Sarpalius Announces Candidacy For State Senate

BILL SARPALIUS

Bill Sarpalius has authorized The Hansford Plainsman, The Spearman Reporter and The Gruver Statesman to announce his candidacy for election to the Texas State Senate for the 31st District subject to the Democratic Primary in May.

We are now entering a new decade, the 1980's. We are very fortunate as a country, as a state, as a community, and as individuals to be living in the most prosperous time known to Man. Today we have more luxuries, more opportunities, more challenges, and more to be thankful for than any other time in history. It is my hope and prayer that we continue to grow to make the future even brighter for our children and for their children to come.

The Lord has been very good to me and my family, and I am very thankful for the opportunities that have come my way. I am very grateful to the people of the Texas Panhandle who have helped me and have given me a second chance in life by supporting Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. Boys Ranch provided a home for me and my two brothers. It was there at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch that I first gained the desire to work with people. I learned that it is better to give than to receive.

The Lord has provided me with opportunities to serve people by working for Boys Ranch for five years as a staff member and school teacher, and in working for Speaker of the House, Bill Clayton, for two years. During this time I was involved in trying to help solve many problems affecting each of us.

I would like to serve the people of this area in another capacity, so I am today announcing my candidacy for the Texas State Senate for the 31st District subject to the Democratic Primary.

I am starting this campaign with nothing but a lot of desire and dreams, dreams of a brighter future for our state and for our community, and for each of you as individuals. I believe I can become an effective voice for the people of West Texas because I can relate to the problems we are facing in agriculture due to the two degrees which I hold in agriculture and because I have been involved in farming and ranching most of my life. I realize the importance of agriculture to our economy and to the future of our area. However, I don't intend to be a one issue candidate and there are other areas of concern to me.

I believe I can relate to the problems in education because I have been a school teacher, and I know the importance of a good education and what an important role it plays in the future of our state. I believe I can relate to the problems of business because I know the importance of the word "profit", the struggles that every business person must go through to maintain that profit.

I believe I can be an effective voice for you because of the experience I have gained through working in state government. I understand the Legislative process, how you must work very hard on bills that you will introduce, and at the same time must work to stop any legislation that could hurt West Texas. At the same time, to be an effective Senator, you must be able to work closely with the members of the House from this area. I believe that team work is missing now. To become an effective Senator one must be willing to serve the people on the grass root level. I don't intend to be a Senator who sits behind a desk and waits for people to come to me, but I intend to go to the people.

I feel we've got to put the government back into the hands of the people. As your Senator, I'll know what your opinions are and what your concerns are and what your suggestions are because I'm going to ask you all the time. I won't be a Senator who asks for your help every four years only when election time rolls around, because I want to represent you all the time, not just at election time. If you're having trouble with a state agency or if you think the Legislature ought to be handling some matter differently, I'll carry your message back to Austin. It's your government, but I know that there is a feeling by people everywhere that it's gotten too big, too out of touch. That's one reason I want to be your Senator--to put the government back in your hands.

One important way I intend to put the government back into your hands is by employing a full time traveling van--a "mobile office"--in this District to visit every town and community on a regular basis. I have witnessed the value of such a "mobile office" for the citizens and I pledge to implement this idea if I am elected.

As I mentioned earlier, I am starting this race with nothing but a lot of desire and a lot of dreams, but I feel very confident that if we work together as a team we can make the next decade, the 1980's, the most prosperous ten years the Texas Panhandle has ever known.

Wilson Injured In One-Car Accident

Danny Wilson of Gruver was injured in a pickup roll-over at McKibben, Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. He was driving a yellow LUV pickup, and was going North into McKibben, when he missed the turn after crossing a cattle guard. The pickup left the highway and hit a corner post on the drivers side. Wilson was found by two men who stated that when they arrived at the scene, he quit breathing and they immediately pulled him from the pickup and cleared his mouth and he began breathing again. The Spearman rescue people arrived within minutes and after working with the victim in a very professional fashion, loaded him in the ambulance and he was brought to Spearman. Doctors treated him and he was rushed to Amarillo, where we learn today (Friday) that he is going to survive the wreck. It was one of the worst 1 pickup accidents we have covered for the local paper, and we must thank the local rescue people for such tremendous job, especially Danny from the wreck when he quit breathing!

