USDA Authorizes Grazing & Haying Of 1979 Wheat

Farmers who planted wheat for 1979 harvest now have another option to consider: They may graze or cut hay on their wheat acreage, secretary of agriculture Bob Bergland said today. Wheat grazed or cut for hay under the special acreage grazing and hay program will qualify for the same deficiency payment rate as wheat harvested for grain.

Wheat program participants will be allowed to graze cattle or cut hay on wheat acreage equal to the higher of (1) 50 acres or (2) 40 percent or their total intended plantings or wheat, feed grains (Corn, sorghum and barley) and upland cotton.

"We are taking this action to encourage the production of more beef later on this year," Bergland said, "Calves now on wheat pasture ordinarily would have to come off and be sold about March 15 to permit the wheat to mature for harvest, while the action we are taking today would permit them to remain an additional 60 days or 50. This should result in slightly higher rates of grain and therefore more beef later on this year. It should also encourage the movement of a few more calves onto wheat pasture and more beef from those calves as well.

"While the impacts of this action will be slight, it should non-the-less slow the expected increase in beef prices," he said.

Producers participating in the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program must also comply with crop acreage (NCA) requirements and with set-aside requirements for wheat harvested for grain and feed grain crops planted on their farm(s). There will be no advance payment or minimum payment guarantee this year as was provided to 1978 special wheat acreage grazing and hay program participants. The deficiency payment rate for 1978-crop wheat was 52 cents per bushel.

The 1979 wheat deficiency payment rate will be determined in December and will be the difference between the established price (13.40 per bushel) and the higher of either the national average market price during the first five months (June through October) of the marketing year, or the national loan rate (12.35).

Producers wishing to use this option may indicate their intentions at their local agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) county office during the 1979 wheat and feed grains program sign-up period currently underway. The sign-up period ends April 30.

Its purpose is to awaken within the youth of our nation a sincere conviction that a well-formed, intelligent, participating citizenry is most vitally needed to protect and preserve our American institutions, our American democracy. It is a mythical 51st State where, for a period, the citizens of Girls State organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures. They learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices. They introduce and debate their own bills in a legislature. Justice is administered by their own law enforcement agencies and courts. In Girls State the young citizens "learn by doing."

PROTECTION AGAINST INFLATION

One of the biggest problems we face is inflation. It hits every one. No matter where we go and what we do, the problem of higher prices for products and services confronts us. We have no choice but to face it and deal with it.

We can, however, protect ourselves from it to a large extent by means of inflation insurance. It can't stop inflation from rising, but it can see to it that you're not caught napping by making sure your home and possessions don't outgrow their protection. It's available on both Homeowner and Tenant policies. With this type of insurance, the dollar amount of your policy is AUTOMATICALLY increased as the value of homes has increased dramatically--almost spectacularly--during the past number of years. Yet, some policyholders may still have the same coverage they had when they first took out their insurance! Inflation insurance is like a silent guardian that watches over the policyholder, constantly checking his investments, home, furniture, etc.--to see to it that the replacement coverage keeps pace with rising values.

Chamber of Commerce Release

Been to a garage sale lately? What a fantastic experience. Bargain buying at such events is mind boggling.

It doesn't seem to matter if the item is useful, unworkable or out-of-date. The price is the thing.

Someone said that one person's junk becomes another's treasure... at least temporarily.

When the glow fades, the purchase is usually added to the growing pile of former treasures in the attic, the basement or a storeroom.

But it was a bargain. Buying something just because it's cheap serves no real purpose, but it's done every day.

Some folk want to get something for nothing. Often they find the item is worth just that--nothing!

A good product takes time to develop. Skills are needed in research, design and production. That has to have a price tag.

Quality counts--and a discerning buyer can identify quality at a glance. More importantly, the wise buyer will pay the price.

And consider the purchase bargain.

Communities deserve a quality product in the management of their affairs. An effective chamber of commerce is more than just a bargain--its a real buy.

