

Trudy's Fashions opens Monday

Trudy's Fashions, a new business for downtown Spearman, will open its doors for business Monday, August 2, with all new fall merchandise for infants and ladies.

The Goodheart's are well known in the Spearman area, as they have owned and operated Earl's TV for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodheart are the owners of the new business which is located at 214 Main, the former location of Massad's.

Trudy says she will carry some of the lines that Massad's carried and has added other lines as well.

Some of the brand names you will find in the new store will be Donovan-Galvani, Sunny South, Trissi, Trissi Womens, Shadowline and Jax Slax.

She will carry sizes 6 to 44. There will be costume jewelry, belts, lingerie, as well.

The staff of the new store will include Trudy Goodheart, her mother, Alma Ott, and Terry Clark.

The grand opening of the new store will be announced later but in the meantime, Trudy invites everyone to come in and see her new store and merchandise.

Final plans set for new term

The 1982-83 term of school at Spearman will begin officially Aug. 30.

That is the word from Spearman Independent School District Supt. James Cunningham.

Cunningham said many phases of activity that melds into the total SISD educational program for the coming year are underway and -- so far as staff is concerned -- culminate in an "in-service" day Aug. 24.

Members of the coaching staff returned from Coaching Camp last Sunday and began shaping up all facets of the athletic program. Interscholastic League rules requiring physicals for members of the football squad of any League participating team will be fulfilled Aug. 3 when Dr. David McClellan will check out members of the Lynx roster for the coming grid season.

Once squad members have successfully run the gauntlet of team physicals, they are to pick up shoes and socks and any other gear that may be designated at 8 a.m., Aug. 4, 5 or 6.

All members of the teaching staff and of the administration will undergo in-service training and orientation in an all-day session Aug. 24.

Cunningham announced 12 new members of the teaching staff for the forthcoming term and said all would be formally introduced at the in-service program.

--Then
School starts Aug. 30.

Fugitive held in Wyoming

Former Spearman resident Vivian Perkins is being held on a warrant issued in Hansford County by authorities in Shoshone, Wyo.

Hansford County Sheriff R.L. McFarlin said she was wanted here for alleged theft over $200 -- specifically involving issuance of worthless checks and theft of some diamond rings.

"They have just located her and we are waiting to see if she will waive extradition," Sheriff McFarlin said. "If she refuses to sign a waiver, we will begin extradition proceedings against her."

This was the only activity beyond routine investigation proceedings and paper service the department has had in several quiet days.

RAIN CONTINUES TO FALL IN SPEARMAN

Spearman soaked under some two to three inches of rain at press time and it was still raining!

The cover of water included prize winning yards in the residential sections of the city for June. Ever since winners were named last month there has either been moisture on the grounds or on our camera lens.

Off-and-on rain started in Hansford County Monday. With a small flirtation from the sun here, Tuesday, came word that Dalhart had received two inches in about as many hours and it was headed this way.

It detoured and placed some six counties including Amarillo, Borger and Pampa under flash flood warnings -- which proved timely this time! Friday morning, southwest Amarillo was covered with more flood waters -- and it was still raining -- than at the end of the multi-million dollar damaging tide last September.

Thursday morning rain moved closer to Spearman.

Leadened skies opened and dumped some four inches of rain on the McKibbin community. Between daybreak and 2 p.m., Thursday parts of Gruver and environs had received two inches from the downpour. North-south Gruver streets ran like creeks.

Travelers from Gruver to Spearman about noon Thursday found sunshine -- but it was shortlived. About mid-afternoon an old-fashioned sand-soaker set in at Spearman and local risers Friday morning found running water in just about every low place.

At press time Spearman and east Hansford County residents were asking: "--An Ark? --Or a dove and olive branch?"

And the weatherman said: "--Ark!"

SHERIFF R.L. McFARLIN

at the annual convention just concluded at Abilene. Hansford County Sheriff R.L. McFarlin was named Sergeant-at-Arms and Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker was elected president of the statewide organization of top county law enforcement officers.

It was the second year in a row fellow officers honored Sheriff McFarlin. He just concluded a term as director this past year. Directorships in the organization are limited to one year.

McFarlin was also one of the speakers on the program of the convocation sharing his methods and his experience with the theft of oil field equipment. This is a signal honor recognizing his success in coping with both solution of such crimes and recovery of equipment taken.

"There are those that think this convention is just one big blast each year." The sheriff told the PLAINSMAN. "We have our relaxing moments and our renewal of old friendships -- and our traditional Texas-style barbecue.

"--But the bulk of our time is spent sharing and learning. While I was on the outgoing end of my experience with oilfield equipment theft, I was on the receiving end of some mighty valuable information concerning other criminal efforts and techniques and methods of thwarting them.

"I would say such meetings are every bit as effective in each county in our line of work as a sales convention is to the companies who send representatives there."

All through Sheriff McFarlin's account of the convocation was a more sober and moving thread: evident was the peculiar fellowship between these men who have a serious part in the well-being of their communities and who may be called on at any time to risk their own safety and that of their deputies for the citizens who elected them for that special talent and willingness.

Next year, the TSA will meet at Amarillo.

Frank Mach Services Held

Services for Frank Mach, a former Spearman resident, were held July 13th in Eden, Texas. Interment was in the Eden Cemetery.

