Chronology of Urschel Kidnap Case to Date

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 30. (UP).—The famous Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case, rivaling even the Lindbergh case in interest, unfolded in a series of dramatic incidents.

July 22—The multimillionaire oil man was snatched from his home while playing bridge with friends, and carried away at the point of machine guns.

July 23—The government struck swiftly to trap the abductors. Federal agents took full charge of the investigation, swiping the entire might of the nation's law enforcement agencies against the criminals.

July 24—Agents pretended they had left the house unguarded to permit the family to negotiate with Urschel's captors. However, a federal officer remained hidden in the home.

July 25—Urschel's brother-in-law Arthur Seelgison, arrived to negotiate with the gang. For six days, he announced they had received no communications.

July 26—John Catlett, friend of Urschel, of Tulsa, Okla., received a note from the millionaire, mentioning ransom.

July 27—Second note, demanding $200,000 for Urschel's release, arrived. Method of payment was outlined.

July 30—Urschel was shined from a car north of Norman, Okla., two hours before midnight. Unharmed, he walked into his home.

August 1—Millionaire gave an account of his treatment, his experience in nine days of blindfolded captivity, but said he was unable to identify his abductors, locate the hideout, and refused to name the amount paid for his release. With utmost secrecy, he detailed the entire affair to federal officials in slightest detail—with such accuracy that agents were provided with definite clues which led to the gang's being trapped.

August 2—Public learns Catlett carried on ransom parleys.

August 3—Ransom sum learned, and federal officials announced that serial numbers of money were taken.

August 4—Department of justice orders its best men to coverage on Oklahoma City to ferret out the kidnapers. Scores came into the city, to conduct operations in deepest secrecy for four days.

August 8—Urschel ransom money located in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Charles Wolk, William Nelson, Sam Kronick arrested as possessors of ransom bills.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30. (UP).—Harvey Bailey and six others were convicted in the Urschel kidnaping today and three were acquitted.

Those convicted, when the jury's verdict was read this morning, included Bailey, Albert L. Bates, R. G. Shannon and wife and their son, Armon; Edward Berman and Clifford Kelly, both of St. Paul.

San Kronick, Sam Kozberg and Isadore Blumenthal, all of Twin Cities, were acquitted.

Judge Edgar S. Vaughn gave three days in which to file motion for new trials. He will pass on such motions Friday, passing sentence Saturday. All defendants gave notice of appeal to the federal supreme court if new trials are denied.

Life imprisonment is the maximum penalty possible. Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil man whose kidnaping brought about the rounding up of the group, and Assistant Attorney General Keenan expressed themselves as being pleased with the jury's verdict.

LET US PREPARE FOR SOME CHANGE

One of the most perplexing things about living in 1933 is that the world's leading thinkers seem quite unable to make up their minds whether we are approaching a sunset or a dawn.

If you nose through the books, magazine articles and interviews in which thoughtful men try to appraise the present situation you will find two schools of thought represented.

According to one school, the end of all things is at hand, and a great darkness is about to settle down over the waters. Capitalism is done for, western civilization is about to collapse and the world is about to enter a new dark age.

According to the other school, our woes are just the birth pangs of a new order of life. We are going through a great change, and paying for it in misery and confusion, but when the change is finished things will be almost infinitely better than they were before.

Each crew of prognosticators can assemble a multitude of facts and a whole string of clever arguments to prove its case. You can get damnation with your morning coffee and salvation with your after-dinner cigaret if you like, and each forecast will seem to be absolutely fool-proof.

Now all of this, however conflicting it may be, seems to indicate one thing indisputably; that we have reached one of history's great turning points, and that no matter what the future brings us it is going to be something different than what we have had before.

Yet it is also quite possible that the seers are mostly wrong. The disasters they foresee may not be quite as bad as they expect; the improvements may leave us only a little bit better off than we were.

CHINESE PREMINENCE

A little cable dispatch from China the other day emphasizes, as few news items ever do, the incredible age of the civilization of that mysterious land.

Since Confucius was born in 551 B. C., the family is now a little bit less than 2500 years old; and in the face of a record like that—it isn't altogether uncommon, either, in China—the most pretentious of western genealogies must look utterly insignificant.

