76TH YEAR—No. 47

MATADOR, MOTLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1970

PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Facts are not always important when involved in a case of pure stubbornness that lends itself to defending a personal conviction. It is like trying to walk through a six strand barbed wire fence.

There is no thermostat to regulate the temperature for the climate of happiness sought in empty halls of old memories.

The great depression of the early thirties left many scars on the lives of people in all classes. It created many almost unbelievable situations with which families had to cope. One man had to haul water in his wagon from a neighbor's well and came regularly every afternoon for a time, then changed to coming at night. Curious, the man who owned the well watched one night. There was only one horse now, and the man tied himself beside the remaining horse and together they pulled the barrel of water home. The other horse had died and the man was too proud to ask for help. In this case the neighbor gave an old mule which he was not using, to complete the team. The incidents are endless as a great, free country struggled to correct mistakes that had produced the chaos.

The industry of romance remains busy at all seasons which indicates that the models are popular. The booming enterprise has another advantage in not having to change styles and colors to meet the whims of the public.

In the past I have heard of people greasing wagons with butter when no other lubricant was available. If the condition existed today with butter at the current price, it is probable the axel would be allowed to squeak.

Too much money and ease may produce an economic abortion of vital ambitions.

Unfortunately, the work we should be about does not register on a lighted television screen.

CORRECTION

In my announcement as candidate for the office of County Treasurer in last week's issue of the Matador Tribune, it was stated that my candidacy would be subject to the Democratic Primary. This is untrue and an error in the announcement. I am a Republican and I wish to announce that I will run on the Republican ticket. I can not allow the error to pass without bringing it to the attention of the voters. I will sincerely appreciate the votes and influence of all voters.

JUNE TILSON

O. L. Kelley of Spur visited and attended to business here Friday. Larry Elliott, who has enrolled at Texas University, Austin, spent last week end here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Elliott.

Vote Register Deadline Sat.

Approximately 400 eligible voters in Motley County are going to lose their vote franchise if they do not register by Saturday. Registration is free at the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector J. D. Spray.

The precious privilege, which is being bought by the blood of fighting men on battle fields, and which has been secured by thousands who have perished in the past, will not be available for 1970, for those who are unregistered. A voter registration certificate

Masonic Lodge has York Rite Festival

FOR THE FIRST time in the history of the Matador Masonic Lodge, a York Rite Festival was held by the order, Saturday, Jan. 17.

Coupons Collected For Kidney Machine

Betty Crocker and other General Mills products coupons are being collected locally to aid in paying for a kidney machine which may save the life of a Wayland Baptist College student and father of two children.

Shortly after coming to Texas to attend Wayland, Larry Parks of Circleville, Ohio, discovered he was suffering from Bright's Disease, a kidney affliction. To remain alive, he must either have a kidney transplant or use several times a week a machine that removes impurities from his blood—a duty normally performed by the kidneys.

General Mills, which has an operation in Lancaster, Ohio near Circleville, has offered to buy a $60,000 kidney machine in return for 600,000 coupons.

Miss Elaine Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dixon, who is attending Wayland Baptist College, first brought the matter to the attention of the First Baptist Church here. Acting on the request for coupons, the Woman's Missionary Society is conducting a drive locally, and those wishing to donate coupons are requested to contact Mrs. Bill Dunning or Mrs. Dixon.

qualifies the owner to vote in all 1970 elections, including: Justice of the Peace, County Commissioner, District Attorney, City Council, County Treasurer, County Clerk, State Representative, State Senator, Local School Board, Civil Appeals Court, State Treasurer, State Comptroller, Attorney General, Land Commissioner, Governor, Lieut. Governor, State Education Board, U. S. Representative, U. S. Senator, Constitutional Amendments, School Bonds and Special Elections.

60-Bed Project Is Considered

A COMPLETELY modern nursing home may be built in Matador in the near future. It would be built with outside capital and would probably provide employment for from 30 to 40 people.