Mr. Mach died Sunday, July 11, 1982, in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kerrville, Texas.

Born August 19, 1915, he married Imogene Williams September 25, 1947, in Eden. Following the oil business with Baker & Taylor, he moved to Spearman in 1953, making his home here until returning to Eden in 1972 to become a farmer.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Frankie David Mach of Franklin, La, Donnie Mach of Oklahoma City, Ok. and Richard Mach of Doole; a daughter, Rose Dukon of Pearland; five brothers, Ruby Mach and Eddy Mach, both of Needville, Laddie Mach of San Juan, Adolph Mach of Alice and Emil Mach of Longview; three sisters, Annie Bubenik of Alice, Vlasta Bubenik of Houston and Mildred Pastera of Needville and 11 grandchildren.

Dan Burleson Services Held

Services were held Wednesday afternoon for Dan A. Burleson, age 81, who passed away Monday.

Mr. Burleson was born on September 3, 1900, in Brownsville, Tenn., and he had lived in the Perryton area since 1952. Prior to that time he had lived in the Spearman area.

He was a farmer and rancher, and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Holly Chapel of the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Jack Pearce, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Ochiltree cemetery by Boxwell Brothers.

He is survived by two daughters, Mona Jeffries of Plano, and Mrs. Georgia Kearn of Amarillo; one son, Andy Burleson of Amarillo; three sisters, Mrs. Elsie Batson, Mrs. Annie Laurie Batson, and Mrs. Estelle Britnell, all of Pampa; ten grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

Poor Pegasus pounded again . . .

'Keep that plane off our streets!'

You can no longer land or take off from Spearman city streets in your aircraft!

That was the strongest single action taken by the city council in regular session Tuesday night and Ordinance 489, passed at the meeting becomes effective with the publication of the required legal notice carried in this edition of the PLAINSMAN.

This action is not as frivolous as it may seem to some at first blush.

With the passing of the old municipal airport there was the continuing harangue over landing on the old runway and taxing to the facilities of the new municipal airport. Both state and federal aviation authorities said use of the old runway was absolutely forbidden. Common sense said it was not practical at all -- most of all because of the danger of and accident between aircraft using the old runway and aircraft using the new airport.

The solution first considered early on was to tear up the old runway completely. Then, with the changing pattern of things in that general vicinity with creation of the new airport, it was discovered that a large portion of the old runway was needed for a city street.

Hence the new ordinance. There are stiff penalties imposed for infractions of Ordinance 489 for anyone ignoring all other reasons for not using this strip.

In the proceedings, Tuesday night, Ordinance 489 was passed first declaring a portion of the old airport runway a city street.

The panel took one other action in the realm of aviation. Councilmen endorsed -- with Resolution 11-82 -- the Texas Aeronautics Commission's legal action to ensure that monies provided in the federal trust fund are expended for the development of general aviation airports throughout the nation.

This is a controversial issue. Necessary legislation was passed creating the trust fund but there seems to be no specific statutes governing expenditures from it. Those preparing to take legal action (Texas is just one such state) allege these funds are being spent to subsidize private airlines and other purposes other than the original intent.

A zoning matter, recommended by the zoning board and without opposition either in the public hearing Tuesday night or previous to the final action taken, was approved by the city council without dissent.

The action had to do with rezoning lots 10 - 12, block 64, first edition, Spearman, Hansford County, Texas.

With all bills and departmental reports for July approved at the first regular meeting of the month, this meeting achieved an early adjournment.

TIMESAIVING SEWING FOR BUSY LIFESTYLES

Timesaving sewing techniques head the "wish list" of homesewers who create wearables amidst today's busy lifestyles.

They want quick techniques that result in a professional, quality look, most say.

Such techniques start with planning, and they involve pattern choice, fabric selection and actual sewing "step savers."

START WITH PLAN
Start with a plan, although it takes time. It will save even more time in the long run.

Be organized with sewing, and you'll be more efficient.

Begin with your sewing area—know what supplies you have and where they are.

Organize storage areas with an index of fabric yardage on hand, the colors, types, amount of interfacing and other similar information.

This will give quick access to needed materials at sewing time.

CHOOSE EFFICIENT PATTERNS

Choosing efficient patterns also will save time. Some are designed for quick-and-easy sewing.

Of course, making any pattern repeatedly is another way to save time. Many patterns are readily adaptable, so even when you use the same one several times, you'll have as many different-looking garments simply by changing fabric, trim or other details, such as pockets or sleeves.

Before buying a pattern, you can ask to see it first. Scanning the pattern guide may help you decide whether it will be a good choice.

Before using any pattern for the first time, read the guide from beginning to end to avoid unnecessary backtracking of steps or any time-consuming "surprises."

SELECT NO-HASSLE FABRICS

To save even more time,

select "no-hassle" fabrics.

Remember, fabrics that ravel, require matching, lining or special seaming techniques will take more time.

SEWING STEP SAVERS

Sewing step savers start with a "sew-as-much-as-you-can" before pressing idea. Then press as much as you can at one time.

Do test seams on a fashion fabric and inner fabric before stitching—to set up any machine adjustments needed and to make the best thread and stitch selection.

Also experiment with top-stitching or machine blind-stitching of hems to avoid time-costly mistakes.

Do as much machine work as possible—sewing on buttons, putting in hems and tacking down facings—to avoid time-consuming handwork.