Sales Tax Received

The City of Spearman received a sales tax check in the amount of $8,254.05 for the tax period ending 12-28-79. This is compared to the amount for the same period in 1978 which was $4,195.11, up 96%.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said the increase is due more to changes in bookkeeping systems and late files tax returns from taxpayers than significant increases in sales.

HOW TO ESCAPE FIRE SAFELY

You are awakened in the dead of night by the smell of smoke. If you panic, wondering how to get your family out of the house safely, you'll waste precious, life-saving minutes. Advance planning a vital.

Sit down with your family and plan two escape routes for everyone. The first should be the easiest, most logical way - for example, through the hall, down the stairs and out. The second is the emergency exit when halls and stairwells are blocked by smoke. This exit is most likely to be through a bedroom window.

Make sure all windows, screens, etc., can be opened easily, especially by children. If windows are on the second floor or higher, buy rope or chain ladders that can be lowered to the ground and keep them near the windows for immediate access.

Decide on a meeting place outside so you will know when everyone is out. No one should re-enter a burning house. Equip your home with smoke detectors. They're inexpensive, reliable and can give you the minutes of advance warning that can make escape so much faster.

Faye's Daze

Good ole' January!!! I have been busy working for the Infernal (that is not a typographical error) Revenue Service, State Comptroller, etc. with more to go. I noticed I didn't make a deposit in 1979 for one tax that I should have, I hope that if they send me to prison it will be to one of those minimum security places like the Watergate gang. Maybe you don't have to fill out tax returns there.

I told the boss this week that I thought his car license needed to be renewed. He said, "OH NO, I got that last month". Well it turns out he didn't get that last month, but this week he got a ticket for driving an unlicensed vehicle. He came back from Perryton yesterday driving a Vega van or station wagon or something. I wonder if it has a current license on it. I guess one way to find out is to get out on the highway in it.

Speaking of the boss and cars, he has the van fever. Everyone he sees is prettier than the last one. He has to have red one he thinks.

One thing I like about January is the beautiful weather we have had. As compared to last year, when I thought we must certainly be in the ice age, this is wonderful. I know we need moisture, but I prefer a nice warm rain rather than a cold, cold snowstorm.

Everyone is talking about the current price of gold and its sharp rise. I guess I don't have to worry, about the only gold I own is in my mouth, and at the price it is today I sure hope that I don't need any more.

Allen Pierce came in and wanted to know when the blizzard of 1957 occurred. He knew it was in March, but needed the date. We got the 1957 book out and scanned through it and found that the date was March 24. The pictures and stories reminded me of the blizzard, Oct. 30, but there was much more snow. There were stories of stranded motorists, loss of cattle, no utilities, etc. So I guess we can have blizzard in March as well as October.

WHAT'S COOKING?

This is a fermenting compost pile actually cooking in its own juices. The microbes are breaking down the raw materials and building the elements into new compounds, which will later enhance the soil fortunate enough to receive it. Weed seeds and disease organisms are eliminated during the cooking process and odors are consumed into the fertilizers produced.

Soil Test Vs. Plant Utilization Recommendations

Discussions of the merits of different fertilizer methods for field crops nearly always centers around what and how much fertilizer should be applied. But there are two different methods for determining these answers, Hansford County Extension Agent Layton Barton noted.

"The first method is to recommend fertilizers based upon a soil test and field research. Another method is to recommend fertilizers based upon plant utilization," he said. To determine the method best meeting his own needs, a producer should look at the advantages and disadvantages of each method, said Dr. Dale Pennington, Extension area soil chemist. Then the producer should compare the costs of fertilizer recommended by the two methods.

Plant Utilization Method
Applying every nutrient required by a crop is easier and may provide good insurance against deficiencies, but this approach is expensive, Pennington said.

