Huey's Men Occupy Sheriff's Office, East Baton Rouge

OFFICE HAD BEEN OBJECT OF LEGAL BATTLE FORMERLY
Corporal in Charge After Sheriff Walks Out

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 28. (P)—State and national guardsmen today took charge of the sheriff's office at East Baton Rouge.

A lieutenant and a corporal of the militia visited the office of Sheriff Robert L. Pettit, whom Senator Huey Long sought to deprive by legislative act and supreme court writ of the right to name his own deputies unless with approval of the senator, and assumed physical possession after a conference with the sheriff.

Guns and ammunition were examined and the corporal was left in charge.

GUARDS INCREASED AS ANTI-LONGS QUELLED

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 28. (P)—Senator Huey Long's dictatorship adherents Sunday night had increased National Guard protection at the seat of their governor as the Square Dealers flatly denied responsibility for last night's armed uprising.

About 100 members of Company G, of the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth Louisiana National Guard Infantry from Monroe, La., rolled into Baton Rouge in trucks to add to some 75 troopers who forced the surrender of the anti-Long antagonists at the city airport.

All state buildings and the mansion of Governor O. K. Allen were heavily guarded. The Governor reviewed his "army" on the historic state house grounds in front of the 33-story capitol long built. Curious citizens drove by and looked on in silence.

Senator Long, on route to Washington with his wife and daughter, was sleeping soundly under the watchful eyes of burly guards with bulging hip pockets as the train passed through Atlanta and no one was permitted to disturb him. Guards said he was catching up on sleep lost at Baton Rouge.

In the absence of Ernest J. Bourgeois, president of the Square Deal Association, appeared before the citizens battle line at the airport but has not been located since, Chester P. St. Amant, secretary-treasurer today issued a statement denying that organization had anything to do with the group of anti-Long men.

BUSINESS SHOWS UNUSUAL GAIN IN FIRST FEW WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (P)—A sharp reversal in normal trends during December and the first three weeks in January which brought an abrupt increase in factory employment and industrial production was reported Sunday by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Output of basic industrial products increased in December, when it usually declines," the report said, "and the Federal Reserve Board's index, which makes allowance for the usual seasonal variations, increased from 74 per cent of the 1923-25 average in November to 85 per cent in December."

"Activity at steel mills increased, contrary to the usual seasonal tendency, and output at automobile factories rose rapidly."

Mill Reports Good
Woolen and silk mills increased their activities during the month, while at cotton mills and tobacco plants the declines were less than the usual seasonal amount, the report said. The output of petroleum increased somewhat in December and the first half of January.

Factory employment increased between the middle of November and the middle of December, contrary to seasonal tendency, the board said, and was accompanied by a considerable growth in factory pay rolls.

