CLOSING OF HOSPITAL SEEN

YOUNGEST MAYOR in Texas in 1928, J. R. Whitworth is beside a metal plaque presented at the time the present water system was installed. Mr. Whitworth was 33 years of age at the time. The plaque was never erected. Previous to the installation of the system, Matador was a city of windmills. A windmill was located back of most business places, as well as homes. The plaque reads: "Municipal Water System, Matador, Texas, 1928. J. R. Whitworth, Mayor. Aldermen: Elmer Stearns, R. F. Thornton, H. K. Ford, Frank Eiring, L. C. Harp, Irick Construction Company General Contractors."

FATE of Motley General Hospital hangs in the balance of next week. It may be forced to close because Medicare approval cannot be obtained.

An emergency meeting of the board of directors yesterday afternoon reached the decision after a visit by Roy Ayers, a representative of the Texas Hospital Association earlier in the day.

Members of the board later yesterday were attempting to contact US Representative George Mahon. A decision will be made by the board at the next regular meeting, Thursday, August 13.

The problem is simple: Operating cost to keep the hospital open is amounting to approximately $6,000 per month. Without patients because it does not have Medicare approval, there is no revenue. At present the facility is operating on next year's taxes. It can not continue to operate on a deficiency basis.

Members of the board believe that the log jam created by Medicare, requiring 42 Registered Nurses, will be broken. Until the problem is solved, it is probable that the hospital will be closed.

Ayers told members of the board that in Texas alone, 154 small hospitals will be closed if the Medicare rule is not changed.

The representative of the Texas Hospital Association urged that the hospital be closed until relief can be secured from Medicare. The THA is in sympathy with the small hospital and believes a court decision may be required before relief can be secured.

Timing seems to be the basic problem of my personal financing. Any funds which I am able to acquire have been spoken for in advance by my creditors.

With the technology of a nation able to put men on the moon and bring them home, there remains hope for the relief of sound pollution. Perhaps they are already working on a system that will strain noise out of modern music.

If a man decides to be the architect of his own destiny, his plans should include a faithful wife to help select the materials to be used.

It requires a certain amount of talent to make a perfect mistake unless you take the advice of a used car dealer whom you have just met.

Many families never move because the accumulations through the years reach such proportions that the problem is greater than the rewards.

The problem of operating a small cafe must be greater than the public is willing to admit. Some customers want the best of food at hamburger prices, with strolling violinists.

A part of the wisdom of experience must be credited to the pain resulting from needless mistakes.

It is reasonable to hope that some of the theories being advocated today are so far out that they will become lost.

"Cool" Scenes Of Europe on Lions Program

OUTSIDE the mercury was hitting around the 100 degree mark Tuesday when Wendell Tooley, publisher of the Floyd County Hesperian showed slides and discussed his recent trip to Europe to the Matador Lions Club members. But the scenes were cool, many of the slides showing the snow capped Alps, lush green valleys, waterfalls, great rivers and seashores Mr. Tooley recently returned from the European trip with his family.

He prefaced his talk with the statement that he predicted many of the club members would be making the trip in the future, in view of the great economy in tours.

With the inquisitive mind of a newsman, Mr. Tooley found many interesting sights and incidents that sparked his discussion of the slides. In Amsterdam he took pictures of Hippies. "They seem always to be searching for something," he declared.

He found much of interest in Germany, especially the great rivers, castles, and the cities. He said more than one time German men would bring up the subject of the war, and say "We were wrong."

Mr. Tooley was introduced by Tribune editor Douglas Meador. Boss Lion Wayland Moore announced that Lion Ben Edwards was in the Quannah hospital and the club voted unanimously to send flowers to him.

Announcement was made that the Lions Athletic Committee would start sale immediately of advertisements on the 1970 Matador Matadors football programs.

Foreign Countries Represented In Attendance At 'Texas' Drama

As visitors come to the "Texas" Musical Drama, driving through flat uninhabited country to reach the theatre, they are usually surprised at the Canyon, surprised to find the theatre, and surprised to encounter so many other people at the performance. 20,700 people saw "Texas" during the first 18 performances of 1970 and one question many of them ask is "Where do the people come from?"

The management of the production has devised several ways to answer this question. The patrons register with the states they come from. They place pins on high wall maps of the state, the United States and the world marking their homes, and occasionally they answer surveys. The distribution of the audience has remained surprisingly constant throughout the years. About one fourth comes from a radius of twenty-five miles: Amarillo and Canyon, Texas. Another fourth comes from a radius of one hundred miles which includes Lubbock, Texas. The rest of Texas, San Diego, Calif.

The school includes instruction in patient care, anatomy, physiology, minor surgery, the nature and prevention of communicable diseases and the administration of medications.

as sends the third quarter and the rest of the United States the fourth. About 2% of the audience comes from abroad.