"The expense is related to the fact that three potential errors are committed each time it is utilized," Pennington said. These errors, which disregard what it occurring in the soil, are:

- 1) The plant utilization fertilizer recommendation does not assume that the soil furnishes available nutrients to a crop.
- 2) The plant utilization recommendation disregards that fertilizers can accumulate in the soil.
- 3) The plant utilization fertilizer recommendation does not make allowances for other limiting factors such as limited water, day lengths, temperatures, and soil problems.

"A soil test recommendation requires good soil samples before a valid recommendation can be provided," Pennington said. "This step requires extra time and effort. However, even with this disadvantage, you will see that the weakness of the plant utilization fertilizer recommendations are the strong factors for using soil testing."

1) A soil test first measures the level of the plant nutrient in the soil. What can be obtained from this effort is that soils with high levels of nutrients seldom receive unneeded fertilizers.

For example, Table 1 evaluates the soil phosphorus/fertility status of Hansford County soils from soil tests.

Table 1. Phosphorus level of Hansford County soil tested.

Phosphorus Level (P)	ppm	%
Very Low	0-15.9
Low	5-8	28.1
Medium	9-17	43.1
High	18-43	20.6
Very High	44-223	7.1

Results in Table indicate that only 7 percent of the soils test very low in phosphorus. Therefore, only about one-fourteenth of the soils in Hansford County should require phosphorus rates equivalent to those rates recommended by plant utilization recommendations. The other 93 percent of the soils would require lower amounts of phosphorus or no phosphorus to produce economical sorghum or corn yields. Similar data can be established for other plant nutrients.

- 2) Since the soil nutrient levels are measured by soil testing, fields can be found where plant nutrients have accumulated from fertilizer build-up.
- 3) Soil test fertilizer recommendations are correlated

Ireland is almost bare of trees, but its lush grass has earned it the name "Emerald Isle."

Professional Approach To Soil Sampling

Two major reasons suggest the need for good soil sampling to have soil analyzed in the Texas Panhandle. A primary reason is so the producer can apply the proper amounts and grades of fertilizer to his cropland. The second major reason is that following last year's hail in the Gruver, Hitchland area previously applied fertilizer may not have been utilized.

A good soil sample and a soil test will then reduce production costs, said Layton Barton, Hansford County Extension agent.

Proper Tools
As with all things, proper tools to accomplish the task are required. Suitable tools include the soil sample probe, the auger and sharp shooter shovel, Dr. Dale Pennington, Extension area soil chemist, said. Also, a two-gallon plastic bucket is needed for mixing the sample to prevent contamination of the soil sample and therefore, erroneous soil analysis, he noted.

Normally, the soil sample probe is best suited for sampling in Hansford County. "The sandy soils are easily cored and sampled; however, with out clay loam soils, the core frequently get stuck inside the probe. The remedy to this problem is to cut the nipple off the probe and sharpen the edge on a grinder," Barton said.

Field Inspection and Considerations
Prior to going into the field, the overall appearance of the land should be inspected; and if aerial maps are available, study them, Pennington said.

This gives the producer an opportunity to sample problem sites separately so problems associated with depression area, old fence rows, seep area, and gullies can be identified.

Next, map all these unusual areas, note terrain features that will help locate problem sites and identify the farm for future reference.

Consider these points prior to sampling. How is the land irrigated, sprinkler or furrow? If the land is furrow irrigated, the best sample site is about halfway down the bed. The sample on the bed prevents one from getting into high salt levels that form on the tops of beds during dry spells. If stand problems due to salt have occurred, one should be sampling the top of the bed to determine salt levels and intensity of this problem.

Consider if the land was broadcast or band fertilized. Avoid sampling from last year's band, if possible, Pennington said.

The Presence of Hard Pans
Sampling time is a good period to take notes on soil compaction and plow pans. If the soil prevents the probe from penetrating the soil, it is doubtful crop roots will penetrate. A good figure to keep in mind is a soil test probe will exert about 12,000 pounds per square inch if pushed into the soil by an individual weighing 200 pounds. If the probe does not penetrate, it is comparable to the penetration of a growing root on a vinyl tile floor.

