

HANSFORD COUNTY'S LEADING NEWSPAPER

The Hansford Plainsman

VOLUME VI., NUMBER 92

SPEARMAN, HANSFORD COUNTY, TEXAS 79081

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1965

The small-town newspapers of Texas can take a large share of the credit for the rural areas of Texas going fishing Tuesday and letting much of our power in the state government be shifted to the cities in the election.

From looking at the large number of exchange papers we receive here in the office few papers did little to alert their readers to the importance of passing the constitutional amendment to enlarge the Senate.

Like us, most of the papers did little, other than run one story and possibly an editorial in the last issue before the election. Oh yes! Some did run the amendment several weeks ago. It was paid advertising.

So many small papers have adopted a hands off policy in politics or left the editorial work to the large dailies, we were asleep in this important election. Since it was to the best interest of the cities for the amendment to be defeated, there was little publicity given the matter.

Those of us in the small papers and those of us who did not vote will probably rue the day we became so neglectful of our responsibilities of self-government.

Another big project of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce has been accomplished.

The chamber has been working over the past year with the Highway 15 Association to get the highway turned west at Spearman and have it go across the Panhandle and across New Mexico to Farmington.

This was accomplished this week by the Texas Highway Commission. The farm-to-market roads from Spearman to Stratford will be re-numbered and become Highway 15.

The highway from Spearman south to Post will be given the number 207. This will make Spearman the junction of two state highways and will increase our through traffic.

It will be another boost to business in our town.

This is just another of the many projects the Chamber has working to improve our economic position. The more support we give the organization, the more it can accomplish.

Spearman's Growth Totals $310,000

Growth in Spearman for city tax purposes amounted to $310,000 this year, City Manager Darc Foshee announced at the last City Council meeting.

Foshee noted that this $310,000 in growth was actual growth and not an increase because of the increase in percentage of actual property value taken for tax purposes.

Real estate values in the city total $5,271,304 this year and personal property is valued at $1,464,006. Total value from both real and personal property is $6,735,310. This will yield a tax roll of $101,029.65.

The city tax rate is $1.50 per hundred dollar valuation and the city uses 40 percent of actual value for tax purposes.

At the last meeting the Council approved the budget for the coming year.

From the general fund revenue of taxes, franchise taxes, building and electrical permits, other permits, trash collections and paving col-

SECOND YEAR -- The Rev. Luther Berry (left) and Richard Fancher, Education Director, of the First Baptist Church put the second Advanced Standard Vacation Bible School banner on the church bulletin board. This is the highest award given by the State organization. Spearman is one of the few churches to earn the award.

County Voters Say Yes to Senate Change

Hansford County voters favored enlarging the Texas Senate by a six-to-one majority, but not enough bothered to vote to make any difference in the total state vote.

About one-fifth of the county's qualified voters went to the polls to cast their ballots in this important election. The county vote was 295 for enlarging the senate and 48 against. There are over 2,000 people in the county qualified to vote.

The results were the same throughout the 31 counties in the state's 30th and 31st senatorial districts. Those voting favored the proposition by overwhelming majorities, but not enough people turned out to vote. In the 31 counties the vote was 5669 to 1520. State-wide the amendment was defeated in a light vote.

Rural voters over the state did not seem to care to hold on to their representation in the state senate. The amendment was put to the voters in an effort to give the rural areas a chance to hold on to their representation.

Under the new reapportionment for the state the urban areas will gain several senators and since the senate will not be enlarged, they will be taken from the rural areas.

Under the new alignment there is little chance that such an amendment will be offered the voters again.

Voting in the county by precincts was: Courthouse, 46-10; Kimbell, 12-2; Gruver Elevator, 22-1; Gruver School, 63-8; Hitchland, 6-3; New Hope, 6-0; Oslo, 19-0; Phillips Plant, 7-5; Morse School, 18-5 and Spearman School 19-14.

VBS Rated Among Best

An Advanced Standard rating for the Vacation Bible School of the Spearman First Baptist Church has been earned for the second consecutive year. Education director Richard Fancher announced this week.

Fancher said this is the highest rating possible for such a bible school. It is the third year the school has received an award. The first year it was given a Standard rating.

The school had a record enrollment of 355 students this summer.

Director Fancher says the credit goes to the workers in the school. They spent over seven months in training and preparation for the two-week school.

Farmers Union Enrollment Drive Planned

A membership enrollment for the Farmers Union will be held in Hansford and Ochiltree counties soon, according to Jenna V. Ownbey, publicity chairman for the organization.

Jay Naman of Waco and Texas President of Farmers Union was here last week with Field Director Kenneth Moss of Paducah and Norbert Schlegel, President of the Wheeler County Farmers Union, to plan the drive.