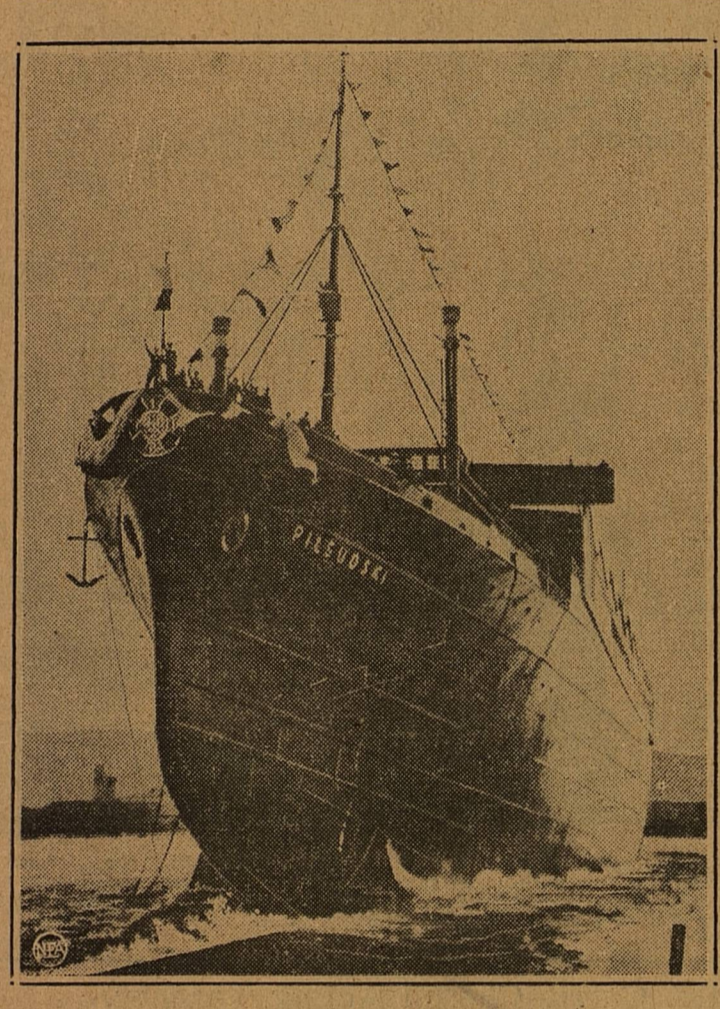

Substantial rises were also reported for the automobile, textile, shoe and tire industries, but in the meat packing industry there was a further decline from recent high levels. Employment in retail trade showed an increase largely of a seasonal character.

Food Prices Higher
The report said the general level of wholesale commodity prices advanced considerably during the latter part of December and the early part of January, reflecting chiefly marked increases in the prices of farm products and foodstuffs.

Wholesale prices generally are 9 per cent higher than a year ago, the board said, reflecting an increase of 20 per cent for farm products, an increase of 24 per cent for foodstuffs and little change for other commodities.

In addition, the report said the retail prices of foods increased considerably in the latter part of December, following three months of gradual decline.

First Polish Liner Launched

Paid for entirely by coal in a barter arrangement with Italy, Poland's first trans-Atlantic liner, the 15,000-ton Pilsudski, is pictured sliding down the ways in its gala launching at Trieste. The vessel will operate from the new Polish port, Gdynia, in the New York and Halifax traffic.

MISSISSIPPI FLOOD ZONE SHIFTS; RED CROSS ESTIMATES 20 DEAD

MARKS, Miss., Jan. 28. (P)—The North Mississippi flood zone shifted today to the east, where the towns of Crowder and Curtis were surrounded by overflow waters, and to the south where the Coldwater river basin's spread reached Lambert.

As the situation around Marks and to the north showed steady improvement, Red Cross officials became more optimistic over the general situation. The lowlands around Crowder, Sumner and Webb likely will continue to fill with water for several days, it was stated.

George E. Myer of Washington, representative of the Red Cross, estimated that twenty probably were dead in the flood area.

Virginia Boone Leads for Queen

Virginia Boone was leading in the voting for annual queen at Midland high school when a check-up was made today.

With a total of 910 votes she had taken the lead over Willie Merle Caffey who had 125. Other nominees as yet were not credited with votes.

Total cash for the 1,035 votes was $10.35. Counting of bonus votes begins February 1.

1,013 BARRELS GAUGED BY WELL IN NORTH ECTOR

Proration Gauge of Penwell Producer Also Watched

By PAUL OSBORNE

Proration gauge on two wells and results of testing a third made the principal oil news of the Permian Basin today.

Shen Petroleum Company No. 1 Connell, southernmost test of the Penwell pool in western Ector county, shows an initial gauge of 202 barrels in 24 hours on pump.

A mile west and south of any heretofore known production, the producer extends the limits of the field considerably. Landreth Production Company is building a rig for a northeast offset, and Sinclair-Prarie is reported to have made location for a southeast offset.

Initial production of 1,013 barrels in 24 hours was gauged for Empire Gas and Fuel Company No. 1 Wight, east side field well in the southern part of the North Cowden pool, Ector county. The well is flowing after shot, and will add to the potential of the pool, which was last week raised 400 barrels by order of the Railroad commission.

With five inch casing set at 3,544 feet, Sid Richardson No. 1 Hill, wildcat test, northeast of the Skelly-Haley area in Winkler county, Saturday swabbed to test, but showed mostly sulphur water with a little oil. Some oil is showing from upper pays, being braided-headed off between the five and eight inch pipe. The well was last reported drilling ahead in grey lime at 3,537 feet.

Skelly Oil Company No. 2 Haley, north offset to the discovery well, is now at total depth of 2,955 feet, standing with 2,100 feet of oil in the hole. One head was made on Saturday afternoon.

