Bank donates $700.00 to YMCA!

Kerry Henton

Don Townsen

Don Townsen, president and chief executive officer of the First National Bank, Spearman, informed the newspaper that the bank sponsored tennis tournament netted $700.00 which was presented to the YMCA Thursday of this week. Also, Townsen announced that the local Scouts make $300.00 at their booth during the tennis tournament.

The check for $700 was presented to Kerry Henton, president of the local YMCA.

40 bed addition to Manor proposed

On 12 September 1985, the County Commissioners and the Board of Directors of Hansford County heard a presentation by Mr. Bob Cox, Croslin, & Assoc., an architectural firm from Austin, Texas, on the various plans for the expansion of Hansford Manor. Cost for the project is being projected at $75.00 to $80.00 per square foot for construction only. Mr. Cox noted this figure is higher than is actually expected to be.

Mr. Cox presented 4 plans with square footage and cost as follows, remembering this is construction cost only and does not include furniture, architect fees and financing fees: 15 bed, 3,925 square feet running in cost from $295,000.00 to $314,000.00; 25 bed, 16,725 square feet at $1,254,000.00 to $1,338,000.00; 40 bed, 17,550 square feet at $1,316,000.00 to $1,404,000.00; and a plan called Development Plan containing 40 beds and all the additions needed with 22,910 square feet at $1,718,000.00 to $1,832,000.00 with construction time placed at 6 months on 15 beds, 9 months on 25 beds, and 12 months on both the 40 bed and the Development Plan. The commissioners were requested to comment on this project. After great consideration by all, a motion was made to accept the Development plan. Several Commissioners were noted to say there is a real need to expand our present facility.

On a personal note, I, as the administrator of both facilities, feel quite proud of the support the community gives to their hospital and manor. We have a fine facility, well equipped and can and do provide quality care. This expansion project will allow us the opportunity to share with more citizens of Hansford County. I would like to encourage the citizens of Spearman and Gruver to visit our facilities at their convenience.

Respectfully,
Dennis Robertson

Hospital/Manor Administrator
Editor's Note: We will carry complete details from time to time on the proposed expansion of Hansford Manor. A bond issue will decide whether the addition to the present manor will be constructed.

The "Child Abuse" workshop held at Hansford County Hospital Sept. 16 was well attended. The workshop was presented by West Texas State University School of Nursing Continuing Education Program

Hansford Hospital sponsored a continuing education workshop entitled "Child Abuse: Assessment and Intervention. It was held in the Hansford Manor dining room on Monday September 16, 1985, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Camille Davis RN, MSN, in association with the West Texas State University School of Nursing Department gave an excellent program. The program included a slide presentation along with types of abuse, method of assessment, characteristics of victims and abusers, and various social and legal interventions.

We had an excellent turnout of 57 people from various places such as Spearman, Gruver, Perryton, Wheeler, and Miami. These people were nurses, hospital and manor employees, EMS personnel, teachers, day care center employees, police department employees, deputy sheriff, school principle, counselors, and some interested citizens. Thank you all for your interest in this very real and important topic.

Jill McLain and Heather Murrell welcome everyone to homecoming

Homecoming festivities begin at Spearman

The week of Spearman High School Homecoming is set for September 23 through 27. There are many exciting activities planned for this week.

Many girls will be participating in Love Ya Lynx Week beginning Sunday, September 22. They will be decorating the football players' lockers at 2:00 p.m. at the high school as a special treat for homecoming.

Beginning Monday morning, all students are invited to take part in the spirit building activities for all days of the week. Monday is "Kick Em' Day" where all students are urged to dress "kicker style" and wear your boots! Tuesday is "Jammin' for a Victory Day" where students will wear their jams and T-shirts, sunglasses, etc. Wednesday is "Get Physical Day" where students wear workout clothes (No leotards or tights, please!). Thursday is Stuff EM' Day: bring your favorite stuffed animal. Friday will be Purple Pride Day with students wearing school colors of purple and white to show school spirit.