WATER

A special Department of Agriculture hearing on irrigation problems costs and issues will be held in Lubbock on March 28, at 10:00 a.m. in the Civic Center. Everyone is encouraged to attend this hearing so that the high level Department of Agriculture officials will know how concerned we are about our water situation.

There has been much rhetoric lately about those "bad radical farmers" who descended on Washington, D.C. with their tractors for the apparent purpose according to the news media, of making tracks on the mall. I would like to present the other side of the coin. I was involved in the National tractorcade from its inception. I am personally acquainted with virtually everyone of the people in this nation today. Concerned citizens who were willing to sacrifice a portion of their lives and their fortunes to try to save your farms and mine, your community and mine, and your nation and mine!

They were aware that our rural communities could not long exist in this inflation ridden society with grain producers receiving less for their commodities than they received in 1948! They were aware that the present farm bill has placed a ceiling price on wheat and feed grains at levels which will only equal to 1948 prices! They were aware that 1948 prices and 1979 costs equal only one thing, disaster for rural America. And so they committed themselves to trying to awaken America before it is too late by taking their tractors from their fields to the Nations highways heading East, traveling eighteen days through rain, sleet, snow, and blizzard to ultimately arrive in the Nations Capitol to a planned reception which was unbelievable, even to the citizenry of Washington, D.C.

Thousands of farmers, tractors, trucks, and campers traveled eighteen days through cities such as Oklahoma City, Little Rock, Memphis, Nashville, Dallas, Shreveport, Atlanta, Charleston, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Cleveland without so much as a traffic ticket. All along the routes people greeted the tractorcade with flags and banners, good luck signs, and applause! It all ended however, when we crossed the Potomac.

We had secured our camp sites around the city at Bull Run Campground, Pohic Campground, and Greenbelt Campground, where we intended to return each night with our tractors after lobbying during the day. The police, however, had different plans. Buses, wreckers, garbage trucks, and snow plows had been gathered close to the mall before we entered the city on the morning of February 5th. The police were out in force. If a tractor was moving to slow, or if it turned the wrong direction, windows were immediately broken with night-sticks, and farmers were dragged from their cabs and arrested. Tempers flared but at no time did I see a farmer raise a hand against a police officer. I did, however see several farmers beaten unmercifully before being carried off and arrested. It was apparent that the police were trying to insight a reason for their previous laid plans.

As we approached the mall area in front of the Capitol, thousands of police directed the tractors into the mall area and instructed the tractor drivers to park on the grass and off of the streets! When the farmers objected to driving on the grass they were threatened with arrest if they did not obey the orders! After the tractors, trucks, and campers had all been forced into the mall, the buses, wreckers, garbage trucks, and snow plows were lined up bumper to bumper completely surrounding the mall. A stockade of forty acres was formed with only two gates in and out and heavily guarded by police. We were then informed that we would not be allowed to leave to return to our previously rented campgrounds.

Of course we were very angry and perplexed. We realized that our tractors could, at any time, push through the enclosure but it would only result with further confrontation with the police and possible bloodshed. I feel the farmers should be commended for their restraint in keeping a bad situation from getting worse.

To say the situation inside the mall was confused would be putting it mildly. Groups who had traveled together had become separated. Approximately fifteen hundred tractors and as many support vehicles began trying to get regrouped. In the process of backing and turning and parking a few small trees were accidentally run over by dual tires, a few trash cans smashed, and park benches busted. But considering the magnitude of the vehicles and the size of the area, I feel the damage was very minimal to what it could have been if the farmers would have wanted to be destructive. As one farmer was heard to remark to a newsman, "You don't force a bull into a china shop without expecting a little china to get broken!"

Then came the "blizzard of '79." Twenty-four inches of snow fell in a twenty-four hour period. The city was paralyzed. Nothing could move. Hospitals were without help, fire trucks and ambulances could not run, and police could not patrol. Gangs broke into grocery stores and looted.

