September hurricanes of recent years have resulted in the loss of thousands of lives. Some of the outstanding: Florida, 1926, 400 dead. West Indies, 1928, 920 dead. Florida, 1928, 1,180 dead. Santo Domingo, 1920, 2,000 dead. British Honduras, 1931, 1,200 dead. Puerto Rico, 1932, 20 dead. Cuba, 1933, 300 dead.

An unusually disastrous hurricane struck Cuba in November of last year, costing 2,500 lives.

COMMUNICATION PARTIALLY MADE

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 26. (UP).—Pan-American airways radio communication in the hurricane-torn Tampico section of Mexico has been received.

CARRIES BODY IN CAR RUMBLE SEAT 2300 MILES

ARTESIA, N. M.—The postmaster at Armesco, this state, carried the body of his wife to Prospect, N. Y., on the rumble seat of his car, a distance of 2,300 miles. He said he was too poor to take the body to their home on the train. They came to New Mexico six years ago for his wife's health. She died of tuberculosis.

CC MANAGERS, STERLING CALLED IN SENATE PROBE

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (UP).—Former Governor Sterling and the managers of three regional chambers of commerce will be invited to appear before the senate committee of the whole regarding investigation of relief fund expenditures, it was announced today.

It was alleged that Sterling had not made a complete report of expenditures as requested.

Manager J. T. Webster of the Commerce chamber of commerce said in an affidavit that D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, had advised that the amount of relief for Johnson county depended on "what we did for" the regional chamber.

CARRIERS REFUSE TO CUT TARIFFS

Reductions in cattle rates into drought stricken areas are temporarily denied, a letter from D. H. Snider, chairman of the Mid-West Stock Growers association, to Midland cattlemen and the Midland chamber of commerce said.

Clarence Scharbauer and Roy Parks are the Midland members of the executive committee, which also includes Walter Booth, Harry Winston, Charles C. Thompson, Sam Wulfsberg, Lay Powell, Price Maddox, and Snider.

Snider asked that he be given information at once about conditions in Midland now, as some hope for possible future lowering of the rates is held.

Excerpts from Snider's letter follow: "We are advised by the President of the T. & P. Railway company of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe lines that up to date they do not find conditions that would warrant the railways making reductions asked for."

"Mr. Lancaster, president of the T. & P. has written that they will keep in constant and close touch with the situation and if developments develop later in all or a part of the thirty-four counties designated as drought counties at Midland, Texas, require emergency drought rates that the subject will be promptly considered."

