Lions Club in Action

A fine time was in order at noon Wednesday at the regular bi-weekly luncheon of the Lions Club. This luncheon was held at the Texas and Pacific dining room where each member was fed to his entire satisfaction.

Some splendid talks were made after the enjoyment of the fine lunch, and it was unanimously decided that the Lions Club will cooperate in every way with the Big Spring schools and boost for the High school football team and be of service in every way they can.

It was decided that the Big Spring Club observe the one hundred and thirty-seventh anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States, Sept. 17th, at which time a special program will be given in the auditorium of the High School at 8:15 p. m.

That more of our folks may learn of the aims and object of the Lions club the following information is submitted:

WHAT LIONISM IS—

Lions Clubs are non-political, non-sectarian organizations composed of representative business and professional men who feel an interest in the welfare and progress of their city and community.

Lionism promotes the principles of good government and good citizenship.

Lionism takes an active interest in the civic, commercial, social and moral welfare of the community.

Lionism unites its members in the bonds of friendship, good fellowship and mutual understanding.

Lionism is designed to further education, enlarge social and civic opportunities, support the laws, direct public councils, and in every way make the lives of men better and happier.

Membership is acquired by invitation only, and none but men of honor and of the highest standing will be asked to affiliate with the club. Only one active member will be assigned to each classification.

OUR NAME and what it stands for:

- Loyalty to country, community and home.
- Individual integrity in thought, word and deed.
- Our flag, our language.
- New ideals, new hopes, new ambitions in business and profession.
- Service that is founded on the golden rule.

PRINCIPLES—

Full and hearty cooperation with all other clubs, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic and commercial organizations, in all movements in the community which seek to promote any betterment, civic, industrial or educational, and any plans looking toward the elimination of class distinction.

Promotion of public health, hygiene and sanitation, especially among those who need instruction and guidance in the care and feeding of children.

Being an organization thoroughly loyal to our governments it is our special interest to advance education in the language, customs, ideals and governments of our countries, especially among adults of foreign birth.

Strict adherence to the highest code of ethics in business and social relations.

The biggest asset of any nation being its people, one of the cardinal points of Lionism is the cultivation of a spirit of genuine brotherhood of men.

City Federation Meet September 2

The City Federation will meet at the East room next Tuesday at 4:00 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

BIG MEETING IS TO BE HELD HERE

West Texas Older Boys' Conference to be Held in Big Spring This Fall. Many to Attend.

Big Spring has been selected as the town in which the West Texas Older Boys' Conference is to be held this year. The delegates and leaders will meet here under the auspices of the State Y. M. C. A. Boys Work Department sometime in October or November for the three days during which the conference will be in session.

In connection with the Older Boys' Conference will be held a Pastors' Institute on Church Work for Boys, a plan originated by Mr. J. E. Lewis, State Boys' Work Secretary, and to be inaugurated at Big Spring to supplement the work done by the Older Boys' Conference. The general theme, and topic for discussion will be "Training for Service."

The chief speaker of the Conference and Institute will be Reverend Harry Rimmer of Los Angeles, California, a man nationally recognized as one of the foremost lecturers for boys in this country. Reverend Rimmer until 1911 was the waterweight champion of the Pacific Coast. He also holds the world's record for the marathon race, of 25 miles 385 yards. He was converted in 1911 at a meeting held by members of the H-Y club on the streets of San Francisco.

Since his conversion, he has devoted one-half of his time to conducting such meetings in training the boys and young men of our land in preparation for Christian service, and the other half among the lumber jacks of the Pacific and Canadian Northwest. He is a regularly ordained Presbyterian minister, and holds a degree of Doctor of Divinity. He is a man of striking personality, vividness and energy, and his message has a powerful appeal to boys.

One of the other speakers, and a leader in the movement to secure the closest cooperation on the part of the Y. M. C. A. in its work with boys with the churches, is J. E. Lewis, State Boys' Work Secretary. Mr. Lewis is well qualified to lead and direct the work of the Older Boys' Conference and Pastors' Institute, having five years experience in pastoral work, two years as a director of religious education, and having served for one year as Field Secretary for the Illinois Sunday School Association.

In addition to Mr. Rimmer and Mr. Lewis, there will be other able leaders and teachers, the personnel of whom is not yet known. About one hundred out-of-town delegates are expected for the Conference, and about forty out-of-town pastors. Local registrations for the Older Boys' Conference are expected to exceed one hundred, and the ministers of the town are expected to cooperate to the fullest extent in the work of the Pastors' Institute.

The program will take the form of lectures, talks and practical demonstrations on service by men capable of handling their subject. Entertainment for our visitors will consist of a banquet, athletic diversions, the principal attraction of which will be a football game between Big Spring High school and another strong high school team, which will be arranged later, a trip to our scenic drive, a reception in which the mothers of the town will be asked to assist, and a chicken barbecue at the City Park.

The Conference will last from Friday afternoon through Sunday afternoon, and will be an opportunity for Big Spring to gain a great deal from the men who are to conduct the conference. Dr. Rimmer is in special demand among the larger cities of the nation, and will conduct only two Conferences in Texas on his trip through the state, and we may well congratulate ourselves upon being given this opportunity of hearing him, and having our sons meet with him.

The general committee for completing the arrangements for the Conference and Institute consist of W. W. Rix, Chairman; J. M. Manuel, chairman of promotion committee; Carroll Barnett, chairman of publicity; B. P. Bittle, C. S. Holmes, E. A. Kelley, Rev. W. L. Shepherd, O. Dubberly, Joe Ward, M. D. King, George Mims, Lee Rogers, and Monroe Johnson.

G. W. Wheeler Killed in Ry. Accident

The announcement of the death of George William Wheeler came as a shock to our citizens. His death occurred at Midland, Texas, at 10:20 p. m. Wednesday due to an accident while he was performing his duties as railway conductor for the Texas & Pacific railway. He was crushed between a car and the loading chute at the stockpens about 9:00 p. m. and died one hour later.

Mr. Wheeler was conductor in charge of a freight train and was to set out a stock car at the stockpens at Midland. He had thrown the lever that uncouples the cars and had signalled the engineer to go ahead, and for some reason the cars did not uncouple and he was caught between the car and the loading platform and crushed. He suffered internal injuries which resulted in his death at 10:20 o'clock. The remains were brought to Big Spring about 11:40 o'clock Wednesday night.

Deceased was born in Illinois February 6, 1853 and for more than twenty years he had made his home in Big Spring, while holding a position as conductor with the T. & P. Ry. He was an efficient and dependable employe, a substantial and worthy citizen, a true friend, a faithful husband and an indulgent father. He truly practiced the teachings of the Golden Rule in his daily life and many mourn his death.

He is survived by his wife and son Harry Wheeler and a son at Columbus, Ohio, and to these who mourn for one dearly beloved is extended the deep sympathy of our citizenship.

New Town to be Established

We are informed through Messrs Douglas and Barton, local representatives of the Lone Star Land Co., Inc., that the company is meeting with fine success in selling and locating some very good, substantial farmers on their 28,000-acre tract of Slaughter and Veal lands which is located about 20 miles north of Big Spring.

They state that a large per cent of these purchasers are local farmers who have lived in the Big Spring territory for several years and who know the country and also know the quality of soil best adapted for general farm purposes.

Dr. Geo. T. Veal and wife together with Bob Slaughter spent a couple of days this week on the ranch and the location for the new town of Vealmoor was selected. A new school house will be built this fall by Dr. Veal and the Slaughters to accommodate the school children for the coming term of school.

A new hotel will be built at once as well as other places of business.

Mr. W. P. Soash who several years ago handled several propositions in West Texas for the late Col. C. C. Slaughter is president of the Lone Star Land Co., Inc., which company is selling this tract of land.

Mr. Soash is making headquarters at Big Spring.

Decides Howard County is the Best

J. F. Wood after one year residence in old Howard County is convinced that it is one of the best agricultural counties in Texas. Mr. Wood came here from Rusk County last fall and is renting a farm north-east of Big Spring. He has seventy-five acres in cotton which is good for at least one-third of a bale per acre. He and a daughter have done all the work in connection with planting and cultivating this crop and his neighbors say he has one of the cleanest crops in the county. Mr. Wood is advising all his friends back east to come to this county and quite a few of them have asked him to secure farms for them to rent. Mr. Wood expects to buy a small farm near Big Spring this coming year.

He said many East Texas folks who came here to pick cotton this fall will remain and become citizens of our county.

Big Platform Dance

The members of the American Legion are planning to give another big platform dance, opposite the Texas and Pacific depot on Monday night, September 1st.

