POISONING VICTIM IS LIKELY TO DIE

Mrs. Annice Barker, 23-year-old woman who was taken to a hospital Monday night suffering from mercury poisoning, was in a grave condition this afternoon.

Odds were against her recovery. Night Officer Ben Driver said he entered the woman's room after a negro porter of a Midland hotel had reported he had tried to prevent the woman from taking poison.

The officer said the woman was standing in front of her dresser, one hand to her mouth. He said he asked her to come with him but that she jerked loose one arm from him while they were walking down a corridor to the elevator and appeared to swallow something.

At a hospital, physicians said she had swallowed at least six bichloride of mercury tablets.

"Why didn't you let me alone—I wouldn't have had to take the hard way out," Driver said the woman told him.

Beyond that, the woman refused to talk. Her husband, Ed Barker of Lubbock, arrived Tuesday, and her mother, who lives in El Paso, was notified.

The woman later told a nurse she hadn't "anything to live for."

Pull Your Neck In; Tonight Will Test Your Nerve

If you wake up tomorrow morning and find your lawn littered with yard furniture, a couple of relief commission goats in your flower garden, your neighbor's milch cow on the roof of your porch, her calf nearby gazing at the sky, giving a husky, hungry howl, and your registered pet dog comes in with all the hair clipped, don't be too alarmed because it won't be the result of a tornado or the Ku Klux Klan. It will be the "left-overs" of Halloween pranks and frank proof that another spooky celebration has been concluded.

Tonight spooks, witches, bats, black cats, apple bobbers, tick-tack teasers, flat tire friends and the like are all due for it will be Halloween. You that have toupees better glue them down, you that have not, better glue your hair down anyway because you're liable not to have any following the visit of the hobgoblins and spooks this year.

If you hear funny noises or peculiar sounds think of the ghosts; if unusual and extraordinary things start happening in your neighborhood it is not likely that Raymond Hamilton or Virgil Stalcup will be departing after holding up some housewife and forcing a feed, (or it may be), but don't shoot.

Anything may (or may not) happen on the Eve of All Hallows day—for the ghosts walk, some may run, but whether they do or not you'll probably never know.

Chief of Police Hayes is making preparations for a big night, the sheriff's office and night men, as well.

They realize that they can't stop the ghosts and spooks but they want the aid of the citizens in seeing that they do as little damage as possible.

There will be parties tonight, some tame, some wild, (some likely wild) and all sorts of celebrations. It will be a night for the children to dress in mother's best sheets, false faces and what-have-you, and parade through the downtown section. Some will have Halloween costumes, made especially for the occasion.

There will be few pumpkins with glaring eyes, illuminated noses, fiery jaws and "pumpkin teeth" this celebration. The drought has seen to that, but there will be pasteboard pumpkins and other such queerly featured articles, for the kiddies.

The dictionary, devoting a very brief space to Halloween, speaks of "playful ceremonies and charms to discover future husbands or wives." These, as everybody knows who is interested in future husband or wives, consist of such devices as throwing apple parings over the left shoulder, walking hindpart-before downstairs with a mirror in hand, and similar tricks.

The best way to discover future husbands and wives—not yours, maybe, but somebody's—is to keep a sharp eye on everything about the place not securely fastened down. The younger generation will be there as usual, acting as a fire transportation agency for the occasion, moving everything movable, and ready to blame it on the supernatural.

Bitter State That

Sinclair, LaFollette And Cutting Hold The Limelight

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The Forgotten Man will go to the polls on Nov. 6 and give thanks to the Great White Father in Washington "from whom all blessings flow."

The voters, according to the gilt-edged political dope, will ratify the new deal by electing an overwhelmingly democratic congress and choosing democrats for most of the 34 governorships at stake.

The relative certainty of this outcome has given the campaign a no-hum aspect.

But don't yawn! Issues are involved in the national congressional conflict and in several state battles which, with this off-year election with as much importance and interest as any you'll be able to remember.

Take the battle of the ex-socialist Upton Sinclair for the governorship of California—a fierce "class struggle" between haves and have-nots. Or the LaFollette brothers and their new progressive party in Wisconsin, which is likely to grow into a national major party if it wins.

