DEVELOPMENT IN THIS SECTION

Well No. 4 to be Drilled in More Wells for Mitchell County Field

At McDowell No. 4

The task of setting the casing in McDowell well No. 4 of General Petroleum Company was completed last Friday. Just as soon as the rainy spell is over the work will be getting thru the concrete will be undertaken. A few days more delay will be a benefit in that it will allow time for the concrete to harden sufficiently.

30 Barrels From the Santa Rita

Thirty thousand barrels of oil have been produced by the discovery well, seven miles west of here since last Friday. Several cars are being loaded each week to El Paso refinery.

The fact that the Santa Rita is a few inches in the sand, stands as evidence for the experienced oil men and geologists to say that if drilled deeper, would flow several hundred barrels per day. The people here have exercised good judgment by not bringing the well in too deep, on account of the conditions of the prices of oil.

However, it is the intention of the people and the Transcontinental to provide sufficient storage casing after which the wells will be brought in together.

The fishing job in No. 2 is almost completed and drilling is expected at any date.

It is drilling around 1000 feet to a Transcontinental representative who just returned from the wells.

Lake, the seat and center of the fields, still continues in its active growth.

Several new business houses have been started and others ready for the big business.

The structure of this field is the largest in the State and in Pennsylvania fields according to the oil men who have opened in numerous fields.

Showings from two different syndicates in the Shannon well are still drilling around 1,000 feet.

Their wells are some twenty miles from the Santa Rita. Geologists say that this field exceeds any other in the State.

Big Lake News.

Big Lake made a business trip to Big Lake on Wednesday.

Court Convened Monday

The District Court will convene here Monday, November 5th, to try such cases as are on the docket, and other cases as may develop.

Leslie upon arrival will appoint a jury commission to select the jury for the two weeks.

He reaches here Judge Leslies request the appointment of a jury as well, if he decides there is enough work for them to do.

James T. Brooks will be the attorney during this term; received his appointment of attorney from Governor Neff on October 30th. Judge Brooks is now as County Judge was called a special meeting called Monday morning to name his successor as county judge.

The appointment of Judge Jaa. to be District Attorney of the 22nd Judicial District, Governor's appointment meets with approval. Judge Brooks has an able, efficient and competent manner and can be depended upon to render the same service in the conduct of the high office to which he has been elevated. He is a able speaker and has the confidence of our people. He will do with fairness and impartiality believe the citizens of the county in this judicial district soon learn that a better office could not have been appointed.

It is reasonable to suppose that the Department of Agriculture will be compelled to revise the estimate of 11,015,000 bales of cotton for this year's crop. The estimate has been enormous since the report was issued; and Texas had over the entire State and Central cotton section.

County Exhibits at the State Fair

Of the thousands who passed down the aisles of the Agricultural Building at the State Fair of Texas the past two weeks, and gave to the numerous exhibits only a casual glance, but few realized the effort that had been put forward to bring attention to the agricultural resources of the various counties represented.

For months, county agents, secretaries of Chambers of Commerce, bankers, merchants and farmers traveled their county in good and bad weather, making selections of products, collecting them and preparing them for exhibit at the fair. For weeks before the fair some devoted their entire time to the effort to give their county the best representation possible. But making the selections and assembling the products is not all. Products must be packed and shipped. Upon arrival at Dallas, shipments must be transported to the grounds, unpacked and artistically displayed. The numerous rules of the agricultural committee must be followed to the letter, or the exhibit will be penalized. One only has to visit the agricultural building a few days before the fair opens to have a real appreciation of the labor entailed in making ready the exhibit of any county. Men and women, surrounded by bales and boxes; the floor littered with boards, paper and other wrappings, toil all day long and far into the night in order to make a presentable showing for their county, and in a larger sense, display to the public the resources of the State of Texas.

Agriculture is the basic industry of Texas. More money is invested in it than in any two or three other industries in the State. More people depend directly upon it than upon all the rest of the industries and occupations in Texas. For years the State Fair has placed exhibits in an out of way location, but even so, the exhibits have been an inspiration to thousands of visitors. In 1921, however, agriculture will find a place in the front row of the show. The Coliseum has been promised to agriculture. It will be remodeled to suit the needs of the exhibitors. Agriculture is coming into its own at the State Fair.—Farrar and Ranch.

Prosperity Abides With Us

Big Spring and the entire Big Spring Country are today facing the greatest era of prosperity in the history of the city or country. Cotton which is now bringing better than thirty cents and cotton seed selling at a fancy price have put our farmers on Easy Street. Instead of laboring under a burden of debt they have been enabled to pay off all old scores and have money in the bank. Nor have all depended solely on cotton and other crops have made good. With the farmers wiping out all old accounts and purchasing needed supplies our business men have come in for a large share of prosperity and all report they have enjoyed a heavier business during the past few weeks than has been the case in years.

The last statements of the banks of our county showed big deposits, but should the deposits be noted now they would be almost double what they were on September 14th, the date of the last call.

While the rains of the past ten days have delayed cotton picking they were great for the sheep and cattlemen, for it means lots of weeds for the stock during the winter and early spring. Then, too, if frost and freezing weather hold off there will be lots of grass for winter pasturage.

It is great to know that our country is in such a prosperous condition and we should make this prosperity lasting by saving the money our folks are receiving or investing it in good farms or town property in our county. Rent houses in town or good farms in our county are worthwhile investments, and we will be making money for ourselves as well as building up our community by making such wise investments. Folks back East want to come to West Texas and we can secure our share of these homeseekers if we provide homes or farms for them to rent or purchase. Invest your money in Howard County property and keep prosperity in our midst. Let's build up our county and make it a farming country that can compare with any county in Texas.

There is not a citizen of our county that does not realize the value of the Boy Scout movement as a character builder and citizenship training asset and most of them will do well to donate something toward promoting this work in our community. The business of building boyhood is our most important duty.

R. C. ROLL CALL STARTS NOV. 11

E. E. Fabrenkamp Has Named Committee to Assist Him in This Year's Campaign

Everyone is urged to enroll as a member of the American Red Cross during the seventh Annual Roll Call which starts on Armistice Day—Sunday, Nov. 11th—with special sermons at various churches in our city. Become a stockholder in the world's greatest humanitarian enterprise, the Red Cross, by paying the annual membership dues of one dollar. The Red Cross needs your support. Another great disaster such as the Japanese earthquake may occur and the Red Cross must be ready. Remember, too, how the Red Cross came to the relief of our neighboring county, Mitchell, when a destructive cyclone swept thru that county. We may need its aid some day and can be sure it will be extended us if that time ever comes.

Thousands of men who wore the American uniform in the World War must be cared for—their families must be helped. Work among 4,000,000 school children must not be neglected.

Health work in the Public Schools of Big Spring under the auspices of the Red Cross is practically assured if we secure at least eight hundred members in the local Chapter during the coming Roll Call. Every parent who has children in the school should be keenly interested in this and help put the Roll Call over the top. Can you think of any better way to use a dollar?

The following have been assigned to the districts designated to start the soliciting for members Monday morning, November 12th. All herein named are requested to meet at the office of the Chamber of Commerce by 9 a. m. on that date to secure buttons, window cards, receipt books, etc. Be on time, please.

Rainy Spell Continues

The Big Spring section and all West Texas have been treated to rainy weather the past ten days. Up to Thursday morning the total rainfall for the ten-day period was two and fifty-one one-hundredth inches as measured at the U. S. Experiment Station.

The rains came in intermittent showers, mainly, and no serious damages to the cotton crop has so far resulted. Should the rains continue, or should a freeze visit us while the rainy weather is in force it is likely that serious damage would be done. Most everyone has all the rain he cares for and all are hoping the clouds break away and let at least several weeks of bright weather reign.

W. G. Harris, sub-district manager of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau, of El Paso, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

McKinney-Baggett

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Baggett, at Dallas Texas, on Wednesday evening, October 24th at 8 o'clock, the ceremony was performed which united in marriage Miss Gladys Baggett and Eustace McKinney of McKinney, Texas. The beautiful ceremony was performed by Dr. Skales, pastor of the Methodist Church, and was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends from Dallas, Fort Worth, McKinney, and Big Spring.

The home was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and ferns and made an ideal setting for this happy occasion.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Wilson of Dallas, sang "At Home"; and as the strains of "Lullaby" and "Wedding March" as rendered by Miss Genevieve Brady of Fort Worth, sounded, the wedding party entered. The bride, attired in a beautiful salmon colored crepe de chine, headed evening dress, was accompanied by her father; while the groom was accompanied by Clifford Thomas of McKinney a brother-in-law, as best man. Little Miss Royce Mason served as ring bearer. Meeting under a large white bell, arranged in the doorway between living room and dining room, the waiting minister spoke the words which made these two man and wife.

Following a delightful reception the happy couple left on their honeymoon; and upon their return will make their future home at McKinney Texas.

The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young lady, loved by everyone who knows her and she has a host of friends in Big Spring where she made her home for many years.

The groom is a prosperous young business man of McKinney and a descendant of the founder of that thriving city.

We join many friends in Big Spring, Dallas, and McKinney in wishing for this popular couple an ideal wedded life.

Christmas Tree for Children

The Elks will follow their annual custom of holding a community Christmas tree for all children of our county between the ages of six and twelve years. About eight hundred children attended the Elks Christmas Tree last year; and twice as many are going to be expected this year. Plans are now being made to take care of at least fifteen hundred this Christmas. The Christmas Exercises will be held at the Lyric Theatre as was the case last year.

In addition to apples, oranges, candy, etc. furnished by the Elks, a number of businessmen and manufacturers will add souvenirs and advertising novelties so that every child attending will get a nice package and will feel that he is not forgotten at Christmas time.

It would help considerably if every family would make a list of children—giving their names and ages—placing this information on a postal card and mailing same to Elks Christmas Tree Committee, Box 188, Big Spring, Texas. If you will do this we will know whether to prepare 1,000 or 2,000 packages; and we are going to have packages for every child within the specified ages who sends in his name.

All children in the county are cordially invited. Send in your names as soon as possible.

District Attorney E. I. Hill Resigns

The call of printers ink proved too strong to be ignored so E. I. Hill, district attorney of this judicial district tendered his resignation in order to reenter the newspaper game. Mr. Hill purchased the Lynn County News, published at Tahoka, and takes charge this week.

He formerly owned and published the Roscoe Times; is an A1 newspaper man and will more than make good for he has selected a fine little city in the heart of a rapidly developing county—an ideal location for a real honest-to-goodness booster.

Mr. Hill has ably and conscientiously fulfilled every duty while serving our district as district attorney, and he will do everything in his power to give Lynn County a home paper the folks can well be proud of. Give him the cooperation he deserves and you will be helping yourself and your home town and county. Here's success to you Bro. Hill.