Visitors from many points in West Texas are expected to be present.

Stores Closed September 1st

Monday, September 1st is Labor Day, a National holiday, and the business houses of Big Spring will be closed throughout that date.

Please keep this in mind and purchase needed supplies on Saturday, August 30th.

FINE RAINS ARE RECEIVED HERE

The Long Looked for General Rain Has Arrived—Crops and Pastures Benefitted Greatly

A rain measuring 1.15 inches at the U. S. Experiment Station here, to as much as five inches at other points in this section of West Texas, made its appearance Wednesday evening.

Starting about 5 p. m. Wednesday the rain continued practically throughout the night and the country secured such a soaking as it has not had in months. The best part is that this was a general rain. It extended from El Paso to Fort Worth and from the Panhandle to a point far south.

Glascock County reports almost five inches of rain and this on top of a two inch rain which was recorded in that county Tuesday.

The Big Spring section also secured a rain Tuesday. It measured a little less than a quarter of an inch in the vicinity of Big Spring with an increased precipitation north, south and east.

This is the kind of a rain we have been praying for the past month or two. It would have been worth millions had it come on schedule; but it is going to prove of wonderful benefit even if it was delayed.

Pasture lands will certainly show a wonderful improvement from now on and cotton and feed crops which had not stopped growing will certainly be benefitted. Clear weather will be the next demand so danger from insect pests may be eliminated.

It was a wonderful rain and is surely appreciated. Everyone is now looking forward to one of the most prosperous seasons this section has ever known.

Mrs. Glenn Lovelace Dead

The announcement of the death of Mrs. Glenn Lovelace brought sorrow to many hearts in this city. She passed away at the family home at one o'clock Friday morning, August 22nd, following an illness of three months.

Deceased was aged seventeen years. Death recognizes no age or class, and while we cannot yet understand why the Master calls the young to that Home on High we know he has a purpose in so doing. Loved and esteemed by all who knew her, the death of this worthy young woman is sincerely mourned by many friends.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence, 507 Bell street, at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning by Rev. M. Phelan.

To the sorrowing husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Roberts, and other relatives who mourn for their loved one is tendered heartfelt sympathy.

Coahoma School Opens Sept. 1st

The Coahoma Public school will open Monday, September 1st, with an estimated enrollment of two hundred pupils. A fine year work is assured under the direction of R. B. Hood, superintendent, who is now engaged on his fifth years work with the Coahoma schools. He will have the following teachers to assist him the coming year: Miss Lola Sparks, Ennis, seventh and eighth grades; Miss Swan Farrar, Loraine, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Mallie Smith, Chico, third and fourth grades, and Miss Gilla Lawrence of this county, primary grades. A full nine months term will be observed.

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening of this school at 9:30 o'clock next Monday morning.

1 Killed, 10 Hurt in Auto Collision

J. T. Poole, prominent ranchman of Midland, was killed and ten persons were injured in a head-on auto collision near Midland, Saturday night. Harry Nebbett, Don Davis, Byron Bayant and Charles Goldsmith all suffered serious though not fatal injuries. These men were in the car in which Mr. Poole was riding. His neck was broken when he was hurled from the rear seat of the automobile. In the other automobile were the Gibson family of six from Colorado, Texas, and all of them were badly bruised. Both cars were practically demolished.

Mr. Poole's body, accompanied by his widow and young daughter, was taken to Waco for burial.

Raymond B. Lyons of Ackerly was here Thursday and states crop prospects in the Ackerly section will be greatly benefitted by the fine rains of the past few days.

Football Squad Enjoy Daily Workout

Thirty-five or forty boys are now reporting for daily practice from 4 to 6 p. m. at the athletic field of the Big Spring High School. These boys are under the direction of Joe Ward, well known coach and all around athlete.

Instruction as to football rules and regular practice work is observed and the boys are doing fine work. Coach Ward is very much encouraged over the outlook for an especially strong football team to represent our High School. He states we have the material and if the boys stay on the job and are given the proper support and encouragement the Big Spring team will make a record we can all be proud of.

It is suggested that more of our folks turn out and see the boys at practice—show that you are interested in what they are doing and it will hearten them in their efforts to add to the glory of our school. Men, especially, are urged to take a little more interest in the team.

Owing to the fact that many of the boys in the football squad are now working it was decided not to establish a training camp on the Concho. These boys have secured permission to report for practice each afternoon.

Plans for Labor Day

One of the enjoyable features planned for Labor Day, Monday, September 1st, in Big Spring, will be the big platform dance to be given under the auspices of William Frank Martin Post of the American Legion.

The Bobby Miller Orchestra has been secured to furnish music and a delightful time is assured for all who attend.

Many visitors from all adjoining counties as well as a number of visitors from distant points are expected to be here to enjoy the Legion's big dance.

Another number on the program will be a fine band concert at the bandstand near the City Hall by the Big Spring Band, Monday afternoon.

Plans for a baseball game or two are also being considered.

Notice to New Students

All new students who expect to enter the Big Spring High school this year are requested to report at the high school building at nine o'clock Friday morning, September 5th for the purpose of classification and the issuing of books.

This applies to all new students in and out of town, but does not apply to the students who were promoted from the seventh grade of the Big Spring schools at the close of last year. Those new students who are not able to enter at the opening of school, September 8th, should report for classification with the others September 5th, at which time they will be assigned to classes.

Sells Interest in Feed Business

Joe B. Neel recently sold a half interest in his feed business to his brother, H. M. Neel, who will be actively identified with the firm on and after September first.

H. M. Neel will give all his time to the management of the feed business, and Joe B. Neel will be identified with this business and his transfer business as well.

H. M. Neel and family arrived last Friday from Stephenville to make their home in this city.

Redding-Permitter

Friends in Big Spring are in receipt of invitations to the wedding of Albert G. Redding Jr. of Temple, Texas, and Miss Leeta Permitter of Waco. The ceremony will be solemnized at St. Johns Methodist Church at Waco at twelve o'clock noon, Sunday, September 7th.

Miss Leeta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Permitter, former residents of our city, and has a host of warm friends here.

Does Advertising Pay?

Advertising has made the Victrola dog famous.

It has made the cash register a big brother to the retailers all over the country.

It has replaced the horse truck with 40 h. p. trucks.

It has made the hand written letter an oddity in business.

It has helped you to appreciate Stetson hats, Walkover, Douglas, Packard, Peters and Emerson shoes,
as well as many other brands.

It has put hair oil on heads where no hair oil would do any good and on heads where hair oil was needed.

It has put Castoria down your throat, left bristles in your gums, and then come along with a rubber set and taken them off.

It has put a Gillette against your hay field.

It has put Murine in your eyes, sold you Cuticura for pimples, Pears for bath and Ivory for the tub.

It has put Arrow collars around your neck and Ingersoll's around your wrists.

It has jammed your feet in Hot-proof hose, put Paris garters on your legs and Tiffany on your fingers.

It has stuck Robert Burns cigars between your teeth, worn out your jaws on Wrigley's, posted you on what to buy to cure corns, warts, bunions and ingrowing toenails.

Go anywhere you want, do anything you wish, and advertising has a hand in it, absolutely.

And then some people ask: "Does advertising really pay?"—Albany

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT classified ads are busy little things

THAT if you are thinking of buying a house, a lot or a car you will best serve your own interests by reading the want ads.

THAT you can always find them a ready reference for anything you may want.

THAT they are a quick, efficient, sure way of getting you in touch with what you need.

THAT they will find good buys and trades. Want ads pay dividends.

THAT to secure a place to board, a house to rent or a furnished room
—read the ads.

THAT they are constantly performing many valuable missions which are of advantage to all.

EVERYONE SHOULD GET THE HABIT OF USING THE WANT
ADS. USING THEM WILL SAVE TIME, TROUBLE AND MONEY.

Auto Stickers

If there's one modern annoyance more cursedly pestiferous than another, in these days of supinely accepted propaganda and free advertising, it's the auto sticker that first one low press agent and then another smears over the front of your windshield—or your auto's windshield. As a matter of fact, if he'd (or she'd) smear it over our own windshield instead of our auto's windshield, there might be possible satisfaction in a good crack on the jaw at the time of the transaction.

But he doesn't. He sneaks up in the dusky watches of twilight, in the pale grey morning hours, or on the dinner beat, or during the deserted afternoon and does his dirty stunt.
And does he come back and spend 30 minutes washing it off after the show? Like Kelley does.

