Paul Dean Pitches St. Louis to Win; New York Loses

CARDS CAN WIN FLAG BY TAKING TODAY'S AFFAIR

Big Brother Dizzy to Take the Mound This Afternoon

St. Louis' wild Cardinals, riding an inspired windstorm stirred by the colorful brother act of the Dean Brothers, went a full game ahead of the defending champions of the National League Saturday. Paul Dean hurling the Red Birds to a 6-1 win over the tail-end Cincinnati club while Mungo was humbling the Giants for Brooklyn.

Casey Stengel's sixth place Brooklynites batted out a 5-1 victory decision over the Giants, which, coupled with St. Louis' win over Cincinnati, threw the National League into convulsions it has not felt since 26 years ago, when the Giants and the Cubs had such a finish and had to play a three-game series to decide who would fly the flag.

Paul Dean's big brother Dizzy, after only a day's rest, will be depended upon today to pitch his club into the money. He humbled the Reds two days ago after a two-day rest. Speaking over the radio, Dizzy said, "The game is in the bag. So much confidence has been placed in the Dean brothers world series money has been voted by the Cards to 21 men, 18 players and three officials.

Battery for St. Louis was Paul Dean and DeLaney, for Cincinnati, Derringer and Lombardi; for Brooklyn Mungo and Lopez, for New York Parmelee and Mancuso.

Miss Frances Emily Newton sat back in her president's chair in the board room of the Young Women's Christian Association in Haifa, Palestine, took out her pipe, filled it with tobacco, struck a match, drew once and again on it and said, "So they don't allow girls to smoke in the Y. W. C. A.'s in America. Strange. But then you Americans do do such strange things."

HIGHLAND FAIR'S MOTORCADE HERE

The goodwill motorcade party of the Highland Fair association, Marfa, departed Saturday morning after spending the night at Hotel Scharbauer.

The entertainment offered the group included a barbecue at the Roy Parks ranch and a dance in the ballroom of the hotel. The goodwill trippers brought with them their own band orchestra, a band played on the streets before the departure.

The fair association has recently issued a booklet for the seventh annual fair, listing premiums, rules and program. It says the fair is the only one of its kind west of the Pecos and that officials take especial pride in this year inasmuch as the difficulty of holding it following the drought has been surmounted only after great effort.

It reads: "From the Presidio valley, on the south, where the finest vegetables in the world are grown, to the irrigated section of the Pecos valley, on the north, and the cattle raising sections in the central and east, are produced, best where the famous and unequalled Whiteface Herefords are raised and from the far-famed scenic Davis mountains where the finest specimens of fruit are produced, best mineral products of the mining sections of Shafter, one of the largest silver mines in the United States to the mercury mines of the Texas mines in Brewster county, the Highland fair will present for your pleasure and edification such a varied exhibition as could probably not be duplicated in any other section of the world."