Plans for the membership drive call for Schlegel to be in the area for the membership campaign.

A staff meeting of county officers was held in the Hospitality Room of the First State Bank. Mrs. Ownbey and Marva Jean Burke were hostesses for the meeting.

Dean Slaughter of Perryton was chairman of the group meeting.

are the only thing that pulls the Kiowa line weight average down to 171 pounds per man. Their tackles weigh in at 196 and 190, the center at 190 and the starting guards at 170 and 164. Butch Henton is the only back that tops the 150 mark.

Jay Trosper is the only returning regular from last year's backfield. He is a little speedster. A large part of the Kiowa line will be first year men, also.

Early in the week Coach Don Seymour had made some changes in his defensive unit. Tackle Randy Moore has been moved to a linebacker slot to put more size at that spot. Ronnie Gray has earned a spot at a starting defensive guard and Harrell Adkison has been installed at Moore's tackle slot.

Gray is a 135 pound junior who packs a lot of punch and quickness in his small frame.

Coach Seymour said all of his squad came through the Sunray game with no injuries and all will be ready to go Friday night.

Mike Babbs is moving better as his ankles have responded to treatment. He has been going at full speed in workouts.

Spearman will have a strong running attack to throw at the Kiowas. It is led by Ken Shuffeldt who rolled up 194 yards in 21 carries for a 9.2 yard per carry effort. He is capably assisted by Larry Butts who picked up 36 yards in nine carries for a four yard per carry effort and Clayton Cochran who picked up 46 yards in 12 carries for a 3.8 average.

Booker in a scrimmage with Shattuck used a varied offense.

They ran from an unbalanced singlewing, winged-T, I, spread, straight T and unbalanced I formation.

Homemaking Notes

by Linda Webb
Home Demonstration Agent

Smart shopping of summer sales is a challenge to homemakers. The main thing to remember is that an item is no bargain if you don't really need it, no matter how economically it may be priced. Don't go overboard on bargain buying.

Here are some guides to aid you in shopping:

Read ads carefully. Look for precise information such as detailed descriptions of sale items. Model numbers on appliances, for example, permit a quick accurate check on price comparisons among stores.

Consider off-season buying. There may be less choice of items, but this isn't necessarily a disadvantage when purchasing items such as socks or white goods.

Understand guarantees. Know who is responsible for fulfilling the guarantee agreement. Check to see if the terms of the guarantee have been cut along with the price.

All sale items should be examined carefully.

The class of '66 is starting the final year of secondary school work. Many of these high school seniors are so busy they have given little thought to their lives after graduation.

Parents and school counselors should help these students look at their education or career plans early this fall. Plans for college, business school or other advanced preparations need to be completed now. Applications should be submitted by November or December.

Students who plan to apply for scholarships should keep this early deadline in mind, too. Many scholarships have a February 1 deadline for application. This means that the young person must already be admitted to the college and then file the application by February.

Serious thinking is required on final plans for higher education, and decisions should be made soon.

Although I am late, as usual, here is a new recipe for a fresh peach pie your family might enjoy:

No-Bake Peach Pie

Prepare a 9-inch graham cracker pie crust. Chill one hour. Make vanilla pie filling from 1 package instant pudding and pie mix. Peel and slice 2 or 3 peaches. Fold into pie filling. Pour into pie shell.

Day by Day

In case you haven't been in the office lately, Hallmark has new little books of party ideas now for a variety of occasions and a new one for each season. They range from parties for teens to bridge party ideas and each book contains a section of recipes for each party.

The autumn party book includes recipes for Sugar Bush Walnut Cake, Chocolate-Cinnamon Torte, Lemon-Glazed Date Sticks and Cherry Jubilee Pie, to name a few.

I am just waiting on a less busy time to try some of them. Perhaps you'd like to collect a few of the little books which sell for only 39 cents, by the way. They're prepared by Hallmark with the editors of Good Housekeeping magazine, so I'm sure the ideas and recipes are good ones.

Sometimes I find real choice little items in Heloise's hints. Last night I read how to make good instant coffee and it really is "as good as fresh perked" as you hear on television. Well, it's as good as MY fresh perked coffee, anyway.

The instructions came from a famous restaurant and go like this: let your water come to a rolling boil. Then put in the instant coffee, making sure the pan is large enough because it will boil up into many bubbles. Stir with a spoon (what else?) and let the coffee come to a rolling boil again. Then turn off the fire and let set three minutes before serving.

Another idea was to add one teaspoon of instant, prepared cocoa to each cup to give a kind of mocha taste. Different, but good.

I thought these "how to bake a cake" instructions would be appreciated by young mothers, or older ones with good memories.

"Light oven, get out bowl, spoons, and ingredients. Grease pan, crack nuts. Remove 18 blocks and 7 toys from kitchen table.

