Governor's Fee Bill.

If Governor Colquitt's Fee Bill goes through, and we see no reason why it should not, it will cause lively times in thinly settled counties in the year 1914. We have five voting precincts in Lynn county and we are told that we have a right to a justice of the peace for each voting precinct, although we have only two Justices serving now as the office in most precincts of this county does not pay more than $5 or $10 a year, and there are many others in Texas in the same class. Yet if the Fee Bill becomes a law as endorsed by the Governor there will be more candidates in 1914 for this, at present little sought, office than for all other offices combined.

We quote from the draft of the Bill, as it appeared in the Fort Worth Daily Record of January 20th: "Section 11. In Justice precincts having a population of 15,000 and less, the commissioners' court shall fix compensation of precinct officials as follows: Justice of the peace not less than $250, nor more than $1,000."

Ye shades of Rockefeller, what will a Lynn county Commissioners' Court say to paying one tenth of the entire revenue as justice salaries? There were 294 votes cast in this county in the July Primary of 1912; and if this Bill becomes a law as quoted above, there will be at least that many candidates for justice of the peace next year. Lest we be a little late in getting in getting started, we want to announce right now; our father, our husband and our son as candidates for justice of the peace, subject to the passage of the above Bill, in July Primary 1914.

J. F. Eubanks, of the firm of J. Eubanks & Son, general merchants, at O'Donnell, was a pleasant caller at The News office last Friday.

A Christian Life and Death

Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock Mr. A. S. Coughran who has been sick for some time with creeping paralysis, received the summons that he had been waiting for and expecting quite a while. For Bro. Coughran the death summons had no terrors as he had made his peace with God several years ago, and like a true soldier of the Cross, was merely waiting to be retired from active service in this world to the "Old Soldier's Home" above, where he has long had a place prepared for him.

A. S. Coughran was born in Saveer county, Arkansas, March 3rd, 1846, he was born from above in July 1869 (St. John 3-6) in Wilson county, Texas, married to Miss M. C. Beadle, July 10th, 1870; he sought the experience of perfect love, and was cleansed from sin July 8th, 1894, and died January 18th, 1913, leaving a wife, three children and several grandchildren, and a living testimony that he was ready to enter a better world than this.

There is only one thing that is more inspiring than a perfect Christian life, and that is a perfect Christian death. Bro. Coughran had lived in Lynn county ever since before the county was organized and it is the unanimous testimony of every one who knew him that he was a perfect Christian gentleman, those who were with him when the death summons came bear testimony that while he expected death and felt a great sorrow at leaving his loved ones, yet death had no terrors to him whatever.

May we so live that when our call comes, we may be as ready as he was.

Methodist Church Doing Well

That the people generally may know something of the success of the Methodist church in Tahoka and Slaton, I want to tell you that our First Quarterly Conference was a success financially. The churches are taking care of the pastor. The stewards are men who love the church and do their part faithfully. The congregations are good, and attentive to the preaching of the Gospel. The Sunday School is interesting and growing, but there is room for more of our town's children and grown people also. Will you not join us in our onward march to success? We want Methodism to command the respect of every man woman and child in our town. A long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together will accomplish great things for the church in our town. Come and let us unite our efforts.

Rev. W. H. Terry the Presiding Elder of the Big Spring District, held the Quarterly Conference for Tahoka and Slaton on the 18th and 19th of January. He preached us two fine sermons Sunday and Sunday night.

Editor Williams, of the King Progress, spent Tuesday in Tahoka soliciting advertising from the Tahoka merchants. When he was here a month ago he secured several ads from the merchants here, some of whom seldom ever carry an ad in their home paper; but, it is better for them to carry advertising in the New Mexico paper than not to carry any advertising at all, for if they don't advertise anywhere they will have to close out and Tahoka can't afford to loose a single one, rather we need more, for the more the merrier; and if the mail order houses continue to draw trade from Tahoka with their catalogs and advertising matter, Tahoka merchants must draw trade from the west by the same means.

LEASING OF LATERALS URGED BY TRUMBULL.