In the Sayre area, northern Winkler county, Sayre No. 1 Daugherty has completed six inch casing of 2,717 feet, and Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 5 Walton logged top of lime at 2,515 feet and is drilling below 2,600 feet. The Magnolia well experienced trouble with clogged hole and has been delayed in getting this straightened.

Skelly Oil Company No. 1 D Grayson, Ordovician southeast of Big Lake, in Reagan county, has drilled to total depth of 9,381 feet. Core was taken from 9,367-81 feet. Two inches of black shale being recovered. Latest reported drilling depth on the Gulf No. 103 McElroy, deep test in western Upton county, was 1,023 feet.

Amerada No. 1-D State, closely watched wildcat near Monument, Lea county, was drilling yesterday 2,600 feet. The well is being drilled to a depth of 2,500 feet of oil in the hole.

York and Harper and Harry Adams No. 1 Hereford Stock Farms, wildcat, northeast of the Means pool, is drilling again, bottom hole being 1,200 feet in red beds.

Warrick No. 1 Mackey Mitchell county wildcat, has logged top of lime at 1,738 feet, and is drilling at 1,810 feet in limestone.

KILLED IN CRASH
ALICE, (P)—Alfredo Rodriguez, 40, of Rio Grande City, was killed, and his brother, Ramon of Alice, was seriously injured when two trucks collided on the Falturias Highway. Serafin Guevarra, driver of the second truck, and his small son were slightly injured.

Lives at Palace Instead of Flat
In the meantime, the Princess is a bachelor maid of 25 who can be regal or democratic as the situation requires.

At Leyden University, where she studied jurisprudence and other solid topics, she had her own student rooms, where her friends gathered. She made them call her Julia and had great fun.

Although Juliana lives in a flat in her mother's palace, she has a residence of her own, which she never has occupied, a big, white, two-story renaissance house in the Lange Voorhout, in the very center of the Hague's swishest district. Looking out upon quiet, old-worldly, tree-shaded squares, it faces one of Europe's most expensive hotels and also one of Europe's most famous restaurants. Her interests are manifold.

Drifting Along Great White Way

This is world-famous Times Square at the rush hour—during a near-record blizzard that piled almost 18 inches of snow on New York's Great White Way. Where thousands of persons and hundreds of automobiles usually battle for right of way, only two hardy souls brave the bitter blasts to pioneer paths through the drifts. Cars parked at the curb in places were nearly obscured by the snow.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECTS TAKEN

ANGUSH AND LINK FORM PARTNERSHIP

Announcement was made this morning of the opening of offices in the Thomas Building by E. W. Anguish and L. C. Link for the carrying on of independent oil operations.

Both Anguish and Link are well known in the oil business, particularly in the Permian Basin, the former having been in oil lease and royalty business here for something over 20 years.

The Citizens State bank of Buffalo, Tex., bank robbery, were arrested by federal agents today at Foster.

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., Jan. 23. (P)—Two men and two women sought in connection with the recent Buffalo, Tex., bank robbery, were arrested by federal agents today at Foster.

Texas Rangers, including Captain Tom Hickmah, and Oklahoma deputies added the department of justice agents.

Officials said they recovered $1,410 of the loot.

The Citizens State bank of Buffalo was robbed of approximately $5,000 January 16.

The men arrested were Cory Hudson, 29, of Bryan, Tex., and Arthur Whitten, 27, of Mineral Springs, Ark.

JED ADAMS, ILL., NEARS A CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (P)—A three days crisis began today for Jed Adams, member of the United States board of tax appeals and former democratic national committee member for Texas, ill of pneumonia.

Physicians said if he could hold his own through Wednesday he would have a fine chance for recovery. He passed a "restless" night but appeared to have lost no ground, friends said.

IS CONFRONTED WITH SKETCHES IN NOTE BOOK

Denies Drawings But Had Said Book Was His

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 28. (P)—Bruno Hauptmann denied today from the witness stand that he had written the telephone number and address of Dr. John F. Condon, Lindbergh ransom intermediary, on the ransom note which police removed from the closet of his Bronx home.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 28. (P)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, undergoing a withering cross examination today in the trial for his life, was confronted by sketches of the nursery window, down the ladder which broke causing his death.