In order to honor the people who travel great distances to see "Texas," a small gift is presented from the stage each evening to the person who has traveled the farthest to attend. It is a miniature of the triangle which the ranches use to call people to meals and has a very authentic ring. Since "Texas" opened on June 26th, the triangle has gone to people from New Zealand, Thailand, Australia, India, Sweden, Netherlands, Canada, Japan, China, Malaysia and Afghanistan. In the two-hundred and fifty productions of "Texas," people in the United States have only received it a half-dozen times or so.

The box office crew is wondering whether the man who bought tickets to the "skit" was surprised when he saw the show.

Tickets may be obtained by writing Box 268, Canyon, Texas, or calling 806-655-2182. The box office in Canyon closes at 5:00 and reopens in the Canyon at 6:00. The telephone in the theatre in Palo Duro Canyon is 806-HU8-3100.

Brochures are available at the Tribune, showing seat locations and quoting prices.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR30)
General Election Nov. 3, 1970

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Subsections (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), (11), (12), and (13), Section 1-a, Article V, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows: "(5) The Commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet at Austin at least once each year. It shall annually select one of its members as Chairman. A quorum shall consist of five (5) members. Proceedings shall be by majority vote of those present, except that recommendations for retirement, censure, or removal of any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall be by affirmative vote of at least five (5) members.

"(6) A. Any Justice or Judge of the Appellate Courts and District and Criminal District Courts, any County Judge, and any Judge of a County Court at Law, a Court of Domestic Relations, a Juvenile Court, a Probate Court, or a Corporation or Municipal Court, and any Justice of the Peace, and any Judge or presiding officer of any special court created by the Legislature as provided in Section 1, Article V, of this Constitution, may, subject to the other provisions hereof, be removed from office for willful or persistent conduct, which is clearly inconsistent with the proper performance of his said duties or casts public discredit upon the judiciary or administration of justice; or any person holding such office may be censured, in lieu of removal from office, under procedures provided for by the Legislature.

"B. Any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of this subsection who is eligible for retirement benefits under the laws of this state providing for judicial retirement may be involuntarily retired, and any person holding an office named in that paragraph who is not eligible for retirement benefits under such laws may be removed from office, for disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties, which is, or is likely to become, permanent in nature.

"(7) The Commission shall keep itself informed as fully as may be of circumstances relating to the misconduct or disability of particular persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, receive complaints or reports, formal or informal, from any source in this behalf and make such preliminary investigations as it may determine. Its orders for the attendance or testimony of witnesses or for the production of documents at any hearing or investigation shall be enforceable by contempt proceedings in the District Court.

"(8) After such investigation as it deems necessary, the Commission may in its discretion issue a private reprimand, or if the Commission determines that the situation merits such action, it may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal, or retirement of a person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, or it may in its discretion request the Supreme Court to appoint an active or retired District Judge or Justice of a Court of Civil Appeals as a Master to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report thereon to the Commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of a Master, the Commission finds good cause therefor, it shall issue an order of public censure or it shall recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, or retirement, as the case may be, of the person in question holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section and shall thereupon file with the Clerk of the Supreme Court the entire record before the Commission.

"(9) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings on the law and facts and in its discretion may, for good cause shown, permit the introduction of additional evidence and shall order public censure, retirement or removal, as it finds just and proper, or wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for involuntary retirement for disability or an order for removal, the office in question shall become vacant. The rights of an incumbent so removed shall be preserved. The removal shall be the same as if his retirement had been voluntary."

"(11) The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court. Such rule shall afford to any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, against whom a proceeding is instituted to cause his retirement or removal, due process of law for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court in the same manner that any person whose property rights are in jeopardy in an adjudicatory proceeding is entitled to due process of law, regardless of whether or not the interest of the person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section in remaining in active status is considered to be a right or privilege. Due process shall include the right to notice, counsel, hearing, confrontation of his accusers, and all such other incidents of due process as are ordinarily available in proceedings whether or not in rem. A hearing shall be held, upon proof of which a penalty may be imposed.

"(12) No person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall sit as a member of the Commission or Supreme Court in any proceeding involving his own retirement or removal.

"(13) This Section 1-a is alternative to and cumulative of the methods of removal of persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section provided elsewhere in this Constitution."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1970, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment relating to the removal, retirement, or censure of Justices, Judges, and Justices of Peace under prescribed circumstances."

AIR FORCE ROTC EXPANDS TO INCLUDE TECH FROSH WOMEN

For the first time in history, women students entering Texas Tech University as freshmen during the fall semester of 1970 may enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Col. Haynes M. Baumgardner, professor of aerospace studies at Texas Tech, in making the announcement said that upon successful completion of the four-year program and upon graduation they may be appointed second lieutenants and serve on active duty as officers in the U. S. Air Force.