"Measure 2 cups of flour; remove Johnny's hands from flour; wash flour off him. Measure one more cup of flour to replace flour on floor.

"Put flour baking powder and salt in sifter. Get dustpan and brush up pieces of bowl which Johnny knocked on the floor. Get another bowl. Answer doorbell.

"Return to kitchen. Remove Johnny's hands from the bowl. Wash Johnny. Get out egg. Answer phone. Return. Take out greased pan. Remove 1/4 inch salt from pan. Look for Johnny. Get another pan and grease it. Answer telephone.

"Return to kitchen and find Johnny; remove his hands from bowl; wash shortening, etc., etc., off him. Take greased pan and find 1/4 inch layer of nutshells in it. Head for Johnny who flees knocking bowl on floor.

"Wash kitchen floor. Wash table. Wash walls. Wash dishes. Call the baker. Lie down."

Someone has said "Being overweight is almost never related to glandular disorders. The only glands involved are the salivary glands that make your mouth water when you see something good to eat."

Now I wouldn't dare close with a recipe for cake or pie after that!

City Soon To Be Junction For Two State Highways

Spearman became the junction of two state highways last week when the State Highway Commission approved the re-numbering of several highways into two state highways.

Highway 15 which will eventually run from Tulsa, Okla. to Farmington, N.M., and State Highway 207 will run from the Oklahoma line through Spearman south to Post was approved by the commission.

Highway 15 will turn west at Spearman and go to Gruver and Stratford, then on into New Mexico and across to Farmington. This is part of a three-state effort to get a single number on a highway from Tulsa to Farmington.

Oklahoma and New Mexico are working on building roads to close some of the gaps now existing and also re-numbering some highways so travelers can follow the same road across the three states.

The new highway 207 will start at the Oklahoma line where FM 289 will be changed, then from Spearman to Claude old Highway 15 will be renumbered and from Claude to Post several FM and State Highway numbers will be changed to make it all 207.

The 207 highway will get the new number as soon as some additional right-of-way can be secured along FM roads in Armstrong and Briscoe counties.

The new numbers will be included in the next printing of the official state highway maps.

Members of the Highway 15 association in Spearman and members of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce attended a meeting in January with the State Highway Commission to request the changes in the highways.

Rogers Hopes Congress Will Appropriate Funds

Congressman Walter Rogers said today it is his hope that the Congress can approve before the end of the current session an appropriation to begin development of the Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument.

"Now that the President has signed into law my bill creating the Alibates Monument, I am going to exert every effort to see that development of the site can begin as soon as possible," Congressman Rogers said.

The Alibates National Monument, including flint quarries used by American Indians for more than 12,000 years and the ruins of pueblos inhabited during the 12th and 13th centuries, is the first national monument to be designated for Texas.

"We in the Panhandle can take special pride in the fact that the Alibates Monument is a first for our State," Congressman Rogers said. "Designation as a national monument is the highest classification that can be placed on a historical site."

At the same time the President signed the Rogers Bill creating the new national monument, he signed another Rogers measure naming the Canadian River reservoir "Lake Meredith."

"For many months, Panhandle residents have been calling the reservoir 'Lake Meredith' in honor of the late A. A. Meredith of Borger. Now the name is official," Congressman Rogers said. The Alibates National Monument will be located near the south rim of Lake Meredith and adjacent to the Alibates recreation area, one of the major recreation areas to be developed by the National Park Service at the reservoir.

Meanwhile, Congressman Rogers has scheduled sessions of his Irrigation and Reclamation Subcommittee for Thursday and Friday of this week to consider the proposed construction of a third powerplant at the Grand Coulee Dam, in Washington. He also will attend sessions of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce considering legislation affecting jurisdiction of the National Railroad Adjustment Board.

The full House of Representatives will consider, as its major item of business, Foreign Aid appropriations, Congressman Rogers said.

Senator John Tower Supports Cost-of-Living Benefit Increase

As you know, the Congress voted a few months ago to increase Social Security benefits by a seven percent cost-of-living factor. I fully supported this cost-of-living benefit increase.

I am not pleased that continued unwise federal fiscal policies have forced the price of goods and food into a continuing upward spiral, but I did not feel that we could any longer expect Social Security recipients to bear the brunt of the recent inflation.

The seven percent increase was made effective as of January 1 of this year, so Social Security beneficiaries probably will be received sometime this month a supplemental check for their increased benefits due from January through September. Thereafter the seven percent increase will be reflected in each monthly check.

Some other key amendments which we added to the Social Security law this session will be beneficial for thousands of Texans; here is a list of those amendments:

Benefits May Be Paid to Students up to Age 22. If you are eligible for Social Security benefits as the unmarried son or daughter of a person receiving old-age or disability insurance benefits or a person who has died, you may receive benefits, if you are continuing as a full-time student, until you reach age 22.

