12-year Old Dies In Crash

GRUVER -- A 12-year-old Gruver girl was pronounced dead at the scene about 3:55 p.m. yesterday when the pickup truck she was driving rolled over twice after apparently striking a soft shoulder on a county road 2.7 miles west of Gruver.

Dead is Pamela Jo Clawson. Her father and brother, passengers in the pickup, were both treated and released at Hansford County Hospital in Spearman.

Highway Patrolman John Sims of Spearman said the Clawson girl was traveling south on the road and no other vehicles were involved.

Her brother, Rodney Dale Clawson, 10, was seated between his sister and his father, Rodney D. Clawson, 43, and both apparently sustained minor injuries, Sims said.

Back it on down,
And don't get tense;
Come on channel jockeys,
Key up for this nonsense.

The Big Lynx has called,
Our jamboree is to begin;

Spearman's doors are open,
Classes are here again.
Halls of Spearman High,
Our home twenty will be;
Our ten-seven is on,
Let's ten-sixty three.

Sitting in class,
Then roger the lore;
Until the last bell rings,
Drop the hammer for more.
Eighty to you forty-fours,
Now is the time to stop;
Ten-ten for now,
See you on the flip flop.

Greg Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson, of Waka, Texas, has donated his entire Indian artifact collection, to the Stationmaster's House Museum. Greg graduated from Spearman High School in 1975 and is currently studying anthropology and geology at West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas. The total number of pieces includes 200 to 300 arrow heads, scrapers, knives, and all types of Indian artifacts including some pottery. All of these have been found in Hansford County, including one very important midland point, circa 11,000 years ago. Hansford County is covered in sites and WTSU Anthropology Society plans to excavate these in the near future. Jack T. Hughes, head of Anthropology, WTSU, has assisted Greg in classifying and dating this material which is now on view at the local museum.

"I hope local merchants will take this opportunity to get any questions they have about the sales or franchise taxes answered," said Bullock. "A little straight information can save us both headaches."

The Amarillo Field Office, headed by Bill Teague, serves Hansford, Sherman and Ochiltree counties.

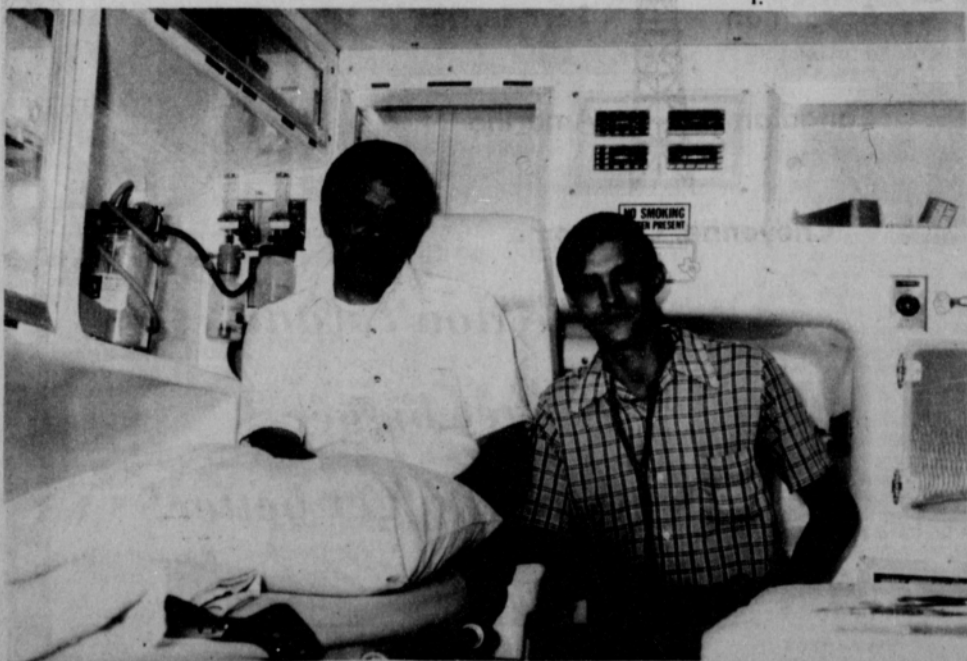

Members Attend Camp

Smithsonian Institute Receives Coins

The Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C., today received set number one of the solid 18 kt. gold edition of the official state medal collection of the Bicentennial Council of the Thirteen Original States.

Dr. Vladimir Clain-Stefanelli and Mrs. Elvira Clain-Stefanelli, curator of numismatics, The Smithsonian, received the matched presentation set of the 13 official state bicentennial medals from William T. Louth, Chairman of the board, Medallic Art Company, of Danbury, Conn., the official medalists. Joining in the presentation was Greg Jones, general manager of East Coast Coin Exchange, Atlanta, Ga., the official distributors.

