now past the depth of 400 feet. While some trouble is being encountered in shutting off the strong flow of fresh water, yet good progress is being made, and everything justifies the prediction that the 1412-foot oil sand will be reached in this well at an early date.

Operations at the Douthit well continue. J. S. Meriwether, Trustee for the Co-Operative Development Company, which is drilling the Douthit well, is in Houston on business connected with the company.

A deal is on for another drilling contract in this county. If this goes through, it will not be long before there will be five rigs going at the same time in a race to be first to reach the pay sand.

Floyd C. Dodson, prominent geologist, was here this week, looking over this territory. Mr. Dodson located the Durham wells—Sterling City News-Record.

Ford Auto Crashes into Dodge Car

The new Dodge car of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. LaBeff was damaged Monday afternoon when a Ford touring car driven by Boyd Carpenter crashed into it. Mrs. LaBeff had stopped her car opposite the Methodist Church and the Ford was being driven north at a fast clip. As the driver seemed to be watching the rear of the car rather than the road Mrs. LaBeff sounded the horn on her car to attract his attention. The Ford struck with force sufficient to drive the Dodge backward to the opposite side of the street. The daughter of Mrs. LaBeff who was on the ground was struck by the running board as the Dodge was hurled backward, and painfully bruised.

The front end of the Ford was crushed by the impact and the car was practically a total wreck.

Tagliabue-Burnett

At Del Rio, Texas, at 11:30 o'clock on last Sunday morning was solemnized the marriage of Chas. Tagliabue of Del Rio and Miss Opal Burnett of this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burnett of this city and has a wide circle of friends who love and esteem her. The groom is a well-known young man of Del Rio. After a honeymoon trip to San Antonio they will make their home at Del Rio.

Many friends here join in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Hardy Morgan Buys Ranch

Hardy Morgan, a pioneer citizen of Dawson County and known throughout West Texas as one of the successful breeders of registered Hereford cattle, recently secured from A. L. Watson the old J. D. Williams ranch of 6400 acres five miles southeast of Big Spring.

This is one of the best little ranches in the West and Mr. Morgan will secure possession of same Oct. 1.

Mrs. H. Smith of Kaufman is here for a visit with Mrs. J. O. Tansitt.

REVIVAL MEETING STARTED TUESDAY

A Big Union Revival Was Begun in the Tabernacle Opposite City Hall by Evangelist Winsett

The Tabernacle meeting now in progress on the school grounds, opposite the fire station is gaining in interest and momentum. Great crowds are already coming. Evangelist Winsett arrived Tuesday; spoke on "Why I Came Back to Big Spring." In this message he said he came here strictly on the cooperative basis and asks for the unified action of the city in putting over a great campaign for the Lord. He said that the demand was so great for his return by preaching here and people of all churches that he took it for the call of God to return. Now that the meeting is going good and Wednesday night a great throng came forward "getting on the line for God." Some folk that are as yet anti-cooperative in the meeting may as well kick in, says the preacher.

The meeting is for the city and community. All are welcome to attend. All singers in the city and around are urged to join Carroll's Choir and help in the singing. This meeting is not fostered by any set nor creed, just an old-time revival of old religion.

The meeting is for the city and community. All are welcome to attend. All singers in the city and around are urged to join Carroll's Choir and help in the singing. This meeting is not fostered by any set nor creed, just an old-time revival of old religion.

Evangelist Winsett has held two meetings in this city with the best results of any evangelist that has come here in years. Those interested now say the outlook is better for a great meeting than any time he has been here. Winsett as everyone knows is a hard, sin-fighting preacher and all those that stand for the highest standard love to hear him in his attacks on sin. Only those who are living in worldliness are afraid of his uncompromising preaching.

The evangelist says he has no idea when the meeting will close. He will probably be here three or four weeks. At any rate he will be here until he feels that the meeting has been a success. He was here four weeks his first meeting and three the last one.

An added attraction to the meeting is the playing of the Mariaba by Mr. Carroll and Mr. Alvin Swindell. This is a new instrument donated by Mrs. Cora Holmes of this city when the meeting was in progress last summer. It has been a blessing to thousands since that time. Mrs. Bob Anderson is at the piano and all who know her realize she is a real revival pianist. All those playing instruments are invited to consult with Leader Carroll and get a seat in Music Row.

Another interesting feature of the meeting is the "Winsettograms," read at each evening service. Below are some of them:

From whence cometh prejudice that sets thine heart against thy brethren, surely the devil hath filled thine heart.

Blessed art thou when man shall condemn thee for fighting the dance, for neither danced Jesus nor his disciples.

Wherefore cometh envies and strife and hatred. Know ye not that thou art carnal and not spiritual when thine is filled with the same.

If thou makest a profession and liveth not the same thou fooltest not thy neighbor by thyself.

Find Big Spring is Hard to Beat

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Arnett, proprietors of the Bankhead Restaurant, returned Sunday from an auto trip to Fort Worth and back home by way of the Panhandle section. While in Fort Worth they purchased some fine fixtures for their restaurant. They visited Mr. Arnett's mother at Amarillo. In speaking of conditions generally Mr. Arnett reports they just as good here as at any point visited. Prosperous times seem to be in force at Vernon, Memphis and Lubbock but many places are complaining because of damage to crops due to dry weather. He said you would have to travel far to find a better town than Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett closed the Bankhead Restaurant for two weeks so they could get a little rest after putting in sixteen hours of labor daily for a year, and will reopen same Saturday. They have had the restaurant building repainted and thoroughly cleaned and are going to be in a position to give their patrons better service than ever.

On Thursday morning, August 7th, Justice of the Peace, J. A. Stephens performed the ceremony which united in marriage Virgil Briggs and Miss Reis Jackson. The young people were from Crowell, Texas.

Prize Winning Contest

Beginning with this issue of the Big Spring Herald an immense contest is on conducted by the Civic Committee of the City Federation.

A thorough mid-summer clean-up campaign is now on. The committee urges every family in Big Spring to join in, and give our town a most specific, thorough and systematic overhauling. Let us rid our premises, sidewalks, streets and alleys of all rubbish, carefully burning all papers and dried weeds, that constitute a real menace during these hot, dry days.

Don't leave great accumulations of cut weeds, grass and leaves to decay in heaps. Burn them, keeping close watch during the process. Fifteen or twenty minutes of your valuable time could not be spent in better way than to clean up your place.

A back yard knee deep in dried weeds is a genuine fire hazard. Neither you, your neighbor, nor your town is safe. Cut, rake and burn in the open. Have all your old metal rinds, lemon hulls and similar rubbish hauled with your tin cans. Clean-up from "attic to foundation stone." Cleanliness is next to godliness because both are so exceeding rare.

Get rid of old eye sores like rotten tire casings, and the like, lying around broken express wagons and the hobby horse you never intend to mend. Cart them off to the junk heap.

Clean your yard, your walk and your alley, also the ditch adjacent. Let us brighten up every dark corner. Nothing like tidiness to increase the self-respect of humanity. Try it and see.

During the rest of August let us put our shoulders to the wheel. It will make our town a far more attractive place to fall buyers.

After the first week in September a complete inspection of our town will be made, and ten cash prizes awarded to the homes presenting the neatest general appearance, front and back. Watch the Herald each week to find out more about these prizes. Let all the boys and girls pitch in to make their own home look its best.

Begin right now to get in shape for inspection. Every family in town eligible. Get busy.

Mrs. L. V. Thompson Dead

Mrs. L. V. Thompson died at her daughter's residence at Baldwin Park, California, at three o'clock Thursday, July 31st. Her death came as a great shock to friends and relatives, as she was only sick a short time.

She had made her home in Big Spring for the past fifteen years, before moving to California about one year ago, and made many friends while here.

Mrs. Thompson was aged 41 years, ten months and five days; she was a good christian, a devoted wife and mother and was always ready to lend a helping hand. She was loved by all who knew her. It was with great sorrow that we had to part with one so dearly beloved; her soul has taken flight to the Heavenly Home above where there is no more pain or sorrow.

She is survived by her husband, seven children, three brothers and four sisters and father. They are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster, Baldwin Park, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Sheldon, Garza, Texas; Dilworth Thompson, Big Spring; Stanky, Douglas, Mildred and Maywood, Baldwin Park. Her brothers and sisters are: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Teel, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. C. McKaughan, Baldwin Park; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sharman, Baldwin Park; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Chaplin, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Jacks, Big Spring; David Chaplin, San Pedro; Geo. Chaplin, Baldwin Park; and father Geo. E. Chaplin, Baldwin Park, all of who grieve for one so dearly beloved.

Buys Hamburger Stand

Emmett Hull this week sold to Forrest Mott his hamburger stand on Main street and Mr. Mott took charge Wednesday. This is a going concern, in an especially favorable location and the new proprietor is indeed fortunate to secure possession thereof.

Former Big Spring Boy Honored

Ben Willis, formerly of this city, was recently elected as Master Councilor of the San Pedro, Calif. Chapter De Molay. Ben will attend the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, N. M. the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyke Cullum of Lubbock are visitors in the city, the guests of Mrs. Will Knox Edwards.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT IS NEEDED

Howard County Folks Are Asked to Cooperate in Securing a Fine Display for Dallas Fair

As it is nearing the time for the gathering of the agricultural exhibit for the Dallas Fair, I wish to say a few words to the farmers of Howard County as to securing their assistance in getting it ready. As it is usually the case we must turn to the farmers in this, as in most all other things for help.

I most earnestly ask the help of every farmer and his good wife to come to our assistance in getting up the best exhibit Howard County ever had, and the best exhibit that will be at the Dallas Fair—better than the exhibit of any other county in Texas.

By looking over your farms now and selecting samples of the very best of all kinds of grain, fruits and vegetables, noticing at the same time why they are showing better at that special place. By doing this you can not only help secure the exhibit but learn how to treat the whole crop the next year and thus give our county the best advertising it could possibly receive.