Title to Oil Land Is Sought in Law Suit

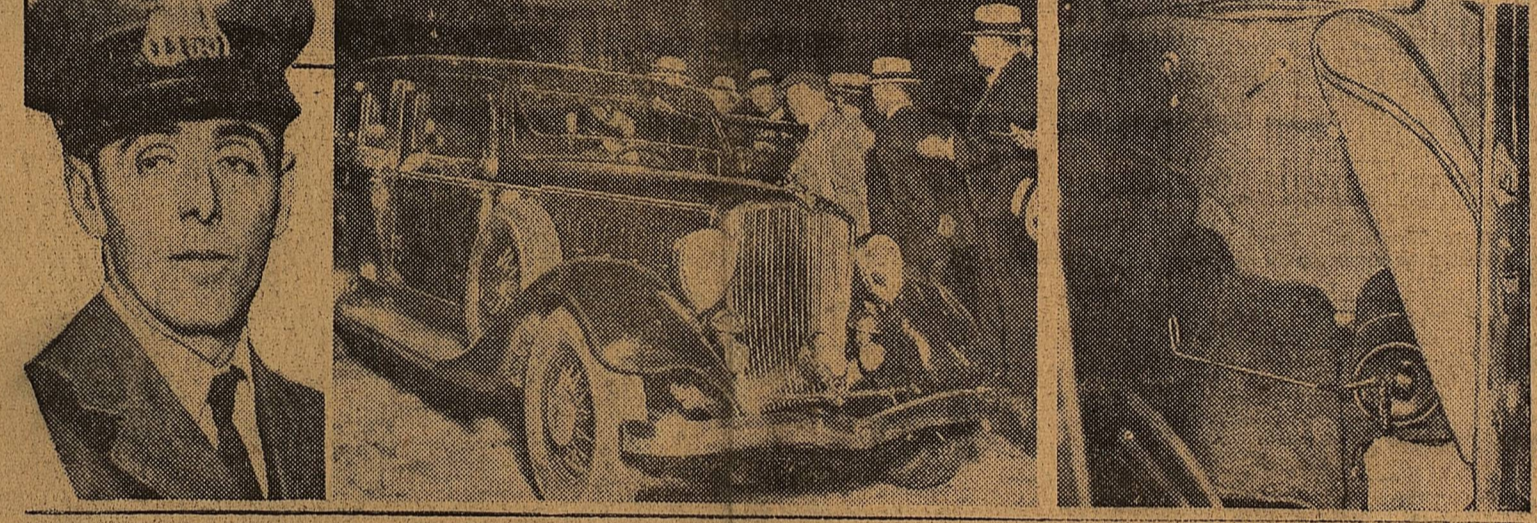

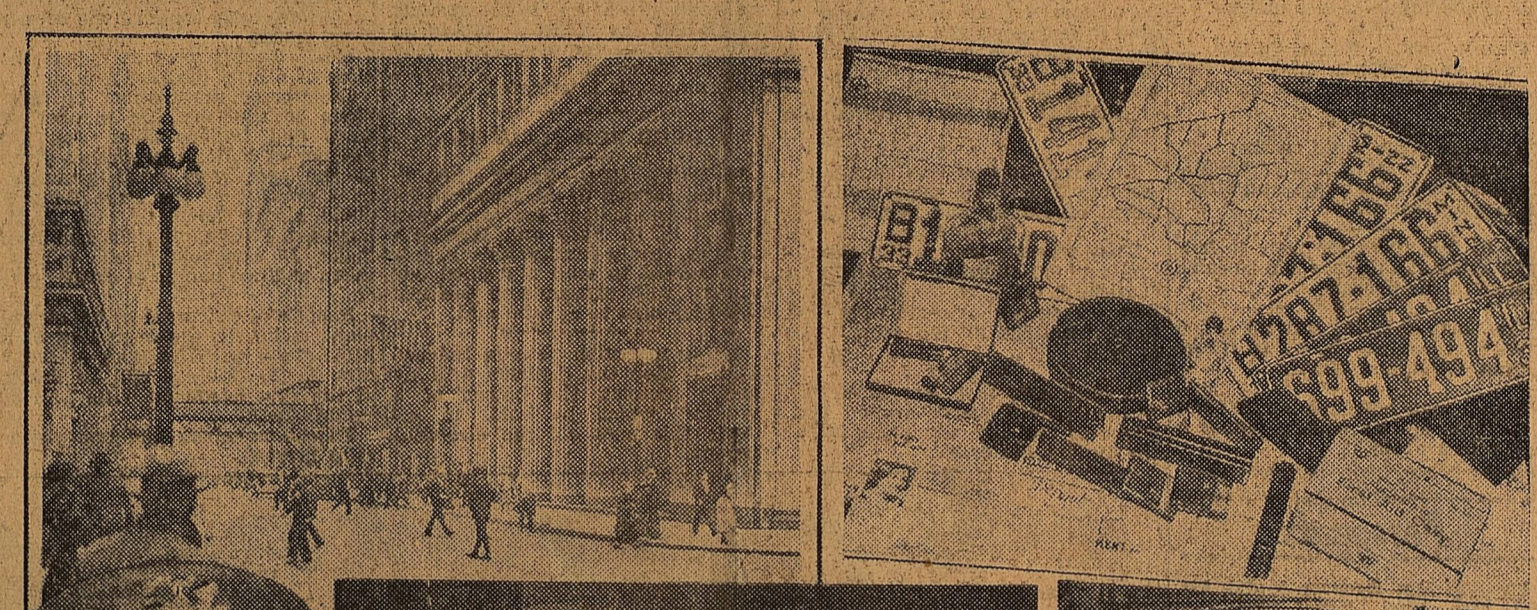

BIG SPRING—Title to more than nine sections of land is being asked in a suit filed Saturday in the 70th district court.

D. A. Rhoton, et al instigated suit for title to 5,772 acres of land located in southeastern Howard county and bearing producing oil wells.

Joined with Rhoton in the suit are his wife and the Southland Royalty company, incorporated in Delaware and with offices in Fort Worth.

Defendants listed include Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor in the 1934 primary of this state last year. Besides the Texas Land and Mortgage company, incorporated under the laws of the Kingdom of Great Britain and with offices in London, England and Lubbock, Texas, other defendants named are L. C. Harrison, J. B. Harrison, Fred Spring, and W. J. Garrett of Big Spring and Hugh Corrigan of Midland.

Kidnapers Continue Their Lawlessness

Climaxing a series of daring mail, express and bank robberies in the middle west, bandits held up Chicago Federal Reserve messengers, stole four mail bags, and killed a policeman in their getaway. Police immediately started a far-flung search for George (Machine Gun) Kelly, Yerme Miller, former sheriff, now a bandit gang leader, and Gus Winkler, Chicago public enemy, suspected of engineering the holdup. The bandits seized the mail bags at the second light standard shown in the picture, above, left, as the messengers entered the Federal Reserve building, at left. Above, right, are shown ammunition, liquor, first aid kit, and stolen license plates abandoned by the robbers. Below, left, the slain policeman, Miles Cunningham. Center, one of the bandit cars, wrecked in their flight. It was equipped with police radio, police lights, and siren. Below, right, is shown a smoke screen tank in the robbers' auto. Gus Winklerman and his wife were trapped yesterday and questioned, the theory being the holdup was staged to procure funds for defending Bailey and Bates.

RIG CONTRACTORS FORMULATE CODE

Rig contractors of the Permian basin drew up a local code of business ethics at a meeting held Monday night at the Midland chamber of commerce office.