Proper Sampling
Normally, a soil sample at plow depth is adequate which is about six inches deep. If a subsoil sample has never been taken, use samples from several sites to look at nutrient status below the surface. Subsoil fertility status is very important in deep-rooted crops such as soybeans.

The next question that needs answering is, "How many subsamples and what size field should a single sample represent?" If a field is uniform, then 10 to 15 subsamples per 100 acres should be adequate for a good soil analysis. Fewer subsamples and a larger area are possible if the field has never been fertilized.

Prior to taking small samples, scrape the litter from the surface, then use a spade, soil auger or soil sampling tube. To use a sharp shooter, dig a V-shaped hole and take a 1/2 inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Repeat in 10 to 15 different places.

Place subsamples in a clean container (plastic bucket, paper sack, etc.), mix thoroughly, and take out approximately one pint for the composite sample.

To aid in interpreting the soil test and making recommendations, fill in Form D575, "Soil Sample Information Sheet for Field Crops", as completely as possible and submit with your soil samples.

Each soil sample should be marked with your name and sample number which should correspond with the information furnished on your information sheet. Mark the analysis desired and include the proper fee. Information sheets can be picked up at your county Extension agent's office of the Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock.

Special Bible Study Planned

Dr. Roy Collins, former pastor of the First Baptist Church in Dalhart and presently with the First Baptist Church in Greenville, Texas, will lead in a special series of studies entitled "Ephesians: God's New People." First Baptist Church, Gruver, will host these studies which are set for January 21-24 at 7:00 p.m. each evening. Dr. Collins will teach adults and young people. Classes will also be provided for other groups, plus a nursery.

Dr. Collins is uniquely qualified to teach this course. He is a graduate of Howard College, Big Spring, Texas; has a BS degree from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas; and M. Div. and D. Fertility Survey For County Hansford County producers who fertilize according to tradition or apply the same rate as their neighbors could be wasting expensive fertilizers, the Extension area soil chemist cautions. A recent soil fertility survey indicates that such practices are questionable, he said.
The survey was made from 626 soil tests from analyses made in several previous years, Dr. Dale Pennington, the soil chemist, said.
While surveying these samples, the soils were separated into five categories: very high, high, medium, low and very low. Percentages were calculated for each category and this step was accomplished for the nitrogen, phosphorus and zinc levels.
"Results of our nitrogen survey indicate that Hansford County soil nitrogen levels separated in this manner: very high, 5 percent; high, 12.8 percent; medium, 16.3 percent; low, 24.3 percent, and very low, 41.4 percent," he said.
Soil phosphorus levels separated as follows: 7.1 percent, very high; 20.6 percent, high; 43.1 percent, medium; 28.1 percent, low, and 15.9 percent, very low.
The survey indicated that all the 626 potassium analyses tested very high.
Zinc analysis indicated that only 39 samples needed zinc. A majority of the soil analysis did not have zinc run on them. "This data indicates that many of our producers may need to have the zinc levels tested in their soils," Pennington said.
"Results of this survey indicated our soils are variable and that fertilizer recommendations could range from none to sizeable amounts to produce a crop," he said. For example, 7,000 pounds per acre milo with nitrogen testing very high, the nitrogen recommendation would be none. However, if it were tested very low, the nitrogen level required about 140 pounds per acre.

GOLD facts and fancies
Among the earliest uses of gold were the sculpted figures of rams, frogs and apes worn by ancient Babylonians some 4,000 years ago to ward off illness and evil.
One of the most prevalent uses of gold is to recognize and reward distinction. That helps explain why I. W. Harper "Gold Medal" is such a popular Kentucky Straight Bourbon whiskey—and such a treasured gift.
One of the least-known uses of gold is in radioactive isotopes in biological research and the treatment of cancer.
One of the most unusual qualities of gold is that neither hydrochloric nor sulfuric acid alone can dissolve it.