The matched set, the first complete high relief set of the official medals, will be added to the Smithsonian's priceless collection of coins and medals and will be part of future displays on the bicentennial.

The Bicentennial Council brought the 13 separate state bicentennial commissions and three different medalists together to make this unique collection possible.

Louth noted that both the solid 18 kt. gold edition as well as the solid bronze edition have been sold out and are no longer available from the official medalists. Some gold sets, however, may still be available from banks and the official distributor, East Coast Coin Exchange.

County Agent's Report

Worms can attack pleasure horses and reduce the animals' performance, warns Jim Kuykendall, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

- He offers the following tips to help prevent parasitism.
- Practice proper manure disposal. Compost manure before spreading, or spread on ungrazed areas. Remove manure frequently from corrals, pasture lots and stalls.
- Mow and harrow pastures regularly.
- Avoid overstocking pastures.
- Rotate pastures for grazing.
- Graze young animals separately from older horses.
- Provide bunks, mangers or racks for feeding hay and grain to avoid contact with manure.
- Practice a complete horse parasite control program with your veterinarian.

How can you tell if your horse is infected with worms?

A wormy horse is dull and inactive and has a dry, rough hair coat, points out Kuykendall. The animal becomes anemic, showing bleached mucous membranes, and colic may develop.

The cycle starts when adult female worms in the animal's digestive tract produce great numbers of microscopic eggs which are passed in the manure. Tiny larval worms hatch out, crawl onto pasture plants, and are eaten by horses while grazing. The larvae become adults and the cycle repeats itself.

Drugs control parasites in horses by removing adult worms from the digestive tract. All horses on the premises should be included in a long-range control program under the supervision of a veterinarian, contends Kuykendall.

Extra riders on farm equipment account for many farm accidents each year, points out Jim Kuykendall, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A large share of the victims

Twenty-five "Big Wheels" of the Gruver Schools with some from neighboring towns as well--better known as the School Bus Drivers--are presently engaged in taking a concentrated twenty-hour Bus Safety Drivers' Course.

School Bus Drivers Take Safety Course

Department of Public Safety, each of those participating will become certified School Bus Drivers.

Included among those taking this important course this year are Bill Duncan, Elton Steelman, Ray Etter, Ron Blasingame, Charles Haight, Damon Ladd, James Dorman, Rick Arrington, Gerald TeBeest, Bob Haggard, Oran Burton, Ken Baker, Lloyd Looper, Tony Henry, Dave Arrington, Jeff McAhren, Steve Burselson, Bill Persinger, Stocky Lamberson, F. G. Crofford, Dick Sumpter, and Ted TeBeest, all from Gruver; Burt Williams and George Franklin, Spearman; and Gary Banta, Morse.

Give thanks that the lives of many of our children are in the capable hands of these drivers who care--you do your part--drive safely so that everyone has a chance to live.

How Long A Widow?

Men really ought to marry women older than themselves. But because they don't - the typical husband is about four years older than his mate - and because females live about five years longer than males the average wife can expect close to a decade of widowhood.

A widow must make financial decisions in a hurr. If her emotions rule at this tragic moment she may spend thousands of dollars unnecessarily. Since few wives are emotionally prepared for the sudden and devastating experiences of becoming a widow, a thoughtful husband can do much to ease these pressures.

It's false kindness to avoid talk of death. Face up to the facts. Discuss openly financial facts, wills, insurance. Have your wife meet your advisors - your insurance agent, lawyer, banker and get to know them. In a crisis it's always best to deal with friends-not just names.

This information has been brought to you as a public service by John R. Collard, Jr., your one stop answer to complete business and personal insurance protection. Life, home, auto, group insurance and profit-sharing plans. See John R. Collard, Jr., 405 Davis St., Telephone 659-2501.

of such accidents are small children who should not even be allowed near farm machinery operations.

Most motorized farm equipment has no provisions for safely carrying passengers other than the operator. Trailing implements and vehicles are not meant for hauling people, warns Kuykendall. Rider falls from farm equipment can be eliminated only by keeping riders off the equipment in the first place.

Because of the risks involved, farm and ranch operators should not permit extra riders on farm equipment--especially youngsters and others not involved in the job at hand. This is the first big step in reducing accidents resulting from riders on farm equipment, emphasizes Kuykendall. Operators should also mount "No Riders" stickers on farm equipment to serve as a daily reminder to abide by and enforce this rule.