The possibility materialized Friday when Land D. Wall, Administrator of the Colonial Nursing Home in Lubbock, met here with a group for an informal luncheon at El Matador Restaurant.

Mr. Wall was surprised at the size of the area which would be served by the facility. He said the need for nursing homes is growing daily and that this area justifies the construction.

One of the first questions asked Mr. Wall was the possible conflict between a hospital and a nursing home. "They compliment each other," he declared, "it is not practical to have a hospital without a nursing home and it is not practical to have a nursing home without a hospital."

Dr. A. C. Traweek Jr., and Dr. J. S. Stanley said a nursing home here would in no way affect the operation of a hospital, except to improve available facilities.

A hospital is for the people who need doctors and the facilities of a hospital, Wall explained. A nursing home is a boarding home with patient care. The daily cost in a hospital is in the neighborhood of $50 while the cost in a modern nursing home may be about $12 per day.

Location is Approved
A location here in Matador was shown to Mr. Wall, which he said was ideal. The area can be obtained gratis, according to reports.

Mr. Wall estimated that Matador and area would need a 60-bed facility to be practical. He also estimated that the cost of a modern structure would be in the neighborhood of $4000 per room, or would require the expenditure of from $200,000 to $240,000. He said he could secure the financing.

With regard to personnel to operate the facility, Mr. Wall contemplated no great difficulty. He said his organization would lease the facility, if he is able to secure the financing to build it.

Rites Held for Manly Thompson

Funeral services for Charlie Manly Thompson, 64, feed store owner and former cotton gin operator, were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Larry Heard, pastor, officiating. Burial was in East Mound Cemetery, Matador, under the direction of Seigler Funeral Home.

Mr. Thompson had been in failing health for several years, and died about 10:30 p.m. Friday in Richard's Memorial Hospital, Paducah, where he had been a patient for five days.

He was born at Nimrod, Eastland County, Texas, March 15, 1905, and passed away January 23, 1970 having attained the age of 64 years, 10 months and 8 days. He was married to Miss Ruby Spears of Matador August, 26, 1940, in Whiteface, Texas and came here at that time to work at the Spears Gin. He later became owner of the cotton gin which he operated for a number of years, then went into the feed and seed business. He was a longtime member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Ruby; two sons, Carl Thompson of Phoenix, Arizona and David Thompson of Matador; two daughters, Miss Kate Thompson of Matador and Mrs. Dwight Cagle (Loretta) of Roaring Springs; one brother, Erwin Thompson, of Salinas, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Bervy Lyons of Whiteface; and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Bill Smallwood, James Simpson, Kenneth Thompson, Billy Wason, Howard Edmondson and John Barnhill.

ROARING SPRINGS MAN GUN VICTIM

A LONELY MAN died alone sometime Friday in his humble one-room quarters in Roaring Springs. Graveside rites were held Monday afternoon in Roaring Springs Cemetery for Merejildo Reyna, 77, with burial under the direction of Seigler Funeral Home of Matador. Final obsequies were said by Rev. Henry Rhynes, Pastor of the Roaring Springs First Baptist Church.

Mr. Reyna's body was found about 5:30 Sunday by city night-watchman Ben Massey, who notified authorities. Justice of the Peace Warren W. Clements entered a verdict of death by self inflicted gunshot wounds.

A 16-gauge shotgun was found lying on Reyna's bed, with one end of a string tied to the trigger and the other to a bedpost. Authorities said the shot was through the chest.

The friendly, hard-working man had lived in Roaring Springs for 15 years. He was unable to read or write, was partially blind and his health was impaired. He was known in Matador and Roaring Springs as "Shorty" and was employed in yard care in both towns.

Officers found his clothes neatly folded in a small trunk, together with his possessions, including $540.99 in cash. A gas heater had been burning in the room. There was no electricity. He had purchased the shotgun last week.

Only known survivor is a niece, Mrs. Maria Gomez of San Antonio.