I especially appeal to the faithful ones who have stood by the county and unselfishly assist every time they are called upon. They who have worked so hard in the past to make the exhibits sent out to represent our county worth while. We want their continued cooperation and we also want the cooperation of every farmer in the county. We want Howard County to win first prize this year.

You can help by bringing to the Chamber of Commerce samples of your best products. If this is not convenient, phone me what you have, when it will be ready to select, as we should have all needed articles in time to properly pack for shipment to Dallas by October 7th or 8th.

If it is not too much trouble please see or phone me as to what you can furnish for Howard County's exhibit.

W. H. CARDWELL,
Chairman Exhibit and Display Committee.

To Have Winning Ball Club

At a mass meeting held on the courthouse lawn Monday evening it was definitely decided to organize a baseball association, elect officers and directors and raise funds sufficient to maintain a winning team during the next thirty days at which time the baseball season was to close here.

The following officers and directors were selected: Sam R. Weaver, Pres.; C. F. Morris, V-Pres.; L. L. Guley, Secy-Treas.; E. E. Fahrenkamp, manager. The following with the above named officers to serve as directors: P. G. Stokes, Shine Philips, Joe Fisher, Yuell Robb, and W. G. Hayden.

A budget of $1600 was planned, $800 to be secured from the club's pro rata admissions and $800 to be raised by public subscription.

President S. R. Weaver named the following as the committee to solicit subscriptions on Tuesday so the club could be strengthened at once and a 30-day schedule arranged: A. J. Gallemore, E. E. Fahrenkamp, W. G. Hayden and J. M. Fisher. The committee reported Tuesday evening that thru the generosity of the business firms and ball fans the designated amount was in sight.

It is planned to use as many home boys as practicable and strengthen the team with seasoned players. Two additional pitchers were to be secured from several good ones recommended.

Sells 320-Acre Farm

Leo Nall last week sold to Mr. Vincent of Rannels County his three hundred and twenty acre farm, the consideration being twenty-five dollars per acre. This land is fine black land located sixteen miles northeast of Big Spring.

A number of successful farmers from Rannels County have purchased farms in this black land section of our county this year.

Farm Brings $80 Per Acre

C. A. Merrick last week sold to Lester Massie 80 acres of land one-half mile northwest of Big Spring. This is a well improved place and the purchaser paid eighty dollars per acre for same.

This is an exceptionally fine place and Mr. Massie is buying it with the intention of making it his permanent home.

Big Spring Defeats Midland

Big Spring fans had sweet revenge Sunday afternoon when the home team had the Midland Colts "on the hip." There's no use denying the fact that the Big Spring folks "poured it on" as this was their first opportunity to do so.

The Big Spring boys took the lead in the first inning and Midland never Midland was pulled in the first in-hand a look-in. Cook pitching for Midland after Big Spring had made two scores. Cobb who relieved him pitched a fine game but the Big Spring team had their batting eye in shape and landed on him for eight safeties. Big Spring made one score in the second and one in the fifth. The game ending four to one in favor of Big Spring.

Midland had her chance in the ninth inning when they had two men on bases and no outs, but they were only lucky enough to secure one run due to errors on Big Spring's part.

Baber pitching for Big Spring pitched one of the finest games ever witnessed here and deserved a shut-out. He had the heavy-hitting Midland team at his mercy—some of their dependable batters being turned back each time they came up. He was credited with eleven strike-outs and Midland's seven hits were well scattered.

With Baber pitching as he was and the home team swatting the pill, it was impossible for the seasoned team of Midland to get anywhere. The members of the Midland team were not slow in admitting that Baber is the best pitcher they have been up against.

Buys Interest in Real Estate Firm.

D. C. Maupin last week purchased a one-third interest in the T. H. Johnson Land Co., of this city. T. H. Johnson and S. R. Thompson are the other members of the firm.

WHEAT FARMERS DROP TWO MILLIONS A YEAR

Story of the Northwest Growers Record in Costly Marketing
By Robert Morgan

It costs money to know Aaron Sapiro. The American wheat farmers of four northwestern states are just beginning to find out at the middle of 1924 that it cost them approximately two million dollars annually in 1921, 1922 and 1923, to make the acquaintance of the clever gentleman from San Francisco. They have learned, too, that though they know Mr. Sapiro, and some other gentlemen quite well, Mr. Sapiro does not recognize them; indeed, he seems to have forgotten them entirely, having removed himself to greener pastures, and more unsuspecting agriculturists.

The story of this disaster — in which an American industry lost at least six million dollars in three years, and probably much more — is the story of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, an organization designed, sponsored and put into operation by Aaron Sapiro. It is reported, and it has not been denied, that Mr. Sapiro received $7,000 for permitting the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana to use his California cooperative marketing plan in the formation of this association. It is further reported, on reliable evidence in the hands of independent wheat producers in the Northwest, that Mr. Sapiro received, in addition to the $7,000 mentioned, $1,000 each from Oregon, Idaho and Montana, for permitting them to use his California marketing plan in the organization of their local or state associations. All four of these states, after paying Mr. Sapiro for his counsel, merged their state associations into the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, which Mr. Sapiro had carefully prepared for them. As previously mentioned in this series, the plan of the Jewish ring which is exploiting the American farmer is to form first local, then state, then sectional, then national associations of the producers of each crop in the United States, eventually bringing the marketing of the world's production of each agricultural product into the control of a central organization of "big internationalists."

There is nothing to show that Mr. Sapiro ever received from any or all of these northwestern states a cent more than the $10,000 he is reported to have "accepted" for showing the farmers how to invoke three years of disappointment. But it would have paid the farmers of these states to have given Mr. Sapiro one hundred times ten thousand dollars to remain south of the northern boundary of California. One A. A. Elmore, president of the Washington Farmers' Union, and a radical whose schemes the more conservative members of the union had to thwart on a number of occasions, met Sapiro in Oregon, in 1919. With avidity Elmore seized upon Sapiro's plan, and, without consulting the Farmers' Union, made the San Francisco Jewish promoter the principal speaker at the January, 1920, convention of the union, in Spokane. The Farmers' Union is a sane, sound organization which has accomplished a great deal of good for agriculturists of all classes in its state. It has repudiated Sapiro in every way; in fact, as an organization it has never supported him.

Out of this speech of Sapiro's at Spokane, grew the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated. Nominally, it was to consist of three similar state associations in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, each having no stock, taking no profits, with the associated as a sort of binder to co-relate and coordinate the activities of the state associations. Members of these state associations signed contracts binding them for seven years to deliver all their wheat to the association, to be sold when, where, to whom and at whatever price the association desired to sell it. In other words, the wheat producer signed away all right to, or title in, his crop for seven years, to an organization which he thought he controlled, but in which he soon learned he was a rank outsider. The association agreed only to pool the proceeds from all sales by grades and to pay the members of the pooled average, less only the cost of operation. Montana came in later.

And, lest something in the way of money might get away from the association, and into the pockets of the farmers, a subsidiary corporation was outlined and formed "to own the necessary warehouses and elevators, while finances to pay growers a substantial amount on delivery of grain were provided by bank loans against warehouse receipts." I quote from Herman Steen, nanegyrist for Sapiro and the Sapiro Plan.

Let us see what has happened to this Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, touted by the proponents of cooperative marketing on the Sapiro plan as the most successful grain-selling organization ever formed by cooperatives:

"As I write these lines at the beginning of June, 1924, all of the four state associations are virtually out of business.

"The Washington association being completely dead.

"The Idaho association in the hands of a receiver.

"The Montana association is defunct. The Oregon association is existing only in the persons of some of its officials, who are endeavoring to build from it a marketing organization of their own.

"The Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, the holding association for the four state associations, is hanging on only because the law compels it to hang on until it can make a financial statement to the state government, a statement which it has not made to either government or growers at any time since it was organized.

"Today, many of the members of these associations have not been paid for their 1921 wheat crop; more have not been paid for their 1922 crop, and if there is a single member of either the state or the northwest associations who has been paid for his 1923 crop, neither the farmers' unions of the states involved, the independent wheat buyers, the independent wheat growers, nor the writer have been able to find him."

These statements are the simple truth of the "success" of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, which Aaron Sapiro started in January, 1920, pocketed his fees, and left to its fate, as he has left every cooperative marketing association which he has formed. Ten thousand dollars a week is a fairly good salary; ten thousand dollars a year represent about double the annual income of the average American wheat farmer, yet Mr. Sapiro devoted seven days, actual working time, to the "organization" of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, and its four subsidiary state associations.

The average annual production of wheat in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana is approximately 100,000,000 bushels. The Northwest Wheat Growers Associated claims to have handled from thirteen to fifteen per cent of that crop. The independent buyers in the field believe, from the relative quantities of their own purchases, that the average handled by the association was fifteen per cent. This means that 15,000,000 bushels of wheat were turned over to this association by the farmers each year in 1921, 1922 and 1923. These figures cannot be verified, because the association has never made a statement, but they have been declared to be true by Aaron Sapiro and by Walter J. Robinson, the present head of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated. The 1920 crop sent only a comparatively small quantity into the association. Now read this, which is also the truth:

For the 1920 crop, the members of the association received $1.52 1/2 a bushel, on the average, while the independent producers received $1.71 a bushel.

For the 1921, 1922 and 1923 crops, the independent growers received from ten to twelve cents more per bushel than did the Sapiro-plan cooperatives. But the latter still had to deduct twelve to fifteen cents a bushel operating costs.

The percentage of the 1920 crop handled through the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated is not known, but it is believed to have been approximately 6,000,000 bushels, possibly a little more. If it were 6,000,000 bushels, and if the farmer had received payment for all of it, as he did receive payment for most of it, he would have lost eighteen and one-half cents a bushel, or $1,085,000.

