Colman Pleads Guilty to Harboring Machine Gun Kelly

CASEY SAYS HE WAS NOT GUILTY OF AIDING YEGG

Trial Gets off to a Fast Start at San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 16. (UP).—Cass Coleman, brother of Mrs. R. G. Shannon, pleaded guilty today to harboring George and Kathryn Kelly at his Coleman county farm. Maximum penalty is two years imprisonment and fine of $10,000.

Will Casey, neighbor of Coleman pleaded not guilty to the same charge, the defense claiming that he harbored the Kellys under threat of death.

Federal agents had found $73,250 of the Urschel ransom money on Coleman's farm.

REVIVALISTS ARE WELL LIKED HERE

The revival at the First Christian church opened Sunday with unusual interest. Evangelist and Mrs. W. C. Cole, of Des Moines, Iowa, arrived Saturday evening and at once entered into activities necessary to starting the meeting.

In the opening service of the revival the leaders made a favorable impression upon the appreciative audience. At the close of the first invitation four adults responded.

Two more responded in the evening service, at which time the large auditorium was well filled with a representative Midland audience.

The First Baptist church dismissed its services and a large number of its congregation was present.

Evangelist Cole used as his first subject, "Eight Revival Elements," in which message he laid a firm foundation for a constructive revival.

She is directing the choir and congregational singing, as well as being heard in a solo number at each service.

An additional feature of the evening service was a young people's quartet from the Y. W. A. The splendid number was greatly appreciated by the audience.

There will be a baptismal service tonight. The evangelist will use as his subject, "The Second Coming of Christ." The service opens at 7:30. The public is invited to attend.

108 Attend Men's Class on Sunday

Attendance at the Men's class of Hotel Scharbauer Sunday was 108. A talk on "The Power of the Press" was made by Marvin C. Ulmer. Jim Tuttle's South side won the attendance contest, but Andrew Northington crept closer to the winner by taking the higher count for the press of the Sunday. Tuttle and Northington were both praised for their leadership in the contest. The Scharbauer barbecue is next Sunday. All who expect to attend are asked to meet with the class.

Officials of the barbecue are: Earl Ray and Otis Lewellyn, barbequeers; Sam Henry, coffee; Tom Grammer, meat cutters; Joe Haygood, chairman of servers; Cotter Heit, wend; Arch Coleman, purchasing agent; Clarence Scharbauer, beef; Charles A. McClintock, transportation; Harry L. Haight, general director.

Says NRA Ended Government Fear

ATLANTIC CITY—Reports to the thirty-first annual convention of the National Petroleum Association, representing virtually all of the oil refining firms east of the Mississippi, show that many thousands have been put back to work under NRA and that daily pay rolls for the entire industry may approximate $1,000,000.

E. M. Lyons, of Philadelphia, president of the association, declared that NRA "has banished the fear of government and law and has paved the way for whole-hearted cooperation." The association, he said, has not received the fullest possible cooperation in the past because some members of the industry feared investigation into their activities by the department of justice, the federal trade commission and congressional committees.

And now, with continued governmental supervision and familiarity with all of the industry's affairs, there is no ground for such fear.

Nov. 4 "Midland Day" at Downs; Special Possible

Nov. 4 has been designated as "Midland day" at the Arlington Downs races, according to a letter received Monday by the Midland chamber of commerce from the Fort Worth chamber.

If sufficient interest is shown, special rates can be arranged and if enough Midland people wish to go on that day, the chamber of commerce will ask for a special coach for the Midland party.

Both Fort Worth and Dallas are expecting enormous crowds to attend the races. Midland was honored with a special day because of its outstanding interest in thoroughbred horses and horse racing.

AVERAGE HOURLY EARNINGS HIKED

WASHINGTON—Citing latest labor statistics, Secretary Frances Perkins, of the department of labor, found justification and success in her far for NRA. She said that sufficient numbers of employers have complied with industrial codes and the president's agreement to warrant this assurance.