Two Accidents Are Reported

Ice on the highway was the cause of an accident at 9 a.m. January 21, on US Highway 70 about 14 miles west of Matador, according to a report by Department of Public Safety Patrolman Paul Hoff.

A Dr. Pepper truck driven by Larry Charley Daniel of Plainview, went out of control on a curve and overturned in a borrow ditch, scattering bottled soda over the area.

A second accident was reported on January 22 at 7:15 p.m., four miles southeast of Roaring Springs on Farm Road 684. C. W. (Bill) Palmer of Roaring Springs struck a calf on the highway. Two animals were on the road and in missing one animal, he struck the second.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kimbell returned home Friday from Floydada, where he was a patient in Caprock Hospital. Mr. Kimbell had pneumonia, and is now convalescing at his home here. His condition is pronounced as satisfactory.

FOOTBALL SWEETHEART BRENDA WASON

Brenda Wason Gets Sweetheart Crown

Richard Campbell Delivers Address

BRENDA WASON received the coveted Football Sweetheart crown, the armload of red roses and the embraces of two 1969 Matador Matadors Captains at the annual football banquet held Saturday evening in the American Legion Building. Bestowing the honors were Captains Darrell Cruse and Ronnie Welling.

The banquet, prepared and served by mothers of Pep Squad girls and football boys, included the presentation of special awards, a skit by Pep Squad girls and the address by former Matador graduate Richard Campbell.

The defensive end on the 1969 Texas Tech Red Raider team, who recently played in the Hula Bowl in Hawaii, was introduced by his former coach and present Superintendent of Matador Schools, Charles Johnson.

"Desire to win and spiritual guidance will give you victory," he told the Matador Matadors. "Of course love for school and love for the sport are essential. You might have the greatest team, the greatest athletes and the desire, but you can't win without Divine leadership."

He praised this year's Matador Matadors for their spirit and cooperation under the leadership of Coaches Stan Irvine and Glendell Smith.

"I didn't get to see you play," he said, "but I heard a lot about you, and the unity which the team displayed at all times."

Young Campbell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell Jr., of Matador is a member of the Christian Athletes, an active organization on the Tech campus. He was accompanied by his wife, Ann, in attending the banquet.

He received a standing ovation at the conclusion of his address.

Awards Presented
The Dayton Graham Memorial award for the most outstanding member of the team was received by Darrell Cruse. His name will be added to those who previously received the honor, on a plaque which was presented by the Curtis Graham family a number of years ago as a memorial to their son and brother, Dayton Graham.

The late Dayton Graham, a former Matador star athlete, died of a heart attack in the door of the school gymnasium as he prepared to referee a basketball game, in December, 1959.

During "Halftime Activities," by the Captains and Cheerleaders, Miss Gail Lynn was named "Miss School Spirit;" the two coaches were presented with a cake, and gifts were presented to Mrs. A. L. Fair, pep club sponsor, and Mrs. John V. Stevens, director of the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Jackets, letters, blankets and plaques were presented members of the team by the coaches. These included Darrell Cruse, Ronnie Welling, Stanley Martin, Glen Moss and Robin Smauley (Manager) who received letters; Albert Cook, Lee Hurt, Randy Welch, Stanley Thompson, Mark Parks, Berry Bostick, Hal Martin, Benny Edwards and Don Smith, jackets.

An Open Letter to Mayor Welling

You have declared that you will not be a candidate for re-election in the April city election. Your reason is that you have had too much criticism during the four years you have served Matador.

This message, which is published without your knowledge or consent, has but one purpose, and that is to persuade you to change your mind and become a candidate for re-election. You have more friends than you know. You have heard but one side of the record: the complaints.

Most of us in Matador know that you have worked harder and done more for your community's betterment and general welfare than anyone else. During the years you have served Matador, you have never sought personal gain or personal glory. You have rolled up your sleeves and worked and you have been criticized because you accomplished things. We, who appreciate what you have done, never said anything, but took you for granted.