G. O. P. Fate In Doubt

And remember that the future existence of the republican party will seem much more doubtful if democratic hopes of substantial house and senate gains are realized.

Candidates have been emphasizing the great sums of new deal money poured into the states. Even some republicans seek election on the ground that their office-holding opponents haven't been wangling enough of it.

One of the campaign's most startling developments has been President Roosevelt's sudden display of interest in proposals for various vast federal projects in states where democratic candidates need help.

TOY GUN PROBE GETTING HOTTER

CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Charges of murder, kidnaping, graft and fakery were hurled today in a bitter political campaign waging about the "toy pistol" escape of John Dillinger.

Arrests of the real principals of the conspiracy were promised soon. Senator Arthur Robinson asked why Governor McNutt had not exposed the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance To Visit Kentucky

Tom Nance and wife will leave Friday for Kentucky, continuing some livestock business started on a visit there last month.

Nance is shipping five loads of calves there Thursday, having bought them from some of the leading herds of this section, and will pasture them on a place near Lexington which he leased on his former trip. He plans to sell the cattle to feeders and farmers of that area, also to do some trading in thoroughbred horses.

OIL MEN VISIT

L. D. Hilton, sales manager of the Cameron Iron works, Houston, L. L. Rector of the Rector Well Equipment company, Fort Worth, Jack Jacoby of the Smith Separator company, Tulsa, and W. C. Bauman of the Larkin Packer company, Fort Worth, were house guests of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday night.

Late News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—The government today was studying a plan to change the method of unemployment relief to avert danger of developing a class which will shun work for relief funds. The plan would go into effect January 1.

WACO, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Edwin Schandler, 28, was shot to death near Crawford today as result of a quarrel over a fence dividing farm properties. Eric Schandler, cousin of the victim, surrendered to the sheriff.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—President Roosevelt said pay cuts of government employees will be restored July 1, 1935, because of the rising cost of living.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Catholic clergymen were charged today with fomenting a rebellion, believed to have been the opening move by President Adolfo Rodriguez to expel bishops and archbishops from the country, with expectation of expelling all clergymen later.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and foreign countries are the way to restore prosperity, Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce, said at the national foreign trade convention today.

LONDON, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—The Daily Mail said today that the fire in the Bulgaria train in which King Boris was a hero was caused by a bomb set in the locomotive in an attempt on the king's life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—James M. Fawcett, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, said today that he is "able to contradict all known evidence held by New Jersey" and "any supposition identification of the Lindbergh case by Dr. John F. Condon, intermediary.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—The loan and brokerage corporation moratorium declared March 4, 1933, again was extended by Governor Ferguson today to December 31. She said the extension was necessary because of the continuing moratorium against collection of real estate loans.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt fainted today upon leaving the witness stand in the supreme court where she is defending her moral fitness to have custody of her daughter, Gloria, 10.

They realize that they can't stop the ghosts and spooks but they want the aid of the citizens in seeing that they do as little damage as possible.

PASTOR RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Rev. Kenneth C. Minter returned Monday night from the Methodist conference held at Travis Park church in San Antonio.

About 200 preachers and about an equal number of laymen attended the conference. A much greater per centage of moves among pastors in the conference was brought about by the new law providing that presiding elders cannot be reappointed after four years, Mr. Minter said. Five presiding elders, under this ruling, had to be returned to pastorates and present pastors shifted accordingly.

The Midland church has transferred to the Northwest Texas conference and appointment of the pastor here will not be made until the district conference to be held at Abilene, Nov. 14.

Among appointments made at San Antonio which Mr. Minter reported as of interest to Midland people were the following:

Rev. Leslie A. Boone was returned to Harlingen; Stanley Eaver was returned to San Antonio; L. U. Spellman was made presiding elder of the San Angelo district; E. C. Calhoun was transferred from the South Bluff church at Corpus Christi to Victoria, and his place at Corpus Christi was taken by a former presiding elder, the Reverend Lovett.

Will Attempt to End A&P Lockout

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Acting with unprecedented speed, the labor relations board today submitted a plan to end the Cleveland A. & P. grocery store lockout.

The plan provided an immediate end of the strike, with immediate reopening of the closed stores, rehiring of all employees and a promise that the company will not interfere with union activities and will bargain with them.