Giving the Sapiro cooperatives the benefit of their own claims that they handled fifteen per cent of the crops of the past three years, or 15,000,000 bushels a year, at ten cents a bushel less than the independents received, gross, for their crop the industry contributed $1,500,000 in dead loss to the management of the association. And, after this was sustained, the members of the association had to pay the expenses of the operation of their organization each year, at least half a million dollars more. A low and conservative estimate, based on the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated figures, shows that this Sapiro-Plan organization has caused a dead loss to its members of more than $2,000,000 a year for the past three years, to say nothing about 1920, and leaving out of all consideration the fact that the great majority of the growers have not received pay for one year's crop out of the three. The total loss to the American wheat producers of the Northwest, due to the appearance of Aaron Sapiro in Spokane in 1920, cannot be estimated, and never will be ascertained.

Of interest in connection with this, probably the most costly attempt to market a crop ever made in the world, is the following statement of the expense of handling the 1921 crop of wheat through the association. It is taken direct from a signed return by the association to one of its members. These are the charges taken out of the price received by the association for each bushel of wheat sold for its members:

That is to say, twelve and one-fifth cents had to be taken out of the gross payment received by the association for every bushel of wheat, after that wheat had been sold at a price from ten to twelve cents below the net price received by the independent growers.

The total cost for handling the Idaho-Washington wheat crop for 1921, according to figures given by the association management to a member, was $850,000, which the members had to pay. The cost per bushel as shown in the above table, compares with seven cents a bushel, which the independent growers paid, and is nearly as much as the freight charges from common points in northwestern wheat territory to coast terminals. That is something else to think about, but the trouble with the farmer has been that he has figured the "operating costs" under the Sapiro plan too late to save his own money.

One of the large factors in the blinding of the farmer to the facts of the Sapiro brand of cooperative marketing, and in the concealment from him of its failures, has been the attitude of the press throughout the Northwest. One newspaper of Spokane, Washington, supported Sapiro and his followers throughout the organization period of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, refused to publish arguments against his system, made by farmers' unions, conservative bankers and farsighted wheat-growers, and when the inevitable crash came, persisted in its refusal to publish anything more than the bare statement that the local and state associations had suspended. This newspaper must share, with Sapiro and his representatives, the moral responsibility for the great loss that befell the wheat farmers of the Northwest. Other newspapers throughout the four states followed similar tactics, and the members of the defunct Sapiro associations, their eyes now wide open, claim that Jewish advertisers, and Jewish influence, were responsible for these newspapers failing in their obvious duty to the American people of their territory.

As in the case of the hay-growers, gangs of radicals, former agents of the Industrial Workers of the World, more notorious for their communistic tendencies, and other so-called "modernists," were used to sign up the farmers on the seven-year contract. So far as the writer knows, this is the first time that the Sapiro plan has gone beyond five years as the term of its contracts. This step denotes an extension of the effort to see just how much the American farmer will endure.

Within the history of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated is an interesting little chapter regarding the subsidiary corporation which Mr. Sapiro announced would "own the necessary warehouses and elevators." In 1914 one C. W. Nelson persuaded the farmers to go into debt for a number of so-called co-operative elevators—that is, the Sapiro type of cooperation. Because of several other reasons over which the farmer had no control, this scheme was soon on the rocks, but not before a number of elevators had been built, along with warehouses, in the name of the Tri-State Terminal Company. This was the organization which Sapiro planned to wish onto the farmers in the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated.

Such a deal was a little too strong for the farmers' unions, however, and led by a sterling old American gentleman of Walla Walla, a former state senator who was also prominent in farm activities, they forced Sapiro and his lieutenants to back out of the Nelson deal. It might be added that a certain Gentile bank in Portland is still "holding the sack" to the extent of some hundreds of thousands of dollars on the Tri-State Terminal Company. This is the only chapter in the history of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, or in that of any of its branches, in which the farmer was not a loser.

Incidental to the inception, rise and fall of the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, was the Sapiro-born scheme of "gold wheat bonds," literally acceptances, by which the association planned to tie up the farmer still more completely. These were scotched by the farmers unions, and by some of the farmers in the associations who had even then begun to see that certain fallacies lurked in the business.

dollars yearly were paid to at least fifteen men at various strategic points in the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated. In Idaho, the state association went into the warehousing business by the purchase on time payments of a number of warehouses. This state association is now bankrupt, the grain supposed to have been in its warehouses has disappeared, the trustee has been unable to find any assets, and cannot learn what became of the grain which the farmers delivered to these warehouses, and which the association never reported as sold. Some farmers lost their entire wheat crop for three years, no accounting ever has been made, and the members have just learned that they will have to complete the payments on the warehouses, or lose their farms.

The Washington state association, with headquarters in Spokane, has voted to disband, but, like the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated, is compelled by law to render a financial statement and accounting before being permitted to liquidate. This branch has issued a statement to the farmers in which it admits that it cannot pay for either the 1922 or 1923 wheat crop, but hopes to pay something on both by the end of 1924.

The Oregon state association is in the same condition, except that it is being kept alive by several men, in an effort to turn it into a private marketing organization, disguised as a cooperative selling association, based on the lists of credulous farmers remaining from the membership campaign for the Sapiro-Plan state association.

In Montana the story is the same; there is no need to repeat it.

Throughout these four northwestern states, there is no evidence to show that the Sapiro-Plan cooperative associations ever received for their wheat a gross price any higher than that received by legitimate cooperatives or unattached farmers. It has been proved that the wheat which the Sapiro-Plan associations exported was sold at a lower price than that paid to the independent exporters. The greater part of the wheat turned into the Sapiro cooperative associations by the farmers was sold. Oh, yes, it was sold all right! But the farmer was not paid for it.

Most of the wheat sold by these associations was merely peddled from one to another of the coast mills in the Northwest. These mills soon adopted a system of discounts, some of them quite heavy, as a protection against the "fixed price" of the associations, and the managements of the Sapiro-Plan associations accepted the discounts. Not once was a member of one of these associations consulted as to when or where he wanted to sell his wheat, price he wanted for it. The mills in Idaho, Washington and Oregon admitted to me that they all times bought wheat more and on better terms, from the managers of the Sapiro-Plan cooperative associations, both regional, than they could for the same grades of wheat, on the dates and in the same place the independent growers.

In Idaho, the independent grower went in to try to get a better price by straightening out his association on a business basis, and on better terms, from the same grades of wheat, on the dates and in the same place the independent growers. In Idaho, the independent grower who went in to try to get a better price by straightening out his association on a business basis, and on better terms, from the same grades of wheat, on the dates and in the same place the independent growers. In Idaho, the independent grower who went in to try to get a better price by straightening out his association on a business basis, and on better terms, from the same grades of wheat, on the dates and in the same place the independent growers.

— TO MY FRIENDS —

I so deeply and sincerely appreciate the splendid vote given me in Big Spring and Howard County, that I cannot find words to express my heartfelt gratitude.

On returns from the 14 boxes in Howard County you gave me the honor of being FIRST in Nine boxes, TIED for first in One box and SECOND in three, and last in only one box. I most gratefully thank you, one and all.

My opponent and myself both live in Tom Green County and the result is as follows: The four boxes in the city of San Angelo gave my opponent the plurality, but the 28 boxes in the County, outside of San Angelo, gave me the plurality and we are to "run it off" on August 23rd. Gratefully and sincerely,

Notice to Poultry Breeders

Now that the season for raising chickens is over and roosters will no be needed in town during the winter months, it has been suggested that those who keep roosters send them out to the country for the winter. This plan is good economy and the roosters will enjoy the vacation and benefit by the change, and will return in the spring with renewed energy—to say nothing of the eternal gratitude of the sick and wakeful sleepers—for quiet, happy nights for a few weeks at least! The Federation has always been progressive with the single motive to serve the town, and if all those who have roosters will phone any member of the Federation cars will be provided free of charge to transport the roosters to the country.

Unless all signs fail, we are going to see our section invaded with the largest number of homeseekers this fall that we have ever known. In fact they are to be noted here every day and furthermore they are buying land. The opening up of some large ranches in this territory will result in many thousands of acres of new farms being put in cultivation.

The work of remodeling the State National Bank building is being rushed with all speed so the new building will be ready to accommodate the patrons before the big rush of fall business sets in.

If you know of any good reason for paying $175.00 for an adding machine we will charge you that much for a Victor. Otherwise the price is $112.50 — 8-column machine, fully guaranteed. Rix's.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT some cities are awake, some asleep and some dead.

THAT if you want to know the condition of a city that you may chance to be in, don't ask the real-estate men, because they will want to sell you something before you know whether or not the city is worth staying in. Don't ask the merchants, because there are many kinds of merchants—you might strike a dead one.

THAT the easiest way to find out about the city is to get copies of its newspapers and look at the advertising columns, they will tell you everything you want to know.

THAT when you see that the merchants, the real estate men, the manufacturers, the small business, the banks, the hotels, the professional men and other enterprises are not well represented in the advertising columns, you need go no farther for that city is not healthy it is only an electric-lighted graveyard. It is deficient in everything that goes to make a prosperous city.

THAT on the other hand if the papers are full of advertising it indicates that the city is progressive and a worthwhile city.

WHAT YOU WANT IS A LIVE CITY TO PROSPER IN — NOT A DEAD ONE TO DIE IN.

Franklin Auto Beats Sunshine Special

A Franklin sedan carrying five passengers left Dallas last Monday morning and reached El Paso the same day, beating by three hours and twenty-six minutes the schedules of the fastest railroad trains crossing Texas. The Sunshine Special of the Texas & Pacific leaves Dallas daily at 1:20 p. m. and reached El Paso at 10:55 o'clock the next morning. Leaving The Dallas News building at Commerce and Lamar streets Monday morning, July 28, at 4:31 o'clock, the Franklin sedan reached El Paso eighteen hours and nine minutes later, or at 10:40 o'clock, Dallas time, Monday night. The Sunshine Special schedule calls for twenty-one hours and thirty-five minutes.

