Tornado Warning Test Set

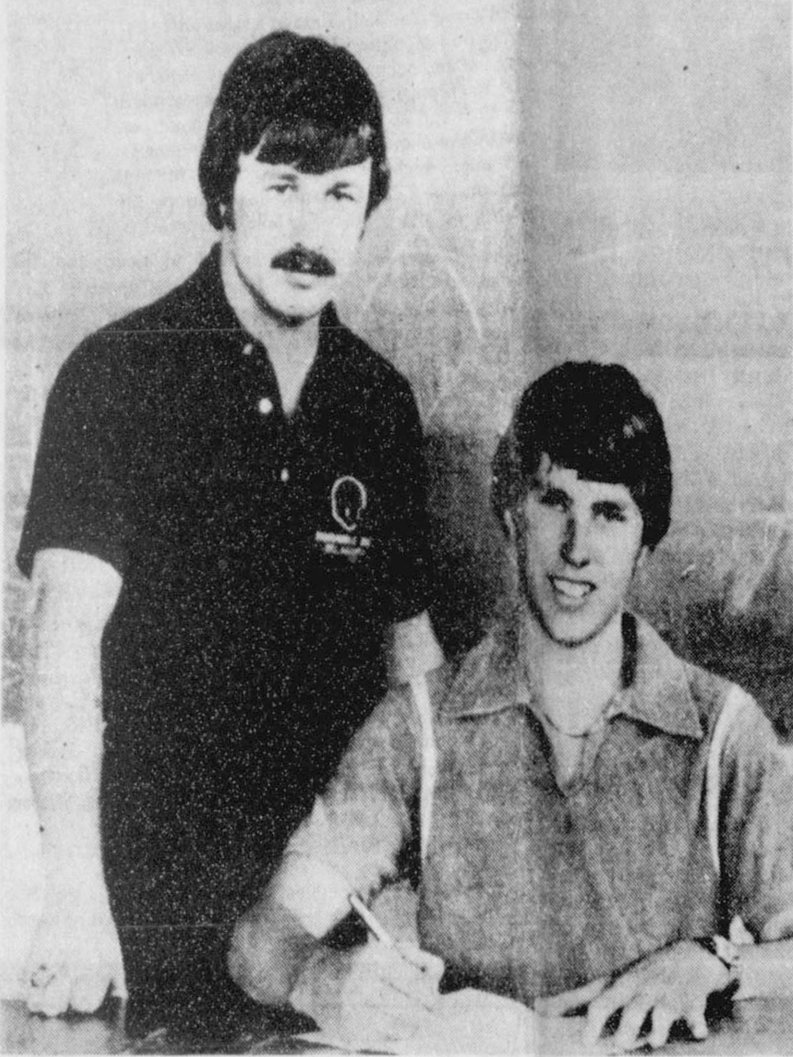

This is a test!

It will involve the city's tornado warning sirens. They will be sounded at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 2.

The noise is a necessary evil because the test is absolutely necessary and Spearman Police Chief Ron Robinson said he felt the Saturday afternoon hour would be a leisure time for more people and the sound would cause the least amount of alarm Particularly if it is preceded by such explanations as this. So, Saturday, May 2, the sound of Spearman's tornado warning system will be a test.

Unless there is an awfully ominous cloud...

GTE Ruled Still Deficient

Phone Rate Hearing Set For This Week

A feared "whitewash" in the General Telephone Co. rate increase controversy failed to materialize and the telephone people will go into a hearing this week before the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) with that body's investigative staff recommending only a $740,000 increase in the face of the $44.6 million sought by GTE.

The PUC's investigative staff filed its report April 20, noting that GTE had a "rate deficiency" of $4.7-million. It also reported poor quality of service widespread in the GTE telephone service areas of Texas and recommended the $4-million annual penalty stand.

Opponents of the requested rate increase were somewhat discouraged last week when, after mustering an impressive number of persons to give equally impressive testimony before the PUC, that panel's telephone engineer, Roland Curry, heading up the quality-of-service investigation, said Proof of continued problems... will not necessarily hurt the company's case since we're measuring progress."

Apparently--from the final investigative report--not much progress was found.

The Texas Municipal League (TML), one of the organizations actively fighting the GTE rate increase, conducted its own investigation in some 27 cities and found GTE phone subscribers generally dissatisfied with services.

Due to the complexity of the Dallas-Fort Worth "metroplex" area, the city of Garland is served by both General Telephone and Southwestern Bell. In that city, some 11,000 telephone users--both companies--responded to a survey wherein 40.9 percent of General users rated their service good; 94.4 percent of Bell users rated service good or excellent.

The TML is not only fighting the latest GTE rate increase request but is pressing for a $9.7-million reduction in General Telephone Co. rates due to poor service to its customers.

Bill McMorris, an Amarillo engineer serving as consultant to some 75 cities banded together to fight the requested rate increase, summed it up this way: "In the free marketplace, if a business cannot provide the normal expected level of service at competitive price, that company can be expected to fail."

Poor Man's 'Jet Lag' Starts

It's Daylight Saving Time! America's 50-state version of "jet lag" went into effect at 2 a.m.