Col. Baumgardner said he had no indication how many might sign up.

"I expect anywhere from zero to 25," he remarked. "We should have a better idea after the orientation courses within the next two weeks."

The Air Force implemented a two year program for women in universities in 1969 and it now has been extended to the four-year program in all coeducational institutions hosting AFROTC.

"For all practical purposes the program for women will be identical to the one for men," Baumgardner said. "The program on campus will be the same; there will be slight differences during the summer encampment which is conducted at Air Force bases normally between the junior and senior years of AFROTC."

Uniforms Furnished

Basically, he said, these differences will concern the physical training and survival exercises. Uniforms will be furnished.

Women in the four year program may compete for ROTC college scholarships as freshmen, sophomores and juniors, the same as men, for the three, two or one year scholarships beginning as sophomores, juniors and seniors, respectively. Scholarships pay tuition, book and laboratory fee allowances and a $50 per month living allowance.

"Women cadets who complete the program and are commissioned can look forward to a fine opportunity to serving in a job specialty desired," the aerospace professor said. "Flying (pilot and navigator) is restricted to men. However, most nonflying specialties and, with few exceptions, all areas of the world where the Air Force has personnel assigned are open to Women in the Air Force (WAF)."

"The specialty opportunity is fine," according to Col. Baumgardner, "because almost 75 per cent of the nonflying AFROTC graduates entering active duty between July 1, 1968 through June 30, 1969 were assigned to one of their choices of assignments."

From July 1, 1969, through March 31 1970, the percentage rose to 78.

These choices are made by cadets during their junior year of the program and they choose specialties normally related to their academic background.

Serving as an officer not only gives the AFROTC graduate an immediate supervisory and management experience but also an opportunity to gain experience in positions which are related to their academic preparation as an undergraduate.

Col. Baumgardner cautioned that the Air Force requirements at the time of graduation, established by the manning in specialties at the time, determine assignments. "However, the 75 and 78 per cent statistics truly depict the Air Force interest in individual assignment choices if at all possible," he said. Col. Baumgardner extended an invitation to all women students enrolling as freshmen this fall to visit the Department of Aerospace Studies at Texas Tech to discuss the new program for women. The department is in rooms 26, 27 and 29 in the Social Science Building.

FM Road Project Includes Motley

The Texas Highway Commission on May 7th approved development of 4.0 miles of Farm to Market Roads in Motley County as a part of the 1970 Texas Farm Road Program.

District Engineer V. J. McGee of the Texas Highway Department said the estimated cost of the work is $120,000.

This project extends from F.M. Road 684 in Roaring Springs, South and East to an intersection with State Highway 70 at the South Pease River.

Work authorized in this county is part of 543.1 miles of Texas Farm and Ranch to Market Roads earmarked for development in the new program.

The program includes 144 projects in 109 counties. Estimated total cost of the program is $22 million.

New construction totals 377.6 miles, with an estimated cost of $18.2 million.

The remaining $3.8 million represents additional financing on 165.5 miles of previously designated roads.

The additional new mileage brings the designated Farm and Ranch to Market network in Texas to 39.8 thousand miles. This is 1 1/2 times the combined total of all State-maintained highways in the six New England states.

Originally planned to help "get the farmer out of the mud," the network has enhanced the social and economic well-being of millions of rural Texans.

In the new program, 77 per cent—235 miles—of the new mileage is used by school buses. Sixty-seven per cent—207 miles—is included in rural mail routes.

But the system has not benefited just the rural resident. Many Farm and Ranch to Market Roads provide access to recreational areas for urban and rural resident alike.

The FM system also includes some of the most scenic travelways in Texas. One-third of the total mileage of the 10 Texas Travel Trails is over roads in the FM-RM system.

Many industries are served by roads in the Farm to Market network. The system has been credited with opening up new areas for industrial growth, facilitating movement of raw materials, employees and finished products.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Cut hay while it is young and tender. Young plants are palatable and highly digestible, but become tough and stemmy when they approach maturity.

These suggestions are offered on the best time to harvest hay crops. For sudan, sudan-sorghum hybrids, johnsongrass, native grasses and similar plants, cut them in the boot stage or just before the seedheads emerge.

Coastal bermudagrass should be cut after no more than four weeks of growth.

Most spring hay crops contain high amounts of moisture when cut at the preferred stage. Too, the weather is often rainy, cloudy and cool and the ground moist; thus, creating curing problems.

There isn't much you can do about the weather but something can be done about maintaining the quality of the hay. The use of hay conditioners reduce curing time by as much as one-half; thus, the crop can usually be cut and cured at the right time with little or no damage from rain.

Fertilizer should be applied after each cutting, especially nitrogen. If production for the first cutting is fairly high, phosphorus and potassium may also be needed.