Justice of the Peace J. A. Stephens on Wednesday, October 31st, performed the ceremony which united in marriage Claid Matthews and Miss Grace Dean. We join their friends in extending best wishes for happiness and prosperity.

NOW IS THE TIME LET'S GET BUSY

An Aggressive Campaign Should be Launched to Bring Homeseekers to Howard County

A fund of $5,000 is being raised among the business men of Plainview, Texas, to be used in advertising Hale County and the Plainview territory as a successful cotton growing district. The advertising matter will be circulated among the cotton farmers in East, Central and North Texas and Southern Oklahoma, and it is planned to reach about sixty thousand families.

The literature will tell of the experience of cotton farmers in Hale County, the 27th, they have made this year and past years, the freedom of the Plains from practically all cotton insects, what other crops are grown there, the good schools, community and church surroundings, and many other things that the plains country boast of. The literature will be very appealing, and it is hoped that many of the cotton farmers in the districts where it is circulated will be induced to come here and take a look at the country with a view of locating.

The above is a new item from a daily paper and we only wish we could use the same with a Big Spring date line and substitute Big Spring and Howard County for Plainview and Hale County.

It does appear that as usual we are going to sit back and wait for things to come our way when the progressive communities are out hustling for the things that will build up their communities. Now is the best time we will ever have to attract homeseekers to this section; but it appears that we are not awake to our opportunity. With better cotton land and selling at one-third the price they must pay in some of the counties that are now making a strong bid to attract the cotton farmers. Then, too, the worth of the Big Spring section as a dependable cotton section is not based on crop statistics for one or two years but on a record of eighteen years. And in addition we have a U. S. Experiment Station here whose record is 1.3 of a bale per acre for cotton thru a period of years.

With land in this section selling at such reasonable prices and our established worth as a cotton country we could hope to attract twice as many homeseekers if we had the funds to spend—say what Plainview is going to spend. We would advocate sending men to the various sections to spend months giving this literature to people who were interested. Never was so wonderful an opportunity open to us and we wonder if our people are going to wake up and take advantage of it before it is too late. If we wait until after this fall to do anything we might just as well wait two or three years more. When we think how difficult it was to raise the small amount necessary to send the exhibit to the Dallas Fair we feel rather doubtful about raising such a fund as Plainview is raising. Some stranger might drift in and ease us out of such a sum but we seemingly can't see far enough in the future to see what big results would be gained by a real funds to spend—say that Plainview advertising campaign launched and carried out by home people.

Building and Loan Association

It is difficult to understand why we cannot have a Building and Loan Association in Big Spring. Its quite evident that our town cannot do much more expanding until we erect more homes.

In the past a number of our people have been lured by investing in gold brick building and loan associations with headquarters in the larger cities.

We could form a local association the main features to be perfect mutuality, reciprocity and equality of all members, the main purpose to encourage thrift and to encourage its members to purchase their own homes.

The Federal government, as well as state government, look upon local building and loan associations as of paramount importance to the development of the community. It is the greatest and safest cooperative financial institution in the world.

There are nearly nine thousand building and loan associations in the U. S. with five million members and assets of more than two and one-half billion dollars.

Time, tide and bad debt collectors wait for no man.

J. M. Bates and son bought of W. Brennan of Athens three hundred and twenty acres of land ten miles northwest of Big Spring.

L. E. Lomax sold his home place of three hundred and twenty acres, four miles northwest of Big Spring. G. C. Broughton purchased 160 acres of this fine farm, and Ross and Henry Hill purchased 160 acres.

Albert Eden last week purchased of J. C. Guy of Dallas, 160 acres of his one-half section farm in the R-Bar community; Gilbert Eden purchased the other 160 acres.

Land Transfers

D. F. Painter reports the following land deals the past ten days:

160 acres—Mrs. D. L. Long of Dallas to J. E. Terry.

160 acres—Mrs. D. L. Long of Dallas to V. Phillips.

160 acres—Mrs. D. L. Long of Dallas to Flem Anderson.

160 acres—Mrs. D. L. Long of Dallas to R. E. Gregory.

320 acres—W. Brennan of Athens Texas, to J. M. Bates and son.

These farms were all sold to Howard County citizens with one exception, R. E. Gregory of Mitchell County, which all goes to show that the home people have full confidence and faith in their home county. Mr. Gregory will move to his place at an early date.

Opportunities in Howard County

Just to show you what opportunities there are for men who come to Howard County and are willing to stay on the job and "hit the ball" we might cite the case of Joe Dive. Joe has been living in our county some seven years, working on farms, breaking horses and doing odd jobs. Three years ago he purchased one hundred and sixty acres of land, about nine miles north of Big Spring. He was to give $30 per acre and bought the place without any cash payment. Starting without a cent and having to buy a team, tools, etc. on credit, he had hard sledding for a time, but he made it thru; can pay off all the balance due on his farm and have money in the bank. Joe has sold over $4,000 worth of cotton off his farm this year and has a good feed crop left.

He says there are few sections where a man can own his own farm in so short a time and old Howard County looks good to him.

Elks Hallow'en Dance

A Hallow'en dance was enjoyed at the Elks Hall in this city Wednesday night. The Hot Pepper orchestra of San Angelo furnished the music, and a delightful time was the report of all attending, including quite a few guests from Colorado, Midland, Abilene and other points.

WOMAN AND A WATER DROP. COUNTING FORD CHICKENS. STARVING CHILDREN. THE SHAH DIDN'T CARE.

County Clerk Niendorf of Michigan issues with each marriage license "Ten Rules to Insure Happy Married Life." Here is a sample:

"Keep up the courtship period. Go 50-50 on the money and 50-50 on the love. Don't live with relatives, or keep boarders. Don't be a tightwad."

Such rules mean little. Every man knows that one drop of salt water, patiently studied, will tell you all about the Pacific Ocean, which is simply a collection of so many drops.

Marriages would last longer if men realized that each woman is to all women what a drop of salt water is to the ocean. Study, analyze, interest yourself in the woman that the Lord has assigned to you. One is enough, and has within her, if you will look for it, everything that you would find in ten thousand.

Democrats, counting chickens even before the eggs are laid, say that Ford, running independently, will take so many farmers from the Republican party as to make Democratic victory certain.

Democrats forget that Ford's chief plank will tell of the wonderful things to be done for the South, at Muscle Shoals.

Ford would draw farmers from the Republican party, but he might also break up the Solid South, elect himself, and leave Messrs. Coolidge and McDoo wondering what happened.

Cotton prices are strong. October cotton passed 30 on Wednesday, December went above 29 yesterday. Manufacturers would do well to buy their raw supplies now. Cotton will be higher—a good thing for the South and the North, as well.

Investigation in New York shows children underfed, undersized. Their parents need money to pay high rents. Landlords say, quite truly, "It isn't our business. We are taxed; wages and materials are up."

But it ought to be the CITY'S business, and it ought to be the business of the entire white race, to see that young children are fed and have a chance.

The undernourished children of Europe today may mean Asiatics ruling in Europe fifty years hence.

The English interfered with child labor and child stunting, forbade the starving of children that they might be small enough for chimney cleaning, when they found that they grew up too small for the army.

In Germany the price of a loaf of bread jumps from four hundred and forty million marks in a day. That number of marks would have been one hundred and ten million dollars before the war. No telling what will happen to men, when their money goes as crazy as that.

Even Nature seems to be fighting against miserable men. In South Africa, a deadly drought and scorching wind storms have dried up the water supply, while locusts, in swarms, have destroyed green plants. It is feared that all cattle will die.

War, disease, earthquakes, droughts money panics, tidal waves, and, worst of all, human beings and nations intent only on robbing and killing each other.

Certain philosophers have thought that among planets there might be some very sick, as there are sick individuals among human beings. This must be one of the sickest planets.

The Poles and Turks have signed a treaty of "perpetual peace" and the document was probably signed on both sides without a smile.

It's a good treaty for the present, however, for with Russia getting stronger and wanting Poland on one side, the Dardanelles and the door into the Mediterranean on another, Poles and Turks will hang together or take their chances separately.

The Shah of Persia, invited to attend the Derby, said, "No, I know one horse can run faster than another and I don't care which it is."

A hundred thousand who feel differently attended the race between an American horse and the British Derby winner last week. Many very likely laid their first bet on a horse

YOUR CHILDREN WHAT ABOUT THEIR FUTURE?

Of course you will give them the advantages you had—and many more which you were denied. Education—a start in life—possibly a business for them to grow into. Whatever your plans, happy and fortunate will be the lives of your children—if your plans are carried out.

BUT—Do you realize that four out of every ten who go to college give up their studies and leave before graduation—the usual cause being family reverses—plans that are miscarried?

Would you be interested in a plan which will throw absolute safeguards around the money you wish your children to have at a certain age? Wouldn't you feel more comfortable if you were working out a plan to help assure their future?

We suggest that you let us tell you of the many ways of saving and making money, whether your income is large, moderate or small. Our banking institution is pledged to serve the people of this community. We will help you whether you be a new depositor in the saving department or a patron seeking sound business advice on investment of money which SHOULD be working for you.

Support Your Local Paper

If you want a home paper, one that places Community or Public Service above all other considerations so far as it is good business to do so, you have something more to do beyond subscribing for it. Help by giving it all the printing you must have done which the paper's job service is able to handle.—Alpine Avalanche.

Very few people, apparently, know what is due their home paper. In many instances they use the home paper only as a convenience. When they have a hurry-up job that the mail order house would not handle for twice the price the local office asks, they give it to the home paper, but in nine cases out of ten the home business man will ask the home paper for a price on 500, 1000 or 2000 copies and because the mail order house will give him a lower price on a 25,000 or 50,000 lot, the job goes to the mail order house. Again the local man rarely considers the free publicity given by his home paper which the out of town office would not give if he could and could not if he would.

The Enterprise has for several years printed the Whirlwind for the Pecos High School and only for a trifle above cost of material and labor. It is now giving the same school a full page every week "free gratis for nothing." In order to show in a meagre way their appreciation for this service cheerfully given, it is understood they only last week let the contract to an outside firm for the printing of the commencement invitations and cards, and, if our informant be correct, at a much higher price than the same identical job could be had for at the Enterprise office. The Enterprise is not censuring those of the High School who have this matter in charge. How could they be expected to do otherwise when the Pecos Chamber of Commerce sends to Arkansas for tickets for its trade days? The money for both of these jobs is gone from Pecos forever. In another place in this paper will be found an article entitled "Dollar Bill," which will give Enterprise readers a slight idea of what the several hundred dollars spent for these two jobs alone had it been spent with local printers with ample facilities for turning out the work, would have meant to the people of Pecos. If these dollars had followed the precedent of "Dollar Bill," which they in all probability would have done, there would in all likelihood have been five or ten thousand dollars' worth of accounts settled and dozens at lowest of our citizens would have felt at ease and would have a better feeling toward his neighbor.