To a person who can trace his family tree that far back, an American's pride in a Mayflower ancestor must look rather odd. And even the proudest members of European nobility, who claim direct descent from crusaders and what-not, must be, in the eyes of a cultured Chinese, mere upstarts.

A HAVEN

Representative Samuel Dickstein of New York urges that the government relax its immigration rules so as to permit the entry into this country of fugitives who have been driven from Germany and other European countries by religious or political persecution.

It is probable that this could be done without in any way altering the fundamentals of our immigration restriction policy. We would not have to let down the bars and permit the flood-tide of immigrants to sweep over as it did in the old days.

America used to be proud of the fact that oppressed people of other lands looked toward it as a haven.

Foods Department Suggests Menus for Lunches for School

Note: Through the cooperation of the high school foods department, this paper is able to offer its readers a series of suggested menus for student lunches.
Three meals a day is the first step to good health. Breakfast and dinner take care of themselves, but the lunch is sometimes a problem, especially the school lunch. This should be carefully planned and should supply at least one-third of the food needs of the day. It should include material for energy, growth and repair and protective foods.
Fruit in some form should be used in every school child's menu. Milk, if possible, is ideal for the luncheon beverage.
The weather has much to do with our appetites. On cold days, one is hungry, while on warm days, the desire for food is not so keen. It is on these days that the lunch should be attractively in appearance and appetizing. Each food should be wrapped separately in waxed paper or paper napkins, and for the semi-cold foods, a screw top jar or paper cups have been found satisfactory.
In making sandwiches, left over meat of any kind may be used, only be sure it is ground or moistened in some way to prevent its being dry and tough.
Home made relishes, green peppers, and left-over vegetables may be added to sandwiches to improve their flavor. Relishes substituted for pickles or olives make the finished product more economical.

Orange or lemon juice, mayonnaise, cream, or mild vinegar may be used to moisten sandwiches.
Rubber bands and tooth picks are useful in holding wrapped foods together and are easy to use. The average school lunch should cost 20 cents or less. If farm products are available, the lunch will cost practically nothing.

- Some sample lunches are:
- 1 Chopped bacon and pickle sandwich
Peanut butter and jelly sandwich
Tomato Banana
Oatmeal Cookies
 - 2 Cold meat sandwiches
Chopped egg and lettuce sandwich
Celery Orange
Rice Pudding
 - 3 Celery and olive sandwich
Meat Salad Sandwich

Graham crackers and jelly
 - 5 Minced ham sandwich
Lettuce sandwich
Deviled egg Grapes
Gingerbread
 - 6 Meat Loaf Sandwich
Apple and celery salad
Raw carrot Nut fudge
 - 7 Potato salad
Bread and butter sandwiches

JOWELL AND HARVEY ENTRIES GRAB THIRD PLACE IN THURSDAY RACES AT TRI-STATE FAIR AT AMARILLO

Jowell & Son's thoroughbred, Memorial Day, and Paul Harvey's chestnut colt, Dutch, Veda, ran third in their races Thursday on the Tri-State fair card at Amarillo. The bay Jowell horse, Locklear up, was in the three-quarter mile race which was won by C. E. Hummel's Miss Snappy, Mrs. Joe Morin's horse, Joe Kruger, running second. The half mile race for two year olds was won again by Toke Deal's Argus Girl, Tom Davis' colt, North Vale, running second. The Harvey colt had run second to Argus Girl on Monday in the same distance. The Eloss horses, Foreign Relations and George Keith, were not entered Thursday or Friday. Results of the Friday card on which Memorial Day was entered in a race for a half mile and seventy yards, were not learned today. White & Strickland's mare, Queen of the Forest, won the $200 Tri-State Derby race for a mile Thursday.

High-Society Jewel-Thieves Play Hide And Seek with Law in "Midnight Club" Romance Showing Today, Monday, Ritz

Characters who thrive on excitement, seek it every minute of the day and night, make "Midnight Club" one of the most enjoyable thrilling pictures of the year. This Paramount picture opened last night with a preview and showing today and Monday with a four-star cast featuring Clive Brook, George Raft, Alison Skipworth and Helen Vinson. It is the excellence of the cast, all the way down the line, that makes believable this surging story by E. Phillips Oppenheim. A master of the melodrama, he has put all the elements of adventure into this tale of London's high-society jewel-thieves and their capture by an American detective.