Average hourly earnings increased from 42.7 cents in the June 15-July 15 period to 48.5 cents for the month ending August 15. Average hours of work per week during that interval dropped from 42.3 to 38.6.

Eighty-nine manufacturing industries reported in the survey, about two thirds by that time under the Blue Eagle. About 75 per cent were in 10 of the large industries.

In cotton goods, the first to operate under a code, wage increases averaged 44.1 per cent, affecting 242,474 employees. In the iron and steel industry, the code for which did not become operative until later, increases averaged only 15.2 per cent and affected 136,546 workers.

The automobile code likewise was not operative for the period covered and its wage increase averaged 12.2 per cent, with 128,332 workers affected.

In the knit goods industry, which was operating for the period under an adaptation of the cotton textile code, increases in wages averaged 35.5 per cent; dyeing and finishing textiles, also temporarily adapted to the cotton textile code, showed average wage increases of 29.4 per cent.

The shoe and shoe industry, not then under a code, increased wages an average of 13.8 per cent.

But the women's clothing industry was working under the president's agreement and despite interruptions, rates of pay jumped from an average of 34.4 to 43.3 cents per hour and hours per week dropped from 38.9 to 35.1.

The silk goods industry, likewise operating under a modified code, increased wages on an average of from 31.5 to 41.5 cents per hour and hours were reduced from 42.1 to 36.7 per week.

Secretary Perkins said that the survey from the 89 manufacturing plants showed pay rolls were increased in the period from June 15 to July 15 to that of July 15 to August 15 slightly more than $1,000,000.

Jury Finds Cow Committed Suicide

CALLAO, Mo. (UP).—Clarence W. Reagent and jury committee, according to the findings of a jury in Squire Herman Baker's court here.

The strange verdict was returned in one of the most hotly contested suits ever heard here, one that attracted the country-side en masse.

Reagent brought suit against Stone, alleging the cow was killed by a bullet from Stone's rifle.