Many of us are also mindful of your years of work with the Boy Scouts and the years you have given in service to the Matador Volunteer Fire Department. You have done things for Matador because you are dedicated to your community and its future. Freddie Welling, Matador needs you to continue to serve as its mayor.

DOUGLAS MEADOR

THIS IS TO TRIBUNE READERS: If you agree with the above statements, tear this article out, sign your name to it and mail it to Mayor Welling as a vote of confidence and appreciation.

Today's youngster can expect to live 90 to 100 years. His imagination should be 'sparked' to this possibility. Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging, suggests broadening his interests beyond the narrow confines of learning a profession or trade and of supporting a family. Texas Tourist Program Paying Off

AUSTIN — Texans have big egos, lots of cattle, cash and 10-gallon hats and live in a wasteland.

Take that dusty cowboy image, implanted in the minds of non-Texan tourists, and you have the problem faced by the Texas Tourist Development Agency when it was created five years ago.

In one of its first acts, the agency set out to determine what prospective tourists thought about Texas. They found out quickly.

A poll of 1,100 persons showed most of the out-of-staters pictured Texas as a wasteland with no mountains, streams or anything else attractive.

"If you don't have a big hat and a small brain, you don't belong in Texas," one of those interviewed said. "They don't want you there. They want your dollars but not you."

Another characterized Texans as "backward, uneducated people and proud of it."

While the tourism picture in America was climbing steadily in the late 1950's, Texas tourism declined for four straight years.

Private tourist promotion groups first started fighting the decline in 1962.

Then in 1963 the state legislature created the Texas Tourist Development Agency (TDA). That group, with assistance from the private organizations, began chipping away at the state's sagging image.

By the end of 1968, there were 22.4 million tourists per year coming to Texas spending $1.48 billion annually.

The decline in tourism was abruptly halted in 1962, and the number of visitors to the state has climbed steadily since then.

Key to the reversal in the trend was the repeal of a constitutional provision which barred the state from spending any money to attract "immigrants"—or tourists. The clause had been put in the constitution to stem the influx of "carpetbaggers and scallawags" after the Civil War.

"This may have been well and good for its time," said Gov. Preston Smith. "But in the 20th Century, tourism was increasingly becoming an economic force to be courted."

"Other states were proving it. And other states were reaping its rich rewards. But not Texas. Our hands were tied because of legal opinions on the 'carpetbagger clause' equating tourists and immigrants."

Welcome To Texas

The Texas Highway Department had established welcome centers at major highway entrances to the state as early as 1936, but until the constitutional clause was repealed in 1958 the state did no national advertising or promotional work.

Smith labels creation of the Tourist Development Agency as being the source of the "dramatic turnaround" in tourism.

Apparently state legislators have agreed. Lawmakers have voted the agency a budget that has increased at the rate of 36 per cent annually.

The TDA, along with the highway department, is now spending about $1 million annually in promoting tourism in areas outside Texas. The agency is still barred from spending promotional money within the state. But the Highway Department cannot spend its promotional funds outside the state, so the two work hand in hand.

Number Way Higher

When the TDA was established in 1963, Texas had 11.7 million visitors. That number jumped to 14.2 million in 1964, then to 17 million in 1965, 19.2 million in 1966, 20.7 million in 1967, and in 1968—the year of HemisFair—it reached 22.4 million.

Estimates are that the number of tourists will total 22.5 million for 1969 when final counts are made early next year.

But while Smith credits the TDA with being the major force in the tourism turnaround, members of the agency are quick to point to private groups as major influences.

The Texas Tourist Council was formed in 1962 to promote tourism before the TDA was created. In fact, the tourist council was a moving force behind creation of the new state agency and the repeal of the "carpetbagger clause" in the state constitution.

More Promotion

With tourism on the increase, attractions such as Six Flags Over Texas, HemisFair '68, Seagrama in Galveston, Aquarena Springs in San Marcos and Houston's famed Astrodome have given new thrust to promotional work.