It's been run into China, this auto sticker business, and we offer its nomination as a candidate for Immediate Termination. If we want a sticker on our auto, we will get a bathing girl cutout and join the holipo. Bathing girls are not going out of date any time soon — not while suits are shrinking a little every season. But we do object to running around town with a big dinner at St. Stephen's basement or some such location on our frontpiece three weeks after the last piece of pie went down. Like the scrambled egg on Grandpa's necktie when the bans had been laying off for two weeks, it's simply a post mortem reminder.

And we object to stickers anyway,
on any grounds, post or ante dated.
If somebody wants a bill board on our property, slip us a couple of tickets to the performance and we'll consider the fair exchange of time and perspiration expended in getting the thing off. At that, we may return the tickets.

The things are simply a preposterous nuisance, in all seriousness, and should never be placed on the windshield of anybody's vehicle without permission. There's no more reason, except custom, for marring the appearance of a man's car with a six by ten inch advertisement relating to something in which the owner is not even remotely interested than there is for putting a six by ten foot billboard on the front of his house without previous agreement.

We believe that it is absolutely safe to say, concerning windshield stickers in general, that they are never anything like as much advantage to the promoter distributing or having them distributed as they are a source of annoyance and trouble to the people who own the victimized cars.

And that ought to be enough for any legitimate advertiser wanting the good will of the people.—Exchange.

Brevities

The fellow who habitually carries a chip on his shoulder doesn't get much wood cut.

After 1925 the permanent certificate most popular will probably be the county clerk variety.

Prof. Edwards is so aroused by the political situation in this country that he has his students write several times each day "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their parties."

Another reason why the young idea should be trained in investive is that some day he may become his party's standard bearer.

The most obvious thing about the self-made man is that he didn't.

Fear of Militarism

The United States is a peaceable, peace-loving nation and abhors war as destructive, wasteful and horrible.

This nation has participated in several wars but never has it entered into a conflict until it appeared that all other means of adjudicating the international difficulty had failed.
When declaring war on Germany in 1917, the President clearly announced that this country was entering the world conflict solely in the name of humanity, and would not accept any territorial or other concessions as a result of the anticipated victory.

When each war was over the armies melted away, returning to farm and workshop and office.

The United States, by the very nature of things, cannot become militaristic. A comparison at the present times of our military and naval establishment with that of other nations is illuminating and should serve to set at rest any fears that the United States may reverse the consistent policy of a century and a half and fall a victim to the disease of militarism.

The United States has one of the smallest armies among the important countries of the world. Army expenditures are less than in any other great nation, and those expenditures are proportionately now much less than they were ten years ago.

In proportion to population, Japan's army is 4 times, Great Britain's 5 times and France's 19 times as large as ours. In proportion to the national wealth to be protected Great Britain's army is 10 times, France's nearly 19 times and Japan's more than 26 times as large as ours.

Although we pay our soldiers far better wages and maintain them better than any other country, the per capita cost of our army is the smallest in the world, being only $2.20, against $2.60 in Japan, $6.40 in Great Britain, $9.50 in Italy and $22.23 in France.

Our military budget is only 7.75 per cent of the whole, while Great Britain's is 9.52, Japan's 16.19 and France's 18.06. The present increase in our actual military expenditures over those just before the war is only 1.93 per cent, while Japan's is 3.24, Great Britain's is 4.10 and France's is 4.26. Before the war about one-fourth of our total budget went to the War Department, but now only about one-tenth goes to it.

If You Want Your Child Truthful,
Be Truthful Yourself

Do your children tell lies?
Most children between certain ages do this, and it is a problem for parents to meet, not shun.

One father adopted a successful method.

He told his little daughter falsehoods would lead little girls into much sorrow and trouble.

Then he told his little girl that the thing which would make him happier than anything else would be to know that his little girl always told the truth.

Frequently he asked the child if she remembered what daddy would like in her better than anything else?
And she would repeat his words.

In a few weeks this lesson went home to her, and the father since has been unable to learn that the child has told a lie.

Parents make a mistake when they tell "white lies" to their children.

There is no difference so far as the child's understanding is concerned.

If you want your child truthful
you must be truthful yourself.

And there is no excuse for a "white lie," so-called, anyway, for all lies are black.—Houston Chronicle

A vivia romance of young blood and old Spain

Written by Edmund Goulding A Tiffany Production

Isn't your favorite photoplay one which includes magnificent settings, thrilling adventures, a thoroughly absorbing love story, and, above all, a star who can and does wear the very latest word in gorgeous gowns? All this and more you will find in "Fascination" with Mae Murray.

In "Fascination" she appears as the daughter of a Spanish father and an American mother. The combination of the Latin temperament and the Anglo-Saxon gives Mae Murray a wonderful opportunity to do remarkable acting as Dolores De Lisa. She trays the part of a young girl who, revolting against the chaperonage of an aunt, attempts to give herself a holiday. Disguising herself in a black wig and holiday garb attends a bull fight against the wishes of her aunt. At the bull fight she meets Carrillo, a handsome young toreador, who fascinates her immediately. It is this fascination which supplies the main motive for the play, for under its spell Dolores becomes involved in a series of breath-taking incidents.

The scenes are elaborate and lavish. All maintain the romantic flavor of Spain, and are complete in technical detail.

See the stunning sets, gorgeous gowns, exciting experiences with a love story of langorous Spain.

THIS IS THE PHOTOPLAY YOU WILL SURELY ENJOY.....SEE IT.

The High School and Social Problems Is your high school giving your child the key to understanding and intelligent participation in social relations?
Such understanding and such participation is vital to national, group, or individual well-being. If we could select the strong men of the nation who have perfect understanding of social needs and if these men happened to be wholly bent upon the well-being of the whole group, we could commission them to direct our affairs governmental and turn our whole attention to other matters of personal importance. Happily, or unhappily, however, perfectly unselfish or altruistic men are not found.
Happily or unhappily our intelligence determines whom we select to direct our national life. Our intelligence judges as between this man's point of view and that man's point of view.
The collective intelligence of the masses of the people in a democracy determines the course of the national life. We cannot avoid it. The people do, in time, solve the problems of the people.
What is your high school doing to train the intelligence of your child in the problems of the Nation?

Here is the Answer

A renewal of the talk about throwing the election of President into Congress indicates a desire somewhere that such a situation occur. The idea is being planted in the public mind from every angle. It is an obsession with a certain class of writers. Were such a futility to occur in this country, it would seriously shake the world's confidence in our theory of self-government. But it need not occur. It can easily be prevented by the simple act of voting. When three-fourths of the voting population, or even more than half of them, actually vote, there will be a definite decision rendered as to whom the people desire to be their President. The answer to all this strange speculation of an election that will not elect, is—Vote.—Dearborn Independent.

Prohibition Wins Olympics

Apostles of "personal liberty" may regard it as merely a coincidence, but the fact remains that the honors of the Olympic games were carried off by athletes from prohibition countries.

Regard it from whatever angle one may, it is now a matter of history that Prohibition America and Prohibition Finland won the chief prizes in the Olympic contests at Paris. The figures of national standings have been given as follows: America, 255; Finland, 166; Great Britain, 85½; France, 26¼.

The figures may mean nothing at all, but there they are.—Dearborn Independent.

Big Spring, Friday, August 29, 1924

FRONTIER NO. 43, BIG SPRING

City Lays Claim to Health, Happiness, Railroad Center, Agriculture, if Not Oil

Big Spring, far-famed for agriculture, good water, health and fraternal happiness, is not free from dry weather, tho the showers fell recently on this favored spot, while other parts in Texas went untouched by the heavenly dew. The crops here look to be above the average, while fraternally speaking, the Knights of Pythias lodge has always enjoyed a steady and healthy growth since beginning some forty years ago. Frontier Lodge No. 43 is proud of its membership and of the splendid efforts being put forth by every member, and they hope to take their place among the bigger lodges, as the country and railroad center shall grow.

This city too is strong for civic improvement; a beauty spot of 200 acres adjacent to the city has just been selected by the State Parks Board as a public rendezvous, which is being improved and maintained under state control. May such a spot be beautified by bearing the name and emblematic colors of the order, with tri-colored flowers and evergreen, as the thousands of travelers sojourn, and pause along the beautiful highways. No more worthy movement to build the order could be suggested. But Big Spring lodge has not made pleasure altogether their aim in life, but have lived for the enjoyment of other by the practice of the truest fraternity. Certainly any institution is a failure that does not aim at something higher than its own selfish enjoyment.

Just now two children, ages five and three, recently made motherless, are to seek this home through the lodge, the father having been for a quarter of a century a member of the order, said J. Athans, who himself recently has given up a thriving business to enter the Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, entering the ministry as a missionary, to go among the people of his mother country—Greece. Also Jim Athans recently visited the Pythian Home for the first time and believes it to be wonderful. He is to make headquarters at Fort Worth. His friends wish him the very best of success.