Leading up to the sketches, Attorney General David T. Wilentz asked, "Didn't you stop keeping accounts within two weeks of the birth of the Lindbergh child, and didn't start again until a couple of months after the ransom money was paid?"

"I didn't even know the Lindbergh child was born," Hauptmann replied.

Hauptmann previously admitted ownership of the note book. Despite his denials, the sketches were admitted to the record to join the state's long chain of circumstantial evidence against him.

Hauptmann admitted withholding from his wife the "discovery" that the box he said the dead Isadore Fisch gave him contained $14,000 of Lindbergh ransom gold certificates.

OPPOSITION TO THE WORKS BILL IS CRYSTALLIZED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (P)—Opposition to President Roosevelt's $4,800,000,000 relief program granting him broad powers was well on its way toward crystallization in the Senate.

That's a concerted effort on the part of some Democrats and old line Republicans to strike from the measure authority for the President to make grants to needy individuals will be made was apparent.

On the other hand, some Western Republicans and Democrats will attempt to increase the fund for public works and to allocate sums for highway construction and public buildings.

The Senate Appropriations Committee will meet to decide on its procedure on the measure.

Democratic Senate chiefs, concededly worried over the relief bill, are expected to file a bill over the power delegating proposals approved by the House.

Nevertheless, they claim that the measure will be passed along the general lines recommended by the Administration.

Meanwhile, the Senate Democratic leaders expect to get an early vote on adherence to the World Court. A close decision was looked for by Senate leaders.

The House will consider the $900,000,000 Treasury-Postoffice supply bill and will pass a bill extending the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for two years. The FRC measure already has received Senate approval.

The Senate-approved Connally bill affecting "hot oil" will be considered by the House Interstate Commerce Committee during the week.

YOUTHFUL "CABINET" FORMED BY SPEAKER STEVENSON TO AID HIM IN HOUSE MATTERS

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (P)—Speaker Coke R. Stevenson has organized a "cabinet" to advise him on matters affecting the House.

Composed of three of the younger members, Stevenson has dubbed it his "kitchen cabinet." The group includes Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen, chairman of appropriations, Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview, chairman of oil, gas and mining, and A. M. Alkin Jr., of Paris, chairman of education.

All worked indefatigably in Stevenson's campaign for the speakership. Stevenson appointed them to his "cabinet" and listened attentively to their suggestions in selection of committee personnel and other organization matters.

Latham, in his middle 20's, made one of the main nominating speeches for Stevenson. As chairman of the oil and gas committee he occupies one of the most important and, at the same time, most arduous positions in the House.

Leonard, formerly a newspaper publisher at McAllen, is a "reconverted" democrat. Several years ago during the political controversies that racked the Rio Grande valley, Leonard divorced himself from the democratic party and joined the Good Government league. The fights between the democrats and the Good Government group were many and bitter and are history in the valley.

As a Good Government candidate Leonard was twice elected to the House. His political opposition succeeded in keeping his name off the ballot in one general election but Leonard conducted a whirlwind campaign and won a "write in" victory by a substantial margin. The Good Government league joined hands with the Democrats last year and Leonard sought the democratic nomination. He won handsily and in the general election, despite the controversies in which he previously was involved, received more votes than any other candidate.

Alkin, a youthful lawyer, won his spurs in the last session on school legislation. He led the campaign that resulted in an increased appropriation for the rural schools.

The speaker's quarters in the Capitol will be remodeled. The speaker will not be forced to take a cold shower in the morning and may cook his bacon and eggs before beginning his day's work.

Rep. Bob Calvert of Hillsboro, whom Stevenson defeated for the speakership, drafted the resolution authorizing the improvements. In discussion on the proposal Calvert from the democratic party and joined the Good Government league of the session.

"You can't accuse me of having a selfish interest in this thing, you know."

WHAT ONCE WE DREADED TODAY WE WELCOME

Perhaps the most interesting thing about the security program offered to Congress by President Roosevelt is not the program itself, but the Congressional reaction to it.

So far, hardly a voice has been raised in opposition to the measure itself. On the contrary, criticism seems to be based almost entirely on the contention that the measure does not go far enough.

In that fact you have a yardstick to measure the distance which our viewpoint on such matters has traveled in recent years.