All week long students will be building one big bonfire on the lot east of the high school in support of the Lynx. There will be a snake dance and bonfire pep rally Thursday night. The snake dance will begin on the west parking lot at 8:30 p.m. and snake its way to the bonfire where the pep rally will be held. The students and community are invited to support the Lynx at the snake dance and bonfire Thursday night.

Friday afternoon there will be an all-school pep rally in the little gym.

at the Junior High. Pep rally time is 2:15 p.m. All are invited to raise the spirit for our football team.

The football homecoming king and queen will be crowned and attendants presented at the homecoming ceremony Friday, September 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the football stadium. The homecoming game against Beaver will begin at 8:00 p.m. Immediately after the game until 1:00 a.m. the cheerleaders are sponsoring a homecoming dance. All students, alumni of Spearman High School and their guests are invited to attend. Admission is $3.00 for singles and $5.00 for couples.

The cheerleaders are in need of someone who has a front end loader and a dump truck to help clean up after Thursday's bonfire.

If you know where they may find these items, contact one of the cheerleaders or Gerri Maize at the high school, 659-2584.

Before the homecoming game the cheerleaders will be selling purple and white balloons. These will be $1.00 each. Profits will go toward uniform costs and the Athletic Banquet the cheerleaders host every spring. Support your cheerleaders and team by purchasing balloons, making a victory line for the team, and letting the balloons go at the beginning of our 1985 Homecoming Ceremony and game!

LYNX SLIDE PAST DOGS 34-20

The Spearman Lynx slid by the fine Hooker Bull-dogs Friday night at Hooker, 34-20 in a real barn-burner. In fact the Lynx "Rain Dance" was started by Davis and Morris and the entire Lynx team as they jumped into an early 8-0 lead, and fought the charging Dogs off finally winning the game 34-20.

The Lynx jumped into an 8-0 lead on a score by Morris. lead 16-6, 22-20, and finally in the 4th quarter opened up their offense and defense to take a 34-20 win home to Texas.

The win must go to a fine defense and equally fine offense. The defense forced the Bulldogs out of their game plane, when they forced the Dogs to pass. The Lynx line just wouldn't allow the Dogs to run. And, when Hooker took to the air, the improved secondary intercepted the ball and eventually won the game along with the fantastic ground yardage. Morris probably gained 160 of the 240 yards on the ground, and the Lynx were very impressive as they also scored a 40 yard TD through the air.

This win couldn't have come at a better time as Homecoming plans start today (Sunday) as fans Love The Lynx this week!

The Mud Cats (Lynx) will host the Beaver Dusters here Friday Night. All of the Musical Kidds in the band, the flag girls, and pep squad and fans will be on hand for festivities at Lynx stadium Friday night. Remember the King and Queen will be crowned at 7:30 P. M. Friday.

National 4-H Week Oct. 6-12

COLLEGE STATION—One of the longtime goals of the 4-H program has been to help youth between the ages of 9 and 19 become productive citizens and leaders of this nation.

The 1985 theme of National 4-H Week, "4-H for Youth for America," reflects the program's commitment to that goal. National 4-H Week is October 6-12.

"This year's theme reflects the basic concept of 4-H, which is to help youth acquire the knowledge and skills to become better citizens," points out Tom Davison, state 4-H program leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System. The Extension Service conducts the 4-H program in Texas, with support from Texas A & M University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"4-H is an informal educational program that reaches out to all youth," Davison emphasizes. "It has a positive impact on their lifestyles and plays an important role in developing life skills. 4-H helps youth get in touch with the real world, providing information on science, technology, food and fiber, natural resources and nutrition.

"In addition, the 4-H program has a positive impact on families of members, volunteer leaders and communities," the 4-H official points out. "4-H provides the 'spark' that often ignites people to work toward worthwhile goals and objectives for a better quality of life. In many communities, I have seen 4-H 'make things happen'," says Davison.