Along with that, Texas had its first native son elected to the presidency in the 1960's, and the home of Lyndon Baines Johnson became a favorite for tourists before the end of the decade.

HemisFair itself drew 6.3 million people in its six month run in San Antonio, and the fair site continues to be one of the state's biggest drawing cards.

The world's fair was a $156 million joint effort among the Texas and U. S. Governments and private enterprise. The U. S. Government built a $7.2 million complex for the fair, and Texas constructed a $10 million building which still houses the Institute of Texas Cultures on the HemisFair site. The fair was voted the number one attraction of 1968 by the National Association of travel organizations.

HemisFair was advertised on Texas auto license plates in 1968 — the first time in history the tags have carried advertising.

Former Gov. John Connally, a strong supporter of tourism programs, was instrumental in designation of 10 "Texas Travel Trails" designed to lure visitors off major highways and into scenic areas where most of the state's historical attractions are.

Those trails are reached by highway signs, and the Highway Department distributes brochures giving maps of each trail, along with descriptions of points of interest along each route.

A New Image

To overcome Texas' dusty cowboy image, the Tourist Development Agency concentrated on "image advertising" in its first few years.

Ads placed in publications nationwide pictured tropical citrus groves in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the majestic mountains of Big Bend National Park, wooded lakes in East Texas, and the sand and water of the Texas coast.

With tourism on the rise — and Americans hopefully more aware of "the real Texas," the agency is now beginning a series of "area" advertisements highlighting a specific feature of the state.

Fat Returns

The agency now figures that Texas gets a $108 return for every $1 of the state money spent promoting tourism.

Going into the 1970's, the agency is featuring a theme of "Texas: The Land of Contrasts."

But perhaps the biggest contrast is the state's tourism picture now when compared with the downtrodden image of the state 10 years ago, when the movie "Giant" had spread word that Texas was a hot, barren, sandyland of cattle, cowboys and oil.

Now, economists rank tourism as the state's second biggest potential — outranked only by the aerospace industry.

County Agent's Annual Summary

By Bill Palmeyer, County Agent

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with headquarters at Texas A&M University is the educational branch of the USDA. These responsibilities are fulfilled by demonstrations, distribution of publications, publication of news items and reports, letters, meetings, visits and consultations with individuals and organizations and through the 4-H Club program. Cooperating in this effort are the USDA, State of Texas and Motley County to carry out a program planned by the people of Motley County on their recognized needs.

The Motley County Planning Commission is the coordinating body, with sub-committees organized for livestock production; field crop production; and youth work. Members of these committees plan and determine the work to be done during the year, as well as assist with the carrying out of this work. Those not currently serving on these committees are invited to meet with these groups and offer suggestions to help plan and carry out a program on items of value to the people of the county. Fourteen meetings of this type were held.

During the year, 2058 individual contacts were made, either through farm visits, office calls, or telephone conversations. In addition, 404 contacts were made with organizations and agencies. 2935 publications were distributed and 240 meetings were held.

Letters written totaled 5598, and 175 news items were released. Two hundred and forty four days were worked during the year, and 14,513 miles were driven in relation to extension work. One hundred and fifty one days were devoted mainly to adult work and 93 to 4-H club work. As to type of work, 130 were devoted to agricultural production, management and natural resource use; four to marketing and utilization; 46 to 4-H club organization, member expansion, leader training, contests and career exploration; and 64 on community improvement and public affairs.

Twenty-five adult result demonstrations were established, and results on the 15 that survived will be published soon and distributed to interested parties along with results of three demonstrations previously established to be observed over a period of years.

Two hundred and sixty boys and girls were enrolled in 4-H club work, with 39 leaders assisting; 163 received certificates of completion, and 29 moved from the county. Special events for 4-H club members included: judging contests; county, district and state contests; Junior Livestock Show; summer camp; and the 4-H Achievement Banquet.

the applicant for further consideration. Successful applicants will be given an agility test, a character investigation and a physical examination. Those accepted for employment will be notified prior to the beginning date of the next training school.