If such a measure had been presented to Congress at any time before, say, 1933, it would have aroused a great deal of protest. It would have been called dangerous experimentation, and its attempts to provide protection for the victims of economic stress would have been dubbed an unAmerican form of coddling, designed to sap our national self-reliance.

This comment is not made in criticism of any party or any individuals. Most of us would have looked on it in that fashion. We simply were not ready to admit that things can happen in our country against which no amount of individual effort could avail.

But now the plan is offered—and the objection most commonly heard is the charge that it isn't strong enough; that it does not provide enough security, or promise to pay out enough money.

Washington correspondents agree that there is no question whether the security bill will pass; the question is whether it will not be amended to give greater benefits.

We have had a revolution in this country, after all; and it has taken place in our minds. Our point of view has shifted. We don't look at things with the same eyes that we used half a dozen years ago.

Yesterday's dangerous radicalism is the height of today's conservatism—in this one field, at any rate.

This simply means that we have found out some things about our country and about ourselves.

We have found out that a country in which great masses of the people never earn more than fifteen or twenty dollars a week, and are subject to spells of complete unemployment at varying intervals, is not a country in which every man can attain any measure of independence and security by his own efforts.

And we have found out, simultaneously, that we as individuals cannot stand it to have that state of affairs continue indefinitely.

We are willing to subject ourselves to a complicated and expensive program to end it.

ANOTHER LINDBERGH TRAIL

Now it is reported that Colonel Lindbergh is going to fly the Pacific just as soon as the Flemington trial is out of the way. Coming on the heels of the spectacular flights of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Amelia Earhart, this seems to make it fairly certain that we shall have one or more commercial air lines to the orient in the not-distant future.

Tentative plans call for a line linking California with Hawaii, the Philippines, and other eastern islands which fly the American flag, and extending on to the Asiatic mainland.

A gigantic flying boat with a non-stop range of 3000 miles is now being tested in the Caribbean Sea. Much of the necessary field research has already been accomplished.

Americans will not have the slightest doubt that Colonel Lindbergh will accomplish anything he undertakes in the way of an ocean flight. And it would be highly fitting if it were his flight which should finally pave the way for regular, over-ocean commercial air lines.

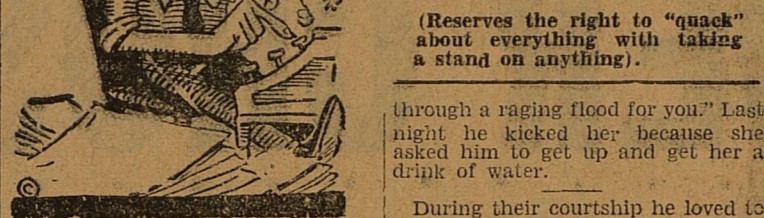

A correspondent writes in to ask where the first windmill operated, but investigation shows that political records do not run that far back.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EHLAND

Wonder why it is that fog is so depressing on a Monday morning? Or any other morning, for that matter. Disting to reduce has no appeal for us. The only things that seem strong enough to keep us from eating are sickness, worry, and excitement. The only thing worse than a lonely Sunday is a blue Monday. This idea of red, white, and blue dresses for the President's Birthday Ball is one we heartily approve—especially if the dresses and the girls who wear them are as pigtailed as the maidens pictured in Gladys Parker's fashion article in the Sunday paper. Most any girl feels alluring in a ruffled dress that sweeps the floor. Another thing that makes us feel like somebody special—really good perfume dabbed on our hair.

