"SEND US A MAN THAT READS...AND WE WILL HIRE HIM. Those were the only words on a two page ad that appeared in a New York City Newspaper in 1960. It was run by U.S. STEEL.

The need for reading is equally important today as it was in 1960. And we are very fortunate in Spearman to have a very fine library that provides so many services to the people. A surprising number of people use the Hansford Library, but perhaps that number could be tripled, then tripled again without causing a traffic jam.

Librarian, Rita Curtis, (no relation to the candy people), is our librarian. Her excellent service, thoughtfulness, and expertise is simply unsurpassed. Rita believes the place to start getting interested in reading is when the youngster first starts to read. She provides extraordinary motivation for the youngsters, with a different project each summer reading season.

This year Rita used the theme of robots and space. If and when you visit the library, you'll see a display of many various forms of robots and spacecraft. One robot, devised by Mrs. Curtis, has all kinds of blinking lights to attract the youngsters' attention. Cleverly enough, the robot has a large display of children's books inside. Books that are sure to get the youngster's attention.

The reading program has encouraging results. The youngsters have made many different robots that are on display. One unique idea is a robot graveyard. They're all sizes and shapes. There has been on day each week set aside for special reading groups, where they see a film, and have stories introduced to them. For more motivation, Rita offers a space shuttle with the child's name on it, to be placed on one of the bulletin boards for reading one book. When they have read ten books they have their name placed on a spaceship, and that is displayed on another bulletin board.

A SPACE CAPERS SPLASH DOWN will be held Tuesday July 6th, from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. at the swimming pool. All children who participated in the summer reading program are invited to come and celebrate the end of the reading program. Reading certificates will be given to children who have read at least 10 books during the six week program. Winners of the bookmark contest will be announced at the pool party.

An average of 70 to 80 children were in attendance at the film shows each week. More than 178 children signed up for the program. Hundreds of books were checked out by the children during this special reading program.

Hansford Library was once housed in the basement of the courthouse, and was open only a few hours each week. It was manned by volunteers who saw the need for a library.

In subsequent years, a group of very dedicated ladies began to run "THE THRIFT SHOP". They had other money making projects, but the thrift shop has been with us all these years. Their "NICKLE & DIME" store has made enough money through the years to provide most of the money to purchase the building where the library is now housed. In addition, they had an elevator installed so people who could not climb stairs could use the upper part of the building where many arts & crafts shows and many other local projects are held each year. The thrift shop is still in business today, and Mrs. Frances Stump, with the help of other ladies, work many hours each week to price items... mostly clothes...for sale. The revenue enriches the library program, and also serves to provide much needed clothing to those who could not otherwise afford them.

Rita Curtis, our librarian is something special. A very dedicated person with a tremendous yearning to provide service for everyone. Rita had done volunteer work in libraries in Colorado before taking the task of running HANSFORD LIBRARY. She is highly skilled and her educational background is superb for such a task.

She became our Librarian five and one Half years ago. We are very fortunate to have such a person as Rita.

The library houses over 16,000 books of every known range of interest. They add an average of 50 new books each month, an average of 70 check-outs of books, tapes, etc. occurs daily.

Hours are 10 to 12, 2 to 6 on weekdays...and 9 to 1 on Saturdays.

Those serving on the board are: James Cunningham--Chairman, Mary Alice Gibner--Vice Chairman, J.L. Brock--Treasurer, Mrs. John Trindle--Secretary.

Mrs. J.R. (Frances) Stump,

Frances Kilgore, Mary Lee and Marsha Murphy.

The library is supported by the City of Spearman, The County of Hansford, The Thrift Shop and numerous donations and memorials. IT IS SECOND TO NONE. If there is any book that you desire, and it is not in the library, they can get it for you through their membership in area libraries.

Have you been to the library lately?

Industrial bonds private concern

Certain elements of Hansford County have been in the throes of a bond scare since the Hansford County commissioners court approved a $1.8-million revenue bond issue for Agco, one of the grain industries in the county.

Despite assurances written into the report of that commissioners court meeting, there are those that are talking that county taxpayers are being stuck with the responsibility for almost two million dollars in bonds.

Not so! This paper talked with Jimmy Shieldknight, an executive of Agco, and he explained basically what we had written into the report of the commissioners meeting. However, he did offer some technical expansion of the explanation.

Shieldknight pointed out that industrial revenue bonds have been an American way of business life almost from the time the use of bonds came into being. He further noted that they are a desirable investment in that interest paid on them is tax-free.