It all boils down to paying more attention to the working environment as far as safety is concerned and recognizing the fact that riders have no place on farm equipment, cautions Kuykendall.

PINTS

Baker & Taylor Drilling Company wants to thank everyone involved with the Red Cross Blood Drive.

Edith Smith, Hospital Auxillary President, worked numerous hours acting as liaison between the Auxillary and the Red Cross, setting up the Catholic Parish Hall and attending to the infinite number of details involved with a blood drive.

The volunteers did an excellent job running a smooth seemingly effortless operation. These ladies worked long and hard hours at the Blood Drive and setting up different committees.

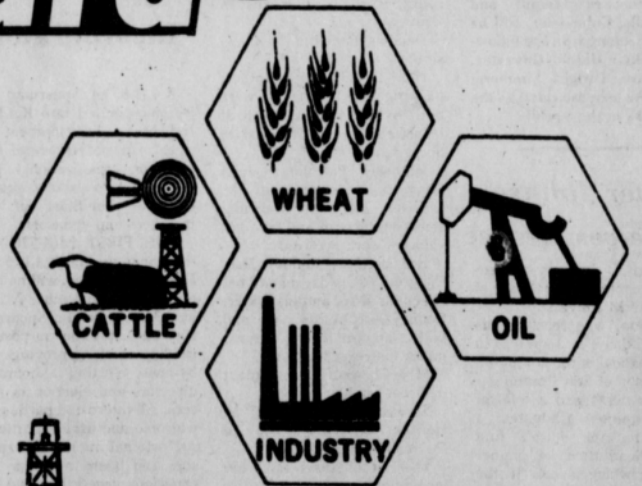

The Home Demonstration Club, the behind-the-scene worker workers, are appreciated for the delicious sandwiches which were in abundance.

The grocery stores were most generous in their contributions of candy, juice, coffee and ice. Billy Miller's newspaper and Coy Palmer's radio station were very cooperative with their advertising and "plugs" for the Blood Drive.

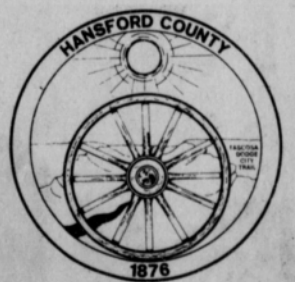

Our doctors who donated their time and energy away from their practices and the nurses from our hospital who came down to the Blood Drive to help out deserve a special pat on the back.

Then there were the donors without whom there would have been no blood drive. Everyone's attitude and fellowship was the best. Donors like Mrs. Bennie Beeson who gave her eighth pint of blood Thursday (that makes ONE GALLON). Baker & Taylor employees and their families contributed approximately one-fourth of all the blood drawn Thursday. We are very proud of our people in Hansford County.

Card of Thanks
It has been said that prayer is the gate which swings open to God and that faith is the "white cane" for blind existence. Without these two assurances the past few days would have been much more difficult to bear. To those who spent so much time in prayer for Steve our gratitude is unending.
To Dr. Thomas, the nurses at the hospital, the ambulance drivers, thank you for all you did. To all those who called, sent flowers, cards, came to visit and numerous other acts of kindness "Thank You." Our prayer is that God will bless each of you in a special way.

K.I.D.S. of Hansford Co., Inc. gratefully acknowledges the many fine contributions made in memory of David Dear, Marcus Connelly, and Fred Sanders.
I wish to take this means of thanking each one who has been so thoughtful of me during my long illness. It means so very much to know that so many have shown their Christian concern and it does much to lift my spirits when I'm feeling low, then receive cards, flowers and visits from my friends in Spearman.

prevent cattle from grazing large areas because of their spray leaves, explains Kuykendall.
If possible, especially with beef cows, graze a pasture heavily just before mowing in order to use all the forage available. In many cases animals will eat some weeds and tall grasses which would be wasted if mowed before grazing.
Rather than mowing all of your pastures at one time and removing the forage and then getting poor regrowth due to dry weather, try mowing one-third to one-half of your pastures every 10 days to two weeks. Kuykendall adds.