FLYER IS READY

HONOLULU, Oct. 31, (U.P.)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith said today he will probably leave Friday for Oakland, passing up Los Angeles and San Francisco, as the distance to Oakland is less.

Hardly less surprising—and quite unprecedented—is Mrs. Roosevelt's leap into the New York campaign on behalf of her friend, Mrs. Caroline O'Day, democratic candidate for congressman-at-large. Mrs. O'Day's republican opponent is still another woman, Miss Natalie Couch.

Party lines aren't meaning much this year. When people aren't voting for or against the new deal—mostly for—they're voting for or against a particular candidate rather than his label.

Old Guard In Peril

Outstanding examples of mug-wumpery are the rush of California conservative democrats away from Sinclair, election of old-line republicans from progressive Senator Cutting in New Mexico, desertions from both democratic and republican ranks to the Wisconsin progressives, Senator Hiram Johnson's republican democratic candidacy in California, and defection of North Dakota republicans to the democratic opponent of Mrs. William H. Langer, gubernatorial candidate to vindicate her convicted husband.

Remnants of the senate old guard and its tradition may be making a last stand. Such staunch die-hard republicans as Fess of Ohio, Hatfield of West Virginia, Hebert of Rhode Island, Keam of New Jersey, and Robinson of Indiana are among republicans whose defeat is widely predicted.

Senator Dave Reed of Pennsylvania, ablest and boldest of the "old deal" boys, has a stiff fight on his hands.

Although a normal off-year recession from the party in power would give the republicans a gain of about 50 seats in the house, they're not expecting that many and democrats are trying to cut the present G. O. P. strength of 115 members—out of 435—to fewer than 100.

Such a tremendous party victory seems an optimistic prediction, but it's fairly certain that democrats will gain at least four seats in the senate—giving them a two-third majority—if not six or eight, or about 36 senatorial contests in year.

Dry In Last Stand

It is these estimates as to how and senate which cause speculation as to what will become of the republican party as how conservative and democrats insist that future opposition to the democratic party will come chiefly from the left.

Prohibition also seems to be making a last stand, with voting balloting on repeal in Florida, Idaho, Nebraska, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wyoming and Kansas.

Here's a bird's-eye view of one of the most interesting and significant contests, the result of which you'll want to check the after election:

Idealistic Sinclair, father champion of EPIC, who has impressed everybody by capturing democratic nomination for governor of California, has been grounded to republican ground by Merriam since the state's economic and financial interests threaten full weight against him.

Bitter Fight on Sinclair

Originally, every California $5000 or more dived under the water to "save California" from "communism" and Sinclair's "defensive. Tradition here has caught playing both ends against the middle.

Sinclair's strength in California jobless and hungry.

Halloween Motif Featured in Party For Edelweiss

Roses and chrysanthemums lent color and fragrance to the entertaining suite, when Mrs. Hayden Miles was hostess to the Edelweiss club Tuesday afternoon at her home, 1106 W. Texas.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used in the floral decorations of one room, pink roses in a second, and red-and-white roses in the third.

Three tables of bridge were played. The Halloween motif was carried throughout in appointments for the games, tallies bearing jack-o-lanterns with black cats and packages being wrapped in black and gold.

Mrs. Bob Martin won high score prize for club members, a Venetian vase. Mrs. Frank Cowden was awarded high score prize for guests, lavender bath salts. Miss Leona McCormick received the cut prize, a bowl of narcissus.

A salad plate and dessert were served to the following: club members, Mmes. Roy Parks, Foy Proctor, Tom Nance, Bob Martin, J. V. Stokes Jr., Jno. Dublin, Harvey Sloan, Miss Leona McCormick, Mmes. Jno. Shipley, Jno. Speed; guests, Mmes. Frank Cowden and Andrew Pasken.

Fourteen Members Are Present at Bible Class

The sixth chapter of Galatians was studied at the regular meeting of the women's Bible class of the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Bohannon taught the lesson. Fourteen members were present.

Bobbed at Beauticians Ball

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Evening wraps valued at $257 were stolen from the check room of the Raleigh Hotel here while their owners attended a dance sponsored by a group of beauty parlor operators. The loot included a seal coat and several velvet packets.

The 1931 cotton crop of the United States was approximately 16,918,000 bales.