England's Example Cited—Separate Management Required For Each Line.

Houston, Texas.—When the railroad industry of Texas is built up to the high standard we all so much covet, it will be done by railroad men, and their views on our transportation problems are, therefore, instructive. We may, if we choose differ from them, but it is well for the public to listen to what they say. Recognizing the importance of their co-operation in our industrial progress, the chairman of the Texas Welfare Commission invited the leading railroad men of the nation to appear before it; when asked for his views on consolidation of lines, Mr. Frank Trumbull, executive head of the Katy system, said:

"I think that consolidation of end-to-end lines or lateral lines, or the leasing of them not only ought to be permitted but ought to be encouraged. They go much further in England; they encourage working agreements between competitive lines and the amalgamation of them, as they call it. I don't think you need go that far; I don't see any more objection to a railroad acquiring an end-to-end line by consolidation than it is to a man buying an adjoining farm, and it is in the interest of public service that that should be done. Having to form a different corporation every time you build a few miles of railroad perfects the holding company proposition, not only encourages it, but it forces it. You have three or four staffs of men when one ought to suffice; you can't get the unification of service, of standard; you cannot get locomotives and cars because when they are under the same ownership there will be petty competition."

Mr. E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, also gave his experience with the present law:

"We have twenty-six miles of railroad running from the New Mexico state line to El Paso; it is our little dead end on which we reach El Paso. Under the laws of the State of Texas we have to maintain a full force of offices and a separate organization for the twenty-six miles of railroad at El Paso. We have also the Texas & Gulf over here and the Gulf, Beaumont & Kansas City and the Gulf and Interstate. We have to maintain separate organizations; they are all

R. D. Morris had us to enroll him on our subscription list again one day the first of the week, thus helping us toward making good our 1913 slogan, "Every citizen a booster for Lynn county and every head of a family a subscriber of The News." Can we make it by January 1st, 1914? We can if every subscriber we now have will speak a good word for us to his neighbor, and every News reader just naturally becomes a Lynn county booster if he stays with it long enough.

Prof. E. F. Puryear, called on The News Saturday and had us enter his name on our subscription list for a year. Quite a number of the Lynn county teachers take The News, which is rather out of the ordinary, for according to our observation the teacher wants considerable publicity through the local paper yet they often forget to say thanks, not to mention anything more substantial.

Vol. 9 TAHOKA, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1913. No. 31

Railroad Construction for Year Ending December 31

Ft. Worth, Tex., Dec. 31, 1912
 The intense interest in railroad matters aroused by the investigation of the Welfare Commission, added to the general anxiety manifested by the citizenship of Texas in the development of our transportation facilities, has rendered the subject of railroad mileage constructed in 1912 one of sufficient importance to justify the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association in taking a census of railroad building during the past calendar year. The result of the census is displayed in the accompanying map, and the tabulated statement on the margin gives the information in details, showing a total of 153 miles.

This statement is especially significant in view of the official announcement made by the railroad commission that we have had an increase of 837 miles during the fiscal year. An analysis of the Railroad Commission's statement shows that some of the mileage shown in its report was built several years ago and none of the steel was laid on any trackage shown in its report during the present calendar year. Reference is here made to the Railroad Commission's figures for ferr that in reading the official report as given out by the Commission, some innocent bystander may get struck with the idea that we had actually built 837 miles of road during the year. The mileage shown on the map covers steel laid on new lines during the calendar year of 1912. The figures shown by the Railroad Commission covers road opened for traffic during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912.

In view of the recent appeal made by nine of the leading independent railroad builders in the State for legislative enactment

Frisco completes the chronicle of construction for the year.

The blank portions of the accompanying map make a more powerful appeal for an amendment to our stock and bond law than the pens of our writers, the eloquence of our orators or the logic of our foremost thinkers, and when compared with our necessities, it presents mute evidence of squalid want.