Arch W. Thomas of Midland was elected chairman and Paul O. Sill of Midland was named secretary. Sill also was designated as the leader in drawing up a set of rules and regulations which the contractors voted on themselves.

Contractors here from Big Spring, Odessa, Hobbs, Wink, and Midland acted as a committee of the whole in discussing their fair practices agreement. The Permian basin code will be modeled on the Midcontinent code, and was being put into final draft Monday by Sill.

The contractors expected to abide implicitly by NRA rules. A second meeting will be held at Midland in about two weeks, the date yet to be fixed. A dozen men worked on the agreement till about 1 o'clock last night. Thomas presided at the meeting, which was called by him, Sill and John Gossmann of Midland.

Sill planned to go to Longview Wednesday to confer with rig contractors there as to their organization.

BULLPUPS PLAY HERE ON FRIDAY

Twenty-four football men answered the call issued yesterday by J. H. Williams, junior high school principal and coach of high school freshmen. Hurred preparation will be made by the bullpups for their opening game of the season, which will be played Thursday on Lackey field, 3:30, with the junior high school team.

The junior high school squad is coached by Charles R. Griffin. Both Griffin and Williams have coached junior high school teams for a number of years. Griffin formerly worked in this capacity in the Eastland schools and Williams in the Abilene schools. The Friday game will be the opening of a series of games between the two teams. Two or three games per month thereafter will be played throughout the season.

RING LARDNER DIES IN SLEEP

EASTHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 26. (UP).—Ring Lardner, 48, died in sleep at his home here last night. He had been ill for two years. He was a noted American sports writer, humorist, author and playwright.

SENDS QUOTA SAME DAY

BEEVILLE, Tex. (UP).—Chairman E. E. Sisson of the Bee county Red Cross lost no time when the national organization asked him to raise $200 for Rio Grande valley storm sufferers.

Sisson canvassed the town himself, raised the $200 and had it in the mails the same day he received the request.

U. S. REFUSES TO HALT NAVY PLAN

COPYRIGHT UNITED PRESS WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (UP).—America has informed Great Britain that even a part of its $236,000,000 naval building program cannot be postponed as suggested at London.

Four Class B 10,000-ton six inch gun cruisers will be completed. America opposed any considerable rearmament by Germany but declined to insure to France American use of force in restraining German rearmament.

Fort Stockton Made New District Center

FORT STOCKTON—Fort Stockton has been chosen the center of a new interscholastic district.

This honor was given Fort Stockton through changes made in the district of Texas last summer. Eight large regions now take the numerous smaller ones of past years. Fort Stockton's usual district, centering at Alpine, has been enlarged in a region divided into three districts. Fort Stockton is now center of one of these divisions, and Alpine is to be the regional center.

HOUSE IS DESTROYED

Fire destroyed a small house in southeast Midland early Monday night. The house had burned almost to the ground before the fire department was summoned. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wright and family had recently moved there, but were not at home. Fire was of undetermined origin.

URSCHELS RELIEVED AT CAPTURE OF FUGITIVES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26. (UP).—The Urschels were overjoyed today at the capture of George Kelly. He had threatened death for all connected with the kidnaping case.

Assistant United States Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan said he refused a month ago to trade the freedom of the Shannons and Katherine Kelly for the surrender of Kelly and the return of $185,000 of the ransom money.

BAILEY READY TO TAKE WITNESS CHAIR
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26. (UP).—Mrs. Shannon testified at the Urschel trial today that she was afraid she would be slain if she did not permit George (Machine Gun) Kelly to keep Urschel at her Paradise, Texas, farm.

Harvey Bailey was ready to follow her on the stand and testify that he and the Shannons were victims of a "dirty trick" by Kelly and Bates.

District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde set Kelly's trial here October 9.

Harper Pool Well Drilling in Lime

Broderick & Calvert et al. No. 1 Elliott F. Gowden, Ector county wildcat which has been the cynosure of oil interest for the past several days, was drilling in lime at 4163 feet at noon. At 7 o'clock this morning the flow of the Harper pool well had gauged 120 barrels, as follows: 70 barrels from 2:30 to 3:30, 25 barrels at midnight, over a 25-minute duration, and 25 barrels at 6 o'clock this morning over a 25-minute period.

At noon they were coming out of the hole with tools and just previously another flow started, which indicates a flow every six hours.

MEMPHIS POLICE IN EARLY RAID ARREST FAMOUS DESPERADO

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26. (UP).—George (Machine Gun) Kelly, his wife and two accomplices in the notorious mid-west Harvey Bailey bandit gang were captured here today.

"We are positive we have the right man," said Police Chief Will D. Lee of Memphis. "There is no doubt about it in our minds."

The other two arrested with Kelly and his wife, Police Chief Lee announced, were J. R. Tichnor and S. E. Travis, also members of the Bailey-Kelly gang.

All doubt of their identity was swept aside by the announcement of W. A. Rorer, United States government agent from Birmingham, who declared: "They admit their identity."

Rorer made his report to J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation at Washington, by long distance telephone.

"We haven't finger-printed them yet but we will do so shortly," Rorer told Hoover.