J. W. Martin, the veteran Pythian, who is crowding 83 years, has likewise been in the order for nearly half a century, having been knighted in Columbus, Neb., the year 1878, and, likewise, representative to several of the Grand Lodges. He is still hale, hearty and most active in his chosen profession, for one of his years. In speaking of the July number of the magazine, when dirt was broken at Weatherford for the girls' dormitory, Louis Junius Sullivan, who always has its success in mind, said, "That was a wonderful magazine for July, carrying as it did the story in which dirt was broken for those kiddies' home at Weatherford; that paper is a dandy at all times."

There is never a real good town without a good cafe; in Big Spring it is the Busy Bee, manned by L. L. Gully, who was the presiding officer of Frontier in 1922, and who had a brilliant administration. But Gully had just as great a career "over there" when he not only volunteered, but went through the whole campaign. There is no better place than the Busy Bee to eat and while away the weary hours that crowd upon the million of travelers to pass this way.

Neither is there a better slaughter pen than that manned by that Prince of Pythians, Alvis Kanappe, on his fine ranch south of town. It was not only built under state specifications, but is under state control. So well do the people love old Kanappe and his wife that they had him slaughter 19 beavers on July 4th to satisfy some 10,000 who journeyed to the celebration. As usual, the editor brought rain, this time to Kanappe's place, and he was glad of the wetting the editor got. Kanappe's faithful service furnishes a better town for every Pythian and Sister in the Big Spring country. May all of those people yet secure a big oil field.

Also this writer was again introduced to W. G. Hayden the veteran newspaper editor of the plains, the News man, who publishes one of the best papers in the West. Hayden is the new KR&S, but he is likewise careful in giving out the news story before he has a chance to print it, a thing to which most good newspaper men fall heir. Living within the quiet designs of his being in which he has attained the high dignity and true happiness of lodge life. C. D. Herring has acquired the spirit of true fraternalism in the Big Spring country.

Tom Ashley, full of the milk of human kindness, also is full of business, the latter taking him away from home much of the time, being manager of this great Texas Company in that city. For the reason of his many duties, Tom, though a P. C., is thus deprived of the lodge advantages that he has cause to lay claim to, and never regretted in the years that have gone.

Louis Sullivan declared that he was going to take "Old" Jack Smith with him when the day came to go to Providence, R. I., where the Imperial Palace is to meet, and "I shall see that those girls at Weatherford, who go with the mandolin club, are at least aided by this bunch of good fellows, no few of which are Dokays."

The Pythian Banner-Knight supplies every known vocation, no few of which are railroad boys. W. A. Gilmore of the Big Spring country is one of those boys, and 'tis difficult to stop a crew of switchmen to say nothing of halting the switch engine, always working against time, but on double duty, with No. 3 is "just coming over the hill," and the freight cars must be removed now, however, this writer did see his old friend Gilmore and Louis Sullivan, Irishman like, sent us on our way rejoicing. The B-K man cannot tell the story in a few short words, it shall take another volume, at another time. This much may be said: There is cause to give consideration to other lodges being fostered in the west, and this journal has reason to believe that Grand Chancellor Baughman shall see fit to get a deputy in the field to aid every angle.—Texas Pythian Banner-Knight.

A Creed for Progressive Farmers.

I believe in myself—believe that whatever mistakes I may or may not have made heretofore, I am endowed with limitless possibilities for growth, struggle, triumph, and development—making each today better than its yesterday and each tomorrow better than today.

I believe in my work—believe it offers opportunities as an industry, requiring faithful labor; as a profession, requiring scientific knowledge; as a business, requiring commercial ability—each with its challenge and its reward.

I believe in my farm—believe I can make it rich with stored fertility; believe I can make it beautiful with well-kept fields, luxuriant crops and grazing herds; and I believe that the homestead, whether cottage or mansion, can be made glorious with a wealth of tree and vine and shrub and blossom.

I believe in my family—believe that love in the home is God's best gift on earth, and that to rear noble sons and daughters—with strong bodies, trained minds, clean hearts, and cheerful spirits—is the highest achievement in life.

I believe in my neighborhood—believe that by keeping everlastingly at it I can get such cooperation from young and old as will make it a better and better place to live in; and that whether neighbors help or hinder, it is my duty to give some thought every day and do some work every week for the improvement of schools, roads, churches, social life, business cooperation, and all the agencies of rural comradeship and brotherhood, knowing that sooner or later the sowing will bring its harvest.

And finally, I believe in my Creator and Father—believe it is His will that His kingdom should come on earth, and come here in my own particular nook of the earth—and that in every aspiration toward this end, I am a co-worker with Him whose power knows no defeat.—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

Here's to the Farm Girl

The farm is a sphere of influence where rural environment develops the responsive nature, and one learns to give charitable consideration to situations which are oftentimes perplexing problems, and is encouraged to establish business ideals and to make the quest for success. So the girl who is the young daughter of a farmer should consider herself fortunate and be grateful that she has access to the wealth of opportunities farm life affords, and that she has a part in the biggest industry of the world.

Let's say the farm is somewhat of a life experiment station where every operation affects growth and progress; where calculative minds are constructed and improved; where one gets outdoor enthusiasm that is good. It gives "pep" which whets up the ambition of the average girl and she is encouraged to earn and to learn, and become familiar with sound economic business arrangement, to seek accomplishment of the well-balanced variety.

The farm appeals to the individuality and originality of a girl, and is a place where she may accumulate a vast fund of wisdom and skill. She may be a sort of an artist—gather a lot of sketches which may be later worked up into a life of real worth and beauty. From instinct she loves to make home attractive and she finds no place more resourceful than the hillside of some rolling farm. There she is not loaded to the breaking point with petty social affairs; entertainers are not hired to kill her valuable time and she is not forced to live an artificial life. She shares and enjoys the activities of her community and retains a lovely, quiet femininity which gives her charm.

It is true that farm girls work, but a reasonable amount of work under wholesome conditions is necessary to physical, mental and moral development. Rising while it is yet night and eating an early breakfast is not so strenuous and exhausting as being up so many nights until morning. The average farm reared girl does not have to be placed in special training to be taught the lessons of personal effort, self denial and conservation, and that selfishness must fade into service in order to perform specific and practical duty, for from early youth she has had responsibility and constantly faced circumstances and problems which challenged her very best judgment.

We find by reading the biographies of some of the most prominent and splendid women of America that their lives have been fashioned after youthful impressions received while under the influence of rural environment. Many who got life's first installment on the farm feel that their experience there expanded their capacity for knowing and doing things, and accelerated their sense of obligation to life and to society, and made them capable of accepting the more worth-while things.

The name of the farm reared young woman is on the roll of public servants and she is answering the call to appear on the program of progress. She is playing well her part in most instances and is rendering very efficient service. Her increasing efforts are meeting with good reward. Her reach is being lengthened by the demands of many school boards who are requiring farm reared young women as teachers in public schools. It has been proved that those reared under desirable rural conditions possess desirable experience and initiative which contribute to their qualification as leaders and instructors.

Farm and Ranch hopes the day will never come when farm life ceases to be attractive to girls. May the sparks of her love for the farm burst into flames that no adversity can extinguish.—Farm and Ranch.

Laugh

"Scold less, laugh more" was one of four slogans used by a local committee for the prevention of tuberculosis. Few of us wish to confess the need of a warning against scolding, but most of us are ready to acknowledge we might laugh a bit more. If a hearty laugh helps to keep at a distance one of the worst of humanity's plagues, it might pay to cultivate a smiling countenance as an aid to a successful life.—Collier's, the National Weekly.

Not for Him

"Here, boy," said the man to the boy who was helping him drive a bunch of cattle, "hold this bull a minute, will you?"
"No," answered the boy; "I don't mind being a director in this company, but I'm darned if I want to be a stockholder."—Cartoons Magazine.

"We are too much inclined to 'pour it on,' when things are in our favor. We forget that the defeated once have a hard enough time 'leaving crow,' without any additional razing.

She Is Not for Sale

That's the way a lot of families feel about good old Bossy. She has been a faithful friend of the family, giving all the milk they could use and even some for the neighbors.

Of course you always think that you feed her well, but do you? Just plenty of feed does not always mean proper feeding. Good old Bossie must have a ration that she can really turn into milk.

Cow Chow produces more milk and more butter fat because it contains elements that are deficient in the average ration. It keeps cows from robbing their bodies for milk-making nutrients and lengthens the milking period. By feeding Cow Chow you not only produce more pounds of milk, but you keep your cow in better condition.