Benefits for Widows at Age 60: If you are the widow of an insured worker, beginning with September, 1965, you may start receiving benefits as early as age 60 if you decide to accept a reduced monthly amount.

Change in Coverage for Farmers. If you are a self-employed farmer and your gross earnings from farming in a year after 1965 are under $2,400, you may report two-thirds of your gross earnings, instead of your net earnings for Social Security purposes.

The Amount of Social Security Credit Required for People 72 and over to Qualify for Benefits is Reduced. If you are 72 or over and have not been able to qualify for Social Security benefits because you (or your spouse) did not work long enough under Social Security, you may now be eligible for payments up to $35 per month.

If You Work after You Apply for Benefits: If you continue to work after you apply for benefits but earn no more than $1,500 in a year, beginning with January, 1966, there will be no deduction from your Social Security payments because of your work.

Texas Employment Commission Is Short of Applicants

The Texas Employment Commission office in the Spearman Courthouse is short of applicants of all types to fill jobs being listed there by the employers of this community; according to a statement made yesterday by Richard Curtis, who is in charge of this office.

In addition, Curtis said, the office is interested in knowing of the jobs which the employers of this area have open in order that they may channel qualified applicants to his door to perform his work.

Regardless of the type of work available, you as an employer should take advantage of this service which is being offered free of charge to you and the jobseekers of this area. The Texas Employment Commission is here to serve you.

Curtis added that with the coming of hay season and wheat sowing there is a shortage of hay haulers and tractor drivers. However, he states, that through their system of offices, workers will be brought in to fill local demands. Their phone number for that office is 659-3341.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vernon were Labor Day guests of Mrs. F.K. Banister.

Learning Contentment

Little girls like to "play house" or to dress in the clothing of grown-ups. This instinctive liking can be turned to good use when teaching your daughter, in an interesting fashion, how to keep house. She will be grateful when she reaches womanhood for this instruction and for having been taught the secret of living contentedly and getting along with other people. Above all she will be grateful for having been endowed by her parents with understanding of religious faith, which is the foundation of contented living.

With the firm conviction, established through early teaching at home and at church, that God will see her through whatever trials or tribulations come her way, a serene and contented life will be hers. Her church and training will prove to be never failing allies.

The Worthy Matron used as her theme "Back to School Night" and cleverly presented each of her students, making special mention of two honor students, Deta Blodgett, Grand Representative of Colorado to the Grand Chapter of Texas and John R. Collard, Jr., member of the Masonic Relations Committee. Each student was presented a miniature gavel.

Past Matron Marjorie Collard and Past Patron John R. Collard, Jr. presided during the initiation of their daughter, Helen, assisted by Mary Margaret Taylor.

After closing chapter, hostesses Minnie Jones, Jewel Turner, Frances Hudson and Nina Hendricks served refreshments of cake and punch from a beautifully appointed serving table laid in white with the theme carried out in centerpieces for the long dining tables.

Present were nine past matrons, three past patrons, fifteen officers, three pro-tems and eleven members. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox and Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Taylor of Borger weekend in Gravits, Ark. visiting with the Earl Jasper family.

"TRYING TO SAVE OURSELVES"

God tries to lift us out of sin. We are drifting like a helpless boat down stream to a waterfall. God lifts our soul to solid ground of His Word. He teaches us to flee sin.

At first we do this with increased vigor. We throw stones out and spade deep. But alas the ground only reveals more stones, and a solid granite ledge beneath. It can never bear fruit that God asks.

This is the rock foundation we know as the sinful corruption of human nature, the sinful depravity that remains even after a man has separated himself from all conscious sins.

Thus we may make some choices---depart from God as Judas did. It leads to eternal separation from God. Or we may make a try at clearing a road like Pharisees did. The stones cleared are visible to men, but God still knows our sinful heart. Or we can come to Christ and allow His substitutionary death on the cross be our righteousness. It is the only way.

But some try to tamper with God's yardstick of salvation. It is like legend of farmer who wanted to build a bridge across a stream. He took a tapeline into the woods to measure trees. But they were all too short. So he cut part of his measuring line off so the trees would be long enough.

Trying to shorten God's demands of perfect holiness for salvation will not help. We cannot stretch our own suspected goodness like a rubber band to meet God's will.

Only He who acknowledges God's Word and Christ as the perfect substitutionary gift from God will be saved. You must not only understand this, but be saved by God's grace or love. It was to the cross God wanted to lead you when he laid bare the rocky foundation of sin in your life from which you could not free yourself.

But God hung His Son Jesus on a cross to take away your sins. Believe it!