We have 32 counties that have no railroads and ten counties that have less than 15 miles of railroad, 38 of these counties are in West Texas, while four are in the eastern section of the State. The majority of them have witnessed a remarkable growth during the past few years and without the aid of railroads. Five of them show a decrease in population while 37 of them have increased from 2 to 7,700 percent during the past decade. The combined area of these counties is equal to that of the State of Ohio, and as fertile farm land as can be found in the United States is contained in their borders. The combined population of these counties is 111,800, the total assessed value of all property is $120,000,000, and the annual farm production has a total value of approximately $10,000,000. McMullen is the only county that heard the whistle of a locomotive for the first time during the past year.

The counties without a single mile of railroad track are: Andrews, Bailey, Bandera, Blanco, Borden, Brisco, Cochran, Crane, Crockett, Edwards, Gillespie, Gaines, Glasscock, Hansford, Hockley, Hutchinson, Kimble, King, Lamb, Live Oak, Loving,

DON'T SHOCK YOUR LIVER WITH CALOMEL
 Dodson's Liver-Tone Persuades it to Work Naturally and Safely...
 No Restrictions of Habits

If you have a sick horse you cannot make him work by beating him and if you try it you are liable to ruin him for ever. It is the same way with your liver. When it becomes torpid and sluggish you can take calomel and whip it into action but the calomel will leave your body weaker and sicker than ever. Calomel is a very powerful chemical made from mercury. A perfect substitute for calomel that has all of its medicinal properties and none of its dangerous and uncertain follow ups is Dodson's Liver-Tone. McGill's Drug Store sells Dodson's Liver-Tone with a guarantee that if you don't find it a perfect substitute for calomel this store will give you your money back. Dodson's Liver-Tone is a true tonic for the liver, purely vegetable, and with such a pleasant taste that it is no trouble to get children to take it. It is absolutely impossible for it to do any one any harm because it simply persuades the liver to do what it ought to do—no more no less.

that would remove statutory obstacles in the way of construction, a glance at the map, and a review of the railroad construction going on during the year, is intensely interesting.

In the Central and Panhandle section of the State, where transportation facilities are perhaps more badly needed than in any other portion of the United States, the map is as vacant as a starless night. The eastern portion of the State makes no better showing except in the extreme northeastern part, where a gap of eight miles has been filled in, connecting the road between Paris and Mount Pleasant. The southern portion of the State fares much better. Under the high pressure of high bonuses, the San Antonio, Uvalde & Gulf is constructing 115 miles of track, having laid 82 miles of steel this year to date. The K. There is more Calumet in this section of the country than all other diseases put together. It is a fatal disease. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved Calumet to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Russell's Calumet Cure, manufactured by J. L. Russell & Co., 211 E. 10th St., St. Louis, Mo., is the only constitutional cure for Calumet. It is taken internally in doses from 15 drops to a teaspoonful. "It is always commendable to throw light on evil doings."

AUTOMATISM.

The extraordinary plea of "automatism"—the doing of acts without consciousness thereof on the part of the doer—was recently set up in England in the case of a culprit who had stolen a motor car. A London mental expert testified that a person in the condition in which he found the prisoner could perform complicated mental and physical actions of which he would have no recollection on recovering his normal state. The accused declared that he had no recollection of anything that had happened during an entire month until he found himself in a prison cell. The judge did not take kindly to the new defense, and citing the dual personality of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, uttered the dictum that if Hyde had committed a murder, which by definition implies previous intention, Dr. Jekyll would have been hanged for it. The culprit was sentenced to four months in prison.

consent today, is Ellis, if he's worth a penny. Mind you," she added, "I'm not saying that it is Ellis, though."

"I know it's Ellis," answered Sergius O'Flanahan gloomily. "I knew he'd get you. He always beat me out of everything. Do you remember when he won the pig at the fair by staying on the mule when I got pitched into the mud? He was always great on pigs, Ellis was. Ah, Nora, if only you hadn't turned me down when I asked you, before I left the Old Sod to walk a lonely wanderer over the earth. Twice I asked you and each time you said no."

"Twice!" exclaimed Nora. "Why, Ellis asked me seven times before he sailed and wrote me five times afterward. Why didn't you try me again, Sergius?" she continued softly.