Supporting the featured players are such splendid interpreters as Sir Guy Standing, Alan Mowbray and Ferdinand Gottschalk. "Midnight Club" tells of this ingenious band of thieves who make a profession of excitement, looting every famous safe within reach. They hang out at the "Midnight Club," a front for their activities. And here, despite the fact that they are watched day and night by men from the "Yard," they plan their famous robberies. By planting "doubles" in their places at the dance-floor table, they are able to get away to manage their thefts, while the "doubles" establish perfect alibis.

But, into the scene comes Nick Mason (George Raft), famous New York detective, now retained by Scotland Yard to capture them and break up the band which consists of Clive Brook, the leader, Helen Vinson, Mowbray and Gottschalk. Raft decides that the only way he can get evidence is to become a member of the gang. Accordingly, he looks all the safes that they have marked for their very own, thus forcing them to take him into the band as a means of self-protection. Once in, he gets the evidence, but when he goes to use it, finds that he is in love with Helen Vinson. Then he has to make his choice between his duty to the "Yard" and his love for her.

See "Midnight Club" if you like a rapidly paced, highly dramatic story of adventure, enacted by a brilliant cast and splendidly produced. It's one of Oppenheim's best stories and the film moves along at a headlong pace to become one of the unforgettable pictures of the year.

BATTLE CREEK—At a meeting of the Kellogg company employees and foremen and executives, S. K. Kellogg, founder and president, confirmed again the wholehearted support of the Kellogg company behind the national recovery act. With the further announcement of the establishment of a new pension plan for employees, providing a life income after retirement age. The Kellogg company, world's largest manufacturer of ready-to-eat cereals, is the pioneer in the movement toward the shorter working day, having placed operations on a six-hour working day basis December 1, 1930.

"The new plan," he said, "is a logical complement to the six-hour day and, like it, is designed to assure the maintenance of the purchasing power which is essential if the output of industry is to find consumers."

All employees who have been with the company for one year are eligible to participate in the plan. Monthly contributions by employees will be more than matched dollar for dollar by the company. The plan also provides for life insurance and health and accident benefits. Administration of funds for the retirement pensions has been delegated to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which will also underwrite the health and accident coverage.

In the explanation of the new plan, Kellogg said, "We were quick to enroll ourselves under the Blue Eagle because we have found the shorter working day entirely practical for our own business. When we put the six-hour day into effect in 1930, we were able to increase hourly rates of pay and to keep purchasing power at the 1928 level, giving employment to several hundred additional persons. We plan to make this six-hour day permanent regardless of changing business conditions. Our pen-and-improvement upon our cooperative aid and insurance program is designed to provide, even beyond the time of active work, a continuation of the individual's purchasing power, so far as our own people are concerned. We believe with many others, that the future of our country depends upon maintaining purchasing power of the millions of America's wage and salary earners. Only such purchasing power can absorb the capacity of present industry production."

TREE BEARS 23 FRUITS SAN LEANDRO, Cal. (UP).—When J. A. Haeferle, San Francisco musician, wants a different fruit for breakfast, he can get it. By patient grafting, Haeferle has developed one tree which produces 23 varieties of fruit, including Blenheim apricots, Hale's early peaches, nectarines, sugar plums, Italian prunes, egg plums, purple plums, Santa Rosa plums, Burbank plums, German prunes, Hungarian plums, Royal Anne cherries, green gage plums, French prunes, Crawford peaches, early Grafton peaches, Japanese plums, Damsou plums, Lambert cherries, Morrepark apricots, and a new "mystery plum."

Since the depression has turned people's attention to gardening and such home activities, the dogs have come in for their share of attention. More pedigreed dogs are being sold daily and there are several national publications devoted to the affairs of dogs and their breeders. For a price, you can send your dog to a training school and have him come back in a few weeks a guaranteed gentleman, or your money back. For those who do not care to send their pets to boarding school, there are various books on dog training, taking up all the points that trouble dog owners, from the niceties of bathroom etiquette to the question of digging in the neighbor's flower beds.

