"TWO BITS WORTH"

BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

This Country Editor doesn't want much. Just 1970 wages, 1974 prices and 1974 taxes. TBW

My family and I would like to express our appreciation for the confidence shown us in the recent City Council Election. We feel it a real honor and pleasure that we were chosen to represent the tax payers of the City of Tahoka.

TBW

We understand that Maurice Small was given a ticket by Police Chief Jack Miller for bumping another car over at City Hall the other day. We doubt very much though if Maurice will be convicted, since he is City Judge. Pete Hegi, Clint Walker, Mel Leslie and several others were selected as jurors on the matter but Judge Small ruled them incompetent. Judge Small claims a default in the ticket saying that where it plainly stated color of hair that Jack Miller had written bald. That being the case, Judge Small claims it should be tried by the Yellow Dogs or by a jury of bald headed men. The results had not been released at press time.

A sobering thought for every youth to ponder is that somebody he will know as little as his father knows now.

The beloved Will Rogers enjoyed and appreciated newspapers. He was a columnist himself and thoroughly enjoyed his newspaper work.

All he knew, he said, was what he read in the paper. Some more of his thoughts on his newspaper bear passing on.

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even my chili, but leave my newspaper. Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly and bloodshed ensued, 'or' Jesse Bushyhead, our local M.D., is having one of the best years in his career, practically speaking, but they just won't pay him when they get well.' And 'Election isn't far off, and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'"

"Now all that doesn't mean news to you. But it is news, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So, no matter how punk you think your local newspaper is, let them take it away from you for a while and see how you feel. The old newspaper, I think, is about our biggest blessing. So let's read and be merry, for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."

O'Donnell Man Tells Car Hobby

Benny Edwards, one of the outstanding young farmers of the O'Donnell area, told Tahoka Rotarians in a talk here last Thursday about his hobby of restoring antique automobiles.

Edwards said cars become classed as antiques when 35 years old. Among the cars he has restored, most of which he sold, have been 1928 and 1930 Cadillacs, 1927 Nash, 1933 Terraplane, 1935 Ford, 1937 Chevrolet, and 1939 Pontiac. The 1927 Nash is now on display in the new museum at Gall.

Restoring old cars is a nationwide hobby, especially popular on the West and East coasts. Some of them bring almost fabulous prices.

Wilton Payne, who introduced the speaker said Edwards farms about 1800 acres, raises livestock, and was selected as the outstanding Texas Young Farmer of 1968.

He was accompanied by Harold Hahn and Harold Sanders of O'Donnell Rotary Club.

The club voted to again sponsor a foreign student visitor to Tahoka this summer, the 16th year the club has participated in the program.

Several local Rotarians expect to attend the annual conference of Rotary District 573 in Plainville April 23, 24 and 25.

Treasurer J.P. Hewlett reported nearly $500.00 profit from the recent turkey shoot, which funds will be used by the club's community projects.

Ten Former Tahoka FHA Members Majoring In Home Economics In College

Editors note: The Lynn County News felt it very appropriate to run pictures and a story of girls from our local FHA Chapter that have continued these studies in college since this is National FHA Week. Our Advertisers have helped us congratulate them on another page in this issue and we would like to express our appreciation to them.

Ten former members of the Tahoka Chapter of FHA are currently enrolled in college majoring in home economics. Eight of these girls received the FHA State Degree of Achievement their senior year in high school. All of the ten served as officers of the Tahoka FHA chapter.

All of the above, except Jill Edwards, are enrolled in the School of Home Economics at Texas Tech University. Jill is attending Sam Houston University.

One of the purposes of Future Homemakers of America is to further interest in home economics, home economics careers and related occupations. These girls are preparing for occupations in the field of home economics including teaching and Child Development.

The girls enrolled are Elva Jo Edwards, Mary Beth Kiser, Jane Owen, Debbie Wright, Jan Roberts Crawford, Chloe Jan Huffaker, Charlotte Warren Huffaker, Lexi Adams, Mary Ellen Wyatt, and Jill Edwards.

National FHA Week, April 5-11, will be observed by 12,000 local chapters of Future Homemakers of America across the country. Theme for the week is "25 YEARS OF STERLING OPPORTUNITY" in recognition of the FHA's 25th anniversary.

Focusing on the positive contribution of youth to society, this year's objective—"TO PROMOTE COMMUNICATION FOR THE ENRICHMENT OF HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS"—will come alive through projects and activities for FHA members in the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and some American Schools overseas.

National President, Luck Hendrix, a high school senior from Metter, Georgia, explains that National FHA Week provides members everywhere the opportunity to demonstrate that youth does care about improving life both now and in the future. "We know that the future is youth's challenge and that we must prepare for it diligently and creatively." She also feels that "through meaningful communication we can promote understanding and strengthen our relationships with all peoples."