"I've got a coded telegram," the agent said. "It was sent to Tichnor from Fort Worth and it is being sent to Hoover at Washington, to be decoded."

George Kelly and his wife, Katherine, were the last two persons indicted in the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma oil man, who had not been arrested. Trial of the others indicted is under way in federal district court at Oklahoma City.

The capture was made at 6 o'clock this morning. Agent Rorer and Police Chief Lee led a raid on a suburban apartment where Kelly went into hiding a few days ago. All three fled from over the south to participate.

A patrolman armed with a sawed off shotgun knocked at the door. Kelly, armed with a pistol, opened the door but dropped his weapon after the policeman's warning. "Drop it, Kelly, or you'll die right there."

Over a dozen machine guns and riot guns, with "more ammunition than the police department" was found. All refused to talk.

Katherine Kelly, however, disclosed that she had planned to go to Oklahoma City to testify for her parents, the R. G. Shannons, in the Urschel kidnaping case, but that Kelly had threatened to kill her if she did so.

Funeral services for Mrs. O. B. Holt, 63, wealthy Midland ranch owner and prominent civic and social leader, were scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Holt residence at 101 North B street.

Dr. W. Angie Smith, president of Centenary college, pastor of the First Methodist church at Shreveport, La., is in Midland to assist in the last rites of Mrs. O. B. Holt this afternoon. Dr. Smith formerly was pastor of the Midland church.

HOLT SERVICES THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Mrs. O. B. Holt, 63, wealthy Midland ranch owner and prominent civic and social leader, were scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Holt residence at 101 North B street.

Dr. W. Angie Smith, president of Centenary college, pastor of the First Methodist church at Shreveport and former Midland pastor, arrived last night to assist the Rev. Kenneth C. Minter, Methodist pastor here, in the ceremonies. The Rev. Winston F. Borum, Baptist pastor here, also will assist.

Mrs. Holt's death came Sunday afternoon following a week of intense illness and a four year period of failing health. She was the widow of the late O. B. Holt, former bank president and ranchman here, the couple having been active in the development of this section of the state for more than forty years.

Two daughters, Misses Frank Cowden and George Glass, and a son, O. B. Holt, of Midland, also a sister, Mrs. George Pemberton of Denver, are immediate survivors. Mrs. Pemberton arrived here this morning for the funeral services, as did several other relatives and friends.

LEGAL BOOTLEGGING

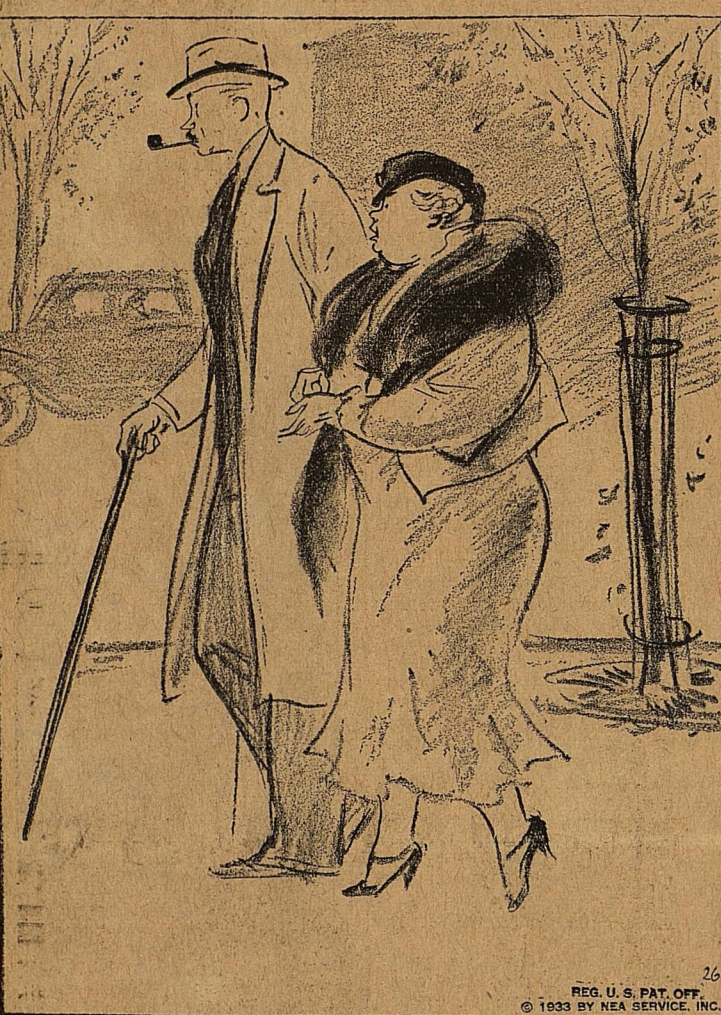

The pending end of the prohibition era seems likely to bring a few surprises for some of us who aren't entirely familiar with the ways of the liquor trade.

For example: James M. Doran, U. S. commissioner of industrial alcohol, points out that the nation's stock of properly aged whisky is today only 4,000,000 gallons; but he adds that as soon as repeal is in effect this can be increased to 50,000,000 gallons through a process of rectification.