A number of advertisers of dog food and remedies offer free booklets in their ads which give many valuable hints on the care of dogs, along with pictures of excellent specimens of many breeds.

The committee for The Reporter-Telegram Dog Show to be held Oct. 1 will have a supply of these pamphlets from national advertisers to be given to entrants and visitors to the dog show.

No one need hesitate to enter his pet. The dogs will be well cared for. Local veterinarians will be on hand to assist in the handling and judging of the dogs, as well as to answer questions and see that no dogs with distemper or any contagious diseases are allowed to compete.

The United States exports about 3,500,000 railroad ties annually.

BARKS AND GROWLS

BY KAY NINE

The Home Magazine, with a large circulation, recently held a contest to determine the most popular pets for children. The results showed that dogs were far in the lead. Summing up the statistics, the magazine said:

"And so we've come to no conclusion as to the best breed of dog to choose for your children's pets, but we are surer than ever that most children should have some sort of pet, that nothing does quite so well as a well-bred dog, and that it's as natural for dogs to love children as for children to love puppies."

There are styles in dogs, as in clothes. "Where now can you find the pugs of the gay nineties? Even the airedales, so popular ten or fifteen years ago, are not seen so frequently, tho' there is an effort on the part of breeders to stage a comeback for this type. Police dogs have been very popular the past few years, and at present the terriers, Scottish, wire haired, and Schnauzers are having their day. Prices reflect the popularity of the breed—the most popular cost the most for the moment."

MRS. TURKEY WENT NRA

GRIDLEY, Cal. (UP).—It seems the NRA stepped in and shortened Mrs. Turkey's hours. When Mrs. J. G. Wade missed her prized gobbler she worried—then went hunting. She found the gobbler setting on three eggs, saw them hatched. The hen turkey apparently had strolled off at the 5 o'clock whistle.

IT LOOKED LIKE A BARGAIN

Today, the windows and shelves of many stores are crowded with packages bearing "bargain" prices. With prices so low, not getting your money's worth seems almost impossible.

But it pays to remember that while some of these products are bargains, others are not.

In some of the unfamiliar packages you see so frequently today, there is cheap merchandise—the offering of a few manufacturers who have gone too far in their efforts to make your dollars buy more quantity. Products in which these manufacturers have sacrificed quality to make a low price still lower and, seemingly, more attractive.

No matter how strongly you are urged to buy these "bargain brands"—or how often you are told they are "just as good"—it is safer to refuse them unless you are fully familiar with their value.

Look for the real bargains now among brands which you know—by your own experience, through their advertising, or by the reputations of their makers. Ask for them by name! Insist on getting what you ask for!

Many of these reliable brands now cost less than they have in years. But only the price has been reduced. The quality—which originally made these products popular with you and many others—still remains as high as ever.

Martha Turner Cosmetics

Mrs. Alice Bingham

Famous Beauty Authority and direct representative of the Martha Turner Laboratories, Chicago, will be in our store through this week, beginning Monday, conducting a school of instruction on Beauty Culture.

Mrs. Bingham will give lectures on the care of the complexion, hair and hands—also facial and personal advice. Classes will be held each day at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Mrs. Bingham says: Perhaps it's the food you eat—the amount of water you drink—the exercise you take or the way you use cosmetics that is responsible for the lack of a beautiful skin.

Why mope about your bad complexion when it's so easy to have a good one with the correct treatment?

We are extending to the ladies a most cordial invitation to make an appointment for one of Martha Turner's famous skin

60-YARD PUNT IS KNELL TO HOPES OF ODESSANS

BY JESS RODGERS
The Crane sixes roundly outplayed the Odessa Bronchos Saturday at Odessa and defeated it by a score of 7-0 in a game that was not as close as the score would indicate. The Cranemen kept the ball in Odessa territory throughout the game and only for several costly fumbles would have made as many as four touchdowns.
Crane scored late in the first quarter when a triple pass, hit back to end to halfback for a 45-yard gain placed the ball on the Odessa 5-yard line and White of Crane plunged the middle of the line for points. White kicked goal to extend the lead.
Only once in the closing minutes of the game, was Odessa able to make any material gains, three consecutive completed passes placing the Bronchos down around the Crane 20-yard line; but they lost the ball on downs at this spot and White of Crane, who with the Crane right end were the outstanding stars of the day, came through with a 60-yard punt and Tucker, Odessa safety man, was downed on his own 20 as the game ended.
Odessa failed to show anything that warranted considering the club a threat in the district and, unless it shows a lot of improvement, Midland should have no trouble defeating it as badly as it did last season. If we remember correctly, the score was somewhere around 40-0.