--If you didn't reset your timepieces, you are...were...late for Sunday School and church.

If they were not reset because you couldn't remember...it's "Spring forward-Fall back."

Move those hands up one hour. While many missed a Sunday schedule for want of the correct Daylight Saving Time because they could not remember the formula, others did so because they are stubborn. Nothing has been opposed by more people with less influence for changing it than DST--not even the Roosevelt Thanksgiving.

Some set their clocks Saturday night. Others held on to that precious extra hour as long as possible...then forgot the chore Sunday morning.

Nevertheless, all must capitulate in order to live profitably and in harmony with the nation about us for several months. --Even if it does mean an hour lost and something left undone until we get that hour back next Fall.

Spearman and the High Plains are probably in the most peculiar position regarding DST of any area in the United States. You see, time zone changes are not graduated. That is, as you near the meridian for mountain time, you do not lop off minutes by the mile. Suddenly you are at the zone change demarcation and you shift an hour.

Because of this, we are only minutes away--longitude is measured in degrees and MINUTES--from the next time zone to the west. Therefore, on the longest day of the year, the sun will set--here--just minutes and seconds before 11 p.m. CDST.

Be of good cheer! It might have been calculated by latitude.

--Then we would have six months night!

Rabies Clinic Planned

Pet owners in Spearman and surrounding area will have access to a Rabies Clinic, Friday, May 1 and Saturday, May 2.

Qualified personnel will be on hand in the old fire station at City Hall to inoculate all animals requiring rabies shots under Texas law.

Friday, May 1, the clinic will be open from 3 to 6 p.m.

Saturday, May 2, it will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Spearman Police Chief Ron Robinson said hours had been planned to give working persons with pets a time to bring them to the clinic. He stated he felt this should make it possible for all pets to have the rabies prevention inoculations so there would be no reason for untreated pets to be at large.

SACKING CREW -- If you win the "Winsday Grocery Bonus" at Ideal Food Store, you can't get better help to bag your buys than the store manager, market manager and a blonde. From the left, Mike Minter, market manager, Darlene Farris, blonde and Steve Krug, store manager. They urge you to sign up. You stand to win $100 or $ 50 or $25 in groceries if your name is drawn any Winsday. The first week of the event, winners were Tandy Long, $100; Mrs. Roy Jones, $50 and Paul Jones, $25. This week, winners were Fern Robinson, $100; Gail Woodington, $50 and Kathy Volden, $25. It could be the pot of gold at the end of your inflation rainbow!

Good Soil Preparation

Jim Smith
Hansford Co. Extension Agent
(Agri.)

I think it's safe to say that absolutely nothing can be more discouraging at planting time than poor soil. Gardeners all over the county are constantly amazed at what they are expected to grow their garden vegetables in. There are good soils and poor soils in Hansford County although most are not that bad for gardening if prepared properly.

Regardless of the type of soil in your garden, it can be improved by adding plenty of organic matter. This is one of the real keys to growing successful vegetables in your backyard.

If your soil is calcareous, adding organic matter will improve drainage and aeration as well as allow for better root development. If you have a sandy soil, liberal amounts of organic matter will help it hold water as well as nutrients.

Where do you get organic matter? This magical stuff, which does all the above things plus serves as a source of food for soil fungi and bacteria, comes in the form of peat moss, compost, hay, grass clippings, feedlots, shredded bark, leaves or even shredded newspapers.

When adding organic matter to soil, be sure to apply enough to physically change the soil structure. Ideally, at least one-third of the final soil mix in your garden should be some type of organic material. To accomplish this, spread a 2- to 4- inch layer of organic material over the garden surface and till it to a depth of at least 6 to 8 inches. Apply the recommended rate of fertilizer over the garden surface at the same time and till it in along with the organic material.

Vision

Among the things that give a new and broader vision are travel, religion and a charge account.

-Times, Los Angeles.

My affections are first for my own country, and then, generally, for all mankind

-Thomas Jefferson.

I hope to find my country in the right; however, I will stand by her, right or wrong.

-Stephen Decatur.

Underground irrigation pipeline, shown being installed above, can help reduce irrigation costs. The irrigation pipeline will reduce soil erosion, evaporation and seepage loss problems associated with open earth ditches. Water losses on a typical ditch run about one gallon per hour per foot of ditch or about 2.12 acre inches of water in a half mile ditchline per day. For further information on design and installation or irrigation pipelines contact the Soil Conservation Service in Spearman.

SILVER-LINED SEWER SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Insurance-comany employee Rick Brown has found his silver lining -- in a sewer. An assistant chief engineer at Fireman's Fund computer center, Brown came up with a suggestion for reclaiming silver lost from microfilming in 1978 when silver prices were starting to climb. Since then Brown has managed to reclaim more than 40 pounds of silver from the center's sewer system. After refining charges, the reward for his ingenuity has reached over $6,100. A small unit that removes silver from liquids by electrolysis was purchased for about $1,200. Brown and his crew installed it, and have had to replace only a pilot light (price $1.36) since. It costs about $12 a year to operate the device.

of No Man's Land Celebration
GLEN BRILES

GUYMON, OKLA.—A retired Texas County Farmer Glen W. Briles of Adams, who continues to be active in youth work, church service and farm related organizations has been named 1981 Parade Marshal.