Train 17 Weeks

Cadet patrolmen will be assigned to the Texas Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, Texas for a 17-week training period. The cadet will receive some 800 hours of intensive classroom work and supervised study.

The training is designed to equip the cadet to handle any of the various situations he may encounter as a patrolman. The training of a patrolman is a test of an individual's intellectual, emotional and physical stamina. It is also an educational process which prepares him for a rewarding career in law enforcement.

In addition to classroom work the cadet is taught self-protection by means of judo, boxing, wrestling, and other police-protection methods.

The salary during training is $25 per month. Room and board while at the academy will cost the cadet approximately $50 per month.

Upon being commissioned a patrolman, the salary is automatically raised to $630 per month. Effective September 1, the salary will increase to $651 per month. Patrolmen receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to a maximum of 25 years. Uniforms, vehicles, weapons, ammunition and necessary equipment are furnished.

They are also granted a monthly uniform cleaning allowance, and receive travel expenses when away from their assigned station. Group life and hospitalization insurance are available at reasonable cost. The patrolmen become members of the Texas Employees Retirement System and the Social Security System. Vacation, holidays and sick leave are also provided for the patrolmen.

Assignments will be made to one of the four uniform services—Texas Highway Patrol, License and Weight Service, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service or the Driver License Service. These assignments are made according to the individual's preference, his aptitude, available vacancies, and the Department's needs. Requests for a specific home station will be given every consideration.

After two years of experience each patrolman is eligible for promotion to Sergeant in the uniform services and also eligible for transfer into the Narcotic and Intelligence Sections.

All interested young men who feel like they meet these requirements are urged to contact the nearest Texas Department of Public Safety office or patrolman for an application and details.

SOUPER IDEAS

Flavorful soups are perfect sandwich companions for a winter lunch. To add taste and eye appeal, Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, offers these suggestions:

Stir finely diced cheese into steaming potato soup till melted (allow 1/3 cup cheese for each bowl of soup).

Brown day-old bread cubes in butter seasoned with garlic salt; toss cubes in grated Parmesan cheese; float on soup.

Blend a little hot tomato soup into softened cream cheese; stir into remaining soup and serve.

Top bowls of cream soup with bits of sharp cheese and minced parsley.

The average American family is worth more than a quarter of a million dollars—spreading an income of $7,000 a year over 40 working years. How much the money is really worth depends on the use or misuse the family makes of it, reminds Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist.

Matador Area Quail Hunt Best in Years

Public quail hunts on the Matador Wildlife Management Area have been termed the most successful since 1959 when the hunts first began.

Jack Parsons, Wildlife supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said hunters were not seriously handicapped by weather this year. Most of the hunting days were mild, with only a few cold and overcast.

Biologist Don Davis on the area said 300 hunters, most with dogs, participated, and killed 1,569 birds. Of the birds bagged, eight per cent or 139 were blue or scaled quail. Bobwhites accounted for 92 per cent of the total harvest—1,520 birds.

Hunters reported at the check station that 781 conveys of bobwhites and 89 conveys of scaled quail were seen. The 300 participating shotguns spent 2,680 hours in the field and bagged 6 birds per hour of hunting. Each hunter averaged 5.5 birds in the final tally.

There were 1,006 applications made to hunt on the Matador Area, and 770 permits were issued.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Recently you have read where certain agricultural chemicals are being taken off the market, and in general where this has happened, misuse has been the reason. When properly handled and applied, pesticides provide an effective and inexpensive means for minimizing and controlling the damage and discomfort caused by pests.

Proper use is more easily achieved if the user has certain basic information about chemicals, formulation equipment, application, handling procedures, storage and disposal.

Organic and inorganic compounds are used for pest control; however organic chemicals are the major source of insecticides. Organic materials are also used as herbicides and even metal containing organic compounds are used in fungicides. Plant derivatives are also used as pesticides, therefore, it is important to recognize that many different chemicals are used as pesticides and that different products may require different use procedures.