The trip was made with the idea of finding out how far the car could go in one day. Fort Worth was reached at 5:25 a. m., less than an hour after leaving Dallas, and Weatherford at 6:05 o'clock, at a distance of 64.3 miles from Dallas. At 8:31 o'clock a stop was made at Ranger for gasoline and at 10:26 a. m. the party stopped at Abilene, 210 miles out. The speedometer showed 326 miles out at Big Spring, at 1:28 o'clock in the afternoon. When Pecos was reached at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, a telegraphic report to The News was made. A similar report had been made from Abilene. At dusk the party was west of Sierra Blanco, 600.3 miles from Dallas. Under the original plan the party would have stopped at dusk, but having such wonderful success during the day, marked by only minor road troubles, it was decided to continue the run to El Paso, which was reached at exactly 10:40 o'clock at night. The car pulled up at that time in front of the Western Union Building, 683 miles from Dallas, with a total of eighteen hours and nine minutes elapsed time. Deducting eighty-five minutes consumed in refueling and repairing two punctures, the actual running time was sixteen hours and forty-four minutes, or an average of 40.6 miles an hour.

G. B. Bradley and wife of Post are here for a visit with Mrs. Bradley's sister, Mrs. Joe Stokes. Mr. Bradley is of the opinion that Mrs. Ferguson will carry his county by a big majority in the run-off primary, August 23rd.

The "Constitution" Rotting to Pieces

The famous old ship 'Constitution' lies rotting away at a dock in the Boston Navy Yard. A bill appropriating money to repair and save this patriotic relic was shelved in the rush of business as Congress closed. When Congress opens may be too late.

"The Christian Science Monitor" gives the following history of a vessel which should be—which always has been—high in the hearts of the patriots in this nation:

"The Constitution was launched in 1797 at Hartford's shipyard, and its peculiarly brilliant naval career may have been said to begin in 1803. "When the war of 1812 broke out, Capt. Isaac Hull was commanding it. He was on a mission in Europe carrying specie for the payment of a debt to Holland. The Constitution was shadowed then, but not attacked by British men-of-war. But in July of the same year a squadron of British vessels did pursue it, and wage a lively scrimmage. However, by excellent seamanship and fine sailing, it escaped, to engage in the spectacular encounter with the Guerriere off the Grand Banks later.

"Originally the Constitution, a ship of 1533 tons, was meant to be a 'two-decker,' but it was cut to the specifications of a frigate. Frigates originally were large open boats without guns, which were devised for use by the Portuguese in the East Indies in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. But the Seven Years War (1756-63) marked the definite adoption of the frigate as a standard class of vessel, coming next to the ships of the line and used for cruising and scouting purposes."

Some of the Reasons Why Mrs. Ferguson Should Be Elected

The material on this page is furnished by friends of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson—and same is paid for by them. They urge all friends interested in having Mrs. Ferguson elected Governor to read this page and pass on to a friend.

Why He Will Support Mrs. Ferguson

Having given loyal support to Lynch Davidson in the recent primary I am now ready to cast my next vote for Mrs. Ferguson. In making this alignment I would ask a little space to give some of the reasons which impel me to do so.

Had I ever desired to support Judge Robertson in the final primary, in deference to country pride, he himself has rendered it impossible for me to do so. In the speech delivered by him Friday night before the election he expressly stated that he was the open, avowed and indorsed candidate of the klan, thereby forcing that issue into prominence if not in fact making it paramount. Nor can it be said that he made the statement idly nor in a fit of unguarded transport while being urged to "pour it on 'em" by his enthusiastic followers. In fact, as disclosed by the newspapers, he made a similar statement two or three times in different speeches delivered in Collin County the same day, stating that he was the indorsed candidate of the klan, and "was proud of it," etc. So, whether wittingly or unwittingly, he has himself injected this issue into the campaign, leaving those who might otherwise have supported him absolutely no choice other than to accept the klan as a going, political entity, or vote for Mrs. Ferguson.

I have never approved of the klan in politics. Everybody knows that it requires no test of political faith in order to affiliate with that order. It is composed in its membership of persons of all political beliefs: Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, Mugwumps and those of no political creed nor belief.

About the only test I have ever heard of as being required to join was: "Are you a native-born, white, non-Jew, non-Catholic, and have you $15 in your pocket?"

Judge Robertson can not now say, as has been so often said, that the klan is not in politics. His deliberate and enthusiastic asseveration that he is its indorsed candidate precludes him from claiming that it is nonpolitical. Neither can he avow, as has often heretofore been avowed, that it only fights in self defense. It was generally known that from the beginning he was its chosen candidate, anointed by its high priests; but no one dreamed that he would become so drunken with the acclamations of his followers as to affirmatively inject it as an issue into the campaign. It may have been good politics to do so, but I very seriously doubt it. At all events the issue is made, and is of his own making.

Personally, I have no objections, abstractly speaking, to many of the published tenets of the klan. They pretend to exalt Christ, and to this I agree, except that I have been able to learn of Him in the churches, and those things the klan propose in amelioration of political conditions I find in the regular Democratic party. I have not felt the necessity to join an oath-bound secret political organization, nor to make any contributions to either Mr. Simmons or Mr. Clarke, nor any other foreign potentate.

It is openly charged and doubtless true that the klan is controlled by a sort of junta or coterie of political caballers who trade and traffic in the votes of the members, making "range deliveries" pretty much as the early ranchmen were wont to deliver their herds on the Western prairies.

Again, I believe in religion and in prayer, I hope, as much so as does the Judge. However, when I pray, which I frequently do, I do it with a sense of absolute unworthiness and the deepest humility. I cannot help from associating prayer with a sainted mother, now long since gone, but who was wont to carry her petitions to Jehovah from the solitude of some secret closet. I believe it was Christ who told his followers to pray in secret and not to exploit their piety in public to be heard of men. To parade these things before the public is to my mind to trifle with sacred things and render cheap and common those spiritual verities which ought to be held sacred to every man.

The Judge says he will carry Christ with him to the Statehouse. I am wondering what explanation he would make to his lodge brethren for consorting with the Jew at the Statehouse. He also states that his is a fight of Protestants against Catholics. I have never seen a Catholic priest on the stump, nor have I heard of a single instance where any Catholic was attempting to influence votes. This is no time, in my judgment, to stir up racial animosities, nor engender religious antagonisms.

Every sane man in Texas knows that there is no such fight, and any effort to capitalize such an issue will, in my judgment, prove abortive and recoil on the Judge's political head with a force of which he little dreams at this time.

During the next thirty days frenzied efforts will be made to increase the klan membership for political purposes. But the klan is even now in process of disintegration. Its members are becoming disillusioned and no longer to the votaries of the wizard does he pass before the imagination like a superior being radiant with the emanations of his own great genius and covered with a halo of unquestioned glory! They have discovered that he is of the earth, earthy.

—JOHN W. CRAIG in Dallas News.

The Fight Is On

According to the election returns the choice for governor of Texas will be between Mrs. James Ferguson and Judge Felix Robertson.

360,500 Democrats in Texas voting in the July 26th primary preferred one of the other candidates as their standard bearer but since the fates had decided otherwise, we must, of course, choose between these two.

There is no mistaking what the issue is in this race for governor from now on. It seems that there was only one paramount issue in the battle of ballots on July 26th.

Judge Robertson said in a speech in Dallas on the night of July 25th, that he was endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan and was proud of it.

Mrs. Ferguson has very strenuously opposed the klan from the first, so the lines of the contest are sharply drawn. There is no guesswork about what the issue is. Those who believe in the klan will vote for Judge Robertson and those who do not believe in this secret, hooded, political organization will vote for Mrs. Ferguson. There will be a few exceptions but very few.

Most of us dread the contest and hesitate to take up the gauge of battle because it will cost some of us business and it may mean the loss of friends but it is useless to further postpone the day of conflict. It must come and the sooner it comes the better for Texas and the Democratic party.

We expect the klan leaders will attempt to lull us to sleep in various ways but we are not to lose sight of the fact that the question before us is whether or not religious intolerance, racial hatred, pasture government and river bottom juries shall be driven from Texas soil.

Those of who do not want the domination of the klan or any other bloc have no other choice in this contest than to support Mrs. Ferguson.

We do not believe the personalities of the candidates, or Judge Robertson and Jas. E. Ferguson should be paramount in this campaign, so much as issues. It is for principles as dear to every patriotic citizen as life itself that we propose to battle for.

There is no room in this country for an organization that seeks by direct or indirect methods, by insinuation or otherwise to create religious intolerance or racial hatred and those seem to be two of the main issues on which the klan seems to have thrived upon. There is no room in this country for an organization that seeks to fix the juries and make them hand out verdicts agreed upon in the pastures or secret places where the order meets. There is no place in this country for an organization that seeks to name our officers in their place of meeting and in secret, before the day of election. There is no place in this country for an organization that wears a mask and thereby give encouragement to mob law.

All of these things the klan, or some of those supposed to represent the klan, have done and is doing and no matter how good its members may be, and the rank and file are honest, well-meaning and good citizens they are playing with fire, and these flames they fan, small now, could and will become a conflagration if not checked.

However, we do not expect the friends of Judge Robertson to make the fight on these issues. They want us to forget that they wear the mask and we may expect to hear a campaign of personalities. If they force the fight along those lines we may expect them to say that if Mrs. Ferguson is elected the saloons will come back to Texas and that the prohibition laws will not be enforced. Everyone, man and woman, knows that we have prohibition by constitutional amendment and that there will not be a ghost of a chance for Mrs. Ferguson, Judge Robertson or anyone else getting whiskey back in Texas. The legislature is overwhelmingly dry and public sentiment is the same.