Ghosts, Swiss Guards and Jockeys Celebrate Halloween at Party Given by Rotarians, Anns

Costumes ranging from Chinese to Spanish, from ghosts to scarecrows, jockeys to hayseeds, black face comedians to Swiss guards—all those sorts of garbs and many others were used by Rotarians and Rotary Anns in their Halloween party Tuesday evening in the Crystal Ball room of Hotel Scharbauer.

Gala decorations, in keeping with the occasion, were strung about the walls, chandeliers, doorways and windows.

Gold and black Halloween balloons, whistles, cotton balls for throwing, confetti, paper streamers and many other novelties were distributed among the crowd.

L. H. Tiffin was in charge of a series of charged registration tables, easy chairs in which a bell would ring when someone sat down, a punch jar which gave forth a loud explosive report when one attempted to draw punch.

Addison Wadley, attired as the picture of dejection, won the prize for going longest without being identified.

A tri-cycle polo game, with two Rotarians to the side, furnished amusement for the spectators during three hotly contested chukkers on the sick ball room floor.

Refreshments were served by a committee of Rotary Anns. Mrs. Winston F. Borum was voted the most popular Rotary Ann and was given a baby grand piano.

Pushed from an ante-room by a large rope, the piano proved to be about four inches in height.

Another reason the Bulldogs need helmets, we suppose, is because they use these aerial plays.

The Bulldogs are just now beginning to live up to their football equipment—flashy helmets and flashy football gear hand in hand.

The Midland high school band has been A-1 all the time but they have lived down their uniforms—they wore them out several years ago.

The shining lights on the pole bring out the shining lights on the field most conspicuously. This department can't give too much praise to Lackey field and its equipment, but must still remain silent about the band equipment.

Loyal Workers Entertained with Party Tuesday

Members of the Loyal Workers B. Y. P. U. were entertained at a Halloween costume party Tuesday night in the Baptist annex.

Misses Bessie Dale and Dorothy Hines were in charge of games for the evening.

Halloween decorations lent a spooky air to the party rooms. Refreshments were served to about 35 persons.

Apple Crop Is Good In Davis Mountains

FORT DAVIS—A full crop apple harvest is about off the trees here, and Fort Davis orchards have sent many a thousand bushels of apples to the markets.

Apples in the cull class—half-speckled and windfalls—have sold from forty to sixty-five cents a bushel to trucks for peddling, with the truckmen helping to gather and load. Only two orchards had half-speckled apples in any quantity but they all had windfalls due to high gale one night in September.

However, this was the small part of the crop, as a whole. Thousands of bushels were sold of high class apples, the Delicious and some Winter varieties bringing top prices on the market.

The C. H. Bird orchard has three or four thousand bushels yet to take from the trees. Some of the trees are of a red variety, the fruit hanging in deep crimson from the branches. Some other orchards are still not picked out. One orchardist had just gathered his first—gathering his entire crop at once, and storing them for winter selling.

When windfalls were on, the Bird orchard sold one thousand bushels in one day to trucks, for cash on the nail—and nobody can say that the orchard money does not do Fort Davis a lot of good.

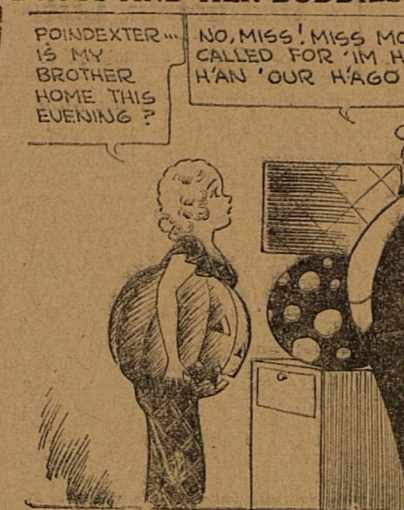

There have been steady, profitable apple pickers on the job, too.

REAL JACK AND BEANSTALK

ABERDEEN, Wash. (UP)—Jack and the Bean Stalk had nothing on Nicholas Radinsky, gardener of Aberdeen. Common green beans planted near his house climbed poles 22 feet above the ground and were still going at last reports. The crop was picked from the upper portions with a ladder.