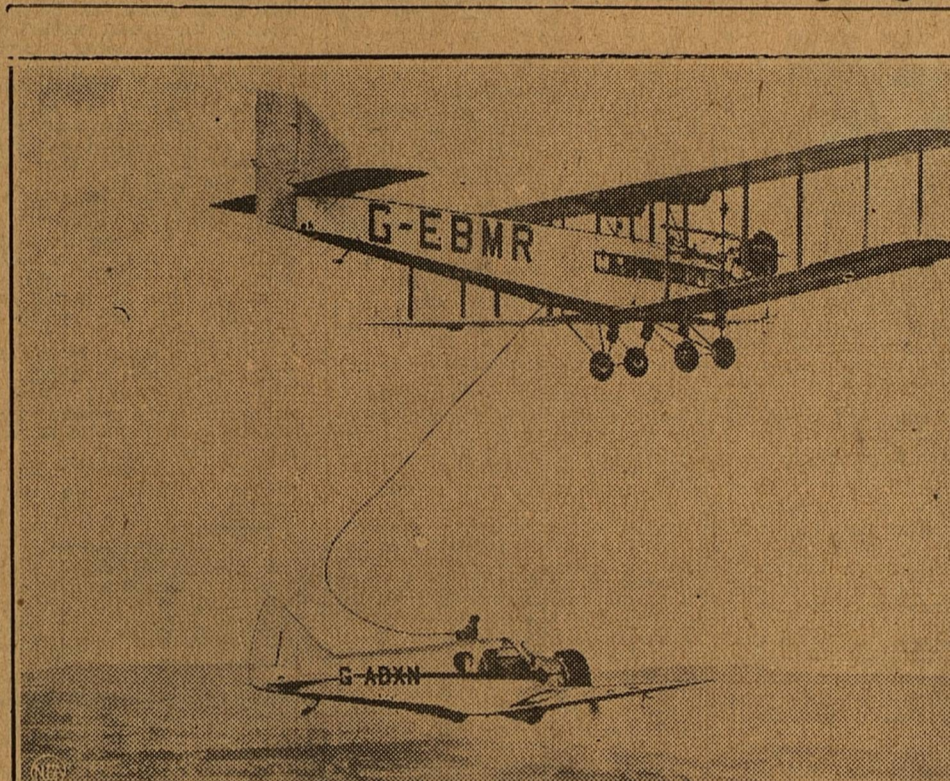

The booklet outlines on the program, exhibits, football game between Sul Ross and A. C. C. horse racing, rodeo, races, chuck wagon feeds, trips over the game-populated mountains and several other interesting program features.

The date is Oct. 3 and 6. Officials, several of whom were in the motorcade personnel of '33, are:

Board of directors: C. K. Smith, president; J. C. Mitchell, vice president; A. M. McCabe, secretary; treasurer: Jack Edwards, manager; H. A. Coffield, W. B. DeVolin, Clayton Barnett, Henry Fletcher, Clay Slack, Joe O'Keefe, and Buck Pyle.

Grounds committee: F. A. Mitchell, chairman; Bill Bishop, Ben Pruett Jr., Rodeo committee: Clay Espy, chairman; Morton Barnett, Jack Rowles, chairman; Bill Bishop, L. C. Hinkle, Pearl Jackson, Racing committee: Jack Rawls, chairman; W. M. Waters, Pearl Jackson, Frank Jones.

Four Died in Wake of This Refueling Flight

Disaster came in the wake of this refueling operation over Portsmouth, Eng., in which tanks of the plane of Sir Alan Cobham, famed English aviator, were filled for an attempted non-stop flight to India. Cobham also encountered ill-fortune, being forced down at Malta.

RECOGNIZED BY PICTURE, NABBED

Eugene E. Porterfield was finding the lobby of Hotel Scharbauer restful and otherwise entirely to his satisfaction, when he sauntered Sheriff A. C. Francis and took him into custody.

From behind bars Porterfield was given a chance to deny an asserted police record, which includes in the main "hot" car cases at Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Harlingen.

Officers said Porterfield was recognized from a picture recently mailed peace officers from Oklahoma City. He is alleged, among other offenses, to have taken a car from the police department at Fort Worth.

Tracers were being sent out on a new Chevrolet sedan he was driving. He had asked train and bus schedule information of hotel clerks here, it was learned.

Bill Davis of Amarillo was here Saturday morning to receive a pickup Chevrolet Midland officers recently recovered after it had been stolen from the W. L. Buck company at Amarillo. The wheels and tires of the machine had been changed.

TO RELIEVE OUR NERVES

When the street railway experts of the country hold their annual convention late this month, one of the items to be put on display will be a new noiseless street car; and a long-suffering public can only hope that this promising device will speedily be adopted by traction lines throughout the country.

Life in a city is made pretty trying by noise. We seem to have been more apt in discovering new ways to make racket than in any other line; and if there is anything on earth that can make a more unholy clamor than a flat-wheeled street car, trundling over cross-tracks and screeching around curves, the ordinary mortal would have a hard time thinking what it may be.

If someone has invented a noiseless street car, let's have it by all means. Then, if noiseless trucks and busses can only be invented, city life may begin to be worth living.

WHAT DO THEY FACE?

It is probably a sign of returning prosperity that college and university enrollments have risen this fall. For the first time since the academic year of 1929-30, there are more young people in higher institutions of learning than there were in the preceding fall.

Increase in the number of students whose expenses are being paid by their parents is an obvious reflection of better times. Increase in the number of students who are working their way through college must, similarly, indicate that jobs are more plentiful.

But the whole picture sets one wondering. What sort of world will face these youngsters, when they are graduated? Will it be a world ready to use their youth and enthusiasm and training—a world ready, in other words, to put them to work?

Or will it be the kind of a world young graduates have faced in the last few years—one in which all kinds of labor, intellectual or manual, are a drug on the market?

Here's a new one I heard about women drivers: Her car and his car hit head-on and the man driver was most apologetic.