Simple Designs Are Effective in Garden For Small Home

Design has become a most important factor in horticulture and upon design depends the appearance of the home surroundings, whether they are artistic and appealing or whether they are commonplace and lacking in distinction. The flower garden should be carefully planned in its relation to the entire ground area of the home. It should be laid out to scale, the entire lot being drawn and decision made as to the location of the flower planting and what shape it shall take—whether it shall be a border around the boundaries of the yard, around the house, or a formal garden, or whether it shall consist of borders along the walks or drives. The simplest and most effective plan for the average small home usually is a boundary planting with a background of shrubbery or vines. A border from 6 to 10 feet wide, according to the dimensions of the lot, with colonies of plants selected as to color harmony and season of bloom. Small formal gardens to occupy the entire area of the small backyards have proved one of the most attractive plans. In this case the first decision is as to whether the lines shall be straight or curved. Straight-line beds and borders are the easiest to handle and keep in order. It is also a popular feature of the beauty of the reflections of surrounding foliage and also to grow a water lily to give its fine summer bloom. The simplest and most lavish display of color may be secured by the use of annuals in these borders, especially if the dweller is a renter or if he is newly developing the property, the annuals furnishing color while a stock of perennials is being raised for permanent decoration. In any event plenty of annuals will be needed to furnish a mid-summer and fall display when the perennial season slacks. It is wise to plan to visit yards which have attracted admiration in your neighborhood during the winter and inspect the lists and general design with a view to adapting the best features for your own yard. In addition there are a number of excellent books on design for the home grounds at reasonable prices. G street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Flubdubs

BY JESS RODGERS

Well, we told you last week that the scantly clad lads from the local high would enter the basketball tournament and sure enough they did. However, we take no credit for their doing so.

They went down Friday and handed McCamey a 30-25 drubbing in their first encounter and practically made history by doing so. It was the second game ever won by the locals in tournament competition. Well, now that is not so bad when it is considered that they did not win any last year. Their other win was over Kermit last week in the Odessa Invitational tourney.

However after beating McCamey Friday, the Bulldogs discovered they were to play Iran in their second game and therein lies another story. To start with, those Iran boys are plenty tough on the hardwood this year. In fact, they were one of the pre-tournament favorites to carry home the loving cup usually bestowed upon the winner. It is a long way to McCamey, so thought the Bulldogs, just to take a drubbing—so we will just stay home.

Now if anyone asks any members of the team how they came out, they can honestly say that they won. They won't have any cups or medals to show for their winning but it is better (maybe) to lose by a 1-0 score than to have a bunch of lads from a school the loving cup usually bestowed upon the winner.

Having just read a Tarzan thriller your editor noticed that the ape man's editor gave him credit for having the sense of a beast. He knew when to charge and when to retreat. Perhaps the local lads are stealing some of his stuff.

They wouldn't dare think or insinuate that Iran might have had enough supporters along to make Coach Baumgarten's Proteges think they would mete out the same kind of treatment towards them as they did to ex-coach Chas. Lingo.

Some of us old greybeards can remember that Lingo was forced to call upon a couple of Rangers to escort him out of the Pecos County metropolis after officiating a football game his way instead of theirs.

Now you eggs that read this please remember that I did not say that any such thing would have happened at the tournament. But I have got so much of this Huey, pardon, I mean hokey, to write and anything goes. If I miss the editor, we have been requested to announce that the Andrews basketball team was sorely disappointed one night last week when the Midland club failed to show up to fill a scheduled engagement. Why does everybody like to pick on a cripple?

The Andrews communication also stated that they were expecting the independent team from here also. Now who went crazy and matched that game? In the first place Midland has no town team. And wouldn't some of us who train on cigarettes (I would say what kind but they don't advertise with us) and three pt. two looks good trying to outlast some of those farmers and cowpokes?

Please pardon that "Us" in the above paragraph. But like Major Hoople we can remember when we were some shakes as a forward.

Some day we are going to write a column without quoting Bill Collins, but we can't overlook one statement of his this week. He says that Blondy Cross' contest to decide the homeliest man in West Texas should be called off because there is no competition for Joe Haygood. Before the contest is called off we would like to recommend a wonderful invention that Collins and Cross would do well to remember. It is made by coloring one side of a piece

Charges to Follow Weird Confession

LAUREL, Miss., Jan. 28. (P)—County Attorney Jack Deavours announced late Sunday that Ouida Keeton, 30, had admitted to officers that she "carried" a pair of human legs, which had been hacked from the torso of a white woman and wrapped in sugar sacks, to the lonely spot on Woodlawn Lane where they were found by a negro hunter a week ago.

Deavours also quoted the woman as expressing the belief her mother, Mrs. Daisy Keeton, with whom she lived and who has been missing from her home here for a week, was dead. He also declared that Miss Keeton gave no explanation of her alleged action, did not reveal where she obtained the legs, why she took them to the woods, or whose legs they were.