Now, to qualify an industrial bond issue as tax-free, the law requires the following procedure: First, the firm wishing to make the bond issue goes before the county industrial commission, then the county commissioners court and finally, the state industrial commission.

The only relationship these bodies have with the bonds is this approval. This course of approval is obvious. Without it, "big operators" could establish a business "front" in the community, issue and sell bonds using the proceeds for very little business investment, then move on to greener pastures.

With the demand for this three stage approval, other responsible men in the community are able to say they are familiar with the firm seeking to issue bonds and that the firm and its executives are honest and responsible.

Certainly, Agco -- formerly 4-Tex -- qualifies without reservation.

There is one other item not required in the qualification but certainly made obvious by the very request for approval. That is the faith evidenced in the future of this area by a company's willingness to spend almost two million dollars in expansion which can only be justified by the fact that the productivity of the area with its attendant prosperity are the means for repayment.

Shieldknight was modest on the subject of faith in the future noting it was not entirely original with his firm since at least one competitor in the area has made the first step toward the same type of approval.

While the statement to the county commissioners court said the money from the bond issue would be spent on grain storage expansion, Shieldknight begged off on discussing exact plans. He pointed out that the bond issue sought by his company still had one step to go for approval and no contracts could be signed, no work started on the project until the bond issue was duly approved then sold.

He did promise to reveal those plans to us the moment the project was a viable undertaking.

So, it is a matter of irrefutable record that county government nor county taxpayers have no part in, no responsibility for this bond issue beyond the approval already extended to it.

Thus discussion of the matter across the county can turn from words of worry to talk of faith in the future.

Bank president began career in 1919

Mr. Banker, Clay Gibner, started his long banking career in 1919 when he went to work for the Guaranty State Bank, at Old Hansford. He became the bookkeeper and junior member of the two man staff, and also did the sweeping and many other tasks in the business.

He only stayed with the Guaranty State in Hansford from August 1, 1919, until December 1 of the same year. The larger First National Bank offered him a better job and he took it.

At the First National he made the move with the bank at Spearman. He also made some professional moves and in 1925 was made cashier of the First National.

In 1930, local men purchased the First State Bank and after that year he was offered the Vice-Presidency of the First State Bank, which was the successor to the Guaranty State of Hansford and later Spearman.

CPR Course Planned

NOTICE

Do it now...enroll in a class and learn Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). What's that?? CPR is a part of the Emergency Medical Training focusing upon breathing and/or heart failure due to choking, near drowning, smoke or chemical inhalation, etc...

Ideally, everyone 12 or older who is able would know and be proficient in these life-saving procedures. Like life insurance...everyone should have it; but, hopes not to use it!

Don't live in a time-warp of doubt, helplessness, or guilt... learn how now.

You can sign-up at your City Hall (Gruver) for (approximately) eight hours of evening instruction and practice. This will encompass, perhaps, four evenings we'll spend. With the Red Cross at no cost...sometime late Aug. or Sept.

You may become so enthused, you take additional eight hours and become a qualified instructor so the citizens will have an on-going program of training and re-certification.

If you have questions, please call 733-2983.

Aggie invention uses satellites to predict pre-harvest yields

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University scientists are developing a satellite sensor system to measure soil moisture from more than 500 miles above the earth.

The research is being conducted by the university's Remote Sensing Center in conjunction with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). The goal is to predict the success of crop yields prior to harvest.

"The development of such a system would allow us to measure some of the electrical properties of soil, from which we could determine the amount of moisture," said Dr. Richard Newton. "As soil moisture changes, so will these electrical properties."

Newton, an electrical engineer and director of the Remote Sensing Center, said the systems can use microwave radar or radiometers that will be able to pick up data that "bounces" off the soil and shoots into space.

Texas farmers raise crawdads to supplement income

COLLEGE STATION — Pinched by smaller profits from their traditional rice and soybean crops, farmers along the Texas coast are growing crawfish to supplement their incomes, says a Texas A&M University fisheries scientist.

Once thought a treat enjoyed only by Louisiana Cajuns, crawfish — also known as crawdads and "mud bugs" — are now being demanded by restaurateurs from across the country, and Dr. Jim Davis says the demand is such that the state could use additional yields to satisfy a growing craze for the hard-shell crustacean.

Davis estimates Houstonians eat between 25,000 - 30,000 pounds of crawfish each week and said one Dallas broker can't seem to find enough crawfish to suit his market.