Gentlemen, you just simply can't build a town that way. A town divided against itself must fall. It cannot grow and prosper any more than a "house divided against itself," etc. As this writer sees it there is one way and only one way to pull poor old Pecos out of the ruts and put her in the class of real live prosperous towns, and the Pecos Chamber of Commerce could do nothing which would benefit more than to help solve the problem, viz: Quit the mail order houses which never contribute one cent to your taxes or to anything else which tends to help your city or county. Start at home and give all your work to your home town people at a living wage. Then go out after the public and educate them to the fact that it is wise for them to do likewise. "In union there is strength," "Divided we fall," etc., are very good thoughts for our people and should be used as slogans by every citizen of the county who has the best interests of his town and county at heart. Let's get right with each other and for once use just a little grain of common sense and be just a little less selfish and see how that will work for a time. Doing this it is the prediction of the writer that we will hear considerably less of hard luck stories and our people will return to the optimistic view of things, pay their debts, and become prosperous.—Pecos Enterprise.

The Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 6:30 for their regular Sunday evening meeting. At 7:30 p. m. the pastor will speak on: Daniel and His Three Friends. This will be the second sermon on the prophecy of Daniel. A book which is fascinating from the very beginning. And very helpful to any who will take the trouble to study it. And I am glad to see so many showing such an interest in it. You are invited to spend the Sabbath evening with us, and look into the great problems of prophecy.

Well and Cistern Digging

I am prepared to dig wells and cisterns and do concrete work. Blasting and curbing my specialty. All work guaranteed. If you need anything in these lines, see me, or address G. W. MOODY, General Delivery, Big Spring, Texas. Telephone 542. 2-f

Of course, we would like to see fine sunny days in evidence so our farmers could complete the task of harvesting their crops, and benefit as a result of the good price being offered for cotton. But even though the weather is unfavorable, we as a community have small reason to grumble since most every farm is producing far more cotton than any of our folks expected, and the price is away better than most of us thought possible. When you sum it all up we have much to be thankful for and few of us have any reason to kick.

Big Sale Attracts Crowds

It was necessary to close the Grand Lender twice last Friday and three times on last Saturday so the clerks could wait on the folks who swamped the store. The sale was a stem-winder from start to finish and was crowded every day since the sale started, in spite of the fact that rainy weather has been in force ever since the opening day of the sale. Nor has the bad weather kept folks living in other parts of the county and nearby counties from braving the elements to secure the big bargains offered.

The sale will continue for a time so that everyone may have an opportunity to get needed dry goods at lowest prices.

Special Notice

Anyone desiring to see or talk to me about expression call No. 217. MYRTLE REEVES. 4-1f

Can you beat this? One of our citizens purchased eighty acres of raw land this Spring. Exclusive of the cost of grubbing he paid four hundred dollars for planting and cultivating seventy acres of this land. He is securing twenty-five bales of cotton from this tract. On another tract of land he purchased several years ago for less than twenty dollars per acre he has secured twenty dollars per acre rent, not only for 1923 but for 1922 also. He is renting this place on the halves. Land that will give such big returns is a gilt edge investment, and it is no wonder so many of our people are investing in Howard County land.

The Hallowe'en wrecking crew were out Tuesday and Wednesday nights and left the usual bunch of wreckage in their path. Picket fences and movable objects were damaged, autos tampered with; and the poor property owner had to pay for the so called entertainment of these nit-wits. This Hallowe'en custom should be prohibited until some of our young people learn the difference between fun and wanton vandalism.

John Sharp Williams Speaks

"I would not want to live in a country where the State government under which I lived, much less the Federal government, should be my commission merchant and my warehouseman and elevator dealer. Government is one thing; individual affairs constitute another thing. To put the government in the pawn-broking business, to put the Government in the warehousing business, to put the government in the elevator business, to put the government out as a competitor against every man in the world engaged in any sort of business, strikes me as an absolute prostitution of the purpose of all government. So far as I am concerned, I would just as soon live in Prussia as to live in any country, whether my own or any other, that undertook to say that the government had the right to carry on with me every sort of business," says John Sharp Williams, United States Senator from Mississippi.

When the best of your dreams are punctured and you limp in on the rims,
When your tank of ideals is empty and trouble your vision dims;
When you're miles from the goal you're seeking and to reach it your heart despairs,
That's not the time to give up, but to get out and make repairs.

The Wildness of Wild Life

The other day a man of excellent reputation as a purveyor of exact and uncompromising truth, returned to Kansas City and was quoted by that village's chief newspaper as bitterly complaining because while he was in the country and unarmed, a prairie chicken attacked him and bit his leg. On the heels of that story word came from Alaska that a supposedly timid caribou had wandered into a settlement and used its sharp and enormous horns on those who foolishly attempted to shoo it away. And now Oroville, Cal., where nothing but the truth is known or spoken, reports the startling case of Mort McNab, a deer-hunter of local fame. An "infuriated black-tail deer," all unmindful of Mort's abilities with a gun, walked up to him in the forest and knocked him down three times. Only the ready and deadly rifle of Jim Bradley, a fellow-hunter, saved Mort from being horned to death. As it was, both his shirt and reputation were rent in sundry places.

No reports have come in of coursing hounds being chewed to ribbons by vicious jackrabbits, and it is not of record, yet, that any wild duck has entered a Michigan "blind" and driven its occupants far into an impenetrable and treacherous swamp, but the season is young and they may be confidently expected at any moment.

The truth about our wild life is mighty and will prevail, despite the saxophonic sobs of animal and bird sharps. These Volstead days and nights are not of the village and city alone.—Fort Worth Press.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Commissioner Blair today issued an order to collectors of internal revenue to invoke penalties hereafter in all cases of improperly executed sales tax returns by merchants. The ruling affects every mercantile establishment selling taxable articles and was regarded here as another step in the progress of the bureau of internal revenue to bring about more rigid enforcement of all items of the tax laws, many of which admittedly were given little attention in the press of work during and after the war.

Officials stated that many firms had been returning to the treasury sums that appeared ample as the taxes taken in by them but there were countless cases of laxity in observing the law in making or filing returns with the collector. Mr. Blair's order was that this laxity must cease and the bureau's agents were instructed to make examinations of firms' books in all suspected cases.

Rail Chiefs Decide Can't Reduce Rates

New York, Oct. 30.—Presidents and executives of 100 railroads and lines ramifying throughout the country called together today to hear a statement by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, of President Coolidge's views on revision of freight rates on coal and grain, drafted their reply to the president's suggestion and sent it to Washington, it was unofficially learned from a reliable source. The reply drafted by the executives, according to the unofficial reports, express an attitude unfavorable to the suggestion President Coolidge is said to have made to Mr. Rea.

Cemetery Association Gets $189.70

Harley Sadler's Lone Star Chautauqua which played here last week under the auspices of Mt. Olive cemetery association, turned over to the cemetery association $189.70 cash at the close of the week's engagement; this being the amount after all necessary expenses had been paid.

The amount would have been much larger had it not been for the inclement weather which held forth during four days, thus keeping many from attending. Anyway this amount will come in handy and can be used to good purpose and the Cemetery association indeed appreciates this substantial amount.

A Mexican by the name of Jose Hernandez was arrested near the T. & P. depot Sunday night after he took a shot at Hayden Griffith. The Mexican was placed under $750 bond to await the action of the grand jury, and in addition will have to pay a fine for carrying a concealed weapon.

Coahoma News Items

The Senior C. E. will have their regular hour Sunday with an interesting program. Good attendance is appreciated.

They who attended the C. E. convention last Saturday and Sunday enjoyed the sessions very much indeed. The rain, of course, prevented as large a number being present, as would otherwise have been. We had wanted very much indeed to win first place on "milage"—in order to have done so, there would have had to be 88 present Friday evening. Barstow won this place with 7 present—7x-150 miles equals 1050. Coahoma had 30 to be multiplied by 12 which equals 360. We won second banner for sending in our quota early. Barstow won first there. The banners were presented Sunday evening. Ruby Elliott receiving the banner for Coahoma. We certainly want first banner at the spring convention, which meets at Pecos in April. We are anxious for Midland district to lead in registration at Austin in June. All will be glad to know that our quota has already been met—10 seniors and 10 juniors. The money has been forwarded into Austin.

The Junior C. E. covered themselves with glory at the convention. The yells were well given and appropriately given. Other delegates and Big Spring were lavish in praise of attention given by Juniors, program rendered and enthusiastic manner of giving yells—some are wanting to borrow our leader.

There was given a book to the society who gave the best composed original yell. Coahoma won—too, when her Juniors were the only Juniors in the contest. A book on "Better Juniors Work" was chosen.

Mr. Bennett Hoover furnished the truck and Truett Devaney drove for the Juniors. In the truck were Mrs. Floyd Thomason, Ida May Echols, Nettie Earl Fletcher, Bama Hale, Dorothy Wheat, Frances Thomason, Ruby Thompson, C. H. Devaney, Gussie Thompson, Troy Keller, Lina Coffman, Pearl Thompson, Opal Madison, Pauline Thomason, Flora Madison, Gladys McCann, Norma Hart, Annie Hale and Vera Hale. Warren Dinwiddie carried in his car Olga Wolfe, Louise Graham, Irene Mullikin, Ruby Elliott, Noble Devaney and J. W. Neel. All save five above mentioned carried quilts and pillows and camped in the large dining room and kitchen of the Stewart Hotel. The proprietress did not charge anything for the use of rooms or light. The young folks ate lunch both Friday and Saturday at camp. Saturday at noon the ladies of Big Spring entertained entire convention at the "Y"—a most satisfying and delicious buffet luncheon. After getting your plate and marching to your chairs in the main hall, the repast being enjoyed. Mr. Huppertz divided the room into sections, each section to give a yell or song. As the Juniors were grouped as one their yell was "Alligator, Alligator, Alligator, R—"

Very appreciative the Juniors are. The other meals, than ones mentioned, were eaten at the restaurant where Mr. Horn gave a 10 per cent discount. After convention session Saturday afternoon all the Juniors in a body, went to the movie. Mr. Robb gave a discount, too.

Mrs. T. S. Currie and Mrs. Wood both of the Presbyterian Church, had in their home for Sunday noon meal, several of our Juniors. The guests in the Woods house declare their hostess the best in every way; the ones entertained in the Currie home as valiantly claiming that honor for their hostess. The Juniors will unite with the Seniors in a special program Sunday night of the fourth Sunday giving to Coahoma part of the program rendered in Big Spring.