Calls went out to the farmers for help. They responded just as they would have responded at home. The only problem was that the police would not allow all of our tractors out of the compound. For four days, 24 hours a day, we hauled doctors and nurses to the hospitals. We dragged ambulances and fire-trucks to emergencies. We delivered medicines, we carried heart patients to hospitals, we pushed snow from parking lots, we opened streets, and we pulled thousands of cars from snow drifts. We established two command centers and instructed radio and T.V. stations how to contact us for emergency help. We received calls from the Pentagon, the National Guard, the C.I.A., the police stations, the hospitals, the fire stations, and yes, even the U.S.D.A. requesting aid to clear the snow. And we did it, with no thought of pay. We did it because we were farmers and our assistance was needed. We also gave several pints of blood when the blood bank got low.

The people of Washington were grateful. Plaques and certificates of appreciation were presented to us, stating that they would always support the farmers in their efforts! Houses were opened to us for as long as we wished to stay. The attitude of the police changed. Those on duty "guarding" the farmers became more open and friendly. One policeman apologized to me for the way we had been treated. He said he had been on the police for twenty-four years and that no protestors had been treated as badly as the farmers. They only followed orders, he said!

I visited with an employee of the park service responsible for the upkeep of the mall. He said that the damage figures being quoted were highly exaggerated. He also said the appropriate ions had been made last December to reseed the forty acres where the tractors were impounded and that the contracts had already been let. This would indicate why, when we offered to reseed the mall free of charge, we were refused! And now to add insult to injury, Mr. Bob Bergland, the man who is supposed to represent agriculture, the man who by his inaction caused the farmers to take their tractors to Washington; the man who accused farmers of being greedy and poor businessmen, the man who only last week told the Democratic Caucus of the House Agriculture Committee that he did not intend to let agriculture have any increase whatsoever in 1979, not even to cover inflation, and who said we were lucky that he didn't lower the target prices and take away some of our prices; is quoted on the front page of our local newspaper as advocating that farmers across the nation donate money to repair the mall!

He has also been quoted as saying that the farmers in Washington have hurt the image of the American farmer. The image that the majority of the people have of the farmer is that he is a bare-footed, over-all wearing, straw chewing yokel with a straw hat on his head and a pitchfork in his hand, a second class citizen who only deserves a second class living. I can't see how that image can be hurt greatly. In fact, I think we probably opened the eyes of the general public and made them aware that we are capable of standing up for our rights.

I would leave you with this thought. If the present news media had been around two hundred and six years ago when that small band of farmers had guts enough to dump some tea in Boston harbor, they would have been branded as radicals, a cry would have gone out across the colonies for donations to repay the King for the tea, and you and I would still be living under the Kings dominion.

Faye's Daze

I received this letter this week. I hope you enjoy reading it as much as I did. I think I know who this No. 1 fan is but since I'm not positive I guess I'll keep it to myself. By the way, No. 1 fan, how about getting you to write this column for me. You do a better job than I do.

Dear Faye's Daze,

Today, I whipped out the recipe for "Stuff" featured in a recent column of yours. Since the outside temperature was forty degrees, you did specify this was tasty on a cold day if I recall---forty degrees does qualify I hope--- and since eldest was home from college, since Father loves new recipes, since my parents were coming for lunch and they had been out of town several days with circumstances requiring them to eat in restaurants and enjoying delightful treats from vending machines, I considered "Stuff" appropriate fare for Thursday lunch.

Well now, here is the problem. After cooking for nearly twenty-one years, I still cannot read "a pinch of this, a dab of that" type recipe. Having no canned tomatoes for the rice, I substituted tomatoe sauce---okay, so far. Browned the meat, added a rather large can of beans and then was ready to mix everything together. You forgot to mention this "Stuff" grows! Great-grandma's black kettle might have accommodated all the ingredients, but grandpa had used it for frying fish, so I scared up the biggest roasting pan quickly available. Meanwhile, the sink is running over with several graduated sizes of casserole dishes. With a great deal of smug satisfaction, "Stuff" finally was placed in the oven. Then to my horror, I read the fine print stating, "Stir in cheese chunks and place Fritos on top of last ten minutes of cooking time." Good grief, I had already dumped the whole thing in aforementioned pan. Thankfully, this procedure did not prove too disastrous. However, after the meal, my dad asked if he would get Alka-Seltzer after lunch or should he come back later for a dose. I really do love him and I love your column, too.