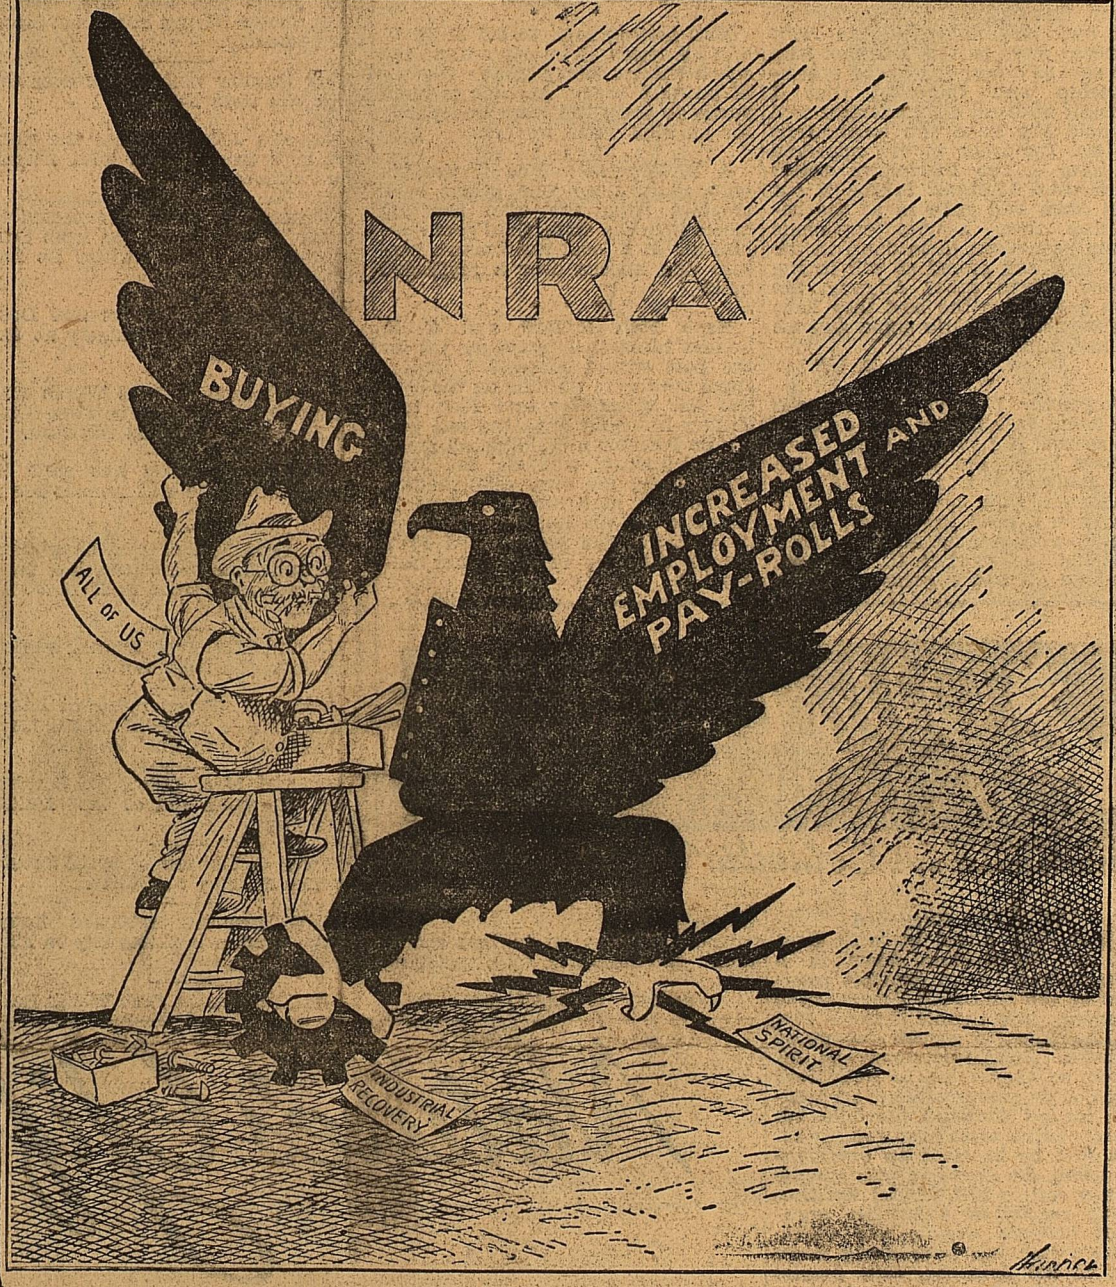

Stone said he saw the cow jump from a high embankment. The jury found for Stone. The case has been appealed.

Two-Acre Farm Supports Families

BAKERSFIELD, Cal. (UP).—A two-acre farm near here supports five families.

The plot, called "the busiest two acres in California," is owned by C. D. Oldershaw, who farms it with the aid of four heads of families on his hires. He raises winter cucumbers on the land, selling his product as far north as Seattle, Wash., and as far east as Chicago.

GINNING VOLUME ESPECIALLY LOW

Midland county cotton ginning prior to October 1 made a total of only 19 bales, according to the department of agriculture report made from here by Harvey Fryar, crop statistician.

Martin county had ginned 17 bales. Howard county, however, had ginned 1,018 bales as compared to only 237 for the same period last year. Comparative figures for Midland and Martin counties were not quoted in the government report.

Aid in Filling out Cards Is Offered

Firms or individuals needing assistance in filling out the cards from the president relating to employment and payroll increases under NRA are invited to confer with chamber of commerce employees.

The chamber of commerce Monday, on suggestion of a member, suggested to many employers that they state on their cards facts on local conditions, such as damage to agricultural interests through the drought, loss of cotton money through refusal of the government to allow cotton abandonment money in the drought area, and other facts which would impress the government with the sincere effort of Midland employers to cooperate with NRA under adverse conditions.