Finally remember that fusibles save time—fusible interfacing and fusing layers of a garment together, such as hems.

Before fusing, always pre-test—some fabrics are more sensitive to heat and steam than others, and a few will not fuse satisfactorily.

To eliminate basting, consider using adhesive or glue designed to hold layers together for this step.

UPDATE IDEAS, SKILLS

Stay in touch with new ideas and techniques for the "last word" on saving time. Study ready-to-wear garments similar to items you plan to make so you'll create the look you want with the "first try." Also, take note of homesewing and women's magazines that feature timesaving techniques and tips.

Faye's Daze

Isn't this cooler weather nice, as well as the showers we have been having?

Cooking at my house has been at a minimum during the hot days we've had, but last night I decided I would make a pound cake since my kids will be here this weekend and they both like it so much.

Well, I mixed it all up according to directions on the box, and put it into what I thought was a 325 degree oven and set the timer and went on about my business.

In about 40 minutes I smelt something burning and upon investigation my cake was severely black around the edges and on the top and I glanced at the oven control and it was on 375.

My optometrist said I didn't need my glasses changed so I guess I'll have to blame it on my lame-brain.

So, my one venture into baking this summer turned out to be a failure, so I guess I'll have Sara Lee pound cake this weekend. It's back to sandwiches and micro-wave for me. I can operate the microwave, at least I have so far this summer.

Yesterday afternoon after that shower we had, my new cedar shingles smelled so good and it was nice and cool, and I thought I was in the mountains. Looks like that is as far as I'm going to get this summer.

I had a nice visit with 5 year old Khristi Walker, granddaughter of the Albert Graves. She is a delightful child and was telling me about her baby brother.

Albert said that he and Khristi were in the bank Monday and someone said to her that they saw her picture in Sunday's paper, and she was so thrilled. She told her grandparents that "It is just like Hollywood."

Beef Checkoff Breaks $1 Million Barrier

Texas cattlemen have invested more than a million dollars in beef promotion and education projects through the Beef Industry Council (BIC) of the Meat Board, headquartered in Chicago. In 11 months, cattlemen have invested $1,024,326 in beef promotion activities. The funds are raised through a 25 cents per head checkoff each time an animal is sold. Currently, 87 livestock auctions and 23 beef packers are participating in collecting the funds.

The beef industry this year launched the most aggressive advertising and promotion campaign on record. More than $7 million is being spent in network television, spot market television, magazine advertising and point of purchase programs. Theme of the campaign is "Somehow, Nothing Satisfies Like Beef."

"Retailer support has been the best ever," says BIC Manager Jay Wardell. "In Texas, $902 point of purchase posters (featuring roasts and hamburgers) were distributed for display in stores."

The 25 cents per head checkoff was initiated last summer. It is conducted on a voluntary basis at auctions and packers. Sellers can request a refund of their investment from the BIC.

This "Girl Talk" will be held on Friday, August 6, beginning at 8:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church.

If you would like more "detailed" information on this "Girl Talk" for high school girls, call Patti Hudson at 9-3487, Stephanie Brock at 9-3933 or Joan Brown at 9-3656.

This should be a very interesting Slumber Party you have ever been too.

STAMPS AND STORIES

By Stanley James

If George Washington was "first in war, first in peace," then it is likely he was also first when it came to pomp and celebrations. The inauguration of our first President was the event of the century.

New York City was the nation's capital in April 1789, and its citizens were in a frenzy of anticipation since the inauguration had been delayed to allow Congress time to assemble.

When Washington at last appeared, crossing the harbor on a ceremonial barge, the citizenry broke into wild cheers. The people deluged him with flowers as he proceeded up Wall Street and surrounded his elaborately designed cream-colored coach as it wound its way to Federal Hall.

As Washington repeated the oath of office on a balcony of the Senate Chamber, cries of "Long live George Washington, President of the United States!" rang out as cannons fired and bells pealed loud and long. Later--and for weeks to come--there would be fireworks and elegant balls.

George Washington has appeared on more U.S. postage items than any other person. The latest Washington commemorative stamp was issued February 22, 1982 marking the 250th anniversary of his birth.

Yes, corpuscular radiation plays a major role in determining the earth's weather, according to many able meteorologists.

It has the effect, when in abundance, to heat the polar regions, as apart from the equatorial regions. This produces extreme contrasts in the weather within short distances but generally makes for warmer, drier weather on most of the earth.

Block Announces Blueprint For Soil & Water Conservation

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the final conservation program this week as a result of the Soil and Water Conservation Resources Act (RCA) of 1977.

Monnie W. Edwards, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Spearman, said the Secretary told 13 Midwestern governors that "state and local governments must take greater initiatives in soil and water conservation especially as we struggle in Washington to hold down the growth of Federal spending."

Other features of the Secretary's blueprint for action include:

- A national conservation strategy that focuses on solving two priority needs. First priority is to combat soil conservation in high-production farm areas. Second priority is water problems, with water conservation the goal in the arid West and prevention of damage from upstream flooding in other areas.
- Targeting of an increasing share of USDA conservation funds and personnel to areas where "the need for conservation is critical in national terms."
- Continuation of a "base program" that will keep in place the technical and financial help that USDA has been providing for local conservation programs. The base program will receive 75 percent of all USDA technical and financial assistance funds; targeted areas will use no more than 25 percent of total funds by 1987.
- Matching grants to conservation districts, through state conservation agencies. Grants are authorized by the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 and Block said they will encourage "more state and local initiative in conservation."
- Redoubling of efforts among farmers to promote conservation tillage, which saves fuel, labor and soil.
- Finally, a survey of all USDA farm programs to find any that, unintentionally, may be working against good soil and water conservation. The new plan will require borrowers in two Farmers Home Administration loan programs -- farm ownership and soil and water loans -- to have conservation plans.