The prosecutor said Miss Keeton advanced no reason to support her belief that her mother was dead. "Miss Keeton," said the county attorney, "will be charged with first degree murder just as soon as we can get around to it. She is being held in the Jones county jail. She was taken into custody Friday."

Other members of the Keeton family, officers said, have viewed the legs but refused to discuss the case. "Every clew and angle is being followed in the hope of solving the mystery," Deavours said.

No other portions of the body have been found. The prosecutor revealed that a search had been made by the Keeton home and said that bloodstains were found on the bathroom door. These stains, he said, have been analyzed by Dr. Thomas H. Ramsey of Laurel, and were declared by him to have been made by human blood.

Deavours also said that stains were found in Miss Keeton's automobile and on a cleaver-like butcher knife found in the Keeton home. He said, however, these had not been analyzed.

How's Your Stomach?

If you're troubled with stomach distress, gas, heartburn, why not try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Mr. J. L. Morris of 521 Rose St., Waco, Texas, said: "I couldn't do a tap of work for nearly two years on account of my digestive organs. I had no strength and my stomach seemed to be completely upset. I had heartburn badly at times, too, but I felt better after I had used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery only a short while, so I continued its use and was soon able to resume my work. I have not had any stomach trouble since—that was some years ago." All druggists.

Fields Comedy At Its Funniest In 'It's a Gift'

The new W. C. Fields picture, "It's a Gift," which opened at the Ritz Theatre, yesterday, also showing today and tomorrow, presents Paramount's droll genius of comedy in a story that fits his peculiar talents better than anything we have seen to date.

Supported by Baby LeRoy, who has learned to talk and utters his first dialogue lines in this picture, Kathleen Howard, Jean Rouvier, Julian Madison and Tammany Young, Fields has incorporated the best of his cynical gags, and some of the funniest zany routines he has ever perpetrated, in this film.

The story is a simple one. It concerns a shiftless, henpecked grocer who can neither shave, eat or sleep in peace in his own home. He finally inherits a sum of money, invests it in a California orange ranch and packs the family into a dilapidated car for a trans-continental trip to their new home.

Their adventures on the trip are replete with excruciatingly funny incidents, but when they finally arrive in the golden state they find that the orange ranch is "lemon." It is then that Fields really puts his genius into high.

Shirley Temple's New Vehicle Is A Decided 'Hit'

One of the finest, most human, most heart-warming films in a decade began an engagement of three days yesterday at the Yucca Theatre, and this department loses no time in recommending it eagerly to every filmgoer, of whatever age.

The picture so heartily endorsed "Bright Eyes," Fox Film's newest and best vehicle for the amazing talents of Shirley Temple, child star extraordinary. No such sensational performance as Shirley's, no such dramatic and persuasive film story has been seen on a local screen in recent months. There can be no doubt whatever of the tremendous reception which will be accorded this delightful drama of Christmas-time wherever it is shown.

"Bright Eyes" has universal appeal, in every sense of the word. Swift, human, at times pathetic, at Times enormously funny, it is a story which will hold you in its spell from opening sequence to smashing finish.

The action of "Bright Eyes" takes place at a large commercial airport near Los Angeles and in a wealthy Pasadena home nearby. "James Dunn is once again cast "opposite" Shirley, and delivers one of the ablest performances of his notable Hollywood career.

His second wife for love of the girl.

Shepard, accompanied by his third wife, who interested herself in his case after Miss Brandon had turned government evidence against the man from whom she accepted many presents and promise of marriage, has been in Topeka two days. Miss Brandon, now 29, is expected here for opening of the trial before Judge Colin Neblett of New Mexico tomorrow.

When Miss Brandon recites again in court the story of the Mexican journey which led to the plighting of their troth before the death of the second Mrs. Shepard, she will have a new and interested audience. Neither the third Mrs. Shepard nor her daughter, Mrs. Burr Cooper, has heard that story, they not having attended the previous trial at Kansas City, Kan., in December, 1931.

Shepard, then actively in the service of the United States Medical Corps as a tubercular expert, attached to Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, was convicted and sentenced to life in prison. The jury found that Shepard had administered poison to his wife, causing her death. The Supreme Court, however, set the conviction aside on a showing of prejudicial testimony after the Circuit Court of Appeals had twice denied his plea.