Roads of the future may be litter-paved

COLLEGE STATION — Motorists may shudder at the thought of driving on broken glass, tin cans, rusty appliances and other trash, but with asphalt costs rising, highways may soon be paved with our trash.

Littercrete — so named because it is an asphalt paving mixture that uses a city's incinerated solid waste as aggregate — has proven successful in testing by Texas A&M University engineers.

The drawback is we may not have enough trash, says Dr. William B. Ledbetter. The civil engineering professor has worked in the Texas Transportation Institute littercrete project since a test section of roadway proved successful on a Houston city street.

Field observations and laboratory tests on field core samples "show that the littercrete is performing essentially the same as the conventional control section constructed of a conventional asphalt concrete base," Ledbetter said.

There will be three performances of the rodeo at the Canadian Rodeo Arena, at 8 p.m. on Friday, July 2, and at 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 3, and Sunday, July 4.

The annual celebration will be centered on Saturday, July 3, when the annual parade, the old timers reunion, and the Rodeo Association barbecue are scheduled at the Courthouse Square.

The big Fourth of July Parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, following a route established last year along Fifth street to Main, turning at the Courthouse Square for two blocks on Main to Sixth Street, and out Sixth Street to the assembly point on the school parking lots.

Trophies and plaques will be awarded the top three parade entries in eight parade categories. Entries are being accepted from clubs and organizations, commercial floats, vehicles, novelties, bicycles, horseback riders and individuals, wagon trains, riding clubs, and industrial floats. Ray Byard is the Parade Marshal. Awards will be presented to winning entries as they pass the reviewing stand at the Courthouse.

Additional information about the parade may be obtained from Diane Crouch, Chamber of Commerce Manager.

The Old Timers Reunion will be held at Courthouse Square, beginning at 11 o'clock, and a barbecue luncheon will be served to the Old Timer registrants at noon.

Y'all come! Hear?!

Gruver is playing host to the High Plains, Saturday and Sunday for an Independence Day celebration not soon to be forgotten.

A lot of busy and a lot of fun went into the planning of it and "busy" and "fun" just about describe the pace for Saturday if you are up to it.

The Saturday schedule of fun and frolic and the Sunday evening time of inspiration before the drama of the fireworks display fit perfectly around the planned Spearman celebration Sunday afternoon so neighbors in that city can take in the whole Gruver game plan.

The parade and some bicycle races are the first order of the day, Saturday, starting at 9:30 a.m.

At 11 a.m., Stick-Horse Races are scheduled followed at 11:30 by a Boot Scramble.

During the 11-12 noon period there will be face-painting for the modest fee of 50 cents for those who want to decorate the ol' physog.

Then it's 12 noon and time to gather for grub!

The Gruver Lions Club is staging the Bar-B-Que and the trimmin's will be $3.50 a person with youngsters under six years in free. So are those 65 years and older--and there is an "express lane" for this age group to get their platefuls.

During the noon hour and until 2 p.m., there will be a KIXZ Concert featuring the "West Texas Express" and KIXZ personality Jody Carter.

The famous Rolling Pin Toss for women contestants will be conducted at 2 p.m. (You will just have to be there and see if they are allowed live targets like husbands!)

This will be followed at 2:30 by a Tug of War for the men and a Water Balloon Toss at 3 p.m. No Fourth of July celebration would be complete without the traditional Three-Legged Race

DPS Conducting "Operation Motorcide"

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said, "The two most dangerous things the driver of a motor vehicle can do is to speed or drink and drive. These two violations will account for most of the traffic deaths during this July 4th holiday."

The population in Texas is increasing, so is traffic on the highways. More people are expected to be on our highways this 4th of July weekend than ever before.

The Department will be conducting "Operation Motorcide" during the weekend, trying to make everyone aware of the traffic problem. Every available trooper will be working, trying to help cut down on the needless traffic death but will need the help and cooperation of the entire motoring public and that will come at 3:30. At 4 p.m., there will be Calf-Roping. A dummy will be used for this competition but nobody has said who.

The climax comes at 5 p.m. with the Turtle Race. We have it on good authority that the turtles are on their own. Absolutely no roller skates will be allowed.

Now, if you have no interest in any of this, be of a good cheer! While it is all going on, Gruverites have planned some continuous events throughout the day. Select the challenge of horseshoes or washers or the Greased Pole. For the lowly sum of a quarter each, you can have a Pillow Log Fight or have a go at Water Polo.