Soil samples taken prior to harvesting will provide the information needed on what plant food or foods to use immediately after the harvest.

Calibrating spray equipment, to make sure it is putting out the amount of chemical you think it is, takes little time but is very important.

Calibrating insures that costly chemicals are not wasted; that excessive amounts of chemical are not present to harm the environment; that damage to crops and livestock is prevented; and pest control is most effective.

The first step in calibrating your sprayer is to make sure it is properly mounted on the tractor. Then thoroughly rinse with clean water, and remove and clean all nozzles and screens.

Use an old tooth brush or a toothpick to clean nozzles because the size and shape of the openings are very critical and must not be damaged. Flush the sprayer thoroughly with nozzles off, then replace the nozzles and check for leaks in connections while the sprayer is operating.

Nozzle spray patterns should then be checked. Patterns should be even and without any large streams or drops. Nozzles wear rapidly under certain conditions and especially where wettable powders are used. If one of a set needs changing it is good practice to change them all.

After cleaning, the spray rig is ready for calibration. There are many ways to do this job, but the best is in the field with the same conditions the sprayer will be working under.

Fact Sheet L-764, Pesticide Application Ground Equipment Calibration Guide, is available from my office, and should be helpful in making the final sprayer adjustments.

GUAR PRODUCTION

Timely information on guar production was given Motley County farmers by Lester Brooks and Wally Stuart, Stein Hall & Co., Vernon, in a meeting, June 11th, as much attention is being given to guar planting at the present time. Increased interest is due mainly to the favorable outlook expressed by the industry. In 1969 about 85,000 acres of guar were harvested in the Rolling Plains. However, to obtain the projected minimum needs in 1970, approximately 250,000 harvested acres will be needed. The industry is offering contracts with a floor price of $4.60 per hundred-weight.

The need for increased acreage results from the growth in demand for guar products. For example, in 1969, the United States consumed a total of approximately 15 million pounds. In 1969 approximately 40 million pounds were used. This represents about 50 percent of world consumption. The Rolling Plains account for about 80 percent of the U. S. production.

One of the areas of potential for increased guar production is diverted acres, both mandatory and voluntary. Guar yields of 350 to 400 pounds per acre will offset the reduction in diverted acre payment for wheat and feed grains. There is no reduction in payment for guar planted on acres voluntarily diverted from cotton. Guar may also offer possibilities for cotton acres which have been released after being destroyed by natural causes. For more details on these programs, visit the county ACS office.

These facts about guar should be kept in mind if plantings are to be made.

—Guar is drought resistant but it still must have moisture for maximum production.

—Guar fits well into a crop rotation program and is an excellent soil-improving crop. For the last several years cotton yields following guar in rotation have increased 20 percent at the Chillicothe Experiment Station.

—Seedbed preparation for guar should be the same as for cotton, corn or grain sorghum.

—The best seed available, preferably certified, should be planted. Seed should be inoculated with a special guar inoculant or the cowpea inoculant (Group E) just prior to planting.

—Guar should not be planted until continuous warm weather is assured. Soil temperature should be above 70 degrees F. at planting time.

—Seeding rate should be 4 to 6 pounds per acre in 40-inch rows, and not over 15 pounds in drill plantings. Seed should be planted one to one and a half inches deep.

—Grain sorghum planting equipment can be used for planting guar; however, straight hole

WINNERS NAMED IN COUNTY 4-H DRESS REVUE HELD HERE

Jeanette Day narrated for the senior division, Peggy Marrs for beginners, and Lucy Reed for the older juniors.

plates give less trouble. Addition of graphite to the seed box helps avoid the gumming problem. To reduce weight on the plates, fill seed boxes to no more than one-third of capacity.

—Guar can be harvested with conventional combine equipment.

Other production details are available from my office, in a new Guar Fact Sheet (L-907) which includes information on fertilizers, weed control, varieties, insects, diseases and harvesting and marketing.

Guar does offer possibilities for additional cash income to farmers of the county, where it fits into the overall farming operation. But as with other crops, good management and proper cultural practices are necessary for maximum production and income.

Awards were received as follows: Beginners, Martha Reed, Flomot, 1st, blue ribbon; Laura Grundy, Matador, 2nd, blue ribbon; Debbie Phillips, Matador, 3rd, blue ribbon; Tina Tharrington, Matador, 4th, blue ribbon; Etta Martin, Matador, 5th, blue ribbon; Pansy Moore, Matador, 6th, blue ribbon; Brenda Campbell, Matador, 7th, red ribbon; tied for 8th place were Louise Fagan and Glouris Sims, both Matador, receiving red ribbons; Raynell Fagan, Matador, 10th, red ribbon; Barbara Sanders, Matador, 11th, red ribbon.