Texas boasts some 165,000 4-H members from all walks of life who are engaged in projects and activities that range from "A to Z," notes Davison. These youth benefit from the some 15,200 volunteer leaders who share their expertise, talents and time.

4-H is a grassroots program, adds Davison, that revolves around the local club, of which Texas has 3,463. It is based on the 'learning by doing' concept that has stood the test of time.

Coping with Heart Disease

Heart Disease—it's becoming a common phenomenon in today's society. While many individuals are learning to take necessary precautions, still others will become afflicted with this disease completely changing the lifestyle they have come to know so well.

Realizing the difficulties in coping with heart disease, a special program has been established to teach heart patients how to live a normal life. "Heart of the Matter", co-sponsored by St. Anthony's Hospital and the American Heart Association, will be offered to interested individuals on eight consecutive Tuesdays beginning October 15th through December 3rd from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in St. Anthony's Auditorium. Participants will learn about the workings of the heart, diagnostic tests, surgery, medications, diet, exercise, sexuality, communication and stress.

More information about this free program is available by contacting the Patient Education Department at St. Anthony's Hospital, 378-6227.

Rains could fill Palo Duro Dam

Getting the mail on the Palo Duro water-shed, at the Reynolds home, 3 miles West of Spearman on the Gruver Hiway.

It looks like it is not going to quit raining in Hansford County. After the big rains of last week, Spearman and Gruver received more rains this week. On Wednesday, Spearman received .88, and heavier rains fell North of Gruver. And, on Friday morning, it began raining again, and Spearman received .12 inches by noon on Friday, to make a total of 1 inch this week. Last week we received 3 inches in Spearman, and up to 4 and 8.5 inches in other parts of the county.

Many observers in the county think the rain would have filled up the Palo Duro dam had it been constructed. Horse Creek has been running as well as the Palo Duro for nearly 10 days and it is still raining.

Many farmers are trying to plant their wheat this week, and of course they have been completely stopped. There is some wheat already planted and there should be a lot of volunteer for pasture this year.

Needless to say the beautiful milo crop surely does not need any more moisture and the rains have given the farmers a rest that they did need. It has been so hot and dry through June, July and August in many places.

Texas Water Act Affects Farmers, Homeowners

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners have a direct stake in the 1985 Texas Water Act and the upcoming constitutional amendments.

The two amendments on water resources will be placed before Texas voters at the Nov. 5 general election.

"The 1985 Texas Water Act focuses on water conservation in cities and in agriculture, water supply development, protection of bays and estuaries, flood control and the creation of ground water districts," points out Dr. John Sweeten with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Sweeten, an agricultural engineer in waste management and chairman of the Extension Service's major program committee on water utilization and conservation, notes that Article 1 of the Act calls for cities that apply for state water development funds to establish water conservation programs that can include education, drought contingency plans, lawn watering restrictions and plumbing codes. Municipal education and technical assistance programs would be provided by the Texas Water Development Board as well as other local and state agencies.

Article 2 outlines financial assistance programs and expands the existing water loan assistance program to allow expenditures for water conservation, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, chloride control and desalinization in addition to water development and to allow direct appropriations as well as revenue bonds. State loans administered by the Texas Water Development Board could be used to guarantee local water bonds or pay the local share of federal cost-sharing projects.

According to Sweeten, Article 3 of the Act creates a $10 million Agricultural Soil and Water Conservation Trust Fund. Half of the interest on the principal is to be appropriated among various state agencies for agricultural water conservation programs, including technical assistance, education, demonstration, equipment, grants to underground water conservation districts, research, desalinization and weather modification. A pilot farm loan program ($5 million for two years) will be used for improved irrigation systems that conserve water.

If voters approve Proposition 1 on Nov. 5, the state of Texas could issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds. Approval of Proposition 2 would mean that the state could issue $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds for low interest loans to farmers subject to legislative review of the $5 million pilot loans program and approved by two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

Technology for improving irrigation water use efficiency from about 60 percent on the average up to 80 to 95 percent is available to farmers, but capital costs generally present an economic obstacle to its adoption, says the agricultural engineer.