Trammell Convicted Of Slaying Officer

SWEETWATER—Because a Texas Ranger promised the would see a penalty no more severe than a life term was inflicted, state's attorneys failed in their efforts here to obtain a death sentence for Luke Trammell, West Texas bad boy, who admitted slaying John Lamkin, Blackwell deputy sheriff, in cold blood murder early in the morning of June 1.

Following the Texas Ranger's testimony, the state could not present the signed confession as evidence in the district court case here late Friday afternoon. Only voluntary confessions, to which no promises are attached, are admissible as evidence in Texas courts.

State attorneys were relying entirely on the confession as evidence of the slaying and for the reason were asking the death penalty.

The ranger, Capt. James M. Robbins, of Company "D," with headquarters at San Angelo, occupied the witness stand briefly late Friday afternoon. He said he promised Trammell he would see to it that the death penalty would not be given if he would sign the confession.

Following the ranger's testimony state and defense attorneys agreed jointly on a 50-year prison sentence and the jury was instructed to return such a verdict. It is the only one of the numerous sentences assessed against the youth.

Fearful of the death sentence Trammell had offered to waive jury trial, plead guilty, and accept a 99-year term from the court. That, however, was before state attorneys knew the confession had been obtained with a promise.

District attorney George Mahon talked with the youth in his jail cell Saturday morning, telling him other charges are also filed against him.

"I'm not pleading guilty to anything else," he declared.

He said he had been more closely confined in the Nolan county jail than in any in which he had ever been placed (He's been in a number of them), but that he would rather be kept here than anywhere else. He showered praise upon Deputy Red Pool, jailer.

"Red could turn me out and send me to the grocery store for a stock of red candy and I'd bring it right back to him," the desperado said.

"But I wouldn't do that for anybody else."

POLICE SEEK MAN IN KILLING CASE

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16. (UP).—Police today were seeking Tom Jones, former convict, in connection with the killing and dissection of the body of Mrs. Laura Ella Straw, 55, whose body was found floating in San Diego bay.

Part of her body was shifted in a sailor's duffle bag, others in a cement sack.

The woman had befriended and sheltered Jones. A bloody mattress, a hatchet, a hammer and a saw were found at her home.

Montana CCC Is Doing Much Work

MISSOULA, Mont. (UP).—Uncle Sam's C.C.C. workers accomplished a tremendous program of development and improvements in 19 camps of Region One during July and August, regional reports show.

Disproving theories that the C. C. C. men might enjoy a schedule of "all play and no work," officials reported the recruits had conserved or improved and maintained 2,085 miles of forest roads and trails alone in Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington.

To August 31 they had built 67 bridges, made range surveys of 600,000 acres of land; erected 178 miles of telephone lines and maintained 358 miles.

CROP PRODUCTION LOANS LIKELY TO BECOME AVAILABLE HERE IN JANUARY

Crop production loans probably will be available to Midland county farmers early in January.

Farmers who borrowed money for 1933 crops and have been unable to repay these loans likely will get first consideration on 1934 loans.

These were the cheering thoughts expressed by officials of the Crop Production loan office at Dallas to a representative of the Midland chamber of commerce in Dallas Saturday. Neither the certainty of making loans, nor certainty that this year's borrowers be able to get loans, where this year's are unpaid, could be guaranteed, but officials were confident both would be done.

Borrowers with unpaid loans are responsible for payment of the loans, until the entire obligation is discharged. The land itself, however, that is, the landlord's responsibility in permitting the land to pay off a renter's loan, is for the current year only, officials explained.

Owen W. Sherrill, director of the Dallas office, is doing all in his power to help the drought-stricken areas, and despite the handicaps of his drought areas, Sherrill and his force have made a national record for efficiency, the Midland visitor said.

RFC LOANS WILL BE ADVANCED ON ASSETS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (UP).—The government came to the aid of closed national banks today, with the president's creation of the federal deposit liquidation board to free $1,000,000,000 quickly.