And rectification, it seems, is just a business of mixing good liquor with grain alcohol to make half a dozen gallons grow where one grew before. It is, in fact, a scientific word for the bootlegger's old stunt of "cutting" his whisky.

In our innocence we had always supposed that this "cutting" was a villainous and reprehensible stunt. Now it seems that it is a fine scientific achievement. It is all very confusing.

Wade Heath of Midland Married Saturday At 2:30 to Miss Janie Fielder, Fort Worth

The marriage of Mr. Wade Heath of Midland to Miss Janie Fielder of Fort Worth Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the chapel of the First Christian church there was the culmination of a childhood romance. The ceremony was read by the Rev. L. L. Anderson, pastor of the church. Miss Grace Beucher of Fort Worth played the wedding march and, during the ceremony which was attended by close friends and relatives, "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Heath, daughter of Mrs. Cleo Fielder, 3317 University Drive, Fort Worth, is a graduate of Albany high school and of Texas Christian University. After her graduation, she became a well-known expression teacher in Fort Worth.

Heath, son of J. L. Heath, was graduated from Midland high school and attended Texas university. He is now connected with a grocery concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath came to Midland late Sunday. They will make their home at 311 South Weatherford.

Methodist Circles Will Begin Fall Bible Studies

A series of Bible lessons will be begun at the next meeting of the Mary Scharbauer circle by Mrs. Mary S. Ray, it was announced Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Day.

Mrs. John Haley, president of the Methodist auxiliary, visited at the meeting, which was attended by 19 members.

Arrangements were made to serve to Rotary club luncheon Thursday in the assembly room of the country court house.

Refreshments were served at the close of a brief business session.

Reports of the number of visits made to shut-ins, the number of trays and flowers taken and the number of bundles of clothes given to the poor were made yesterday at a meeting of the Belle Bennett circle at the home of Mrs. J. M. Haygood. Fifty-seven calls had been made, 10 bouquets given, 4 trays taken and one bundle of clothes given.

Reports of officers were heard and plans made for the beginning of a Bible study on "The Book of Life." Mrs. L. E. Hankins will be leader of the first lesson on "The Life of the Master."

Fifteen members and one visitor were present.

Correction Made In Monday Story

An error in reporting, which resulted in the name of Miss Betty Minter being listed as a co-hostess at an informal dance for football men and their friends at country club Saturday night, brought the following statement of explanation from the high school student's father, the Rev. Kenneth C. Minter, pastor of the First Methodist church, this morning.

"There is no criticism involved in this explanation, and no reflection falls on anyone, but I desire to correct the statement which appeared in the paper regarding my daughter being joint hostess at the country club's informal dance for football men and fans Saturday night. The social function referred to was originally planned as a dinner party to be given by a group of girls to some of their friends. This plan was abandoned because of the football game and it was decided to hold open house for the players of Midland and Fort Stockton and their friends. The gathering was not described as a dance. Some of those who attended did dance, however, some did not, among them my daughter who, incidentally, does not dance, and was not responsible for the dancing of others."

Mrs. Rawlins Clark Heads Rijnhart Circle

Mrs. Rawlins Clark was elected president of the Rijnhart circle of the First Christian church Monday afternoon at a reassembly session held at the home of Mrs. S. F. Hall.

Other officers include Mrs. Paul Ryan vice president, Mrs. Hall, treasurer, Miss Mary Chancellor secretary and reporter and Mrs. George Ratliff teacher. Committees appointed were the social composed of Mmes. Hall, Ryan and Cornelius, the membership composed of Brunson, Elkin and Ratliff and the ways and means consisting of Mmes. Riddle, Cloninger and Klapproth.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served to Mmes. Clark, Ratliff, Carl Reeves, Aubrey Cloninger, Hall, J. C. Rea, Frank Elkin, Glenn Brunson.

"My electric refrigerator costs less than a nickel a day"

"I knew that my electric refrigerator was saving me money, but I never realized how little it adds to my electric service bill. I have checked over my last few bills and find that my electric refrigerator costs less than a nickel a day."

Owners of new model electric refrigerators soon find that the operating cost is a small item in comparison with the economy and convenience of electric refrigeration. Some families report that their food savings alone amount to more than the slight increase in their electric service bills. Ask your electric refrigerator dealer to tell you more about the new models and new low prices.

Caesarian Operation Saves Dog

COLUMBUS, O. (UP).—Five days before Lady Blue-Jack, thoroughbred blue chow dog, was expected to give birth to a litter of puppies, she died on a veterinarian's operating table from injuries received when struck by an automobile. However, one of her three unborn puppies was saved when Dr. Carl V. McKenzie, just eight weeks graduated from Ohio State University's College of Veterinary Medicine, performed a caesar-ian section operation. Of the other two puppies, one was already dead when Dr. McKenzie operated, and the other one was too badly injured to be saved. The doctor's wife, a graduate nurse, although veterinary books don't tell must about what one should do for premature pups, nursed the uninjured tiny chow through a cold which developed soon after the operation and threatened to prove fatal to him. The only commodity that requires refrigerated transportation in Uruguay is meat.