"The passage of the 1985 Texas Water Act would provide for a statewide commitment to water conservation and development programs that would have far-reaching effects on farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners," Sweeten points out. "It would open the door for more concentrated educational and research projects aimed at more effective municipal and agricultural use of the state's present limited water resources as well as the development of additional resources. Also, the current statutory limitations on interbasin transfer of water are maintained.

"Water problems have plagued many areas of the state in recent years due to drought conditions, population growth and increased per capita consumption," notes the engineer. "A year ago, towns and cities with two million Texans had to impose either voluntary or mandatory water use restrictions. Thus the need for a workable statewide plan is paramount."

Antietam

The bloodiest single day of the Civil War occurred in September, 1862. General Robert E. Lee, named to command Confederate forces only in June, invaded Maryland. The hope was that Marylanders would rally to Southern forces as Confederate legions marched north.

General George McClellan, commanding Union forces, was offered a rare opportunity of defeating Lee on September 16. Lee had sent General "Stonewall" Jackson off to capture Harper's Ferry, dividing his forces. Jackson took 25,000 of Lee's 55,000-man army. McClellan captured a copy of Lee's order, and realized he had a chance to crush Lee before the Confederates reunited.

Camped at Frederick, Md., McClellan moved on Lee with 60,000 men; Lee had audaciously moved on northward, and was at Hagerstown. McClellan, a good general with an army ready to fight, and which fought well, was somewhat like General Bernard Montgomery in World War II—cautious and slow. Nevertheless, he attacked Lee on the 16th near Antietam. The situation was desperate for Lee's army, and he had considered retreating to avoid battle. General Longstreet advised it. But Lee finally decided to make a stand, hoping he would hold on until Jackson caught up.

In the two days' fighting, losses were very heavy (Jackson's troops arrived just in time to stave off defeat), about 25,000, equally between the two armies. Though the Confederates managed to hold, they advanced no further. McClellan had, in effect, won a major strategic victory. (His reward was dismissal in November.)

The greater Union victory was in holding Maryland, which had been badly treated by the federal government. State legislators, meeting to secede and join the South, had been arrested.

Freedom of the press had been curtailed and other ugly tactics used to prevent Maryland from joining the Confederacy.

Southerners hoped their 1862 invasion would rally and free their supporters in Maryland. McClellan doomed that hope.

Apple Cider

The 1985 apple crop is now being harvested and a word about apple cider is therefore appropriate. To begin with, what is cider?

Cider is unpasteurized apple juice, and, of course, it will ferment unless refrigerated and drunk within about two weeks. And while fermented apple juice (hard cider) is an old and popular drink, especially in English pubs, that is not the subject of this editorial. There are federal and state laws pertaining to the fermentation of apple juice.

Unfermented, fresh apple juice is, however, a fine drink and a healthy one. It must be made from good, clean apples and most experts blend sweet and tart apples to get the desired flavor. Obtaining the juice from apples is a two-part process. The apples are first ground into pumice and this is then crushed to extract the juice, which can run as high as ninety percent.

Cider—without preservatives and unpasteurized—can be frozen, but one should allow a pint to each gallon for expansion. Also, cider can be made right on up into the winter from stored apples. In fact, some believe that about February is the best time for making cider, with apples that have been properly stored and are then just reaching maturity.

Hard apple cider? The best advice is to ask apple farmers or those who have fermented it over the years. The volume of one's production is limited by law, as is the case in wine fermentation.

Dr. Cobb Guest of Palo Duro Study Club

Dr. Stanton W. Cobb was a guest of the Palo Duro Study Club Wednesday the 12th. The Study Club is approximately thirty years old and has only eleven members. The eleven Members of the Club share the cost of bringing the foremost Dental Researchers and Clinicians in the country to the Panhandle for individual instruction in the State of the Art procedures.