In addition Mrs. Ferguson has stated that if she is elected she will see that the prohibition laws, as well as all other laws are enforced. In fact, she has always been a prohibitionist.

She has also stated that she will lend a helping hand to education, as much as would lay within her power, from the university to the little red school house on the hill.

So we accept the gauge of battle that has been thrown down to us; asking the guidance of Him who knoweth and doeth all things well; and we are firm in the belief Mrs. Ferguson will be nominated by an overwhelming majority.

Believing that her cause is just, that her nomination and election would be best for Texas we appeal to you good, honest, fair-minded men and women to vote for her, exercising your privileges of an American citizen with malice toward none and charity for all.

Using Prohibition as Smoke Screen

As was expected, Judge Robertson has raised the prohibition scare in Texas. We have prohibition in Texas by an amendment to the Federal Constitution, by which method it came to all the states in the union. There can be no change in the prohibition laws in Texas until our Federal constitution is changed so as to permit the change.

Prohibition has come to stay and there is nothing Judge Robertson, Mrs. Ferguson, or any person in Texas can do to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors in this State.

Mrs. Ferguson says she is a prohibitionist and will rigidly enforce the prohibition laws if elected. The friends of Judge Robertson should be willing to admit that she is honest and will do what she says she will do.

But do not be misled about what the main issue is in this race. Judge Robertson said in a speech in Oak Cliff, Dallas, Texas, on the night of July 25th that he was the candidate of the klan and it is the klan seeking to control affairs in Texas that we must fight. The fight is on. Judge Robertson has injected the issue and we accept the gauge of battle.

There cannot be two governments functioning at the same time in Texas. We are after the "Invisible Empire," not its members. We have no desire, and hope we will not say or do anything to offend individual klansmen, the large majority of whom are honest in their beliefs.

A Poor Record on Law Enforcement

Judge M. M. Crane of Dallas, former Attorney General of Texas, gave out a statement Saturday, August 2nd in which he said: "That there had been around sixty floggings in Dallas County since the Klan had been organized and that during the greater part of that time Judge Robertson was either Police Judge in the city of Dallas or holding his present position of district judge of one of the district courts of Dallas County, and that not even one arrest, to say nothing of a conviction, had been made in any of the cases."

Think of it, sixty floggings in one county and not one arrest, and this happened in civilized Texas.

What did the Judge do to run down these violations of the law? As far as we know he did nothing. Or if he did try, his efforts were very unsuccessful, plainly proving incompetency.

The serious thing to think about is—If the Judge could do no more toward enforcing the law in Dallas County, how may we expect him to enforce the prohibition laws or any other criminal laws of the state.

Another thought to consider: It does appear as though the klan could have selected several of their number in Texas who have a far better record on law enforcement than the self-styled "Praying Judge." That is if they really want the laws enforced.

Think It Over

The Cross of Calvary is the cross we want to magnify and glorify and not the fiery cross, which suggests strife, hatred and intolerance. By Him, who died on Calvary's Cross was taught the greatest lesson the world has ever known in morals, ethics or religion: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you do ye even so to them."

That great old truth will ring down the ages, and will be the guiding spirit in the lives of men even to the last days of recorded time. This great truth is the balance wheel of society, and implies religious freedom, trial by jury and free government.

J. M. Morgan and daughters, Misses Rose and Mary left Wednesday for a visit in Abilene.

Collins Declares Klan Only Issue

Former State Senator V. A. Collins and candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor prior to the July primary takes issue with Dr. Atticus Webb, who in a recent communication contended that voting for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for Governor imperiled prohibition in Texas. Mr. Collins' statement follows:

"To the prohibitionists of Texas: 'If Dr. Atticus Webb could mislead the prohibitionists of Texas into believing that prohibition is at stake in the August primary the real issue might be obscured, because prohibitionists are not going to surrender the fruit of a half century of labor and take any step backward, but he certainly presumes on the ignorance of prohibitionists in trying to make them believe that the election of Mrs. Ferguson would endanger the cause of prohibition.'

"Prohibitionists know that we have the eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution, besides the amendment to the State Constitution against the manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

"The Governor of Texas could not change either of them.

"We have the Volstead act and the Governor of Texas could not change that, because it is a Federal statute.

"We have the so-called Dean law, which is a State statute, but the Governor could not alter or amend that.

"The Governor of Texas could do no more than sign a bill passed by the Legislature amending or repealing the Dean law, but the Governor could not initiate such change.

"But if the Governor could do all that Dr. Webb would seem to have you believe, even then I would rather risk Mrs. Ferguson than Judge Robertson.

"I assert that Judge Robertson who started his campaign by saying he had been a lifelong prohibitionist when cornered by proof to the contrary, was forced to confess that he had not so been and was forced to the extremes of telling the time and place of his conversion, and even since then he has no proof of his prohibition conviction, except his bare statement he has produced no fruit for prohibition.

"I further deny that the supporters of Judge Robertson have a better prohibition record than the supporters of Mrs. Ferguson.

"I challenge comparison.

"I challenge comparison in Dallas. I know the leading anti-prohibitionists of Texas, when the fight was on for a dry Texas, are now supporting Robertson.

"I know the leading anti-prohibitionists of Texas controlled the Waco convention which refused to send Harper Kirby and Mrs. Claude de Van Watts as delegates to the national convention, although Harper Kirby gave more money to make Texas dry than any other one man, and Mrs. Van Watts is president of the W. C. T. U. of Texas.

"I know that a large number of the delegates to the national convention were the old antis who have never surrendered to the cause of prohibition.

"Prohibitionists of Texas, the cry that you are voting against prohibition if you vote for Mrs. Ferguson is a mere subterfuge to obscure the real issue.

"There is but one issue and will be but one until it is settled—the klan.

"The klan made the issue and Judge Robertson could not have gone before the people of Texas on any other issue and got anywhere.

"The klan knows it; the people outside the klan know it.

"Let's have it out on the issue the klan has made.

"I am willing to be judged by my prohibition record in this world and the next, even after I have voted for Mrs. Ferguson.

"The issue and the only issue is whether a secret organization is going to be permitted in the future to nominate candidates behind closed doors and then have those candidates run on the Democratic ticket and swap, and trade, and bluff, and bulldoze on the outside to get other voters who did not participate in the secret primary to vote for them—the secret nominee of another party.

"Prohibitionists, be not deceived. A vote for Mrs. Ferguson is against Robertson is a vote for prohibition. Yours truly, V. A. COLLINS.

A Friend to Rural Schools

There are tens of thousands of men, women and children out on the farms of Texas where educational advantages were not and are not so good as they are in the towns and cities who will not forget what Jim Ferguson did for them in the days gone by. His assistance in behalf of the rural schools is to his eternal credit.

No Spiked Punch Served by Mrs. Miriam Ferguson

Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, president of W. C. T. U., who announces she will support Mrs. Miriam Ferguson in the run-off primary, asserting that the women can rely on her to enforce the prohibition laws, reminds me of an incident which occurred several years ago in Austin, soon after James E. Ferguson was elected Governor of Texas.

Mrs. Ferguson was a very quiet woman, who seldom raised her voice in matters of politics, but after she went to Austin with her family to occupy the Governor's mansion, she lost no time in announcing that she did not share Jim's views on prohibition; that she was a strong prohibitionist and that there would be no spiked punch served at the mansion so long as she occupied it.

As is well known, it has long been the custom for the newly elected Governor and his wife to entertain with a reception at the mansion complimentary to the Legislature. All Austin and hundreds over the State are invited.

Punch was always served freely, and more or less heavily spiked. In fact, it was common rumor around Austin that sometimes it was served so freely, and so heavily spiked, that often wives had considerable trouble getting their husbands home, getting them undressed and properly tucked in bed.

The Fergusons were very democratic and their reception for the Legislature was said to have been the largest ever given at the Governor's mansion. Punch was served freely, as usual, but made under the personal supervision of Mrs. Ferguson and according to her pure fruit juice recipe.

In the course of the evening it was rumored that some one had bribed the servants in the kitchen to spike some of the punch. The rumor reached Mrs. Ferguson and she hurriedly left the reception-room and went to the kitchen.

Here my story ends. I do not know how much punch was spiked "unknowingly" to Mrs. Ferguson and in her absence from the kitchen, but I am very sure none of it reached the guests, for when the reception was over, though almost mashed to a pulp, so large was the crowd, the guests were all able to walk home uprightly.

Because of this innovation of Mrs. Ferguson's in placing a ban on serving even spiked punch at the mansion on State occasions when the State occasions was overwhelmingly wet and her husband an antiprohibitionist made this reception a topic of conversation in Austin for many weeks. Occasionally it was referred to as a tame affair, but Mrs. Ferguson won the universal approval of the women.

Judge Robertson and the Other 450,000 Voters

Judge Robertson said in a speech in Oak Cliff, Dallas, Friday night, July 25th, the night before the primary election, as reported in the Dallas News: "There are eight candidates struggling for the vote I do not want, I want the honest, upright God-fearing men and women of Texas and to hell with the rest."

Rather strong language for a "praying judge." This statement must have been very humiliating to good women, the ministers and every person who was friendly to the Judge, yet who "abstain from the very appearance of evil."

The significant thing about the Judge's statement is that he had in mind at that time that only the "honest, upright, God-fearing men and women" would vote for him in the first primary, and that those who did not vote for him were the opposite of "honest, upright, God-fearing men and women." The Judge's statement sounds like the braggadocio of one drunk on power or something.

The fact of the matter is that now the Judge would get down in the very dust of humility for voters and would be very glad indeed to have the votes of those whom by insinuation, he intimidated were the opposite of "honest, upright, God-fearing men and women," and when the self-styled "praying judge" comes to those of us who voted against him in the first primary and asks us to vote for him August 23rd, we will not try to consign him to the fiery lake of brimstone, but we will relegate him to the political scrap heap and that ought to be torn enough for the self-styled "praying judge."