The board will concentrate on stimulating distribution of frozen assets of banks closed since January 1, 1933; salvaging of all possible for depositors to bolster purchasing power.

It will be the intention of the board to make loans on assets of closed banks for benefit of depositors up to fifty per cent of the deposits. Funds will be supplied by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

INDUSTRY BACKS BUYING CAMPAIGN STAGED BY USA

WASHINGTON—Merchants and manufacturers are cooperating to an extent never before witnessed in complying with the suggestion of the national recovery administration that they join in a nation wide effort to assure the success of the "Now is the Time to Buy" campaign.

In letters and telegrams pouring into National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, hundreds of the country's most conservative national advertisers pledge increased advertising appropriations to stimulate the new consumer purchasing power.

Invariably they agree to act upon his advice to "offer the public good goods, fairly priced."

Newspapers in every section report that local merchants have contracted for increased space. Advertising agencies report hurried calls from clients, some of whom have not been in the market for years.

Magazine and radio managements state they are having to make revised schedules in anticipation of a new volume of publicity business.

In reporting trebled advertising space, one of the oldest manufacturers said: "We shall promote our products aggressively and at fair prices. On account of the severity of the depression we have done little advertising for over 3 years."

The president of an oil company, in reporting "a very extensive advertising campaign" wrote: "Our various departments are increasing purchases of materials considerably in advance of our national requirements." A nationally known carpet manufacturer wrote: "We are con- sidering the purchase of a new plant to buy better merchandise than has been the case during the past 3 years."

In promising "increased merchandising activity," a large tea company said: "We believe the turning point is past and that business is really on the up-grade out of its doldrums." Every state of the union is represented in these responses, even to the least populous. The president of one of the country's best known soft drink companies said: "Unless industry takes a more active part in the general administration of industrial affairs, the government will be forced as now, to do more regulating of industry."

Only in this way can such a period of depression be eliminated."

In agreeing enthusiastically to increase advertising along fair lines, a nationally known typewriter company wrote: "In March our dollar volume of business was 30 per cent behind March 1932. April was equal to April 1932. May was 21 per cent ahead of May 1932. June was 36 per cent better; July, 60 per cent; and August, 72 per cent more than sales in August 1932. We have been increasing our advertising, and will continue more than ever."

Literally thousands of such encouraging reports are coming from heads of manufacturing companies and merchants in cities and towns, all indicating their purpose to offer goods at fair prices and with confidence in the success of the campaign to lift buying power.

A TRAGIC MISTAKE

The approach of prohibition repeal offers dry organizations a chance to make a tragic mistake; and there are indications that at least a few of them are all set to take it.

An official of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, for instance, remarked the other day that his organization can hold no views as to the sort of liquor control system it would like to see adopted once the dry law dies.

"That," he said, "is impossible because the league does not admit defeat, will not concede anything, will not discuss possibility of repeal, will not give any attention to any questions of what may be done after repeal and will not prefer any particular form of liquor control, since it does not believe in anything except complete prohibition."

Die-hard fidelity to a principle is always admirable. But the drys could render a useful public service right now in helping their fellow citizens to find a practical method of controlling the liquor traffic. It is disappointing to see that some dry leaders are washing their hands of that problem.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

Someone who signs his name with a typewriter in everything from initials to dog-latin without making known his real identity, comes forward with the old team spirit and defends the coach against what he calls the Razzberry. He addresses his letter to the Editor, Quack, Ark, T. H. & C. M. I guess I ought to call it with F. L. R. and A. F. & A. M. when I reply. Anyway, here's his letter:

"You of the Ink-Trust seem to be trying to hand our Coach the Razzberry. Having plenty of troubles of my own and not caring to fight someone else's battles, I cannot help but say, as a matter of dog sports-manship and fair-play, that I thought Midland did extremely well to hold Big Lake two touchdowns to two. Big Lake, to me, appeared to have a two touchdown better team than Midland. Maybe if our first team had gone in at the beginning their heavier opponents would have worn them down in the first half and scored at will in the second. Quen sabe? Anyway, the boys gave them the best they had; it was virtually a tie game and we all had a great time."