News For Veterans
Q- For an individual who enters on active duty with an undergraduate and graduate degree, are there any provisions in VA regulations which allow that individual to receive cash settlement for his or her GI Bill educational benefits?
A- There is no provision for a cash settlement in lieu of the GI Bill allowance for a veteran who doesn't use the educational benefits.
Q- My husband passed away five years ago and an application for burial benefits was never filed. Could I file a claim for burial benefits now?
A- Application for the benefit must be made within two years from the date of the permanent burial of the veteran, or within two years from the date of correction of military records.
Q- My VA pension benefits as a child of a deceased wartime veteran were terminated due to my marriage. My marriage has been terminated. I have returned to school and have not yet reached my 23rd birthday. Am I again eligible to receive VA benefits as a child?
A- Yes, as long as you meet all requirements as a child. Contact the nearest VA office for complete information.
Q-Are veterans of World War I eligible for GI home loans?
A- No, but certain World War I veterans are eligible for low downpayment loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Mow Now For Weed Seed Production
For producers who haven't sprayed pastures to control weeds, mowing in late summer is a good means of reducing weed seed production, says Jim Kuykendall, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
Mowing will prevent or slow down weed seed production, and it also removes old mature forage so plants can produce new tender regrowth.
Weeds use water and fertilizer needed by pasture plants. They also shade pasture plants and slow their regrowth. Some weeds, such as thistles, also

Patschke-McCloy Vows Solemnized

Susan Carol Patschke and Rex Walter McCloy were united in marriage Saturday, August 21st at 3:00 P.M. in the Farwell Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gil Patschke of Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. Thane McCloy of Morse.

Rev. W. W. Walker of the First Baptist Church in Morse officiated over the double ring ceremony performed before a candelabrum arch holding aqua tapers and intertwined with greenery, aqua carnations, and white gladiolas. The arch was flanked by two smaller candelabrum with aqua tapers and intertwined with greenery, white gladiolas and aqua carnations.

Organist, Margaret Aycock played the traditional bridal chorus and wedding march and accompanied soloist, Lyn Blankenship, who sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Walk Hand in Hand".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white sheer polyester. Heavy Venice lace overlaid the fitted bodice and formed the cap and cuff of the sheer shepherd sleeves. The lace was then repeated at the hemline of the A-line skirt above a wide flounce, then the skirt extended into a chapel length train. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, spider mums and greenery.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Steve Blair, and bridesmaids, Julie Adams and Diane McCloy were attired in formal gowns of light aqua polyester, fitted at the waist with a tie belt and featuring a short cape. The attendants wore white picture hats and carried bouquets of aqua carnations, white gladiolas and baby's breath.

Attendants for the groom were: Best Man, Steve McCloy and Ushers, Neil Phillips and Ron Box.

Mrs. Patschke chose for her daughter's wedding a softly draped peach floor-length gown, which was accented by a cemelia corsage. Mrs. McCloy, mother of the groom, chose a formal floor-length pink knit gown with matching jacket, which was accented by a cemelia corsage.

The Bride's table was covered with a lace and net floor-length skirt, centered with a silver candelabra of aqua tapers and cascading flowers. The table was set with silver appointments and was accented by a four-tier white wedding cake. Serving at the Bride's table were Marcy Macurak, Joyce McGee and Barbara Rhode.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. I. W. Quicel, Mrs. Howard Crook, Miss Lisa Howard, and Miss Jeanne Berry.

Miss Bonnie McCloy, sister of the groom passed out rice bags.

For the wedding trip, Mrs. McCloy chose a black, tan and white tailored suit.

The bride attended Farwell High School and is a graduate of Texas Tech where she majored in Horticulture Therapy.

After the wedding trip, the couple will reside at 5525 4th Street in Lubbock.

Agriculture Gets The Feminine Touch

Women in numbers are entering the world of agronomy—and it has little or nothing to do with ERA! Doors traditionally open to males in agriculture are now swinging open for females. Women are penetrating all areas of agriculture—marketing and sales, service, education, research, veterinary medicine, and government.

Pioneers actually, these women are breaking barriers that maintained women in agriculture should be behind a desk or in a laboratory where their actual brush with producers was minimal. Of course, there have been many women who have been involved with this business of agriculture—have run farms and even have had a say in ranching activities...but for the most part, it has been a man's world.

Don't be too surprised if the next time you attend a growers' meeting that the person telling you how to get rid of Johnson grass or what to do about green bug infestation might just be an attractive girl. Producers in Hall County, Georgia, no longer think it strange to have one Elizabeth Wells advising them on soil conservation.

And don't be shocked if your veterinarian might smell of perfume rather than medication for women are entering and succeeding in all areas of this heretofore male dominated field. Pulling calves and doctoring ailing horses and cows are old hat to Jan Smith and Debra Stator who operate the veterinary clinic in Alpine, Texas.

A clear indicator of this trend is the enrollment in agriculture colleges. The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges reported that of the 91,487 students enrolled in agriculture in the fall of 1975, 22,815 (or 1 out of 4) were women, according to an article by Del Deterling in a recent issue of "Progressive Farmer."

