The Giants of New York, dubbed before the world series start "The Hitless Wonders," made it two straight over the Washington Senators today, one big inning, the sixth, netting six runs on eight hits. The Senators made only one run, Goose Goslin hitting a mighty home run smash into the bleachers in the third.

Twelve Giants went to bat in the sixth, Joe Moore, former West Texas leaguer with Coleman, hitting two singles in that round, and Lefty O'Doul, a left hander hitting for Davis, singled to drive in the first two runs for the Giants. Every member of the Giants hit safely in this inning except Ott, who was passed intentionally, and Ryan, Ott, who hit for a perfect day Tuesday, went hitless today.

In the same inning, the Giants almost had trouble with the Senators. Schumacher gave up two walks, one wild pitch and one hit, but Washington did not score.

The hitting was as it was in the first game, the Giants collecting 10, the Senators 5.

Kuhel, Washington first baseman, made 15 put outs, and figured in one assist. Goslin hit twice, one a home run. Not an error was made in the game.

The clubs play Thursday at Washington, also there on Saturday and Sunday. In case more games are required, they will shift back to New York.

Harvey Sloan, owner of the Midland airport, has been invited by the Fort Worth chamber of commerce to attend the aviation conference at Fort Worth Oct. 17-19.

Jack H. Holt, manager of the Fort Worth chamber, makes the following comments on the program: "Doubtless you will be pleased to know that the dates for the southwestern Aviation conference, to be held in this city, have been set for October 17-19 and the committee charged with making local arrangements is working to make the occasion one of the most outstanding ever held in aviation circles in the Southwest."

"Briefly, the program is to have registration Tuesday morning, October 17, with the first business session starting about 2 p. m.; business sessions being held Wednesday, October 18, the evening being left free so that those in attendance at the conference can attend, should they desire, the dedication of the American airways new headquarters here, at which time our city will be honored by having Vice-President John Garner, Post Master General Farley and Will Rogers and several other celebrities of the dedication program. The conference will close with a final business session on Thursday morning, October 19, leaving the afternoon free for those that wish to attend the opening day program at beautiful Arlington Downs which will usher in the first legalized racing meet at that outstanding course."

"Among speakers that have given assurances of their presence are State Comptroller George W. Sheppard, Assistant Attorney General R. G. Waters and Adjutant General Henry H. Hottel. In addition to these, it is expected that quite a number of outstanding figures in aviation circles from different parts of the United States will be in attendance. With these different personages present, there is no doubt that a most interesting and instructive program will be presented and one that should be of much value to those interested in aviation in your community."

Texas has a wet county seat that's dry! Paradoxical but true. Barstow, county seat of Ward, hasn't a licensed beer retailer. Ward county voted for beer in the Aug. 25 election, but nobody has yet opened a place to sell beer. Why? Quen sabbat?

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM FACES COLLAPSE

The next session of Congress will probably be asked to vote something like $60,000,000 for the relief of the nation's public schools; and when the question comes up for debate we are likely to get a look at one of the most critical phases of the entire depression.

In a way, the whole business is a sample of what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object.

The irresistible force is the schools' need for money—a need that simply must be met. The immovable object is the fact that thousands of cities and counties simply haven't got the money and can't possibly get it. In consequence, the problem becomes one of the great number that is being tossed on the receptive lap of Uncle Sam.

Superintendent Charles A. Lee of Missouri, head of a committee of education officials appointed to present the schools' case to Congress, lists a few of the ways in which the depression has crippled the schools.

This year will see 80,000 fewer teachers on the job in America than were employed last year—although the NRA has released at least 100,000 boys and girls of school age for further study. Teachers' pay has been reduced, on the average, by 20 per cent. In some regions the cuts are as high as 60 per cent.

Half of all the teachers will get less than $400 for their year's work. Some are actually getting less than $35 a month—the day labor wage in NRA codes. In many localities schools will be in session for only three or four months. Many high schools have had to go on a tuition basis, which means that thousands of youngsters won't get the education they are entitled to.