Personally I won't try to coach the team at least not this early in the season. If I saw the game I had a good time. I'm that much like Jess Rodgers. If I can't have a good time seeing the home boys win I can have a good time seeing them lose. So that puts me and Jess partly in the class of E. D. U., who says, "and we all had a great time." A

What Has Happened Chick Rollins and his wife, Connie, are entertainers down in a Panama city. John Bradley, president of the American Broadcasting Company, tells Connie if she is ever in New York to see him about an audition. Connie is ambitious for Chick, so they come to New York, and Connie manages to get an audition for her husband. He fails, but Connie writes some good comedy for him and he becomes an overnight sensation. He starts to play around with a society girl, Muriel Bennett, which results in a terrible argument between Connie and Chick. Chick's star has been going down due to his drinking. But, despite the warning, he refuses to stop.

Installment VI Chick visited Bradley in his office and broke the startling news that he was going to divorce Connie. Bradley tried to placate him, but Rollins wouldn't listen. He left in a huff, shouting that Bradley "couldn't tell him what to do." Bradley got Connie on the phone. "It's very important, Connie, I'll be right up."

In fifteen minutes, Bradley was in Connie's apartment. He explained what had happened. Connie was astounded. "But I've never done anything against him. I've never thought of anything but Chick. I've tried to help him in his work. I've done everything I could for him. He can't do this to me now." "You're still in love with him, aren't you?" asked Bradley quietly. "I guess I must be." "Then you'll be happier with him than without him. I don't know what's happened, but I'm sure that if you two could talk it over as friends, you'd find it wasn't very serious." "Do you think so?" "As far as I can make out, it's his vanity that's been hurt, and that sort of things always responds to friendliness. It's just a question of who's willing to make the first advance." "All right—I'll try," said Connie. Just then the door slammed open. "Chick!" Chick stood in the doorway looking at Bradley and Connie. "I wouldn't have come up here. I'm not the type that craves in on people when they're sitting around talking things over." He turned as the butler came in. "See that the guests are comfortable, will you? And send my clothes over to the Hudson Hotel." He started out the door again. Bradley tried to stop him. "Chick!" "Connie held his arm. 'Don't! I never want to see him again.'" "You're right," Bradley said slowly. Chick was due on the air the same night. It was ten minutes before his scheduled time to appear and he had failed to show up. "Where's Rollins?" the anxious manager inquired of the announcer. "Hasn't showed up yet." "What—again? He'll have me in my grave yet." "Why do they stand for it? Nobody's worth that much grief!" "It doesn't do any good to squawk. Bradley won't do a thing about it." The door to the studio opened and Chick staggered in, dead drunk—almost helpless. "How'da doin' boys? Is this where I broadcast? Or is it tomorrow night?" "Hey," said the manager anxiously. "Pull yourself together." "Am, pull in your neck. Don't tell me what to do." "Come on over to my office," the manager pleaded. "You've got a little time." "Can't do it. Can't take no rest." Chick's voice was thick. "Goin' on the air in five minutes. Two minutes. I don't know. . . . What time is it?" He started towards the micro-

R-633-CITATION BY PUBLICATION-C-4

THE STATE OF TEXAS. To the Sheriff or any Constable of MIDLAND county—GREETING: YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED. That you summon by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Midland if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, H. MEEK, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. 70th Judicial District Court at the next regular term thereof, to be held in the County of Midland on the 30th day of October, A. D. 1933, at the Court House thereof in Midland, Texas, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court, on the 6th day of July, A. D. 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2633, wherein Ollie Fay Coady joined herein pro forma by her husband Walter L. Meeker is Plaintiff and E. H. Meek is defendant.