It's nothing new really for women to hold degrees in agriculture, but this was the exception rather than the rule. Dr. R. C. Potts, Associate Dean of Agricultural Instruction at Texas A&M states that, "We've had a number of female graduates each of the past several years, but this (1976) will be our biggest crop so far. Nearly 150 of the 730 expected graduates from the College of Agriculture will be women." North Carolina state University issued diplomas to about 157 women Ag graduates this year.

The trend is expected to continue. Of the freshmen signing up for agricultural courses at the University of Arizona last fall (1975), 44 percent were girls and at North Carolina State, the figure was 35 percent.

Dr. H. O. Kunkel, Texas A&M Dean of Agriculture, believes that there has been a change in the way girls view their goals. "They no longer are afraid to go into traditionally male career areas," he states. Other deans credit the increased interest in ecology; the widespread concern for world food production; and the back-to-nature movement.

An interesting fact brought out by Deterling is that a large number of the women in agriculture do not come from farms. Dr. Earl Van Eaton, Assistant Dean at Oklahoma State University, notes that their institution is getting many freshmen students from high schools in Tulsa and Oklahoma City. A survey of freshmen Ag students at Clemson University in South Carolina showed only one girl out of eight having lived on a farm.

"Surprisingly, many of our women students come from wealthy families. We're getting the daughters of professional people such as doctors and lawyers," says Texas A&M Dean Kunkel. (And aside—there is the well-known (by experience) fact that money is almost a necessity in this science of farming anymore!) Most of these families own farms and ranches, he conjectures, where girls are exposed to cattle and horses.

This just might explain why animal science curricula attract many women students with several animal science departments having 40 to 50 percent female enrollment. Other fields popular with women are biological sciences; ornamental horticulture and floriculture; pre-veterinary medicine; wildlife and fisher science; recreation and parks administration; economics; food technology; and agricultural journalism.

Prejudices to women in agriculture do exist according to Dean D. W. Zinn of West Virginia University but he feels that there are more agri-business opportunities for women now than ever before. Firm officials, who have no doubts concerning finding capable women, do voice hurdles that need to be overcome.

"Our company believes in lateral transfers to give individuals with management potential a wider range of experience," one regional manager explained. "What's good to be our policy when a married employee is asked to transfer and her husband refuses to move? Can we or should we have different standards for women than we use for men?"

Another problem cited was men and women field employees traveling together. "One of our men told us that if he had to travel with a young, single female, his wife would make him quit his job," another manager said.

A few years from now we may laugh at the barriers, real or imagined, to women breaking into the agricultural profession—but for the present the problems and the search for answers is indeed very real.

Facts and figures in the agricultural world hold true in our own area for one Gruver girl is making quite a name for herself in the vocational Ag world which has been predominantly male until one Eva Holt, daughter of the Pat Holts of Gruver, arrived on the scene in the Fall of 1974.

Eva, who will be a Junior this year at GHS, has become an accepted and important member of the Gruver FFA Chapter, earning a name for herself and the FF during the two years she has been a member. Mr. Burton, Gruver's Vocational Ag teacher and FFA sponsor said, "She's great and I wish I had many more just like her!"

Eva's summer hog-raising project brought her (and her family) home from the 1976 Olympiads in Montreal in time for the farrowing of Eva's sows. (Eva and her two sons are now caring for 20 piglets at the FFA pens south of Gruver with two getting special "Eva-care" at the Holt Ranch west of Gruver.)

Another facet of Eva's interest in things agriculture is feeding steers. She has exhibited her steers in several of the stock shows and has placed well in each.

It's a great, wide, wonderful world of agriculture—and you'd better believe women are here to stay and be a part of it—thank heavens!

Spearman guide, Don Archer snags a big one

Letter To The Editor

This letter was written to Don Archer's mother. Don is now a guide in Alaska, working for Mike Branham. When Don was 15 years old and a freshman in Spearman High School, he answered an ad in Sports Afield Magazine, and Mr. Branham told him to go ahead and finish high school; and then call him about becoming a guide. After graduation he worked for Tim York Electric in Spearman and from there on to the "Guide" business. This letter is very interesting and we think you will enjoy it, and as we said before it is from Don Archer, formerly of Spearman, Texas.