Dear Wheat Producer,

Dear Wheat Producer, Would you take a few minutes of your time and fill out the form below. As you are well aware, wheat streak mosaic, root rot, and rust caused considerable economic loss in Hansford County this year. In order to get a better idea as to acres affected, please fill out the form below and mail back to my office.

Plans are being made with Dr. Robert Berry, Area Extension Plant Pathologist, to establish a demonstration this fall, in order to obtain data on different varieties of wheat that will show some resistance to these diseases.

Hunt and Harris purchase Texaco distributorship

"If you plow and plant ground," Jerry Hunt added, "or drill holes in it or just cover a lot of it in your car or pickup, we've got one important thing in common, Texaco!"

Pablo Perez will operate the retail Texaco station on Main Street in Gruver.

Texaco-with petroleum products, tires, accessories--is back in business in Hansford County.

Agriculture, industry and homelinks throughout the county can once again get these dependable products plus a lot of friendliness and know-how.

Jerry Hunt and Glen Harris have purchased the Texaco wholesale distributorship at its plant location in Gruver and the retail service station outlet in Gruver.

This is a completely new operation including the telephone: 733-5005.

At the height of the last energy "pinch" the bulk dealership and the service station closed down all operations. For some months consumers at all volume levels were without the product they believed in. Recognizing a peculiar product loyalty and a need to match it, these two men--well known in many Hansford County circles--decided to put Texaco back in business.

"Folks know the product," Glen Harris said. "Most of them know us and our manner of doing business. Just put them together and you have Hansford County's newest business."

"As wholesale dealers, we serve Spearman and surrounding area as much as this end of the county," Glen and Jerry pointed out. "At present, we do not have a retail service station open at Spearman but we are looking forward to it."

New telephone rates in effect

The Public Utility Commission of Texas approved $46.8 million in new revenues for General Telephone Company of the Southwest during final hearings July 14 on the company's $110 million rate filing.

The final order, officially signed July 19, issued by the commission will result in most customers receiving refunds ranging from 10 to 40 cents per month. The refunds are the result of the company placing new rates for most services in effect June 4 under state law, subject to refund of the difference between the June 4 rates and the final rates approved by the commission July 14.

The only changes from the June 4 rates are reductions ranging from 10 to 35 cents in all local basic services rates, and a five-cent reduction per month in some business rates for extended area service or toll free calling to neighboring exchanges.

New rates for Spearman residence one-party lines will be $7.70 per month, while the previous monthly charge was $7.45.

Cost for business one-party lines goes to $20.35, up 40 cents from the previous charge of $19.75.

In addition to these changes, new charges became effective July 14 for some services where were not placed in effect under bond June 4. These services include directory assistance charging, late pay charge for business accounts and returned check charges.

The charge for directory assistance will begin Aug. 1. Customers will have a monthly 10-call per line allowance with a 25-cent charge applying for each call that exceeds the allowance.

The late charge will begin for business customers Aug. 1. The charge will be a 5 percent fee for the unpaid balance if not paid by the date due as shown on the bill.

E.L. "Buddy" Langley, president of General Telephone, said, "We are glad the commission has recognized the need for additional revenues which are critical to our service improvement and modernization programs in Texas."

"But we are naturally disappointed they did not award more. We thought we had done a good job of explaining our needs and presenting a strong plea for our total need. While we did not receive what was asked for, we will take what we received and make it go as far as possible."

Applications being taken for insurance on wheat

Wheat growers interested in All-Risk insurance for their 1983 crops should contact their insurance agent as soon as possible, according to F.W. "Ted" Crouch, Jr., All-Risk Insurance Field Operations Director.

Although the deadline to obtain wheat insurance isn't until September 15, Crouch suggests three reasons why growers should begin making their plans now. First, early consideration will provide additional time to develop a program of insurance coverage that best meets the individual policy-holder's needs.

Secondly, it can be useful to farmers to have their insurance arranged before they visit with their lenders about production loans. Insurance helps to minimize the uncertainty involved in the year-ahead cash flow projections that many lenders today require.

Third, an early application allows additional time for growers to verify yield records that may enable them to qualify for increased insurance protection.

Crouch points out that the expanded and revised wheat insurance program now in effect provides a variety of ways for producers to tailor their coverage to their needs for insurance protection and to their budgets. For example, policies offer a choice of production guarantees as well as a choice of indemnity payments for each bushel of loss.

The ASCS county office has a list of local private agents who are handling the federally-backed insurance policies.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I live in a big old house and I always enjoy having the children come for Christmas dinner. During the past few years my daughters have urged me to have one celebration at one of their houses but for some reason it does not seem the same to me. So we have decided to compromise and while they all come home--the children and grandchildren--they each help out. I cook the turkey, dressing, etc., and they bring the salad and dessert. The granddaughters help wait on the table and everyone joins in with cleaning up. In this way it is not too much for any one person as we have thirty-one members. Everyone seems to have a good time and I would feel lost if they didn't come home.