Then there's the Liberty Train, the Copper Mine and-oh, yes--the MDA Clown will be there with balloons at a dollar each.

Program for July 4th proper, begins at 9 p.m., Sunday in Greyhound Stadium. There will be a varied inspirational and music presentation.

The local "What America Means to Me" winners from Gruver's fourth, fifth, and sixth grades will read their prize-winning work.

By the conclusion of this program, it should be sufficiently dark for the drama of a fireworks display. The pyrotechnics are being furnished by the city of Gruver this year.

Now, everyone knows the friendliness of Gruver and everyone is steeped in the tradition of the Fourth of July celebration each year across America. So... Y'all come! Hear?

Open House July 10 at Pampa New building system now in Panhandle

For uncounted centuries man built with stone from hand-hewn caves in natural rock to the stone synthesis of man-made concrete, then...

Metal used to house men and their weaponry in World War II was carried over into peace for the same reason -- speed -- in the face of an almost insatiable need for buildings growing less ugly with the application of pastel paint but very little stronger.

Then, in 1954, at Weatherford, Okla., Sawatzky Concrete Building Company became a vital force in the rapid growth of Western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle -- as well as a vital link in a growing building revolution across the nation.

To this point building with concrete had been a slow process. The end result was well worth the time spent if the need for the structure was not too pressing.

Then firms such as Sawatzky began innovating. The first mass application to reach mass public attention was the construction of shopping centers with concrete panels poured on the site and raised and joined, then crowned with a roof far superior in insulation and resistance to the elements than those that crowned metal buildings.

At this point it should be noted that this is not a "pitch" to put down metal buildings but an effort to put up solid, lasting buildings of concrete panels fashioned into facades that will create and hold an image for ages.

Metal buildings served a valuable use while the present miracle of concrete panel construction was being developed at a pace that left no "bugs" in a structure when erection was completed.

The real story here, however, is construction time and cost efficiency. Using this system Sawatzky Concrete Building Company can offer strength, versatility, efficiency and rapid construction and that is why oil field suppliers, professional people, businessman and others are selecting Sawatzky and this system.

Whether your plans call for a new plant, warehouse, office building -- all the way down to quick-shop mart sizes, Sawatzky Concrete Building Co. can carry the entire project from the planning stage through to finished construction.

We are talking about quicker time from ground breaking to grand opening with panels of superior strength to other types of structures. They are poured with 3,000-pound test concrete and strengthened with number three and number four reinforcement bars so that these panels can endure a phenomenal amount of stress. Each panel as poured is four and five-eighths inches thick. Then it is embedded with a natural stone facing finish offering a wide variety of appealing decor images.

Each panel is joined with a cord insulator and calked with a lifetime sealant inside and out.

The roof system consists of steel bar joists with 22-gauge metal decking topped with ridge insulation and three plies of tar and gravel.

Besides the physical properties of a Sawatzky concrete building, the company is proud of the esthetics of their work. They assure you they can take your dreams meld them with their ideas and produce a beautiful building reality with this Sawatzky concrete building system.

At the present time, the best proof of Sawatzky work is the opening of a new facility at Pampa to bring the system closer to the Texas Panhandle than Weatherford, Okla.

Saturday, July 10, beginning at 11 a.m. Sawatzky will conduct an Open House of their new facility at Pampa. It is located one mile west of that city on HW 152 -- more commonly known as the "Borger Highway."

This will afford an opportunity to see first-hand some of the very latest construction created by the Sawatzky system. It will give you opportunity to talk "turkey" with these experts who can direct you to other finished buildings so you can see the tremendous versatility within this system.

Sawatzky's strongest sales pitch beyond the strength of their construction system is the reminder:

"A business can only grow to the capacity of its facilities."

4-H'ers hear success formula

The formula for personal success was outlined here recently by Ola B. Madsen in an address to some 600 4-H club members and their leaders.

The 4-H'ers and leaders were representing their counties from throughout Texas at the 1982 State 4-H Congress on the Texas A&M University campus.

Everyone has a chance to succeed in life, Madsen said. All it takes is the right attitude, enthusiasm for life, goals to work toward, and the persistence to stick to it.

Make your attitude positive, said the president of Adventures in Total Development from Nicholasville, Ky. Believe that you were created for success and endowed with the seed of greatness.

Enthusiasm is the second ingredient in the formula for success, Madsen said. Get excited about school, work and challenges in the future.

"Goals give you a sense of direction," Madsen said. "It's easy to get excited when you know what the future holds."