Sunday afternoon Bennett Hoover came after us, carrying home the same number but not the same persons and several went home Saturday.

Aileen Bass and Dick Madison Jr. went Saturday and stayed to come back with the crowd Sunday.

Had no Junior meeting Sunday as the greater number of them were in Big Spring. They will meet Sunday at 2. p. m.

Mrs. J. L. Collins and children spent Tuesday with Dr. Collins' family. Mrs. Collins enjoyed shopping while the little folks enjoyed their visit.

Mrs. Leslie Adams hurt her hand real bad last Saturday—a glass broke while she was drying it, we understand.

Mrs. J. A. Roberts and Archie Thompson with daughters Annie Belle and Lucile made a shopping tour Saturday.

Messrs Willard Williams and Arkley Charter collided Saturday, causing some damage to each car.

Warren Dinwiddie of Ranger spent several days in our city, a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Liles. He returned to Ranger Tuesday, accompanied by Sam Via who has been here for some time working at the South side gin. His wife left for Ranger several days previous.

Willard Williams is driving a new Ford.

The first number of the Lyceum course was given in the Presbyterian Church Monday evening with the building full. I think every one present enjoyed the program immensely.

Mr. Duncan is out of town this week, away on a business trip.

Mr. Russell of near here preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and Tom Studevant preached in the evening. Rev. Green will fill the pulpit there Sunday morning and evening.

Hiram Reid and family with Mr. and Mrs. Sherley Rotan left Saturday for Mason, where they will spend this week returning home next Saturday.

Misses Rhoton of Big Spring were guests in their sister's home Monday.

The stork carried a precious bundle to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sullivan October 24th. When the stork announced "a boy," there was much rejoicing—for this little man has four sisters but no brother.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weems died Wednesday, October 31 at 7:30 a. m. The little daughter was only five months old.

Mr. Vessel, father of Mrs. Slim Wilson, died Saturday and was buried Sunday. Rev. Shepherd conducted the funeral services. Mr. Vessel, a man of integrity and uprightness, leaves an example that will do much good and will never die. He was 70 years old. Mrs. Wilson's friends extend their sympathy and prayer for her comfort.

Harve Echols is on the sick list this week.

How Frost is Formed

Frost, as the term is commonly used, means a temperature below freezing at the surface of the ground, and if the point of saturation of the atmosphere is reached below 32 degrees moisture will be changed from a gas to a solid in much the same way as snow is formed, except that the frost will be deposited on those objects that are good radiators of heat and close to the surface of the earth, while snow is formed at the higher altitudes and falls to the earth through the influence of gravity. The great regulator of temperature of the air is moisture, and the change between the temperature of the air in the daytime and at night depends in large measure on the relative amount of moisture present. As stated before, the air increases its waterholding capacity as it rises in temperature, and it has been determined that as the air is cooled its capacity for holding water vapor is diminished, and at a certain temperature it reaches a point of saturation which is called "dew point." At this temperature the moisture in the air will change from a gas to a liquid in the form of dew or fog, or to a solid in the form of frost or snow, but in making this change it will give up the great amount of heat that it took up when it evaporated, and this latent heat given off will tend to warm the air, and the temperature will not fall much lower.—C. H. Alvord in The Progressive Farmer.

Big Spring Doll Hospital

Did you know we had a hospital for dolls? I am sure the little girls of Big Spring and Howard County will be interested in this news as dolls are mighty easy to break.

The Big Spring Doll Hospital was opened this week by Mrs. Ernest Griffin at her home, the former T. M. Jones residence in Jones Valley. She has fitted up a room especially for her doll patients and will be prepared to replace with new parts or make repairs on doll heads, bodies, arms, legs, hands, wigs, etc., having a full supply of parts and other material. Doll shoes and stockings are to be added, and later on doll clothing.

She will be glad to have you call and bring that doll that needs attention and see what it will cost to make it good as new. If you can't call just phone 457-J and explain your dolly's trouble.

There are only two other doll hospitals in Texas, and we know our little folks are going to appreciate the establishment of this doll hospital in our city.

Many Communities Have Their 'Bill'

Bill is an old boy who treats his neighbors pretty well, who goes to bed at a reasonable hour, and who has a streak of piety running cross-wise of his frame. Bill is vociferous in his denunciation of lawlessness. He howls like a dog baying at the moon, that the Government is lax in bringing criminals to justice. He declares, with many adjectives, that it is an outrage the way bandits and hijackers are permitted to ply their trade almost at will.

Yet there is a mote in Bill's own eye. He couldn't be induced to discover it with the best of mirrors.

Bill has his own set of burglar's tools, his own jimmy, his own sand-bag. He uses them to hold up Mother Earth and relieve her of her treasure. "Soil robber" is a mild epithet. "Posterity swindler" and "prosperity destroyer" would be more appropriate.

There are laws regulating the possession of firearms and providing penalties for house-breaking. Unfortunately, there are no laws regulating the use of plows and planters. If there were, Bill would have to change his ways or else spend the rest of his life making faces at the universe from behind jail bars.

Why should we be tolerant of soil robbing and intolerant of safe-blowing? Taking the riches of the earth means depriving the future generations; taking the contents of a bank vault means wiping out the paltry accumulations of past years. Wherein is it worth while drawing a distinction?—Farm and Ranch.

Not Afraid of Truth

Almost the first utterance of Lloyd George, once his feet gained these shores, was: "George Washington taught Englishmen how to treat free peoples decently." Further, "The lesson you taught us in the 18th century has been the salvation of the British empire."

He meant that the revolt of the American colonies in 1776 opened the eyes and spurred the minds of Great Britain to such an extent that that country gained, from its defeat, an angle of view that made it great. He knew of no good reason, in history or otherwise, why he should not be honest about it.

Those horrified delvers in the New York school histories, too, who thought they had found a mass of English propaganda, might well take a lesson from Lloyd George. He told them, indirectly, that history loses nothing and people gain much when the truth is told. Prejudice, he said in effect, never wrote a fair book and intolerance never was or could be the starting point of a safe and sane education.—Fort Worth Press.

The great fire at Berkeley, California, recently, which burned over an area of fifty city blocks, not only destroyed property worth approximately $10,000,000 but brought to light the interesting and deplorable fact that only about $4,000,000 of fire insurance was in force throughout the devastated section. Americans, apparently, will never learn. With the lessons of the San Francisco conflagration still fresh in the minds of many; with the records of the Baltimore blaze not yet dry on the pages of insurance history, and with the horror of the Japanese catastrophe even now before their eyes, men and women go about the affairs of their daily lives and either do not insure their property holdings at all or else, in many cases, fail to protect them with an adequate amount.

Then and Now—Average Texas Home

Thirty years ago the family of moderate circumstances in an average good town in Texas lived in a six-room house. They may have had a cistern or a well. The house was lighted by kerosene lamps. The family had never heard of an electric fan. There were so few telephones in the town that to talk to a neighbor usually meant to go over to his place. Cooking and heating was done by wood or coal fires. Water for the bath was heated in a big boiler on the kitchen stove and carried to the bath tub.

Everybody knows what the situation is today. The family has ice delivered daily. An automatic water heater delivers hot water as desired. Electric lights and appliances have taken away the toil of the household. The telephone is connected with practically every other in the home town and with fourteen million places all over the country.

The standard of living has changed. What changed it?

Note the things that have accomplished the transformation.

They are the essential public utility services of electric light and power, telephone, and transportation.

How Water is Pumped into Railroad Stocks

(By WILLIAM B. SHEARER)
(Through Autocaster Service)

The trouble with the railroads, with the exception of such ones as the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, capitalized at a cost by the late Samuel Sloan, is that their credit has been exhausted by excessive issues of liabilities, the proceeds from which have been misappropriated or diverted to the continuation of the payment of unwarranted dividends and are but little reflected, if at all, in additions, betterments and improvements.

Samuel Sloan, of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, was one of the honest, sturdy pioneers who helped to create this country. He was born in 1817, and died in 1907 at the age of ninety. During his tenure of office of President of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western he permitted the operation of no Sunday trains. That road was created by him for the sum of $42,277,000, for which was issued the capital stock of the same amount fully paid. Its funded debt is only $320,000. The $42,277,000 cost included the purchase and development of anthracite coal lands in Lackawanna and Luzerne counties, Pennsylvania, estimated in 1904 to contain 400,000,000 tons of unmined anthracite coal.

The company, beginning in 1854, up to date, has paid dividends on its capital stock of from 3 to 20 per cent per annum, besides extra dividends of from 10 to 75 per cent, and a dividend, August 20, 1921, of 100 per cent in its stock, doubling the same by authority of the present Interstate Commerce Commission.

The company has never had to issue securities to obtain capital because of its reasonable capitalization. It is the short line from New York City to Buffalo, and probably the best built and equipped railroad in the world. It emphasizes the fact by its history that railroads in the United States, when reasonably and honestly capitalized, have no credit difficulties, and do not lack funds at any or all times to make betterments and improvements, and do not require grossly excessive rates at the expense of the public at large.

The hardest boiled railroad exploiter or official would not have the temerity to claim that the Erie or the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad was the equal of the Lackawanna from any point of view. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western is a monument to Samuel Sloan and honesty.

The Erie Railroad, like the Boston & Maine, the New York, New Haven & Hartford, and the majority of our other railroads, is a monument to greed and unscrupulousness in complete disregard of the public at large, 99.3 per cent of our population, the producers and consumers. The Erie Railroad also owns and operates a railroad from New York City to Buffalo. It also operates various railroads to Chicago and other points, with a total of 1607 miles. Four hundred and three of this total are operated through the ownership of the capital stock only of the company owning the same. The rest is operated through leases. Each of the companies so operated has separate issues of capital stock and bonds outstanding, not included in the Erie's capitalization.

The Erie's capital stock outstanding December 31, 1921, was $176,386,300, and its funded debt $222,291,020. The total of both was therefore $398,677,320, whereas the total of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western of the same date was $84,541,700, or $314,135,620 less than that of the Erie.

The gross earnings of the Erie for the year ending December 31, 1921, were $102,835,507, whereas those of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western were $85,977,815, or $16,857,692 less.

Despite a less earning capacity, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western has paid the enormous annual dividends enumerated above because of its honest capitalization, whereas the Erie, due to overcapitalization, is continually struggling to pay interest on its outstanding bonded indebtedness. The company has never paid a dividend on its common stock, and none since 1907 on its preferred stock issues.