FOOTBALL SKETCHES

By R. C. HANKINS
SMU, in cantering to an easy 14-0 win over Tech Friday night, proved one of two things—that the psychology of running under the imposing name of a higher circuit is worth a margin of several digits in the scoring; or that the Mustangs are a superior team to the remuda that galloped to little avail against the Denton Teachers the week before. The scribes were curiously lacking in worry over SMU's loss to the Eagles, however, pointing out that Morrison's charges have thrived in the past after losing out of their own conference.

Sweetwater's 19-0 win over Abilene the same night marks the second time the trick has been turned, if our memory is correct. The Mustangs drove the Elephants into the compound last year by a 20-0 score. No telling what would have happened had Red American been in the Sweetwater backfield," wrote Prexy Anderson, Abilene sports editor. We know the answer to that one, we do: Red wouldn't have stayed in his backfield; he would have run wild over the Taylor county territory that remotely resembled gridiron country.

Our late foe of Class A, Colorado, thumped Roby in a 38-0 practice mill. Lamesa won 56-0 over Hamlin; Winters had no trouble with Roscoe, usually a hard nut, winning 31-0; Breckenridge finally got started and trekked over a 26-0 win over Comanche; and Eastland, Max Erick's flashed in a 19-6 afternoon against Dublin. This resume, if you saw the Saturday papers was about all the long-suffering public was able to glean.

Ineligibility proceedings have already started at McCamey, we find in the announcement that Leonard Cain was ruled ineligible for further competition. The McCamey superintendent, A. H. Blackman, brought the charge, saying Cain had passed only one subject last semester. If we might be permitted to ask, what was the gristler doing that he couldn't make but one credit-raising Cain?

West of the Pecos has been started something that is seldom found on a football squad—the players are numbered consecutively from 1 to 18. In order, they are Anthony, Collins, Mitchell, M. Cowan, Prudy, Tolliver, Wilkins, B. Davis, Ligon, Brumlow, Eowie, Morgan, Payne, Card, Durdin, C. Cowan, Stephens and Skoob. The superstitious will wonder if there is anything significant in the fact that No. 13's name is Payne.

George Elliott of Odessa, an inveterate sports fan, sends this decontemperate new grand jury probe into case, and intimate that a flood of arrests will come as allies in plot are run down. Langford Ramsey, Memphis attorney and former brother-in-law of Kelly, admits seeking buried ransom for desperado.

September 28—Federal officers arrest Will Casey, farmer residing 15 miles from Coleman, Tex., accusing him of harboring fugitive Kelly. He and Coleman are questioned. Charges against the pair are filed at Abilene.

Humble Plans Extend Line to Andrews Co.

ODESSA—The Humble is reported to be planning to extend their new pipe line from the Cowden field in northern Ector County northward to the Fuhrman pool in Andrews county, according to information given out here this week. Members of the claims and right-of-way department for the company have been stopping in Odessa this week while negotiating with Andrews county officials, it is understood.
Just when the work will start, or exactly how long the line will be is not known at this time, but it is understood that it will be a 4-inch and 6-inch line.

No Wheat Loans Made in County

Not a single wheat loan was made by the government in Midland county, records of V. I. Lane, field representative for the crop production loan office, show. Blanks were received and farmers notified loans were available, but the few farmers who planted wheat for fall and winter pasturage got their seed with out federal loans. Some of the wheat planted died due to insufficient moisture.

To Announce Old Clothes Matinee

Sunday school superintendents of Midland have been asked by Mrs. Harvey Sloan, head of the clothing department of the Midland Welfare association to announce this morning the old clothes matinee to be held at the Yucca theatre Thursday from 4 to 6 p. m.