I thought I would pass the suggestion along for grandmothers who feel that the family has grown too large for one person to handle.

The small grandchildren prepare poems and songs for the occasion and we always make it a real celebration.

Then, my children live in modern, smaller houses and mine is the only one large enough to take care of the crowd.

Grandmother--Tenn.

Answer:

Your solution is wonderful for your family--however, there are grandmothers who have sold their homes and live in small apartments. But they can always put their personal touches on the family gathering even though it is being held at one of the children's homes. Grandmother may have a special recipe for a dish that she makes better than anyone else or if she is not strong her mere presence may give meaning to this Christmas gathering of the family.

This should be a time when families forget their differences and try to emulate the life of Christ whose birthday they celebrate.

Louisa.

Farmers Warned About Knock-Out Pesticide

AUSTIN--Farmers being solicited by telephone to buy Knock-Out pesticide are warned to be aware that the product may be grossly misrepresented, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

"We have received several calls from scattered locations in the state from farmers who have purchased the pesticide after telephone solicitations and have found that it does not live up to the sales pitch," Brown said.

The telephone salesmen have stated that it is as good as or superior to another well-known, commonly used herbicide (Roundup). The most recent telephone solicitation have been from Alpine Farm Products in Long Islands, New York.

Knock-Out is registered for sale with the Texas Department of Agriculture with a label specifying a 1.8% active ingredient. "There is nothing illegal about selling this product, but its performance is being misrepresented. The pesticide being compared contains 41% active ingredient."

Brown urged farmers before ordering such pesticides from out-of-state firms to compare the active ingredient percentage on products formulated for the same purpose. "There is still no assurance that the contents meet label specifications on purchases resulting from such telephone solicitations."

They should also check the local prices. "The cost of the product is often the same or more they would pay locally."

Pesticides sold by such out-of-state dealers could lack the proper precautions for use on the label. There is no assurance that the pesticides are not contaminated or that they have not been diluted.

Brown advised farmers to buy from dealers they know, "ones that they can complain to if the product does not work as it should."

If farmers have purchased pesticides from this company and still have the containers, they are requested to notify the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Hot check program will be held August 2

Recently there has been an alarming increase in "hot check" activity in Hansford County. The Hansford County Sheriff's office, the Hansford County Attorney's Office and the 84th Judicial District Attorney's Office feel that a program to inform the citizens of our county of the effect of the theft by check statutes would be a timely one. The theft by check laws can be technical and we would prefer to have our citizens informed before hand rather than after the fact.

The First State Bank has donated the use of its facilities and is a co-sponsor of this program. The program will be held on August 2, 1982, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospitality room at the bank.

Are annual physicals necessary?

For decades, annual head-to-toe physical examinations have been a must for millions of Americans. But today, a growing number of researchers are questioning whether the yearly checkup is anything more than a costly indulgence.

According to the August Reader's Digest, research at several public-health and medical schools has shown that the 20 or so diagnostic tests used during routine examinations usually don't provide information that can predict medical events or make a difference in a patient's longevity.

Instead, many doctors suggest patients undergo selective examinations based on "potential risk factors" every two or three years or more. Among the diagnostic tests and procedures believed to provide the greatest benefit in terms of cost, risk and prevention are these:

- Immunizations, which according to The Digest, "should be at the top of everybody's list." Included are tetanus boosters, and pneumonia and flu vaccines. The latter two are recommended for senior citizens in particular.
- Blood pressure measurement, which is considered the least expensive test with the highest possible health return. Early detection of hypertension--the major cause of strokes and a dominant factor in heart attacks--and its subsequent control through diet, exercise, drugs or a combination of methods can head off most ill effects.

The Pap test, the most widely heralded diagnostic procedure for the early detection of cervical cancer. Doctors suggest this test at least once every three years in women over age 20 after two initial negative tests taken a year apart.

Mammography, a low-dose X-ray of the breast. Though controversial, both the American Cancer Society (ACS) and National Cancer Institute (NCI) have found mammography could detect more early breast cancers than could palpitation by a doctor. However, because of radiation risks, the NCI does not recommend it as a routine procedure for women under 50 except for those with a personal or family history of the disease.

The guaiac test, which detects the presence of hidden blood in the stool, is thought by many experts to rank near the top as an efficient way of screening cancer and other bowel diseases. Some studies have suggested starting guaiac tests at age 40 and repeating them every two years thereafter; the ACS recently recommended yearly stool tests beginning at age 50.

A recent Gallup Poll found that the ideal of most American girls, still, is to get married and have children. Three out of every four queried gave that answer.

This being the case, it's disappointing to observe a trend away from educating girls in household pursuits. Home economics, so important to most families, is often neglected. Girls in some cases have been brainwashed by too much super-mod literature and protest into feeling almost ashamed to prepare themselves for what will be, at least, one of their main vocations.

What a paradox that schools today fail to educate girls in what most of them will sorely need most in their lifetime--home economics and home management, child care and food preparation!

No fair person today would argue that this is the only proper role of women and that they should not be free to enter into any profession--at equal pay and under equal conditions. But the fact of life is that most girls will grow into mothers and love and enjoy caring for their children (and perhaps their husbands).