Just try Cow Chow for a month, feed it as directed, and watch the difference.

Demo. Nominee Abjures K. K. K.
Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 22.—John W. Davis, in his first major address since formally accepting the Democratic nomination for president, today out four-square in condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan.

At the same time he challenged President Coolidge to do likewise and thereby remove the issue as a topic for political debate. The Klan already had been denounced by Senator LaFollette.

"Whenever any organization," Davis solemnly declared to a great gathering of Democrats here, "no matter what it chooses to be called—whether Ku Klux or by any other name—raises the standard of racial or religious prejudice, or attempts to make racial origin or religious belief a test of fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American interests and must be condemned by all those who believe as I do in American ideals."

Davis' direct reference to the Klan—the first time he has mentioned it by name—was added to his speech after he arrived here.

As he explained it, launching into the subject:

"Since my arrival in Seagirt, I have been asked by more than one person what views I entertained concerning the organization known as the Ku Klux Klan.

"I am constrained to think that those who ask did not hear nor have not done me the honor to read the speech of acceptance, which I delivered at Clarksburg, August 11.

"In that speech I took occasion to declare that nothing would so utterly destroy the happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad as the separation of the citizenship of this country into discordant groups, along racial or religious lines."

Doing What You Dislike

Baseball has greatly increased the average boy's knowledge of mathematics. A more probable explanation is that this lad is not interested in mathematics for the very simple reason that he is "not cut out for it." There is such a thing as having no "arithmetical sense"—just as some people never can learn to play cards, not having "card sense." As long as the boy is reasonably bright in other studies, don't worry too much if he is backward at Arithmetic. Chances are, when he strikes out in the world for himself, he will follow the line of work he likes best. And, not being "good at figures," he'll hire someone to do his figuring for him—possibly the schoolmate who stands at the head of the arithmetic class. Real education is mental training, rather than filling the brain with facts like pouring water into a jug with a funnel. It is important to know things. But it is more important to know where to look for and find knowledge when needed. The world is full of star mathematicians anxious to work for $35 a week, the same as every poorhouse has several good fiddlers. So it goes with other studies. —Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, Times-Leader.

"Fake" Magazine Warning Issued.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 26.—T. H. MacCauley, serving officer of Newark post of the American Legion, recently issued a statement calling upon the public to refrain from purchasing "fake" magazines and other articles of little or no value from former service men and fakers claiming to be war veterans. The statement read:

"Under an act of 1868, veterans are issued, without cost, a license to peddle, hawk or vend, and while it is obviously intended to cover legitimate merchandise, it permits the sale of magazines which are valueless. The publishers of these are using veterans of the war to sell them at a small return to the veteran and large return to the publishers. In some cases the peddlers are not even ex-service men, though possessed of a license. The American Legion will try to get legislation through the next session at Trenton to cover such mendacity."

Ohio Democrats Adopt Policy of Davis on Klan

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—The democratic party of Ohio in state convention today adopted as its platform, declaration on the Ku Klux Klan the pronouncement of its national standard bearer, John W. Davis in his recent Saagirt, N. J., speech. The plank said:

"Whenever any organization, no matter what it chooses to be called the Ku Klux Klan or any other name, raises the standard of racial or religious belief as a test of fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American institutions and must be condemned by all who believe in American ideals."

The resolutions committee had approved the anti-Klan plank by a vote of 11 to 7. There was general cheering when the secretary read the plank before the convention.

THE PASSING DAY

Will H. Mayes, Department of Journalism, University of Texas.

At the recent meeting of the American Legion at Brownwood Alvin Owsley, Past National Commander, called attention to the decrease in membership since the first year of the Texas organization, and asserted that if the Legion is to live it must have some constructive work in hand. In that statement Colonel Owsley struck the right chord. The Legion as an organization cannot survive long on the war records of its members, however glorious the achievements of the American forces may have been. It cannot be kept alive by conventions, even though all the membership could be induced to attend. Brass bands, patriotic speeches, cheering and hurrahs, handshaking, and war-time reminiscences furnish inspiration only when they are the spontaneous outcome of something more far-reaching and vital than these things themselves. They are merely the evidence of something deeper.

In that talk, which was a wonderful inspirational address, Colonel Owsley, told of what other achieving state Legions are doing, and rather plainly suggested that the Texas Legion can engage in no greater constructive work than in caring for the needy orphans of World War veterans. A movement of that kind would be something that would enlist the hearty support of every legionaire and that would make them all feel that they have something more to do than merely to keep alive the memories of war times or to strengthen the bonds of personal friendships formed around a common cause, however ennobling that cause may have been. Youth, and members of the Legion are yet young, must have something to look forward to, for youth seldom busies itself long with the past. The Legion will thrive in proportion as it works toward some definite purpose.

What has been said of the Legion applies with equal force to every other organization in the land. Civic clubs like the Rotary, the Kiwanis and the Lions, soon learned that they could not hold their memberships together solely for social purposes or even to talk about their beloved and over-used word, "service." Those clubs that make "service" mean something more than talk, or even more than intermittent effort to render service, are the clubs with enthusiastic memberships. They have something to do all the while, some worthwhile purpose to accomplish, and having done one thing well, they set about doing something else. Action is necessary to life in anything. Inaction results in death. The churches, the clubs, the organizations of every kind are learning this lesson better than ever before.

Some towns and communities appear not to have made this discovery. These have never seriously undertaken any work calling for a general and united effort on the part of their citizens. They are smaller, as a rule, than they were a quarter of a century ago, are just dying through inaction, and in time will dwindle into insignificance. Readers of this paper do not have to travel very far to find such places. Nor do they have to make a day's journey to find places that are prosperous, that are growing, that are really places of which to be proud, and all because they are keeping alive through active effort. It is doubtful if there is a town in all Texas that has ever hurt itself through too much effort to lift itself into better conditions. People naturally drift to where something worth while is going on, and those that are any good as citizens will not stay where some constructive work is under way.

Preserves as good as anybody can make—cheaper than you can make them at home. P. & F. CO.

Clean-up Notes

Big Spring is in the midst of a most thorough and general clean-up that will make for a healthful school session. The city wagons begin hauling the trash this coming Wednesday, September 3rd. Be sure to have your cans sacked or boxed, ready for removal on proper date.

By hand, every home within the city limits has received printed circulars with all needful information concerning the clean-up. Those away from home during this house-to-house canvas found the notice pinned to the door. The City Federation has striven to place this campaign before the entire population of Big Spring at the same time, and to emphasize its necessity.

The City Federation is offering 12 prizes of cash money to the best kept premises within the 12 sections into which the committee divided the town.

On Monday, September 8th, an inspection will be made by 12 separate committees to award these prizes—general neatness and tidiness are the points to be considered. A clean yard, front and back, may be ruled out due to weeds and rubbish in the alley or at the side or front.

Weed-cutting is the order of the day. Let us rid Big Spring of unsightly spots. It would be fine for neighbors to go 50-50 on cleaning vacant lots between their homes. Suppose every one rake the broken glass from the street in front of them and add it to the sacks of cans, etc. How it will help the looks of your own home and entire block.

Numbers of yards have need of filling in, and if cans, ashes, etc., were placed in these ditches and covered with a few wheel barrows of dirt, the whole premises would be vastly improved in appearance. Let us put our minds to the task of civic improvement the coming week.

It is to be hoped all our churches will follow the splendid example of our Christian brothers on Gregg street who thoroughly cleaned the church lot and walk last Wednesday before prayer meeting. Let us all "go and do likewise." Owners of vacant lots are urged to clean them of weeds, cans and rubbish. Janitors of public places should cooperate with this movement. Our court house lawn, school yards, Y. M. C. A. grounds and other public places could be vastly improved by a generous use of hoe, rake, broom and matches, properly applied.

The business section of Big Spring has agreed to do some extra house cleaning also. Let us have a "really truly spotless town" at the close of this campaign. Work! Work! Work!

Presbyterian Notes

Last Monday was the August Business meeting and some reports of interest were turned in. It was especially gratifying to know that the three Circles meeting together for the months of June, July and August had accomplished the White Cross assignment of work. The women are grateful that strength and willingness was given them to do this work in spite of intense heat, and illness and absence from town of a number of workers. Our quota of 125 bandages has been exceeded as we have 132, and also a nice assortment of soft, clean rags which we are told are most welcome in foreign hospitals. With September the Auxiliary begins the study of the Home Mission Study Book which bears the attractive title "Romance of Home Missions." Sixteen books have been ordered, so we hope for a splendid class. Owing to the fact that the order for the books was delayed, a change in the meeting days for the month of September was decided upon. Will all the Presbyterian ladies please note this change?