Pesticides are available singly or in combination with other chemicals. Formulations include emulsifiable concentrates, wettable powders, dusts and granules. Dust and fine sprays are generally more susceptible to drift and if this is a problem, granules may be the formulation of choice if the desired pest control can be obtained.

Wettable powders may be less hazardous than formulations containing oil if protective measures are less than optimum. An oil soluble formulation is in many cases more easily absorbed through the skin than water soluble formulations or wettable powders that are mixed with water. In all cases, select the pesticide recommended for a specific use by a competent authority and follow label directions to the letter.

When pesticides must be mixed, do it in the open or in a well ventilated area. Avoid spilling or splattering the pesticide and use special containers for mixing and use them for no other purpose. Wear natural rubber gloves when handling concentrates and other protective equipment as may be specified by label instructions. Maintain application equipment in good condition and always handle it with the same care as the pesticide itself.

Accidental home poisonings are a serious problem and in a majority of cases children under five are involved. The home contains an arsenal of potentially dangerous chemicals which include medicines, silver polish, detergents, moth balls, petroleum solvents, cleaners and pesticides to name a few.

Storage of chemicals, out of reach of children, preferably should be under lock. Storage away from food either human or animal should also be practiced, and in an area of little traffic.

On disposal, do not save or reuse empty pesticide containers, and promptly dispose them. Do not puncture pressurized containers, and do not throw them in a fire as they can explode and cause bodily injury or start fires. Wrap the empty containers, including bags and cartons in heavy layers of newspapers or other paper, and deposit them for trash removal. Crush metal containers and break those made of glass. If trash disposal is not available, bury them at least 18 inches deep in a place where they will not contaminate a water source.

Regulatory surveillance programs, total diet studies and monitoring programs (soil and water) are utilized throughout the nation to insure that pesticides are being handled properly and safely. Be sure that your uses measure up to these standards, for it is up to us, the users, to allow for continued use of these materials.

Finally, think what would be our outlook without the use of farm chemicals? Do you want to use the fly-swatter for the control of flies? How do you want to control lice on animals? and what would you use to control the armyworm that was so destructive last fall? It is up to us. What will we do about it?

Farmers and ranchers, are you having trouble finding all the deductions you are entitled to for your income tax report?

If so, you might be interested in obtaining some of the forms I have to keep up with your expenses and income for 1970. These are single page forms, and are ideal for keeping records that you will need. If a page is filled out before the year ends, simply obtain additional pages as needed, and at the end of the year you have a complete record of the year's business.

Sheets are available for: expenses; income; payroll record; accounts payable and receivable; depreciation; inventory; net worth and summary; hours equipment used; and a yearly summary.

If you think these would be helpful, stop by and take a look at them. They may save you money by providing a form for you to keep up with items that you will need at the end of the year.

Strictly Cash Basis

This change in policy is made necessary by the increasing rise in interest rates and the continuing inflationary trend in business operation. We find it impossible to continue to use much borrowed capital and at the same time keep our prices on a competitive basis. The margin of our profit is too small.

This announcement in no way reflects on the credit of any customer. We want to continue to serve you with the very best in merchandise at the lowest possible prices, and we must operate on a cash basis to continue the policy.

Please do not ask us to make exceptions, so that we may be fair to everyone. If you have an account at the store, we will appreciate your settling it as soon as convenient so that we may discard all customer account records.

CLOSE CALL to a serious accident was narrowly averted Friday afternoon when the above automobile, driven by Mrs. Jerry Edwards of Matador, was struck by a car driven by Littleton Rattan, also of Matador, and came to a stop just before smashing into a Phillips 66 Station pump. Mrs. Edwards was accompanied by her children, Dale 4 and Christy 3, and was driving east on US Highway 70. The car swerved across the time of the accident. If it had struck with more a stop after it had broken off a water connection at the filling station island. Another car was in the south driveway and being serviced at the time of the accident. If it had struck with more force, it is probable that a fire might have resulted.