The value of the New Haven Railroad and equipment (1916) was fixed by the company at $199,368,446. This was done by deducting its assets, other than the item of road and equipment amounting to $262,844,591, from its total liabilities, listed at par, amounting to $462,213,037.

The value of the New Haven Railroad and equipment (1921) was fixed by the company at $278,955,456. This was done by deducting its assets, other than the item of road and equipment, amounting to $290,955,331, from its total liabilities, listed at par, amounting to $569,940,787.

By this method, and ignoring the market price of its liabilities, the value of road and equipment was marked up from $199,386,446 in 1916 to $278,955,456 in 1921, an increase of a mere matter of $79,567,010.

The increase in funded debt was from $214,328,883 to $301,128,363, or $86,799,480, although there was a decrease in miles of road operated, and only a small increase in equipment.

The actual market price of the funded debt issues and the floating debt, deducted from the amount of the same listed at par, would show many additional millions placed in the value claimed for road and equipment by the specious method of the railroads in fixing the value of the same and increasing it from time to time to correspond with pyramiding securities not reflected by physical increases in road and equipment.

These are some of the millions the railroads are asking the public at large (99.3 per cent of our population), to guarantee a 6 per cent interest annually, through Federal legislation by a continuance of the Esch-Cummins Act. Do you favor it?

Will Mebane Cotton Live?

"Will history repeat itself? No variety of cotton to date, put out by an individual, has long outlasted its originator. There are two reasons for this. It is replaced by superior varieties, or, being an orphan, disappears from lack of care and attention."

"As proof of our assertion, Peterkin, an almost world-wide and most desirable variety; Allen's Long Staple, one of the best linting varieties ever developed; Griffin, the longest linted American variety; Russell's Green Seed, the hardest variety of cotton ever developed; as well as Herlong, Supack, Bohemian, Moon, and Jeff Wellborn Pet have all almost or quite disappeared.

"However, with two strong and able organizations behind Mebane, the trend of history may be retarded or the plant breeders of one or both of these organizations will sooner or later find a desirable or superior mutation which when propagated will be advertised as a super-Mebane under a distinct name, and history will have repeated itself.

"The fact that from the thousand selections of Mebane cotton made by countless individuals in the last 20 years, only three distinct strains have been produced, or at least marketed in a commercial way; Kasch, Boykin and Mebane-44 of the Oklahoma Experiment Station, indicates in a mild degree the unusual uniformity of this variety. One might attribute this to its homozygous condition from the beginning, or to the fact of long continued selection."—D. A. Saunders, in The Progressive Farmer.

Election came round and Liza said her man was going to vote for the Democrats. She was asked why he had made this decision. David's First Year at School

Many little children are becoming acquainted with their first teacher. They are telling their mothers about her at night. Perhaps they refuse to answer questions about her, but they imitate her in talking to the baby, or in driving the cows home from the pasture, they sing as she does. She is making them over and they are recording the fact in many ways.

Do the mothers know her? Invite her home, mother, and see the young son's pride as he watches her eat your delicious rolls and baked apples. She seems to like them almost as well as he and father do.

The teacher will thereafter seem different to your son David. She has sat at the family table and has helped mother with the dishes. She is not a far away person that a boy needs to be afraid of. She is like dear Aunt Jane who comes to the house sometimes; a guest the family will always be glad to entertain.

Father handed her the paper when mother left to put the last touches to the meal and she told father how interested the big boys and girls are in the daily paper at school. David wonders how soon he can learn to read well enough to go to the school reading table and read the daily paper. He means to work very hard at reading so he can do it before long.

When the new teacher left she told mother how glad she is to know that David has such a happy home; when David thanked her that night for inviting the teacher, mother said: "Mother, at one time, taught school, David, and she has not forgotten how much better the work went in the districts where she was invited to the homes."

The Proof Is Here the Same As Everywhere

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Big Spring the same as everywhere. Big Spring people have used Doan's and Big Spring people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Big Spring proof. Investigate it.

G. D. Griffice, prop. of blacksmith shop, Runnels St., says: "Bending over the anvil constantly put my kidneys in bad shape. I had pains across my kidneys and if I bent for any length of time, it was hard to straighten again, my back hurt so. There was a constant ache in my back and I was also troubled with my kidneys acting too freely. Doan's Kidney Pills soon eased the pain in my back and regulated my kidneys. Before long I was entirely cured and my work doesn't bother me now at all."

Card of Thanks

Sweetwater, Texas, October 29, 1923
To the Herald:
Having tendered my resignation as District Attorney to re-enter newspaper work, I desire to express my thanks to the people of Big Spring and of Howard County for the many kindnesses they have shown me. Your people are a great people, and I have learned to love them.

I also wish to express appreciation of the efficient work of your district clerk, of the sheriff and other peace officers, and of Judge Leslie, who has presided over your district court with a degree of ability and fairness rarely equalled.

Again thanking everybody, and wishing for the Herald and its publishers a degree of prosperity beyond anything in their past experience, I am
Very respectfully,
E. I. HILL.

T. H. Johnson returned Tuesday morning from Dallas where he had been in charge of the Howard County exhibit during the last week of the Fair. Mr. Johnson stated that many people showed much interest in our exhibit and many stated they expected to visit our county. Mr. Johnson said we had no reason to be ashamed of our exhibit but suggests that we start earlier and secure a better one next year.

The way Howard County folks are snapping up every farm that is offered for sale is mighty good evidence that Howard County is due for an unprecedented growth. Our people know what this land will do and they know it is going to double in value when folks in other sections learn that it is the best buy in Texas.

Records at the U. S. Experiment Station here from 1915 up to, but not including 1923, show that the average yield of cotton at the station is five hundred and ninety-five pounds of seed cotton or a little better than a third of a bale per acre. This is a splendid showing when you remember that the years 1917 and 1918 were anything but favorable years in this section.

A slice of life in Big Spring, Gopher Prairie or any other burg in the U. S. A. Far from the maddening throngs of big cities, reposing peacefully in the heart of our country, lie our Main Streets, rich with fascinating types.

Sinclair Lewis wrote of one of them in his "MAIN STREET," the most talked of novel of the age, discussed heatedly pro and con by every periodical and newspaper in the country. It is a story rich with the heart stuff that captures interest and makes one lose oneself in the throbbing drama unfolded. In the screen version of "MAIN STREET" you will find all the typical characters faithfully brought to life and woven into a masterpiece that will thrill, entertain and surprise you. A story filled to overflowing with those intimate human touches that go straight to the heart. You will be delighted with this wonderful entertainment.

"Dollar Bill"
"Howdy, Bill; glad to meet you. I have a mission to perform, Bill, and I am going to start you on that mission right now."
"Here, Brother Jones, is that Dollar I borrowed from you; accept my thanks." TEN hours later: "Well, Dollar Bill, you are back again; tell me where you have been during the day."
"Well, to begin with, Mr. Jones paid me to the doctor in payment of his bill—the doctor gave me to his office boy for wages—the office boy gave me to his mother, and she paid her bill to the butcher; the butcher paid me to a lady for two chickens, and the lady paid her bill at the grocery store—the grocer gave me out in change to a Chinaman, and he paid a bill he owed for starch. The groceryman paid me to the office boy for wages due and he gave me to his mother who paid me to the laundry woman for the week's washing, and she paid me to the coal man for coal, so you see I have changed hands a dozen times today and am good for as many more every day in the year, provided you start me off early in the morning, giving me a chance to help everyone pay their bills and return to you every night; but if you hide me away there will be no bills paid and you will be blocking the game. Let me keep going and the first thing you know you will be out of debt and be happy ever afterwards.—Anon in Pecos Enterprise.

Law and Order
A few years ago a wheeze made its rounds in Texas. It was, "Steal a four-bit yearling and go to the penitentiary; kill a man and go free." Not much is said about cattle-stealing these days; the association has made this time-honored institution a bit unsafe. But, we still shoot to kill—and frequently run away and live to kill another day. Governor Neff reminds us that killing is our favorite outdoor, as well as indoor, sport in dear old Texas, and from all reports it would seem that people in other parts of the United States have learned about shooting from us.
At the last meeting of the American Bar Association, a few statistics were doled out for the populace to mull over on Saturday night while putting three-in-one on the old six-gun. In 1922, for instance, 7,850 murders were committed in the United States, while in England and France combined only 631 were killed illegally. For the same year Chicago had 137 murders, as against 17 in London—though London is a much larger city. In 1919 France had 121 robberies while the city of Chicago had 1862—and Chicago is no worse than other parts of the country.

shooters, and then only in muzzle-loading styles. That man who shoots to kill seldom gets his game the first shot, and if he had to measure his powder, cut his wadding, and tamp with a ramrod, the shooter would have a fine chance to get out of range before shot No. 2.
On second thought this plan isn't workable, because the shooters still have revolvers, due to the slow process of the law. Perhaps this little story suggests a solution: A few years ago two murders were committed, one in America and one in England. The murderer was tried, convicted and executed in England before the grand jury had returned an indictment in America. The killings took place on the same day and date.
(You don't need a blue print to find the moral to that story!)

Coahoma Stores Bhrglarized

Coahoma, Oct. 30. — Burglars staged a double game on business houses here last night. J. L. Collins' drug store was burglarized and $160 in cash and jewelry taken. About $16 in nickels and dimes was taken from the cash register and something like $85 worth of jewelry, mostly watches, was missing. Entry was made by smashing in the glass of the front door.

The Logan & Graham dry goods and grocery store was also burglarized and about the same amount taken. The cash register was ransacked and $8 in cash taken, also one pair of shoes and $75 worth of jewelry, principally finger rings. Entry was made through the front door. No clew leading to the identity of the burglars has been found.

Christian Endeavor Convention

The convention which was held at the Christian Church Friday, Saturday and Sunday was well attended according to the weather. There were 85 out of town delegates.

Big Spring won two banners for having the most registrations. Barstow won 1st banner for coming the farthest distance with the most delegates. Barstow also won 3rd banner; Coahoma also won a banner. The program, as printed in last week's Herald, was carried out during the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Shipman and brother in law, W. S. Everett were here this week enroute from California to visit relatives at San Angelo. These people are former residents of Big Spring but have been away more than thirty years. Mr. Shipman conducted a shoe shop and store here while Mr. Everett was in the sheep business. They have encountered a number of friends they knew in the early days. Mr. Shipman states that he lost a fine alfalfa farm some 12 years ago in New Mexico due to a water spout and has been living at various points in Arizona and California since. He may decide to locate in Big Spring.

The deputy sheriff of Granbury was here Tuesday to take a prisoner that has long been sought by Hood County officials. It is said the prisoner has been wanted for operating the biggest still in Hood County. He escaped to Mexico where he remained until quite recently. Martin County officers captured him at Stanton and he was placed in the jail at Big Spring for the Hood County officers.