Will Vote for Robertson But Think He Will Lose

I believe that the second primary election will sound the death knell of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas. I voted for Judge Felix Robertson to vote for him again because of ancestry and what he has done for himself to be an officer in the office of Governor, but the Klux Klan has given me strength, which was a little one-fourth of the vote in the late election. The votes for the eight candidates will be against an organization, whichever it may be called, forms its plans in secret and war on two religious sects being part of their political program.

Good men and well qualified Judge Robertson is, I think, to be snowed under by the vote. The pointed speech by Barry Miller is making way toward arousing the people's subject.

Eliminate Politics

Nobody would object to a war on a fraternal or patriotic organization but when it seeks to be political power, dominating politics of this country; when it sows seeds of religious and racial prejudice; when it influences courts or assumes the of judge and jury, we say it to call a halt.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson thru with the klan, the klan have left all of its principles should survive, and who will keep the rest of it.

The klan has disrupted lodges, schools and societies of various kinds and there are institutions in this country in which eruption on account of the klan is imminent. The remedy is to you take part in the battle of August 23rd and help in making for Mrs. Ferguson!

State Park Site Here a Winner

D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board, in a letter to T. H. Johnson, has some nice things to say about the 200-acre tract of land, adjacent to our city, which was presented to the State of Texas to be used as a State Park, thru the efforts of the City Federation of Big Spring. His letter follows: "Our two weeks inspection trip accompanied by Governor Neff, Highway Commission, Newspaper representatives, and Park Board was completed Saturday night at San Antonio at 11 o'clock. It was a wonderful trip, and we want to assure you that the Edwards Monument Park site is the most wonderful attraction that we found on the entire trip in Texas. Governor Neff and the entire party was very enthusiastic over the great possibilities of this particular site and we want to assure you of our appreciation of the best barbecued chicken that it has ever been our pleasure of eating.

"Again thanking you and the citizens of Big Spring for the hospitality extended our party."

We also reprint a summary of the trip of inspection by the members of the Park Board as given by Mrs. Phebe Warner: "Yes, the park party was out just 13 days—lucky 13—and a beautiful State park was added to the wealth of Texas every day. It was a wonderful trip throughout Southwest Texas, the land of everlasting beauty and the future playground of the world. During those 13 days the Texas Highway Commissioners, the State Parks Board and several others who made up the party led by Governor Neff touched the borderland of two states—Texas and New Mexico—two nations—our own and Old Mexico; visited the world's new wonder, the Carlsbad Cave of New Mexico, which is only eight miles from the Texas State line; they were entertained at three great ranches; they visited three of Texas greatest camping sites. Why every denomination in Texas does not have a camp ground in West Texas as well as the cow boys and the Baptists no one knows. They drove through, and tramped over three beautiful mountain ranges, many canyons and endless rivers and springs! The most beautiful springs gushing out of the barren rocks where you would least expect them; traveled through 27 counties, many of them larger than some of our states and visited 36 towns, villages and cities.

But grand and glorious as the country is, the hills, the mountains, the trees, the canyons, the rivers and the springs, the greatest thing in Texas is her people. Loyal, patriotic, hospitable, liberal, ready to work and to give and to do and to live for our State the minute they all understand the true motive of a good movement. On this one trip, 15 beautiful places were given either by individuals or communities back to the State of Texas for the health, happiness and rest and recreation of all the people who come this way. Such welcomes, such hospitality, such liberality could be found only in the big-open country like West Texas.

Other beautiful and health giving places were discovered and plans will be perfected in a few months to make a net work of State parks for all the people out where "the West begins." Plan now to visit Texas next year. It will make a better citizen of you, too.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board, in a letter to Mrs. J. I. McDowell thanked the members of the City Federation for making possible the establishment of a State Park at Big Spring.

He said in part: "Governor Neff and our party certainly gave you a lot of publicity as we went from town to town. The governor advised every man, woman and child not to go anywhere else until they had visited Big Spring and made the trip over the Scenic Drive. The Parks Board is very proud of this site and we hope to make it one of the great attractions of West Texas. From a commercial standpoint it is the best investment Big Spring ever made. Your city will more than get the investment back this year to say nothing of the thousands it will bring you hereafter.

"We would like to have the City Federation and Chamber of Commerce jointly elect and recommend to the Park Board some man or woman as County Park commissioner and we will approve the selection and forward same to Governor Neff for appointment.

In a letter to Miss Nell Hatch, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Colp writes: "Again we want to thank you and your organization for the best barbecued chicken on earth, served Governor Neff and our party on our recent visit to your city."

In a letter to W. W. Rix, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Colp says: "No doubt you have had quite a number of people visit your city and view the new State Park the past week. Governor Neff certainly did make it plain to the people in the other towns that they were overlooking one of the greatest attractions in West Texas when they failed to go to Big Spring and drive over this Mountain Scenic Drive. Our entire party was just as enthusiastic over it as the Governor. One gentleman at Midland told me that he had heard about my having been at Big Spring a few weeks ago and recommending this site so highly and he and some friends got in his automobile and went to Big Spring as they had never seen anything there worthwhile before, and he told me that after looking it over that he could hardly believe his eyes; he went back to Midland and two days later took his own family and made a party of two other cars and they went down to see it; and he knew of several other people that they had told about it that had gone to Big Spring for the special purpose of making the drive over the Big Spring Mountain, and in every instance the entire party returned telling what a wonderful site it was. I guess that holds good as to other towns in that section but I just happened to run into this particular party who told me all about it.

Winners Entertain Bridge Club

Mesdames W. W. Inkman and Bernard Fisher who were winners of high scores of the Pioneer Bridge Club for the past year reversed the usual procedure of accepting prizes by treating the members of the Bridge Club and their families to a picnic, instead.

This picnic was held at the City Federation Park Friday evening, August 1st and it was indeed a delightful affair.

The finest of good things to eat were prepared by Mesdames Inkman and Fisher and a jolly picnic party was never enjoyed.

The grown-ups joined the youngsters in all kinds of games following the enjoyment of the feast.

The members of the Bridge Club voted in favor of Mesdames Fisher and Inkman winning each and every year if they would agree to give such fine picnics in honor thereof.

Co. Convention Appoints Delegates.

The delegates from the various precincts attended the County Democratic convention at the courthouse in Big Spring at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 2nd for the purpose of electing delegates to State and district conventions and transact such other business as might come before it.

P. F. Cantrell, County Chairman, after calling the meeting to order, reported the result of the primary election for state and district officers. He then announced the election of a chairman of the meeting was in order.

Clyde E. Thomas and others were named, with Mr. Thomas being elected.

The following were elected as delegates to the State convention: B. Reagan, S. B. Stone and C. E. Thomas. Alternates, B. G. Bly, Ralph Wynn and L. S. Patterson.

To senatorial convention: W. W. Rix.

To representative convention: W. R. Purser.

Some fine talks were made during the session by B. Reagan, C. E. Thomas, Mrs. D. F. Mims, B. G. Bly and Mr. Ingram of Vincent.

The following resolutions were passed:

RESOLVED, by the Convention of Howard County Democrats in session, that the delegates to the State Convention be instructed in general, as follows:

1. That they work for and vote for the placing in the State Democratic platform a plank for better roads, especially the main public highways, and the strengthening of the State Highway System, and distinguished from the County system.

2. That the Compulsory School attendance law be amended so as to require that every child shall have a common school education; and providing for assistance for those children that are delinquent and have no means of support and no means of education, in the way of tuition, books, board and clothing till they have a common school education or reached the age of fifteen years; for raising the standards and qualifications of the teachers in the public schools, and for higher pay; for the elimination of the parochial schools as a substitute for the democratic public common school education, for the taxation of the property of the parochial school doing common school work; and for the continuation of the policy of the State to aid and assist financially local public schools which are raising their standards of efficiency, and for a large extra appropriation to make the per capita sufficient to run all schools at least six months.

Resolved by the Howard County Democratic Convention in session that it is opposed to mob violence of any nature, or the violation of law for the sake of order.

And further that it go on record for law and order and upholding the hands of the officers of the law, and that all officers from Governor down and Constable up should be held strictly accountable for their acts in office, and that they, above all other classes of people should set an example to others for obedience to law and all the law, themselves.

And that the laws should be administered by the officer elected and not by any "family kitchen cabinet," friend, kith or kin.

That it here goes on record as being opposed to violation of the law by subterfuge; and that it condemns any man who has been barred by a legally constituted tribunal from holding an office of honor and trust that attempts to reach the power of the highest office in the great State of Texas by hiding behind the apron strings of a woman and using his wife as a tool to reach around the law and the Constitution, and that Democracy is appealing now to the sovereign voters of the State to go to the Polls the 23rd of August as a solemn duty owing the State, and with fidelity to this great trust, vote not in levity or in joke, and not with prejudice, but in the spirit of patriotism for the laws and the Constitution, for order, common honesty in government and for home and the good of the State.

Resolved that Howard County Democratic convention go on record asking for more stringent laws against "Dry Checkers" and passing of "Cold Checks."

Resolved that we go on record as favoring a law to put the drug stores out of the saloon business.

A West Texas Institution

The Chambers of Commerce in West Texas have organized for purposes of industrial development and economic profits. This is fine, and I believe that much good will result from this concerted effort, not only to business but to social welfare.

The State of Texas has built and is maintaining in this same section, for the educational welfare of our own boys and girls, a first-class institution, in which our young people not only may prepare for teaching but get a general education for other purposes. In addition to the usual academic courses, students may do special work in Home Economics, Manual Training, Business Art, and Music, (Violin, Piano, Voice, etc.)