The young doctor edged closer toward her. "You'd—you'd have taken me, Nora?" he whispered.

Then he saw that the tears stood in her eyes again. He clasped her in his arms, and she did not resist but lay there.

"Nora, is it too late?" he asked softly. "We were a couple of young fools to quarrel over nothing at all ashore. And all the years I've been in America I've been seafaring your sweet face before me night and day, darling. And when I wrote you from Newark, when I had my last job there, I was sure you'd come out to me, but you didn't even answer me. Wouldn't you rather take a fine, rising young doctor with a government job than old Ellis O'Flaherty, with his ten thousand dollars and his pig-sticking?"

Nora was smiling up at him as she lay in his arms.

"Yes, Sergius, darling, I'd like to," she whispered. "But now—now that they've sent a telegram to the man I've come out to marry I'm afraid it's too late. He may be here any moment. And how would I look, walking off with the doctor? If only I'd known you were here. How long have you been at Ellis Island, Sergius?"

"A month last Saturday," the doctor answered. "Why?"

"O, nothing," sighed Nora.

"Nora, a month," whispered Sergius, "it isn't too late. I think I can square the folks here. They can't hold you so long as you've got some means of support. And I can support you, Nora, yes, even if I lose my place in consequence. And I guess a woman's always privileged to change her mind."

"And what about Ellis, Sergius?" inquired Nora demurely.

"It is Ellis, then?"

"I'm not saying it's Ellis," Nora protested.

Sergius O'Flanahan snapped his fingers. "Nora," he said, "you always were a tease. If I'd had a grain of sense in the old days I'd have captured you and carried you to the priest and made you marry me before you knew what I was doing to you. But it isn't too late yet. And as for Ellis, a man who lets a chance like you slip through his fingers isn't worth the having. Now I've got you and I'm going to keep you. Come along and see the commissioner."

He led her out of the detention room, along the corridor, and up the stairs to the room in which the offices of the commissioner are situated. He paused at the door.

"I'd like to see you a minute, sir," he called.

"Come in, O'Flanahan," the commissioner answered. "Let the lady come in. By the way, here's a telegram just come for you. I held it here, knowing you'd be up for the board meeting. You'd better open it."

The doctor tore open the envelope and pulled out the missive inside. He read:

"Yes, Sergius, Nora."

It had been re-sent from Newark. And the place of dispatch was Ellis Island.

Nora was looking over his shoulder. Now, as he began to understand, she snatched the telegram out of his hands.

"Don't you understand, you stupid?" she whispered. "It was you. I sent it to you at Newark when I landed here. It's you, you, you, you, and not Ellis O'Flaherty at all."

A sound behind them made them start. The commissioner, with his back turned, was coughing exceedingly loudly.

"I beg your pardon, doctor," he said, turning round. "What was it that you wanted to see me about?"

Plaintiff further alleges that he and those under whom he holds have had and held peaceable, continuous and adverse possession under title and color of title from and under the State of Texas, of the lands and tenements above described for more than three years next before the filing of this suit, and for more than three years next after the accrual of defendants cause of action, if any they or either of them have.

That plaintiff and those under whom he holds the lands and premises above described have had and held peaceable, adverse and continuous possession thereof, cultivating, using, and enjoying the same under deed and deeds duly registered, paying all taxes due thereon, for a period of more than five years next before the filing of this suit, and for more than five years next after the accrual of defendants cause of action if any they or either of them have.