Future Homemakers of America was founded in 1945 and during its existence of 25 years, its programs have served some fifteen million students by broadening the Home Economics education programs and providing opportunities for improving personal, family and community life.

In conjunction with the National Objectives, the theme chosen for the 1970 state meeting for the Texas Association of Future Homemakers to be held in Austin, April 24-25, 1970, will be "OUR WORLD - TO KNOW, TO CARE, TO DO." More than 5,000 members and advisors representing 76,000 members in 1,600 chapters across the state are expected to attend the meeting.

National FHA Week April 5-11

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Jane Vincent, Counseling Psychologist at the Testing and Counseling Center, the University of Texas at Austin. She will speak on the convention theme.

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

"Things are going to get worse unless we plan and fight a war against drug abuse in Texas," Gov. Preston Smith told the Conference on Public Health and Drugs.

Noting that in the past 10 years "Arrests of teenagers for drug abuse increased 800 per cent," Smith urged the conference to come up with new means of controlling and preventing drug problems, as well as reviewing what is being done.

"We need to examine penalties," he said.

"The drug offender who is caught is often very young. He may have been pressured into experimentation with drugs."

"Yet, within the legal machinery, his punishment can be as severe as that of a dope pusher, or seller."

"Is this fair? Or is it out of proportion with the crime?" Smith asked.

Earlier Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes accompanied by newsmen, law officers and government officers -- toured drug treatment and mental health facilities over the state. On the trip, Barnes proposed a State drug center near a medical school for treatment, rehabilitation and research.

Later, Barnes joined Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin at the meeting of the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Committee with the Texas Education Agency to hear what plans the agency has developed for teaching a course on the dangers of drugs and crime, as required by the last Legislature.

Speaking to the meeting, Martin expressed concern over the increasing use of heroin, which, he said, is becoming a major problem.

Involving young people in the program will be necessary if it is successful, the Attorney General said because "no program of narcotics control can ever be effective unless the young people themselves want it to be effective."

BILINGUAL DISTRICTS PICKED -- Thirteen Texas school districts have been selected by the U.S. Department of Education to submit plans for a bilingual education program during the 1970-71 school year.

They are Alamo Heights, Northside Independent School District and South Side ISD, all of San Antonio; Alice; Colorado City; Corpus Christi; Del Valle; Edinburg; El Paso; Galveston; Kingsville; Orange Grove and Port Isabel.

Children three to 18 with limited English-speaking ability will be benefited. Seventy-six other districts now operate under bilingual program funding.

$1 MILLION PARK ACCEPTED State officials took deed to the 4,800-acre scenic Wheatley Ranch for a state park, after Governor Smith handed a $930,465 check to Mrs. C.A. Wheatley of San Antonio.

The major park development, with anticipated federal aid, is in the planning stage. Reporters could not help pointing out that the state could have had the entire Wheatley property, with wild game, river frontage, waterfalls, fish and stands of trees -- absolutely free eight years ago. Deal fell through when the legislature failed to provide the requested $250,000 for development.

Meanwhile, the Governor has requested federal study of possible release of the Matagorda Island military installation in Calhoun County for recreational purposes.

COURTS SPEAK -- Supreme Court set an April 29 hearing on the question whether a businessman can collect damages for libel if a credit rating agency puts out an incorrect report that he has filed for bankruptcy. A Midland businessman brought suit against Dun & Bradstreet which corrected its error.

High Court heard arguments on the question of whether the residence of the district superintendent of the Methodist Church conference is tax exempt. Also booked for hearing is the tax-exempt status of officially-declared historic sites.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the life sentence for robbery by assault given a Lubbock man, despite expert testimony he was mentally retarded.

Uncorroborated testimony of one who may have been an accomplice cannot be used alone to sustain a conviction for possession of marijuana, Court of Criminal Appeals held.

Lawsuits have been filed in federal court in El Paso to force district courts, courts of civil appeals and justice of the peace courts redistricting in line with the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court.

APPOINTMENTS -- Governor Smith named Marvin E. Blackburn Jr. of Junction presiding Judge of Sixth Administrative Judicial District. He succeeds the late Judge Roger Thurmond of Del Rio.

Other appointments by Smith include:

Trinity River Authority: James Philip Gibbs Jr., Huntsville; Paul H. Caughan Jr., Trinity; John Dunagan Derven, Waxahatchie; and Obie Paul Leonard, Fort Worth.