The three Circles will meet Monday, Sept. 1st at 3:00 o'clock as follows:

The King's Daughters with Mrs. Noble Read; The Whatsoevers with Mrs. Caylor, and the Dorcas with Mrs. T. S. Currie. The study class will meet on the third Monday in September at the church; the members are asked to read the first chapter and study as the lesson chapter 2 and 3.

First Baptist Notes

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met at the hospitable home of Mrs. B. Reagan Monday afternoon, August 25 at 4 p. m. for the August program and social meeting.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Homer McNew a very interesting program was carried out with "The Negro in our Midst," as the subject for discussion.

Mrs. K. S. Beckett led the devotional, explaining so interestingly as she read from the 101 Psalm called (The Housekeeper Psalm.) Prayers were led by Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Douglass and Mrs. Reagan.

A special treat was in store for everyone when Mrs. W. F. Ray of Troup, Texas, gave "Reminiscences of her Experiences with the Negro in bygone days," which were spent in Mississippi, a state which has a greater percentage of negroes than white people. So having been in a position to study the character of the negro from personal observation and experiences, she made an especially impressive talk on the negro, describing in detail his chief characteristics, his religious life, etc. She also related many humorous incidents making her talk altogether one of the most enjoyable we have had in a long time.

Mrs. Buchanan closed the meeting with a prayer and a short business session was held, during which cash pledges for Buckner's Orphan Home were made, quite a nice sum being raised for this purpose.

Mrs. Reagan who was hostess assisted by Misses Helen Reagan, Elizabeth Barton, Mesdames W. C. Henley and Fred Schull, served a delicious salad course at the conclusion of the meeting. About thirty ladies were present, one of the number being our new pastor's wife, Mrs. Heard, whose acquaintance we were delighted to make.

Our missionary meetings thruout the summer have been well attended in spite of the unusually warm weather and the programs were splendid.

Thirty-two chickens which were donated by the Center Point and Elbow ladies were sent on Wednesday morning to the Tubercular Sanitarium at El Paso. The Big Spring ladies are planning to do some sewing for this institution soon. Reporter.

Jim Terry brought in a sample stalk of cotton to show how it had been damaged by the high wind that visited the section eight miles north of here Wednesday afternoon. Beautiful Mesquite Trees

Has it ever occurred to you that Big Spring might have had many beautiful trees along the sidewalks and in yards merely for the care of them, if the people had protected and pruned the mesquite trees that have come up and have been ruthlessly cut down?

Nature grows the plant most adapted to the climate, and we do well to encourage all native growth, in our efforts to beautify our town.

The mesquite responds readily to care, and makes a more symmetrical tree if given some water and its growth will be much more rapid—tho it will survive complete neglect as a rule.

If our citizens will save the small bushes just getting started on their premises now, in a few years our town will not look so barren of trees. There are a number of large beautiful mesquite trees in various yards in town and these should encourage us to make a worthy effort to preserve and develop our native tree.

Mesquite planted closely together in rows will form a pretty hedge or background for other shrubs.

Some who have planted the bean say that it does not come up until the third year, if that be true, how wise it will be to save the little bush already up in your yard or on your walk.

A wise man does the best he can with what he has, and a wise community will care for its native shrubs while experimenting with other plants from abroad.

The civic committee of the City Federation would be glad to have an expression from other citizens of their experiences in developing native plants.

Over $10,000,000 Increase Wanted.

Compilation of estimates of appropriations requested by the various State departments and institutions, was completed last week by the division of estimates and appropriations of the State Board of Control. The 38th Legislature will be asked to appropriate $35,497,100 for support and maintenance of the State government for the biennium, beginning Sept. 1, 1925. The last Legislature appropriated $24,757,659 for the present biennium, which is $10,740,121 less than the estimated appropriations for the next legislature.

Mrs. Ferguson Thanks Supporters.

"At 11:30 o'clock Saturday night Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Temple, successful candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, gave the following statement to The Dallas News by long distance telephone:

"On the face of the returns at this hour, showing a total of 430,000 votes accounted for, I am leading by more than 53,000, and at this rate of increase my majority will be 100,000.

"This, of course, is gratifying to the fullest degree, and with my heart filled with love and gratitude to my good friends everywhere, but for whom this great victory would not have been possible, I now look to the East to welcome the dawn of the new day.

"While I am of course proud of my victory, I want especially to emphasize the fact that this campaign has not been made for revenge nor inspired by hatred. For those who have seen fit to vote against me, I have no word of censure, and with the help of God I shall strive earnestly to be the Governor of all the people.

"This victory, which is an anti-klan victory, is one of great moment, not only to Texas but to the cause of national Democracy as well. No more can the finger of scorn be pointed in the direction of our candidate for President and he be charged with being the nominee of the 'long-horned koo-kooos from Texas.'

"Texas has vindicated herself before the Nation and can again resume her honored place as leader in the galaxy of truly Democratic States. The victory has been won by the help of the good citizenship of Texas, and as their servant I shall seek their further aid in solving whatever difficulties may confront my administration."

Radio experts and scientists were unsuccessful in their efforts to get in communication with Mars when that planet was twenty-odd million miles nearer the earth than it had been in centuries or would be anytime soon.

A few more business buildings could be used to advantage in our city. The old town is due to make a steady growth since the agricultural development right now is far ahead of the growth of Big Spring.

The Vindication of Popular Government.

Mrs. Ferguson has won the Democratic nomination for Governor by a majority which is not likely to be much below 100,000 and which may mount above that figure. Every other candidate who bore the disfavor of the Ku Klux Klan, with possibly the exception of Mr. Miller, has likewise been successful. The majorities are not, in any case, greatly less than the apparent majority of Mrs. Ferguson, while in one, that of Mr. Moody, it promises to be considerably more. There is a notable uniformity in the size of the anti-klan majorities, and that uniformity is a highly significant circumstance. It indicates that personal considerations played but a small part in the determination of the contest, a much smaller part than did the irrelevant prohibition question, whose ghost the klan called up and paraded to hood-wink men and women to whom its spirit and ways are odious.

The outcome is a judgment against the Ku Klux Klan as a political organization. It is heavy enough in its weight of numbers to effect the larger purpose which most of us who opposed it must have had. It hand-writes on the wall a warning to any one and every one who may be seized of the evil ambition to make Texas a satrapy in an invisible empire. It is an outcome which vindicates the cause of popular government. It must be heartening to every one in and out of Texas who cherishes the principles of popular government, and it must be inspiring and helpful to the Democracy of the Nation now that, through its nominees for the presidency, it has declared war on the spirit of proscription which the klan preaches and practices. In the gratification of The News there is no alloy of personal feeling. It is sensible that many who gave their fealty and their ballots to the Ku Klux Klan did so because they did not understand the purpose of the klan's ruling oligarchy. The News' gratification, and it is confident, that of most who share in the victory, is that of feeling that a principle which is vital in popular government has triumphed, and to a degree which makes it certain that it will not again be placed in jeopardy so long as the recollection of this contest lasts.

As to the more immediate and concrete effects of the result, we have no reason to be fearful, it seems to The News. As for itself, it has implicit faith in the desire of Mrs. Ferguson and of her husband to serve the people of Texas well, and its faith in their ability to do so is no less. Mr. Ferguson, by whose counsel his wife will of course—and properly—be guided, has shown a high order of ability. It is mostly to faults of temperament that he owes the bereavement of his own political career. If authorities of a spouse have not been sufficient to keep these wayward impulses under adequate restraint in the past, they will in the future be reinforced by the authority of her title to the office which he will aid and guide her in administering. There is abundant reason to believe, it seems to The News, that Mrs. Ferguson's administration will be one of the most excellent and satisfactory the people of Texas have known in many years. She is entitled to the encouragement and aid of that belief. Furthermore, The News is sanguine enough to believe that out of this result there will come to the citizens of Texas again that sense of common interest and that spirit of accord and good will, the loss of which has prevented us from giving to our political affairs the dispassionate consideration which is indispensable if we are to order them wisely.—Dallas News.

Closest Race Run in West Texas

Dallas, Aug. 25.—The closest race in Saturday's run-off Democratic primary so far as returns to the Texas Election Bureau indicated this afternoon was in the Ninety-first legislative district. With complete unofficial returns in, Joe H. Boggs was leading Penrose B. Metcalfe by one vote. Boggs had 3,240 and Metcalfe 3,239. The district is composed of Sterling, Irion, Reagan, Howard, Tom Green and Glasscock counties.