"She Had to Say Yes" Showing at The Ritz House

The movies lay bare another racket in "She Had to Say Yes," a First National production which comes to the Ritz Theatre today for a 3 day engagement. This picture with its all-star cast headed by Loretta Young, Lyle Talbot, Regis Toomey and Winnie Lightner, reveals the adventures of "customers' girls," which is always a pretty, though lightly principled lure used by certain firms of big business to exact orders from out-of-town buyers.

Loretta Young plays a secretary to Regis Toomey, an enterprising young salesman for a large concern, who is her sweetheart as well as her boss. Toomey scoops competing houses when he hits upon the scheme of allowing his attractive office girls to entertain the visiting buyers rather than the professional "customers' girls" who have outlived their usefulness.

Houston Port Sets Merchandise Record

HOUSTON (UP)—The port of Houston set an all-time record in August when it handled a total of 1,422,851 tons of merchandise valued at $31,645,496, according to statistics released by Russell Wait, director of the port.

This was an increase of 81.19 per cent over August, 1932. August when it handled a total of 785,000 tons of merchandise valued at $16,345,496, according to statistics released by Russell Wait, director of the port.

Records revealed that August was the first month of 1933 to show an increase in foreign tonnage over the corresponding month last year. August imports totalled 11,784.7 tons against 11,687.7 tons in August, 1932, while 1933 exports for the month were 253,213.6 tons as compared to 193,211.7 tons for August of last year.

Coastwise tonnage also showed an improvement in comparison with the previous year. Inbound business totalled 43,731 tons this year as against 19,622.4 tons last August. Outbound business totalled 93,136.7 tons this August as against 36,030.9 tons last year.

Vessel movements for the first eight months of 1933 have also been greater than in any other eight months period in the port's history. The record of 2,786 ships, set in 1930, was far behind the 3159 total for the first eight months of 1933.

FOOTBALL SKETCHES

By R. C. HANKINS

The papers to the westward are filling their sports columns with predictions on the outcome of the Port Stockton-McCamey game, to be played at McCamey Saturday. The game in itself is not likely to raise the hackles on the neck of even the most rabid grid fan, but the psychology surrounding the encounter is keeping the followers of both towns gibbering in their sleep. The reason boils down to last year's McCamey setup, when Coach Clyde Park won of the Stockton Panthers was head coach at McCamey, and Coach Hill, now head coach of the Badger town, was his assistant. The approaching game, is therefore, a playing of last year's elements against each other, and the reaction already is deafening.

Wild reports have crept into print. Bill Collins, writing in The McCamey News, airs the rumor that Coach Park had mounted a figurative soap box, grabbed a megaphone and called up a couple of three "Oyze's" with the startling information his team would beat McCamey by at least 20 points. To do this, he said, he was going to go to Park's making such an assertion.

Park does not have to have his bugle blown because of excessive tooting. He's a quiet sort of homebody. That he is pointing toward win Saturday is no secret; in fact, he told this correspondent as much—but whether by one point or by a dozen, try and get him to say. We do not happen to know what McCamey has or what Coach Hill has up his sleeve, but we venture the conservative statement that Park will get more out of his team than Hill. Just an old canny custom of Park, a clean, serious young fellow who speaks to be club without resorting to cheap locker room inspirations or blood and thunder suggestion.

Our old friend Marfa, the Short-horn club Midland played a few years ago for the championship, has transferred into this end of the district. Why, no one seems to have any idea. Marfa is too far away to convene and play in the district settlement, and the other end of the district is short the number of clubs charging over the terrain of this division. But Marfa is with us, and that's that. Come, news even more interesting, insofar as one likes to gauge strength of member eleven. Marfa played the Rankin Red Devils recently, winning 26-12, at Rankin. Rankin, estimated by several sports writers earlier in the season to be a potential worry wart to other clubs, put up a disappointing fight in the first two periods, when Marfa held the Devils so tightly that Rankin could not make a first down. Marfa started the fireworks by counting off "One!" said the right half as the ball was snapped, "two" quoth Slack as he spun it through the ozone and "three" chortled the left half as he stepped across the line with the oval. Two other passes were good for counters. Rankin started in the third period and for the rest of the game tossed passes all over the lot, completing seven out of nine attempts and digging into the pay zone twice. One pass was good for 20 yards, and Doherty stepped off 50 yards to the goal line. First downs were 9-7, Marfa.

Just gives you an idea of what's going on in other communities.

Something else to mull over: Wink, on the home gridiron, defeated Monahans only 14-0. Monahans in the class last year of the Midland second team, to whom the Lobos lost, is entering football as a contender for district honors for the first time. Six lettermen are back. The Monahans Lions club provided transportation and a big rooting section. Both the Wink and Monahans bands and pep squads paraded between halves. The Wink team, as described by James L. Dow, is made up of the following: "With a big, weighty line and a quartette of triple-threat backs, the Wildcats will be no set-up for any of the teams in this section and hope are high for another strong team, comparable to the regional champions of last year.