Wednesday, Dr. Joe Simmons, an expert in research and Clinical Dentistry taught, demonstrated and gave one on the instruction on the "Glass Ionomers". These revolutionary dental materials allow Dentists now to practice a whole range of true "Tooth conserving dentistry." This is an overdue and welcome change in the basic ways that Dentists have in restoring the repairing dental problems. Dr. Cobb said "things like chemical bonding not just mechanical bonding, smaller cavity preparations, a perfect seal between filling and tooth, reducing thermal sensitivity and the fact that the filling material itself acts like penicillin on decay are just a few of the reasons to use this material instead of the other forms of filling materials we have had in the past.

In the 1970's these materials were approved by the F.D.A. American Dental Association and the Academy of General Dentistry. They have been used in Europe in a less refined form since 1962. Dr. Cobb said. "The only thing absolute in Dentistry and Medicine is Change, and it takes groups like the Palo Duro Study Club to stay up to date."

Trauma is No. 1 Killer

Traumatic injury is a killer, the No. 1 cause of death among Texans under 45 years of age.

But Texas Department of Health (TDH) officials say injuries are also a mystery because nobody is certain exactly how many Texans recover from or are disabled by injury.

"In essence, we know the most about the people who don't survive injury because they are so badly hurt," said Linda Lloyd, an epidemiologist with TDH. "But very little is understood about people who are injured and live. We don't know how many recover and return to a normal life and how many are disabled."

Ms. Lloyd is working with Brackenridge Hospital, the major trauma center in Central Texas, to learn more about the pattern of non-fatal injuries. The trauma registry that she is helping to develop is one of only a few in the country.

She said such epidemiological research is important in preventing deaths due to injury and reducing the severity of them.

Trauma, defined as a potentially life-threatening condition caused by injury, has a variety of causes including motor vehicle accidents, falls, drownings, electrocutions and other mishaps.

Ms. Lloyd said the trauma registry she is developing with data from Brackenridge includes information about the admitting diagnosis, the severity of a person's injuries, circumstances surrounding the incident and required medical treatment.

"We hope the data will provide us with information about the type of injuries most common among different age groups and when injuries happen," said Ms. Lloyd.

That information can be valuable to physicians, she said, because medical treatment must be tailored for each patient.

"Take falls for example. That type of injury can happen when a construction worker falls from a scaffolding or when an elderly woman loses her balance and falls down the steps at home," she said.

Even though both patients are injured in falls, the medical treatment might be quite different," said Dr. Charles E. Alexander, Chief of the Bureau of Epidemiology. "If the man fell a great distance, he could suffer crushing injuries that would destroy his internal organs. On the other hand, the elderly woman might be more likely to break a hip."

Prevention of such injuries might also require differing strategies, depending on who was involved.

"The steps taken to prevent falls at a construction site and in an elderly woman's home would be different," Lloyd said. "How many falls occurred in each place and the factors associated with the injury would help us determine how to best spend money or start programs aimed at prevention."

Cassettes & Film Theaters

In the fifties and sixties, the increasing use of television in more and more American families seemed to doom the film theater. Many closed their doors and the movie house seemed on its way to extinction.

But X-rated and double X films, shock and horror films and spectacular productions staved off the expected demise. And movie houses, now often multi-theater centers in shopping centers, are still profitable.

Yet one wonders about their future in view of the increasing use of video cassettes and the steady increase in the number of video cassette recorders. Cassettes are now rented for a dollar or two a night; can theaters compete, economically, with this over the long haul? (Congress and the courts have thus far refused to restrict home-owner use of film cassettes.)

Theater owners say some just like to get out of their homes, and enjoy sitting in a theater with many others. Possibly. But with more and more cable TV and dishes springing up all over, and video cassette rental stores proliferating, the effect on American entertainment habits is likely to be profound.

Whatever the effect on theaters, the video cassette and home cassette players are rapidly increasing in number and use in all parts of the country.

Bolter Votes on AMTRAK

WASHINGTON- During an electronic failure which caused members of the House of Representatives to vote "roll call" style, Texas Congressman Beau Bolter (R, 13) cast a loud "nay" vote on a bill to continue funding of AMTRAK, a federally owned railroad.