Nueces River Conservation and Reclamation District Board of Directors: Tom E. Powers of San Antonio; and re-appointments: Ramiro R. Ramirez, Alice; Melvin Rowland, Uvalde; Harry J. Schulz, Three Rivers; B.M. Silva, Carrizo Springs; and J. Bernard Vine of Dilley.

Interim Committee to Study Locations of State-supported Medical Schools: Dr. H. Frank Connally Jr., Waco; Dr. Robert P. May Jr., El Paso; Dr. James R. Schofield, Houston; and Lewis Dodson, Amarillo.

BUILDING DESIGNERS SELECTED -- Two Austin architectural firms -- Page-Southernland-Page and Brooks, Barr, Graeber and White -- were picked to design the new multi-million, 10-story State Highway Building here.

Strict rules declare that the building must harmonize with the nearby governor's mansion, state capitol and other structures in the capitol complex. It also must include the old Lundberg Bakery, an Austin landmark which actually will be a part of the new building, serving as a tourist information center.

Estimated design and construction will take about three years.

SHORT SNORTS -- Texas has 18,096 summer Neighborhood Youth Corp job positions for needy.

Secretary of State may administratively forfeit corporate charters for failure to pay franchise taxes, Attorney General Martin has held.

Consumer complaints jumped from 53 in 1967 to 2,757 in 1969 with creation of the new attorney general's consumer protection division and credit code enactment.

State's first public auction of surplus property (cars, outboard motors, two-way radios, etc.) will be held here April 25.

National Highway Safety program grants went to McKinney and Port Arthur for breath testing devices.

Marlin L. Brochette, a key executive on the Texas Education Agency staff since 1968, has been appointed deputy commissioner of educations, succeeding the late J. Warren Hitt in the number two post.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Stay Sane

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm explores a new way to read newspapers and stay sane.)

Dear editor:

Every once in a while, to get my mind off the trials and tribulations of the world, I start reading a newspaper backwards, starting with the last page and gradually working my way from right to left, postponing as long as I can what some people call the gloom of the front page.

It's surprising how much valuable news you can pick up this way.

For example, last night I read in a short article under a cake recipe that the U. S. Interior Department and Army scientists are urging further study of an idea to bring fresh water to water-short areas of the country by towing icebergs from the Antarctic.

That's right. Icebergs, it said, consist of frozen fresh water, in fact 80 per cent of the world's fresh water is contained in the icebergs up there, so why not have tugs tow them to water-short areas in the United States?

That's all the article said, but it's enough, leaving a man's mind free of the depressing front page news while he meditates on the sight of a tug towing an iceberg to the Atlantic coast and then somebody's hooking it up to it with a tractor I suppose and driving like mad to get it to Arizona before it melts.

Somehow this reminds me of the man who spent years working on a better mouse trap and finally invented one and had already marked out where he wanted the path beaten to his door when some smart-alec invented a rat poison. You can't get to his place now for the weevil.

And then there was the man who opened up a chain of livery stables just as the automobile was catching on. Busted before welfare was started.

Nothing is said to be more powerful than an idea whose time has arrived, but next to it for some people is the idea whose time has expired.

Try it sometime. Read a daily newspaper from back to front. It conditions the mind for the state of the world that day. Of course, this is hard to do with television news.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

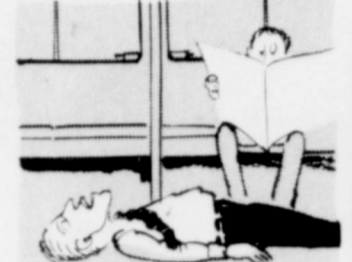

"Bad Samaritans"

Moralists accuse the modern man of a growing tendency to avert his eyes from the fallen stranger and to shut his ears to the cry for help. When a "Bad Samaritan" is pressed for an explanation he will usually say:

"I didn't want to get involved."
All too often what he really means is:

"I didn't want to get sued."

This fear of a lawsuit has gotten out of hand. The fact is that, in terms of legal liability, getting involved is simply not that dangerous. A successful suit against the person who lends a helping hand is actually a rarity. The notion that he is responsible, in case anything goes wrong, is just not so.

True he can usually be held liable for, say, gross negligence—just as we all can in our everyday activities. For instance, a motorist taking an injured pedestrian to the hospital may be held liable if, by driving recklessly, he causes a collision that worsens the injured man's condition.

But if there is no negligence, there is no liability. Take this case:

A woman getting off a stool at a lunch counter lost her balance and fell to the floor. Two men, coming to her aid, tried to help her over to a chair. But she suddenly grew faint and slipped out of their grasp, falling again to the floor.