That plaintiff and those under whom he claims and holds the above described land and premises, have had and held peaceable, adverse and continuous possession thereof, cultivating, using and enjoying the same for more than ten years next before the filing of this suit, and for more than ten years next after the accrual of the defendants cause of action, if any they have.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lynn County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon William Miller and his wife, Catherine Miller, and Geo. E. Boots and his wife, Mary E. Boots, and A. J. Russell and his wife, Rebecca J. Russell, if they or any of them are now living, but if they or any of them are not now living, then the unknown heirs of any and all of the above named persons who are not now living, by making publication of this citation once in each week for eight successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in a newspaper published in your county; but if no newspaper is published in said county, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof, in the town of Tahoka, on the second Monday in March, 1913, being the 10th day of March, A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 29th day of November, 1912, in a cause numbered 124, wherein A. D. Shook is plaintiff and William Miller, Catherine Miller, Geo. E. Boots, Mary E. Boots, A. J. Russell, and Rebecca J. Russell and the unknown heirs of each and all of them are defendants, the cause of action being alleged as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that his place of residence is Lynn County, Texas, that the place of residence of the defendants is to him unknown, and that he was, on the 15th day of April, 1912, lawfully seized and possessed of the West one-half of survey No. 501, in Block No. One, situated in Lynn County, Texas, claiming the same in fee simple by those under whom he claims from the State of Texas, and that he has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of said land under title (or color of title) from and under the State of Texas for more than three years before the commencement of this suit; and that he has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of said land, cultivating, using and enjoying the same and paying taxes due thereon for a period of more than five years before the commencement of this suit; and that he, claiming to have good and perfect right and title to said land, has had and held said land peaceably and lawfully under the possession of the same, cultivating, using and enjoying it for a period of more than ten years next before the filing of this suit.

It is further alleged that each of the defendants named are remote grantors in plaintiff's chain of title from the State of Texas, that as such they each executed and delivered proper and sufficient deeds of conveyance conveying said land to plaintiff's grantors and acknowledged such execution in due form of law before a notary public, but that the certificate of acknowledgment made by the said notary public in each case is not in due form of law, and that, by reason of such defective certificates of acknowledgment, defendants are casting a cloud upon plaintiff's title by claiming that said deeds are insufficient to convey title to said land.

It is further alleged that on the day and year last aforesaid defendants unlawfully entered upon the above described premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom, and unlawfully with hold from him the possession thereof, to his damage $5,000.00.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays the court that each and all of the defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that plaintiff have judgement for the title and possession of the above described land and premises, that the certificates of acknowledgment hereinabove mentioned be corrected in conformity of law, that plaintiff be quieted in his title and possession of the above described land and premises, and that writ of restitution issue, and for his damages and costs of suit, and for general and special relief.

The said petition being endorsed as follows: "This action brought as well to try title as for damages."

Herein fail not, but have before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness J. W. Elliott, Clerk of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Tahoka, Texas, this the 29th day of November A. D. 1912.

J. W. Elliott, Clerk of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas.

Issued this the 29th day of November A. D. 1912.

NORA'S BLUE EYES

One of Many Romances of the Great Receiving Room at Ellis Island.

By HAROLD CARTER.

Dr. Sergius O'Flanahan, stationed at his post in the great receiving room at Ellis Island, examining immigrants for trachoma, let his hands fall upon his apron and gasped. He found himself staring into a sweet face upturned twinkled with fun and then suddenly to his and into two blue eyes that clouded with sorrow.

"Nora, a moment," he muttered. "Glory be! I guess there's nothing the matter with your eyes, Nora. How did you get here?"

"Whist! You're holding up the line, Sergius," said Nora. "I'll see you afterward at the place they're sending me to, unless they won't let me go there."

Then she was gone and Sergius O'Flanahan was resuming his daily prosaic task of examining eyes. He looked into several hundred pairs that morning, but none of these affected him in the least like the blue eyes of Nora McMahy, his former sweetheart.

"McMahy?" asked the official to whom she applied. He turned to his register. "That little Irish girl? They're holding her in the detention room until her man comes." He was to have met her. They won't let her in if he doesn't come."

So Sergius found her in the detention room, her eyes piteously red, her face white, her lips trembling. At the sight of him a faint smile came to her lips, and presently she was twinkling with fun.

"Come in, O'Flanahan," the commissioner answered. "Let the lady come in. By the way, here's a telegram just come for you. I held it here, knowing you'd be up for the board meeting. You'd better open it."

The doctor tore open the envelope and pulled out the missive inside. He read:

"Yes, Sergius, Nora."