Sul Ross has a trained faculty of expert teachers who are vitally interested in the young life of this section; practically all of these teachers hold at least the M. A. degree from the best universities of the country. Moreover, the institution has well equipped laboratories and a library of more than 6000 well selected books on various subjects; in addition, more than 80 of the best magazines come to the library each month. Credits from this institution are accepted at face value by the best colleges and universities; the faculty has time and takes pride in helping boys and girls to find their best self and to do that thing for which they are best equipped by nature. Besides, students in this climate the year round can do a higher quality of work with less strain on their physical vitality.

I am asking that you look upon this institution as one of the business assets of this section, and that you get behind it in the same enthusiastic way that you support your other programs. Send your boys and girls to us for one year; if they are not satisfied with the quality of work they get and with the attention given them, then we have no further claim upon them.

This is a critical period for education in Texas. The Survey Commission will finish its report in December. Every phase of the school work will be under searching investigation—and this is as it should be—and awards will be determined by the findings. If we can go before the next Legislature and show a substantial increase in the attendance for this fall, we believe that the Legislature will give this institution a program for development which will make every citizen of this section proud of the cultural opportunities and business opportunities provided by its OWN SCHOOL.

Let's get together and work for the development of West Texas.

THE PASSING DAY

Will H. Mayes, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

Since the women have been voting, greater numbers of them are to be found standing as near the polling places as the law permits, handing out candidates' cards to voters on their way to vote. The candidate who can't get some pretty young women to hand out his cards seem to regard himself as out of luck. It is doubtful whether many voters change their votes on their way to the voting booths just because a pretty girl hands him a card and asks him to vote for her candidate. Still, there is little harm done by this custom and it does help the printers who print the cards.

Do the women vote for candidates because they know them and like them, or do they vote for them because of the principles for which they stand? It is pretty safe to say that as yet most women do not take the trouble to inform themselves as to the views of candidates on public questions or as to their records in public service. They are more influenced by friendship for candidates than are the men, or by the social or moral standing of those offering their services. That accounts largely for the extensive circulation just before elections of rumors reflecting on the morals of candidates, for whatever may be his virtues on other questions women as a class will not vote for a man of doubtful moral character or of social vices. Some of them insist on knowing the candidates personally and excuse themselves for not voting with the statement, "Oh, I am not crazy about any of them and do not care to vote."

The next attractions to follow after the second primary that will get the people together in large numbers will be the district, county and community fairs. It is to be hoped that they will draw as large crowds as the political picnics and barbecues. If they do, they will be worth more to the people than all the political gatherings of the year. The campaign orators, of whom the year has developed many, might be utilized to impress the people as to the importance of cooperative effort in the right kind of community development. Every community in Texas has great opportunities that are going to waste through lack of systematic effort. The people merely need to be aroused to the advantages of united effort.

The time is coming when a Texas county that grows cotton will be ashamed to admit that all its cotton crop is sent out of the county to be manufactured into goods that sell for from three to ten times as much as the raw cotton. Such an admission will be regarded as evidence of thriftlessness of a kind that is inexcusable. Heretofore there has not been enough money in Texas to carry on the farms, to handle the commercial business of the State, and to operate factories to any great extent, but with the State steadily growing richer it will soon be in position to manufacture its products of all kinds.

Judging from the space given to it by the daily papers, baseball has become one of the leading industries of Texas. It is a mighty poor town that hasn't a ball team and that doesn't regard its team as a bit superior to teams from other towns of like size. This writer may be a bit "old-foggyish," but he can't understand why strong young fellows who can't do a day's plowing without complaining, can play ball in a temperature of 110 degrees without a murmur, and why people who can't walk two blocks in the hot sun can cheerfully sweater in the sun on the bleachers of a ball park. It must all be in the mental attitude toward the thing one is doing.

About the most difficult feeling for most persons to overcome is that something else than what they are doing affords better opportunities than the work they have in hand. The farmer wants to get into town and the town man is anxious to live in the country. The lawyer wants to be judge of a court and the judge wishes he had a law practice that would pay him as well as a position on the bench. The traveling man thinks he could be happy if only he could stay at home and the fellow who has always lived at home knows he could have a good time on the road. The women think they could make a huge success and be perfectly contented in business and the men would like to loll around the house in loose kimonas. If you have learned to be fairly content with your position in life and your work, you have learned about the most helpful lesson that can be taught any one.

Men who have been growing cotton practically all their lives assert that the outlook for a big cotton crop in Howard County is the best just now that they have ever seen. With the cotton fields clear of weeds, the plant has a strong stalk and a long tap root and is sure to produce an extra heavy yield unless insect pests get in their work.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT every city should organize a "Swat the Pessimist" club, and they should loudly proclaim that the pessimists and their pestiferous ways shall have no place in the new order of things.

THAT it is necessary for all persons not now looking hopefully and optimistically into the future, to re-adjust themselves to the bigger and better things of life and business.

THAT the pessimist is the man who simply will not see the silver lining beneath the cloud; who advertises by his looks and actions his utter inability to meet his neighbor on competitive basis.

THAT the optimist knows that unemployment is gradually diminishing; that money is getting cheaper; that the fellow that hustles gets the business and that the pessimist must no longer be permitted to stand in the path of progress and prosperity.

THAT the men back of this government should maintain that an analysis will show that there is nothing so radically wrong and the country is not going to the how-ows.

THAT if it looks that way to some people, it is only a reflection of their own incapacity and inability to adjust themselves to the conditions of today.

ALL SHOULD SWAT THE PESSIMIST! OSTRACIZE HIM! MAKE HIM LONESOME! RUN THE STEAM-ROLLER OVER HIM! MAKE HIM SO UNPOPULAR THAT HE WILL EITHER BECOME A BUSINESS CHRISTIAN OR GO BACK TO THE WILDS FROM WHENCE HE CAME.

September in the Country

A few more days and then the call to return to the schoolroom will be answered by over 300,000 rural boys and girls throughout the land. Most of them will enter buildings freshly cleaned, some redecorated, to make them more pleasant and suitable "temples of learning." A few will enter new buildings dedicated "to the service of the community and to the common cause of a better life for all."

Most of this youthful throng are eager to return and join their school friends. Most of them will enter advanced grades with new fields of study to explore. Most of them will have new teachers. About one-fifth of them will be entering school for the first time. A few of them will be entering schools in new communities into which they have moved or to which they must go for advanced educational instruction.

Every thing possible should be done to make the first week a red letter week for the beginners and the newcomers, to be remembered by them for the remainder of their lives. First impressions are lasting impressions. A favorable attitude towards school and community gained during these first few days will largely determine the wholeheartedness with which these pupils will enter into cooperation with the school and its enlarged society.

Just as first impressions largely determine the attitude of the pupils so do they affect the teacher. The teacher should become an integral part of the community during her period of tenure. Most teachers realize this and are glad to respond to the welcome extended them by the community. The teacher will not only be happier but she, in increased service, will repay the community for any efforts expended in her behalf.

As a "Private Citizen"

The position which the United States should take in foreign affairs is always a matter of the greatest public importance.

President Wilson went abroad and negotiated a treaty at the close of the World War which after a two-year discussion our country did not see fit to ratify.

After rejecting the League and adopting a policy of isolation, we have witnessed the development of a feeling of depression and hopelessness in European affairs.

Our country has become unsatisfied with its decision morally. There has been a great undercurrent of doubt and questioning as to whether we have done our duty in world affairs.

The economic breakdown of Europe has exerted a bad influence in our country politically, socially and financially. Destroying a free market for gold in the world left prices without an automatic regulator in America.

We have participated in the reparations settlements and adjustment of foreign loans in a kind of haphazard, half-hearted bootlegging manner, trying to get results but avoiding responsibility.

The moral duty of going to the relief of such injured, wounded and prostrated nations of Europe should not be confused with any question as to the kind of a vehicle we employ to send relief.

Whether our country shall join a League of Nations or a World Court is of minor importance compared to our obligation "To Aid in the Restoration of the World Politically, Economically and Morally."

The foregoing is a fair summary of an address by Owen D. Young before Harvard on the occasion of receiving an honorary degree from that institution. Mr. Young made his remarks as a "private citizen" and not as a member of the recent Experts Committee on settlement of the Reparations question.

"He said in part 'I object to having the great moral question of what America should do confused by a discussion of the merits or faults of the machinery through which she should make that decision effective. Whether I should go to the relief of my friend and comrade in a hospital and render what aid I could is one question. Whether I should go in a Buick or a Cadillac or a Ford is another question. I object to delaying my decision or to be diverted from my main purpose by the sales talk of promoters of different vehicles. The first thing that I want to do is to send word to my friend in the hospital that I am coming and then I will go by the best conveyance which expediency puts at my disposal, and if there be no other way, I will walk to his relief. That is what I should like to have America declare to Europe.

"I am not interested in going to American people on a question of whether we shall join the League or whether we shall join the World Court or whether we shall make foreign loans, officially or unofficially, but I am interested in going to the American people for the answer as to whether or not we intend, by every reasonable means within our power, to aid in the restoration of the world, politically, economically, and morally. You ask how this can be done? I say it can be done by frank and definite declaration of policy on the part of the United States. We need make no treaties at the moment. We need make no entangling alliances. We only need a definite and authoritative declaration of where America stands in order that isolationists may be rendered mute at home, monarchists and communists may be crippled abroad, and movements for democracy and peace in every country of the world may be given the encouragement which they ought to have from the United States of America. Europe is confused. She does not know what the spirit of America is. In fact, I think we have confused ourselves."

He suggests that if we will all lay aside for the time being our talk regarding various forms of political methods of action, our country may yet fulfill her glorious duty to the world.

All indications point to better prices for farm crops, more normal farm labor conditions and above all greater purchasing power for the farmer's dollar than for years past. This condition is coming about thru natural rather than artificial means and will produce sound business for all.

BAPTISTS REPORT ON MONEY DISTRIBUTED

DETAILED STATEMENT AS TO WHERE 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN COLLECTIONS HAVE GONE IS ISSUED

USE DISTRICT ASSOCIATIONS

Agency Nearest Local Churches Will Be Employed in Bringing About Fuller Development in Future Program

DR. C. E. BURTS General Director, 1925 Program, Southern Baptists.