Oh by the way, it is now past suppertime and Dad has not made an appearance for a plop, plop, fizz, fizz treatment. My, my, you don't suppose--- I might better lock the back door and take the phone off the hook. Sincerely, Your # 1 Fan

Letter To The Editor

Just a note to tell you that you did a fine job on the stock show articles. The kids needed all the help they could get.

ARMY CUTWORMS
Wheat producers should be on the lookout for Army cutworms in their wheat. Several producers have already sprayed for the cutworm and others are noticing considerable damage to their wheat.

The Army cutworm attacks wheat and causes damage by cutting off plants at or near the soil surface and then feeds on the fallen plant.

The larvae are pale green, greenish-gray to brown with black pale stripes and finely spotted with white and brown but without prominent marks.

The army cutworm larvae are active mostly at night and hide in the soil and under surface trash during the day. Several pesticides are recommended for control of the cutworm, however, most producers are using Toxaphene and having good luck with it. Remember, whatever pesticide is used, read the label and follow instructions.

For more information on the cutworm or recommended pesticides contact the Extension office at 659-2136 or 733-2901.

Swine Shortcourse To Be Held

The potential advantages for small commercial pork producers and purebred swine breeders who use frozen semen for herd reproduction is one of the topics to be explored at the annual Texas A&M University Swine Shortcourse here Wednesday, April 4.

Leading the discussion will be Keith Olson, director and chief operating officer of International Boar Semen in Eldora, Iowa. He is one of 11 leading animal scientists and producers from Texas and four other states who will conduct the course. Their topics will focus on the latest methods and strategies in management and production.

The shortcourse at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 4:15 p.m. There is a $7 registration fee, said Dr. Robert S. Cohen, Extension area swine specialist at Lubbock.

The course is organized and sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Co-operating are the department of animal science at Texas A&M, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn., and Texas Pork Producers Board.

Artificial insemination of swine offers several possible advantages to the pork producer, Cohen noted. One is a reduction in the number of boars needed to carry out a breeding program. It also provides access to semen from outstanding boars, provides a source of semen for the small producer who can't justify maintaining a herd sire, and reduces the chances of introducing boars, provides a source of semen for the small producer who can't justify maintaining a herd sire, and reduces the chances of introducing a disease into the herd during breeding.

Olson will discuss such factors as conception rates, storage and shipment of semen, and procedures for artificial insemination.

In addition to heading IBS, Olson directs three swine production operations in Iowa. These are a 650-sow feeder pig unit, a 6,000-head swine finishing operation, and a 450-sow feeder pig unit. Olson also directs a 100,000 commercial layer flock and is a partner in a contract egg production operation.

He holds a degree in agricultural education from Iowa State University.

General Revenue

Fund In Red

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said a "cash gap" would put the state's general revenue fund in the red sometime this week in spite of the fact the state has a huge cash surplus on hand.

"The state isn't broke, going broke or breaking the budget. Texas has sufficient funds to meet its financial obligations and is far from being bankrupt," Bullock said.

Records show that the general revenue fund has been in the red some 60 times during the past ten years.

The general revenue fund handles all state monies for which a specific fund has not been designated and is the source of financing for most state agencies.

The fund—one of 300 used to account for state revenue—is permitted by law to show a negative balance.

Bullock said the general revenue fund would be about $200 million short, noting that the Comptroller's Funds Management Division shows an overall cash balance in state funds of about $2 billion.

He said expenditures from the general revenue fund have been traditionally heavier during the first six months of the fiscal year than receipts during the same period.

It has always balanced out over a full 12-month period, Bullock said.

Bullock said the State Treasurer has the ability to cover warrants drawn on the general revenue fund by using other uncommitted state monies.

"We simply need to get it out of the savings account and put it into the checking account to pay for this week's groceries," Bullock said.

Stanford G. Ross, SS
Commissioner, on $69 billion uncredited earnings since 1937:

"Usually these incorrect wage reports are for short-term and transient labor, such as restaurant workers or car wash employees."