It has been suggested that a man be secured who can give part of his time as assistant Y. M. C. A. secretary, band leader and worker with the Boy Scouts in Howard County, under the supervision of J. M. Manuel and if the right man can be secured we know our folks will back the movement to a successful conclusion.

County Judge James T. Brooks attended the joint teachers institute of Howard, Borden, Mitchell and Nolan counties in session at Colorado on Monday and Wednesday.

W. H. Abrams of Dallas was here the latter part of last week looking after land interests in this section.

Oscar Rohn, Noted Geologist, Killed

Oscar Rohn, General Manager of the East Butte Mining Co., was instantly killed when his head was crushed while making an inspection of a new shaft at the Pittsmt Mine. He was, with other officials of the company, watching tests of the dumping mechanism which empties the skip.

Thoughtful of the danger to those about him, but never realizing his own hazard, Mr. Rohn but a few seconds before he was killed, uttered these words, "Watch out boys, here is a good place to get your head caught." He was peering intently at the skip as the dumping machinery turned it over, when suddenly he was caught between the bonnet of the 4-ton skip and the cradle. The top of his head was crushed in and death was instantaneous. The body fell from the plank on which Mr. Rohn was standing to the landing about 10 feet below.

The Anaconda (Mont.) Standard says: "Mr. Rohn was one of the most distinguished and scholarly of the West's many eminent mining engineers and geologists. He had a wide acquaintance, but was intimately known but by few men. He was a quiet, thoughtful man. In his profession he was universally admired and respected as a man of high attainments and deep fundamental knowledge. His tracts and papers and discussions of technical research and geological exploration are regarded as of great scientific value."

Mr. Rohn was a cousin of Mrs. B. C. Rix of this city.

Hard-Headed Hayseed

Senator Mangus Johnson of Minnesota, the Swedish-American farmer who has been added to the Progressive bloc from Minnesota, has been in New York and was quite a disappointment to the radical Reds and yelling Yellows.

The soft-handed intellectuals and white-collar and pink-tea parlor revolutionists did not get much satisfaction out of the legislator who is a land-owner and has worked hard all his life.

He balked at any of their ideas of social revolution, dividing up wealth and lands and the Soviet dictatorship of the proletariat that is trying to establish itself upon the necks of the American people.

Of course, the bolshevistic elements who are trying to ride into power by a fusion of the farmer and labor votes, are anxious to grab some such man for a political stalking-horse.

Senator Johnson does not seem at all willing to fall for any form of radicalism and is not posing as one who would lead the inarticulate masses with a torch in one hand and a bomb in the other.

Plenty of Fresh Air Best Medicine.

There are thousands of people dying every year for want of the most plentiful and cheapest thing in the world—fresh air.

The Texas Public Health Association encourages everybody, children as well as grown-ups, to get out in the open air at all seasons of the year. It is one of the steps in the prevention or cure of tuberculosis.

The Modern Health Crusade, in which many thousands of Texas School children are enrolled, encourages it's members to play out doors. Sanatoria are demonstrating, in practically every stage, that no matter what the local climate may be fresh air is necessary for health.

The Texas Public Health Association, as a part of their life saving program, financed by Tuberculosis Seals, advocates the establishment of county sanatoria, summer camps for underweight children, open air schools and out door exercises so that all may have the benefit of nature's remedy—fresh air.

Sinclair Lewis Novel Made into Photodrama

The announcement of the Lyric Theatre management that "Main Street," a screen adaptation of Sinclair Lewis' novel describing the small town, will be shown Monday and Tuesday, November 5 and 6 will be hailed by all motion picture enthusiasts as an event out of the ordinary run of things. This because of the discussion pro and con awakened by the story, which was the most widely discussed in the history of the literary world during the past few years.

Florence Vidor and Monte Blue have the featured parts, the former as Carol Kennicott, the young girl burning with new ideas and the desire to make Gopher Prairie adopt them, and the latter as Dr. Kennicott, her husband. The picture is said to follow the book with fidelity.

Briefly, the story centers about Carol, about whom tongues begin to wag in connection with her friendship for Erik Valborg, a young dreamer, the only person in the town sympathizing with Carol. She goes her way mindless of the gossip, trying to make the town advanced and new-fangled.

Old Valborg, Erik's father, resents the intimacy between his son and Carol, whom he blames for keeping away from the farm. At last the doctor, in his effort to save Carol from a bad reputation, tells her she must stop and be content to live as others do. She consents, but finds it is too late, that Erik, now in love, wants to force her to elope. The climax comes in a big scene in which her life is imperiled.

FASHIONS

COATS

The wizard of fashion has turned out new fabrics, new colors and new models for coats, giving triple measure of interest to the woman buyer. As the outer wrap is of paramount importance in autumn fashions, she should select her coat now while the styles are new, varied and worth seeing. The most desirable things! The casual lines of yesterday are gone, and in their place are tip-tilted flounces and washed effects that require practical wrappings before one's mirror.

This is indeed a season of coats. There are special fabrics for coats for daytime, afternoon, evening and sports. There are special furs which should be worn at the different periods of the day. Fashion has so decreed that each occasion demands a coat all its own, different in line, in fabric, in fur, in personality!

INFORMAL COATS
For day wear there is the informal, long wrap-around straight line coat. A modified dolman sleeve is featured, cut away at the hip line and with extreme left side closing. It is of striped and plaid camel's hair cloth, brushed faced nubbed cloths and in both imported and domestic fabric novelties.

DRESS COATS
Coats for dress or formal wear keep closely to long straight lines, cleverly preserving the slender silhouette even when they are varied with flare bottoms. This breaks the monotony of straight lines yet keeps the silhouette within narrow bounds; affords a smartly decorative note and still preserves its simplicity. The flare sometimes is of fur, embroidered metal cloth or tailored set-on tucks. Many dressy coats are differentiated by trimmed-on-one-side effects and fur is used in every imaginable manner on collars, cuffs, and as bands and borders.

For the woman in general who can buy but one coat, there is a wide variety from which to choose. They are made of the most velvety fabrics, rich and lustrous, and developed into the smartest tailored effects, or are combined with the most generous use of fur. The styles are varied to meet every preference. There are the slim silhouettes fastening to the side with a button or a tie sash, flat at the back and front; some with slight fullness at the side. Or the belted styles, more loose line, better adapted to a large figure. There is the tube contour, with its various modifications, such as the godet insert, the circular flounce and the flare.

The coats are in black, brown, grey and blue made of fabrics including luxona, gerona, fashona, marvella, formosa, lustrona, oriona, and numerous others. Some of the fur trimmings are beaver, fox, wolf, squirrel, caracul, lynx and mole.

FUR COATS
In the full length fur coats will be found flares and panels presented in many charming ways, always preserving the straight-line effect, but varying slightly to admit some striking interpretations. The short fur coat is a practical favorite, and the short coat can be bought of imitation fur or of brushed wool in the newest colors and are swanky as one could wish.

MISSES' COATS
The Misses' coats are every whit as rich as their elders', yet with subtle differences that acknowledge the debutante's claim to lighter graces. Of course the slender-as-a-willow silhouette prevails, unless it be broken by upper tier, the ripple of a flounce, or the circular flare. And the furs these are laid upon the new fabrics with no sparing hand. One of the newest of fashions is the cape back or capote, swinging youthfully from the shoulders or merging with the sleeves.

In the less expensive coats will be found the typical college girl styles, becoming for school or business wear in the wool mixtures in stripes, or bold plaids cut with set-in or raglan sleeves, and topped with collars of imitation fur.

TOP COAT
For wear in the motor or in town during stormy weather, every adequate wardrobe has at least one top coat. It is usually of rough homespun weave of heavy threads in a big plaid of tan and dark blue, the plaid outlined with fuzzy threads, woven in with the hard twisted homespun. They are warmly collared with fur, and not too heavy to wear when walking, such coats are a great comfort to the active woman.

Get a Job

Of the graduating class at Harvard this year ninety-odd announced their intention of entering 'business.' The next largest number, eighty-nine, said they expected to become lawyers. And so on down through the list of white-collar occupations. Not one, so far as we recall, said he was going to be a dirt farmer or a bricklayer or an iron worker or a seaman. Not one, apparently, has the imagination and temerity to burst through the paper hoop of convention and enter upon the adventure of a manual trade, however highly paid at the outset or bright with prospects.

The richest man in the world started as a mechanic, the greatest inventor as a telegrapher, the greatest novelist as a sailor. And what about the ironmasters who began as puddlers, the builders who began as carpenters, the bootleggers who began as fishermen? We venture to say no manual toil has been the work of more genius than ever came out of colleges, and of more great deeds, also, though one doesn't hear about it in baccalaureate sermons.

This country could get along just as well with a third as many scientists and journalists and lawyers and stomach specialists; but unless the young men who are flooding through our colleges today show some inclination soon to do more necessary work of the world we shall be forced to importing hunkies again to do it for us. Why don't our distraught pedagogues, instead of seeking with feeble protests to stem the enormous tide of American youth that has set toward college, try guiding their growing output of graduates into more useful, the more adventurous channels indicated. Such a course if successful would add immensely to the dignity of labor, it would mitigate our labor shortage and it would greatly increase the proportion of men in our population to white-collar slaves.

New Sickness Keeps Church Members at Home

New sickness has appeared recently and is known as Morkus Sabbaticus, or Sunday sickness. It is a disease peculiar to church members. The attack comes suddenly every Sunday. No symptoms are felt Saturday night. The patient sleeps well, and eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on and continues until services are over in the morning.

Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon he feels much better and is able to take a walk, talk about politics and read the Sunday papers. He eats a hearty supper, and about church time he has another attack and stays at home. He retires early, sleeps well and wakes up on Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work, and does not have symptoms of the disease until the following Sunday, says a Masonic exchange.

Sir Thomas Dont Want to Box With Dempsey

Romance in business was perhaps never better illustrated than in the career of Sir Thomas Lipton, who recently had conferred upon him the freedom of the city of Glasgow, Scotland, the town where as a boy he first worked for 60 cents a week. Now on one of his tea plantations on the island of Ceylon he employs more than 8,000 people. The last time Glasgow conferred such honor was to an English Royal Princess.

A Lipton yacht will sail over an American course again in 1925. Sir Thomas' fifth attempt to lift the cup since 1893. When asked recently by Jack Dempsey to box with him for a special movie, Sir Thomas smilingly declined, saying: "I would rather play with sailboats."

OUR PRAYER THAT WE MAY NEVER FORGET

RICHARD LLOYD JONES SAYS Determine Your Worth

Every man weighs himself and determines his own worth. We earn what we deserve. All wages are not paid in coin. The men who work only for money seldom have anything but money. And whether they have much or little of that they are soon forgotten by a world eager to reward unselfish deeds.