"It was my fault, it was all my fault," he said. "I will take all the blame."

But it happened this lady was a very, very honest sort.

"I must admit," she said, "that I'm responsible. I was adding up my grocery bill and wasn't looking. You can see yourself that my car is on the wrong side of the street."

"But I insist, day," he said, "that it's my fault."

AUSTIN (U.P.)—A tunnel under the Neches river has been considered and rejected. William Lea, Orange, said while here working for a bridge.

Objection to the bridge is that unless it is made with a clearance of 185 feet naval vessels will not be able to go above it. This would keep them out of Port Beaumont.

A tunnel was considered, Lea said, but it was found it would cost about $5,000,000. With a bridge or tunnel, a 16-mile road will take people between Port Arthur and Beaumont. Now they go 20 miles out of the way to complete the same trip via Beaumont.

A report is to be made to the regular session of the 44th legislature in January.

HERE IS REALISM

DALLAS (U.P.)—One negro trusty here has no complaints about "realism" in the movies.

It was while making a police movie to be exhibited at the State fair that the trusty was pressed into service as an extra. The script called for "re-enactment of the actual capture of a negro caught stealing a camera from a home here. In the improvised scenario the culprit is sauntering along the sidewalk, camera-under-arm, and whistling when a squad car drives up behind him and the police make the capture.

After a brief rehearsal the order came for "camera" and officers J. H. Solomon and J. M. McCarty went into action. With engine roaring and tires screaming, the car pulled up at the curb. McCarty leaped out, gun in hand.

The trusty leaped at the same time and landed running. It took a block's chase to catch him and considerable persuasion to induce him to return for another "take."

"Boss," the dusky actor explained, mopping his brow, "I jes' natcherly runs when I sees a policeman!"

10-Year-Old Girl Has Garden Which Is Unusually Good

Something to eat every month of this year from the garden—that is the record of Opal Whitley, 10-year-old garden demonstrator from Pleasant Valley.

Seventeen varieties have been harvested from the garden which was planted to beans, radishes, cucumbers, okra, squash, cream peas, blackeyed peas, English peas, bunch beans, Kentucky wonder beans, spinach, carrots, sweet corn, mustard, lettuce, turnips, egg plant, cantaloupe, tomatoes, onions, pepper, and mint.

Total value of fresh vegetables used from the garden is estimated at $39.62. In addition to this, 83 cans of food have been put up, bringing the value of the garden up to $49.42. The cost of seed and cans amounts to $6.25, leaving a profit of $43.17.

"I have enjoyed gardening best," Opal said of her club work for the year which has included the making of pillow cases, cup towels, and a dress in addition to the garden project.

Some assistance in the garden work was given by her family.

Opal is entering one quart of blackeyed peas and two containers of blackberry jelly in the State fair at Dallas which she plans to attend.

Club girls who go as delegates from their counties will be the guests of the fair association during their stay in Dallas.

Several Talked-of Books Placed In Library Here

Some of the newer books at the library:

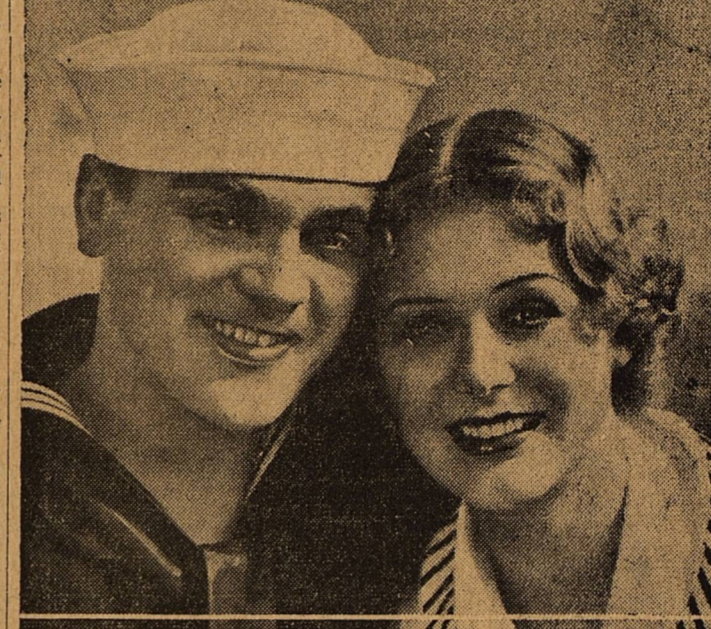

"From This Day Forward" by Ruby M. Ayres: The story of Wilford's struggle with her love for Peter (who had suddenly burned her down) and her sense of fairness toward the man she marries on the rebound, a man whom she respects and admires. The very last line gives the reader an idea that she and Peter will find happiness "from this day forward."

