STRICT RELIEF MEETING HERE

Flemington? Oh Yes, That's Where the Hauptmann Trial Was Held; See It Now

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Mar. 11.—The horde of reporters, photographers and telegraph operators, the artists, crime analysts, literary novelists and sob sisters, the wood experts, fingerprint specialists, squads of state troopers and battalions of witnesses, all have gone.

Roover manages to sleep undisturbed on the sidewalk in front of the Union Hotel. . . once

Strung by visitors to the Hauptmann trial.

Old settlers of the Sourland foothills have reclaimed the chairs in the lobby of the Union Hotel. Citizens of the town have reclaimed the guest bedrooms that were rented to newspaper folk. The sheriff and his constabulary are concerned themselves with the mystery of a guard's theft of 22 chickens. The state of a Union soldier now peers up Main Street at a normal, somnolent scene.

But Flemington never will be quite the same again. It has a new set of local heroes, a fresh anthology of anecdotes, a large measure of self-esteem. No longer a pin-prick on a large-scale map, Flemington now appears on the charts of destiny—a bold X marking the spot where World's Enemy No. 1 and a city-slicker lawyer got their come-uppance.

Boom Seen in Perjury Trials
The verdict of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's guilt was almost unanimously approved here. Townsmen, too, have expressed resentment at Defense Attorney Reilly's introduction of several witnesses who quickly were discredited. They hope reports are true that Attorney General Wilentz will prosecute these people for perjury.

Such trials were expected. Flemington again, bringing back at least a small part of the army-of-many occupations which spent $500,000 here, about $100,000 a day for Flemington during the 42-day trial.

During a day's visit here, this correspondent found only three names on the hotel's register. They're all strangers. The rear guard of an army of opportunists who already have combed the town, seeking to trade insurance policies, high-priced cars, mechanical refrigerators and oil stock for the citizens' newly acquired wealth.

Two waitresses now have little to do but the new dining room where 40 employees used to serve 900 persons each day. Nellie's Bar, named for a stray mongrel which became a mascot of the gentlemen of the press, has been dismantled. "Poppy" Hann, veteran court crier, fireman, constable, detective, fisherman, gardener, and pianicist, shook his head and level and reset the pool tables which had been moved out to make way for the taproom.

Sunday Crowds Create Rush
The lanky young man whom thousands of trial-goers know only as Earl is alone behind the hotel's main bar, and has become a point of time to gossip with his appreciative customers. Earl is busy only on Sundays, when sightseers motor to Flemington and inspect the courthouse and jail across the street. Burt Pedrick, the hotel manager, isn't too busy for gossip, either. "Downright lovely," Burt is, with all the newspaper boys gone. He sells, as do several Main street stores, souvenir pictures taken during the Hauptmann trial, and books about the case.

Many of the Hauptmann trial principals have scattered far from Flemington. Judge Trenchard, Attorney General Wilentz and lesser members of the legal staff are vacationing. Special Assistant Attorney General George K. Large is picking up the tangled threads of his private law practice. Chief Deputy Sheriff Oden Bagstrom, who guarded the jury day and night during the trial, has resumed driving one of the two school buses he operates under contract with the county.

Sheriff Glad Hauptmann's Fate
Sheriff John H. Curtiss, stout and beaming happily, hasn't much to say about the trial. "The Hauptmann case," he says, "is a trial that has been a long time in the making. There are 20 prisoners in Warden Harry McCrea's jail now, but Hauptmann's old cell isn't occupied." "Only bad customer we got," said Sheriff Curtiss, "is a fellow named Ray Beasly. Our star boarder, Ray is, been in 28 times on minor charges. This time we got him for break-in and enter; he got in with a key and a pry bar. The sheriff said he heaved a mighty sigh of relief when he finally got a receipt for the safe delivery of Hauptmann to the Trenton prison. Curtiss confided that he had received scores of threatening letters, and warnings of attack, but that he had no fear. Then there was the possibility of suicide. And not the least of his worries was the danger of fire in the century-old timber-box courthouse."

Legionnaires Show Court

Under the somewhat unofficial auspices of the local American Legion post, the courthouse has been open to hundreds of tourists on Sundays. Members of the post, much to the chagrin of the county judges' quarters, and call attention to a contribution box in the courtroom. Gratuities totaled $35 the first pleasured Sunday afternoon.

Full bearers were W. J. Sparks, Jax M. Cowden, Henry T. Wolcott, Fay Proctor, Allen Tolbert, Clarence Schaabauer, M. C. Ulmer, Bob Preston and Percy J. Mims.

HAVANA, Mar. 11. (P).—The government of President Carlos Mendieta, seizing a weapon forged more than a year ago by one of its enemies, declared the existence of a state of war throughout Cuba today in its bid to escape overthrow. The house previously had rejected a similar plan. Senator Hill of Henderson, sponsor of the plan, asserted that the legislature should accept the compromise suggested by Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg, whereby the state would exercise a monopoly over the sale of hard liquors but permit traffic in beer and wine for profit. A motion to reconsider was tabled. Subsequently, the Senate killed another plan which would have submitted the dual question of repeal with or without monopoly.

Deficiency of Minerals Cause Of Calf Losses

(From Odessa News-Times)

A number of ranchmen in this section are at this time reporting trouble on the range, due to a deficiency of mineral content in range grasses and shrubbery, which is causing the death of a number of newborn calves on the range and mineral supplement to counteract this condition has been devised, and is being used satisfactorily by a number of well-known stockmen in this area, the county agent reports.

The chief complaint is that a large number of calves being dropped now, although normal in shape and the coating hair are slightly under-sized and too weak to nurse their mothers. If they are not promptly located on the range after being dropped and assisted in obtaining milk, death results shortly from starvation.