A baby elephant was flown from New York to St. Louis, and no excess charge was made on his trunk.

many narrow escapes. Hardly in his teens, Mr. Cochran was married "up the trail," this being followed by many others from 1864 until 1869.

Beginning in 1869, he worked as a cowboy in various Palo Pinto ranches, continuing until 1880, when he came to the Midland county. After this he ranched in New Mexico, with Cowden Brothers, with whom he was associated until 1894.

Mr. Cochran was a Mason, Blue Lodge, Chapter and Council, Midland, Scottish Rite and half way to York Rite, at Dallas. He belonged to the Christian church.

FEMININE FANCIES BY R. C. HANKINS

Be it known, fair ones, this assumption of what may be termed an open letter to youse gals was not dictated by your correspondent's wish to flick off a chip placed on his shoulder by one of you, but in an effort to come off better than second with the ghouls and goblins who last night sought to cross up newsworthy personnel by premature disclosure of furniture. The society desk was where the sports desk should have been. Just like grandpa's chair.

The newspaperman is required to have a certain amount of versatility—but we call on the ageless goblins to attest it, not enough to write society while wearing pants.

Your correspondent rode to the hunt last night in a motor car, and was surprised at the abandon with which several women followed the hounds. Over the sinuous, tortuous South Curtis pasture, falling over mesquite, stubbing toes against rocks and grass tufts, stopping only for warming hands and feet at burning hot nests—then off again! There were Mrs. Tom Gaston of Dallas, Mrs. Herbert Seale of San Angelo, Mrs. David M. Ellis and Mrs. Marshall Crawford of Midland. As a matter of fact, they were as fresh as their husbands when the moon started to wane and the dogs had become footsore.

Your eastern girls, who get over a horse and under a derby and ride behind the pack, look all right on the screen or in their native hedgerows. If you like your girls done to a brown, watch the western ones. There's a difference—as your correspondent pointed out when he suggested that our assistant pressman, Mr. Ruple, keep his cider corked a few more days.

The bards who spelled out verse Here are others on the hunt—as best as we can recall: Fred Gardner, M. Prothro, W. C. Tatom, Winston Borum, Fred Middleton, Midland; A. C. Williamson, Sweetwater; R. L. Pruitt, R. A. Bennett, etc.

Mrs. James P. Harrison, our circulation manager, stops by to remind this department his assignment was to write about the dog sports. Therefore, with her explanations seeming a bit hazy now that we try to remember them, here it is:

Full is here; soon winter will be with us again. The woman of the coming season will present an utterly new and fabulously chic picture—the next best thing. Her ported rudder, set down his skid bar and rode a last frightened yelp through the door, and the old mummy slumped over the back of the pack. Hounds hit the cabin walls. Hounds will kill a dog if they have been taught to kill a fox or a wolf. Otherwise they will run him until he steps on his tongue.

While Cyclone Crimm scurried after his dogs like a Satyr after a nymph, Winston F. Borum explained the mysteries of the hunt. The women got a good laugh out of this one.

BAYLOR SET TO BATTLE FROGS

WACO, Oct. 31.—Smarter under the defeat administered them by the Texas Aggies last Saturday in a homecoming game, the Baylor university Bears are digging in their cleats with grim determination as they drill for the clash with Coach Dumb Myers' T. G. team in Fort Worth next Saturday afternoon.

Although Baylor might have won the A. & M. game if the last quarter had lasted a minute longer, Farmers deserved their victory. They fought for their points Iran a lethargic Baylor eleven. The game held some slight rays of hope for the Baylor Bruins. In the third quarter the Bruins unleashed an offensive drive that carried them 81 yards for their lone touchdown, and in the closing minutes, they passed the ball to the Aggie they yard line as the gun sounded. It is evident that if the Bears will buckle down to their game and fight four quarters instead of one, they may offer serious opposition to their remaining conference opponents.

Injuries in last week's melee were not of a serious nature, although some of the hurts were painful for a while. The entire squad appeared to be in top notch order as they were driven up and down the field by tongue-lashing coaches and trainers, Monday and Tuesday. The injuries suffered some time ago by two brilliant sophomores, Lloyd Russell and Hal Finley, are healing.

rapidly and it is probable that the Baylor offense will be strengthened by the return of these two fleet backs to the lineup.