"The Provincial Lady in America" by E. M. Delanfield: The account of the "Provincial Lady's" visit to America is an entertaining and as enticing in its sly humor and quaint phrasing as any of her previous popular books.

"Amorelle" by Grave Livingston Hill: When Amorelle's father, pastor in a small town, dies, she is left alone. The Ladies Aid try to manage her affairs, but after many humorous attempts, she finally eludes them and goes to an uncle. Here she leads a Cinderella-like existence. After an unhappy winter, she returns home and marries the man of her choice. Good light reading.

"Beauty for Sale" by Ethel Hues-

A Gob and His Gal

Oh, for the life of a sailor! Jimmy Cagney and Gloria Stuart are that way about each other in "Here Comes the Navy" new Warner film playing at the Yucca today. The merry crew assisting these two includes Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh and Dorothy Tree. After viewing this picture, maybe you, too, will feel like chucking it all and heading out to sea.

Rosman: One of the reaches of the Thames River flows past the foot of the garden, and the garden is full of flowers. There Kay, who has just finished college, helps her father and young brother have a happy autumn. Kay has friends, too, whom yet get to know. The story has a quality of charm and reasonable interpretation of the characters which make it delightful reading.

"Back to Virtue, Betty" by Margaret Wildemer: Betty and Addison thought they were parlor Bolsheviks. Addison refused a legacy, left home at the age of twenty, and tried to be a carpenter. Addison bought a swamp on the Connecticut coast to drain and develop a beach for the penniless. "Father" backed the enterprise through the young engineer and, in the end, to their surprise, Betty and Addison find themselves legally married and prosperous, and hailed as model civic citizens.

"The Wind Blows West" by Christine Whiting Farmer: A saga of the West in the making, which tells of the great gold rush in Colorado in the late 50's, when prairie schooners bearing such legends as "Pike's Peak or Bust" toiled painfully across the plains.

Control of Power

Big league pitchers know that power is not enough. The important thing is to control that power—particularly in tight situations where you've got to bear down to win.

The Ford V-8 gives you all the power you need—and some to spare. But that's only half the story. It performs superbly because it gives you sure, effective control of that power.

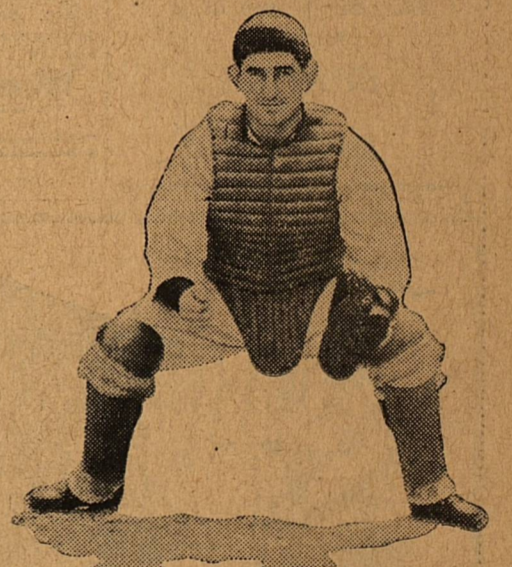

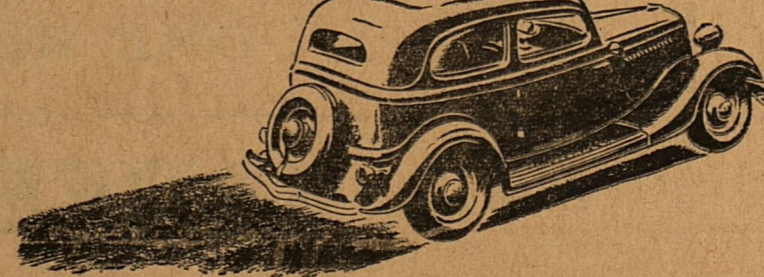

Speed that takes you over the pathways of the world and brings you safely home, as fast as you want to go. Stability on curves and a feeling of confidence in every tight situation. A quick change of pace that saves you minutes in traffic.