That being true, why not as a matter of course provide them with an education to enhance and improve home life? This need not mean neglect of any other subject, and need not be confined to girls. But the truth is most girls will benefit by such education, and that more girls than boys will need it.

Yet today such practical, even essential, education is not the "in" thing. All girls must be educated exactly like boys, no difference in the sexes must be admitted, in interests, aptitudes, life goals, etc. It's not a common sense, nor an honest, approach.

Pssst... Pass it on!!!

GTE To Charge For Excessive Directory Assistance Calls

PERRYTON--Beginning Aug. 1, General Telephone customers in Texas will be charged for calls to directory assistance that exceed a 10-call per month limit.

"The increasing volume of calls to directory assistance is one factor that has made local basic monthly rates paid by all customers go up in the past," Robert J. Meyers, operations manager-Oklahoma Division Operations for General Telephone, said. "With the directory assistance charging plan, the local rate increases recently placed in effect were less than what they would have been without directory assistance charging."

Meyers pointed out that charging for calls to directory assistance exceeding a 10-call per month limit will have little effect on the majority of the company's customers, except to help keep basic rates lower than they would be without the charge.

"Our studies have shown that approximately 9 percent of the total directory assistance users make nearly half of all calls to directory assistance," Meyers said.

"Under the previous method, the cost of providing directory assistance was spread among all customers, regardless of whether they use the service or not," the telephone company manager said. "Customers formerly could make an unlimited number of calls to directory assistance without paying a separate charge.

"As a result, customers who never use the service or who used it very little were paying just as much through their local rates as the heavy users for this service.

"Charging for excessive use will transfer the costs to those who use the service extensively, resulting in keeping basic local rates lower than they would be otherwise."

Each General customer will have a 10-call per month per line allowance without charge. The caller can also obtain a maximum of two telephone numbers during each call under the plan approved July 14 by the Public Utility Commission.

"We feel this will take care of new listings and number changes most customers will need during the course of a month," the manager said.

"After the 10-call limit, a 25-cent charge per request will be assessed."

Calls for which no charge would be assessed will be those made from coin telephones, from hospitals, by certified handicapped persons who cannot use a telephone directory, and calls for long-distance directory which are offset by a long-distance call.

Sucking What?

Tobacco addicts, or more specifically cigarette addicts, are sucking more than burning tobacco. Walter Ross, editor of World Smoking & Health, a journal of the American Cancer Society, says all sorts of additives, flavorings and potentially dangerous substances are being put in cigarettes.

Twice in recent years the Surgeon General's office has attempted to obtain from cigarette manufacturers a list of additives they are currently using in their cigarettes. Both times the companies refused to submit lists.

In Britain there's a list of acceptable additives (now slightly outdated but nevertheless a guide). But there's no U.S. Government list. Ross says several widely-used additives in this country are already proven to be dangerous.

One is cocoa. Others are caramel, invert sugar, licorice, eugenol, guaiacol, coumarin, etc. While many of the additives seem safe as edibles, when burned they sometimes yield poisonous gases, which in tests have developed tumors on the skins of animals.

This is true of cocoa, known to be used by many U.S. manufacturers. Many other additives when burned are thought to produce carcinogens and co-carcinogens (which increase the power of carcinogens to cause cancer).

So, puffers, you're sucking more than tobacco when you so sophisticatedly (as in the glamor ads) light up. That's also true of cigar smokers. Most cigars also contain all sorts of additives. Only one in a hundred cigars manufactured today is all tobacco. Cigar puffers can quickly check that by looking for that little paragraph of fine print on boxes which state that "these cigars are predominantly tobacco but with other ingredients added."

On very few cigar boxes today does one find the words: "All Natural Tobacco." The smoke addicts smell and inhale, then, is often not tobacco smoke.

Pampa Air Field Reunion August 6

Pampa's Army Air Field's 40th Anniversary of the opening of the air base (1942-1982) and the 10th Annual Reunion will be celebrated in Pampa Aug. 6th & 7th.

The dedication of the Historical Commemorative Marker will be held at the air base site on Highway 152. Texas State Representative Foster Whaley of Pampa will dedicate the marker.

Air Force officials will also participate in the dedication. A general invitation to the people in the area will give them an opportunity to again express their appreciation for this symbol of our effort to help win World War II.

Registration will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for the reunion at the Coronado Inn. A business luncheon will be at 12:00 at the Inn. A banquet at 7:00 will conclude activities. The Reunion Association is composed of former air base personnel, both military & civilian.

Closing Loopholes In Your Will

Benjamin Franklin once said that death and taxes are inevitable. While this may be true, it doesn't mean that we shouldn't prepare.

If you don't have a will, have one drawn up. If you don't have a lawyer, the referral department of the local Bar Association will give you the name of one.

If you already have a will, make sure it's up-to-date. Circumstances that may affect your will, say the people at Colonial Penn Insurance Group, are: a move to another state, a change in your financial status, or a marriage, birth, death or divorce.

Older woman, younger man in CBS' 'Thin Ice'

Kate Jackson and Gerard Prendergast star, with Lillian Gish as the special guest star, in "Thin Ice," a motion picture for television about a popular high-school teacher who falls in love with one of her students, and the community furor that erupts when their relationship is discovered, to be rebroadcast Saturday, Aug. 7 on CBS.