According to Durant McInnis, General Chairman of Pioneer Days, Glen Briles will be honored as a true pioneer of the Panhandle for his unselfish community service by leading the 51st Annual Pioneer Days of No Man's Land Parade on Saturday, May 2, at 11:00 a.m.

On September 7, 1910 Glen was born to Earl and Ella (Winger) Briles on their farm 2½ miles south and 4 miles east of Adams.

Glen Briles is the sixth generation descendent of John Broil (original spelling) of Germany who came over on a ship in 1717 that landed in Virginia. John paid his fare by working seven years as an indentured slave for Governor Spotwood of Virginia. His offspring were two sons, Jacob Bryles and Conrad Briles, both who changed the spelling of their last name.

In 1731 Conrad Briles traveled to North Carolina where Glen's Grandfather, Nathan Briles, was born. When he grew up he traveled by covered wagon to Neodasha, Kansas where he took up a claim. Grandfather Nathan Briles married the daughter of a Methodist circuit rider.

Earl Briles, Glen's father, at the age of 21 in 1902 came to then old Beaver County and filed a claim on NE ¼ 10-3-19 and then in the spring of 1910 bought the Cling Apple Ranch. In a three room frame house Glen was born that fall on the Appleton Ranch.

For the first eight years Glen attended the Appleton School which was located just a mile north of the farm home.

"We always had family worship, both morning and evening," said Glen. "And whatever work was to be done, Father asked each of the five children about the days work plan. It made us feel like we were partners. There was one thing Father would not take, 'I don't know' for an answer. He would say you have to know something about it."

There were five children in the Briles family. Bill and Esten Briles are deceased. Mrs. Kirk (Emeline) Goodrick of Liversal, Kansas is a nurse at Southwest Medical Center and John Briles of Wheatridge, Colorado is a retired Church of God minister.

"When I was 18 years old my Father went into the fulltime ministry as a traveling evangelist especially in Arkansas and Iowa. He never pastored a church and he was not affiliated with a denomination."

"Before my Father went into the fulltime ministry he held services at different area school houses every Sunday. When he became a traveling evangelist, Mother stayed on the farm and I did most of the farming so I didn't get married until I was 25."

On February 16, 1936 Glen Briles and Ruby Webb were married at her parents home at Hardesty. They had met at the Meadowville School where Father Earl Briles had held revival services.

Glen and Ruby have two children and seven grandchildren. Their son, Owen, is a project chemist in research for Sunstrand Aviation of Rockford, Illinois. He was involved with the recent shuttle ship. Their daughter-in-law is the former Marcella Harrison of Adams. They have two daughters, Deanna and Carla. Glen and Ruby's second child is Glenda Kennan of Pueblo, Colorado who is married to Larry Kennan, formerly of Guymon. They have five children, Sean, Audra, Brian, Kara and Michael.

"On the home place we grew milo, wheat, broomcorn, stock cattle and milk cows. We also raised horses and mules with the big excitement in the spring the breaking of the horses and mules."

"We had three pretty good years of farming and I went into debt for a tractor and combine. But times got rough and I couldn't make the payments. I always paid the interest though. Later the International Harvester company offered to settle up if I would pay 20 cents on the dollar and they would tear the note up. I did pay the 20 cents on the dollar, but I told them I would continue paying until the note was paid in full."

At the age of 18 I committed myself to the Lord at a Southwest Kansas Youth for the Church of God meeting and now I am a member of the Union Center Church near Adams and chairman of the board."

Briles served 17 years as Sunday School Superintendent and 15 years he taught the young folks class at Union Center.

He was recently presented a 20-year certificate for service on the Texas County Conservation Board, of which he is still a member. He also served 15 years on the Agricultural Stabilization Board, 13 years on the Adams School Board and 7 years on the Oklahoma Economic Development Board.

"I have always been interested in working with young folks in 4-H and Scouting. In 1951 I volunteered as Assistant Scout Master of Troop 54 of Adams and served for 7 years as Scout Master after the former Scout Master resigned. I later became District Camping Activity Chairman for 4 years and then I served as Scout Leadership Training Chairman for the district."

In 1965 Glen went on the Executive Board of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council and now is on the Advisory Board as well as again being District Camping and Activity Chairman.

Briles has been to two National Jamborees, three treks to Philmont Scout Ranch with boys and a delegate to three National Boy Scout Conventions.

In Scouting he is a member of the Order of the Arrow and he has received the Silver Beaver Award, the highest adult Scout Award.

Glen and Ruby moved into Adams on March 26, 1975, after having a farm equipment auction and leasing their land.

"I have a number of hobbies including wood carving, polishing rocks, and hunting rattlesnakes. I still like to camp out with the Boy Scouts and I try to go to Philmont about every year."

"I feel like I have had a good full life. God sent me a good wife and the best children, both are Christians. I feel like my prayers have been answered."