Glenn Allen, well-known Western Ector County ranchman, has reported that he has lost a number of calves in this way, but has been able to save others after discovering the existing condition, which was apparently confined to one pasture on his place. Mr. Allen Wednesday secured spent bone black from the Graham ranch and used it to use a mixture of two parts of this to one of sack salt as a mineral supplement for his cows.

This remedy, which has given good results with a number of ranchmen in this area, is expected to improve the condition of his cows yet to bring calves. County agent H. L. Atkins says that Leon Goodman, former Midland rancher, and Ed Dickenson, prominent Marlin county Hereford raiser, used the spent bone black and salt mixture with excellent results over a period of several years.

Hayden Miles, Andrews county ranchman, has been using a mineral mixture composed of equal parts of sack salt, sterile bone meal and oyster shell flour with all of his range cattle. Miles reports that this mineral supplement has enabled him to winter his herd on less feed, with cattle remaining in good condition and cows calving (See DEFICIENCY, page 4)

PRICES KEEP GOING UP

Whatever may be happening to the recovery program as a whole, the cost of living seems to be making an extremely successful comeback.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace himself predicts that meat prices will be up 32 per cent by 1936. Beef and pork will be up 22 per cent by July 1.

All of which lends some point to the complaint of the People's Lobby that the consumer is getting a pretty poor sort of protection in the campaign to put the farmer in better shape.

There may be exaggeration in the lobby's assertion that the recent "purge" in AAA means that "exploiting and profiteering interests have got control of that agency," but it is pretty obvious that the consumer is carrying more than his share of the load.

As soon as John D. Rockefeller hears that Andrew Mellon has a personal fortune of only $95,000,000, John D. might offer Andrew a dime, if that will help.

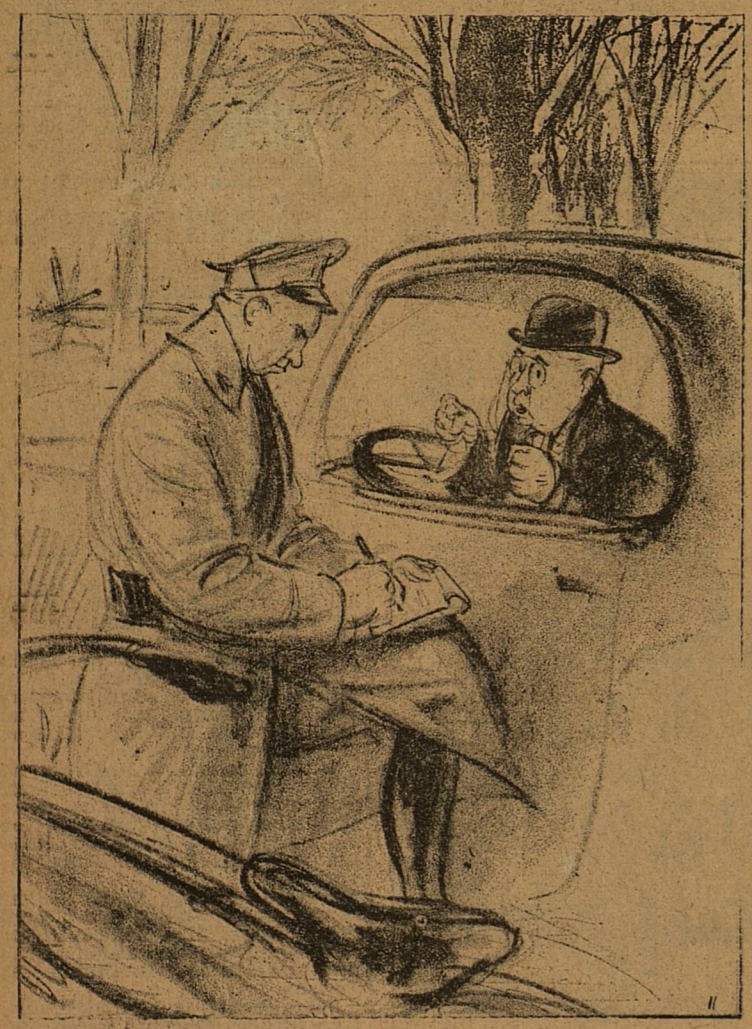

Some of these share-the-wealth advocates might benefit by a little advice from Al Capone. He tried it and got 11 years.

President Roosevelt has got the congressmen voting so often for relief funds, many will vote for the soldiers' bonus just out of habit.

A Texan of 75, pronounced dead for five minutes, came back to life, probably figuring that he might collect under the Townsend plan.

Stories in STAMPS

STAMP collectors of the world are eagerly awaiting the forthcoming sale of the world's costliest stamp—British Guiana's one cent black on magenta of 1856. Dull, smudgy, ragged, what makes this piece of paper valuable is the fact that it is the only one of its kind known to exist.

unusually strong young. Authorities in experimental feeding have definitely proved that the amount of calcium and phosphorus in range grasses and shrubs is deficient in years of drought. This is true to such an extent that even cows able to obtain sufficient range material to satisfy their own appetites and keep their bodies in reasonable condition are not getting sufficient phosphorus and calcium to properly develop calves.

Back of 40 million depositors there is over 20 billion dollars on deposit in the United States—a tremendous reserve for the future.

...and back of Chesterfield there is more than 85 million dollars invested in mild ripe tobacco... for milder better taste

Because you cannot make a good cigarette from just one year's crop there are today 4½ miles of warehouses filled with cigarette tobaccos from the crops of 1931-32-33-34—most of it for Chesterfield cigarettes. Just as money accumulates interest, two and a half years of ageing makes these tobaccos milder and naturally sweeter. Think what this means—an eighty-five million dollar reason why men and women who smoke Chesterfields will always enjoy a milder, better-tasting cigarette.