Writing out goals on paper will clarify them. Figure the cost to achieve each goal. This cost may be loyalty and time instead of money, he said.

Finally put a date on each goal and work to accomplish it by that date.

"Don't be afraid to dream big," Madsen said. "But be realistic."

To make the formula work, one must have the persistence to stick with it like a postage stamp until it's finished, he said.

"No matter what happens, don't ever quit."

The 4-H Congress is a part of the educational programs for youth arranged by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas 4-H Council and other groups.

Named Chairman

The Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announces the appointment of Gerry Davis as Chairman of its 1982 Campaign in Gruver.

The Campaign will be held to provide the community with information about Cystic Fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for CF patients.

The number one genetic killer of children, Cystic Fibrosis is inherited and incurable - claiming three lives each day. An estimated one in 20 Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. Currently, half of all children born with CF will die before reaching their 20th birthday.

Gruver horse paces derby trials

Outa Control, winner of the Raton Quarter Horse Derby in his last outing, tops a list of 70 sophomores in today's trials for the $70,375 Jayhawker Derby at La Mesa Park.

The fastest 10 will qualify for the Derby, scheduled July 11 at 400 yards.

At Ruidoso Downs today, Go For Bugs goes for his first victory since last August in the featured Rainbow Derby Consolation.

Outa Control, owned by Gruver's Nick Holt, has won three in a row at La Mesa Park, including a 1 1/2-length romp in the June 13 Raton Quarter Horse Derby.

The victory, over 350 yards in 17.72 seconds, earned the Angel's Jet Rail colt $26,212 and pushed his career earnings to more than $90,000.

The Lonnie S. Barber, Jr., trainee has only one out-of-the-money finish in 15 lifetime starts.

Outa Control's chief competition today will be Nita Boone and Kool Native.

The winner of Ruidoso's Rainbow Derby Consolation chase will earn $19,908.60 from a total purse of $96,888.52.

Special Effort, quarter horse racing's leading money winner, is among the qualifiers in the 440-yard chase, but track officials are uncertain if the undefeated horse with the consolation derby's fastest qualifying time will compete.

If not, Go For Bugs, a four-time loser to Special Effort, probably will be favored to win.

The Bugs Alive in 75 colt has recorded four wins with seven seconds in 14 career runs, good for $375,699.

His most impressive showing was a runner-up finish in the $1,530,000 All-American Futurity last Labor Day at Ruidoso Downs.

Another contender for the win position will be Real Jet Wind, the second fastest qualifier in the Rainbow Derby trials.

Aggie improves speed of bicycle

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M University aerospace engineering student has found that covering a bicycle tire with plastic wrap can decrease the amount of work required by the rider to maintain a certain velocity.

Anne Daugherty, a junior, won first place in a regional technical paper writing competition sponsored by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics for her study of "Drag Reduction of a Two-Wheeled Human-Powered Vehicle."

Her study revealed that as much as 60 percent of the total resistance experienced by the bicycle/rider combination could be eliminated with "fairings" (coverings).

Daugherty said totally covering the wheels with plastic wrap gave the best drag reduction, but caused the bicycle to be difficult to handle in a cross wind. She also tested various other fairing designs.

The purpose of the work is to improve bicycle performance and decrease the amount of work a cyclist must perform to ride a bicycle at certain velocities, she said. Her goal is to create an inexpensive kit that might be applied by racing and touring cyclists.

Among the events which will be shown are bull-riding, steer wrestling, bare-back riding, and calf roping. All these competitions require skill, determination and perhaps above all, courage.

The show will be hosted by Bob Eubanks, known as an emcee of many game shows and a long-time PRCA team roper. Larry Mahan, six-time all-around world champion, will join Eubanks in the telecast booth.

EYE CARE CORNER

New Contact Lenses For Farsightedness

New extended-wear soft contact lenses to correct hyperopia (farsightedness) have received clearance by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The lenses are manufactured by Continuous Curve Contact Lenses, a subsidiary of Revlon, Inc. It is the only company to receive such clearance.

For this indication, extended-wear is defined as being able to wear the lenses all day and all night; however, the lenses must be removed for cleaning and disinfection once every two weeks, or more frequently, according to the directions of the eye care practitioner.

In July 1979, the FDA cleared Continuous Curve's contact lenses for aphakic (post-cataract) extended-wear and in early 1981, Continuous Curve was the first company in the United States to receive FDA clearance for extended-wear lenses for myopia (nearsightedness).