The Ford V-8 shortens distance, not so much by its potential top speed, but by the swiftness with which it resumes running speed after the inevitable stops and pauses.

It's a seasoned campaigner—this Ford V-8—and it has proved it can take it in many severe tests. It has scored important victories in road races at Elgin, Jacksonville, Los Angeles and Targio Florio. On Labor Day, three Ford V-8 cars broke all previous stock car records for climbing Pike's Peak. The Fords in this climb were equipped with high-compression cylinder heads, optional equipment for altitude driving. The V-type engine holds every major speed record on land, on water and in the air.

Every day—on every road—in the hands of hundreds of thousands of motorists—the Ford V-8 is proving its leadership both by outstanding performance—and by low cost of operation. Drive it yourself and see what a tremendous difference the V-8 engine makes.

Home Brewed

BY R. C. HANKINS

Over at junior high Coach Bryan C. Henderson is working plastic material for future high school grid teams. Under his direction the city will see the midgets in several games. The only fear of the public is found in doubt the first-year boys may not play under the lights of Lackey field although nothing officially has been said one way or another. Head mentors have learned that football games are won on training given way back in the fringes of football experience. Few good men but would have been better had they had such advantages as are being handed out in the junior high school.

The ultra-modern dressing and shower rooms have been completed, and Coach Henderson issued equipment to 22 boys Friday. Knowing Henderson as this department does, it is assumed the hardest part of his coaching came on the first day—the necessity for refusing some of the yearning hopefuls a suit. This agency talked with some of the boys who were more fortunate. Their chatter reminded one of a duck pond. "Gosh, these shoes musta cost eight dollars and a half! Gee's, lookit these shoulder pads!" Ad lib.

Here they are, the boys we hope to see under the lights: Tom Woods, Curtis Cook, Eugene Godsey, Cecil Hall, Truman Whiteacher, Brooks Roberts, E. B. Rountree, Rudolph McQuarters, Lige Midkiff, Dempsey Holder, H. C. Turner, Jesse Lee Barber, Delbert Yoakum, Delbert English, Thomas Wright, Ronald McWilliams, H. E. Cook, Elisha Encrass, Leo Kerby, Lloyd Wimberly, Grady Lee Bennett, Floyd Kind.

Games have been sought with the club by Big Spring, Lamesa, Stanton, Iraan and Andrews, contingent upon the home and home basis.

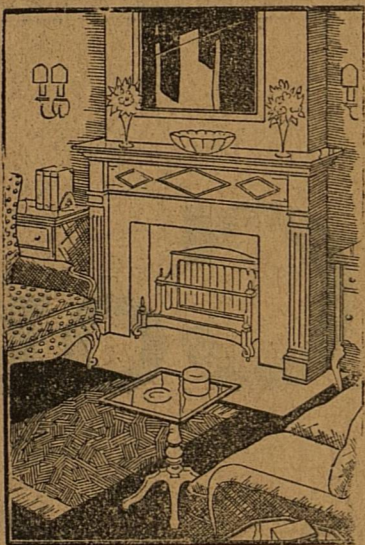

Short punt, plenty of spinners. That's the basis for the squad's earlier offensive training. When several of the boys are ready to join the high school squad next year they'll know how to spin, block, tackle, pass and kick. As well as the mysteries of lining up for the kick-off, rules on substitutions, and other factors that go to make up the great American pastime.

While Midland failed to get a game Friday for the Bulldogs, the fans should know that plenty of effort was fruitlessly expended for a setto. Included among schools

Big Spring Wins On Blocked Punt

BIG SPRING, Sept. 29.—Cordill, Big Spring quarter, led his team-mates to a 7 to 0 victory over Austin of El Paso here Friday. Taking the pigskin on Austin's 17-yard line, Cordill went off ends and through the line to reel of yardage necessary for the counter. A blocked punt in the second quarter was responsible for Big Spring's capture of the ball on the Austin 17-yard line. Both squads had battled on about even terms through the opening quarter. Austin made its single scoring threat in the third quarter, when it carried the pigskin to Big Spring's five-foot line for a first down. Big Spring, however, closed in on the Panther line and held the ball well back of the scoring line.

