A fact that he neglected to attend to some of the polls last week. He will be in the field this week, and there will be a multiple number of people to pass upon and the man and woman will be needed to give the word as being those of the county and your poll tax before it is too late.

Meet the duties of the office for another term will have been a great honor to me. I have had the honor of being associated with the members of this fine body of men in the past a number of years. I have served them in this capacity ever since the death of my son, Richard Crie. All of his kindness and in- deed to the paper office. I know that you feel more than ever, very well. I can well understand that you have been working here in the News office for the past several years. I am deeply grateful for the kindness and support that you have shown me, and I am confident that you will continue to do so in the future.

The following letter was re- cently received by the editor from the Reverend Borden K. Fisher, of the Rev. L. L. Parker, of the Tahoka church:

"Mr. Crie,

depressing the fact that, for the sake of our heart-felt sympathy, Private Crie will be missed greatly and all of us real- ly only too well that he can never be one of us again.

I hope that your grief may be a bit of comfort to you and your loved ones. I know that you feel your grief very, very well. I can well understand that you have been working here in the News office for the past several years. I am deeply grateful for the kindness and support that you have shown me, and I am confident that you will continue to do so in the future.

Believe me when I say that I am truly sorry for the loss that you are suffering. I have known you for a number of years and know that you are the very best of people. I wish you all the best of good fortune and happiness in the future."

Work more— Produce more— Save more—
But we can't continue increasing our production unless we continue increasing our railroad facilities.
The farms, mines and factories cannot increase their output beyond the capacity of the railroads to haul their products.

Railroads are now near the peak of their carrying capacity.

Without railroad expansion— more engines, more cars, more tracks, more terminals— there can be little increase in production.

But this country of ours is going to keep right on growing—and the railroads must grow with it.

To command in the investment markets the flow of new capital to expand railroad facilities—and so increase production—there must be public confidence in the future earning power of railroads.

The nation's business can grow only as the nation's faith can grow.

This destiny is published by the Association of Railway Executives.

CHAPTER XII—Continued.

While outside worked like a crazy devil. "I shot out the depot light and think I nearly blew up everything. I had to burn out my hands and face was nearly singed."

"I got my horse and said go. I was close to the fire and had to ride a couple of miles to get to a cool place."

"Well, the gods be praised!" retorted the man. "I'll help you now if you want me."

"You'd better. I've had enough of this."

"So be it."

The man jumped from his horse and called to another.

"Come here, you!"

"What do you want?"

"We're going to get a man."

"Who?"

"Kirby."

"Where?"

"The bank which sloped down toward the creek. He's been there all night."

"I know it."

"Then let's start," decisively. "Pick up the horses, and let's go."

"Oh, yes, I will, Jack Rail. I'm done with all this."

"Well, am I?"

"Yes, you are."

"What?"

"We've ruined the place."

"What do you mean?"

"We've ruined it for quick money."

"And what do you mean by that?"

"Why, you—let go!"

"Yes, that he has forced the girl to tell me that! But you; I cannot unlearn what you have taught me."

"I think it means to want to get away."

"Yes, I think it does."

"I think it was a term of ambition."

Successful Dollar is One That Works

The dollar that goes to work is a successful dollar. The idle dollar is a tax.

The successful dollar brings another dollar with it. It builds a dollar and something else becomes a liability of debt.

The News is in receipt of a letter from J. J. Diddie's of Portland, Oregon, enclosing his check for three dollars to renew his subscription two years. Mr. Diddie states that he had been a regular subscriber to the News for ten years, and was interested in the development of Los and Dawson counties.

Amarillo, Jan. 15—A information which aroused considerable public interest took place when Sheriff Norton of this county and his deputies destroyed a number of jugs of whisky and beer which has been taxed in the sheriff's office for some time. Some of this was confiscated from those who were selling in the illegal sale of ice case, and some of it was several years old. A still was also destroyed, which had been taken from a man recently sent to the federal prison for moonshining.

There is a demand for Texas land. The Panhandle Herald reports the sale of the Buffalo Springs ranch in the northern part of Dallas county for $1,000,000. The ranch consists of 800 acres and is in well improved condition. The purchase was made in the fall of last year.

The work was supposed to have begun last winter, but the pay in the works was not paid until the end of December. The pay was $1.50 a day and a bonus of $2.50 in the form of an expense allowance of $2.00. It was hoped when the work is started that every person, male or female, will contribute to the enumerators. The names of enumerators are obtained in the following manner.