It is a common practice to blame the world for our own faults. When your estimate of your worth and the world's estimate do not agree, survey yourself before you curse the world.

Care is an essential element to every success. Oxygen is essential to the life of all fish, but no fish can live on oxygen alone. Self-fattery is the archrival and the surest sponsor for failure.

Discontent is commendable, but it becomes profitable only when it stimulates determination.

It is impossible to keep any man below the level of his attainments. It is as impossible to hold him above them. Talent is the result of application. Efficiency is the reward for practice.

Mere knowledge measures worth no more than mere muscle. The skilled mechanic is master of his muscles. Undirected muscles, as undirected brains, produce little and are worth little.

Wisdom applied to one thing develops wisdom. Wisdom never achieves when it waffles. Constant thinking and working on consistent lines produce results.

Opportunity never searches for him who does not search for opportunity.

Strength of will is the foundation of worth. Luck is a dangerous pilot to put on your bridge. Influence may help you out of the harbor of your birth but it will lead you into the open sea without rudder or sail or anchor. These you must take with you or accept the fate of the tempest-tost.

Beware of imitation. No copy is worth the original. As a counterfeit you are as worthless to the world as the imitation coin.

Etiquette What & When to do it

By A. Leda. Any questions on etiquette will be gladly answered in this column if addressed to A. Leda, care of this newspaper.

Dear A. Leda: Should an invitation for a wedding be sent to friends even if you know they live too far away to attend? Miss R. L. PENN.

Yes. This courtesy shows you desire their presence and would like to have them with you if circumstances would permit.

Dear A. Leda: What should be done when a young man calls in the evening and it is past time that he went home? Thank you. A. READER.

This shows a decided lack of knowing "what's what" on the man's part, and it puts the hostess in a rather embarrassing position. It would be quite proper to say something to this effect: "I am sorry but as it is getting rather late and I have an early morning appointment, I am afraid I shall have to say good-night."

Dear A. Leda: If a man takes a girl to a public dance how many times is it proper for him to dance with her?—M. D.

Dear Girlie: You have not said if there would be any others included in the party. If there are, you shall give at least one dance to each man member along. But if you are alone you may dance with your escort as often as you like.

Dear A. Leda: Shall a young man ask a girl to his home to visit his parents? Should the invitation come from him or from them? MARION S.

If your friend has invited you to meet and visit his parents at his home it shows how highly he regards you. It is a very nice thing to do and it is quite proper for you to accept. The invitation should come from his mother.

Cowboys From Plains of Texas "Rope" Honors at Johns Hopkins.

Two of the most prominent students in the senior class at Johns Hopkins University received their elementary education cowpunching on the plains of Texas. James I. Bonner and Hubert Barton contradict the current notion that successful college students must be more interested in social activities than in the pursuit of knowledge.

Bonner and Barton were the closest of boyhood chums in their hometown of Big Spring, Texas. So it was natural that when they sought to round out their education at college they should select the same institution.

That was three years ago. They arrived in Baltimore with some misgivings. They were afraid secretly that the Hopkins students might deride some of their Texas mannerisms. But they were received with open arms and not with ridicule.

Their muscles, toughened by work on ranches, served them in good stead at Homewood, for both Bonner and Barton have made names for themselves as athletes. They found that after throwing steers it was an easy matter to upset a football player.

So they became Hopkins football stars. Bonner, who is small and wiry, is halfback and captain of this year's football team. Barton, who weighs 185 pounds, is a guard.

In addition, Barton made the lacrosse team. He never had heard of the Indian sport before coming North, but his fingers, accustomed to twirling a lasso, readily learned to handle a lacrosse stick.

Bonner, in his junior year, was president of his class. In addition, he is president of the athletic association and a member of the students council. Barton has been elected sergeant-at-arms of his class several times.

Both of the youths from the Lone Star State dislike inside work. One summer Bonner worked as a conductor on an Asbury Park, (N. J.) street car. During the past vacation he was foreman of a road gang. Barton, who plans to be a geologist, has done forestry work and filled cement bags in a Western Maryland mine.

Barton plans to return to Texas to do geological work in the vicinity of his ranch, while Bonner intends to enter the business world, possibly in Baltimore.—Baltimore Sun.

Needless to state the many friends of Bonner and Barton in Big Spring are indeed proud of the fine record they are making at Johns Hopkins University. Nor are they the only representatives of Big Spring who are making good at Baltimore, for Philip Morgan Jr., who was born in Big Spring and considers himself a real Texan is making a fine record at the U. S. Naval Academy. He entered the Academy on a competitive examination, being the first out of forty-six contestants and has kept up the good work by obtaining the much coveted star for academic rank during the first year just ended.

Many old time friends in Big Spring will also be pleased to learn that Philip S. Morgan Sr. has also been accorded signal honors by being elected President of the Real Estate Board of Baltimore. This association has more than one thousand members.

Famous Wrigley Building in Chicago Being Doubled in Size

The part of the Wrigley Building erected two years ago has filled such a want that the north section, nearly double the floor area of the south section, is being added.

This north section, nearly completed, occupies the entire block, immediately across North Water Street, fronting on Michigan Avenue and reaching to the height of the main part of the first structure, with a connecting bridge.

The space in the new section is already nearly all taken by high-class firms in advance of the completion of the building.

City Federation Meeting

The City Federation will meet in the Rest Room next Tuesday. The members are welcome and all women of the city are welcome.

The Sanitation Committee of the City Federation made a (incognito) a few days ago to the shops where food is sold. They are delighted to report Big Spring places that have as in most instances very as to laws of sanitation. A serious criticism the committee to offer is that candy is exposed on top of counters in two places. Smoke, dust, and going, and our children buy this candy. Surely it is a menace to health. In other shops, cinnamon rolls and things are exposed on counters and are sometimes in an unsanitary manner.

While these are serious we believe they will be corrected. The committee visited the station. There was no objection. There was a very attractive and if kept a little more would make a better impression on travellers arriving in our city.

U. S. Treasury Savings Certificates Ideal Security for Investors of Moderate Means

(By Dennis Donohoe)

This article is addressed primarily to the small investor—the man or woman of moderate means who is seeking to improve his or her condition by systematic saving.

Now Uncle Sam, the father of a family embracing more than 110,000,000 human beings, knit together into one vast economic entity, has provided for each and every member of his great household the soundest, the surest, and the safest investment in the whole wide world.

This ideal security is the Treasury Savings Certificate.

Behind this piece of paper, engraved with the solemn promise of our government, stands the United States of America, in all its might and majesty, with all the collective wealth of all the inhabitants of this great republic, which, according to the most recent estimate, means $360,000,000,000—a sum so inconceivably vast, that the human brain reels when contemplating it.

Indeed there is no bond, or security, issued by any other nation today, fit to be mentioned in the same breath with this sacred obligation of the United States, guaranteed by the pledge of our national good-faith and honor, backed by wealth incalculably greater than that of any other power on earth.

The United States Government makes it very easy for anyone to buy this ideal security. These Treasury certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 each, and are sold on a discount basis at $20.50, $82 and $820 respectively.

They can be purchased at any post-office, or through any bank, or at the Federal Reserve Bank in any district, or at any branch of the Federal Reserve Bank. Also they may be bought direct by mail from the Treasury Department at Washington.

These certificates mature in five years from the date of issue, and bear 4 per cent interest compounded semi-annually—that is to say, added to the purchase price of the certificate. It is for this reason that for $20.50 one can buy a certificate, as good as a United States bond, which is exchangeable for $25 in cash at the end of five years, without any if or and, about it, and with all red tape eliminated.

The interest at 4 per cent compounded makes the difference in value, and the same is true of the $100 and $1,000 denominations.

Somebody may say: But suppose I need my money before the five years expire?

Uncle Sam has provided for that contingency also. The purchaser of one of these certificates can get his or her money back with interest at any time. The only difference is that the interest is then computed at 3 per cent, not 4 per cent. If held to maturity, that is to say, five years, the full interest at 4 per cent is added to the purchase price of the Treasury certificate, and interest is paid upon interest, because of the semi-annual compounding feature.

But someone will say: Suppose I lose my certificate, or it is stolen?

Uncle Sam, in his provident care of his big family, has provided for that contingency also, for every certificate is registered at the Treasury Department in Washington, which protects the owner against loss or theft.

Again, someone may ask the question whether income tax is not collectable on this ideal investment.

The answer is, NO. Not only are these Treasury Savings Certificates exempt from the normal Federal income tax, but from all State, county and local taxation, except that, in the event of death, they are subject to the inheritance and estate taxes.

Here is a form of investment that is not subject to market manipulation or fluctuation but increases in value every day you hold it.

The only restriction that Uncle Sam puts on his wonderfully attractive offer is that no one is allowed to hold more than $5,000 of any one issue of these treasury certificates.

This restriction should not preclude a person of moderate means from buying the soundest investment in the world—a Treasury certificate of the United States of America, and it is the person of moderate means whom Uncle Sam had in view when he thought out this perfect plan of assuring the safety of the little fellow's savings.

To the foreign-born man or woman who has sought this land of freedom for the opportunity it offers to better his or her condition in life, these Treasury Savings Certificates should exercise an irresistible appeal. In the stern school of the Old World, whence the prospective citizen came, thrifty habits not infrequently were his only heritage.

In those lands when frugality too often has been enforced by rigorous necessity, and the faces of the poor have been ground into the dust of centuries for the support of despotic militarism, government securities have always been a favored investment for savings.

Here in America, where the opportunity is given to every human being to work out his destiny freely and fully, the government has provided for citizens and aliens alike, a form of investment incalculably sounder and safer than any security ever issued by any European government since the world began.

To these future citizens from overseas the writer would say, take your first step in Americanism by investing your surplus funds earned here in American securities. Of these, none is better, none is safer, none is surer of income yield, than the Treasury Savings Certificate, issued by the Government of the United States.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablets Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Advertisement 41-13t).

Two New Producers Added

O'Neill No. 1 of the Sloan Oil Company and Morrison 4 of the Underwriters Producing and Refining Company are being drilled in this week and showing at each is reported favorable by the owners. The O'Neill well was drilling at 3040 feet Thursday after penetrating the Morrison sand 80 feet. The hole was standing 1000 feet in fluid. S. A. Sloan, president of the company, stated Thursday morning that he had every reason to believe the well would show up for good production. At Morrison Four, the crew was drilling in the sand with 1500 feet of oil in the hole. The showing here is also good and pumps for good commercial production are expected.