Try the ownership test

START out in a Knee-Action Chevrolet and drive it as you would drive your own car—over the same roads, up the same hills, and through the same traffic. Take your family along, so that they, too, can see how much Chevrolet Knee-Action adds to the comfort and pleasure of motoring. Make a special point of testing Knee-Action on bad roads. Such a test will convince you that Chevrolet Knee-Action is a practical, common-sense feature that smooths out bad roads, and makes good roads better. It also gives you a splendid opportunity to see why Chevrolet owners are so well pleased with the smoothness and speed of the economical Chevrolet engine, with the positive safety of cable-controlled Chevrolet brakes, and with the roominess of the big Chevrolet bodies by Fisher. It is difficult to judge a car by merely looking at it, so visit your nearest Chevrolet dealer and make the Ownership Test. Chevrolet cordially invites you to make your own investigation of the facts—confident that the Knee-Action Chevrolet will win your approval on honest merit alone.

Heiress and Mate to Wander On

This heiress and the mate who came to her on the open road are headed for California to make their own way—with a monthly allowance from the bride's father. Virginia Ewing Gates, 23, and her new husband, Dan McCafferty, 26, wrestler-laborer, first met at a rodeo dance. They met again in Boise recently, after the girl, daughter of T. S. Gates, former Morgan partner and president of the University of Pennsylvania, vanished from a dude ranch and went hitch-hiking. A few days later they were wed in Moscow, Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Debnam and child returned Saturday from a brief business trip to Lamesa.

HAIL STORM KILLED DOVES

ALTUS, Okla. (U.P.)—Hundreds of doves, esteemed as game by hunters, were killed in Jackson county by a severe hailstorm recently. Scores of dead birds littered Altus streets. Inmates of the Jackson county jail were set to work to clear the courthouse lawn of birds knocked from their perches atop the courthouse.

Child Playing Horse Carries Game Too Far

COLORADO, Sept. 29. (AP)—Carrying realism too far in his "horse-play" almost resulted seriously for little Howard Dossey of Mitchell county recently.

Little Howard, who is 2 1-2 years old, was playing horse on the Seven Wells farm of his father, M. T. Dossey. Horses graze. When little Howard is a horse he's a horse, so he proceeded to graze.

They brought him to a Colorado hospital some time later, suffering with poison, presumably from eating wild flowers. After twenty-four hours he was able to go home—wondering, maybe, why it doesn't do horses that way.

Mothers Don't Raise Sons to Be Gun Fodder

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

The little red drums and blaring brass trumpets that small boys love have led many miniature armies down the Main streets of the world. Backyards and school grounds and the empty lots on the city corners have been improvised battle grounds. Fathers have smiled indulgently. They have understood, for they, too, "played soldiers." But mothers always have caught their breath.

When Benito Mussolini sent an edict throughout Italy announcing that hereafter training for soldiery must begin at eight, instead of twelve, the toy army swung into realistic action. Little boys—and more than the little boys—their mothers—realized that the play parade had become part of a real military system.

This attempt to make children into warriors has more significance than the echo of little boys marching feet in Rome and Florence and Naples. Its reception is revealing that men and women are enemies, always have been, and always will be, on the subject of war.

DEVONSHIRE Clothes for Men

THE WORD "name" originated from the old Anglo-Saxon "Naman," meaning the title by which any person or thing is known or designated, and since that time men have fought and died protecting their good name. . . . Since those early days it has been the habit of men to judge people by their associates, that's why we select the brands we feature as carefully as we would our own friends. . . . Each line or brand, before it is "adopted" into our store, is carefully weighed as to its quality, value, fashion rightness and adaptability to our clientele. . . . each having been checked and re-checked against its competitive lines, and selected for its superiority and clean record of years standing in producing quality merchandise at fair prices.

No doubt, you have had the experience of buying merchandise which was a constant reminder to you that you bought wisely and well, a tribute to your own shopping shrewdness and good judgment.

Again, you undoubtedly have bought articles which looked as good as the others, but which turned out to be mistakes.

That difference in MERCHANDISE is why you choose certain brands, in whose names you have confidence. . . . It is why you pass by some stores to buy at others, which you know from experience will deal fairly with you. It is the crux of the whole problem of getting the satisfaction to which you are entitled.

In the words of John Ruskin, "There is hardly anything in this world that some man could not make a little worse and sell a little cheaper, and those people who consider price only are his legitimate prey."

For more than twenty years this store has been serving the people of Midland and its immediate trade territory with good, reliable merchandise at a legitimate profit. We have always stayed away from merchandise built for price and have always handled advertised brands that merit your confidence. We take pride in the knowledge of the fact that people of all West Texas look to this store for better merchandise.

We had rather you would think of us in terms of good merchandise than in terms of low price.