"It is ridiculous", Bolter said, "for Congress to be spending $603 million of taxpayer money to support an inefficient, money-losing boondoggle like AMTRAK. And when you consider that we have $176 billion national deficit as well - the whole thing becomes absurd."

The final vote was 290 to 128, allowing for the continued funding of the AMTRAK system. Operating largely on the eastern coast, the AMTRAK rail system was started in 1971, and, as Bolter noted, "has never turned a profit." As a federally owned railroad, AMTRAK receives annual appropriations from the Congress to cover its operating deficit and capital costs. In 1984, appropriations totaled $716.4 million. The funding approved by today's vote represents a 15% cut from last year's funding level, but, Bolter said, "doesn't go far enough."

"Our deficit dictates that we terminate some of the luxurious programs that the special interests want intact, but that the average taxpayer cannot, and should not, be asked to support. The 13th District sure doesn't want these programs continued."

Earlier this year Bolter mailed a questionnaire to the voters of the 13th Congressional District, listing fifteen federal programs and asking which should be kept and which terminated. "The overwhelming majority of those who responded to the questionnaire asked me, as their Congressman, to terminate between 12 and 15 of the programs. Almost 45% told me to terminate them all. I think that those numbers are more indicative of the general mood of the American public, and I plan to continue working to terminate and phase out unnecessary federal programs."

Music Boxes on Display and Storytime at Library

Fay Palmer's lovely collection of music boxes is currently on display at the Hansford County Library.

Fay's music box collection started in 1941. At that time metal boxes were still available, but by the time the next box was received, in 1943, the Second World War had claimed metal. So the second box was a wooden one. This box is not on display due to its need to be refinished, but it has a very resonant sound. The next box she received was an alarm clock that plays "The Eyes of Texas" for its alarm. Fay remembers. "That box was most memorable because Coy was stationed in California in the Navy, and my thoughts were definitely in Texas!"

The idea of a hobby grew from these first three music boxes. Fay does not remember the exact dates when she received the other boxes; however, the twelve Franklin Mint boxes were given to her as an extended Christmas gift in 1981.

Probably one of the most unique music boxes on display is a solar powered one that plays "It's a Small World" when placed close to a light. Another unusual box is the Spanish Dancer that plays "Cielito Lindo". The smallest one on display is approximately one inch wide and one and a half inches long. Fay's collection includes thirty music boxes and a Swedish door harp.

Storytime at the Hansford County Library was held on Wednesday, September 18 with 13 children attending. Librarian Rita Curtis used the flannelboard, read the poem "Alligators Are Unfriendly" and read the books The Three Billy Goats Gruff and Never Talk To Strangers. The film for the day was "Safety as We Play".

Children attending were: Britni Beedy, Tracey Bergeson, Cassie Butt, Jacque Cook, Grace Davis, Marshall Harper, Albert LaRochelle, Jennifer Lopez, Michael Lusby, Brian Mc Laughlin, Becky Porter, Joshua Schumann, and Cami Winegarner.

The library has a new selection of read-along book and cassette tape kits for children. Included are the following titles: Harry By the Sea, Harry the Dirty Dog, Amelia Bedelia and the Surprise Shower, The Story of Ferdinand, The Bear's Toothache, Fish is Fish, Dandelion, Harriet's Halloween Candy, and Madeline. All of these are wonderful storybooks for children and should be very popular at our library.

Another Chance?

Was "Try Again" really the name of the boat? Or did some joker paint those words on the old hull after the wreck? Either way the irony wasn't wasted.

Lots of people used to sail through life confidently and contentedly. Today they aren't so sure they're on the right course.

There are some who think it's only a matter of time before our whole civilization runs aground.

Christianity has often been called "the religion of another chance." Yes, for Christ teaches that we can rise out of our failures through God's forgiveness and power.

Millions today are rediscovering Christian precepts. It is a new generation which will soon be sailing toward a Christian destiny.