Could the two men be held legally liable for the woman's second fall? A court ruled they could not. The court said that since they had made an honest effort to be helpful, and had used reasonable care in doing so, they bore no blame in the eyes of the law.

Of course, in a particular situation, a bystander might have a legitimate motive for not interfering. For instance, prudence may deter him from trying to tackle an armed robber. Ignorance may deter him from giving first aid.

But if he does hold back, he should at least do so for a good and sufficient reason. An exaggerated fear of legal liability is not a good and sufficient reason.

Impala '400' Sale.

You save when you buy it. You save when you drive it.

When you buy any Impala V8 model during our "400" Sale, here's how you can get two popular extras at no extra charge.

You order your Impala equipped with a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, radio, Comfortilt steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards and white stripe tires. Items you'd probably order anyway.

Then we add our big 400-cubic-inch V8 at 265 hp that runs on regular gas, along with dual exhausts—both at no charge. (The manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal excise tax for the regular fuel 400 V8 and dual exhausts is $93.75.)

But that's only the beginning. Because your Chevrolet dealer is really anxious to deal these days.

And the Impala you're buying, of course, got to be America's No. 1 car, because of all the value features built right in. Features like flush-and-dry rocker panels that fight rust. Inner fenders to protect the outer fenders. Long lasting bias belted ply tires, steel guard beams in every door for added protection, an acrylic lacquer finish over its solid Body by Fisher.

All of which contributes to Impala's traditionally high resale value, too.

You're getting America's No. 1 car on sale. The car more people buy—year after year after year.

How can you beat that?

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By Richard L. Christie

The Great Plains Conservation Program cost share in Lynn County amounted to $1,000, 270.18 for 1969 Fiscal Year. It is estimated by the Soil Conservation Service that it will be more than ninety-seven thousand dollars this Fiscal Year ending June 30, 1970. This money goes into the local economy as a per cent of the cost of installing permanent conservation practices on the land. These payments are made to land owners and operators.

They in turn pay local contractors for their services in most cases. These contractors spend this money for petroleum products, repairs, equipment, and maintenance of their equipment. All this business mainly being done with local businessmen. In addition to this money spent in Lynn County, these people must have living accommodations, groceries, household goods and clothing.

This is just one of the few benefits outside of conservation that the Great Plains Conservation Program brings to Lynn County. It has helped to increase crop yield, limit the hazardous effect of drought by insuring more stable production and increase value of land in addition to conserving our natural resources and preventing pollution of them.

We in Lynn County should be grateful for such a program and let our leaders such as congressmen, Secretary of Agriculture and others know how we feel about it.

Shell Planavin, used right, provides a chemical barrier an inch and a half within the soil which gives you all the advantages you should expect from an incorporated cotton/soybean herbicide. Effective and long-lasting, the Planavin barrier protects your crops from weeds and grasses that rob water and nutrients.

Give your cotton and soybeans a headstart against weeds. Use Planavin. With Planavin, you have a two-day leeway between application and incorporation. Isn't it time to come in and see us and change to Planavin?

At the regular March meeting of the commissioners' court, an order was passed cutting the wages being paid for work on the public roads of the county.

This was done in order to make the funds go as far as possible and to give employment to as many men as possible, according to Truett Smith, clerk of the court. Hereafter single hands are to be paid $ 1.50 per day instead of $2.00 for a day's work of eight hours, while a man with four horses working eight hours is to be paid $4.00 instead of $6.00 as heretofore.

Mr. John B. King, an old Confederate veteran who now resides near Dixie in this county, has in his possession a reprint of a page of the Vicksburg Citizen of date of July 2, 1863. It is a most interesting sheet. The original was printed on wall paper and seems to have been well edited. It was evidently issued under great difficulties, however, for a while it bears date of July 2, it contains internal evidence that it was not issued until on or after July 4.

General Grant was besieging Vicksburg at that time and the Southern paper was very defiant in its attitude toward the Northern general, which was doubtless characteristic of the citizenship generally. Grant had entered the city, however, before the paper was placed in the mails. One evidence of the stressful times in the bounds of the Confederacy was the assertion that the Confederate "beef"-mule meat - was proving to be very palatable.

History of Future Homemakers of America

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the founding of Future Homemakers of America as a national youth organization in vocational education, co-related with the home economics education program.

The signing of the first National Vocational Education Act by President Woodrow Wilson brought into being federally-supported, state-conducted programs of vocational education which included home economics. Through home economics education the foundation was laid for the development of Future Homemakers of America as an integral part of the program.