Cotton Prices Take Tumble

The price of cotton dropped 150 points or more than $7.50 per bale Monday, following the government's estimate of a 12,956,000 bale crop in the United States. The forecast was based on the condition of the cotton crop on Aug. 16th, which was 64.9 per cent of normal.

The fine rain Monday night came in ample time to prove of great benefit to young feed. There was much cotton in our county that was benefited by this rain. If the price of cotton will just stay up around the 30-cent mark there will be few complaints in our county.

C. I. A. President is Dead

Dallas, Texas.—Dr. F. M. Bralley, 59, president of the College of Industrial Arts of Denton, died here Saturday, August 23rd of bronchial pneumonia, after a short illness. Dr. Bralley came here a week ago for treatment of a bronchial affection and was apparently recovering. Late Friday he suffered a relapse and sank rapidly, dying at 5 a. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Bralley, who was also in the hospital for treatment, was in a serious condition today.

Dr. Bralley was appointed state superintendent of public instruction Jan. 1, 1910. He was elected to succeed himself at the expiration of his appointment. He was later made director of the extension department of the state university and served in this capacity until chosen head of the Denton school in 1914.

What is a Vacation?
The best vacation is change rather than rest. Anyone who has seen a sailor rowing in a city park in his few short hours of leave must have reflected that he was by no means on a holiday, but still bound up in the habits and customs of his work.

Releasing our minds and muscles from their accustomed tasks is the main thing. Let these same minds and muscles go on working as hard as they like in totally unused fashions. Let the captain of industry "unbend his mind," as Arnold Bennett urges, over the captaincy of the chessboard; and let hands and wrists that have been attacking the keys of a typewriter wield just as firmly a tennis racket.

Everyone needs a vacation but unfortunately not everyone gets one and some people think they do not want one. Another sad case is the fortunate being who doesn't get the right one. If we could go to a vacation specialist what would he prescribe for us? Not walking trips for postmen, surely.

The Public Health Service which recently gave suggestions on this alluring subject offered the following advice:

"A vacation should mean very different things to different people. A girl who has been typewriting or packing cigarettes or cooking, should use her vacation in outdoor sports. A tired wife and mother should rest by getting away from husband and children, soothing her nerves by chatting with other women, and having a few moments of genuine privacy. A 'society' girl who really works about as hard as anybody in the service of the Goddess of Pleasure and is probably (temporarily, at least) sick of teas and men and other girls would do well to attend a Summer Normal school, where she would at least get a brand-new outlook on life—unless she has courage enough to get a job in a factory.

"Exercise in the open air is essential to continued good health. Exercise, however, looks chiefly to physical and ignores mental health; and mental health is now considered to be about as important as physical health.

"The point is to get new ideas for the brain to mull over. All persons, after being tied to one set of ideas (or to no ideas at all) for months, will find themselves a lot healthier and happier if they can pick up a totally different set during their vacation."

This is certainly a possible road to better vacations and a chance for lots more fun than there is in doing the same things in the same for fifty-two weeks a year.

"You will hear on every side men bewail the loss of their drink, of their personal rights, but the rights of the few who can not see ahead or have the future of their nation at heart must be regulated to safeguard that great body of future citizens who are now ready to step into the ranks. You boys have something ahead of you in the problem of preventing the return of liquor.

It is said that representatives of producers of 95 per cent of all motion pictures have adopted a resolution among themselves to refrain from the production or distribution of pictures which are unfit because of the title, story, exploitation or scenes shown. There is no way by which this resolution can be made mandatory upon the producers but it is to be hoped that it indicates a certainty of steady and systematic improvement.

Evidence that the Prohibition Unit of the Government has not hesitated to take effective action against the owners of prominent hotel properties is an adequate answer to the charge that the prohibition law is a conscious discrimination between the rich and poor. The fact is that the rich man who violates the law is more deserving of punishment than the poor man. He has profited more by the social organization and is under greater obligation to it.

Five Great Causes to Help Along.

There are many other things I hope to see by 1949, if I may live so long.

I hope to see the total abolition of the vicious crop mortgage "time prices" credit system—a system by which farmers have often paid interest at the rate of 70 per cent per annum in states where the law fixed the interest rate on money at 7 per cent or less.

I hope to see national and state governments establish tariff and tax policies (a tariff is only another name for a tax) that will be as fair to agriculture as to commerce and industry.

I hope to see state and national governments do yet more for helping landless farmers become home-owners—making loans to men of industry, thrift, and character at low interest rates and for long periods; and altogether on as liberal terms as have prevailed in Ireland and Denmark.

The teaching of thrift, the importance of saving a part of one's earnings, is another fundamental reform that I hope to see far advanced by 1949. Seven-eighths of the world's production today is said to be due not to the labor of those now alive but to the thrift of those who have gone before. Wastefulness and thriftlessness are national crimes. If we had a benevolent despotism, it might well require every man to save 10 per cent of his income. The home, the school and the government should encourage such a policy.

I hope for a great forward movement in rural health work. Just as every Southern state these last twenty-five years has come to recognize "the equal right of every child born on earth to have the opportunity to burgeon out all there is within him," so must states and nation recognize the equal right of every child to have the opportunity to safeguard life and health. Our civilization is a mockery and our democracy incomplete so long as wealthy parents, when their children are sick, may summon hospital and medical and surgical attention to save life in cases where poor parents must look on helplessly and see their loved ones suffer and die. Before 1949 some one must arouse the conscience of humanity and end this evil.

Long before 1949 our American states should also adopt the English and European policy of "old age pensions," providing small weekly payments to men and women past seventy, thereby safeguarding industrious and self-respecting people from being thrown on a humiliating charity when too old to earn a living for themselves—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

August 16 Cotton Report — Texas.

The condition of the Texas cotton crop on August 16 was estimated at 61 per cent of normal, or 5 points below the condition on August 1. On July 25, 1923, the figure was 66 per cent, but had fallen to 55 per cent on August 25. Since it is usual for the crop to show a reduction of 10 to 12 points during August, a further drop of around 6 points during the remainder of the month is possible without materially lowering the number of bales indicated at this date.

Based upon the 61 per cent condition, a total production of 4,433,000 bales is forecast for Texas. The U. S. condition is 64.9 per cent and 12,956,000 bales are indicated. The Census report shows 148,645 running bales ginned from the crop of 1924 prior to August 16.

Below are given the condition and forecast by States:

State	Condition	Forecast
Texas	61 per cent	4,433,000

Endeavor News

Last Sunday afternoon the Endeavor of the Christian Church went to Coahoma for a council meeting and a joint meeting with the Coahoma Endeavorers.

The fall convention meets in Coahoma September 26-28, and the purpose of the meeting was to select a convention committee. The following were selected: Chairman, Mrs. B. B. Liles; vice chairman, Putman Cramer; secretary, Leroy Echols; treasurer, Ruby Elliott; registration, Mrs. Chas. Hale; publicity, Olga Wolfe; entertainment, Mrs. Price Echols; reception, Ida Mae Echols; music, Mrs. George Ruth; social, Opal Lovelace; decoration, Norma Hart and Juniors; finance, John Graham; ushers, Irene Mullican; pianist, Mrs. Leslie Adams.

We feel sure with a committee like this one that everything will go off nicely and we'll have a splendid convention, in fact, the best we've ever had.

Backward turn backward Oh time in thy flight; Make me a child again just for tonight.

That verse came true for a very merry bunch of Endeavorers. Little Miss Helen Creath was the charming hostess. The small guests were greeted by the hostess' mother who ushered them into the front room where they waited quite impatiently for the games to start.

Just as they used to not so many years ago they took part quite energetically in such games as jumping the rope, London Bridge, Marching round the levy, dropping the handkerchief, and thimble and others of like nature.

The guests rather enjoyed the unusual refreshments, all day suckers and red soda pop. At an hour exceedingly late for children of their age they bade their hostess good-night. Oh, boy, wasn't it fun?

What About Cotton Consumption and Cotton Prices?

For the rather amazing shortage of American demand for cotton goods in recent months, many reasons have been assigned. The writer had a talk recently with one of our most thoughtful Southern cotton manufacturers who was disposed to put the blame on the growing tendency to use other fabrics for clothing. "It is astonishing," he said, "to what extent women are buying linen and silks, and especially imitation silks, instead of cotton goods."