Miss Jackson portrays Linda Rivers, a 26-year-old high-school history teacher in South Carolina whose husband died three years earlier. Rather than renew an active social life, Linda lives with her grandmother (Lillian Gish) and focuses her energies on teaching.

Fully aware of the implicit danger in their relationship, Linda and Paul go to great lengths to keep their involvement discreet. But when news of the affair leaks, a community controversy erupts that dramatically alters both their lives and compels the couple to confront the seriousness of their actions.

"Thin Ice" was filmed on location around Charleston, S.C. Paul Aaron directed from a screenplay by David Epstein. Aaron's television directing credits include the acclaimed production of "The Miracle Worker," starring Patty Duke Astin and Melissa Gilbert. His motion picture credits include "A Different Story," starring Meg Foster and Perry King, and "A Force of One," with Jennifer O'Neill and Chuck Norris.

Teen-age story

"I Think I'm Having a Baby," a presentation of the CBS Afternoon Playhouse, will be rebroadcast Tuesday, Aug. 3 on CBS. The drama, a story of teen-age uncertainties about love, friendship and sex, stars David Birney and Jennifer Jason Leigh.

Birney plays a dedicated teacher who tries to guide his students through a course in adult living. Miss Leigh stars as Laurie McIntyre, a 15-year-old who becomes infatuated with the school hero and ends up experiencing her first sexual encounter.

Sutherland's love

Donald Sutherland may be best known for his performances in "Ordinary People" and "Kluge," but if he could the Canadian-born actor would be seen at the ballpark instead of on the movie screen.

Sutherland, a boyhood fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is the host of "The Game and its Glory: Baseball's Hall of Fame," a special to air Saturday, Aug. 7 on NBC.

Sutherland takes a nostalgic look at the history of the national pastime, from the field in Cooperstown, N.Y., where Abner Doubleday named the sport in 1839, to the Baseball Hall of Fame, which opened a century later. The baseball history lesson features plenty of rare film footage, including clips of Willie Mays, Babe Ruth, Duke Snider and other greats now enshrined in the Hall of Fame.

Allergies: How Do You Know If You've Got One?

People often say casually that they are allergic to this or that substance when they are not truly allergic at all. For example, a so-called food allergy may just be indigestion. In other cases, an irritant may produce discomfort which is not based on allergic reactions.

Hay fever is not caused by hay, nor is there any fever. It's an overreaction of the body's immune system to a substance in the environment, such as pollen.

Conversely, that summer cold may really be hay fever, even if you've never had hay fever before. You may not realize it's an allergy until you notice that you get the same "cold" at the same time every year and that it goes away on schedule.

What are the symptoms of hay fever, the most common form of allergy? Hay fever is characterized by sneezing, watery eyes, itchy and watery nose, and excessive mucus in the nose and throat.

Why do some people develop it and not others? Hay fever only develops in people who have an inherited tendency for the condition. Any kind of allergy can appear at any time in life, and its severity can change from year to year.

Some medical authorities estimate that as many as one of five people suffers from an allergy or may be predisposed to developing an allergy under certain conditions. The only way to know for sure if you are allergic to one or all of the many types of pollens, including ragweed, tree or grass pollens, is to consult your physician and undergo a series of skin tests.

Your doctor may suggest the product most recommended by pharmacists for temporary relief of hay fever symptoms. Chlor-Trimeton, from Schering Corporation, is now available in new, maximum strength, long-acting, antihistamine tablets or regular strength tablets. You might like to ask your pharmacist which strength is best suited to your needs.

Can The U.S. Army Become An Elite & Effective Combat Arm?

By Edward H. Sims

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- Shortly before he assumed the chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Jack Vessey expressed confidence in the U.S. Army, in recent years an orphan among the services in funds and personnel, is steadily improving.

Vessey, Deputy Chief of Staff of the Army until the first of the month, retains a keen interest in rebuilding the Army.

In a frank discussion in his office, Vessey admitted the volunteer personnel system in recent years had forced the ground service to accept almost any applicant "who could breathe."

And while he may inwardly favor a draft, he nevertheless says the Army has undergone major improvement in the last two years. Entrance requirements have risen and misfits are being released.

On two critical combat questions, close support from the air and tank quality, Vessey is optimistic. "I flew missions in Vietnam," Vessey recalls. "I'm a pilot and like to fly. I think I'll get the cooperation of the Air Force."

Vessey was referring to close support. Under present roles and missions restrictions, the ground service must call on a fellow service to provide close support to its troops. The Marines provide their own close support. The Army has only helicopters. They took fearful losses in Vietnam, being slow and vulnerable.

Vessey refused comment when their high losses were mentioned. He avoided possible controversy when the doctrine that prop-jet, fixed-wing close support aircraft might be the Army's answer to today's requirements in some parts of the world.

Some Vietnam and Korean War ground veterans are on record in favor of slower close support aircraft, for greater accuracy in ordnance delivery. Vessey says nevertheless he thinks the Air Force can do the job.

Vessey opposes present suggestions the Army reduce tank production from 90 to 60 a month. He defends the M-1 tank as a very fine tank, denies it needs a special vehicle to dig in for defensive operations.

He remains silent when asked how present U.S. tank production can be judged adequate.

Can the U.S. Army, under the volunteer system, become an elite and effective fighting force? Vessey thinks it can. "Can morale and pride be implanted? Vessey says it can. "We want to be a representative service, with all walks of life and all parts of the country represented in the Army," he stresses.