On the other hand, there is not a city nor a county in America that is not pressed for money. Tax revenues have fallen off, both because of the depression and because of antiquated tax systems.

Furthermore, we are beginning to hear a wave of propaganda in favor of still further economy in the schools—propaganda backed, for the most part, by wealthy individuals who have far less reason for complaining about school expenditures than the ordinary middle-class citizen who pays his taxes without a whimper.

It is a critical condition. The school system is in the process of collapsing, and it is supremely important that the collapse be averted. If no one but Uncle Sam can do it, it looks very much as if he would have to dig down in his pocket for whatever funds may be needed.

INTERVENTION

There is more than a little solid sense in the suggestion Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler made the other day about United States intervention in such Latin-American countries as Cuba.

If, says Gen. Butler, it becomes necessary to intervene to preserve law and order and protect the lives and property of foreigners, in Cuba or elsewhere, the United States might profitably invite several Central and South American powers to join in the expedition by contributing warships and men of their own. If the intervention were really justified, and were not just a collection trip for Wall Street bankers, these powers might well be glad to join.

Furthermore, if the United States intervened only when other American republics were so convinced that intervention was necessary that they were willing to take part in the action, it is a safe bet that intervention would be a much less common occurrence than it has been in the past.

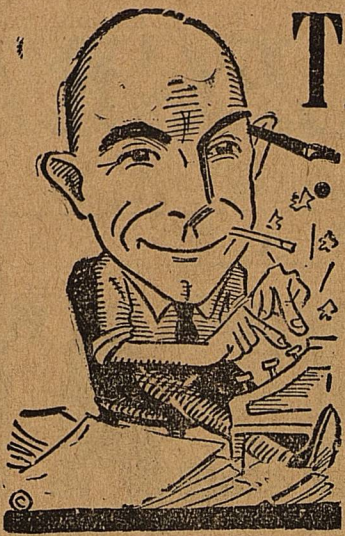

American barbed wire factories are said to be running on double shifts to fill orders. Manufacturers of boys' trousers, take notice.

The fact that the state bird of Utah is the California gull would seem to emphasize the friendliness between the states.

I regret that Midland has a man so lacking in gallantry that he publicly refers to his wife as a portion of hell let loose.

The Town Grouch who believes in total international disarmament recently whipped three men who called him a "cheese." And such humor, an nature is exactly why there will never be total disarmament.

I claim it was adding insult to injury when a conservator was appointed for a Michigan bank and then he skipped out with the funds.

Under the Dome Of the Capital

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

ASTIN (AP)—Things are looking much more cheerful for the state's school children and their teachers.

More than $2,000,000 has recently been deposited in the state school fund. Approximately $1,000,000 was added when Attorney General James V. Alford ruled the school fund was entitled to the cigarette tax increase, effective last May instead of September 1. The permanent school fund received $1,073,000 when Alford received a certified check for that amount from the Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas company.

The check was for oil rights exercised by the Mid-Kansas under a lease. Fred Turner Jr., young, broadshouldered West Texan from Midland, discovered the land on which Kansas had three wells in the Yates field was still state school property. An error in surveys had shown it belonging to settlers. Turner filed an application for a mineral lease upon it. The decision gave the state the oil taken out of the property before it was granted to Turner, a share of the bonus on 561 acres, a share of the rental and a sixteenth oil royalty.

Turner got nearly $1,000,000 too. He was in court when the judgment was rendered. Modestly he declined to discuss it or what he plans to do with the money. Part goes to Fred Turner Sr.

The $1,073,000 check was signed by Richard Berry, president of the Mid-Kansas company. It was delivered after banking hours Saturday. Alford placed it in a little brown bill fold and carried it until banking hours Monday. He displayed it with some pride. It represents the biggest judgment ever entered for the state in a land suit. It is the biggest judgment of any kind since 1909 when Attorney General R. V. Davidson took one for $1,625,000 from the Watson Pipe Oil company that was paid in cash. The money piled on a desk was photographed.