July 29, '76
Mama, Daddy & Philip
I hope the salmon got there okay. I only had about 15 minutes to get it ready to mail. Now that I have more time I'll tell you about the bear. It was the same one that broke into our cool house the first time. He didn't bother us for about three weeks but he came back and broke into the cool house again. We set a trap in front of the door to scare him off if he came back. He came back the next afternoon, after he broke in that night, and set the trap off but it didn't scare him off for good. That night at 11:00 I got up and went down to check on the planes. The wind was blowing pretty hard and I wanted to make sure the ropes were tight. I had gone down the trail about 20 yards behind my tent when I saw the bear. It was about a 5 1/2 or 6 foot black bear. He was about 30 yards away and he was walking towards me. He had his head down so he didn't see me until I shot. I had a Remington 350 magnum rifle so I wasn't too worried. Mike had told me not to kill it if I saw it but to try and scare it away. If we couldn't scare it then we were supposed to kill it. Well, at the first shot he just stopped and looked at me. At the second shot he turned around and after the third shot he started for the trees. I fired one more time for good measure and watched to see what he'd do. He went about 20 yards to the trees and then stopped to watch me. I was out of shells so I went back for more and by the time I got back he was gone. Mike and Steve were there by that time and we looked for it but we couldn't see it. I told Mike it hadn't acted scared and he said if it came back we'd have to kill it. Later that night at 1:00 Mike came down to get the rifle. He said the bear had been trying to get into the cabin. He also said it was a dangerous bear and we were going to have to kill it for sure now. After telling me how dangerous it was he took the rifle and left me in the tent with just my pistol. I must have heard 50 or 60 bears that night. At one time I could have sworn they had the tent surrounded. I slept with my pistol in my hand the rest of night. The next afternoon at 5:00 the bear came back. I was down in the tent asleep when Steve came running by hollering for me. I went out to see what was wrong and he told me the bear had been up at the cabin but that he had scared him off. I ran back in the tent, got my pistol and took off for the beach. It had been raining and the trail was real slick so as you might guess I slipped about halfway to the beach and rolled the rest of the way. My pistol and I both were covered with mud but I wasn't caring too much at the time. About the time we got to the beach we heard his wife going into hysterics up at the cabin. When Steve had run out of the cabin he left the door open and when Sharon went to close it the bear was about 15 feet from the door. We took off for the cabin and we exchanged guns on the way. Steve wanted to try and get a picture of me shooting the bear. I was going to sneak up behind the bear and shoot it when Mike showed up. He grabbed my pistol from Steve and took off running around the cabin. I decided to stay where I was and it's a good thing I did because Mike would have chased the bear right over me if I'd gone where I'd planned to. Mike got off two shots and hit it once but didn't kill it. The bear ran on the other side of the green house from where I was so I never saw it. He got away and hasn't been back since. I was kind of mad at Mike because I could have killed it if Mike hadn't started chasing it all over Alaska trying to shoot it with a pistol. However, Bud said I might get a chance to go after one in September. Since this bear had his summer coat I'd rather get one in Sept. anyway.

My guitar hasn't got here yet. I hope you insured it because it's probably lost somewhere. I was wrong when I said we were 125 miles from Anchorage. It's closer to 250 miles. On the map I've drawn the general direction of Iliamna Lake and Rainy Pass, the hunting lodge. We are in Kokhonak Bay where the Kokhonak River runs into it. We get our fuel from Pile Bay. Rainy Pass is somewhere by Mt. McKinley and it may be on the map.
My caseless 22 is still over at Doug's. I'd forgotten all about it so send someone over to get it. Tell Daddy I don't need any flies. I wouldn't hardly ever get a chance to use them but thanks anyway. I'll try to answer some of your questions. My tent has a wooden floor and frame but the walls and roof are canvas. I don't share it with anyone. Two other people work here. I moved out of the cabin because there wasn't enough room after Mike came. Bud hasn't seen enough of my fishing to tell if I'm any good or not but so far none of the guests that I've seen are as good as the Archer family when it comes to flies. I'd say that Daddy is better at dry flies than Bud is. They only use about 4 feet of 6 lb. leader up here for fly fishing. Bud couldn't get over me using a 20 foot leader. He said he didn't think he could handle that much. I sleep on a fold-away spring bed. I guess I'll have my hair cut whenever I get a chance to go to town. Bud washes my clothes in town. I don't know if I'm gaining weight. There's no place to weigh. I just eat 3 meals a day. We eat the same things as ya'll do. The only wild meat I've had is moose sausage. I work 7 days a week, it's not all that cold here during the summer and I don't fly too much. I haven't met any packers or guides yet. Steve and Sharon are both around 25 and they're going back to Utah when the lodge closes. I don't know what I'm going to do when hunting season closes. Bud likes for me to hang around the lodge after supper and they know I can't swim.