"Bobby Wall, diminutive quarter back is expected to fill the vacancy left by Frank Rutledge, and a great season is expected of him. He is fast and shifty and in an open field will pick up many yards through his elusiveness. Bob Dickson, last year's center has been shifted to half back and Windley, who also a lineman last year will hold down the other half back position.

"Billy Rush, who showed up exceptionally well in the last few games last year, has not been faring so well in the practice sessions, but is expected to pick up the old spark soon and will no doubt come through and hold down the full-back position.

"David Rhodes, 215 pound guard has one guard position practically cinched, while Virgil Pinner and Charles Craft seem to be the leading contenders for the other guard berth. Stewart Raines has been working out as regular center, Bob Denby and Lewell Butler should add much power to the line in the tackle positions, while the veteran Jimmie Tucker and Earl McMillian are capable wing men."

Constance Bennett Comes to Yucca in "The Bed of Roses"

Colorful adventures aboard a Mississippi River steamboat, a swim in a muddy stream, an overnight sojourn aboard a cotton tug and a six month term in reform school are Constance Bennett's short cuts to a "Bed of Roses," thorny with romantic drama and fragrant with light comedy in her newest Yucca Radio starring pictures at the Yucca Theatre with Joel McCrea, John Halliday, Pert Kelton and Samuel Hinds.

The Mardi Gras carnival in New Orleans forms an elaborate background for a great deal of the romantic action in "Bed of Roses." With Miss Bennett as the adventures, McCrea is seen as Dan, Halliday as Paige, Miss Kelton as her girl friend, and Hinds as the reformatory chaplain and Lorry's adviser. Gregory La Cava directed "Bed of Roses."

Milk of Dairy Cows Rich in Vitamin D

EL PASO (UP)—Twenty cows at an El Paso dairy give cod liver oil. Of course, the product isn't exactly like that which comes from the fish, but milk from the cows is rich in Vitamin D—the vitamin doctors seek for patients when they prescribe cod liver oil. A quart of the milk is the equivalent of two teaspoons of oil, laboratory tests revealed.

Operations of the dairy learned from scientists' experiments that cows fed violet-ray-treated yeast for 90 days would produce milk containing Vitamin D. Twenty cows were selected, fed the yeast at a cost of 17 cents per day each, and at the end of three months their milk was marketed for children who dislike cod liver oil and for tubercular patients.

Deflationists frighten the uninformed by saying that inflation cannot be controlled, and that we must continue on the road to general bankruptcy. It is not true that interest-bearing treasury notes is the simplest and most direct process of inflation. Such notes can be withdrawn by long-term bond issues any time it is desired to check inflation.

I should define as "rational" any reasonable inflation accomplished by use of any one or a combination of these monetary tools in whatever way the president may find needed, and to restore it before we meet with further disaster.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

By ELMER THOMAS U. S. Senator from Oklahoma

Dear Sir: Sentiment of the country, as reflected through members of senate and house, is overwhelmingly in favor of immediate use by President Roosevelt of some part of the monetary powers to raise the price level, which congress delegated to him through the Thomas amendment.

The country needs and wants immediate and rational inflation. While individual senators and congressmen have minor differences as to which of his inflationary powers the President should employ first, there is almost unanimity of opinion that something should be done without delay.

My motive in telegraphing members of congress last week was asking for an expression of their views on immediate use of rational inflation to give the president the benefit of a definite survey of public opinion. Replies to my query are still coming in. Some members advised me they will come to Washington to consult colleagues as well as to report directly to the president the sentiment of their constituents.

I have had time so far to tabulate only the first few days' replies. More than 96 per cent from house members and over 75 per cent of replies from senators are in favor of the president's resorting at once to rational inflation.

It is apparent that if the president does not use his monetary powers, members of congress will be held accountable by their constituents.

One congressman asked what I meant by "rational" inflation. I would leave that for the president to define. The important thing is the overwhelming conviction of the country that immediate monetary action is urgently needed to release frozen bank deposits and speed the NRA program. Most insistent of all is the demand for inflation to raise commodity prices before producers have been forced to sell this year's crops.

Late News

ROME, Sept. 26, (UP)—Twelve were known dead and sixty injured in an earthquake in Central Italy and Yugoslavia today. Premier Mussolini instructed mayors and federal secretaries to aid in relief.

AUSTIN, Sept. 26, (UP)—A petition was circulated in the house today pledging support to Speaker Coke Stevenson of Junction for reelection to the speakership if returned to the next legislature.

MOSCOW, Sept. 26, (UP)—All German newspaper men were ordered today to leave Russia because of recent arrests of Russian correspondents at the Leipzig Reichstag trial.

to sell this year's crops. The replies of members of both houses, republicans as well as democrats, and farmer-laborites, give the president proof that congress and the country will be behind him in such action. He must have assurance of such support, and he is to carry through any program.

Congress laid down a general policy. As author of the amendment to the farm relief act delegating the president authority to regulate the value of money, I can state that the purpose of congress was to restore our money to its normal purchasing power. Congress was determined to cheapen our abnormally dear dollar. It put all the tools for doing this into the president's hands.