The $1,073,000 check has also been photographed. Reproductions have been made with the state photostatic equipment. Alford gives credit for the judgment to his assistant Ralph Yarbrough, in charge of land matters.

The check was the tax million has produced some dissatisfaction among state employees. Under the ruling money goes into the school fund that otherwise would have been placed in the state general fund. In the general fund it would have hastened the time when state salary warrants will be paid in cash. Now employees discount them four per cent.

Rep. Oscar F. Chastain of Eastland, is being groomed for a race for congress according to fellow house members. Eastland is in the new 17th congressional district, which includes the home of present Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene.

The House bill making NRA code compliance an answer and defenses to anti-trust law prosecution, switches the burden of proof to the defendant. He must show by preponderance of the evidence that his act was in compliance with an approved code and took place after the code adoption.

Giant Grizzly Bear's Last Raid Was Fatal

COLUMBUS, Mont. (UP)—The reign of terror by Scarface, a giant grizzly bear, has ended.

Once the king of Yellowstone Park grizzlies, Scarface had descended to a series of raids along the Boulder River. Measuring 18 inches between the ears and weighing more than 1,000 pounds, the bear robbed a total of 17 cabins in less than a month.

Rippling window sashes with his giant claws, or bursting through doorways by the sheer force of his great weight, Scarface left an un-erected trail of wreckage and depredation.

Ranchers vainly tried to corner him. Traps were set, only to be smashed, or carefully avoided. Finally, three government hunters were called in.

The bear walked into a trap set by the hunters the first night they took up the chase. Pulling it with him, Scarface retreated up a canyon. There the hunters found him, snarling, enraged, ready to kill any who approached. Four shots ended him.

Scattered by innumerable conflicts, one eye torn out, nearly toothless, his hide ragged and torn, the grizzly had been forced to raid cabins to gain food, government authorities said. If he had succeeded in continuing his depredations, the bear sooner or later would have entered an occupied cabin, it was said.

Bebe Sings, Talks Outmoded Marriage At Ritz Theatre

Modern young women cannot, with all their present-day freedom and self reliance, beat the code laid down centuries ago.

Bebe Daniels in this picture portrays a woman who is a wealthy and famous young poster artist, who's going to "take her fun where she finds it."