It had been re-sent from Newark. And the place of dispatch was Ellis Island.

Nora was looking over his shoulder. Now, as he began to understand, she snatched the telegram out of his hands.

"Don't you understand, you stupid?" she whispered. "It was you. I sent it to you at Newark when I landed here. It's you, you, you, you, and not Ellis O'Flaherty at all."

A sound behind them made them start. The commissioner, with his back turned, was coughing exceedingly loudly.

"I beg your pardon, doctor," he said, turning round. "What was it that you wanted to see me about?"

ANCIENT STATUTE UNCOVERED BY COMMISSION'S INVESTIGATION.

Repeal of Law Enacted in 1874—Act Hinders Organization of Private Corporations.

Dallas, Texas.—The Texas Welfare Commission in its investigation of legislation in relation to the organization of private corporations developed some very ancient statutes which have been covered by the debris of a half century of custom. One of these statutes which has been water-logged by custom and has escaped the notice of many corporations that depend largely upon bond issues for financing their projects was brought to the attention of the Commission by R. C. Duff, chairman. The statute in question was adopted in 1874 and prohibits private corporations from incurring an indebtedness greater than the amount of their capital stock.

Many private corporations ignorant of or indifferent to this law have frequently violated it and by common custom have long ignored it, but corporations that place their securities upon the market where they are examined by skillful lawyers find their bonds rejected on account of this statute. The provision was incorporated in our law upon the erroneous theory commonly accepted at that time that a corporation should not incur a debt greater than the amount of the capital stock. The Commission finds the statute a menace to creditors in good faith and asks that it be repealed.

The watering of stock of private corporations also came in for severe censure at the hands of the Commission and they made a plea for higher standards of business morality in legislation for the promotion and organization of private corporations. The report of the

FIRST RESTAURANT IN PARIS

Founded Not Much More Than a Century Ago During Louis XV's Time.

A Paris journalist, searching old records, has made an amusing discovery, the correspondent of the London Express writes. The first restaurant is quite a modern invention. It was founded by an innkeeper named Boulanger during the last years of the reign of Louis XV. Before there were any restaurants in places, that is where one could order meals a la carte, travelers were obliged to feed at the cabaret, where the customer brought his own food, which was cooked for a fee, and the landlord supplied the wine. There was also the "traiteur," which was the forerunner of the Swiss table d'hote. There, until 1772, meals were served at stated times to a fixed number of people, who, as the chronicler writes, "were forced to eat according to the landlord's taste, whether they would be pleased or not, or else go hungry."

After the table d'hote one or two ingenious souls started tables for six and twelve guests, serving different bills of fare at the different tables, and then, a few years later, the restaurant where every man could order what he wished became the fashion. But the restaurant as we know it is little more than a century old.

MADE THEM TIRED.

"That alarm clock of yours makes me tired," said the boarder to the man who occupied the adjoining room.

"Me, too," replied the owner of the clock; "whenever I hear it I feel like going to sleep."

Commission of this subject in part, is as follows:

"When the disposition of the state concerning railroad securities is remembered, it is remarkable that public sentiment has not heretofore driven our legislatures to throw more safeguards around the organization of private corporations, whose stock is intended to be sold to the people of Texas. Some rational legislation that will insure some reasonable relevancy between the value of the property owned or to be owned by the corporation and the securities to be issued by the same should be adopted."

AMERICA'S BEST RANGE

The Arcadian is a perfect baking range, and stays a perfect baker for a lifetime because it is built like a locomotive boiler. Built of malleable iron and charcoal iron riveted together instead of being bolted together. Made airtight without the use of stove putty to crumble and fall out, as happens in cast iron and so-called steel ranges, allowing false drafts to fan the fire or deaden it.

The Arcadian Range will never have false drafts—it will stow, do perfect baking, using a third less fuel than common ranges.

Never need to use backstopping—a rub with an oiled cloth makes it appear like new. It pays for itself over and over in the fuel it saves, to say nothing of the way it makes a woman's work easier and allows her to do perfect baking.