Deflationists frighten the uninformed by saying that inflation cannot be controlled, and that we must continue on the road to general bankruptcy. It is not true that interest-bearing treasury notes is the simplest and most direct process of inflation. Such notes can be withdrawn by long-term bond issues any time it is desired to check inflation.

I should define as "rational" any reasonable inflation accomplished by use of any one or a combination of these monetary tools in whatever way the president may find needed, and to restore it before we meet with further disaster.

Less than 3 per cent of those replying to my request suggested that the president should be left free to act without urging or advice from members of congress. Interference with the president's plans is farthest from my intentions. It is my conviction that members of the senate and house owe the president, as well as their constituents, a duty to reflect to the White House the nation's needs and opinions.

I am sure the president did not expect nor desire congress to abdicate without urging or advice from monetary powers. Rather he should be aided by the advice and support that can come to him only through the people's representatives conscientiously reporting to him local world conditions, so that people are thinking and demanding.

In times of emergency as critical as the present, good citizenship must express itself. There is no patriotism in silence. A cross-section of national opinion is needed for executive guidance.

Such a cross-section is revealed in the telegrams and letters from senators and congressmen on the problem most vital to national world recovery. I quote from a few typical messages:

CONGRESSMAN SAM D. McREYNOLDS, (Dem. Tenn.) chairman foreign affairs committee, delegate to World Economic conference: "I thoroughly agree that some rational inflation is necessary at an early date. I had hoped that it would not be necessary, but conditions in the last sixty days have not improved, and something must be done to aid farmers at a time they have something to sell. Something should be done at once. You are authorized to use this message in any way you may desire."

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER, (Rep. Kan.): "You may assure the president that in my judgment rational inflation is immediately imperative if the farmer is to be saved from present deplorable conditions. I do not believe any other action will have the desired result at this time."

CONGRESSMAN EDWARD C. BICHER, (Dem. Iowa): "The overwhelming sentiment of my district is favorable to immediate expansion of currency and credit to the extent necessary to force existing currency and credit resources back into the channels of normal trade."

CONGRESSMAN RANDOLPH CARPENTER, (Dem. Kan.): "Congress was in dead earnest when it passed the currency expansion bill. It is now necessary to use some of the methods therein provided to push farm relief measures and NRA over the hump."

SENATOR FREDERICK STEINER, (Rep. Ore.): "I favor rational inflation immediately. In my opinion much harm will be done by uncertainty and from continued readjustment weight of gold dollar."

SENATOR THOMAS R. WADE, (Dem. Va.): "I personally advised the president last week that we must have inflation."

CONGRESSMAN ALLEN T. TREADWAY, (Rep. Mass.): "Financial interests and citizens throughout my district strongly protest against currency inflation. I am writing the president accordingly."

CONGRESSMAN A. WILLIS ROBERTSON, (Dem. Va.): "Inflation most highly experimental of all recovery plans. Should not be resorted to unless and until others fail."

SENATOR HATTIE W. CARAWAY, (Dem. Ark.): "Please use my name as concurring with you in inflation program."

CONGRESSMAN FRANK H. LEE, (Dem. Mo.): "Farmers daily are losing their farms in southwest Missouri. Prevalent red tape and restrictions prevent their getting loans. I urge immediate use of rational inflation."

CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMPKKE, (Rep. N. Dak.): "The Blue Eagle will be the bluest bird in America within 90 days unless there is immediate intelligent expansion of the currency. Situation desperate. Farmers resorting to law of self-preservation and protecting their property by force. General discontent and apprehension. Suggest you bring to the president's attention immediate necessity of expansion of currency."

CONGRESSMAN WALTER M. PIERCE, (Dem. Ore.): "Just completed 2000-mile trip over Oregon. Sentiment practically unanimous that President Roosevelt must at once use some of the powers given him to increase money. Should he fail to act at once dire disaster threatens our entire capitalistic structure. Give us free coinage of silver 16 to 1."

CONGRESSMAN CHARLES W. HENNEY, (Dem. Wis.): "Disaster to our entire program is impending. I prefer devaluation of the gold dollar, but any of the three methods delegated to the president will improve the price level."

CONGRESSMAN WESLEY LLOYD, (Dem. Wash.): "Nothing but immediate inflation of currency can save widespread bankruptcy throughout Northwest. Urge the chief executive to immediately exercise the powers given him by congress, as congress expected he

SENATOR W. WARREN BARBOUR, (Rep. N. J.): "I am not in sympathy with any inflation of the currency or the issuance of fiat money."

SENATOR WARREN R. AUSTIN, (Rep. Va.): "I am opposed to giving the president power which should be exercised by congress."

SENATOR LOUIS MURPHY, (Dem. Iowa): "I personally advised the president last week that we must have inflation."

CONGRESSMAN T. ALAN GOLDSBOROUGH, (Dem. Md.): "I favor rational inflation. As soon as congress convenes I also favor permanent legislation which will raise the general price level to that of 1926 and stabilize it at that point so that people may know what can be depended upon."