Bill Thompson's Badgett No. 1, a material extension to the field on the northeast, continues to hold considerable attention among local oil men. The well is good for commercial production, although no test has yet been made. Tubing is being shipped to the field for this well and it will be placed on pump and connected with pipe line.

The California Company were planning to give the A. L. Miller One a nitro shot Thursday. This well, offsetting Sloan Oil Company's Smartt One, is reported as being down 3011 feet, well into the Morrison sand and is showing for the average pumper production.

Sloan Oil Company are spudding their Smartt No. 2 in section 21, a test located well within proven territory. Good reports were given from all drilling and pumping wells in the field and pipe line run oil was placed at one of the highest figures in history of production here.

Judge C. H. Earnest, A. C. Gist, W. H. Watson and others are blocking acreage north of Colorado on which a test will be drilled. This will be the first test located in that vicinity and will be watched with keen interest by local oil men.—Colorado Record.

She Is Not for Sale

That's the way a lot of families feel about good old Bossy. She has been a faithful friend of the family, giving all the milk they could use and even some for the neighbors.

Of course you always think that you feed her well, but do you? Just plenty of feed does not always mean proper feeding. Good old Bossie must have a ration that she can really turn into milk.

Cow Chow produces more milk and more butter fat because it contains elements that are deficient in the average ration. It keeps cows from robbing their bodies for milk-making nutrients and lengthens the milking period. By feeding Cow Chow you not only produce more pounds of milk, but you keep your cow in better condition.

Just try Cow Chow for a month, feed it as directed, and watch the difference.

BIG SPRING HERALD

BY JORDAN & HAYDEN

$2.00 A YEAR IN COUNTY
$2.50 A YEAR OUTSIDE COUNTY

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Big Spring, Texas, under Act of Congress, Mar. 8, 1897.

Big Spring, Friday, Nov. 2, 1923

The fellow who bucks up seldom busts up.

Getting a new wife is like buying an old car. It is not the first cost that counts.

There's a perfectly good reason why others do not always think as you do. Your brains are not in their heads.

Give your friends credit for knowing a few things. They could not be in your presence continually without learning something.

Never buy an oriental rug until it has fallen to pieces. As long as it holds together there is a question as to its genuineness.

If you hear one person telling another that you are "a man without an enemy" you are justified in calling him on the spot. Only people without brains can qualify in that class.

A certain fellow in this community tells us that we ought to print all of the news without fear or favor. And perhaps we may, some day. But out of consideration for his family we have so far refrained from going to that extreme.

Nothing doing in this town, you say? Then it is time for you to start something. You are just as much a citizen of this town as is anyone else. It is just as much your duty to start something as it is the duty of any other citizen. You are just as much responsible for "nothing doing" as are your friends and neighbors. Take the thought home and think it over. After it has sunk in something else may pop out—and then there will be something doing in town.

Wedding bells are ringing merrily at this time of the year, but the success thereof depends on whether the dinner bell rings regularly thereafter.—Lubbock Avalanche.

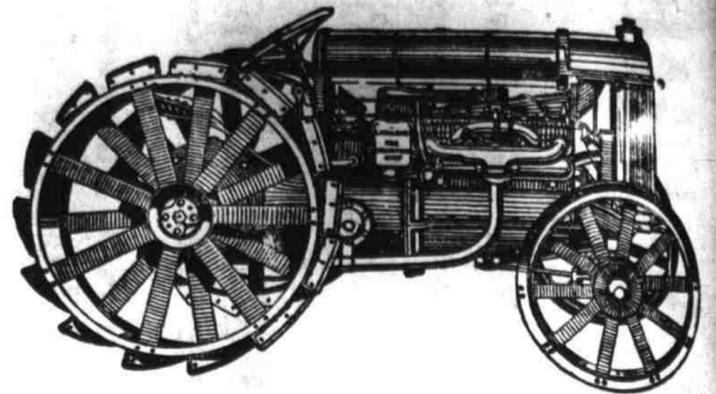

There is no sound sweeter to young people in love than the music of the wedding bells; but after they have sounded, if the dinner bell does not ring regularly thereafter there is very little love in that home. Nor will it be long before you will hear of a divorce being granted, and in many instances one or both of the parties just freed will make arrangements for the ringing of the wedding bells the second time—but with a new partner—before they leave the court house. Wedding bells are alright, but it takes bacon and beans, and a little cake to go along with them to pave the way for peace and contentment after the honeymoon. Our advice to those who would like to have the wedding bells ring is to be certain you can keep the dinner bell well oiled after the wedding bells are silent. If you do this we will have fewer divorces and more happy and contented homes.

A Chicago woman traded her husband for a pair of britches. The husband objected to his wife wearing knickers and told her that he would divorce her if she did not do away with man's style of dress. Wife refuses, so the husband goes into court and sues for divorce. The judge asked the woman: "What will you have, a husband or a pair of knickers?" "Knickers," replied the wife. So the divorce was granted. When husbands in this country get as cheap as a pair of britches God save the king. A woman that trades her husband for a pair of pants places a very small value on mankind. When the time comes in Texas when husbands can be traded for knickers, truly man is on the backward track. Above the cap rock, in Jess Adams' country around Plainview they tell us that the price of husbands is depreciating rapidly, but they have not yet reached the level of britches—they may reach that point and pass beyond where two husbands will only bring the price of one pair. Nothing surprises as to styles around Plainview.—Scurry County Times.

Why, Ben! you seem to be worried about the price of husbands declining. You know quite well that you know any number of husbands you wouldn't think of trading a pair of $1.50 britches for. And are you greatly surprised in the decline of husbands in the Plainview section since Jess Adams has moved there.

Where is the man within trading distance of Deming who in case he were trying to sell the farm would not mention that the property is within so many miles of Deming? He would go farther and tell his prospect that Deming is a fine town with good stores and excellent churches and schools. He would mention the population and comment on the type of people. Why would he do this? Because he knows his farm is considered more valuable because it is situated near a good town. And if the Deming business men should plan to sell his business he would not fail to mention the fact that Deming is in the midst of one of the best communities in the whole state and he would comment on the progressiveness of the farmers in the community. All of which goes to prove that the farmer and the business man are interdependent. When the farmer hurts the business of the Deming merchant he hurts the value of his own property. When the Deming merchant fails to do all in his power to make for the prosperity of the farmer he makes his own property less valuable. Pulling together all the time is what pays. It pays in dollars and cents and it pays in satisfaction and peace of mind.—Deming (N. M.) Headlight.

The Deming Headlight states a "mouthful" in the above; but do our farmers and businessmen remember these things? How often do you hear some of our farmer friends say our merchants are a set of grafters, trying to rob them of their hard earned money; and on the other hand you will hear a business man say the farmer is non-progressive, buys all his goods from mail order houses and is not worth five cents to the community. Both these statements are untrue and hurt the entire community. Let us lay aside all these things and pull together from now on for a bigger and better Big Spring, Comaha, and Howard County. It will pay farmer, business man, property owner and everyone in our county.

A friend reminds us that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread." And now we are just curious enough to wonder whether he goes in or stays out.

It's difficult for any man to do too much for his wife. And perhaps that's the reason so many never try.

This world is composed of wise people, fools, and those in between. Select your own class.

The Man You Work For

By H. Addington Bruce
They tell me, friend, that you are not feeling any too well disposed toward the man you work for; that you habitually make slurring remarks regarding him, and otherwise show an attitude almost amounting to animosity.

This is very foolish on your part. For no man can do good work when sentiments of hatred, envy, and the like possess him.

If you feel you cannot conquer your dislike for your employer it will be to your best interest to find work with some one else. Consider first, however, if your attitude of hostility is justified.

What chiefly troubles you, I am told, is that you have to do hard labor for comparatively low pay, while he takes things easily and draws big profits from the business.

Is it so certain that he takes things easily? Do you actually imagine that the business which he owns and in which you are engaged as an employee runs itself?

Do the goods you help to make for him find buyers of their own accord? Do they never have to be sold at a loss? And do the raw materials of which those goods are composed make their way to the factory without effort and risk on somebody's part?

In a word, has it never occurred to you that the man for whom you work may, after all, be about the most important cog in the industrial machine in which you are a constituent part?

He has weighing upon him by night as by day the problem of keeping the factory going.

Worries of a sort unknown to you, but vitally affecting your own welfare, persistently beset him. Any "let-down" by him means a "shut-down" for you. That you may work at all he must in the long run work far harder than you.—From the New York Globe and Associated Newspapers.

"I want a shave," said the determined-looking man as he climbed into a chair in the City Barber Shop. "I don't want a hair-cut nor a shampoo. Neither do I want any bay rum, witch hazel, hair tonic, hot towel, or face massage. I don't want the manicure lady to hold my hand nor the bootblack to fondle my feet. I just want a plain shave, with no trimmings. Do you understand that?"

"Yes, sir," said the barber. "Will you have some lather on your face, sir?"—New York Evening Mail.

But this I pray give Thou to me.

Our Country — Always

American form of government is recognized throughout the world as the most humanitarian, most stable and most effective of all forms.

No real cause for unrest or discontent exists. Industry is thriving at peak load and payrolls are being steadily maintained. Labor and capital in America are nearly at balance.

Americans are not blind to the ills of European nations where famine and internal strife are preventing the orderly conduct of affairs and where such conditions prevent a well balanced return to pre-war prosperity.

Americans will not brook the destructive forces from without or within Our Country with pink and red propaganda designed to disrupt the nation and turn its affairs over to an element which knows no law—either of Man or God—and destroy the initiative of a hundred and ten millions of souls.

No socialistic or communistic doctrines can successfully endure in any nation and this has been recognized in America for more than a century of orderly administration.

There is no place here for the forces of destruction.

The Sure Thing
"There's millions in it!"
One! Mulberry Seller's slogan. Whether it be an egg wash or a contraption designed for the people, there is always in the hands of the speculator millions in it. His bright lexicon there is no word as fail.

Nothing is so uncertain as "thing." Nowhere is this more amplified than in daily life, business, and national. The people who are continually tests and experiments with and in fields of which they have knowledge and with which they have experience has not brought them touch. They leave the results to things for their leisure hours. They flit from one thing to another without recognizing that they are making no headway, for enough and painstaking close investigation are for the der and not for the visionary speculator cannot see the trees.

A fifty dollar suit of clothes not cover up a fifty cent idea. A flashy, impulsive idea will not be a sincere, stable following. Of us have too many of the speculator. We rush the thing to another, forgetting that alone which is worth while. The thing is accomplished only when the effort and broad experience of our big industries, our great stores, our most distinguished professional accomplishments, small beginnings. Their work was steady plodding; a look the leap; concentration on to be achieved. Results handsomely compensating years of toil, struggle, and thrift.—Southwestern Machine
