REEMPLOYMENT MEETING TOPIC OF CRAFTSMEN

The move to support those mer-chants who subscribe strictly to re-strictions outlined in the national recovery administration's new code took added impetus Tuesday when members of the crafts filled the members of the crafts filled the county court room here to go into the matter of aligning strength and saying in speeches they favored the adoption of President Roosevelt's Voluntary industrial recovery code calling for a maximum hour work week and a minimum employe wage. The group was the first locally to respond to the administration's plan respond to the administration's plain for business rehabilitation. Other meetings will be called within the next few days, following the receiving here of codes by business men. Setting of dates for meetings may follow immediately. In each a study of the so-called "blanket" code will result.

Several towns in West Texas have several towns in West Texas have set the working week for store employes to consist of 40 hours, instead of from 62 to 69, which would mean stores would open at 8:30 until 5 except on Saturday when they would open at the same time but would close at 6:30. Employes would work seven and a half hours for five days and spend the rest on the sixth. Admittedly not familiar with the codes likely to be submitted by their Admittedly not familiar with the codes likely to be submitted by their crafts, the group that met here simply announced its desire to "get together" and "talk the matter over," not, however, without voicing a unanimous endorsement of the president's effort to reemploy workmen.

spoke several minutes on the futility of trying to carry on with the present wage scale in face of rising commodity prices, a point stressed by the Rev. O. W. Roberts, brick mason, R. L. Mitchell, and others. W. E. Johnson was named secretary to act at the meeting. Several committees were appointed.

Referring to the "old order changing," Trauber said the workmen had passively gone ahead in an unequal lattle shaped by fundamental economic laws, had not protested, but is now arising lawfully to take advantage in the new economic vista opened by the president.

Second Pigeon Back but Note Evidently Lost

Special air mail via pigeon express continues to disappoint the Rev. Winston F. Borum, pigeon fancier.
The second homer in two days to The second homer in two days to return from the boy scout camp on the Nueces river dropped down near its cote between four and five o'clock Tues, afternoon—but, like the other, had no message attached to its leg. It is believed, as in the case of the first bird, scouts who tied the message were afraid of drawing the string too tight. Whereas the first pigeon had difficulty in walking, because of string tangled around both feet. Tuesday's pigeon had no string feet, Tuesday's pigeon had no string

Four birds have been released at the camp, only two reaching Midland. The two missing birds had flown only around Midland, and the comes that returned had flown only on trial flights of 50 miles. Tuesday's carrier is estimated to have flown non-stop, however, the 225 miles. It was released sometime about the middle of the morning, giving it an estimated seven or eight hours to fly home, which would have meant an average of around 30 miles.

If you're going away on a trip, here's just the spot to begin it. Let us inspect your car, grease it, change the oil and fill your gas tank-and then you'll have the satisfaction of knowing your car is really ready. Our experts guarantee extra careful checking of all parts—a thorough job of the kind you'd do yourself.

Let's help you make your trip a success.

DRIVE IN FOR SERVICE

And That