I guided three men down a place called the Copper River the other day. Bud flew us to a lake up above the river and picked us up at a lake about 7 miles down river. I had to carry a back pack and the rifle. My job was to show them where to fish, take care of any fish they wanted to keep and to keep the bears away. We saw some big brown bear tracks. Bud walked a little way with us, he had to show us the way because it was the first time I'd ever been there, and he said the bear that made one set of tracks we saw would go 10 feet. We didn't see any bears but I was sure watching. He told me not to shoot unless one got within 20 or so yards and I couldn't scare it off. Well, there's not much else so I'd better go.
Write soon.
Don

P.S. Bud brought my guitar today. It was okay.

Highlights Of Jerry Lewis Telethon

Full-scale musical production numbers from four popular Broadway shows have been added to the star-studded line-up of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA), according to Mrs. Naida Yost, President of MDA's Greater Plains Chapter. Scheduled to appear are the casts of "Bubbling Brown Sugar", "Chicago", "Guys and Dolls", and "My Fair Lady", who will perform musical highlights from the current hit shows.
This year's Telethon which will be broadcast locally over KFDA, Channel 10, is expected to attract a massive audience. In 1975, more than 82-million viewers watched the Labor Day show and pledged $18,868,499 to benefit the health agency's medical services and research programs. More than 100 percent of the record-breaking total was collected.
The 21 1/2-hour entertainment spectacular will originate live from the Space Center at Del Webb's Hotel Sahara in Las Vegas. Nationwide 200 television stations will make up the Telethon "Love Network" which will broadcast the marathon show non-stop from 9:00 P.M. (EDT), Sunday, September 5, until 6:30 P.M. Eastern Day.
New additions to the talent line-up for Telethon '76 include Tony Bennett, Lloyd Bridges, Carol Burnett, Cathy Carlson, John Cassavettes and Gena Rowlands, the Coasters, Glenn Ford, James Franciscus, Bobbie Gentry, and David Hartman. Also slated to appear with Jerry Lewis and anchorman Ed McMahon are Joey Heatherton, Charlton Heston, the Lettermen, Trini Lopez, Ann Meara, Mary Tyler Moore, Jan Murray, the New Zoo Revue, Donny and Marie Osmond, Gregory Peck, Debbie Reynolds, the Soul Train Dancers, Tom Sullivan Sylvers, Tammy Wynette and Johnny Yune.

These stars join a celebrity roster headed by Frank Sinatra which includes such personalities as Anna Maria Alberghetti, Virginia Capers, Vikki Carr, Kirk Douglas, Marvin Hamlisch, Julie Harris, Florence Henderson, Julius LaRosa, Barbara McNair, Manhattan Transfer, Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse, Esterle Parsons, O. C. Smith and Sally Struthers.

Peggy's Pointers

It's a plaid-mad tartan and madras world for fall, adding new dimensions, built-in interest and excitement to the season's fashions.
Plaids with their special fabric design present a challenge to the homemaker, but produce results well worth the extra effort.
For best results with plaid fabric, select a pattern with a minimum of seams. Also, check the pattern envelope to see if the garment is appropriate for plaids. If the envelope states "unsuitable for plaids," this means that seams can't be matched due to the garment design. As a rule, if the garment is illustrated in a plaid on the envelope, the pattern designer feels it is particularly suited for plaids.
When buying plaid fabric, choose one inscale with the size of the person to wear it. Also, don't try to buy a plaid from a small sample or swatch—the illusion created by several repeats of one pattern may be much stronger than the single design.
When buying a printed plaid, check that the lines of the plaid follow the grainlines of the fabric. Do not buy a plaid that is off-grain more than one inch per yard. If a print is slightly off-grain, lay out the pattern to match the plaids rather than the grain, because the plaid is more noticeable.
Allow extra yardage to match plaids. Generally, the larger the plaid, the more widely spaced each repeat and the larger the pattern size and garment, the more yardage needed.
Arrange and cut pattern pieces so the plaids will match at major joining seamlines, not cutting lines. Do this by placing pattern notches of joining pieces on the same area of the plaid design. For example, a notch at the top of a repeat should match its corresponding notch at the top of the same repeat.
If you are hesitant to try sewing a plaid fabric, begin by using a plaid for garment trim such as collar, cuffs, pockets, or yokes, or choose designs with few pattern pieces.
Even plaid designs are also easier to sew and are arranged in the same design sequence crosswise and lengthwise. When folded through the center of any design, the lines of the top and bottom layers mirror each other. Uneven plaids vary in design either crosswise or lengthwise or both.

Church Training On The Increase
GLORIETA, N.M. —The climate is right for increased growth in church training, predicted Philip B. Harris, secretary of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board's church training department.