THE MICROWAVE COOK

Say Ole For Easy Mexican Main Dish

Mexicali Chicken has enough heat to please Mexican food lovers.

Mexican food is a hot item on the menus of many popular restaurants. According to a recent survey by The Yankelovich Monitor, Mexican food is the second most popular cuisine in the U.S. If you want to bring a bit of ole to your own house, here's a really "hot" main dish chicken idea to make in your microwave. The smooth consistency of this sauce and the dish's ease of preparation are owed to a can of condensed cream of chicken soup.

MEXICALI CHICKEN

- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Cream of Chicken Soup
- 1 can (10 ounces) hot enchilada sauce
- 3 cups cubed cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup coarsely crushed taco-flavored corn chips
- 1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

In 2-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine soup, enchilada sauce, chicken, onion and corn chips. Cover. Microwave on HIGH 12 to 14 minutes or until hot, stirring once. Garnish with cheese and additional corn chips. Let stand, uncovered, 2 minutes. Makes about 5 cups, 3-4 servings.

At the Explore Gallery located in the National Portrait Gallery, your children can have fun with colors, shapes, textures, light, and sound, all set up so kids can touch.

In the basement of the Department of Commerce in the National Aquarium are 250 species of sea life.

Don't forget while visiting Washington to spend a few hours at the National Zoological Park, where our best-known liberal and conservative--the Pandas Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing--now live peacefully along with 2,500 other animals.

The Mall between the U.S. Capitol and the Washington Monument is a child's paradise. There are contests of all sorts from boomerang throwing to kite flying.

There is also a continuous Festival of American Folklore during the summer months. The Festival is conducted primarily for children to learn the customs and traditions of our Indian, Eskimo, and African cultures.

A real seventy-five-year-old Washington Merry-go-round spins all summer long on the Mall. A mule named Jack is on hand to take kids for rides.

Making Family Life More Fun

Hints On Selecting Backpacking Equipment

Size is very important when choosing a backpack. An expedition pack will carry lunch, but a day pack won't carry an expedition.

"It's in the Bag!"

That's what more and more Americans are saying who take up backpacking as a form of recreation. Because the wide variety of equipment can often be as confusing as an unmapped woodland trail, here's some helpful advice from backpacking expert Peter Moore on how to select your equipment.

Choose for both function and fit. Look first for the right frame style and size, then for such personal amenities as pockets, pads and accessory patches.

Moore, an official of Eastern Mountain Sports, a national marketer of outdoor equipment and clothing, says would-be backpackers should pay particular attention to size. "It's one of the most important considerations you will make," he says. "An expedition pack will carry lunch, but a day pack won't carry an expedition."

You will have the choice of a pack with either an external frame or an internal frame. External frame backpacks are designed to truck heavy, bulky loads over long distances on open trails. They don't fit well in tight places. The tubular frame and padded suspension system (hip belt, shoulder straps and back bands) transfer the weight from your lower back to your sturdy hips and legs. They can take more weight than your body will bear.

Moore says: "Good frames come with good bags. Choose divided bags or panel-load to suit your own taste. With a panel-load, you can use stuff sacks to keep gear organized and accessible. Divided bags have built-in organization.

"Any bag you consider should be made of durable, weatherproof coated nylon fabric. Most packs have too many seams to be waterproof, so a rain cover is necessary in an extended downpour.

"Internal frame packs can go where external frames fear to tread. The lightweight aluminum frame padded waist belt transfers weight to your hips; it keeps it close to your back for better balance. And the smoother outer profile won't hang you up on brush or rocks.

"Now we come to rucksacks and day packs, which are frameless. These are rugged and versatile. No frame and smaller size means less capacity. The weight rests on your shoulders. Rucksacks are tough, functional accessories for climbing. Day packs are more civilized--equally at home on campus or on a nature trail."

Strake Talk

Keeping In Touch

This is the first of what I intend to be a number of weekly columns from me, discussing various topics of importance to Texans. During the coming weeks, we will discuss such things as President Reagan's "New Federalism" proposal, the need for better laws dealing with drunk drivers, illegal aliens, the education of our children, and a host of other issues that will be on our political agenda.

I believe these columns will provide a unique opportunity to stimulate public discussion on these important issues. Indeed, this may be the only way I have challenged my opponent, Mr. Hobby, to a series of free-wheeling debates on political issues, so both our views could be put before the people of Texas. We met in debate one time in Houston. In the view of all observers, Mr. Hobby lost and he has announced that he will not debate again. So I have chosen this route to try to let you know my position on the issues. I feel you are entitled to know that before you make your decision in the November election. Additionally, I hope you will let me know your views. They are important to me.

The office of Lieutenant Governor is exceedingly powerful in Texas. It affects all our lives. In addition to presiding over the State Senate, the Lt. Governor appoints all Senate committees, their chairmen, and assigns all legislation to the committee of his choice. He presides over the Legislative Budget Board, which significantly shapes state spending. It is an office all Texans ought to be concerned about.

I hope you will watch for this column. Tell your friends and neighbors about it. Discuss the issues. Together, we can make a contribution to the political processes, and hopefully improve all our lives. Let me know your views on the issues I discuss in the weeks ahead. Just write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, Texas, 78705.