It is probably true that imitation silks, etc., are going to take the place of cotton goods to a considerable extent. At the same time, this tendency has not developed so tremendously or so suddenly as to explain the sudden shrinkage in the demand for cotton goods this spring and early summer. The real explanation seems to be given by Editor Arthur Richmond Marsh of the Economic World of New York. He explains something many of us have already seen evidences of—namely, that a new policy of merchandising has almost suddenly come into great popularity all over the United States, especially among dry goods merchants. This is known as the "quick turnover" policy. Merchants are refusing to carry large stocks of goods as formerly, but order "from hand to mouth," getting quick shipments by express or automobile truck, selling out or practically selling out before turning more. The "quick turnover" method, Mr. Marsh reports, "has of late spread about like wild fire over the country." Consequently, Mr. Marsh believes that the present seeming surplus of cotton goods is not due either to real overproduction or to real underconsumption but rather to a sudden interference with the normal law of supply and demand. And this, in his opinion, will soon mean a sudden awakening to the fact that we haven't enough cotton goods on hand—and then prices of both cotton goods and cotton will shoot upward again.—The Progressive Farmer.

Tuning the School in On Life

The funny column of a daily paper tells of a teacher who asked Willie to locate several cities and he answered, "I can't locate 'em but I know how to tune in on every blamed one of 'em."

That story carries a first rate idea for teachers. The schools will open soon and millions of children will come from the free, playful, natural social child life to the different atmosphere and life of the school.

Teachers will try mistakenly to change most of the child's physical and mental habits in a day. The shift from hours of activity to hours of sitting still will cause much illness among them if the teacher is not careful. From learning what is interesting and what appeals to them they will be forced to change to set lessons about things that they do not use daily and that they probably feel never will be any help. Fortunately more and more schools are fitting themselves to make the child life in them more free, easy, and natural.

The rows of stiff desks are being replaced with study tables and chairs; the textbook is giving way to the library; the deadly silence, to the hum of business; and restraint and repression, to encouragement and expression. The schools are "tuning in" on life.

Dress for School

This is the season when mother's fancy turns to thoughts of clothes—school clothes for the girls.
They will naturally wear the little light dresses that have done duty thru the summer for the first few weeks, and when cooler weather comes, mother and dad must provide new garments.

The little town of Sterling had a meeting of patrons and teachers recently and recommended simpler clothes for High School girls, as the question was becoming serious. They declared against silk dresses and hosiery and for gingham, plain wool material and cotton stockings.

The idea of a uniform does not seem popular, but uniformity in dress can, and should be achieved in our High Schools. Speaking of uniforms, I believe that girls would gladly adopt one if it suited them, and as they are fond of wearing trousers a uniform of shirt and pants would be popular with the girls—but how about the mothers and fathers and teachers? It would be especially hard for the latter as in these days of boyish haircuts, it might be difficult to distinguish the sexes.

A plain little skirt of wool material, short and not too narrow, with a middy blouse would be neat, pretty and practical. Most girls have these costumes and, as the majority of girls are sensible, they like to wear them to school.

Shoes should be plain and stockings—Ah! there's the rub—should be of cotton, not silk. I have no statistics, but all of us know that millions of dollars are expended yearly for silk hosiery. It is our greatest feminine extravagance, for it is universal. The daughters of the millionaire and the poor widow's daughter must wear silk stockings to be in style. Of course they look well but they are not durable, they are not warm, and they are altogether out of place in the school room.

Cotton is the product of the South and of our great State. Its successful production will bring wealth to our particular section.

Why not be patriotic as well as sensible and wear cotton stockings to school? Teachers as well as pupils.

Good cotton hosiery should be purchased for fifty to seventy-five cents—less than half the price of silk. True, there is so little demand for cotton stockings now that it is difficult to get a smooth, well-finished article, but supply will come with demand.

Nothing is newer than white canvas shoes and white lisle hose with light dresses, and for dark skirts, stockings of brown or black are appropriate. A suitable costume for our school girls is something that can not be regulated by law, but teachers and mothers, especially teachers, can do much toward bringing about a solution of the problem—for it is a problem.

We mothers are too lax. We want our girls to "look as nice as anybody's girl." We do without ourselves, skimp and slave and thereby encourage selfishness and vanity in our daughters. We enjoy their youth and good looks. What matter if we are somewhat annoyed when daughter spends a good half hour or more primping before school when she might save us many steps by helping a little with the housework? Daughter flutters into the kitchen where mother stands washing the breakfast dishes and gives her a butterfly kiss before leaving for school. Daughter wears a fluffy dress, three dollar silk stockings and ten dollar shoes and she has entirely too much powder, rouge and lipstick on her face, but she looks pretty, and mother watches her proudly as she leaves for school and thinks that her girl looks as nice as any girl in town and if she is a little vain and thoughtless what of it? She will never be young but once.

Alas for the rarity of good, plain common sense mothers! Girls should not go to school painted and powdered like actresses and dressed in clothes that would be appropriate for a party—but "they are never young but once," we say as we go back to the dishwashing.

Nevertheless, I have enough confidence in our girls to believe that they will gladly adopt a uniform style of dress for school that will be practical and economical with the proper encouragement and cooperation from mothers and teachers. Let us hear from a teacher on this subject through the columns of The Herald or from another mother or a school girl.

Yours for common sense,
D. M. C.

Tells of Visit to Chicago

To have participated in the formal opening and dedication of the American Furniture Mart, 666 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago—the world's largest building—and to have attended the largest banquet in the history of Chicago, given to visiting furniture dealers has been the unusual and interesting experience of Mr. H. L. Rix and Miss Mattie Leatherwood of the Rix Furniture & Undertaking Company, who have recently returned to this city.

From a trade standpoint, the Chicago market, as now created by the American Furniture Mart Building, exhausted all previous records in any other city by almost 100 per cent and to have participated in the thirty days activities, Mr. Rix declares, was in itself an education in furniture marketing.

In speaking of his recent trip to Chicago, Mr. Rix said:

"The revolution in furniture dealing created by the American Furniture Mart already has its effect in new and more attractive designs, substantial output, and increased marketing facilities, all of which will benefit the home furnisher in decreased cost and better materials.

"I was astounded to find in the very heart of Chicago, overlooking Lake Michigan, in the district made famous by 'Cap Streeter,' a sixteen story building, one block wide, and two blocks long, occupied by more than 500 furniture manufacturers.

"It has heretofore been necessary for the furniture dealers from outlying cities to visit half a dozen furniture centers, widely scattered throughout the United States. This travel and consequent hotel bills, incidental expenses, etc., has all had to be charged to the cost of merchandising and borne eventually by the consumer. Now it is possible to visit one building in which the 500 leading furniture manufacturers of the United States are housed, and do all your 'shopping' under one roof.

"From the 70,000 square feet occupied by the largest exhibitor down to the 'typical' space of 2,000 square feet, I found in the American Furniture Mart every conceivable article for household equipment.

"The result was that I could compare lines of furniture under one roof, reduce the transportation expenses, and buy in the cheapest market. All of this saving is revealed in the lower prices that we will be able to quote local consumers.

"One of the pleasing incidents of the Chicago visit was the luncheon given by the Chicago Association of Commerce to visiting furniture dealers, at which General Charles G. Dawes, Republican nominee for vice-president, was the guest of honor, introducing Lawrence H. Whitting, banker and fiscal agent of the American Furniture Mart, and the outstanding figure in the furniture world.

"The banquet, given to furniture dealers, at the Hotel Drake, on the night of the dedication of the building by former Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, was one of the most brilliant spectacles I have ever seen. More than 2,100 persons were seated on the main floor of the Drake Hotel, and were dined and entertained from 7 p. m. until midnight. There were 800 waiters in attendance and 800 serving maids assisting the waiters. This banquet was given by the manufacturers as a complimentary entertainment for the visiting furniture dealers.

"The beautiful displays created by many of the manufacturers and the intelligent efforts that are being made to harmonize home furniture and decoration will undoubtedly be a great stimulant to those interested in the development of better American homes."

Mr. Rix predicted the fall season in the retail business will be the largest ever known in America.

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. Some places push movements for awhile, but having accomplished a thing in which pride may be taken, seem to think that they have nothing else to do but to rest and contemplate their achievements. They are like the war veterans who attend conventions for no other purpose than to talk of what they did during the war. About the most tiresome fellow one ever meets is the chap who lives so much in the past that he forgets there are duties to be done today and plans to be made for tomorrow. A good town to escape from is one that is satisfied that it once established a park, built a hotel, constructed some streets, organized a band, painted the town pump, or did something else equally notable, and now feels that, having accomplished these wonders, nothing is left to be done. Legions, towns, clubs, individuals, must keep doing something worth while if they would keep interested and interesting. How do you measure when the "do-something" standard is applied to you?