In making the announcement, a Revlon spokesman said that with this most recent approval of the Hydrocurve II₅₅ (bifilcon A) Contact Lens, Continuous Curve is now the only company that can successfully correct all refractive problems with its extended-wear lenses—aphakia, astigmatism, myopia and hyperopia.

Wildcatting becoming profitable venture

COLLEGE STATION — The chances of successfully drilling for oil or gas in previously unexplored and unproven areas may be improving, but such risky "wildcat" ventures will always be tied to the economy, says the head of the nation's largest and top-ranked petroleum engineering department.

When times are good and investors have money to risk on wildcat wells — which are usually drilled by independent oilmen — wildcatting is likely to increase, said Dr. Douglas Von Gonten of Texas A&M University.

Wildcatting declines in times when money is tight and a sluggish economy slackens the demand (and price) for oil, he explained.

The American Petroleum Institute reports that in 1980, nearly one of every five wildcat wells drilled hit paydirt, twice the success rate of a decade earlier.

Emergency Disaster Aid Needed

WACO, TX; June 28, 1982 — The Texas Farmers Union today called on Secretary of Agriculture John Block to authorize emergency assistance to the devastated counties of the Panhandle and South Plains.

In a telegram to Block, TFU President Mike Moeller referred to the extreme crop damage from tornadoes, hail, high winds, and excessive rain over the past 60 days. According to Moeller all crops in the area have been affected and damage to High Plains cotton could run as high as 75 percent in several counties.

"These natural disasters," Moeller said, "combined with 1981's disastrous prices will bankrupt many of the affected farmers unless emergency assistance is provided."

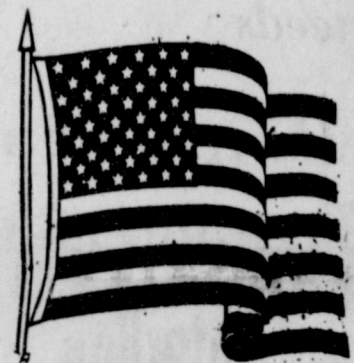

Under the 1981 Farm Bill, Secretary Block has the discretion to authorize emergency disaster payments to farmers in the event of extreme natural disasters. Moeller said that the situation in the Northwest part of Texas couldn't get much more extreme.

He urged other farmers to join in the call for special disaster aid.

Faye's Daze

Sunday when we celebrate the fourth of July or Independence Day, we should take time to reflect on just what this country means to us, somewhere in between the cookouts, fireworks, celebrations, etc. Admittedly, we have many problems in our country today, and there does not seem any easy solutions, but how many of you would give up your citizenship in the U.S., and consider also that more people of other countries strive to come to America than anywhere else.

I read a quote from one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence the other day in which he said 206 years ago, that on this day throughout the years Americans should fly their flags, and raise their voices in thankfulness for the freedom they enjoy.

The more I think of the repairs that need to be done at my home following the hailstorm, the bluer I get. Certainly I did not have the damage that those homes in the tornado area did, and not as much as some homes in town. At any rate, I need a new roof, a new paint job, new screens, new vents, new storm door, and some other items as well to get it back into the shape it was before the storm.

My problems seem small though compared to the residents east of town who had so much tornado damage. I was visiting with Eulalie (Mrs. W.R.) Greever and she was telling me about the damage to their home. She and W.R. were away when the tornado hit and their two sons tried to prepare them for what they were coming home too, but they could not visualize the damage until they saw it for themselves. Apparently the carpet, drapes, and some of the furnishings were ruined, along with muddy walls etc. Sounds as if they will have to do extensive work on the inside as well as outside of their once beautiful home. She said that one of the pictures on the wall had the back blown off of it but the glass and picture were unharmed. Another oddity was discovered on the porch of the home. She said W.R. was out there trying to decide whether he should hose it down or just what to do in order to clean it up when he noticed a postage stamp imbedded in the mud. The stamp had not been canceled or attached to an envelope but was just imbedded into the mud.

The Greever's home was only one among those severely damaged in this storm.

If you are going to be on the highways this 4th of July be extremely careful, we want you here next week. Perhaps the safest thing you could do to celebrate Independence Day would be to attend the Fourth of July activities planned for here and in Gruver.

Artist Of The Month

"Tiger, tiger, burning bright..." are the opening lines of William Blake's poem, and they can well define the Hansford County Library this month. Darlene Sutton's tiger collection is adorning the walls, shelves, and display cases of the library during July.

Darlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sutton, began collecting tigers about fifteen years ago. When asked why she collects tigers, she responded with the obvious answer, "Because I love them."

Darlene's tiger display includes photographs, paintings, stuffed animals, rugs, ceramics, brass, bookmarks and a pillow. Her tigers are from the U.S. and Canada.

Darlene has individual names for all the tigers in her collection. She claims her family never has trouble deciding what to get her for special occasions...any tiger will do!

Darlene has been living in Spearman, but will begin teaching P.E. in Dumas this fall.

Bank to celebrate 65th anniversary

The First State Bank will be celebrating its 65th anniversary July 9, from 11 to 3 p.m.

Present board of directors of the bank are C.A. Gibner, J.W. Gibner, Lynn Hart, Verna Lee Shirley, Erlis Pittman, Gene Cudd, Rex Sanders, Jr., R.M. Crawford, Jim Shirley, and Ray Ingle. Michael L. Schnell is an Advisory Director.

Officers of the bank are C.A. Gibner, President, Chairman of the Board and Trust Officer; Ray Ingle, Executive Vice President; J.W. Gibner, Senior Vice President; Jim Shirley, Senior Vice President; Verna Lee Shirley, Vice President & Trust

Officer; Michael L. Schnell, Vice President; Larry Trosper, Assistant Vice President; Felma B. Evans, Cashier; Lynanne Maize, Assistant Cashier; Arbeta Nobles, Executive Secretary; Betty Elbert, Administrative Assistant; and Sharon Sutton, Data Processing Manager.

At the close of business on March 31, 1982 the bank had deposits of $40,373,000 and loans of $24,527,000. Total assets were listed at $47,898,000.

This is a far cry from the first bank statement of The Guaranty State Bank of Hansford which began business July 10, 1917. The board of directors were W.S. McNabb, B.V. Andrews, L.G. Blackmer, L.R. McComas and Walter C. Sikes was cashier. The Guaranty State Bank had purchased the assets of the Hansford County Bank, an unincorporated bank which had been organized earlier in 1917. Total assets at the time of organization were $47,698.30 with deposits of $15,326.63 and loans of $18,782.89.

Mr. McNabb resigned as president in March 1918 and Mr. L.G. Blackmer was elected president. H.E. James was cashier from October, 1919, until October, 1925. In November, 1919, I.E. Cameron of Guymon, Oklahoma, purchased the bank and owned it until January 1, 1930 when the bank was purchased by J.R. Collard, P.B. Higgs, and H.B. Hart.

During the early history of the bank it had pretty rough going. It went through the first world war, low farm and livestock prices, continued droughts and crops failures and then the depression so the growth of the bank was small until the 1940's. During the second world war, the county experienced good crops at good prices and began to make a substantial growth which has continued through the years. The name of the bank was changed in November, 1926, to the Fidelity Bank of Commerce and operated under this name until January, 1930, when its name was changed to the First State Bank, which is the present title of the bank. Walter Wilmet and P.B. Higgs were presidents of the bank during 1930.

Early in 1931 J.R. Collard was elected president and continued as the bank's president until his death in 1952. C.A.

Gibner came to the bank as vice-president in 1930. He had been cashier of the First National Bank of Spearman before coming to the First State Bank. During the ownership of the bank by H.B. Hart, P.B. Higgs, J.R. Collard and C.A. Gibner, the bank showed a wonderful growth. After the death of Mr. Collard, Mr. Gibner was elected president which he still occupies as well as being chairman of the board and trust officer.

From that beginning 65 years ago the bank's continued growth reflects the steady but upward progress of the economy of the area and the customers it serves.

After 65 successful years of business serving Hansford County the bank will observe their 65th anniversary with an open house Friday, July 9 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The officers and directors of the bank cordially invite you to stop by the bank, partake of the refreshments in the lobby, visit and wish all those connected with the daily operations of the bank smooth sailing in the future.

Family boot tradition in final year at A&M

COLLEGE STATION—By the time Cadet Pat Perryman completes his education at Texas A&M University next year, he and his four brothers will have been true "sole mates."

Each of the Perryman brothers, except Gerald Jr. who had the privilege of wearing them first, will have walked more than a mile in his brother's shoes — make that senior boots — when Perryman and the 14-year old boots hit the campus sidewalks in the fall.

The knee-high brown riding boots are a badge of distinction worn only by seniors in the Texas A&M Corps of Cadets.