Indicating the objects to which the money collected on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign goes, the headquarters of that movement in Nashville has issued the following statement of the distribution of the $53,377,084.43, representing the revised figures on the sum collected on that movement up to May 1, 1924: Foreign missions $9,898,870.00; home missions $5,757,820.00; state and associational missions $9,992,760.27; Christian education $14,849,835.51; hospitals $2,672,692.43; orphanages $4,461,965.87; ministerial relief $1,570,356.94; expenses and fixed charges not otherwise absorbed $2,091,998.56; special credits and miscellaneous items $1,590,990.47; purchase and operation of state denominational papers $62,200.38; foreign rolls $37,602.16; undistributed balance $152,330.77; Home Mission Board special $16,310; Foreign Mission Board special $86,103; raised by churches in foreign fields and expended by them in work there $1,003,000.

At Work Goes Forward Every department of the general missionary, educational and benevolent work of the Southern Baptists has been greatly enlarged and strengthened by the campaign. It is reported, while a suggestion of the development that has come in the activities and liberality of the local churches as a result of this forward movement is furnished in the following statement of progress along general lines, furnished by the headquarters office:

Comparing the growth of the denomination during the five years preceding the Campaign with the five years since that program was projected it is shown that during the last five years the following advances were recorded over the previous corresponding period: 1562 more new churches organized, a gain of 229 per cent; 241,966 more new members, gained an advance of 66 per cent; 209,002 more baptisms administered, a gain of 27 per cent; 1,603 more new Sunday schools organized, a gain of 418 per cent; 354,727 more new Sunday school pupils enrolled, a gain of 152 per cent; $35,086,970.83 more reported in gifts to mission and benevolences, a gain of 187 per cent; $51,158,573.58 more reported in gifts to local church purposes, a gain of 95 per cent; $34,417,381.75 more reported in gifts to all causes, a gain of 117 per cent; and $57,147,094.40 more shown in the value of local church property, a gain of 81 per cent.

Complete Collections Now In the hope of completing the collection of all Campaign subscriptions by the close of this year and securing cash offerings from those Baptists who did not subscribe to the five year program an intensive effort during the remainder of the summer and fall will be waged throughout the South under the general leadership of Dr. L. R. Scarborough, general director, with the co-operation of the various state mission offices and the officers and workers in the nearly 1,000 district associations. It is planned that the interests of the denomination shall be adequately set forth at all of these associations in their annual meetings in the hope that the delegates to the associations will in turn carry the message back to their local churches and secure the co-operation of these churches in fully completing the Campaign program so as to clear the way for the next forward program, beginning January 1, 1925.

Dr. C. E. Burts, former general secretary of the Baptist work in South Carolina, has assumed his duties as general director of the 1925 program and announces that he believes the program for next year can be most successfully launched by the satisfactory completion of the 75 Million Campaign during the remaining months of 1924. While making his plans for the projection of the new program, he is co-operating fully with Dr. Scarborough in the completion of the old one.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE WILL COME INTO ITS OWN AT STATE FAIR

Coliseum at Dallas, Transformed into Magnificent Agricultural Building Many Exhibits

For the 1924 State Fair of Texas, at Dallas, Oct. 11-26 next, the former Coliseum, right at the entrance of the grounds, will become the new Agricultural Building.

This structure is 150 x 250 feet in dimensions, and the whole interior has been made over. More than 30,000 square feet of cement floor has already been laid, and the erection of handsome, attractive booths has been started. There will be booths for at least fifty county exhibits alone, with provisions for agricultural displays of every description, as well as space for numerous educational demonstrations, including that of A & M. of Texas and other prominent universities.

One big feature is to be miniature reproductions of the buildings of various universities, an idea suggested and being worked out by Pres. R. L. Marquis of the Teacher's College at Denton. Most of the models it is proposed, will be built by students in the manual training departments of the several institutions.

EXHIBIT JERSEYS AT STATE FAIR

"More men," or "grown men," are not the only exhibitors of Jersey cattle at the State Fair of Texas—far from it. Here is a lady exhibitor, and likewise a small boy exhibitor—Mrs. W. M. Waller and young Stanley Berry, respectively.

Mrs. Waller presides over the destinies of the Waller Farm near Handley, Stanley, with his brother, owns three head of fine Jerseys and lives near Grapevine. The picture was made at the annual picnic of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club, on the farm of Walter Trimble, near Grapevine June 28, when Mrs. Waller and Stanley won in the judging contest. Each showed an intimate knowledge of the fine points of fine cows. Each will have entries at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 11-26.

Baby Accidently Drinks Poison

A most deplorable accident took place Sunday morning, resulting in the death of James Tedd Richardson, aged thirteen months and nine days, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Richardson, who reside three miles south of Ackerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and baby went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Reynolds, 12 miles northwest of Big Spring, to spend the day, Sunday morning, and about 11:30 o'clock the little boy drank some poison that had been placed in a saucer to poison flies. As soon as the fact was learned, medical aid was summoned but in spite of all that could be done the little boy died at 3:15 p. m.

Funeral services were conducted at the graveside at Mt. Olive cemetery in this city at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. Mason, pastor of Fairview church.

The sorrowing parents have the heartfelt sympathy of our entire citizenship in this, their hour of deepest sorrow.

DATES FOR STATE FAIR AT DALLAS ARE OCT. 11-26

Many Changes All Over Grounds in Progress—Thirteen Days of Horse Racing

October 11 to October 26 inclusive are the dates for the State Fair of Texas at Dallas this year, and many new features as well as many changes in buildings, are promised for the 1924 exposition.

There will be thirteen full days of running horse races on the great mile track, "Tokyo," a reproduction in fireworks of the great Japanese earthquake, will be a nightly feature; "The Passing Parade of 1924" a magnificent scenic, musical and "girl" show will be given in a specially constructed theatre and the live stock displays, the poultry show, the automobile exhibits and the implement demonstrations, it is declared, will be wonderfully interesting and complete.

Outside of the transformation of the former Coliseum into the new agricultural building, the greatest change in buildings will be the new interior of the main exhibit building. Work has been in progress for two months. The interior will be an exact reproduction of a Spanish village, in architecture, coloring and every other detail, down to—or rather up to—the red-tiled roofs which complete the picture.

The handsome new booths will be occupied by exhibits of every description, and broad aisles, from which all manner of concessions have been removed, will give maximum ease and comfort for visitors.

WOMAN TOURIST WILL BOOST STATE FAIR

Emulating the example of Samuel Guy, Dallas real estate man, Mrs. M. L. Massengill of Lawrence, Tex., is to "boost" the State Fair while on a motor tour through West Texas and out into Yellowstone country. Mrs. Massengill wrote the publicity department of the State Fair that she was leaving Dallas July 15, and asked for several thousand copies of State Fair literature to take with her on her trip. The literature was furnished, and the loyal Texas woman was thanked for her offer. It is just such effort which lets the world know of the greatness of the State Fair of Texas, just such loyal co-operation that makes it great.

NEW INTERURBAN LINE READY BEFORE STATE FAIR OPENS

The new Denton Interurban will be in operation well before the opening of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas, Oct. 11-26. It is announced, The Tarrant line into Dallas was opened just before the 1923 State Fair by 1925, connecting all individual Dallas and Greenville may be connected by trolley.

Thirty County Premiums

As premiums there are thirty premiums offered for the best county exhibits at the 1924 State Fair, Dallas, Oct. 11-26. County exhibits this year will be seen in the new Agricultural Building (the former Coliseum) right at the entrance of the grounds.

The poultry show at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, will be held ten days this year, Oct. 11 to 20 inclusive.

Recommends Park Commissioner

Complying with the request of the State Parks Board, to recommend someone to serve as County Park Commissioner, the City Federation has named R. L. Price for this place and his name will be forwarded to Governor Neff for appointment.

The Federation also requested the State Parks Board to name the State Park here the "Big Spring Mountain Park." They decided that such name would better identify it with our city and has a meaning for everybody.

A concrete building twelve by fourteen feet is being erected on Main street, just south of Slaughter's Filling Station, the same to be occupied by a hamburger stand.

A baseball team from El Paso is scheduled to meet the Big Spring team at the local park here on Saturday, August 23rd.

Mesdames Ford and Cory Entertain

Mesdames S. D. Ford and T. C. Cory delightfully entertained their friends with a Bridge Breakfast on Thursday morning, July 31st, at the home of Mrs. Ford.

Sixty-four guests thoroughly enjoyed this pleasurable occasion. A color scheme of gold and white was followed out in the decoration scheme. The table covers were dainty paper creations of orange and white; the center piece were rose baskets filled with salted pecans. The favors were mints in orange colored sacks. The refreshments served in two-courses consisted of fruit cocktail in orange shells, fried chicken and creamed potatoes, hot rolls, jelly and ice coffee. Orangeade was served during the game period.

In the series of interesting games Mrs. Fred Hopkins had the honor of making high score and Mrs. Chas. Dublin made second high score.

Some clothing for boys and girls is needed by several destitute families and this appeal is made to the big-hearted citizenship to furnish same. If you have clothing which your children have outgrown or cast aside, would you please let us have it for the poor children who are in dire need of clothing.

If you will phone 512 we will gladly call for any donations of clothing you have to offer or you can send same to the office of the Chamber of Commerce and this clothing will be sent to the needy families.

Card of Appreciation

To the Citizens of the 91st Legislative District:

The large lead given me over my opponents, in the recent primary by the citizens of the 91st Legislative District is very greatly appreciated. The result is largely due to the interest taken in my candidacy by the citizens throughout the district, and I trust they will continue their efforts in my behalf through the run-off primary and increase this plurality of nearly six hundred to a substantial majority. Respectfully,
Penrose B. Metcalfe.