The superintendents are asked to point out to their Sunday school children that they do not need to have money to go to the matinee. Thursday, but merely need to take a bundle of as many old clothes as they can find, or at least as much as an old clean garment of some kind. The Yucca will turn all of these old clothes over to the welfare association for needy people.

THUMBED WAY TO EUROPE
PRATT, Kan., (UP)—Paul Barker, a Pratt boy, thumbed his way to Houston, Texas, got a job on a cattle boat and sailed for Germany to attend Munich University, to which he had won a scholarship. Barker lacked funds for travel, but had plenty of determination and soon will be at work in the German university.

partment via our stool pigeon, Mr. Rodgers, the following interesting information: Woodrow Wilson, lately of the Bison camp at Starbuck, is not the only School of Mines grad star indigenous to these parts. "The two Barnett brothers of McCamey, Lee and Homer, Vaughn of Eastland, Speegle Wood of Sweetwater and McCamey's big tulleback who caused as much stir as the Dreyfus case when declared ineligible are among the Miners," said Elliott.

Jim Kelly, editor of the Stanton Reporter, asks his public not to get the idea that every Kelly "totes a machine gun." He goes further down his column to point out that this department does not wear overalls or a hat. The explanation evidently resulted from an attempt of our friend to point out that we are not a farmer, despite what our copy indicates. Another point—we will have to get to that later.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Sir—Ring Lardner just died. And at the early age of 48. He should have lived to be a hundred; and from forty eight to one hundred he would have contributed masterpieces of literature along the lines that made him famous, that would have gone down in history as among the best that had ever been produced. That was his gift. His output of descriptive writings produced a picture that was indelibly printed on your mind. It was in a photograph right where you do your thinking and for that talent we, all of us, thank him. He was a most delightful companion and to his credit he said he advised pseudo writers without number just how they should draw their mental pictures in order to divert them of artificialities. Many scribes owe their success to his wholesome advice and direction. This writer had the joy of knowing him. We frequently dined at the old Waldorf and while we lay no claim to being a competent critic the thing that pleases us most is that Ring often asked our opinion of his latest effusion. And often we felt compelled to answer in full truth that we did not think much of it. We have a sinking of the heart at this time that in our incompetence we told him that he should improve his style. Once we told him that his latest story was actually punk. May the good Lord forgive us for such a nonsensical expression. He was the best of the later day writers. What he wrote held your attention to the end. May his soul rest in peace. A good man has gone.
—Harry Livingston Haight, Midland.

Trench Mouth Cases Are on the Decrease

MONAHANS.—The report that there were a number of cases of trench mouth among school children of the Monahans school caused quite a bit of alarm to parents and others here this week. Superintendent J. A. Summerhill, when asked about the number of cases in the school made the following statement:

"There is no reason for anyone becoming uneasy or disturbed about the few cases found in the school. These cases have been isolated and are under treatment and will return to school the latter part of the week. Some cases have been dismissed and returned to school Wednesday. Every precaution has been taken to prevent any more cases, and all drinking fountains have been put in sanitary condition."

COMES FOOD VALUE

The United States Labor Department suggests that if the food budget is limited twenty-five to thirty cents out of every dollar expended should go for milk or its equivalent. That is because milk contains practically every element necessary for health. And the milk should, for greatest return, be of the fine, unvarying quality in Scruggs Dairy milk.

at surprisingly low prices, from skeptical oil men. Now, he believes, their discovery of a pay, which was topped early last week at 4,150, and which yields a 37 gravity oil, and oil of pure lime formation, is the biggest oil discovery in West Texas since the Big Lake finds.

The true porous lime formation, with no sand, he says, is comparable only to the Big Lake formation, as is the 37 gravity oil, as compared with the 30 to 34 gravity found elsewhere in this area. It is the type of formation that has been long sought in West Texas and will do much, he believes, to turn the interests of the oil fraternity back to West Texas.

A. J. Broderick and George Calvert, who make their homes in Fort Worth, have had heavy investments in Ector county for the past eight years. In 1925 they leased the Breck Holt and J. M. Cowden ranches in the northern part of the county. In 1927 they purchased property in the city of Odessa amounting to around $75,000. They still retain their holdings in the city, as well as wide holdings of leases over the county.