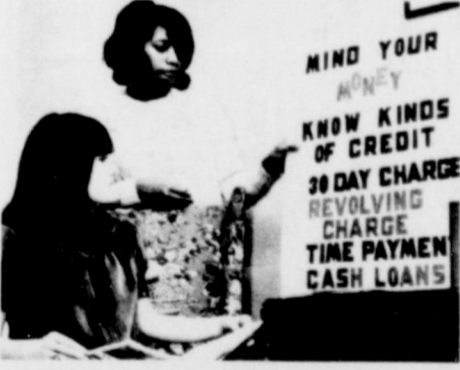

An outgrowth of various state and local high school home economics clubs known by different names, Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945 as an incorporated, non-profit national organization for home economics students in junior and senior high schools, both public and private.

Members of The American Home Economics Association and the Home Economics Education Staff of the U. S. Office of Education took the lead in forming this national organization to provide an opportunity for all home economics clubs to combine efforts in working together on improved home and family living on a national scale.

Kentucky was the first State Association to affiliate with the national organization. By the end of the first year, membership had almost doubled and national offices had been moved into the U. S. Office of Education.

Future Homemakers of America begin their twenty-fifth year with 604,000 members in 12,000 local high school chapters. The record shows affiliated associations in all 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and The Virgin Islands—and affiliated chapters in American Schools located in Germany, Japan, Iran, and The Canal Zone.

In its twenty-five years of existence Future Homemakers of America has served more than fifteen million high school youth.

Future Homemakers of America are consumer conscious. Learning about convenience foods is important to the home-maker-wage-earner of tomorrow. Lessons learned in the home economics classroom are put to use in FHA chapter projects concerned with comparative buying, budgeting time and money.

Future Homemakers of America learn how to use their money wisely. Working on projects concerning different kinds of credit helps prepare them for their consumer role.

Linda Huffaker, CHD Agent, Says.....

Parents can help build good discipline in their child. Here are some suggestions for parents:

1. Parents can remember their child's ability and stage of development. Expectations should be in line with what a child can actually do.
2. They should remember that what a child needs and what he wants are often very different. For example, he needs rest but he doesn't want to go to bed.
3. Parents can distinguish between the act and the person when they condemn. The child needs to know that "I love you but I can't have you doing this."
4. A child needs his parents to set limits for him, even if he has trouble accepting the restriction. These limits are part of the security he needs.
5. Parents should be firm and not apologetic about reasonable demands. Don't give the impression you doubt the wisdom of your action.
6. They need to be consistent about rules.
7. Occasional outbursts or inconsistencies by parents will not undo a good relationship. Parents are human and children can accept weakness and limitations on the part of loving parents.

8. Parents should remember individual difference between children and tailor discipline to fit the personality, age and development of each child.

New Concepts For Home Appliances

A "menu-matic" food preparation unit (left) and a multi-purpose food storage center (right) are two of the space-age household appliances in Concept II, an exciting new design program developed by Rohm and Haas Company, Philadelphia, Pa., plastics manufacturer. The purpose of the program is to present new concepts in home appliances and consumer electronics products and to stimulate use of Plexiglas acrylic plastic by designers and manufacturers of these lines.

A leading American chemical company has been busy working on your kitchen. And it's cooked up some interesting prototype appliances that provide a fascinating preview of what the home preparation center of tomorrow will be like.

Consider, for example, a stove that "computerizes" cooking through the use of programmed menus. Here's how it works. A card - containing a picture of the dish to be prepared along with cooking instructions - is popped into a slot near the oven. A picture of the meal to be cooked - roast beef, for instance - appears on a Plexiglas acrylic plastic panel along with recommended cooking time. Colored lights flash on the oven's control panel when the meal is ready.

Another item is a compact food storage center that makes today's refrigerator seem as outmoded as the old ice box. The center incorporates three separate refrigeration compartments sporting "see-through" doors of Plexiglas, a dispenser providing hot or cold beverages at the touch of a button, a mix center and a counter work area.

These two space-age units are part of Concept II, a series of futuristic household appliances and electronics products designed by Rohm and Haas Company, Philadelphia, Pa., chemicals and plastics manufacturer, to demonstrate uses for its products. Other Concept models include a communications control center including a video telephone, a home intercom unit, color TV and an AM-FM radio, plus a remote TV camera for monitoring rooms, and a teaching and information center incorporating audio-visual tapes and viewing screens and an information retrieval computer. Additional Concept units are multi-colored "youth cubes" that serve as tables, storage units and lighting elements, and a movable "entertainment wall" containing a TV, hi-fidelity phonograph, tape recorder, study desk and projection screen for viewing home movies and slides.

Unfortunately, these Concept II products can't be purchased today. But it's a good bet they'll be finding places in your version of the home of tomorrow.

Plexiglas is a trademark of Rohm and Haas Company, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