His prediction was set in the context of the recent Church Training Leadership Conference at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center. The conference itself, considered by Harris to be the best in history with over 1,800 in attendance, is one indicator of a spirit of anticipation and concern for growth.
Conditions are ripe nationwide for increased attention to Christian maturity, Harris noted, adding that political and economic events of the past decade have contributed to readiness. Only as people are open, as they now seem to be, can the programs of church training make their proper impact, he added.
Practical efforts are now underway to increase interest in training.
One emphasis, New Day for Training, hopes to establish 1,977 new training programs in churches. To date, some 700 churches have begun new training programs, involving 25,000 persons previously unassociated with church training.

"We are intensifying our efforts in 1977," continued Harris. "Our goal is to establish a minimum of one new church training program for each association, giving us a goal of 1,177 associations to reach."
"Another concentrated effort to enlist members is the 100,000 Campaign, to begin in January and continue through April 1977. Churches will be asked to set goals for new enrollments of at least ten percent of their present enrollment."
Discipleship development is a major responsibility, Harris added. "We will be providing materials and promoting discipleship through a three-year emphasis. The first year examines the theme Exploring Discipleship; the second, Expressing Discipleship; and the third, Experiencing Discipleship.

"All of our efforts are people-oriented," Harris emphasized. "Church training is the church at work with people, and we at the Sunday School Board face the future with keen expectations of what it holds for church training."

NOTICE TO LYNX FANS: You better get down on Monday and get your reserve seats! These Lynx are going to be great... editor Miller

Special-Dumas, Texas -- Thursday nite - The Lynx from Spearman were just great, as they scrimmaged the Ding Dong Daddies from Dumas, at Dumas on Thursday nite. Both teams made numerous mistakes, but some of the sophomores from Spearman, almost stole the show, namely Scot Sherwood and Scot Martin. The lines on both offense and defense for the Lynx were just sensational.

The Greyhounds were equally impressive in their scrimmage with Dalhart Friday night!

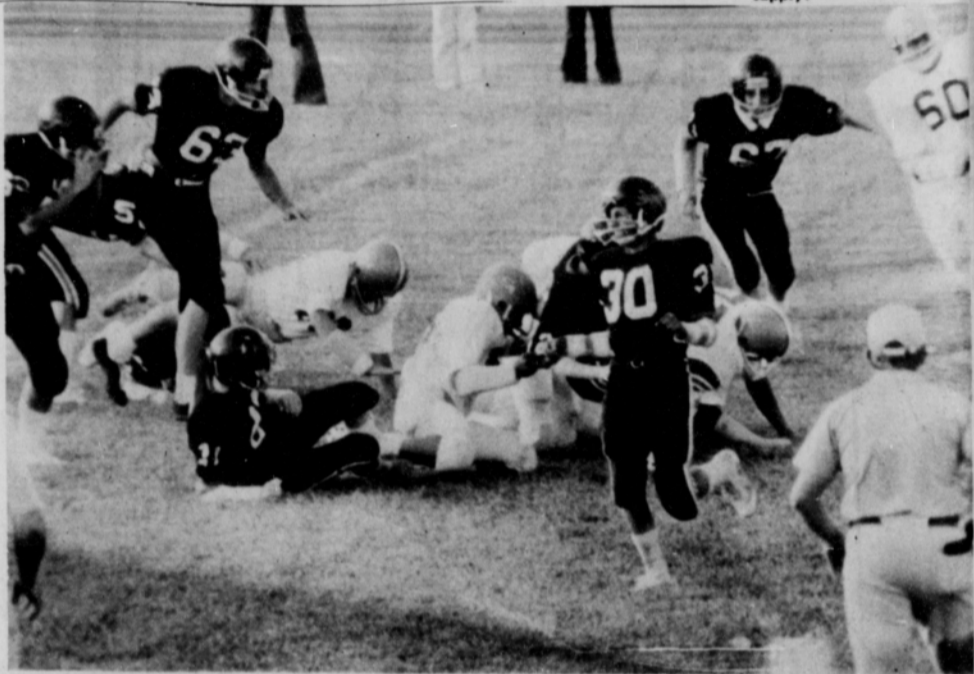

Since the start of the Bicentennial, many Americans have been afraid to see key Bicentennial sites because of expected crowds and lack of accommodations. Actually, however, anyone can get a room at America's nearly 1,550 Holiday Inn hotels, including those near major historic attractions, by calling any Inn for reservations.

As early as 100 B.C. the Romans were oyster lovers, establishing oyster beds to safeguard a reliable source of supply!

The Lynx offense was extremely sharp at Dumas, as they scored about 4 to 1 on touchdowns, and 142-1 on yards rushing the last quarter.

The Lynx defense (in white) clawed the jerseys off of the Demons at Dumas Thursday night in a scrimmage...