Perryman, 21, a mechanized agriculture major, says he and his brothers take pride in their own Aggie tradition. "My buddies really give me a lot of trouble, but that's OK," Perryman said. "I just laugh because I didn't have to go out and spend $425 on a pair of boots. My brother bought ours for $125 in 1968."

In addition to the expense, Perryman said he will also miss out on certain other senior experiences like blisters caused by breaking in a pair of new boots and two or three months of polishing required to develop the shine expected in the cadet corps.

Airplane fuel tax could help maintain local airports

COLLEGE STATION—An aviation fuels tax similar to the gasoline tax paid by motorists is needed to maintain local airports so vital to the state's economy, says a Texas Transportation Institute researcher.

George Dresser, who has studied Texas airports for more than 10 years, said a five cents per gallon tax on noncommercial use of aviation fuel would bring in about $7 million per year.

Many existing general aviation airports have not been maintained or modernized and will require substantial investment to bring them up to acceptable standards, he said. Dresser, a researcher with the Texas A&M University-based center, said an aviation fuels tax seems the best solution to the problem.

FB Asks For Disaster Payments

WACO—Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has called upon U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block to use his "discretionary authority" to make disaster payments to the hundreds of cotton and grain farmers in a 30-county area of West Texas hit in recent weeks by heavy rains and hail.

In a letter to Block, Chaloupka pointed out that an estimated 2½ million acres of cotton have already been lost by the severe weather. In some areas, Chaloupka observed, cotton fields have been hit as many as five times, wiping out first, second and even third plantings. The most severe damage resulted from hail ranging in diameter from golf ball to baseball sized pellets.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John Ford inspected the South Plains area June 29 to receive a general assessment of the crop damage.

A decision on disaster payments will not be known until an evaluation of the extent of damage has been completed, Ford told West Texas reporters and farmers.

Chaloupka said farmers would try to plant "secondary crops" such as grain sorghum, soybeans and guar, aware that they are beyond the optimum growing season for such crops. "These producers have suffered a major disaster at a time when most were already in a tight financial bind," Chaloupka stated.

A relatively small number of producers in the devastated area have federal crop insurance because premiums have been excessively high for anticipated returns in the case of crop losses. Chaloupka observed.

Dr. James R. Supak, Lubbock, area extension agronomist-cotton, says the total cotton losses could be worsened by further moisture.

"I wish I could give you an accurate assessment of the total damage, but that won't be known for at least a week after the rain quits," Supak stated.

"It's safe to say this has been a record-setter -- the worst year for West Texas cotton farmers," Supak said.

Supak called 1982 an "unusually wet and humid (cotton) season."

Historically, West Texas has been among the leaders in cotton-producing regions in the nation, averaging about 20-25 percent of the total U.S. yield, Supak said.

However, the weather could cut the cotton yield by half if the weather does not clear soon, Supak said. He expressed doubts that many farmers would attempt to replant cotton this year.

"I would imagine most (Cotton farmers) are now looking to some alternate crops," specifically, soybeans, sorghum and sunflowers, Supak said.

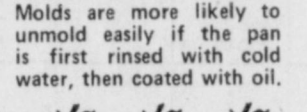

Supak said even sunflower, soybean and sorghum planting this late would not hold prospects for any normal yield levels this year.

Sorghum, for example, must be planted beneath the herbicide layer, because "herbicides tend to be toxic for sorghum," Supak explained.

Milton England Retires

An era will conclude Thursday, July 1, 1982, when Milton England, Professor of Animal Science at Panhandle State University does not sign his 41st contract. The Head of the Animal Science Department has retired. He will no longer be, as he has been called by some, Mr. Animal Science to the PSU students. The role Milt has played at Panhandle State is not just that of teacher or department head. He has worn the hat of a recruiter, a livestock judging team coach, head of the oldest continuously operating bull test in the United States, a TV personality, and advisor of 3 university presidents. He has also been a friend to students, area farmers and ranchers, the faculty and administration at PSU and a contributing member of the Goodwill community. Even though he is retiring from teaching, he will continue as the Executive Secretary of the Panhandle State Alumni Association. That organization honored him with the inclusion in the Alumni Ambassador Hall of Fame two years ago. Dr. Tom Palmer, PSU president said of Milton England, "Milton is a good friend and neighbor. I hate to see him go and I'm happy to see him go. He has served the university well for these past 40 years but he deserves the time to do as he wants, to go where he wants." Milt and his wife, Ora Lea will continue residing in Goodwell. Mrs. England is a retired home economics teacher and operates the Glass Trap in Goodwell.