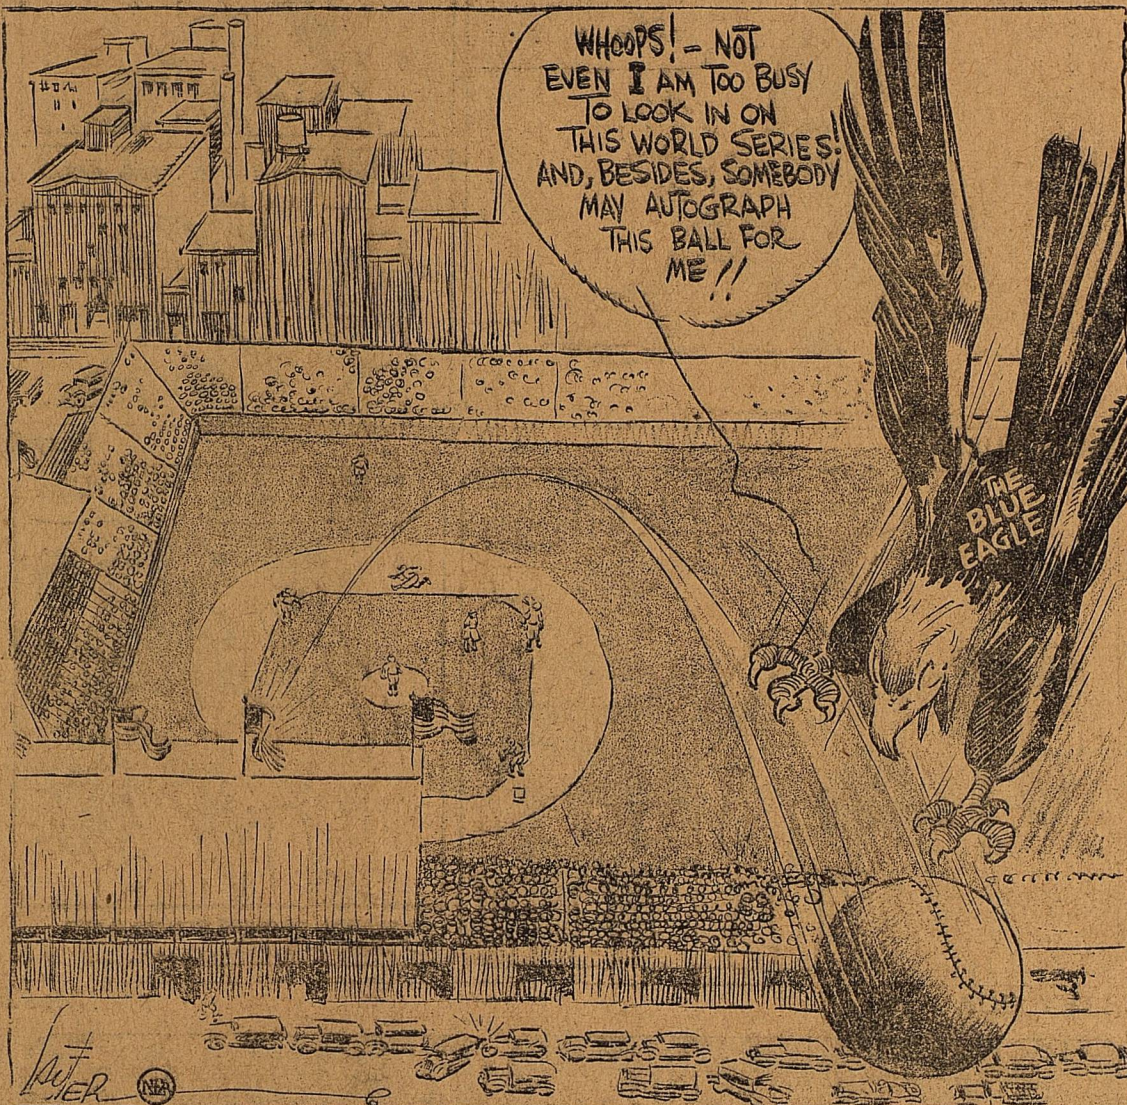

But her attempted love-freedom is a dismal failure. She is fooled and inflicted with heartaches and has to admit that the ancient conventions are right.

Miss Daniels, as always, is charming. The story allows her to exhibit her well-known comedy talents as well as her emotional ability.

A New York studio, a transatlantic liner, a low public-house in London, and a palace in Paris provide varied settings in which the action occurs.

Cooper, Students On Ritz Program Before leaving for Chicago to fill an appointment at the Clarendon Beach club, Bob Cooper, Midland dancing teacher, will present seven of his students in revue at the Ritz theatre, Friday and Saturday nights.

attention, both here and in neighboring communities.

"The wives and mothers of this community are thoroughly aroused over this proposed outrage, and I feel safe in saying that not only will many desirable entrants withdraw from the show if this iniquitous performance is permitted to go on, but the mayor will lose a great many votes in the next election, if he grants such a permit."

Some people with eligible dogs have understood that they would be required to leave their dogs overnight for judging.

This is the age of democracy and the Reporter-Telegram wants it understood that there will be no class distinction at this show. We want more of the common, garden variety of dogs entered. There will be ribbons for the pedigreed dogs, but there is a large selection of novelty prizes for other dogs of uncertain ancestry.

Extra Special Announcement

Kay Nine will offer first and second prizes for the children appearing in best costume with dog. Suggestions are German costumes with Getman police dog, hunter with hunting dog, Scottish costume with Scottish terrier, Mexican with Chihuahua, Pickaninny with mongrel, etc.