The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit: That the plaintiff is the independent executrix and sole devisee under the will of Mrs. Dora Thompson, deceased; that Mrs. Dora Thompson was seized and possessed in fee simple with the title of the following described lands, to-wit: FIRST TRACT: Situated in Midland County, Texas, and described as follows: The East two acres of the North East 1/4 of the North East 1/4 of Section 5, Block 39, Township 2-South, Texas & Pacific Ry. Co. survey, Midland County, Texas.

SECOND TRACT: Situated in Reeves County, Texas, and described as follows: The North East 1/4 of Section 40, Block 57, Township 1 South, Certificate 5,064, Texas & Pacific Ry. Co. survey, situated in Reeves County, Texas.

That by reason of being the sole devisee under the will of the said Mrs. Dora Thompson that this plaintiff becomes seized with the fee simple title and right to the tract of land of all of the above described lands on the 19th day of June, 1933, of the total value of $3,000.00.

That the reasonable annual rental value of said premises is the sum of $500.00.

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray for judgment for title and possession of the land described above for damages and costs as alleged.

Plaintiffs allege that heretofore, to-wit, on or about the 4th day of August, 1931, that Mrs. Dora Thompson, made, executed and delivered to the defendant, E. H. Meek, a conveyance, held by the defendant as Trustee, of the land described in the First Court of this petition as Tract No. I, and recorded in Midland County, Texas, said deed having been filed for record on the 4th day of August, 1931, in Book 49, Pages 296 and 297 of the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas.

That on the 4th day of August, 1931, the said Mrs. Dora Thompson, now deceased, made, executed and delivered to the defendant a Deed covering the Tract of land described as Tract No. II in the First Court of this petition; said deed being recorded in the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas in Book 75 at Page 255.

These plaintiffs would show to the Court that the above described Deeds are intended to convey in trust the lands and premises hereinafter described to be held by the Defendant, E. H. Meek, as Trustee, for the use and benefit of plaintiffs, with the express understanding and agreement that in the event of the death of the said Mrs. Dora Thompson that the defendant would promptly reconvey said two tracts of land to the plaintiffs; that there was no consideration paid by the said E. H. Meek to the said Mrs. Dora Thompson, and the same was conveyed, or intended to be conveyed, to the said E. H. Meek, except the naked legal title, making the said E. H. Meek a naked Trustee for these plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs further show to the Court that they have heretofore demanded in writing of the defendant a conveyance to plaintiffs of the lands above described, and that said defendant has refused to execute such conveyance, and is fraudulently asserting title to said land and premises in himself, notwithstanding his full and complete knowledge and understanding of the nature of the conveyance that was made to him by the said Mrs. Dora Thompson and hereinabove alleged.

That by reason of facts alleged above these plaintiffs are entitled to the said lands and premises made by the said Mrs. Dora Thompson to the said E. H. Meek, and to be vested fully with the title in and to said lands and premises free of any claim or right of interest in and to the same by the defendant. WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray for judgment cancelling the deeds and decreeing full title and possession of said above described lands in plaintiffs, for costs of suit and general and special relief.

Here is the reason why you should BUY NOW

The letter below is from Bradley Knitting Co., makers of Bradley sweaters and overcoats. We bought the child's sweater referred to early at $8.50 the dozen and these are in stock and marked $1.00 each. The re-orders cost $1.25. WHAT YOU BUY NOW WILL SHOW A SAVING OF 25 TO 75% over replacement prices.

Referring to your favor of the 8th in regard to the sweaters of 802E5 invoiced to you on October 3rd.

We find that the price of $15.00 per dozen as indicated on invoice is correct. This is, it is true, rather an unusual advance but we assure you that the increase was made only after the matter had been given intensive study by our Cost Department, and then, reluctantly. As you perhaps know, the cost of raw materials in practically all lines, made a very sharp increase during the summer and early fall.

Yours very truly, BRADLEY KNITTING COMPANY R. B. Gage Claim Manager
